
"DIXIANA" AN EXPLOITATION BEAUTY"

Sez "Chick" Lewis

Read His Slants on Merchandising

The Picture on Page 46

HOT FROM HOLLYWOOD!

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Charlie Carroll Is Giving Away Plane To Jersey Patrons

With a stunt on his hands that takes over a month to engineer, it can easily be seen that Charlie Carroll, live-wire publicity man of the Stanley Theatre in Jersey City, has plenty to do.

His latest is the Win-A-Plane stunt, sponsored by the theatre with the co-operation of the Clarence D. Chamberlin Aviation School. It is in the nature of a popularity contest with votes being secured through one of the local newspapers and the dealers of a nationally known brand of motor fuel. $25,000 in aero awards are to be presented to the individuals securing the greatest amount of votes. The awards are presented through Chamberlin's school and consist of: A five thousand dollar plane, four pilots' licenses, four mechanics' courses, a thousand mile air tour for women only, and short air tours offered for consolation prizes.

The campaign is dedicated to the furthering of aviation, to promote the chain of flying schools to be conducted by Clarence D. Chamberlin, and to open a Jersey City airport in order to give the air-minded public an opportunity to enter aviation. The Jersey Journal, local paper, is carrying publicity daily on the stunt, and runs a ballot which may be cut out and deposited in designated Warner Theatre on the Jersey side.

The stunt to date is clicking very well and the group of photos which we are showing will give you an idea of the way it is being conducted. The photos show the arrival of the first prize plane and its installation at the theatre. The other plane in the layout is the Sperry messenger plane in which Chamberlin toured the continent after his trans-Atlantic flight. This plane is on display in the lounge of the Stanley.

As the contest is rapidly drawing to a close we look forward to having Charlie supply us with a complete story on it, from start to finish, and so if you'll watch the Club pages, we will break with the story in the near future. How about it Charlie? Are you with us, as usual?

Whyte Had Enfield Laughing Heartily At Street Surprise

It was a positive fact that when the town of Enfield, Conn., celebrated its 250th Anniversary that W. H. Whyte, manager of the Franklin Theatre in the nearby town of Thompsonville would cash in on it and secure plenty of publicity for his house.

Every building in Enfield and the surrounding towns was decorated with flags, banner, bunting and other festive pennants. The celebration was scheduled for three days and that meant some quick thinking on Whyte's part as the celebration meant stiff opposition. The day after the festivities started a big parade was scheduled and every business was represented with a float, with members of every organization marching. The parade was four and a half miles long.

His contribution to the parade was a Buick coupe, cleverly decorated and carrying signs plugging the theatre's policy. On that day he was playing "The Cuckoos" and ten minutes before the parade started a truck drove up and deposited a huge box in the middle of the main street. The crowd lining the curbs were three deep and they all wondered why the box should have been dropped in the line of march. But they weren't kept in suspense very long; for a moment later a loud banging was heard issuing from the inside of the box. Everybody looked. After a few minutes, when the yells from the box grew stronger, a man walked over and opened it; and out stepped a comedian, dressed in a grotesque fashion, who immediately proceeded to clown in the street. Whyte had cleverly planned this stunt so that at the opportune moment it would break and let the house in for lots of talk. The crowd was in an uproar. As the comedian clowned around he handed out cards which read, "If you think I'm cuckoo, see 'The Cuckoos' etc." He then jumped on and off every float, with the people laughing so hard that it was all they could do to keep walking. The stunt was a tremendous success and many persons asked Whyte where he had procured "the funny fellow."

Another thing that Whyte engineered before the parade started was to distribute 250 clown hats to kids as a plug on his next day's picture "Swing High." The kids donned the hats and as they threaded their ways in and out of the crowds it was a certainty that the theatre was going to cash in on all of the natural publicity, and despite the opposition Whyte turned in three good days, when without showmanship they might very easily have been red ink ones.

We are glad to see that "W. H." is keeping up that showmanship he is so capable of displaying and it also gives us great pleasure to note that he has made his proposed trip about Conn. and met up with a lot of his friends and fellow-members of the Round Table Club.

NEED THESE TIPS?

These miniature golf courses springing up all over the country are causing many showmen plenty of headaches. This is particularly true in the West and Middle West. In response to frantic S.O.S.'s sent out by showmen, their fellow merchandisers have come through with some very helpful tips.

John W. Hucknell, manager of the National Theatre in Madera, Calif., was faced with depression in business due to this angle and he combated it by contacting the operator of the course on a novel plan.

The cost for playing eighteen holes on the baby course was twenty-five cents. The theatre's admission price was half a dollar. The combined price—seventy-five cents. The operator of the course and Hucknell decided on a poor night and sold the theatre ticket for forty cents and the golf course ticket for ten cents. The two tickets were sold at the box-office for fifty cents.

According to Hucknell, this stunt increased business about fifty per cent. and he passes it along to his fellow showmen in the hope that it will also help them out of any difficulty they may be encountering due to these courses.

Another angle that live-wire showmen are using is to supply the course with score cards, plugging the theatre's attractions and cooling plant. In some cases the operators of the course have paid the cost of printing or split it with the theatre.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

WATCH YOURSELF!

Los Angeles, Calif.

With so many other things crowding the average house manager, such as his shows, schedules, employees, advertising, exploitation, etc., it seems that many of the boys are neglecting a most important part of their jobs. That is the care and maintenance of the theatre equipment under their charge.

Here is a phase of theatre operation and management which can cost your house thousands of dollars if neglected and can save equally as much if you don't let it go by carelessly.

You ought to devote a reasonable portion of your time to seeing that every piece of equipment in the theatre is being properly looked after and watched by those whose duty it is to look after the different parts of the house.

When did you last check over your booth and sound equipment? Or do you leave it entirely to your projectionists? And when did you make sure that the heating plant had been carefully fixed up for the summer so that it would not give you trouble when the first frost hits your town? And how about the roofs? Have you been over them lately? Did they need a little attention? A delay may mean costly repairs to both the roof and the interior decorations. All to be avoided if you take that little hour during the morning — once in a while — and assure yourself that the different employees are looking after things the right way.

True, we have stressed this point before, but after all, the real executive showman will know that it is really important. Many a man was let out because of bad reports reaching the home office about the way his equipment was handled. And there is no necessity for such negligence because it is not added work, it is part of your job and a mighty important part too.

I have found, during the first part of my western trip, that the boys west of the Mississippi pay far more attention to this slant than those in the east. And it's a good example to follow. Let's hope this suggestion will awaken you to a sense of duty that may possibly be escaping your careful attention.

"Chick"

Someone Called Out Fire Department To Banniza's House

Decatur, Alabama is still buzzing over the knockout publicity campaign that G. P. Banniza, manager of the Princess Theatre, turned out in conjunction with his merchandising of "Journey's End."

What a campaign! The day that he was notified of the booking of the film, Banniza shot an advance ad in the local newspaper and they came through with a front page story. A street ballyhoo truck, carrying six sheets was put on the street a week before the playdate and cruised about the city and suburbs. The entire city was posted up with paper and no matter where you went you couldn't get away from the fact that "Journey's End" was coming to the Princess. Thousands of heralds were also distributed.

Through a tie-up with the local American Legion post he was enabled to borrow guns, bayonets, machine guns, swords, shells and other war trophies which were placed on display in the lobby as an advance plug. Through the co-operation of the local postmaster he secured a German cannon which was mounted in front of the post office and had it moved over to the front of the theatre where it was placed on the sidewalk for nearly two weeks. The rest of the war souvenirs were moved out of the lobby when the picture started and placed up on the marquee and the picture will give you an idea of the effectiveness of the display.

He worked an angle that had the city sitting up taking notice when he imprinted some copies of the daily paper, as soon as it came off the press, with the words in red, "Extra! Extra! War! 'Journey's End,' Princess." Boys rushed out on the streets yelling the headlines and handing out the papers. This was the first time that the city had ever seen this gag and everyone reached for the paprs as soon as they were offered, and the favorable comment that was passed as a result of the stunt seemed to say that the picture was going to do record business.

The night before the picture opened, Banniza and a group of boys placed a ten by twelve placard, imprinted in red, with copy reading "Good Morning. Smile Along To Your Journey's End and See 'Journey's End' (playdate, etc.) in the front yard;" and when the astonished residents woke up in the morning he certainly received a surprise that threatened to re-act favorably toward the box-office.

Feeling that the opening day could stand a little more ballyhooing, several large aerial bombs were set off from the marquee just before the afternoon show, and a large siren was started and used at intervals during the afternoon until stopped by the local police; but by the time the cops interfered, everyone knew where the siren was coming from. Not satisfied with that much noise (says Banniza), several buckets containing red fire torches were carried to the top of the building and set off —and what excitement they caused! The phone started an incessant ringing with many anxious residents inquiring whether the theatre was on fire. When they were answered over the phone, all that was told them was that it was "Journey's End." To cap the climax, some one turned in an alarm and when the fire engines came dashing madly around to the theatre, the firemen were met by Banniza who politely informed them that there was no fire but that "Journey's End" was the greatest screen drama of all times. We don't know what the firemen replied.

Well, anyway, "G. P.," you certainly did turn out an "ace" campaign on this film and we know that since you are one of our very active members you will keep us posted on your future work, too, so that your fellow-members can also see what you are doing down in your part of the states and we also know that they are mighty interested in hearing accounts of your merchandising.

The Real Club Spirit!

"All For One And One For All"

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Louie Has More Costumes Than Lon Chaney Has Faces

"Gossip: That Louie Charninsky, Pantages manager, is a case. . . . He gets more fun out of his work than any man in town. . . . Always illustrating his picture by some masquerade on his own part. . . . Recently for "Swing High," a circus film, he is a bandmaster, leading the Pantages band in a band wagon. . . . He originally intended to string a wire from the top of his house to the buildings on the north side of Twelfth and do some trapeze work on it. . . . "Swing High," you know. . . . But, then, Louie's avoirdupois is something to be considered. . . . So he decided on his present act, instead . . . Always clowning. . . . But with the enthusiasm of a kid. . . . Dot dope, Charninsky.

And that's what Kansas City thinks of Louie, according to the columnist for one of the city papers who appends to his writings the initials "L. L."

But the Club members know Louie even better than that. They know him as one of the livest showmen in the country, a man whose work has earned for him the nom de plume of "The Sid Grauman of Kansas City." All because he displays showmanship above the ordinary run of merchandising.

No picture is too difficult for Louie to plug. Take a western, for instance. An observer entering the lobby of the Pantages would find it transformed into a log cabin and there, smiling, would be found Louie himself arrayed in chaps, buckskin shirt, gun, big-heeled boots, sombrero (presented to him by Tom Mix, the movie star) and all of the other things that make up the real cowboy.

Then suppose that it is a picture with a circus locale such as "Swing High." The result would be—Louie, as a ringmaster—and we present him in that role in the photo we are showing. He certainly knocked them for a loop in Kansas City on his latest. Take a look at the photos and you'll see that he left no stone unturned in the way of publicizing the picture.

The lobby was turned into a circus. Peanuts, popcorn and pink lemonade was vended. The ticket box was constructed so as to resemble a circus pay wagon. The ushers and doormen were attired in clown costume. And Louie, himself, whip in hand, smiled sauvely as the patrons milled about the box office to buy their tickets.

The ballyhoo was not the only way that Louie sold the picture, though. He decided to get some good-will for the house and to that end he arranged to give away a pony to the boy or girl who suggested a most appropriate name for it. This angle met with considerable success, all of which was seen in the number of replies which had the mailman carrying an extra sack during the gags duration.

It is with a great deal of interest that the residents of Kansas City look forward to every new picture, for they know that if the film merits Louie's attention he is going to spring a number of surprises. And they haven't yet been disappointed. We hope that this showman will keep us posted on his future work so that we can pass it along through the Round Table pages, as we know it is a subject of considerable comment among showmen throughout the world.

AUTO PARKING

Los Angeles, Calif.

A thought, after passing through Chicago and looking around this city is that perhaps you are not doing enough plugging for your theatre's parking space. Providing you have such a thing. Or else, have you tried to work out such a slant for your house?

After seeing how so many neighborhood houses were dying in this city, we were more than impressed with the great business being done at the new Gateway Theatre, a Chicago neighborhood house, with a fine parking space right alongside the theatre, and attended by regular uniformed theatre employees.

This angle is worthy of more than passing attention and if you have a spare lot or two, or maybe a special arrangement with some local garage near the theatre, you can increase business for your house and get the customers to forget the worry of where to park their cars.

This slant is not restricted to just this time of the year. Parking arrangements have always been b.o. builders at all times and every possible effort should be made to work it out. Your own local situation should suggest the best way to handle this thought. "Chick"

Talkies And Stock Now Comprise Carl Sherred's Selling

"Talkies" versus the legitimate drama are the order of the day out in Altoona, Pa., where Carl B. Sherred handles the Mishler Theatre. And now he has the Park Theatre on his hands too, since he is actively engaged in the production of the "legit" which comes to his town in the form of a stock company.

According to the ads run in the newspapers after the opening night of the stock show, the audience applauded for some time after the performance. We do not know how Carl is going to keep business coming into both houses but since we do know that he is a showman of wide and varied experience, he must be able to do it and we hope that he is going to keep us posted on his future work in connection with this unique arrangement.

When he played "So This Is London," he made up a couple of unique heralds to plug them. On a special stock cardboard all his own, he imprinted 15 comic rules for auction bridge and worked them around the title of the film. As Altoona boasts a great many bridge fiends, the heralds were quickly disposed off and the extra increase in box-office during the run of the picture, showed Sherred their value. Another herald, on the same picture was made up in the same style and was addressed to autoists. The front carried a notice "Warning To Auto Speeders." The inside of the herald carried a sales talk on the film and finished with a suggestion that the patrons secure parking space early. These heralds, too, met with immediate approval and the house came in for some valuable publicity.

Thanks, Carl, for passing these along to us. Incidentally, we'd like to have your own views on the subjects of the "talkies" versus the legit, and since you are in a first-hand position to give it to us, why don't you sit down and fashion a little article so that we can present it on our pages?

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

They Were Bound To Look At Schmidt's Knockout Flash

W. E. Schmidt, manager of the Capitol Theatre in Hazelton, Pa., created an unusually attractive display when he worked out the gag which we are picturing with this story On close inspection you will find that he had worked out a skeleton frame work on which he arranged a flashing electrical arrow. The effect starts from the bolt of lightning above the marquee to the colorful burst of light on the top and then travels down on the arrow to point to the cut-out arrangement or colored sign, whichever the particular case may be, also brightly illuminated.

It should require very little imagination to dope out the effectiveness of the set-up, and if your house can be worked into this type of stuff, great. But, perhaps, you can modify or elaborate on the suggestion so as to meet your individual situation. No one can figure those things out better than yourself.

The current picture being plugged is always made up as part of his regular poster work. This he fixes up as a cut-out with the title in electric lights, either below the actual cut-out of his poster, or in regular letters. Altogether, the effect must be mighty good and, from reports reaching Club headquarters, we do not wonder that Ernie Schmidt is making a marvelous rep. for himself through the showmanlike activities he is constantly engineering for the Comerford houses up in that part of the country.

We've heard a whole lot more about his lobby posters and would welcome the opportunity of passing along the glad tiding to our many other members and readers. Suppose you help us out, Schmidt, and shoot us a batch of photos showing the type of work you are doing and HOW you are doing it. Don't keep a good idea too much of a secret. Oke?

Atmospheric Angle Is Always Evident In Wheeler's Lobby

Down in South Bend, Indiana, one of the weekly events that the residents look forward to is the display that J. Ramon Wheeler, manager of the State Theatre turns out to sell his pictures. You will probably wonder what sort of work he does. In order that we may answer the question we are reproducing a couple of photos of recent lobbies and fronts.

In one you'll note what he did to put "The Ship from Shangai," out where the sailing is clear. A model gangplank was placed in the lobby as an advance plug. In back of the gangplank a miniature ship was built, and, as a result, patrons walking up the gangplank to enter the theatre were given the impression that they were entering a real ship. The ushers were garbed in nautical costume and the lobby and foyer were decorated with life saving rings, oars, ship trophies and almost anything that suggested the sea. The display caused no end of comment that resulted in a big box office increase during the run of the picture.

We would like to point out, as we have done many times in the past, that this stunt which Wheeler used may also be put to use on any sort of sea picture. It is not necessary to have a special feature to use ideas of this sort and when a stunt is as inexpensive as this one was there's no telling how many other angles you can add to it by displaying showmanship.

In the other photo, we are showing the special cut-out that was used for "The Green Goddess." This cut-out, a figure of Buddha, was placed in front of the box-office and reached almost to the marquee. A slot, cut out along the side of the figure, enabled the patrons to purchase tickets from the cashier in the box-office. Many persons stopped to look at the unusual arrangement and this tended to bring them back later, if indeed, they didn't enter the theatre at the time.

Wheeler has passed along a couple of very valuable hints and we are sure that if you care to follow them, local conditions permitting, they will more than be productive of larger grosses for your house beside the word-of-mouth publicity, always derived from stunts of this sort.

CLUB EMBLEM PIN!!!

IT WILL IDENTIFY YOU AMONG THE WHOLE SHOW WORLD AS A MEMBER OF THIS GREAT ORGANIZATION AND A REAL LIVE-WIRE SHOWMAN!

Use This Blank:

Managers' Round Table Club
729 Seventh Avenue, New York

Kindly send me, postpaid,.... ..Club pins, for which I enclose payment at $1.00 per pin.

Name of Member.....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City..... State.....

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Lack Of Material Means Nothing To Creamer! Ads Oke?

Being a very interested reader of "Now," the Fox West Coast Theatres circuit publication, John W. Creamer, manager of the Palace Theatre in Muscatine, Iowa, decided that when he played "Devil's Holiday" he was going to make use of the excellent ad mats that Frank Whitbeck had made up for the picture. But close booking wreaked havoc with Creamer's plans.

With the opening of the picture but four days away, he decided to make use of the exchange mats and try to write his copy in the manner that Whitbeck uses. Fortunately he had the trailer to work from and the results of his work may be seen in the layouts we are reproducing. If you will study them closely you'll note what he has accomplished. His selling copy packs a terrific punch and through the judicious use of mats he has achieved a layout that would do credit to any advertising man.

In the past we have shown many examples of the way this showman sells them through his newspaper ads and it is certainly a pleasure to pass along his work. Advertising though isn't all that Creamer does in his town as witness his work on "Safety In Numbers." He tied up the local newspaper and the American Automobile Club and the officials of the Club stood on busy corners and picked license numbers at random. The numbers were inserted in the paper the next day and the ten car owners who identified their numbers were given free tickets.

At this time we'd like you to know that Creamer is planning to turn out some unusual ads on "Byrd at the South Pole" and as he promises to shoot us a few of them we hope to present the layouts in an early edition. We want to compliment him for his work on "Devil's Holiday" and we are of the opinion that his work is also receiving recognition from other quarters, too. Keep it up John, and let's hear from you again very soon.

Lots Of Space Is Devoted To Shorts By Jean La Roe

Shorts, in our estimation, have always been a very important part of any showman's program and for that reason we have constantly advocated that they be plugged on any program, giving them almost as much publicity as the feature itself, on some occasions, if they really merit it. From what we have on hand concerning the work done by Jean LaRoe of Neth's Grand Theatre in Columbus, Ohio, we think she agrees with us.

On the amusement page of the Columbus Citizen, we found Mickey Mouse, in full regalia, smiling at the readers. When you can take valuable space and put in a picture plugging a short, there must be something to that short and we felt that the patrons of the house, like others throughout the country, think a lot of that feature. And when you have something good to sell, then it should be sold.

Another instance of how Miss La Roe plugs her shorts is seen in the newspaper ads where large size type is devoted to putting them across. If you are using this angle, then it's oke; but if you're not, it won't hurt you to try it. Keep your eyes opened for shorts that attract your customers more than usual and next time you play a similar film give it a good plug. We want to thank Miss La Roe for letting us see how she plugs her shorts and we know that since she is one of our active members, we will hear more from her in the near future.

Crowther's Ideas Chase Old Man Heat From Des Moines

The front of the Strand Theatre in Des Moines, Ia., looked as though it was a page out of "Alice in Wonderland," with its many beautiful settings of flowers, shrubs and plants, when Ted Crowther manager of the house completed his front for "Spring is Here."

Through a tie-up with a local florist the entire outer lobby, inner lobby and foyer were decorated with spring flowers, ferns, palms, hanging baskets, etc., without cost to the theatre. This turned the front of the theatre into a regular garden.

In the center of the outer lobby was a drawn two-sheet art panel banked all around with flowers. The panel bore several attractive stills and forceful selling copy about the picture.

A 16-foot shadow box was above the entrance to the theatre. This box had a latticed front and bore the name of the picture in large cut-out flittered letters. Yellow crepe paper covered the back of the lattice work which was illuminated. Paper flowers were woven in and about the lattice and the cut-out letters. At each end of the shadow box was a large cut-out compo-board rose with Alexander Grey's head on one side and Bernice Claire's head on the other.

A 300-pound cake of ice with a beautiful bunch of roses frozen inside of it was displayed out in front of theatre at noon on opening day of picture...An attractive spring card bore the following copy, "How long will it take the ice to melt"? Then followed a list of ten prizes (promoted from local merchants) that were to be given away to the ones guessing the nearest correct answer. "Guessing blanks furnished at the box office" the copy continued. This was purposely so in order that the patrons would have to go to the Cashier and invariably they purchased tickets to see the picture.

The cake of ice was promoted from a local ice company for a small card on one of the tables on which the ice was placed, "The Des Moines Ice Company reminds you now that 'SPRING IS HERE' and to save it with ice."

Another stunt that worked to the advantage of publicizing the picture was a large air mail box which was mounted on top of the canopy of one of the hotels on one of the busiest corners of the down-town district. The box was connected up with a public address system which was operated from an office on the second floor of the building across the street which gave the impression that the air mail box was talking.

This stunt was put on by the Junior Chamber of Commerce whom the theatre provided with four records of the outstanding song hits of the picture which were played together with announcements from time to time that these were the song hits from the big feature picture SPRING IS HERE coming to the Strand Saturday. Short announcements were also made through this air mail box about the next picture, stars, etc.

As this was the first time a stunt of this sort had been shown to the patrons it clicked nicely.

WALTER D. FLECK Says:

"Believe me, anybody that is really interested in the show business can get a lot of good from the MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE section of MOTION PICTURE NEWS. It is the first page I turn to every time."

Manager,
Strand Theatre,
Waterloo, Iowa.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

THE ORIGINAL "IDEA EXCHANGE' OF THE INDUSTRY!

TRY IT!

WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

Application For Membership In "MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB"

729 Seventh Ave., New York City

I hereby apply for membership in the Club.

Name .....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City .....

State .....

Position .....

Wm. A. Johnston Honorary Chairman — "Chick" Lewis Chairman

JOIN NOW!!

Here's the Blank

LATEST NEW MEMBERS

MILLARD OCHS is the manager of the Uptown Theatre in New York City. Being pretty well acquainted with this metropolis of ours we think that Ochs is turning out some good work in his house, because the location he is selling shows in seems to us to permit of it. Why not give us a little dope on your work, Millard, so that we can pass it along?

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

WILLIAM W. LEWIS manages the Old Mill Theatre in Dallas, Texas, for the Publix outfit. From what we have seen regarding the merchandising being turned out by the rest of the Texas showmen we have concluded that they are certainly a group of hustlers and now with Lewis added to the force they should be that much more active. Are we right, William?

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

CLARENCE GREENBLATT is the District Manager of the Majestic Theatre and the other local Publix houses in Jackson, Miss. With so important a position under his belt, Mr. Greenblatt should certainly know a good deal about show merchandising. How about wising us up on some of your stunts, Mr. Greenblatt, and you might also send us in a photo of yourself so that we can give you a regular intro.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

HARRY J. MULQUEEN manages the City Opera House in Waterville, Maine. Since we have already seen some of his work we know that Mr. Mulqueen is a very capable showman. But one thing we would like, Harry, is for you to become a very active contributor because work of the type you turn out up in your section should most certainly be passed along to your fellow Club members. And when a showman has a "rep" like you have in your town, that's all the more reason.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

G. E. O'DONNELL is the manager of the Columbia Theatre in Baton Rouge, La. He is no stranger to your Chairman as we have heard of his work through his fellow managers on the Publix circuit and, as a matter of fact we have some of it on hand which we intend to pass along at the first opportunity. Meantime, "G. E." don't let it stop you from becoming an active contributor and we'd also like to have your photo with your next letter.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

EDGAR SIMONIS manages the Strand Theatre in Texarkana, Tex. He is still another Publix showman who is constantly displaying some corking work and we hope that with the presentation on the Club pages of his recent work he will continue being active and keep us posted on the many stunts that he pulls weekly.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

EDWARD REID is the manager of the Crown Theatre in Mobile, Ala. His work has been some of the finest turned out in that city and if you keep your eyeso n the future issues of the Round Table Club you can judge for yourself just how well Eddie has that city under control. And listen, Eddie, when you shoot us in your next gag, include your photo and a little dope on yourself, too.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

R. B. THOMAS is the third showman from Nebraska to be represented on our "New Member" pages this week. This state has given us a great many showmen and we know that the addition to our rolls of these three new names will mean that a bunch of stunts are on the way. We'd like to see your name right up in front with the rest of the Nebraska showmen "R. B.." and you know that only can be done by proving very active.

———Wear Your Club Pin ! ! !———

LESLIE SWAEBE holds the position of service expert on front house operation and personnel for Fox. In other words, he hires men and trains them in the approved show manner. With a job like that Leslie must know a good deal about the game and we'd like to have him write a little article for us, setting forth the various details attached to his work. How about it, Leslie?

———Wear Your Club Pin ! ! !———

SIDNEY FLIESCHMAN is the manager of the Colonial Theatre in Brooklyn, N. Y. and is proposed for membership by Peter LaVia, himself a well-known Brooklyn showman and member of the Managers' Round Table Club. With such an "ace" reference back of him, Mr. Flieschman must surely want to become an active contributor to the Club pages, since so many of our Brooklyn showmen are represented often. What do you say, Sidney?

———Wear Your Club Pin ! ! !———

JACK FINK is by no means unknown to your Chairman, who knew Jack way back in the days when we both worked up around New England. Jack is now handling the Terminal Theatre in Chicago, Ill., and it really seems unnecessary for us to say that he doing a fine job of it, since every one who knows Jack is aware of his ability. Keep up the good work, Jack, and let's hear a lot more from you.

———Wear Your Club Pin ! ! !———

MARTIN MESSINGER is the manager of the Costello Theatre in New York City. Martin has been in the show game for some time now and he is certainly proving to be a real showman. His many activities up around his neighborhood have been the subject of a great deal of comment from his patrons and we believe that he going to keep us posted a good deal on the way he keeps his house filled.

———Wear Your Club Pin ! ! !———

J. FRED LOVETT manages the Royal Theatre in Providence, R. I., and though competition in that city is pretty stiff we have heard that Fred keeps his house right up among the leaders and his showmanship has been the subject of many an interesting item in the local papers. Let's hear some more about what you are accomplishing.

Photos of Members!

THE Club is anxious to publish photographs of every member and would, therefore, appreciate receiving as many as possible for use in future issues of the Club columns. If you have not already done so, PLEASE send us your own photo at once. Thank you.

COMPLETE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut toward such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributor. Where they vary in different cities or towns, the change is probably due to state or local censorship deletions.

AMKINO

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Cain and Artem	E. Gall-N. Simenov	June	6	7000	78	June 14
Children of the New Day	Gliladova-Litkin
China Express	Special Cast	Mar.	8	5631	65	Mar. 15
Demon of the Steppes	Saltykov-Pedlesnaya	Jan.	18	6800	75
Fragment of an Empire	Nikitin-Semenoca	Jan.	25	7000	78	Feb.
Man from the Restaurant	Tchekhev-Malinovska	Jan.	4	6000	67	Jan. 18
Old and New	Martha Lapkina	May	2	8921	76	May 10
Turksib	Educational	May	24	4900	60	June 14

Coming Attractions

Title	Star
Jimmy Higgins	A. Buchma
Living Corpse, The	V. Pudevkin
Razlom	M. A. Narokov
Soil	S. Svazhenke
Spring	Educational
Storm Over Asia	V. Inklzhinev
Transport of Fire	G. Kuznetsov
Tungas of Siberia	Educational

COLUMBIA

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Around the Corner (A. T.)	Sidney-Murray	Apr.	26	6358	71	May 3
*†§Call of the West (A. T.)	Revier-Matt Moore	May	10	6500	72	May 31
*†§Guilty? (A. T.)	Helland-Valli	Mar.	3	6371	71	Apr. 12
*†§Hell's Island (A.T.)	Sebastian-Holt-Graves	July	16	7462	67	July 26
*†§Ladies of Leisure (A. T.)	Stanwyck-Graves-Sherman	Apr.	5	9277	103	Apr. 19
*†§Lone Rider, The (A. T.)	Jones-Reynolds	June	8	5432	59	July 12
*†§Melody Man, The (A. T.)	Collier, Jr.-Day-St. Polis	Jan.	25	6386	71	Feb. 15
*†§Murder on the Roof (A. T.)	Revier-Livingston	Jan.	19	5400	60	Feb. 1
*†§Personality (A. T.)	Starr-Arthur	Feb.	18	6304	70	Mar. 1
*†§Prince of Diamonds (A.T.)	Ian Keith-Pringle	Mar.	26	6383	71	May 17
*†§Royal Romance, A (A. T.)	Collier-Starke	Mar.	17	6359	63	May 31
*†§Sisters (A. T.)	O'Day-O'Neil	June	15	6284	70	June 28
*†§Soldiers and Women (A. T.)	Pringle-Withers	Apr.	30	6671	70	May 17
*†§Temptation (A.T.)	Wilson-Gray-Percy	June	6	6279	70	June 28
*†§Vengeance (A. T.)	Holt-Revier-Straasa	Feb.	22	8160	68	Mar. 1

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Data	Length	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Africa Speaks (A. T.)
*†§Arizona (A.T.)
*†§Brothers (A.T.)
*†§Charley's Aunt (A.T.)
*†§Criminal Code, The (A.T.)
*†§Dirigible (A.T.)
*†§Fifty Fathems Deep (A.T.)
*†§Flood, The (A.T.)
*†§For the Love of Lil (A.T.)
*†§Good Bad Girl (A.T.)
*†§Jazz Daughters (A.T.)
*†§Ladies Must Play (A.T.)
*†§Last Parade, The (A.T.)
*†§Last of the Lone Wolf (A.T.)	Bert Lytell
*†§Lion and the Lamb, The (A.T.)
*†§Madonna of the Streets A. T.)
*†§Man From Hell's River (A.T.)
*†§Paris Nights (A. T.)	Barbara Stanwyck
†§Miracle Woman, The (A.T.)
*†§Rain or Shine (A. T.)	Joe Cook				July 26
*†§Read to Broadway, The
*†§Squealer, The (A. T.)
*†§Subway Express, The (A.T.)
*†§Sweethearts on Parade (A. T.)
*†§Tel'able David (A.T.)
*†§Woman Who Came Back, The (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†Alaska Knights	Krazy Kat Cartoon	May 22	1 reel	July 12
*†Autumn	Disney Carteon	Feb. 13	1 reel
*†§Barnyard Concert	Mickey Meuse		1 reel	July 5
*†Cannibal Capers	Disney Cartoon	Mar. 13	1 reel
*†Cat's Meow, The	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Jan. 2	1 reel
*†§Centinental Evening, A	Fay Marbe	Feb. 12	1 reel
*†Desert Sunk	Krazy Kat Karteen	Mar. 27	1 reel
*†De It New	Clark & Bergman	Jan. 29	1 reel
*†§Fiddlin' Around	Mickey Mouse		1 reel	June 21
*†§Firefighters	Mickey Meuse	June 11	1 reel
*†Galleping Fish	Disney Cartoon	May 8
*†§Hawallans		Aor. 9	1 reel
*†§Marionettes	Tony Sarg	Mar. 12	1 reel
*†Old Flame, An	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Apr. 24	1 reel
*†§Radia-Tors	Utica Jubilee Singers	Feb. 26	1 reel
*†Slew Beau	Krazy Kat Karteen	Feb. 27	1 reel
*†§Speekeasy	Krazy Kat Karteen	Jan. 30	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Spike Speaks	Frank Meulan	Mar. 26	1 reel	Mar. 1
*†§Stage Deor Knights	Buddy Doyle	Apr. 23	1 reel
*†§Stage Doer Pest	Beyce Combe	Jan. 15	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Summer	Silly Sympheny	Jan. 16	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Talking Screen Snapshots	Released twice a month		1 reel

EDUCATIONAL

SOUND SHORTS

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bitter Friends (A. T.)	Lambert-McPhail	Apr.	27	1609	18
*†§Big Jewel Case, The (A.T.)	Lambert-Kelsey-Garvin	Feb.	23	1480	16	Feb. 22
*†§Bulls and Bears (A.T.)	Pollard-Clyde-Beebe	Mar.	2	1838	20	Feb. 22
*†§Bully Beef	Terry-teen	July	13	1 reel		July 12
*†§Camera Shy (A.T.)	Hamilten-Hiatt	Feb.	9	1480	16	Feb. 22
*†§Campus Crushes (A.T.)	Clyde-Beebe-Stuart	June	15	1929	21	June 28
*†Caviar	Terry-Teons	Feb.	23	659	7	Feb. 22
*†§Chumps, The (A.T.)	Beebe-Clyde	July	6	1888	21	July 12
*†§Cedfish Balls	Terryteon	June	15	578
*†§Dad Knews Best (A.T.)	Helmes-Bolten	Mar.	30	1840	20	Apr. 12
*†§Drumming It In (A.T.)	McKee-Smalley	Jan.	26	1600	18	Jan. 26
*†§Fat Wives for Thin (A.T.)	Beebe-Barraud-Clyde	May	25	1980	22	May 31
*†§Follew the Swallew (A. T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	Apr.	27	1686	19	Apr. 26
*†§French Kisses (A.T.)	Collins-Beyd	June	15	1684	19
*†§Goodby Legs (A.T.)	Pollard-Stuart	July	27	1961	22	July 12
*†§Good Morning, Sheriff (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	May	25	1735	19	June 14
*†§Hail the Princess (A.T.)	Beley-Collins	May	11	1573	17
*†Hawaiian Pineapples	Terryteen	1 reel				May 24
*†§He Trumped Her Ace (A.T.)	Burke-Beebe	Mar.	23	1895	21	Apr. 12
*†§Heneymoen Zeppelin (A. T.)	Beebe-Pellard	Apr.	13	1976	22	Apr. 26
*†§Henk Your Hern (A.T.)	Lleyd Hamilton	June	29	1716	19	June 28
*†§Het and Hew (A.T.)	Geedwin-Crane	Jan.	12	1528	17	Jan. 11
*†Het Turkey	Terry-Teen	May	4	504
*†§How's My Baby (A.T.)	Barnes-Collins-McPhail			1667	19
*†§Hungarian Goulash	Terry-Teons	June	29
*†Indian Pudding	Terry-Toen	Apr.	6	576	6	Apr. 26
*†§Kangaroo Steak	Terry-Teon	July	27	1 reel
*†§Match Play (A.T.)	Hagan-Diegel	Mar.	16	2002	22	Feb. 22
*Museum of Art, A	Hedge-Podge	Feb.		1 reel
*†§Oh Darling (A.T.)	Dever-McPhail-Peek	Feb.	16	1565	17	Feb. 1
*†§Peace and Harmeny (A.T.)	Lambert-Collins-McPhail	May	18	1660	18	May 10
*†§Polished Ivory (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamiltsn	Mar.	16	1642	18	Mar. 29
*†Pretzels	Terry-Teens	Mar.	49	623	6	Apr. 5
*†§Radio Kisses (A.T.)	Beebe-Duryea-Carewe	May	4	1891	21	June 14
*†Reman Punch	Terry-Toon	Apr.	20	560	6	Apr. 26
*†§Seeteh (A.T.)	Clyde-Bevan-McPhail	Jan.	19	1961	22	Jan. 4
*†Spanish Onions	Terry-Teen	Mar.	23	637
*†§Sugar Plum Papa (A.T.)	Clyde-Gribbens	Feb.	16	1932	21	Feb. 1
*†§Swiss Cheese	Terrytown	June	1	517
*†§Treuble For Twa (A.T.)	Raymend McKee	Mar.	9	1527	17	Mar. 29
*†§Western Knight (A.T.)	Lambert-St. Jehn-McPhail	Apr.	20	1661	20	Apr. 5

FIRST NATIONAL

(Available sound-on-disc only)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel.	Length Date	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Back Pay (A.T.)	Corinne Griffith	June	1	5672	53	June 7
*†§Bride of the Regimeat (A.T.)	Segal-Pidgeon	June	22	7418	82	May 24
*†§Dawn Patrel, The (A.T.)	Barthelmess-Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug.	10	net set		July 19
*†§Flirting Widew (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill	May	11	6664	74	June 7
*†§Furies (A.T.)	Warner-Wilson	Mar.	18	6608	73	Apr. 26
*†§In tha Next Room (A.T.)	Jack Mulhall	Jan.	26	6336	70	Apr. 12
*†§Lilies af Field (A.T.)	Corinne Griffith	Jan.	5	5979	67	Dec. 21
*†§Leesa Ankles (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr.-Yeung	Feb.	2	6190	68	Mar. 8
*†§Murder Will Dut (A.T.)	Mulhall-Lee	Apr.	6	6200	69	Apr. 19
*†§No, No, Nanette (A. T.)	Claire-Gray	Feb.	18	9108	101	Jan. 11
*†§Neterious Affair, A (A. T.)	Billie Deve	May	4	6218	69	May 3
*†§Other Tamerrow (A.T.)	Billie Deve	Feb.	9	5800	64	Jan. 4
*†§Playing Around (A.T.)	White-Merris	Jan.	19	6003	68	Apr. 5
*†§Read te Paradise, The (A.T.)	Yeung-Mulhall	July	20	6935	68	July 5
*†§Sally (A.T.)	Marilyn Miller	Jan.	12	9277	103	Dec. 28
†§Show Girl in Hellywood (A.T.)	White-Mulhall	Apr.	20	7213	80	May 3
*†§Sen of the Gods (A.T.)	Rich. Barthelmass	Mar.	9	8344	92	Feb. 8
*†§Seng of the Flame (A.T.)	Gray-Claire	May	6	6501	72	May 3
*†§Spring Is Here (A.T.)	Claire-Gray	Apr.	13	6386	71	Apr. 26
*†§Strictly Medern (A.T.)	Derathy Mackaill	Mar.	2	5632	63	May 10
*†§Sweethearts and Wives (A.T.)	Billie Dave	June	15	7000	77	June 7
*†§Sweet Mama (A.T.)	Alice White	July	6	5012	55	July 19

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Adios (A. T.)	Richard Barthelmess
*†§Bad Man, The (A.T.)	Huston-Revier
*†§Bright Lights (A.T.)	Derethy Mackaill			July 5
*†§Breadminded (A.T.)	Kohler-Rennie
*†§Breken Dishes (A.T.)	Yeung-Withers
*†§Call of the West,
*†§Captain Blood (A.T.)
*†§College Lovers (A.T.)
*†§Deep Purple (A.T.)
*†§Devil's Playground, The (A.T.)	Billie Deve
*§†Father's Son (A.T.)
*†§Forever After (A.T.)	Yeung-Fairbanks, Jr.
*†§Girl of Golden West (A.T.)	Harding-Rennie			June 21
*†§Going Wild (A.T.)	Jee E. Brown
*†§Gorilla, The (A.T.)	Joe Frisco
*†§Heart of the North (A.T.)	Leretta Yeung
*†§Hener of the Family, The (A.T.)	Walter Husten
*†§Hot Heiress, The (A. T.)
*†§Kismet (A.T.)	Otis Skinner
*†§Lady Who Dared, The (A.T.)	Deve-Tearle
*†§Little Caesar (A.T.)	Edw. G. Robinson
*†§Louisiana Nights (A. T.)
*†§Mether's Cry (A. T.)
*†§Numbered Men (A.T.)	Nagel-Claire	Sept. 7		72	June 7
*†§One Night at Susie's (A.T.)	Deve-Fairbanks, Jr.
*†§Other men's wives (A.T.)	Dove-Rathbene-Thempson
*†§Queen of Main Street (A.T.)	Lee-Lyen
*†§Reckless Hour (A.T.)
*†§Right of Way, The (A.T.)	Nagel-Young
*†§Scarlet Pages (A.T.)	Fergusen-Nixen
*†§Sunny (A.T.)	Marilyn Miller
*†§Sweethearts (A.T.)	Miller-Pidgeon
*†§Teast of the Legion A.(T.)	Clare-Pidgeon
*†§Top Speed (A.T.)	Brown-Claire-Whiting	Aug. 24			June 21
†§Truth Abeut Youth (A.T.)	Yeung-Tearle
*†§Way of All Men, The (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr.-Revier	Sept. 7	6032	70	July 26
*†§Widew from Chicago (A.T.)	Alice White
*†§Woman Hungry (A.T.)	Lee-Kehler-Blackmer

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

FOX FILMS

(After August all releases sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Arizena Kid, The (A.T.)	Baxter-Marls	May 23	7450	83	May 17
*†§Big Party, The (A.T.)	Lee-Carol-Albertson	Feb. 25	6482	72	Mar. 1
*†§Bern Reckless (A.T.)	Edmund Lewe	June 6	7400	82	May 10
§†*Camee Kirby (A.T.)	Terris-Murray	Jan. 12	6120	68	Dec. 7
*†§City Girl (P.T.)	Farrell-Duncan	Feb. 16	6171	69	Apr. 19
*†§Crazy That Way (A. T.)	Bennett-MacKenna	Mar. 30	5828	64	Mar. 29
*†§Double Cross Roads (A. T.)	Ames-Lee	Apr. 20	5800	64	Mar. 29
*†§Fox Movietone Follies of 1930 (A.T.)	Special Cast	May 4	7422	84	May 10
*†§Good Intentions (A.T.)	Lowe-Churchill	June 29	6340	70	June 14
*†§Golden Calf (A.T.)	Carol-Mulhall-Brendel	Mar. 16	6552	73	Feb. 22
*†§Happy Days (A.T.)	Special cast	Mar. 2	7526	84	Jan. 18
*†§Harmony at Home (A.T.)	Ceilier, Sr.-Churchill	Jan. 19	6395	70	Dec. 14
*†§High Society Blues (A.T.)	Wagstaff-Lane	Mar. 30	6750	75	Mar. 8
*†§Let's Go Places (A.T.)	George O'Brien	Jan. 5	5940	66	Jan. 25
*†§Lone Star Ranger (A.T.)	McKenna-MacDonald	Feb. 9	7246	81	Jan. 4
*†§Men Without Women (A. T.)	Moran-Byron-Ames	May 25	6500	72	June 14
*†§Net Damaged (A.T.)	Don Jese Mejica	July 13	5766	64	July 26
*†§One Mad Kiss (A.T.)	Victor McLaglen	Mar. 23	5600	62	June 14
*†§On the Level (A.T.)	Rich-Warner-Hackett	Sept. 14	6600	70	July 26
*†§On Your Back (A.T.)	O'Brien-Chandler	June 15	4800	60	June 21
*†§Rough Romance (A.T.)	Garrick-Chandler	Jan. 26	6925	76	Dec. 14
*†§Sky Hawk (A.T.)	Will Rogers	June 8	8300	92	May 31
*†§So This Is London (A.T.)	Baxter-Dwen	Mar. 9	7586	82	Feb. 1
*†§Such Men Are Dangerous (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Mask of Love" in Feb. 1, 1930, issue)	McKenna-Day	Apr. 13	5200	58	May 17
*†§Temple Tower (A.T.)	Dresser-Patricola	Apr. 20	6442	71	Apr. 28
*†§3 Sisters (A.T.)	Albertson-Warner-Lynn	July 5	7200	80	July 19
*†§Wild Company (A.T.)	Murray-Dorsay-Kellard	June 1	7500	83	June 14
*†§Women Everywhere (A.T.)

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Alene With You (A.T.)	Gaynor-Garrick
*†§Are You There? (A.T.)	Lillie-Garrick	Aug. 31
*†§Barcelona (A.T.)	Gaynor-Begart
*†§Big Trail, The (A.T.)	Wayne-Churchill-Marshall
*†§Blondie (A.T.)	Meran-Begart-Ames
*†§Breadminded (A.T.)	Victor McLaglen
*†§By the Way, Bill (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Cheer Up and Smile (A.T.)	Lee-Lake-Baclanova
*†§Cisco Kid, The (A. T.)	Lowe-Baxter
*†§Common Clay (A.T.)	Bennett-Ayers-Marshall	Aug. 17	7961	88	June 21
*†§Connecticut Yankee, A (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Devil With Women (A.T.)	Farrell-Taylor
*†§Fair Warning (A.T.)	D'Brien-Churchill
*†§Girl Downstairs (A.T.)	D'Brien-Moran
*†§Girls Demand Excitement (A.T.)	Brendel-White-Compton
*†§Going Nowhere (A.T.)	Brendel-White-Compton
*†§Heart Breaker, The (A.T.)	Michael Bartlett
*†§Her Kind of Man (A.T.)	Murray-Huntington
*†§Hot Numbers (A.T.)	Lee-Compton-Corcoran
*†§If I was Alone With You (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§Just Imagine (A.T.)	Brendel-Linow
*†§Last of the Duanes, The (A.T.)	D'Brien-Loy-Browne	Aug. 31		July 12
*†§Living for Love (A.T.)	Sills-Mackaill
*†§Luxury (A.T.)	Garrick-Huntington
*†§Mad Singer, The (A.T.)
*†§Man Trouble (A.T.)	Sills-Mackaill	Aug. 24
*†§Man Who Came Back, The (A.T.)	Farrell-Huntington
*†§Men en Call (A.T.)	Edmund Lewe
*†§Movietone Follies of 1931 (A.T.)	Special Cast
*†§Ne Favors Asked (A.T.)	Wayne-Lee-Francis
*†§Oh, For a Man! (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§One Night in Paris (A.T.)	Gaynor-MacKenna
*†§On the Make (A.T.)	McLaglen-Dorsay	Not Set	Not Set	July 26
*†§Oregon Trail, The (A. T.)
*†§Painted Woman, The (A.T.)	McLaglen-Dorsay
*†§Play Called Life (A.T.)	Meran-MacKenna
*†§Playmates (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§Princess and the Plumber, The (A.T.)	Farrell-D'Sullivan
*†§Red Sky, The (A.T.)	J. Harold Murray
*†§Renegades, The (A.T.)	Baxter-MacKenna-Harris
*†§Scotland Yard (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe
*†§Sea Wolf (A. T.)	Sills-Keith-MacKenna
*†§See America First (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Saz You, Sez Me (A.T.)	McLaglen-Marls-Bogart
*†§She's My Girl (A.T.)	Farrell-Compton
*†§She Wears the Pants (A.T.)	Dorsay-MacKenna
*†§Soup to Nuts (A.T.)	Healy-Winniger
*†§Song O' My Heart (A.T.)	John McCormack	Sept. 7	8243	92	Mar. 15
*†§Spider, The (A.T.)	Baxter-Churchill
*†§Spy, The (A.T.)	Sills-Muni-Churchill
*†§This Modern World (A.T.)	Baxter-Alcaniz
*†§Time Out (A.T.)
*†§Up the River (A.T.)	Huntington-Luce-Bogart
*†§White Flame, The (A.T.)	Paul Page
*†§Woman Control (A.T.)	Murray-Marls-Luce
*†§Women of All Nations (A.T.)	McLaglen-Lewe
*†§Wyoming Wonder (A.T.)	Wayne-Clarke-Compton
*†§Young Sinners (A.T.)	Moran-Albertsen

INTERNATIONAL PHOTOPLAY DISTRIBUTORS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Length Reels	Mins.	Reviewed
*†After the Verdict	Olga Tschechewe	Jan. 1	76
*†§Crimson Circle, The	Stewart Rome	Feb. 1	79	Jan. 11
*†§Dark Red Roses (A.T.)	Rome-Doble	Mar. 1	67	Mar. 8

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Length Reels	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Aci-Dental Treatment		2	17
*†§Abbie Mitchell & Sizzle & Blake	Song Program	1	8
†Allez-Op	Marionettes	1	8
*†§Clyde Doerr & Saxophone Sextet	Jazz Program	1	8
*†§Feed the Brute (A.T.)	Animal Novelty	1	8
*†§Hoak (A.T.)	Frawley & Smith	1	9
*†§Justice (A.T.)	Special Cast	2	17
*†§Little Journeys In Songland	Song Series	1	8
*†§Miser, The (A.T.)	Bransby Williams	1	8
*†§Mr. Smith Wakes Up (A.T.)	Marriott-Gett	2	16
*†§Night In Dixie, A (A.T.)	Mitchell-Hudgins	2	15
*†§Nora Blaney No. 1	Song Program	1	9
*†§Nora Blaney No. 2	Song Program	1	9
*†§Operatic	Marionettes	1	9
*†§Radio Franks & 4 Bachelors	Song Program	1	8
*†§Teddy Brown & His Band	Jazz Program	1	9
*†§Unwritten Law, The (A.T.)	Rosalind Fuller	Feb. 1	30
*†§When the Clock Struck Twelve (A.T.)	Niles Welch	2	16

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Anna Christie (A.T.)	Greta Garbo	Feb. 21	6700	74	Dec. 21
*†§Big House, The (A.T.)	Beery-Morris-Hyams	June 21	7901	88	June 28
*†§Bishop Murder Case (A.T.)	Basil Rathbone	Jan. 3	7961	88	Nov. 16
*†§Caught Short (A.T.)	Dressler-Moran-Page	May 10	6873	75	May 10
*†§Chasing Rainbows (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Road Show" in Nov. 2, 1929, issue)	Love-King	Jan. 10	8100	90	Nov. 2
*†§Children of Pleasure (A. T.)	Gray-Rubin-Johnson	Apr. 12	6400
*†§Devil-May-Care (A.T.)	Ramon Novarre	Feb. 7	8782	98	Dec. 28
*†§Divorcee, The (A.T.)	Shearer-Morris	Apr. 26	7533	84	Apr. 19
*†§Free and Easy (A.T.)	Buster Keaton	Mar. 22	8413	93	Feb. 22
*†§Fleradera Girl, The (A.T.)	Davies-Gray	May 31	7260	81	June 7
*†§Girl Said No, The (A.T.)	Haines-Hyams	Mar. 15	8382	93	Feb. 1
*†§Good News (A.T.)	Special Cast	Net Set	8100	80	Apr. 12
*†§In Gay Madrid (A.T.)	Ramon Novarre	May 17	7654	85	June 7
*†§Lady of Scandal (A.T.)	Chatterton-Forbes-Rathbone	May 24	6858	68	May 31
*†§Lady to Love (A.T.)	Vilma Banky	Mar. 8	8142	90	Feb. 8
*†§Lord Byron of B'way (A.T.)	Terry-Kaley-Edwards	Jan. 28	7200	80	Jan. 25
*†§Montana Moon (A.T.)	Joan Crawford	Mar. 29	7917	88	Feb. 8
*†§Not So Dumb (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Dulcy" in Nov. 2, 1929, issue	Davies-Nugent	Jan. 17	7650	85	Nov. 2
*†§Our Blushing Brides (A.T.)	Crawford-Page-Sebastian	July 11	9138	102	July 19
*†§Redemption (A.T.)	Gilbert-Nagel-Aderee	Apr. 5	6019	67	May 10
*†§Richest Man in the World, The (A.T.)	Mann-Nugent	June 27	7775	88	July 5
*†§Rogue Song, The (A.T.)	Lawrence Tibbett	May 10	9372	104	Feb. 1
*†§Sea Bat, The (A.T.)	Bickford-Miljan-Torres	June 7	6570	73	May 3
*†§Ship From Shanghai, The (A.T.)	Nagel-Johnsen-Welhelm	Jan. 31	6225	69	Jan. 18
*†§Strictly Unconventional (A.T.) Reviewed under the title of "The Circle" in Feb. 22, 1929, issue	Stone-Cavanagh-Dwen	May 3	4970	55	Feb. 22
*†§This Mad World (A.T.)	Rathbone-Johnson	Apr. 19	6100	68	Apr. 19
*†§They Learned About Women (A.T.)	Van and Schenck	Jan. 31	8773	97	Dec. 14
*†§Unholy 3, The	Chaney-Lee-Linow	Aug. 2		70	May 24
*†§Woman Racket (A.T.)	Meore-Sweet	Jan. 24	6387	71	Dec. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Ballyhoe (A.T.)
*†§Battle of the Ladies (A. T.)
*†§Billy the Kid (A.T.)	John Mack Brown
*†§Bugle Sounds, The (A.T.)	Lon Caney
*†§Crisis, The (A.T.)
*†§Dance, Fools, Dance (A.T.)
*†§Dark Star, The (A.T.)	Marie Dressler
*†§Daybreak (A.T.)	Ramon Novarro
*†§Dixie (A.T.)
*†§Doing That Thing (A.T.)
*†§Five O'Clock Girl, The (A.T.)	Marion Davies
*†§Great Day, The (A.T.)	Jean Crawford
*†§Great Meadow, The (A.T.)
*†§Her Fortune (A.T.)	Joan Crawford
*†§Jenny Lind (A.T.)	Grace Meore
*†§Let Us Be Gay (A.T.)	Shearer-La Roque	Aug. 9		May 3
*†§Like Kelly Can (A.T.)	Montgomery-Jardon
†§Madame Satan (A.T.)	Reginald Denny
*†§March of Time (Tent.)	Weber & Fields
*†§Merry Widow, The (A.T.)
*†§Monsieur Le Fox (A.T.)	Barbara Leonard
*†§Naughty Marietta (A.T.)
*†§New Moon, The (A.T.)	Lawrence Tibbett
*†§Passion Flower, The (A.T.)
*†§Razzle-Dazzle (A.T.)	Dressler-Meran
*†§Red Dust (A.T.)	Greta Garbe
*†§Remote Control (A.T.)	Haines-Doran
*†§Revue of Revues (A. T.)	King-Love-Haines-Crawford
*†§Romance (A.T.)	Greta Garbe
*†§Resalle (A.T.)	Marien Davies
*†§Singer of Seville, The (A.T.)	Nevarro-Jordan-Adoree	Aug. 24	9179	100	July 12
*†§Song of India (A.T.)
*†§Tampico (A.T.)
*†§These Three French Girls (A.T.)
*†§Trader Horn (A.T.)	Harry Carey
*†§War Babies (A.T.)	Buster Keaton
*†§War Nurse (A.T.)
*†§Way for a Sailor (A.T.)	John Gilbert
*†§Way Out West (A.T.)	Haines-Hyams
*†§World's Illusion, The (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†All Teed Up	Charley Chase	Apr. 19	1895	Mar. 20
*†§Baby Follies (A. T.)	Revue	Apr. 12
*†§Bear Shooters	Our Gang	May 17	1881	Feb. 15
†§Below Zero (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	Apr. 26	1889
*†§Big Kick, The	Harry Langdon	Mar. 29	1827	Jan. 25
*†§Biltmore Trio		Jan. 25	853
*†§Blette	Laurel-Hardy	Feb. 8	2654	Feb. 15
*†§Brats	Laurel-Hardy	Apr. 27	1928	Apr. 5
*†§Clock Shop, The	Revue	May 10	2 reels
*†§College Hounds	Dogs		2 reels	Mar. 29
*†§College Remees	Biltmore Trio	Jan. 25	853
*†§Doerr, Clyde		Jan. 18	572
*†§Fast Work (A. T.)	Charlie Chase	June 28	1866	May 24
*†§Fifty Million Husbands	Charlie Chase	May 24	1846	Mar. 29
†§Fighting Parson	Langdon	Feb. 22	1877	Dec. 14
*†§First Seven Years, The	Our Gang	Mar. 1	1843	Apr. 5
*Flower Garden	Revue	Jan. 18
*†§Gems of M-G-M (A.T.)
*†§Haywire (A.T.)	Laurel-Hardy	May 29	1775	June 7
*†§Head Guy, The	Harry Lanoden	Jan. 11	1878
*†§Hog Wild (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	May 31	1775
*†§Her Dog	Dogs		2 reels	Feb. 15
*†§Kiddles Revue (A. T.)		Mar. 15
*†§King, The	Harry Langdon	June 14	1787
*†§Manhattan Serenade (A. T.)	Hackett-Doran
*†§Night Owls (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	Jan. 4	1895	Dec. 14
*†§Old Man Treuble (A. T.)	Davidson-Nichols		2 reels
*†§Real McCoy (A. T.)	Chase	Feb. 1	1899	Dec. 14
*†§Shivering Shakespeare	Our Gang	Jan. 25	1870
*†§Shrimp, The	Harry Langden	May 3	1738	Feb. 15
*†§Song Writer's Revue, The (A.T.)
*†§Tough Winter, A	Our Gang	June 21	1880	Mar. 29
*†§Van & Schenck		Jan. 11	799
*†§Vodeville (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy		2 reels
*†§When the Wind Blews	Our Gang	Apr. 5	1795
*†§Whispering Wheopee	Charlie Chase	Mar. 8	1907	Mar. 29

PARAMOUNT

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel.	Length Date	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Applesauce (A.T.)	Helen Morgan	Jan.	4	7066	78	Dec. 12
*†§Behind the Make-Up (A.T.)	Skelly-Wray-Powell	Jan.	11	6364	71	Oct. 26
*†§Benson Murder Case The (A.T.)	Powell-Pallette-Calvert	Apr.	12	5794	65	Apr. 19
*†§Big Pond, The (A.T.)	Chevalier-Colbert	May	3	6984	78	May 17
*†§Border Legion, The (A.T.)	Arlen-Wray-Holt	June	28	6088	68	July 5
*†§Burning Up (A.T.)	Arlen-Brian	Feb.	1	5251	58	Feb. 15
*†§Civilian Clothes (A.T.)	Ceeper-Collyer	July	12
*†§Dangerous Dan McGrew (A.T.)	Helen Kane	July	5	6571	71	June 28

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

*†§Dangerous Paradise (A.T.)	Carroll-Arlen	Feb.	22	5244	58	Feb.	22
*†§Devil's Holiday, The (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll	May	24	6743	75	May	17
*†§Follow Thru (A.T.)	Rogers-Carroll	July	26	Not set		May	24
*†§For the Defense (A.T.)	William Powell	July	26	5670	63	July	12
*†§Honey (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll	Mar.	29	6701	74	Feb.	22
*†§Kibitzer (A.T.) (D.)	Green-Brian-Hamilton	Jan.	11	7273	81	Aug.	31
*†§Ladies Love Brutes (A.T.)	George Bancroft	Apr.	26	7177	70	Apr.	19
*†§Light of Western Stars (A.T.)	Arlen-Brian-Green	Apr.	19	6312	70	May	31
*†§Love Among the Millionaires (A.T.)	Bow-Smith	July	19	6190	71	July	12
*†§Love Parade (A.T.) (D)	Chevalier-MacDonald	Jan.	18	1006	111	Oct.	19
†§Man From Wyoming (A.T.)	Cooper-Collier	July	12	6120	68	July	12
*†§Men Are Like That (A.T.)	Hal Skelly	Mar.	22	5500	61	Nov.	23
*†§Only the Brave (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	Mar.	8	6024	67	Mar.	15
*†§Paramount on Parade (A.T.)	Special Cast	Apr.	26	9125	90	Apr.	5
*†§Return of Fu Manchu (A.T.)	Oland-Arthur	May	17	6586	73	May	10
*†§Roadhouse Nights (A.T.)	Morgan-Ruggles	Feb.	15	6700	74	Dec.	28
Reviewed as "River Inn" In Dec. 28, 1929 Issue
*†§Safety In Numbers (A.T.)	Charles Rogers	June	7	7074	79	June	7
*†§Sap From Syracuse (A.T.)	Jack Oakie	July	26
*†§Sarah and Son (A.T.)	Ruth Chatterton	Mar.	22	6868	77	Mar.	22
*†§Seven Days' Leave (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	Jan.	25	6100	68	Nov.	23
Reviewed under the title of "Medal" In Nov. 23, 1929 Issue
*†§Shadow of the Law (A.T.)	Powell-Schilling	June	14	6392	68	June	7
*†§Slightly Scarlet (A.T.)	Evelyn Brent	Feb.	22	6402	71	Jan.	25
*†§Social Lion, The (A.T.)	Oakie-Brian	June	7	5403	60	June	21
*†§Street of Chance (A.T.)	Wm. Powell	Feb.	8	7023	90	Dec.	28
*†§Texan, The (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	May	10	7142	68	May	17
*†§Trua to the Navy (A.T.)	Clara Bow	May	31	6396	71	May	17
*†§Vagabond King, Tha (A.T.)	King-MacDonald-Oland	Apr.	19	9412	105	Jan.	11
*With Byrd at the South Pole		June	28	7411	82	June	28
*†§Young Eagles (A.T.)	Charles Rogers	Apr.	5	6405	71	Mar.	22
*†§Young Man of Manhattan (A.T.)	Colbert-Ruggles	May	17	7621	85	Apr.	26

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Animal Crackers (A.T.)	Marx Brothers
*†§Anybody's War (A.T.)	Moran & Mack	Aug.	2	6750 75 Apr. 5
*†§Backstage Blues (A.T.)	Moran & Mack
*†§Better Wife, Tha (A.T.)	Chatterton-Brook	Aug.	30
*†§Blue Angel, The (A.T.)	Emil Jannings
*†§Business is Pleasure (A.T.)
*†§Cave Man, The (A.T.)	Geo. Bancroft
*†§Dancing Mothers (A.T.)
*†§Feet First (A.T.)	Harold Lloyd
*†§Fighting Caravan, The (A.T.)	Cooper-Torrence
*†§Flesh of Eve (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll
*†§General, The (A.T.)	Huston-Francis
*†§Grumpy (A.T.)	Cyril Maude	Aug.	23	5940 66 July 12
*†§Heads Up (A.T.)	Rogers-Kane
*†§Honeymoon Lane (A.T.)	Eddie Dowling
*†§Huckleberry Finn (A.T.)	Junior Coghlan
*†§Kid Boots (A.T.)	Jack Oakie
*†§Ladies' Man (A.T.)	William Powell
*†§Last Company, Tha (A.T.)	Veidt-Evans
*†§Laughing Lady, The (A.T.)	Chatterton-Brook
*†§Laughter (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll
*†§Leave It to Lester (A.T.)
*†§Let's Go Native (A.T.)	MacDonald-Oakie	Aug.	16	6560 65 May 31
*†§Little Cafe, The (A.T.)	Maurice Chevalier
*†§Love Waltz, The (A.T.)	Harvey-Batten
*†§Man From Wyoming	Gary Cooper	July	12	6120 58 July 12
*†§Manslaughter (A.T.)	Colbert-March	Aug.	9	July 26
*†§Merton of the Talkies (A.T.)	Jack Oakie
*†§Mollnoff (A.T.)	Charles Rogers
*†§Morocco (A.T.)	Cooper-Dietrich
*†§Monte Carlo (A.T.)	MacDonald-Buchanan
*†§New Morals (A.T.)	Chatterton-Brook
*†§Queen High (A.T.)	Ruggles-Rogers-Morgan	Aug.	23
*†§Right to Love, The (A.T.)	Ruth Chatterton
*†§Rodeo Romance (A.T.)	Arlen-Carroll
*†§Rose of the Rancho (A.T.)	Gary Cooper
*†§Royal Family, The (A.T.)	Frederic March
*†§Scarab Murder Case (A.T.)	William Powell
*†§Sea God, The (A.T.)	Arlen-Wray
*†§Silent Enemy, The	Indian Cast	Aug.	2	8080 88 May 17
*†§Skippy (A.T.)
*†§Spoiler, The (A.T.)	Gary Cooper
*†§Station S-E-X (A.T.)	Clara Bow
*†§Tom Sawyer (A.T.)	Jackie Coogan
*§§Youth (A.T.)	Hersholt-Wray

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
†§Accidents Will Happen (A.T.)	Smith and Dale	Aug.	2 reels
*†§Actions Speak Louder Than Words	Wm. & Joe Mandel	May	3	1 reel
*†§Artist's Reverie, The (A.T.)	Ash-Washington		1 reel	June 14
*†§At Home (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell		1 reel
*†§Ballet Class, The (A.T.)	De Mille-Albertieri	May	31	1 reel
*†§Barnacle Bill, the Sailor (A.T.)	Talkartoon		1 reel
*†§Bearded Lady (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Mar.	1	1794
*†§Bedelia	Screen Song	Jan.	4	604
*†§Belle of the Night		Feb.	15	2 reels
*†§Chinatown Fantasy, A	Miller-Dova	July	5	1 reel May 24
*†§Chords of Memory		May	10	1 reel
*†§Cockeyed News (A.T.)	Eddie Cantor
*†§Come Take a Trip In My Airship	Screen Song	May	24	1 reel
*†§Confounded Interest (A.T.)	Haymond & Caverly
*†§Dance, You Singers (A.T.)	Puck & White
*†§Deep "C" Melodies	Frances Williams	Jan.	25	901
*†§Desperate Sam	Bert Green	Mar.	29	1832
*†§Dizzy Dishes (A.T.)	Talkartoon	Aug.	9	1 reel
*†§Don't Believe It (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb.	8	1872 Mar. 22
*†§Down With Husbands	Arthur-Roach	Mar.	8	1660 Mar. 22
*†§Dresden Dolls (A.T.)	Gamby	July	26	1 reel
*†§Duke of Dublin (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb.	1	1850
*†§Family Next Door, The	Charles Ruggles	Jan.	11	1381 Feb. 15
*†§Fatal Card, The (A.T.)	W. & E. Howard
*†§Feelin' Blue (A.T.)	Ash-Washington		1 reel
*†§Firebugs	Talkartoon	May	10	704 Apr. 19
*†§Fit to Be Tied (A.T.)	Burns & Allen	Aug.	2	1 reel
*†§For Love or Money (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Jan.	4	1870
*†§Food for Thought (A.T.)	Allen & Canfield		1 reel
*†§Getting a Break	Block & Sully	May	17	1 reel June 28
*†§Getting a Ticket	Eddie Cantor	Mar.	22	948 Feb. 15
*†§Glow Worm, The (A.T.)	Screen Song	Aug.	23	564 July 19
*†§Grand Uproar (A.T.)	Talkartoon		1 reel
*†§Helping Hand, The (A.T.)	Solly Ward		1 reel
*†§He Was Her Man (A.T.)	Gitta Alpar		2 reels
*†§His Honor, the Mayor	Christie Comedy	Mar.	22	1665 July 5
*†§Hot Dog	Talkartoon	Mar.	29	1 reel
*†§Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight, A (A.T.)	Screen Song	Aug.	2	1 reel July 5
*†§I Came First	Herman Timberg	Apr.	12	814
*†§I'm a Wild Woman (A.T.)	Boydell-Ash		1 reel
*†§I'm Afraid to Come Home In the Dark	Screen Song	Feb	1	651 Jan. 25
*†§I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles	Screen Song	Mar.	15	1 reel
*†§In the Good Old Summertime (A.T.)	Screen Song	June	7	1 reel
*†§In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree	Screen Sono	Jan.	18	752
*†§Insurance	Eddie Cantor		1 reel	June 28
*†§Introduction of Mrs. Gibbs (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell
*†§Jazz Preferred (A.T.)	Zelaya		1 reel	July 5
*†§Kandy Kabarat (A.T.)	Children's Ballet		1 reel	June 28
*†§La Paloma	Screen Song	Apr.	12	574
*†§La Schnapps, Inc. (A.T.)	Smith & Dale
*†§Lady, You Slay Me (A.T.)	Perkins-Hillpot		1 reel
*†§Let Me Explain (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Jan.	4	1870
*†§Lovers' Lane (A.T.)	Arthur & Morton Havel
*†§Many Moons (A.T.)	Bruce Novelty	Aug.	9	1 reel
*†§Meek Mr. Meek, The (A.T.)	Jimmy Barry		1 reel
*†§Million Me's, A	Lee Morse	Apr.	26	964 Jan. 25
*†§Moon Bride's Wedding, The	U. S. Indian Band	Feb.	22	967
*†§Mountain Melodies		Jan.	11	994
*†§My Gal Sal (A.T.)	Screen Song		1 reel
*†§Neighborly Neighbors (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell	Aug.	16	2 reels
*†§Ole Man Whoopee (A.T.)	Art Frank		1 reel
*†§Paramount Acts			1 reel
*†§Paramount Comedies			2 reels
*†§Paramount Pictorials
*†§Paramount Screen Songs			1 reel
*†§Paramount Sound News			1 reel
*†§Paramount Talkartoons			1 reel
*†§Prisoner's Song, The	Screen Song	Mar.	1	738
*†§Radio Riot	Talkartoon	Feb.	15	737 Feb. 15
*†§Resolutions (A.T.)	Billy House	Aug.	30	2 reels
*†§Rube, The	Jimmy Barry	June	21	1 reel
*†§Salt Water Ballads		Mar.	8	982
*†§Scrappily Married (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb.	22	1634 Jan. 18
*†§Schipa, Tito		May	24	1 reel
*†§So This Is Paris Green	Fazenda	Jan.	18	1747 Jan. 25
*†§Story Book Parade, The (A.T.)	Children's Ballet		1 reel
*†§Stronger Sex, The (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Mar.	15	1760
*†§Sunset Hunter, The		June	24	1 reel
*†§Tide Rises, The		June	14	1 reel
*†§Toys	Ormonde Sisters	June	28	1 reel
*†§Twentieth Amendment, The (A.T.)			2 reels
*†§Voices of Lonely Men		Apr.	19	1 reel
*†§Wanderlust	Bruce Scenle	Apr.	5	1 reel Feb. 15
*†§Wee Bit O' Scotch		Feb.	8	1022
*†§Wise Flies (A.T.)	Talkarton	July	19	1 reel
*†§Yes, We Have No Bananas	Screen Song	Apr.	26	1 reel May 24

PATHE

FEATURES

Title	Star	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bachelor's Secret, A (A.T.)(F)	Alan Hale
*†§Beyond Victory (A.T.)	Boyd-Collyer	July	13
*†§Big Shot, The (A. T.) (F)
*†§Clothes (A. T.) (F)	Constance Bennett	May	4
*†§Crashing Through (A.T.)(F)	Wm. Boyd	June	8
*†§Grand Parade (A.T.)(D & F)	Twelvetrees-Scott	Feb.	2 7607	84 Nov. 15
*†§Hot and Bothered (A.T.) (F)	Eddie Quillan	Aug.	24
*†§Officer O'Brien (A.T.) (F)	William Boyd	Feb.	15 6740	73 Nov. 30
*†§Negligee (A. T.) (F)	Ina Claire	May	25
*†§Painted Desert (A. T.) (F)	William Boyd
*†§Parachute (A. T.) (F)	Armstrong-Lombard	July	19
*†§Pardon My Gun (A.T.)	Starr-Duryea	June	29 5654	63 July 5
*†§Play Boy (A. T.) (F)	Eddie Quillan
*†§Saratoga (A.T.) (F)	Constance Bennett	July	5
*†§Swing High (A.T.)	Twelvetrees-Scott	June	18 7500	75 May 3
*†§Treasure Girl (A. T.) (F)		Aug.	3

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Adam and Eve (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§All the Way (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§Greater Love, The (A.T.)	Ann Harding
*†§Her Man (A.T.)	Helen Twelvetrees
*†§Holiday (A.T.)	Harding-Astor-Horton	Not Set	8870 97	June 14
*†§In Deep (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§I Take This Woman (A.T.)	Harry Bannister
*†§Last Frontier, The (A .T.)	William Boyd
*†§Lazy Lady (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§Looking for Trouble (A.T.)	Eddie Quillan
*†§Night Work (A. T.)	Eddie Quillan
*†§North of the Yukon (A.T.)	William Boyd
*†§Price of a Party, The (A.T.)	Helen Twelvetrees
*†§Rawhide (A.T.)	William Boyd
*†§Romance Harbor (A.T.)
*†§Siren Song, The (A.T.)	Mary Lewis
*†§Taking the Rap (A.T.)	Robert Armstrong
*†§This Marriage Business (A.T.)
*†§Up and At' Em (A. T.)(F)
*†§War and Woman (A. T.)(F)	Boyd-Harding-Armstrong
*†§Woman Afraid, A (A.T.)(F)

SOUND SHORTS

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

(Note: Pathe does not list running time on Shorts. The approximate running time of reels in the important series, however, follow:

2 reel comedies	26 min.
Pathe Sound News	10 min.
Pathe Silent News	10 min.
Pathe Audio Review	11 min.
Pathe Review	11 min.
Aesop's Fables	8 min.
Grantland Rice Sportlights	10 min.
Talking Topics of the Day	7 min.

* * *

Title	Star	Rel Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§All Stuck Up (A.T.)	McNaughton-Knapp	Jan.	19 2 reels	Feb. 1
*†§America or Bust (A.T.)	Daphne Pollard		2 reels	June 21
*†§Beauty Spot, The (A.T.)	Dawson-Carney	Mar.	30 2 reels	Mar. 22
*†§Big Hearted (A.T.)	Harry Gribbon		2 reels	June 28
*†§Big Top Champions (A.T.)	Sportlight	Mar.	23 1 reel
*†§Bows and Arrows	Sportlight	Jan.	12 1 reel	Jan. 11
*†§Rugville Romance (A.T.)	Aesop Fables		1 reel	June 21
*†§Campus Favorites (A. T.)			1 reel	July 5
*†§Carnival Revue (A. T.)	Hiatt-Hughes		2 reels	July 19
*†§Champion Makers (A.T.)	Sportlight		1 reel	June 21
*†§Child Life of India (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series		1 reel	July 12
*†§Chills and Fever (A.T.)	Shean-Knapp	Apr.	27 2 reels
*†§Clothes Make the Man (A.T.)		Feb.	16 2 reels
*†§Cover Charge (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Feb.	29 1 reel	Feb. 15
*†§Crosby's Corners (A.T.)	Reg. Merville	Feb.	23 2 reels	Feb. 15
*†§Darktown Follies (A.T.)	Buck & Bubbles	Mar.	2 2 reels	Feb. 22
*§†Deep South (A. T.)	Song Sketch	Apr.	20 1 reel	June 28
*†§Dixie Days (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Mar.	30 1 reel
*†§Dogging It (A.T.)	Sportlight	Mar.	9 1 reel	Mar. 15
*†§Doing Phil a Favor (A.T.)	Mackenzie Ward	Feb.	16 2 reels	Feb. 8
*†§Drums of Fear (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series		1 reel	June 28
*†§Fairway Favorites (A.T.)	Sportlight	May	4 1 reel
*†§Feline Fighter (A.T.)	Sportlight	Feb.	9 1 reel	Feb. 8
*†§Fifty Miles from Broadway (A.T.)	Watson-Merville	Mar.	16 2 reels
*†§Fish, Fowl & Fun (A.T.)	Sportlight	Apr.	20 1 reel
*†§Foolish Follies (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	Mar.	16 1 reel	Mar. 8
*†§Glaciar's Secret, The (A. T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series	May	19 1 reel	May 31
*†§Golden Pagoda, The (A.T.)	Vagabond Adventure Series.	May	5 1 reel	Apr. 5
*†§Good Old School Days (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	Mar.	2 1 reel	Mar. 8
*†§Happy Golf (A.T.)	Sportlight	Jan.	26 1 reel	Jan. 25
†§Hearts and Hoofs (A.T.)	Keefe-Rico		2 reels	May 31
*†§Haunted Ship (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	April	27 1 reel	May 3
*†§Her Hired Husband (A.T.)	Noel Frances	Jan.	12 2 reels	Jan. 4
*†§High and Dizzy	Geo. LeMaire	Mar.	30 2 reels
*†§His Birthday Suit (A.T.)	Herman-Green	Mar.	9 2 reels	Mar. 1
*†§High Toned (A.T.)	"Buck & Bubbles"	Feb.	9 2 reels	Feb. 3
*†§Home, Sweet Home (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Mar.	23 1 reel	Feb. 22
*†§Honest Crooks (A.T.)	"Buck & Bubbles"	Mar.	23 2 reels
*†§Hooked (A.T.)	Sportlight		1 reel
*†§In the Park (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Jan.	26 1 reel	Jan. 18
*†§Iron Man, The (A.T.)	"Aesop Fables"	Jan.	19 1 reel	Jan. 18
*†§Jungle Jazz (A.T.)	Aesop Fable		1 reel	July 19

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.*

*†§Lair of Chang-How (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series			2 reels		June 7
*†§Love's Memories (A.T.)	Song Sketch	Feb.	16	1 reel
*†§Mind Your Own Business (A. T.)				2 reels		July 12
†§Musical Beauty Shop (A.T.)				2 reels		June 7
†§Noah Knew His Ark (A.T.)				1 reel		June 7
*§On the Air (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Jan.	12	1 reel		Jan. 11
*§Oom Pah Pah (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	May	11	1 reel		June 7
*†§Pathe Audio Review (A.T.)	Released Every Week			1 reel
*†§Pathe Sound News	Released Twice Every Week			1 reel
*†§Perfect Match, The (A.T.)	Butler-Mayo	Apr.	6	2 reels		Apr. 5
*†§Pick 'Em Young (A.T.)	Agnew-Geraghty	May	4	2 reels		May 10
*§†Ranchhouse Blues (A.T.)		May	17
*†§Red Heads (A.T.)	Nat Carr			2 reels		May 24
*†§Rich Uncles (A.T.)	Richard Carle	May	11	1 reel		May 3
*†§Ride 'Em Cowboy	White-Carney	April	13	2 reels		Apr. 5
*†§Romeo Robin, A.				1 reel		June 28
*†§Royal Flush, A (A.T.)				2 reels
*†§Rubeville Night Club (A.T.)	H. B. Watson	Jan.	26	2 reels		Nov. 18
*†§Sacred Fires (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series
*†§Ship Ahoy (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	Jan.	5	2 reel		Jan. 11
*†§Singing Sops (A.T.)	Aesops Fables	Feb.	2	1 reel		Feb. 8
*†§Sixteen Sweeties (A.T.)	White-McNaughten	Apr.	20	2 reels		Apr. 19
*†§Sky Skippers (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Feb.	16	1 reel		Feb. 15
*†§Songs of Mother	Song Sketch	Feb.	2	1 reel		May 10
*†§Spills and Thrills (A.T.)	Sportlight	Apr.	8	1 reel		Apr. 12
*†§Splashing Through (A.T.)	Sportlight	Feb.	23	1 reel		Feb. 15
*§†Sporting Brothers (A.T.)				1 reel		June 7
*§†Streets of Mystery (A.T.)	Vagabond Adventure Series	June	2	1 reel		May 3
*†§Swell People (A.T.)	Marcia Manning					July 19
*†§Temple of Silence (A.T.)	Vagabond Ad. Series			1 reel		July 19
*†§Tight Squeeze (A.T.)	LeMaire	Feb.	2	2 reels		Nov. 23
*†§Trumpeteer, The (A.T.)	Song Sketch	Jan.	19	1 reel
*†§Trying Them Out (A.T.)				2 reels		June 7
*†§Two Fresh Eggs (A.T.)	St. John-Aubrey			2 reels		July 5
*†§Voice of the Sea (A.T.)	Song Sketch	May	4	1 reel		May 3
*†§Western Whoopee (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Apr.	13	1 reel		Apr. 19
*†§What, No Bait! (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Mar.	9	1 reel

RKO

FEATURES

Title	Star	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Alias French Gertie (A.T.)	Daniels-Lyon	Apr. 20	6202	65	Apr. 19
*†§Beau Bandit (A.D.)	La Rocque-Kenyon	Mar. 2	6169	69	June 21
*†§Case of Sergeant Grischa	Morris-Compson-Hersholt	Feb. 23	8191	92	Mar. 8
*†§Cuckoos, The (A.T.)	Wheeler-Woolsey	May 4	8100	90	Apr. 5
*†§Fall Guy, The (A.T.)	Mulhall-Clarke-Sparks	June 15	6175	65	May 31
*†§Framed (A.T.)	Brent-Toomey	Mar. 16	6136	68	Feb. 15
*†§Girl of Port (A.T.)	O'Neil-Sharland	Feb. 2	6174	69	Jan. 4
*†§He Knew Women (A.T.)	Sherman-Joyce	May 18	8319	70	Apr. 26
*†§Hit the Deck (A.T.)	Oakie-Walker	Feb 2	9327	85	Dec. 21
*†§Inside the Lines (A.T.)	Compson-Forbes	July 20			July 12
*†§Love Comes Along (A.T.)	Daniels-Hughes	Jan. 3	7038	78	Dec. 2
*†§Lovin' the Ladies (A.T.)	Richard Dix	Apr. 6	6138	68	Feb. 22
*†§Midnight Mystery, The (A.T.)	Compson-Sherman	June 1	6463	72	May 31
*†§Runaway Bride, The (A.T.)	Astor-Hughes	May 24	6234	69	May 24
*†§Second Wife (A.T.)	Nagel-Lee	Feb. 9	6058	60	Feb. 15
*†§Seven Keys to Baldpate (A.T.)	Dix-Seeger	Jan. 12	6579	70	Jan. 4
*†§She's My Weakness (A.T.)	Carel-Lake-Bunce	Aug. 24	not set		June 28
*†§Shooting Straight (A.T.)	Dix-Lawlor	July 20	5800	65	July 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Babes in Toyland (A.T.)	Special Cast
*†§Bunker Bean (A. T.)
*†§Check and Double Check (A.T.)	Amos 'n' Andy
*†§Cimarron (A.T.)	Richard Dix
*†§Conspiracy, The (A.T.)	Love-Trevor-Sparks
*†§Dixiana	Bebe Daniels				July 26
*†§Escapo (A. T.)
*†§Hall Shot at Sunrise (A. T.)	Wheeler-Woolsey
*†§Heart of the Rockies (A. T.)	Marshall-Daniels
*†§High River
*†§Hunted
*†§Iron Trail, The (A. T.)
*†§Ladies of the Past	Betty Compson
*†§Lawful Larceny (A. T.)	Daniels-Thompson	Aug. 17	6379	67	July 19
*†§Leathernecking (A. T.)	Foy, Jr.-Rubin
*†§Old Accordion Man, The (A. T.)	Joseph Cawthern
*†§Perfect Alibi, The (A. T.)
*†§Record Run (A.T.)	Wolheim-Armstrong-Arthur
*†§Sensation (A.T.)
*†§She's My Weakness (A.T.)	Lake-Carroll
*†§Silver Horde (A. T.)	Brent-Wolheim
*†§Upperworld (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Age of Innocence, The (A.T.) (F)	Paula Trueman	Jan.	5 reel
*†§Before Breakfast (A.T.) (F)		Mar.	9 2 reels
*†§Bobbed Wire (A. T.)	Dane-Arthur
*†§Bridegroom, The (A.T.) (F)	Marc Connelly	Feb.	2 reel
*†§Broken Wedding Bells (A.T.)	Dane-Arthur			June 21
*†§Campus Sweethearts (A. T.) (F&D)		Mar.	9 2 reels
*†§Cash and Marry (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke-Sargeat	Mar.	16 2 reels
*†§Dear Slayer (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Mar.	2 2 reels	Feb. 22
*†§Eventually But Not Now (A.T.) (F&D)	Vaughn-Cooke	Apr.	13 2 reels	Apr. 19
*†§Fair Deceiver, The (A. T.) (F&D)		Jan.	6 1 reel
*†§General Ginsburg (A.T.) (F)	Nat Carr	Apr.	13 2 reels
*†§Golf Specialist, The	W. C. Fields		2 reels	July 5
*†§Gunboat Ginsburg (A.T.) (F)	Nat Carr	Jan.	12 2 reels	Nov. 9
*†§Guest, The (A. T.) (F&D)	Marc Connelly	May	25 1 reel
*†§Hot Ridge (A. T.) (F&D)		May	11 2 reels
*†§Humanettes	Benny Rubin		1 reel	July 5
*†§Jazz (A.T.) (F)	Duke Ellington & Orchestra	Feb.	9 1 reel
*†§Land of the Sky Blue Daughters	Vaughn-Cooke	Mar.	30 2 reels
*†§Lost and Feundered (A. T.) (F&D)	Vaughn-Cooke	Jan.	19 2 reels
*†§Magnate, The (A. T.) (F&D)	Marc Connelly	Mar.	30 1 reel
*†§Men Without Skirts (A.T.)	Dane-Arthur		2 reels	July 5
*†§Mickey's Champs (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Feb.	2 2 reels
*†§Mickey's Luck (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Mar.	30 2 reels	Apr. 12
*†§Mickey's Master Mind (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Mar.	2 2 reels
*†§Mickey's Merry Men (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	July	20 2 reels
*†§Mickey's Strategy (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Jan.	5 2 reels
*†§Mickey's Winners (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Aug.	17 2 reels
*†§Mickey the Romeo (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	June	22 2 reels
*†§Mickey the Whirlwind (A.T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Apr.	27 2 reels
*†§Mikey the Warrior	Mickey Yule	May	25 2 reels
*†§Museum, The	Toby the Pup		1 reel	May 24
*†§Musical Moments (A. T.)	Felix Fernando Orch		1 reel	June 14
*§†Off to Peoria (A.T.)	Nick & Tony	July	13 2 reels	June 14
*†§Old Bill's Christmas (A.T.)		Feb.	9 2 reels	Dec. 14
*†§Old Vamps for New (A. T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Feb.	2 2 reels	Jan. 25
*†§Paineka Flying School (A.T.)		June	22 1 reel
*†§Peep on the Deep, A	Clark & McCullough		2 reels	July 5
*†§Setting Son, The (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Feb.	16 2 reels	Feb. 8
*†§Sleeping Cuties (A.T.)	Alberta Vaughn	Jan.	5 2 reels	Dec. 21
*†§Sang and the Sergeant, The (A.T.)		May	11 2 reels
*†§Stronge Interview, The (A.T.) (F)	Sherwin-Knowles	Mar.	2 1 reel
*†§While Auto Waits (A.T.) (F)		Jan.	12
*†§Who's Got the Body (A.T.)	Nick & Tony	Aug.	3 2 reels	May 24

SONO-ART-WORLD WIDE

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Big Fight, The (A.T.)	Williams-Lane	Sept. 1	5850	65	Apr. 19
*†§Cock O' the Walk (A.T.)	J. Schildkraut-Ley	May 15	7200	80	Apr. 19
*§†Dude Wrangler, The (A.T.)	Duryea-Basquette	June	6200	68	May 24
*†§Fighting For the Fatherland		Apr.
*†§Hello Sister (A. T.)	L. Hughes-Borden	Feb.	9500	100	Apr. 5
*†§Once a Gentleman (A.T.)	Horton-Wilson	Aug.			June 21
*†§Reno (A.T.)	Roland-Themson-Love
*†§Sombres de Gloria (Spanish)	Special Cast	Feb.	9500	100	Feb. 22
*†§What a Man (A.T.)	Denny-Segar	Apr. 1	7000	79	Mar. 29

STATE RIGHTS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Dist'r	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Across the World (A.D.)	Martin Johnson	Talk. Pic. Epics	Net set	8860	98	Jan. 25
*†§After the Verdict (A.T.)	Tschechowa-Ward	Int. Photoplay	Jan. 1	8900	73	June 21
Asphalt	Froelich-Amasa	Allied Films	Mar. 15	8 reels	85	May 10
†§Because I Love You	Mody Christians	Amer. Gen. Film	Jan. 24	9000	100	Feb. 8
*†§Beyond the Rio Grande (A.T.)	Jack Perrin	Big 4	Apr. 15	5400	60	June 7
*†§Bottom of the World		Talk. Pic Epics				July 19
*†§Bride 68 (P.T.)	Verdi Grink	Amer. Anglo	Apr. 6		10	Apr 19
*†§Bright Eyes	Balfour-Trevor	New Era	July 10	6800	76	July 5
*†§Burning Heart, The	Christians-Froelich	Harold Auten	May 10	8572	88	May 24
*†§Call of Circus (A.T.) (D.F.)	Bushman Cleyton	Burr	Jan. 15	5466	61	Jan. 18
Caught in Berlin Underworld	Fritz Kortner					Feb. 15
Chess Player, The	Johanne-Blanchard	Unusual Plct.
*†Civilization	Hickman-Markey	Amer. Trad. Assn
*†§Crimes in Wall Street (A.T.)	Murray-Littlefield	Aristocrat	Mar. 15	7127		Mar. 1
*†§Co-Optimists	Special cast	New Era	Feb. 6			Feb. 22
*†§Danger Man, The (P.T.)	Chas. Hutchinson	Cosmos	May 26	6516	82	May 24
*†§Darkened Skies (A.T.)	Brentwood-MacDonald	Biltmore Pred	Jan.	5400	60	Dec. 14
Docks of Hamburg	Jugo-Fritsch	Ufa
*†§Drifters		Harold Auten			40	July 5
*†§Escaped from Dartmoor	Boaring-Henning	Harold Auten	Apr. 11	7529	70	Apr. 19
Farmer's Wife	Thomas-Hall-Davis	Allied	Jan. 4	6845	76	Jan. 18
*†§Firebrand Jordan	Lane Chandler	Big 4	June 23	5400	60	July 26
Figaro		Franco-American	Not Set	6360	71	Dec. 7
*†§Heart's Melody (A. T.) (F & D)	Fritsch-Parlo	Ufa Film
Her Unborn Child (F & D)	Special Cast	Windsor	Jan. 10	7609	85	Jan. 18
Hunted Men	Bob Steele	Syndicate	Apr.	4853
*†§Immortal Vagabond (A.T.)	Hald-Frecllch	Ufa Film
In the South Seas with Mr. and Mrs. Pinchot		Talk. Plct. Epics	Sept. 1	5538		May 31
*†§Ingagi	African Hunt	Congo Plct. Ltd.	Apr. 13	7776	86	Apr. 26
Jade Casket, The	French Cast	Cosmos		5800	64
*†§Juno and the Paycock (A.T.)	Sara Allgood	Harold Auten	June 27	9100		July 5
*†§Ladies in Love (A.T.)	Day-Walker	Chesterfield	May 17	6095	69	May 3
*†§Last Dance, The (A.T.)	Reynolds-Robards	Audible	Mar. 8	5825	65	Mar. 29
*†§Lost Gods (A.T.)		Talk Plc. Epics	Sept. 1	4600	53	July 12
Lost Patrol		Pro Patria	Not Set	5100	57	Dec 21
*†§Love at First Sight (A.T.)	Keener-Foster	Chesterfield	Feb. 15	6039	68	Feb. 1
Mystery at the Villa Rose	Trevor-Baring	Harold Auten	May 31	9000	100	mins.
*†§Overland Bound (A.T.)	Perrin-Ray	Raytene	Apr. 15	5040	56	Mar. 29
*†§Parting of the Trails	Bob Custer	Syndicate	Mar. 1	4700	52	Mar. 29
Passion Song, The	Olmsted-N. Beery	Excellent		5080	56
Peacock Fan The	Dorothy Dwan	Chesterfield		5400	60
Peor Millionaire	Talmadge-Howard	Biltmore	Apr. 7	5200	58	May 17
Pori	Special Cast	Ufa Films
*†§Rampant Age (A.T.) (D.F.)	Murray-Kennedy	Continental	Jan. 15	5743	64	Jan. 18
*†§Ridin' Law	Perrin-Canutt	Big 4	May 1	5600	62	July 5
Sea Fury	Mildred Harris	Tom White	Not Set	5200	58	Dec. 7
†Slums of Tokio	Japanese Cast	Moviegraphs
Smoke Bellew	Conway Tearle	First Division		6605	73
Soul of Panama	Carmelita Geraghty	Chesterfield		6300	70
Stampede	Native Cast	Harold Auten	Apr. 28	7540	80	May 3
Strange Case of District Attorney "M"		Unusual Photoplay	Mar.	6800		Mar. 22
*†§Take the Heir (A.D.)	Edward Horton	Big 4	Jan. 15	5700	63	Jan. 25
Three Outcasts, The	Yakima Canutt	Waca	Mar. 7	5 reels		Oct. 19
Thunder God	Cornelius Keefe	Crescent		5917	66
Western Honor	Bob Steele	Syndicate	Mar.	4849	50	May 17
*†§West of Rockies (A.T.) (D)	Art Mix	World Art	Jan. 18	6100	68
*†§White Cargo (A.T.)	Special Cast	Harold Auten				Mar. 1
*†§White Devil (P.T.) (F & D)	Mesjukin-Dagover	UFA Films
Why Cry at Parting	Halm-Gralla	International		7000	78	Feb. 22
*†§Woman Who Was Forgotten (A.D.)	Belle Bennett	State Cinema	Jan. 1	7560	85	Jan. 25
Wonderful Lies of Nina Petrowna	Helm-Ward	Allied Films	May 30	8 reels	80	June 14
*†§Would You Believe It?	Walter Forde	Big 4	Mar. 15	6 reels	60
*†§Yiddish Mama, The (A.T.)	Mae Simon	Judea Films		4000

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Ape, The (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Bar L Ranch	Bill, Jr.-Walee	Big 4
*†§Body, Soul and Dress
†§Burned Evidence (F)		Continental
Buying a Wife	Special Cast	Aff. European	7 reels
*†§Clown, The (F)		Continental
*§†Comeback, The (A.T.)		Majestie
*†§Dancing Fathers (A.T.)
*†§Dangerous Trails		Big 4	Sept. 15
*†§Davy Jones Locker (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Divorce Question, The (A.T.)		Majestie
Duty to be Silent	Maria Albana	Aff. European	6 reels
*†§East Lynne (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§East of Asia (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Everybody's Girl (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
Exodus to the New World, The	Lyon-Prevost	Pioneer
Full Dressed Thieves	Nils Asther	Aff. Europeen	7 reels
German Underworld	Special Cast	Aff. European	7 reels
Great Unknown, The	John Loder	Aff. European	6 reels
*§†Hail the Woman (A.T.)		Majestie
Her Viennese Lover	Asthor-Nolaa	Aff. European	6 reels
*†§In Oklahoma (A.T.)
†§Lady of the Lake, The	Percy Marmont	FitzPatrick
*†§Life For Sale, A (F)		Continental
Milak of the Snowlands	Special Cast	Allied
*†§Midnight Alarm, The (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Mother's Millions (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Night Hawk, The		Big 4	Aug. 16
Our Daily Bread	Mary Nolan	Aff. European	7 reels
*†§Price Mark, The (A.T.)		Majestie
*†§Red Kisses (A.T.)
*†§Romantic Scoundrel, The (A.T.)
*†§Second Honeymaea, The (F)		Continental
*†§Sentimental Satan (A.T.)		Majestie
*†§Smart Women (A.T.)		Majestie
*†§Thou Shalt Not Squeal (A.T.)
*†§Teday (A.T.)	Nagel-Owen	Majestie
*†§Trap, The (A.T.)		Majestie
§Unforbidden Sin, The (F)		Continental
Unholy Love	Wegener-Petrovitch	Aff. Europeaa
When Duty Calls	Special Cast	Allied	6714 feet
Wild Men of Kalihari	Denver African Exp.	Talk. Plct. Epics
§Worldly Goods (F)	Kirkwood-Kennedy	Continental
*†§Worst Woman in Paris (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Anywhere By Air	Visuagraph		3 reels	May 17
*†§At the Photographers (A. T.) (F)	Harry Delf	Elbee	2 reels
*†Beethoven		Fitzpatrick	1 reel	Apr. 19
*†Barn Dance	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
Besides the Western Sea		Castle Film	1 reel
*†§Blind Youth (A. T.)	Lou Tellegen	Capital	2 reels
*†§Bring On the Bride (A.T.)		Elbee	2 reels	Nov.
*†§Broken Doll, The (A.T.)	Sadie Banks	Judea Films	1 reel
*†Chain Gang, The	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†Conquest of the Cascades	Educational	Gen. Electric Co.		Apr. 19
*†§Down Hawaii Way	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
*†§Egypt, Land of Pyramids		FitzPatrick	1 reel	June 21
*†§Fourth of July		Fitzpatrick
*†§Fried Husband (A.T.)		Burr	2 reels
*†Galloping Gauche	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	Feb. 11 reel
*†§Gateway to India	Travelogue	Fitzpatrick
*†Jungle Rythm	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel	Jan. 11
*†Just Mickey	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Pred.	1 reel
*§†Kiddie Cabaret		Mayfair	2 reels	Apr. 26
*†Kids and Pets	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
Lincoln's Birthday		FitzPatrick	Feb. 12. 350 feet
*Liszt, Franz	Music Master Series.	Fitz Patrick	1 reel	Apr. 5
*†§Mal-Ko Mashma-Lou (A.T.)	Harry Feld	Judea Films
*†§Mawas (P.T.)		Capital Prod.	3½ reels	June 7
*†§Meet the Family (A.T.) (F)	Harry Delt	Elbee	2 reels
*†Mickey's Concert	Mickey Mouse Carteon	Celebrity Pred.	1 reel
*§Monkey Squawks (A.T.)		Burr
*†§Oh Doctor (A.T.)	Special Cast	Judea Films	1800
*†Plane Crazy	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	Jan. 1 reel
*†Plew Boy	Mickey Mouse Carteon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†§Shoemaker's Romance (A.T.)	Special Cast	Judea Films	1900
*†§Should I	Charles Lawmer	Advance Trailer		May 17
*†§Signed, Sealed & Delivered (A.T.)		Burr
*†§Sixty Minutes From Broadway	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
*†§Style and Class (A.T.)	Marty Barratz	Judea Films	2000
*†§Summer Harmonies	Song Cartoon	Blophone	1 reel	Oct. 5
*†Tee Time	Felix the Cat	Copley Films	1 reel	Apr. 5
*Thought for Mother's Day	Fitzpatrick		1 reel	May 10
Washington's Birthday		Fitz Patrick	Feb. 22. 350 feet
*†§When My Dreams Come True	Gene & Glenn	Advance Trailer	1 reel	Apr. 5
*†When the Cat's Away	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†Wild Waves	Miskey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel	Jan. 11

TIFFANY

FEATURES

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Border Romance (A. T.)	Armida-Terry	May	18	5974	65	May 31
*†§High Treason (A.T.)	Hume-Themas	Mar.	25	6210	69	June 7
*†§Hot Curves (A.T.)	Rubin-Lease-Day	June	15	7893	88	July 12
*†§Journey's End (A.T.)	Colin Clive	May	23	11416	130	Apr. 12
*†§Just Like Heaven (A. T.)		July	14
*†§Kathleen Mavourneen (A.T.)	O'Neil-Delaney	June	20	5169
*†§Mamba (A.T.)	Hersholt-Boardman-Forbes	Mar.	10	6183	69	Mar.
*†§Medicine Man, The (A.T.)	Benny-Bronson	June	15	6211	69	June 21
*†§Near Rainbow's End (A.T.)	Steele-Lorraine	June	10	5916	58	July 5
*†§Party Girl (A.T.)	Doug Fairbanks, Jr.	Jan.	1	6750	75	Dec. 21
Reviewed as "Dangerous Business" issue Dec. 21, 1929
*†§Peacock Alley (A.T.)	Mae Murray	Jan.	10	6060	67	Feb. 8
*†§Sunny Skies	Benny Rubin	May	12	6994	78	May 24
*†§Swellhead (A. T.)	Gleason-Shilling-Walker	Mar.	20	7040	78	Apr. 26
*†§Troopers Three (A.T.)	Lease-Gulliver	Feb.	15	7239	80	Feb. 22

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Cyclone Hickey
*†§Enchanting Melody (A.T.)
*†§Fascination (A.T.)	Mae Murray
*†§Headin' North (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§His Last Race (A.T.)	Garon-Barry
*†§Lasca
*†§Land of Missing Men (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Left Over Ladies
*†§Love, Life, Laughter
*†§Luxury Girl
*†§Maroon-Maria
*†§My Brudder Sylvest	Leo Carrillo
*†§Oklahoma Cyclone (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Paper Profits
*†§Paradise Island (A.T.)	Harlan-Day		not set	July 5
*†§Ridin' Fool, The (A.T.)	Bob Steele
*†§Satin Straps
*†§So This Is Mexico (A. T.)	Armida
†*§Sunrise Trail, The (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Third Alarm, The (A.T.)
*†§Torrent, The
*†§Under Montana Skies	Harlan-Gulliver
*†§Why Marry (A.T.)	Hunter-Reynolds

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Cossack's Bride, The	Color Symphony		1 reel	Feb. 22
*†§Enchanted Forest, The (A.T.)			1 reel	May 31
*†§In Old Madrid	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Jungle Drums	Celertone		2 reels	Dec. 28
*†§Melodie	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Minuette	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Modern Cinderella, A	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Mountain King, The	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§On the Plantation	Forbes Randolph Singers		2 reels	May 10
*†§Pharoah's Daughter	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Sacred Hour, The	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Song of Indie, A	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Station S-T-A-R			1 reel	Dec. 7
*†§Songs My Mother Taught Me	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Tales of Araby	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Temple Bells	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Viennese Melody	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Voice of Hollywood	Station S-T-A-R Series		1 reel

UNITED ARTISTS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bad One, The (A. T.)	Del Rio-Lowe	May	3	6673	74	Mar. 22
*†§Be Yourself (A.T.) (F)	Fannie Brice	Feb.	8	5977	77	Feb. 1
*†§Hell Harbor (A.T.)	Velez-Hersholt	Mar.	22	8354	84	Mar. 8
*†§Lummox (A. T.) (F)	Westover-Lyon	Jan.	18	7533	84	Feb. 15
*†§One Romantic Night A. T.)	Gish-Nagel-La Rocque	Apr.	12	6592	72	Mar. 29
*†§Puttin' on the Ritz (A.T.)	Harry Richman	Mar.	1	8225	88	Feb. 22
†§Raffles (A. T.)	Ronald Colman	July	26	6509

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Abraham Lincoln (A. T.)	Walter Huston	Sept.	28
*†§Bat Whispers, The (A.T.)	Chester Morris	Dec.	20
*†§City Lights (F)	Charlie Chaplin
*†§Du Barry, Woman of Passion (A. T.)	Norma Talmadge	Nov.	8
*§†Lilli (A.T.)	Evelyn Laye
*†§Eyes of the World (A.T.)	Merkel-Holland	Oct.	18
*†§Forever Yours (A.T.)	Mary Pickford	Nov.	29
*†Hell's Angels (F)	Lyon-Hall-Harlow					June 7
*†§Lottery Bride, The (A.T.)	MacDonald-Garrick	Aug.	16
*†§Reaching for the Moon (A.T.)	Bebe Daniels
*†§Smilin' Through (A.T.)	Joan Bennett
*†§Sons O' Guns (A.T.)	Al Jolson
*†§What a Widow (A.T.)	Gloria Swanson
†§Whoopee (A. T.)	Eddie Cantor	Sept.	7	8550	95	July 12

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Glorious Vamp	Bobby Watson	Jan. 25	952	Jan. 25
*†§Second Hungarian Rhapsody		May 24		July 19
*§†Wizard's Apprentice		Apr. 20	840

UNIVERSAL

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Big Timber (Re-Issue)	William Desmond	Mar.	30	4388
*†§Burning Trail (Reissue)	Wm. Desmond	July	29	4223
*†§Captain of the Guard (A.T.)	La Plante-Boles	Apr.	20	7519	76	Apr. 5
*†§Climax, The (A. T.)	Crawford-Hershelt	Jan.	28	5845	65	Mar. 29
*†§Cohens and the Kellys in Scotland	Sidney-Murray	Mar.	17	7600	82	Mar. 15
*†§Concentratin' Kid (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	July	20
*†§Czar of Broadway (A.T.)	Wray-Compson-Harron	May	25	7314	81	Apr. 26
*†§Dames Ahoy (A.T.)	Glenn Tryon	Feb.	9	5773	66	Feb. 8
*†§Devil's Pit, The	Special Cast	Mar.	9	6268	69
Reviewed under title of "Under the Southern Cross" in April 27, 1929 issue
*†§Embarrassing Moments (A.T.)	Reginald Denny	Feb.	2	5230	58	June 29
*†§Fighting Legion, The	Ken Maynard	Apr.	8	6763	75	Dec. 21
Flying Hoofs	Jack Hexie	Feb.	2	3852	43
*§†Hell's Heroes	Bickford-Hatton	Jan.	5	6148	70	Dec. 21
*†§Hide-Out (A. T.)	Murray-Crawford	Mar.	30	5299	50	Apr. 19
*†Lucky Larkin	Ken Maynard	Mar.	2	5785	64	Mar. 22
†§Mounted Stranger, The	Hoot Gibson	Feb.	16	5784	64	Feb. 15
*†§Mountain Justice	Ken Maynard	May	4	6748	75	Mar. 22
*†§Night Ride	Robinson-Kent	Jan.	12	5609	62	Dec. 28
*†§Parade of the West	Ken Maynard	Jan.	19	5900	65	Feb. 1
*†§Roaring Ranch (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	Apr.	27	6094	67	May 24
*†§Song of Passion (A.T.)	John Boles	Aug.	11
*†§Song of the Caballero	Ken Maynard	June	29	6524	73	July 12
*†§Sons of the Saddle	Ken Maynard	Aug.	3
*†§Spurs (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	Aug.	24
*†§Storm, The (A. T.)	Special Cast
*†§Trailing Trouble	Hoot Gibson	Mar.	23	5198	67	Mar. 29
*†§Trigger Tricks (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	June	1	5462	57	June 21
*†§Undertow	Nolan-Ellis-Brown	Feb.	23	5025	56	Jan. 4
*†What Men Want	All Star	July	13	6041	67
*†White Hell of Pitz Palu	Special Cast	June	1	7727	80	May 10
White Outlaw, The (Reissue)	Jack Hoxie	May	25	4541
*†§Young Desire (A.T.)	Mary Nolan	June	8	6529	73	July 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§All Quiet on Westara Front (A. T.)	Welhelm-Ayres-Wray					Apr. 26
*†§Boudoir Diplomat (A.T.)
*†§Bullet Proof (A.T.)
*†§Cohens & Kelleys in Ireland (A.T.)
*†§East is West (A.T.)	Lupe Velez
*†§Flirt, The (A.T.)	Glenn Tryon
*†§Gypsy Love Song (A.T.)	Boles-Velez-Loff
*§†Hunchback of Notre Dame (A.T.)
*†§King of Jazz Revue, The (A.T.)	Whiteman's Band & Special Cast			8724	97	Apr. 5
*†§Ladies In Love (A. T.)	Mary Nolan
*†§Lady Surrenders, The (A.T.)
*†§Little Accident (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr., Page					July 12
*†§Love Cavalier, The (A.T.)	Boles-Loff
*§†Merry-Go-Round (A.T.)	Loff-Boles
*†§Oregon Trail (A.T.)
*†§Durang
*§†Outside the Law (A.T.)	Nolan-Robinson
*†§Resurrection (A.T.)	Boles-Velez
†§Saint Johnson (A.T.)	Ayres-Wray
*†§Scrub Oak (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson
*†§Serenade (A.T)	John Boles
*†§Signal Tower (A.T.)
*†§Singing Caballero (A.T.)	John Boles
†§Strictly Dishonorable (A.T.)	John Boles
*†§Virgin of Stamboul (A.T.)
*†§Week-End Girl	Laura La Plante

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
Alias the Bandit	Bobbie Nelson	May	17....2 reels	Apr. 19
All Wet	Sid Saylor		2 reels	May 24
Anthony & Cleopatra (reissue)		May	26....1 reel
Badge of Bravery	Ted Carson	Feb.	8....2 reels	Jan. 11
Bashful Whirlwind (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aug.	30....2 reels
Battling Kid, The	Bobbie Nelson	June	14....2 reels	May 24
Beauty Parade, The	Arthur Lake	July	2....2 reels	June 7
Benjamin Franklin (Reissue)		June	23....1 reel
Boundery Line, The (Reissue)	Fred Humes	July	5....2 reels
Close Call (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aug.	2....2 reels
Columbus & Isabella (reissue)		June	9....1 reel
Crooked Trails	Ted Carson	May	3....2 reels	Mar. 29
Crimson Courage	Ted Carson	Mar.	8....2 reels	Feb. 1
Danger Claim, The	Bobbie Nelson	Mar.	22....2 reels	Feb. 15
Fighting Terror (Reissue)	Billie Sullivan	July	19
French Leave	Sid Sayler	Mar.	19....2 reels	Mar. 8
Follow Me	Arthur Lake	Apr.	30....2 reels	Apr. 5
Foul Ball	Sid Saylor	Apr.	16....2 reels
Getting the Air	Arthur Lake	Mar.	5....2 reels	Feb. 1
Her Bashful Beau	Arthur Lake	June	11....2 reels	May 24
His Girl's Wedding	Arthur Lake	July	23....2 reels	June 28
Kounty Fair	Oswald Cartoon	Jan.	6....1 reel	Dec. 7
Last Stand	Bobbie Nelson	Jan.	25....2 reels	Dec. 21
Law In the Saddle	Ted Carson	Apr.	5....2 reels	Mar. 1
Lightning Rider, The	Ted Carson	Aug.	23....2 reels	July 19
Lightning Express (Serial)	Chandler-Lorraine	June	2....10 episodes
Make It Snappy	Sid Saylor	Feb.	12....2 reels	Jan 18
Man Hunter, The	Ted Carson	July	26....2 reels	July 5
Matter of Policy	Edwards	Jan.	13....1 reel
Milky Way (Reissue)	Charlie Puffy	Mar.	10....1 reel
Omar Khayam (Reissue)		July	21....1 reel
One Wet Night	Roach-Edwards	Feb.	24....1 reel
Paul Revere (Reissue)		Aug.	18....1 reel
Plane Crazy	Sid Saylor	July	9....2 reels	June 7
Peekaboo	Arthur Lake	May	21....2 reels	Apr. 26
Pony Express Kid, The	Edmund Cobb	Aug.	9....2 reels	July 19
Post of Honor	Bobbie Nelson	Feb.	22....2 reels	Jan. 18
Prehistoric Man (Reissue)		Aug.	4
Pronto Kid, The (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Apr.	12....2 reels
Queen of Roundup (Reissue)	Josie Sedgwick	Mar	1....2 reels
Red Coat's Romance	Ted Carson	June	28....2 reels
Restless Rest (Re-Issue)	Neely Edwards	Mar.	24....1 reel
Ropin' Venus	Josie Sedgwick	Jan.	18....2 reels
Seeing Red (Reissue)	Billy Sullivan	Aug.	16....2 reels
Should Poker Players Marry?		June	30....1 reel
Sid's Long Count	Sid Saylor	May	28....2 reels	Apr. 26

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.*

Sitting Pretty	Arthur Lake	Jan.	15	2 reels	Dec.	21
Six Gun Justice	Bobbie Nelson	Apr.	19	2 reels	Mar.	15
Some Show	Arthur Lake	Apr.	2	2 reels	Mar.	1
Step Right Up	Sid Saylor	May	7	2 reels	Apr.	19
Son of Courage	Bobbie Nelson	July	12	2 reels	June	21
Storm King (Re-Issue)	Edmund Cobb	Feb.	15	2 reels
Speak Easy (Reissue)	Charlie Puffy	Apr.	7	1 reel
Trail of the Pack	Ted Carson	Jan.	7	2 reels	Dec.	7
Under the White Robe (Re-Issue)	Neely Edwards	May	12	1 reel
Way of the West (Reissue)	Neely Edwards	Feb.	1	2 reels
Why Walt	Slim Summerville	Feb.	10	1 reel
Whip Hand, The (Reissue)	Billy Sullivan	Mar.	15	2 reels
Wild West Wallop (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	May	24	2 reels
William Tell		Jan.	27	1 reel
Wolf's Fangs	Ted Carson	May	31	2 reels	May	18

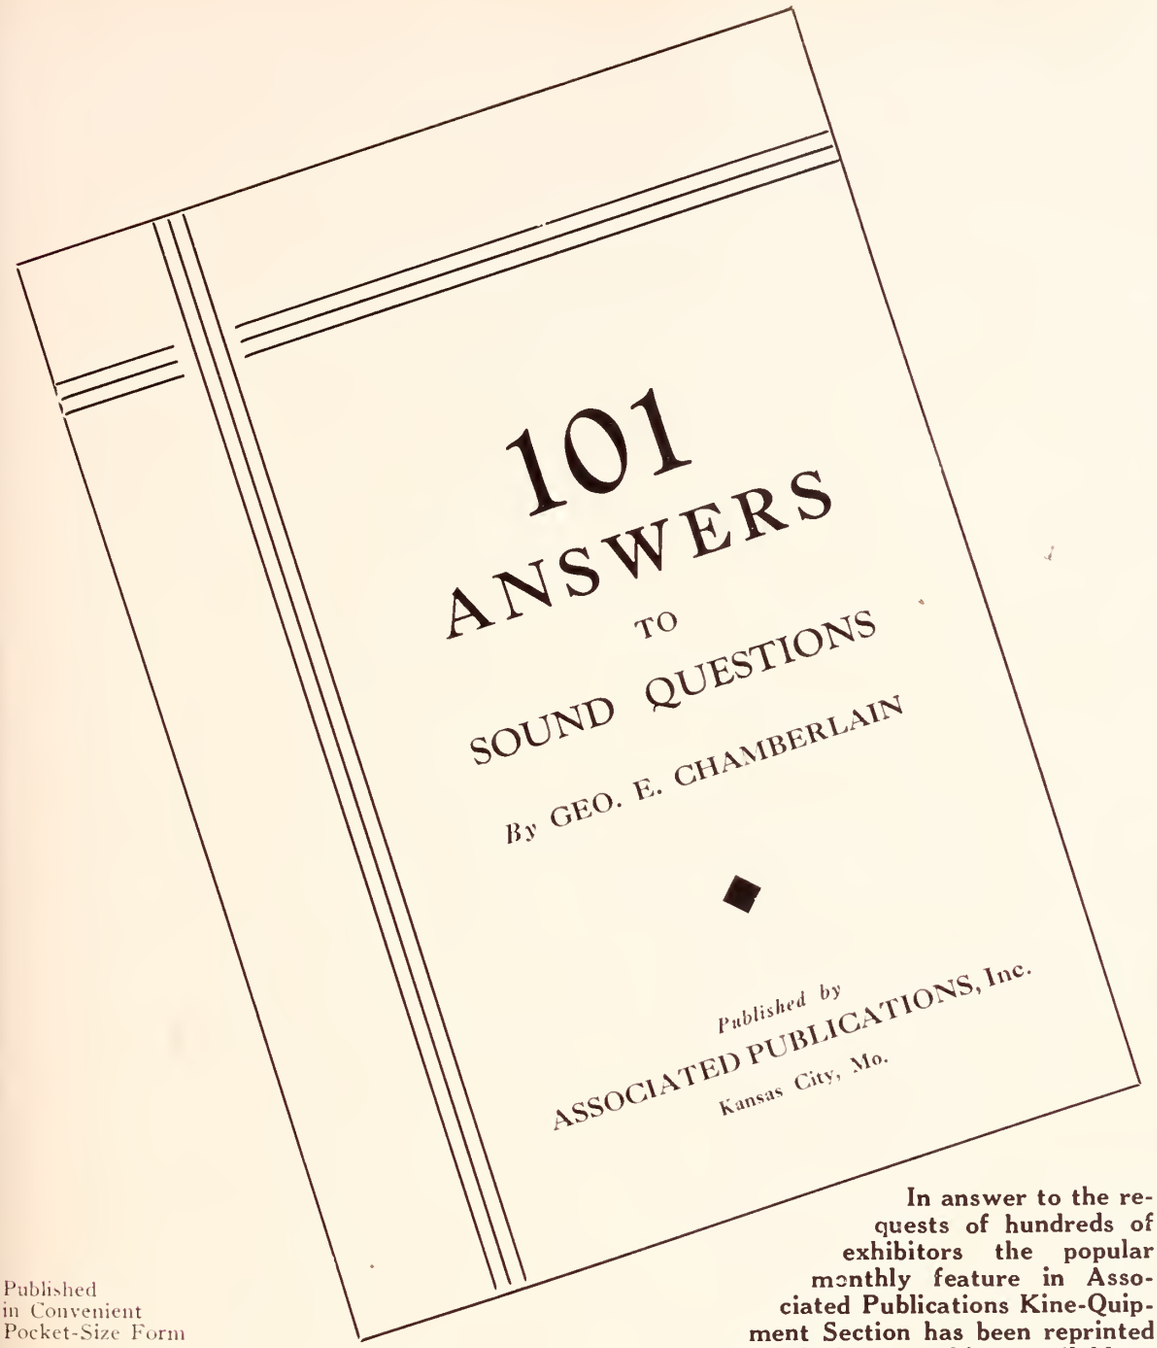
SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Arabian Daze		Mar. 3	2 reels
*§Big Circus, The (Serial)	Bushman, Jr.-Vaughan
*†§Bowery Bimboes	Oswald Cartoon	Mar. 17	1 reel	Apr. 5
*†§Broadway Follies	Oswald Cartoon	Mar. 3	1 reel	Feb. 15
*†§Brother Ior Sale (A. T.)	Sunny Jim	June 25	2 reels	Dec. 21
*†§Chinese Blues (A.T.)	Sporting Youth	Mar. 31	2 reels	Mar. 29
*†§Christmas Cheer (A. T.)	Sunny Jim	Feb. 3	2 reel	Dec. 14
*†Chile Con Carmen	Oswald Cartoon	Feb. 3	1 reel	Jan. 11
*†§Cold Feet	Oswald Cartoon	July 28	1 reel
Fanny the Mule Cartoons			1 reel
*†§Fellow Students	Sid Saylor	Apr. 9	2 reels	Mar. 8
*†§Fireburgs (A. T.)	Archer-Oent		2 reels
†§Footlight Follies (A.T.)	Sporting Youth	Feb. 3	2 reels
*†§Halowe'en	Sporting Youth	Apr. 14	2 reels	Apr. 5
*†§Hash Shop	Oswald Cartoon	Apr. 14	1 reel	Apr. 12
*†§Hell's Heels	Oswald Cartoon	June 2	1 reel	June 7
†Henpecked	Oswald Cartoon	Aug. 11	1 reel
*†§His Bachelor Daddy	Sunny Jim	May 14	2 reels	Apr. 19
*†§Hot for Hollywood	Oswald Cartoon	May 19	1 reel	May 24
*Hurdy Gurdy	Oswald Cartoon	Jan. 20	1 reel	Nov. 30
*†§Indians Are Coming (A.T.)	McCoy-Roy		12 Episodes
*†§Jade Box, The	Lorraine-Perrin	Mar. 24	10 episodes	Feb. 22
*†Kisses and Curses	Oswald Cartoon	Feb. 17	1 reel	Jan. 25
*†§Leather Pushers Series			2 reels
*†§Lightning Express, The (Serial)	Lorraine-Chandler	June 2	10 episodes	April 12
*†§Live Ghosts (F & D)	Ann Christy	Jan. 20	2 reels	Jan. 11
*†§Mush Again	Sunny Jim	Apr. 23	2 reels	Mar. 29
*†§My Pal Paul	Oswald Cartoon	June 16	1 reel	June 28
*†§Neighbors	Sunny Jim	Mar. 26	2 reels	Mar. 1
*†§Not So Quiet	Oswald Cartoon	July 7	1 reel
*†§Oswald Cartoons			1 reel
*†§Outdoor Sports	Sid Saylor		2 reels	Dec. 14
*†Prison Panic	Oswald Cartoon	Apr. 26	1 reel	May 10
*†§Royal Flush	Sporting Youth	Feb. 17	2 reels	Jan. 25
*†§Schoolmates	Sporting Youth	Apr. 28	2 reels	Apr. 26
*†§Seeing Stars	Sporting Youth	Mar. 17	2 reels	Mar. 8
*†§She's a He (A.T.)	Sunny Jim		2 reels	May 10
*†§Sister's Pest	Sunny Jim	Feb. 26	2 reels	Jan. 25
*†Snappy Salesmen	Oswald Cartoon	Aug. 25	1 reel
*†§Spooks	Oswald Cartoon	July 14	1 reel
*†§Steeplechese (A. T.)	Sporting Youth	Jen. 6	2 reels	Dec 14
*†§Stop That Noise	Sunny Jim	July 16	2 reels	June 14
*†§Strange As It Seems Novelties			1 reel
*†§Talking Newsreel			1 reel
†Tarzan the Tiger (Serial)	Frank Merrill	Oec. 9	10 episodes
*†§Terry of the Times (Serial)	Howes-Thompson	Aug. 11	10 episodes	June 21
*†§Traffic Troubles		Mar. 12	2 reels	Feb. 15
*†§Tramping Tramps	Oswald Cartoon	Mar. 31	1 reel	Mar. 29
*†§Up and Downstairs		Jan. 29	2 reels
*†§Vernen's Aunt	Oent-Archer	Feb. 19	2 reels	Feb. 1

WARNER BROTHERS

(Available sound-on-disc only)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Courage (A.T.)	Bennett-Nixon	June 7	6830	74	May 31
*†§Dumbells in Ermine (A. T.)	Armstrong-Gleason-Kent	May 10	6300	70	June 7
*†§Evidence (A.T.)	Pauline Frederick	Jan. 25	7152	79	Oct. 19
*†§General Crack (A. T.)	John Barrymore	Jan. 25	9809	109	Nov. 16
*†§Golden Oawn (A. T.)	Woolf-Segal	June 14	7447	83	June 21
*†§Green Goddess, The (A. T.)	George Arliss	Mar. 8	6653	74	Feb. 22
*†§Hold Everything (A. T.)	Lightner-Brown-O'Neill	May 1	7513	84	Apr. 12
*†§Isle of Escape (A. T.)	Blue-Loy	Mar. 1	5814	65	Apr. 5
*†§Mammy (A. T.)	Al Jolson	May 31	7570	84	Mar. 29
*†§Man from Blankley's, The (A.T.)	John Barrymore	May 24	6167	68	Apr. 12
*†§Man Hunter (A. T.)	Rin-Tin-Tin	May 3	4383	49	Apr. 12
*†§Oh! Sailor, Behave (A.T.)	Delroy-King	Aug. 18	5850	65	July 12
*†§On the Border	Rin-Tin-Tin	Mar. 15	4410	49	Feb. 8
*†§Rough Waters (A. T.)	Rin-Tin-Tin	June 7	4280	68	July 26
*†§Royal Box (A.T.) (German)	Moissi-Horn		8000	89	Dec. 28
*†§Second Choice (A. T.)	Dolores Costello	Jan. 4	8150	91	Jan. 11
*†§Second Floor Mystery (A. T.)	Withers-Young	Apr. 26	5268	59	May 10
*†§She Couldn't Say No	Lightner-Morris	Feb. 15	6413	71	Feb. 22
*†§Song of the West (A. T.)	Boles-Segal	Mar. 15	7185	80	Mar. 8
*†§Those Who Dance (A. T.)	Monte Blue	Apr. 19	6876	76	July 12
*†§Under a Texas Moon (A. T.)	Fay-Torres-Ley-Beery	Apr. 1	7498	83	Apr. 12
*†§Wide Open (A. T.)	E. E. Horton	Feb. 1	6341	71	Mar. 29



Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Barber John's Boy (A.T.)	Grant Withers
*†§Big Boy (A.T.)	Al Jolson	Not Set	Not Set	July 26
*†§Both Were Young (A.T.)
*†§Captain Applejack (A.T.)	John Halliday
*†§Children of Dreams (A.T.)
*†Oancing Sweeties (A.T.)	Carol-Withers	Not Set	Not Set	75 June 14
*†§Oanube Love Song (A.T.)
*†§Olvorce Among Friends (A.T.)
*†§Egg Crate Wallop, The (A.T.)
*†§Fifty Million Frenchmen (A.T.)
*†§Gay Caballero, A (A.T.)
*†§Handful of Clouds (A.T.)
*†§His Brother's Wife (A.T.)
*†§Just an Hour of Love (A.T.)
*†Life of the Party, The (A.T.)	Winnie Lightner
*†§Matrimonial Bed, The (A.T.)	Lilyan Tashman
*†§Maybe It's Love (A.T.)	Brown-Bennett
*†§Maytime (A.T.)
*†§Moby Olck (A.T.)	John Barrymore
*†§Office Wife, The (A.T.)	Mackaill-Stone
*†§Old English (A.T.)	George Arliss
*†§Outward Bound (A.T.)	Howard-Mercer
*†§Penny Arcade (A.T.)
*†§Red Hot Sinners (A.T.)	Winnie Lightner
*†§Recaptured Love (A.T.)	Bennett-Halliday		6094	68 June 7
*†§River's End, The (A.T.)	Claudia Oell
*†§Sit Tight (A.T.)	Winnie Lightner
*†§Soldier's Plaything, A (A.T.)	Lotti Loder
*†§Steel Highway, The (A.T.)	Hall-Withers-Nixon
*†§Sweet Kitty Bellairs (A.T.)	Claudia Oell
*†§Three Faces East (A.T.)	Bennett-Von Stroheim			June 21
*†§Under Cover (A.T.)
*§†Viennese Nights (A.T.)	Gray-Segal-Hersholt

VITAPHONE VARIETIES (D)

Title	Star	Length	Reviewed
Absent Minded	Perkins-Ford	882	10 Apr. 12
Alda, Frances	Songs	523	6 Feb. 8
And Wife	Elliott-Oavis	971	11 Apr. 12
At Home	The Potters	1435	16 Mar. 15
At Your Service	Landis-Halligan-Blackwood	633	7
Battery of Songs, A	Hoyt-Coots-Quintelle	719	8 May 10
Believe It or Not	Robert L. Ripley	2 reels	May 24
Benefit, The	Joe Frisco	928	10 Feb. 8
Bernie, Ben	Orchestra	771	9 Apr. 19
Big Money	The Potters	1141	12 May 24
Body Slam, The	Lambert-Ledoux-Irving	1 reel	July 19
Bridal Night	Arthur-Merriam
Broadway's Like That	Ruth Etting	865	10 Mar. 8
Bubble Party, The	Geo. Sweet	629	7
Bubbles	Vitaphone Kiddies	688	8
Cave Club, The	Leach, Merman-Pierlot	793	9
Celeste Aida	Giovanni Martinelli		9 June 21
Cheer Leader, The	Tom Douglas	826	9
Christmas Knight	Washburn-Eddy-Middleton	696	8
Collegiate Model, The	Ona Munson	2 reels	May 10
Congo Jazz	Loncy Tunes No. 2
Contrary Mary	Bobby Watson	839	9 June 7
Cry Baby	Mary Louise Treen
Oanger	Litel-Campeau-Merriam	744	8 May 24
Oesert Thrills	Edwin Bartlett	725	8
Oevil's Parade, The	Special Cast	888	10 June 14
Oone In Oil	The Potters	1539	17 June 14
Oucking Duty	Conklin-Morgan	493	5
Ouel, The	Fields-Teasdale
Eternal Triangle, The	Gish-Standing-Kaliz
Evolution	Progress of Motion Pictures		10 June 21
Evolution of the Dance		1071	12 Feb. 22
Faust	Ouet 1st Act	872	16 Nov. 20
Feminine Types	Jean Barrios
Fight, The	Norman Brokenshire	1 reel	May 10
Find the Woman	Hugh O'Connell	817	9
Five Minutes From the Station	Overman-Churchill-Sidney
Footnotes	Page Sisters & Oscar Grogan	519	6 Apr. 19
For Sale	Gregory Rotoff	523	6 June 14
Fore	Ford-Lane
Frame, The	Boyd-Middleton	934	10
Getting a Raise	The Potters	1136	13 May 10
Glee Quartette, The	Jack Buchanan	552	6 Feb. 15
Going Places	Shaw & Lee	660	June 7
Grand Uproar	Jim McWilliams	702	8 May 31
Gym Jams	Lew Mayor	635	7 Apr. 19
Head Man, The	O'Connell-Kelly	796	9 Apr. 19
Heart Breaker, The	Eddie Foy, Jr.	1315	15
Heidt and His Californians			June 7
Her Relatives	Neely Edward
Holland		733	8 June 14
Holiday in Storyland, A	Vitaphone Kiddies	799	9
Idle Chatter	Lou Holtz	908	10 Apr. 19
Ill Wind, An	Hibbard-Lorch-Graham	2 reels	June 14
Japanese Bowl, The		694	8 June 14
Jazz Rehearsal	Kane-Edwards	1 reel	May 10
Keeping Company	Eddie Buzzell	1746	19 May 10
Letters	Pauline Garon	800	9
Let's Elope	Betty & Jerry Browne	645	9 June 14
Lobo, Oog of Oogs	Lobo	590	7 Mar. 8
Lonely Giglo	Lotti Loder	922	9
Lost and Found	Irene Shirley
Love Boat, The	Herman Timberg	754	8 Mar. 1
Married	Flint-Ridges-Foran
Master Sweeper, The	Chester Conklin	904	10 Mar. 8
Matter of Ethics, A	Earle-Oakland	621	7
Matinee Idle	Henry Hull	685	8 June 14
McLallen, Jack		1 reel	June 7
Military Post, The	Roberto Guzman	570	6 Mar. 15
Money, Money, Money	Mason-Keeler	876	10
Naggers at Breakfast, The	Mr. & Mrs. Jack Norworth	845	9 June 14
Nay, Nay, Nero	Cameron-Watson
New Racket, The		1 reel	Mar. 15
New Rythm	Havana Casino Orch.
Nile Green	Broderick-Crawford	740	8 June 7
No-Account, The	Special Cast	777	9
Office Steps		874	10 May 31
On the Rancho	Will & Gladys Ahern	600	7 Mar. 15
Only the Girl	Wattles-Marsh	580	6
Operation, The	Edgar Bergen	835	9 Feb. 8
Pagliacci	John Charles Thomas
Pa Gets a Vacation	The Potters	1243	14
Paper Hanging	Johnny Arthur	1 reel	May 31
Paquita & Chiquita		832	9
Pay Off, The	H. B. Walthall	1076	12 Mar. 8
People Versus, The	Campeau-O'Malley	548	6 Apr. 12
Perfect Understanding, A	May-Oaks	537	6
Play Boy, The	Fox-Curtis	2 reels
Poor Aubrey	Franklin Pangborn	2 reels	May 10
Poor Fish, The	Cavanaugh-Ridges-Schaler
Reno or Bust	Pangborn-Elliott	1150	13 June 7
Royal Fourflusher, The	Eddie Buzzell	1556	17 June 14
Russian Rhapsody, A	Kuznetzoff & Nicolina	704	8
Seymour, Ann	Songs
Shakespeare Was Right
She Who Gets Slapped	Tom Ougan		June 7
Sinkin' In the Bathtub	Looney Tunes No. 1	1 reel	May 10
Slick As Ever	H. J. Conley	2 reels	June 7
Song Paintings	Ann Seymour	1 reel	June 7
Song Plugger, The	Joe Frisco	1390	16 June 7
Sound Effects	Buddy Traps	653	7 May 10
South Sea Pearl	Gaston Glass	2 reels	May 10
Stand Up, The	Watson-Cameron-Mack	685	8 June 14
Stepping Oout	Leo Oonnelly
Still Alarm, The	Webb-Allen	1 reel	June 7
Strong and Willing	Trixie Friganza
Strong Arm, The
Surprise	Ougan-Leonard	1038	12
Suspicion	Lyons-Earle-Morne
System	Clements-Knapp
Taking Ways	Codee & Orth	2 reels	May 10
Talking It Over	Jack Osterman	739	8
Taxi Talks	Tracy-Alexander	1346	15 June 14
Temole Belles	Green-Blackman	1346	15 June 14
Tenement Tangle, A	Ryan & Lee	756	9 June 14
23 Skiddo	Lew Fields	854	10 June 14
Two of a Kind	Lytell-Fant	1 reel	June 7
Two Rounds of Love	Rennie-Oixon
Varsity Show, The	Olive Shea
Vengeance	Richmond-Moorhead	819	9 Feb. 8
Westerlen Students	Ryan-Lee	801	9 Apr. 19
Wedding of Jack and Jill, The	Vitaphone Kiddies	701	8 June 7
Wedding Belles	Howard-Newton	485	5
What e Life		955	11 June 14
Who Pays?	Murray-Oakland	942	10 Mar. 15
Window Cleaners	Brice-Edwards	637	7 Apr. 19
Work, Milton C.
Yamekraw		857	9 Aor. 26

Motion Picture News Points the Way

Published in Convenient Pocket-Size Form

In answer to the requests of hundreds of exhibitors the popular monthly feature in Associated Publications Kine-Quipment Section has been reprinted in book form, making available a handy aid to exhibitors encountering various sound equipment problems. "101 Answers to Sound Questions" has been especially prepared by George E. Chamberlain, recognized authority on sound equipment. This is not a treatise; not a book of theories; the questions asked are actual inquiries made by exhibitors on problems they have encountered and Mr. Chamberlain has answered them in brief practical form.

Worth $100.00 But given without cost to subscribers to any one of the ten Associated Publications.

SELECT THE TRADE PAPER YOU WANT—FILL IN COUPON BELOW AND MAIL TO-DAY.

THE FILM GROUP
ASSOCIATED PUBLICATIONS

FILM TRADE TOPICS
Covering San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Denver and Salt Lake City territories.

MOTION PICTURE TIMES
Covering Dallas and Oklahoma City territories.

MOVIE AGE
Covering Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Omaha and Des Moines territories.

The REEL JOURNAL
Covering Kansas City and St. Louis territories.

Motion Picture DIGEST
Covering Chicago and Indianapolis territories.

MICHIGAN FILM REVIEW
Covering Detroit territory.

EXHIBITORS' FORUM
Covering Pittsburgh and Buffalo territories.

The OHIO SHOWMAN
Covering Cleveland, Cincinnati and Louisville territories.

NEW ENGLAND FILM NEWS
Covering Boston, New Haven and Portland territories.

WEEKLY FILM REVIEW
Covering Atlanta, New Orleans, Charlotte and Memphis territories.

National in Scope
Local in Service

ASSOCIATED PUBLICATIONS, INC.,
Glover Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

Date..... 1930.

Gentlemen: Herewith find two dollars ($2.00) or one year's subscription to the publication checked below with which I am to receive without charge a copy of "101 ANSWERS TO SOUND QUESTIONS" by Geo. E. Chamberlain.

☐ Film Trade TOPICS
☐ Motion Picture TIMES
☐ The Reel JOURNAL
☐ Exhibitors' FORUM
☐ New England FILM NEWS
☐ The Ohio SHOWMAN
☐ Motion Picture DIGEST
☐ Michigan Film REVIEW
☐ Weekly Film REVIEW
☐ Movie AGE

Name..... Position.....

Theatre..... City and State.....

—And—

MORE BIG STAR NAMES

make the ONE BIG COMEDY PROGRAM Bigger Still

CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD
FORD STERLING
JOHNNY HINES
CLYDE COOK
TOM PATRICOLA
JOE PHILLIPS
BERT ROACH
MARIAN SHOCKLEY
RAY COOKE
ANDY CLYDE
MARJORIE BEEBE
BETTY BOYD
BEN BARD
JOHN DARROW
PATSY O'LEARY
DAPHNE POLLARD
MARGIE "BABE" KAN
NICK STUART
T. ROY BARNES
MONTY COLLINS
GRETA GRANSTEDT
VIRGINIA SALE
FLORENCE ROBERTS
ANN CHRISTY
CHARLES IRWIN
CYRIL CHADWICK
CHURCHILL ROSS
BUSTER WEST
JOHN WEST

MACK SENNETT COMEDIES

LLOYD HAMILTON COMEDIES

MERMAID Comedies

IDEAL COMEDIES

GAYETY COMEDIES

VANITY COMEDIES

Tuxedo Comedies

MACK SENNETT BREVITIES

PAUL TERRY-TOONS

Lyman H. Howe's HODGE-PODGE

You've read inside the big news of the short feature field—Educational's Announcement of its comedy and novelty program for 1930-1931. Since this announcement went to press many more big star names have been added to make these comedy featurettes more important to your box office. Already Educational's star line-up reads like a Blue Book of Comedy—and there are still more to come.

Educational's Talking Comedies

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

EDUCATIONAL FILM EXCHANGES, Inc.
E. W. HAMMONS, President.

Member, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.
Will H. Hays, President

In This Issue: "The Showman Section"

Motion Picture NEWS

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

TAKE A HIT FOR YOURSELF!

THE BIG HOUSE
LET US BE GAY (Shearer)
CAUGHT SHORT (Dressler-Moran)
THE DIVORCEE (Shearer)
OUR BLUSHING BRIDES (Crawford)
ROMANCE (Garbo)
WAY OUT WEST (Haines)

And Still They Come!

The biggest pictures on the market and they're all

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

AUGUST 2, 1930

Published Weekly by the Motion Picture News, Inc., 729 Seventh Ave., New York. Copyright 1930. Subscription $3.00 a Year

Price 20 Cents

VOLUME XLII
NUMBER 5

Entered as second-class matter April 22, 1926, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under act of March 3, 1879

Los Angeles — New York — Chicago

TOPS the TOWN with "KING OF JAZZ"

——a QUICK money getter
——a BIG money getter
——and one SWELL SHOW

'KING OF JAZZ' LED IN MONTREAL, $15,500

Montreal, July 22
(Draw. Pop., 600,000)
Weather; Fine

Grosses staged something of a come-back last week, although it was one of the hottest of the summer. Federal elections wrecking biz in neighborhoods, but not affecting main stems so much.

Palace topped the town with $15,500 on "King of Jazz." Femmes quit tennis, motoring, Tom Thumbs and the outdoors to get in on this one.

Capitol held to last week's gross of $13,000 on "Richest Man in World" with Louis Mann. Also over one of the best bills seen here for many months.

Loew's was second to the Palace with $14,500 for Vincent Lopez and his band and a picture. Vaude bill this week is better than usual. His Majesty's continued "All Quiet" for its fourth week and will make a record for the town with a fifth repeat, grossing about the same as previous week at around $10,000. Princess made a hit with "The Bad One," Dolores Del Rio being very popular here, and collected $12,500. Imperial gross about $8,000 with "A Notorious Affair."

Estimates for Last Week

Palace (RKO) (2,700; 40-75)—"King of Jazz" (U). Hot weather couldn't keep fans away. Soared to $15,500, best for number of weeks.

Capitol (FP) (3,694; 40-75)—"Richest Man in World" (2nd C.M.)

mantic roles when his preceptor is ready to turn him over to the film producers.

N. Y. Daily News

Harold Franklin, head of Fox West Coast theatres, comes forward with the following official report on Paul Whiteman's "King of Jazz," indicating that I didn't give it too much of a rave:

"We have rated it magnificent. The picture's percentage after a preview before ninety officials of studios, film exchanges and chain theatres was 98. In the last five years only four pictures have received a similar rating."

* * *

Homer Croy won't be seen in his

"KING OF JAZZ" (Universal)
LOS ANGELES—Fox Criterion (1,652), 1st week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Movietone news. Opposition: "Light of Western Stars", "Devil May Care", "Be Yourself", "Ingagi", "Those Who Dance", "Second Wife". Gross: $17,000. Rating: 170%.

"KING OF JAZZ" (Universal)
REGENT—(1,225), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Disney cartoon, ("Cactus Kid"); Fox Movietone news; orchestra. Gross: $6,100. Rating: 100%.

"KING OF JAZZ" (Universal)
HAMRICK'S "MUSIC BOX"—(1,835), 50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vitaphone acts, Pathe sound news, Pete Ashe at organ. (Clever tie-ups, local merchants and windows, plus airplane exploitation helped box office.) Gross: $11,750. Rating: 145%.

Criterion (Fox)—"King of Jazz" (U) (1,600; 25-75). Bettered anticipations and will be close to $18,000 on first week, smart at this location. Pace not far behind "Anna Christie" of blessed box office memory here.

"KING OF JAZZ" (Universal)
LOS ANGELES—Fox Criterion—(1,652), 2nd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Movietone news. Opposition: "Mammy," "Paramount on Parade," "High Society Blues," "Ingagi," "Ladies Love Brutes," "Love Comes Along." Gross: $12,500. Rating: 125%.

Presented by
Carl Laemmle
with Paul Whiteman and his famous Orchestra and a host of stage and screen celebrities. Entire Production directed and devised by John Murray Anderson . . . A Carl Laemmle, Jr., Production.

Manager Fox-Lincoln Theatre, Springfield, Ill., reports KING OF JAZZ grossed phenomenal business during its seven days . . . instructs his booker set KING OF JAZZ throughout entire Fox Circuit . . . KING OF JAZZ did as much in first three days at Asheville, N. C., as ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT . . . booked four days at R.K.O. Palace, Fort Wayne . . . held over six days . . . netted more money on KING OF JAZZ in Jackson, Tenn., than any picture since Hunchback of Notre Dame . . . same goes for Albany, Ga., etc., etc., etc., all over this broad land. Truly THE KING OF JAZZ IS A KING OF MONEY MAKERS.

UNIVERSAL FIRST!

ANOTHER HAPPY NEW YEAR CARD FROM PARAMOUNT!

"10 TIMES BETTER THAN THE SILENT VERSION"
—New York Sun

Crowds packing the long run Rivoli Theatre, New York, at the world premiere engagement of this mighty all-talking drama are echoing The Sun's opinion. When the list of the five greatest box office successes of 1930 is written, "MANSLAUGHTER" will stand very near the top!

It has every element of mass appeal! Marvelous acting that holds audiences breathless, a poignantly dramatic story of wealth and beauty vs. the law, a spectacular production. Book it at once!

"MANSLAUGHTER"

CLAUDETTE COLBERT
FREDRIC MARCH
"A splendidly matched pair."
—New York Journal

Directed by George Abbott. From the Saturday Evening Post serial and novel by Alice Duer Miller.

THE TWO BLACK CROWS, MORAN AND MACK, In "Anybody's War" are playing to crowded, delighted, laughter-swept mobs in key points throughout the country. By long odds, the big comedy hit of the hour!

EXHIBITORS ARE SAYING, "HAPPY PARAMOUNT NEW YEAR" WITH SIGNED CONTRACTS!

GEORGE JESSEL

EDDIE CANTOR

GILDA GRAY

LILLIAN ROTH

SMITH and DALE

Willie & Eugene HOWARD

SHOWDOM'S BIGGEST ★ STARS ★ IN PARAMOUNT SOUND SHORTS

VICTOR MOORE

GINGER ROGERS

CHARLIE RUGGLES

ARMIDA

VENITA GOULD

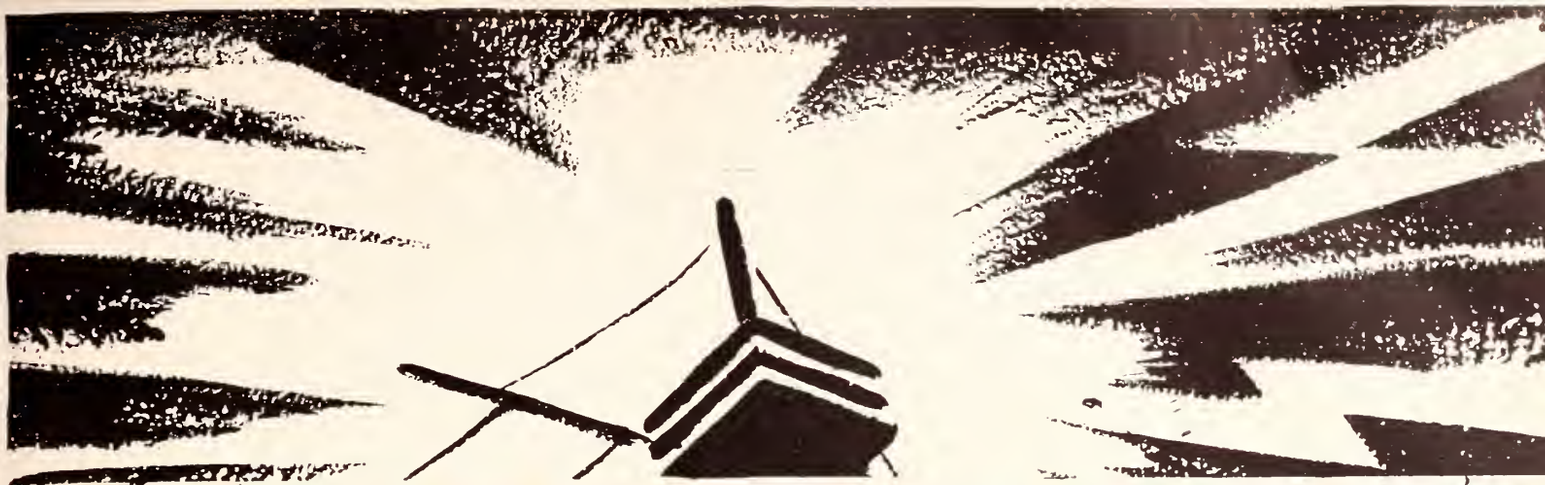
PUCK and WHITE

LYNN OVERMAN

SOLLY WARD

TOM HOWARD

No Other Shorts Program Is So Rich in Real First Line Box Office Personalities!



Paramount turned shorts from a problem into a pleasure. Through over 1.000 theatres of all types and sizes we analyzed exhibitors' needs and the public's tastes in shorts. We set up our 1930-31 shorts aecordingly. In number, length and subjeets they exaetly fit showman's praetical demands. The quality is the same as in Paramount features.

BROADWAY'S BRIGHTEST STARS gather at Paramount's great New York studio, located a stone's throw from the Gay White Way, to make Paramount Sound Acts and Paramount Comedies. No other company has this advantage.

104 PARAMOUNT ACTS. Single reel. 6 PARAMOUNT COMEDIES. 2 reels. Dc luxe produetions. 18 PARAMOUNT SCREEN SONGS. Most popular single reel subjeet on the market. 18 PARAMOUNT TALKARTOONS. Also a Fleiseher single reel hit. 104 PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS, the industry's leader. The new super - magazine, 18 PARAMOUNT PICTORIALS. Single reel.

BEST BALANCED • HIGHEST QUALITY • MOST COMPLETE

TITAN SWEEPS SKIES

MIGHTY MERCHANDISING MESSAGE HURLED INTO MILLIONS OF AMERICAN HOMES IN FIRST GREAT "DIXIANA" BROADCAST FROM HOLLYWOOD . . .

ENCHANTED MILLIONS HEAR
TITAN FLINGS HIS MESS

DIXIA

"DIXIANA" AIR-SOLD AS AGE FROM THE CLOUDS

JULY 29th! DAY OF DAYS! NIGHT OF NIGHTS! . . . FIRST OF THE SCHEDULED 12 TITAN RADIO HOURS BROADCAST FROM THE RKO STUDIOS IN HOLLYWOOD!

At One Grand Stroke the Mightiest Merchandising Coup in the Sweep of All Show Ages!

Fifty NBC Stations in Action at Once! . . . Like Towering Gods of Steel and Concrete . . . Crashing an Invincible Ticket-selling Story Down the Pathways of the Sky!

Uncounted Millions in Homes, in Clubs and Cafes, on Ships Tossing in Tumbling Seas, Sit Before Loud-Speakers with Eager Ears Attuned to the Sweeping Drama and Music of "DIXIANA" . . . Now Breaking Records in Los Angeles and San Francisco at the RKO Orpheum Theatres!

THESE MILLIONS ARE YOUR POTENTIAL CUSTOMERS. NEVER BEFORE IN THE HISTORY OF AMUSEMENT ENTERPRISE . . . ANYWHERE IN THE WORLD...HAS THERE BEEN SUCH AN ASTOUNDING EXHIBITION OF PRACTICAL, TICKET-SELLING MERCHANDISING!

BEBE DANIELS

EVERETT MARSHALL

BERT WHEELER

ROBT. WOOLSEY

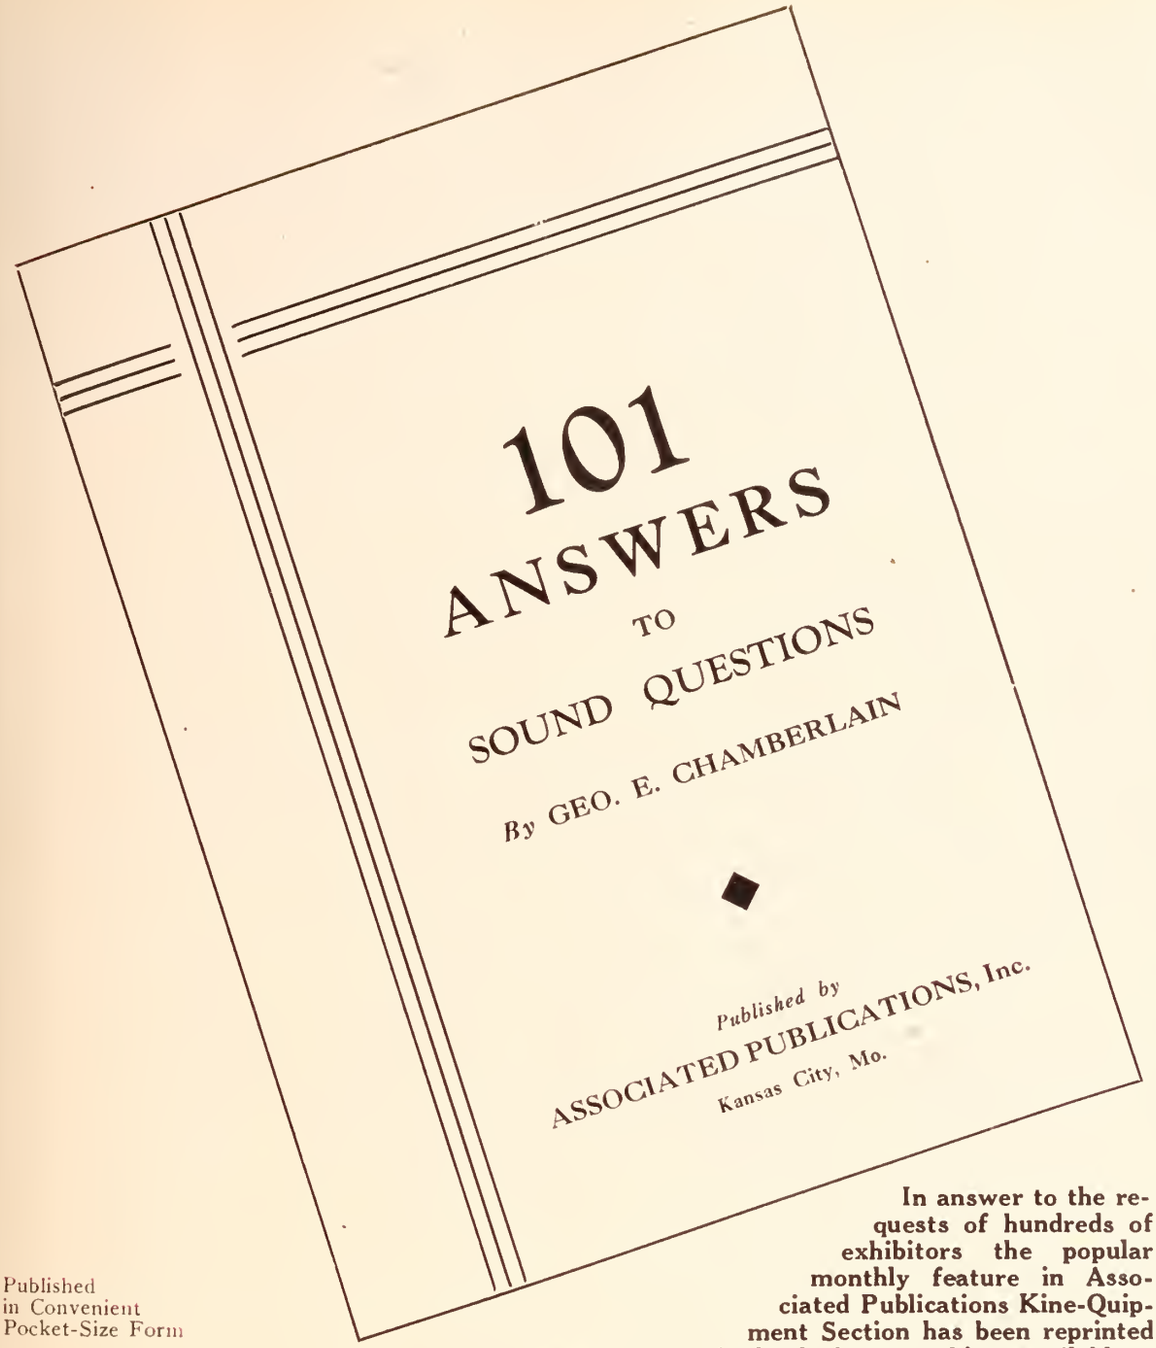
Dorothy Lee, Joseph Cawthorn, Jobyna Howland
Ralf Harolde, Bill Robinson and 5000 others . . .
Directed by LUTHER REED - Music by HARRY TIERNEY
Personally Supervised by WILLIAM LE BARON
Story and Lyrics by ANNE CALDWELL

TITAN SHOOTS FOR LEADERSHIP WITH GRAND NEW SMASHES

Crack RADIO Show Machine Sets Burning Pace With Steady Flow of Sensational New Product . . . Week's Production Bulletins Smoke With Details of VICTORY Sweep.

AMOS 'N' ANDY already in Hollywood at work on the greatest attraction of all show ages.

EDNA FERBER'S "CIMARRON," year's best seller, soon to be biggest of all outdoor shows . . . Directed on colossal scale by WESLEY RUGGLES with RICHARD DIX in role of YANCEY CRAVAT — 5000 OTHERS.



"RECORD RUN," first great railroad melodrama of the talkies . . . Ready for release.

"ESCAPE," JOHN GALSWORTHY'S mighty drama, now a hard-hitting Titan talker . . . Produced by BASIL DEAN and ready for early release.

"LEATHERNECKING," new TITAN laugh show, just completed.

"HALF SHOT AT SUNRISE," WHEELER and WOOLSEY comedy sensation, just completed . . . Every showman in the world will be proud to play it.

WATCH TRADE PAPERS FOR NEW TITAN DEVELOPMENTS ON ALL SHOW FRONTS

Published in Convenient
Pocket-Size Form

In answer to the requests of hundreds of exhibitors the popular monthly feature in Associated Publications Kine-Quipment Section has been reprinted in book form, making available a handy aid to exhibitors encountering various sound equipment problems. "101 Answers to Sound Questions" has been especially prepared by George E. Chamberlain, recognized authority on sound equipment. This is not a treatise; not a book of theories; the questions asked are actual inquiries made by exhibitors on problems they have encountered and Mr. Chamberlain has answered them in brief practical form.

Worth $100.00 But given without cost to subscribers to any one of the ten Associated Publications.

SELECT THE TRADE PAPER YOU WANT—FILL IN COUPON BELOW AND MAIL TO-DAY.

THE FILM GROUP
ASSOCIATED PUBLICATIONS

FILM TRADE TOPICS
Covering San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Denver and Salt Lake City territories.

MOTION PICTURE TIMES
Covering Dallas and Oklahoma City territories.

MOVIE AGE
Covering Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Omaha and Des Moines territories.

the REEL JOURNAL
Covering Kansas City and St. Louis territories.

Motion Picture DIGEST
Covering Chicago and Indianapolis territories.

MICHIGAN FILM REVIEW
Covering Detroit territory.

EXHIBITORS' FORUM
Covering Pittsburgh and Buffalo territories.

the OHIO SHOWMAN
Covering Cleveland, Cincinnati and Louisville territories.

NEW ENGLAND FILM NEWS
Covering Boston, New Haven and Portland territories.

WEEKLY FILM REVIEW
Covering Atlanta, New Orleans, Charlotte and Memphis territories.

National in Scope
Local in Service

ASSOCIATED PUBLICATIONS, INC.,
Glover Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

Date....., 1930.

Gentlemen: Herewith find two dollars ($2.00) or one year's subscription to the publication checked below with which I am to receive without charge a copy of "101 ANSWERS TO SOUND QUESTIONS" by Geo. E. Chamberlain.

☐ Film Trade TOPICS
☐ Motion Picture TIMES
☐ The Reel JOURNAL
☐ Exhibitors' FORUM
☐ New England FILM NEWS
☐ The Ohio SHOWMAN
☐ Motion Picture DIGEST
☐ Michigan Film REVIEW
☐ Weekly Film REVIEW
☐ Movie AGE

Name..... Position.....

Theatre..... City and State.....

NEWSPAPER CONTACT

Dramatic Editors and Critics want facts. That is why every important space controller in the country uses MOTION PICTURE NEWS and MOTION PICTURE NEWS BLUE BOOK as their chief sources of information about the industry, its product and its personalities.

LEAH DURAND, Motion Picture Editor of the Des Moines, Ia., Register and Tribune, says ....

"The 1930 Edition of MOTION PICTURE NEWS BLUE BOOK is bigger and better than ever, and the material is excellent. I use it daily, and find it most helpful in my motion picture work."

Another HOLIDAY FOR EXHIBITORS

HERMAN

A REAL REASON TO CELEBRATE!

PATHÉ

F-A-C-T-S!

The inside story which tells the truth about the one outstanding attraction of 1930

HER MAN

E. B. DERR, President

E. B. DERR to PAT SCOLLARD:

"I'll stake my reputation that HER MAN is the outstanding drama of the season. It's another HOLIDAY for the exhibitors."

C. E. SULLIVAN
Vice President

C. E. SULLIVAN to PAT SCOLLARD:

"If HER MAN is not what the public wants, then the keenest critics in Hollywood are not good judges of pictures."

C. J. SCOLLARD
Executive Vice President

PAT SCOLLARD to PHIL REISMAN:

"Note attached wires from E. B. Derr and C. E. Sullivan. You saw a rough print of HER MAN when you were on the Coast. Evidently E. B. and Charlie are of the same opinion as you were."

PHIL REISMAN
General Sales Manager

PHIL REISMAN to FIELD FORCE:

"The enclosed wires from E. B. Derr and C. E. Sullivan confirm what I have broadcast to you since returning from the Studios. HER MAN is the greatest box office attraction that has been delivered to our Sales Organization or any other Sales Organization since talking pictures have been made."

HER MAN

with HELEN TWELVETREES · MARJORIE RAMBEAU · RICARDO CORTEZ · PHILLIPS HOLMES · JAMES GLEASON · Original story by Howard Higgin and Tay Garnett · Photoplay by Thomas Buckingham · Directed by Tay Garnett · Produced by E. B. Derr

PATHÉ

AND HERE'S WHAT THE DIRECTOR AND CAST THINK ABOUT IT · · ·

TAY GARNETT:

"It is the meatiest story, the most aptly cast production I have ever had the privilege of directing. If it does not prove a sensation at the box affice, I'm neither a prophet nor a director."

HELEN TWELVETREES:

"My role of 'Frankie' in HER MAN is the greatest opportunity I have had in pictures. It is the sort of part that comes to an actress once in a lifetime."

MARJORIE RAMBEAU:

"I am indeed grateful for the opportunity of making my debut on the talking screen in a characterization that in its sheer realism and humanism equals anything I have ever done on the stage"

RICARDO CORTEZ:

"It's a privilege to be given a screen role offering such colorful possibilities as that of 'Johnie' in HER MAN."

PHILLIPS HOLMES:

"Being a relative newcomer to the talking screen I can frankly say that I am thrilled beyond words at having such a glorious opportunity offered me so early in my new career."

JAMES GLEASON:

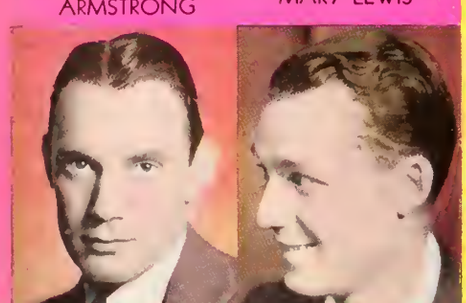
"It's a darb—and no foolin'."

ANN HARDING WILLIAM BOYD

CONSTANCE BENNETT HELEN TWELVETREES

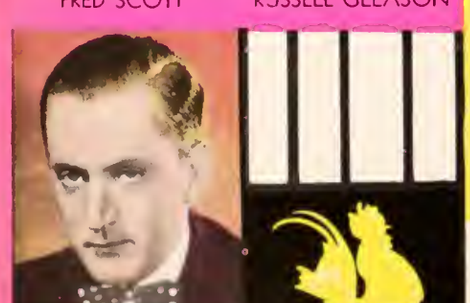
EDDIE QUILLAN JAMES GLEASON

NOT 60% BUT 100%



VARIETY SAYS—

"If 60% of Pathé's Product is 60% as good as HOLIDAY they have no more worries"



PATHE HAS A PERFECT SCOR

ROBERT ARMSTRONG MARY LEWIS

FRED SCOTT RUSSELL GLEASON

Already completed

HOLIDAY
HER MAN
BEYOND VICTORY
NIGHT WORK
SWING HIGH

In production

IN DEEP
LOOKIN FOR TROUBLE
THE GREATER LOVE
THE PRICE OF A PARTY

In preparation

THE LAST FRONTIER
ADAM AND EVE
THE SIREN SONG
TAKING THE RAP
NORTH OF THE YUKON
THIS MARRIAGE BUSINESS
RAWHIDE
I TAKE THIS WOMAN
ALL THE WAY
ROMANCE HARBOR
LAZY LADY

CELEBRATE WITH PATHÉ

VOLUME XLII
NUMBER 5

Motion Picture News

NEW YORK CITY
AUGUST 2, 1930

Publix Houses from Denver West To Go To Fox; 4-Zone Split Takes Spurt

More Trouble Ahead, Mates

Although cooler fall and winter months will sound the deathknell for night golf and night baseball, exhibitors are expected to find tougher competition in a brand new outdoor sports attraction: night football, preparations for which are already under way in many sections of the country.

The gridiron game was played at night in a few spots last season, but the backers were not organized sufficiently to put it over on a large scale. This year, however, plans are understood to have been in work several weeks in preparation for a big plug.

Duncan Sock Deep, Dark Secret Due To Hays Squelch?

Los Angeles—Vivian Duncan has been shushed and the famous shiner escapade, which had her on the receiving end with Rex Lease the party of the first part has ended with payment of a $50 fine by Lease.

Although the star said she would have plenty to say when the case came to trial, and Lease had said he would fight the charge of battery, Miss Duncan was absent when the case was called, and Lease entered a surprise plea of guilty.

Plenty of pressure is declared to have been exerted to avert the threatened scandal, with an ultimatum declared delivered to Miss Duncan unless she dropped the charge. Lease's sock, she said, came when she repulsed his advances. One of the big factors of the shushing of the matter, 'tis said, was reported presence or scheduled presence of Fred Beetson, Hays' aide, at the party following which Miss Duncan sustained the discolored optic.

Fox Starts Tom Thumb Courses in N. Y. Houses

In what is said to be the first time a theatre auditorium has been converted into a Tom Thumb golf course, the Kew Gardens Fox house is to have its main floor seats removed, an artificial sky ceiling and a tabloid golf course installed. The second house to be converted will be the Audubon, upper Broadway, New York.

Deal Reported a Purchase by Fox—Latter May Swap with Publix Elsewhere

Complete control of the theatre situation from Denver west to the Pacific Seaboard will pass to Fox West Coast Theatres if a deal to add Publix houses in that large territory to the Fox string becomes a fact.

The plan, first launched months ago, is understood to provide for the sale of Paramount's holdings in ten western cities to the powerful chain now being operated by Harold B. Franklin and the possible disposal of some of the Fox holdings elsewhere in the United States to Paramount in the nature of a reciprocal deal.

The move, closely held and flatly denied to MOTION PICTURE NEWS by Sam Katz, would further strengthen reports exclusively printed in this publication that the four major circuits—Publix, Fox, (including Loew's), Warners and R-K-O are discussing a plan to parcel the United States into four major divisions and swap holdings until the division assigned each group is developed into dominant proportions.

Two factors have held the idea in check. First concerns the attitude of the government toward the suggestion. Secondly, the terrific obstacles presented by alliances, cross-alliances, full theatre ownerships and part ownerships of the four circuits.

The Fox-Paramount deal, however, is considered by those familiar with its details to be highly significant in its potential import.

Theatres reported about to pass to Fox include these:

Los Angeles—Paramount and United Artists.

San Francisco—Paramount, California, St. Francis and Portola.

Portland, Ore.—Paramount and Rialto.

Seattle—Paramount and Metropolitan.

(Continued on page 30.)

Warners Flirting?

The Warners, with 14 houses in Southern California, are reported to have approached Harold B. Franklin with a suggestion that the Fox West Coast assume operation of those houses.

Ready, Aim, Fire!

The height of something or other was reached in the picture business this week when an important non-theatrical producer-distributor called an executive of the Warner theatre home office staff to ascertain whether or not his company operates the Midwest theatre at Oklahoma City. The Warner exec did not know of the existence of such a theatre, but referred the non-theat chief to another company officer. "Why, yes," replied the latter, the Midwest theatre is controlled and operated by FOX!"

Just to keep the records straight, Warners own the house, opening on Friday. It was purchased as part of the Midwest circuit string.

Now Night Golf Looms As a New Bugaboo to B. O.

Chain operators and showmen at large are evidencing considerable interest in the plan to play regulation golf at night over the Eastwood Hills golf course in Kansas City.

This is probably the first club in the United States to go in for night golf. A test of one lighted hole is held responsible for extension of the idea. Now an order has been placed to illuminate the other eight of the first nine.

If this slant catches on, theatre men see another sock at the box-office facing them.

H. L. Clarke Would Give Big Jack for Pathe News

Broadway was full of rumblings regarding Pathe all through the week. One of the most persistent concerned a plan of liquidation which Pat Scollard, handling the executive end of the company's affairs, denied emphatically. He declared Pathe had four pictures ready and was ready to sail ahead on its own .

The future of Pathe News seemingly is in the balance. MOTION PICTURE NEWS' exclusive report last week that the newsreel may be sold to Harley L. Clarke of Fox gained impetus and reached the point where report had it papers were being drawn for signature.

A Pathe official admitted the company had been approached, with no deal made as yet. There he left it.

Motion Picture News

Vol. XLII NEW YORK CITY, AUGUST 2, 1930 No. 5

THE DIVINE RIGHT OF CELLULOID

AN extremely important man—one of the first half dozen in the industry—grounded thoroughly in the fundamentals of general business and, fortunately for him, able to mentally project himself into a detached, impersonal view of this business, passed this pungent remark the other day:

"The trouble with many leaders in the industry is the fact that they believe they are kings and are trying to create commercial kingdoms over which they can lord."

Press agents, "yes" men, the airiness which comes with the drunkenness of power—these are some of the factors which lend credence, and plenty of it, to this observation.

Imperialism Without Bridle

THAT there existed such a thing as the divine right of celluloid must be apparent to all of those who know their picture business. You see evidences of it on all sides.

The mad, headlong fling in exhibition.

The ridiculous, unbusiness-like and consequently unsound deals for new theatres.

Outbidding and outracing competitors for stars, plays, books.

Aloofness toward vital foreign markets so complete and so long prevalent that today those markets are slipping away from us.

Arrogance in theatre operation as evidenced by the unfair protection toll exacted from subsequent runs all over the nation.

The constant boost upward in rentals of circuits and independents alike.

Dog Market for Royalty

WHERE can it all end? Only in a quick return to sanity and that means normalcy in operation. Despite the industry, rather than because of it and whether the business recognizes it or not, there are indications that rationalism is on the way.

The companies, large and small, that indulged in imperialism in their too quick expansion are feeling the economic pinch. Take it from those who know, the twinges are hurting like hell itself.

Money is tight; investors rare; industrial conditions spotty. The combined factors will take this business off the merry-go-round and set on solid ground.

After all, the royal families of Europe are playing it out in a bear market and kingly aspirations, by popular vote, are quoted way under par.

A Sales Demon's History

THREE years ago, Phil Reisman, literally born a knight of the grip, left Paramount to join Pathe. Sales were split. Pathe had one crew. P. D. C. another. Red ink to the extent of approximately $2,000,000 was splashed all over both companies' books.

Then came the coordination of sales effort. A long, heart-breaking, arduous job. Reisman did it. In two years, Pathe's gross doubled. Reisman did that. For the year ending December 31, 1929, Pathe showed a book profit of $600,000. And Reisman deserves his share of laurel wreaths for that.

This year, with nary a word he set his gang loose and brought in exactly $1,000,000 in short subject contracts before the rest of the business knew he had even started.

A Handshake, a Contract, a New Desk

NOW Reisman moves over to Universal to general manage sales. A big job, particularly when that job is on behalf of a company that has rid itself of theatre outlets. Carl Laemmle wanted him, Bob Cochrane agreed Laemmle was right and there you have the story.

Reisman has been selling film for many years. He started in the basement and worked himself clear up the tortuous ladder. Today, he enjoys the confidence and friendship of circuit heads and important men throughout this entire business. They'll stand by him and that means, in turn, they'll stand by the company he represents.

Laemmle has made a smart move. A year from now he'll appreciate this more than he possibly does now.

KANN

Newspapers, Facing Loss of Copy Via Ad Films, May Hit Back in Reprisal

Clean Copy

"When, right on the eve of his wedding, a young man learns that he has just become a father . . . it isn't hard to imagine what hilarious consequences may follow."

And that's the way Harry Mandell, R-K-O press agent, launches his p. a. message to the newsboys, telling 'em of the opening Friday of "Little Accident" in New York. Continuing, Harry chirps:

"The plight of the hero, with a three-weeks-old-baby on his hands and entanglements with three prospective wives in the offing, furnishes the motif for what bids fair to be the fun smash of the season."

Ingrate Charge Made by Myers vs. Conn. Unit

Washington—Abram F. Myers, president of Allied States Ass'n, has called upon Edward G. Levy, secretary of the Connecticut exhibitor unit, to give an explanatory statement to the trade press in connection with the recent meeting of the Connecticut body, at which published report stated the unit had rejected affiliation with Allied. The latter was unaware that the unit was considering such affiliation at the meeting, and so had no representative there, Myers pointed out.

Abram F. Myers

"About a year ago," said Myers' letter to Levy, "you and Mr. Nunes indicated that you might like to come in, but pointed out your finances were in such shape that you could not bear your share of the burden. Allied never followed up on this business. In our view, it is unfair for some to shoulder all the expenses while others contribute nothing.

"Nevertheless, we have co-operated with you in every possible way, have invited you to meetings, and have been ready and willing to render any service that you might require. It seems to me to be a poor return for our generosity for you to bring up such a question without our knowledge and consent and then advertise that the affiliation had been rejected."

Levy Silent

Invitation to Levy to make a statement upon the Myers communication was made by Motion Picture News, but none has been forthcoming.

Not Expected to See Revenue Dwindle Without Acting—Publicity Slash First

Producers are riding for a jam with newspaper publishers throughout the United States if they don't watch their step in the manufacture and exhibition of out-and-out advertising pictures.

Newspaper publishers are quick to realize that the millions in circulation offered by producer-owned or affiliated theatres represent an inducement of real proportions to national advertisers.

If screen advertising cuts heavily into newspaper copy, Motion Picture News learns the industry might steel itself for retaliation. The most likely method this will assume will take the form of orders to photoplay editors to bear down on the amount of space turned over to pictures.

Companies Are Busy

Paramount is going after industrial films in a thorough manner and has a special department to produce and route these films. The company is offering approximately 850 theatres with an audience of about 10,000,000 at each program. This type of business is being handled by the Paramount Business Pictures, Inc., which has been circularizing all of the big national advertising agencies for business.

Warners, too, is planning to go for industrials in a big way, having recently established a commercial department headed by A. Pam Blumenthal. The circuit claims a 6,000,000 circulation for such films in company theatres.

Alexander Film Co., Colorado Springs, Colo., for some time has been making industrials and Christie Film Co., Hollywood, has established an industrial department.

Under plan of operation, the various firms will place talent in these advertising films, endowing them with entertainment value comparable to other shorts, with the advertising done indirectly. Some of them, it is said, will cost considerably more than the regular entertainment shorts designed for use of other than theatres affiliated with the company. It is expected that special inducements will be made to unaffiliated theatres for showing of the advertising subject.

Conversely, Fox is discontinuing its industrial department and has announced that all of its advertising is to be placed in newspapers.

Out of Features

Insertion of paid advertising in features is prohibited in the proposed new standard license agreement, just as it was in the old standard contract. The contracts have carried a uniform clause warranting that no paid advertising is contained in pictures concerned.

Despite this, there have been numerous exhibitor protests over alleged abuses.

Dumb Like Anything

And then there's the yarn about Monte Blue's near-sighted pal who looked out of Monte's living room window and saw the patio fountain in the center of which there's a cute stone figure of a nude little boy—you know the kind.

The near-sighted guy turned and wagged a reproachful forefinger at the player.

"Monte," said he, "those two sons of yours are nice little lads, but . . ."

"But what?" asked Blue.

"But listen, Monte; when you let 'em play in the garden, you should put pants on them!"

Return to Work or Oblivion in Store For Janet Gaynor

Hollywood—It's to be either, or else, for Janet Gaynor, who must resume work for Fox or be enjoined from making pictures in America during the remaining four years of her contract. The star is still sulking, it is said, in the row which started over salary terms. With four Gaynor pictures slated next year, the Fox studio is not expected to trifle, and unless Miss Gaynor returns to work, she probably will bow out of the film picture.

Sol Wurtzel

Sol Wurtzel is general manager of the Fox studio, working under Winfield R. Sheehan.

"Golden Dawn" Pulled In South; Race Angle

Facing a loss in contracts of $450,000, Warners have withdrawn "Golden Dawn" from distribution in the eleven Southeastern and Southwestern states. The action, according to Claude Ezell, Warner sales manager, was voluntary. He told Motion Picture News the step was taken rather than risk offending southerners. The picture is an operetta with Vivenne Segal playing the title role and Walter Woolf the hero. The locale is South Africa and the yarn deals with the impending sacrifice of Golden Dawn to the Moon God. Woolf, in the picture, falls for her and eventually proves she is white.

London—Always guarding the prestige of the white man in the colonies, British censors are expected to use the shears plenty on "Golden Dawn," which deals with the love of a white man for a colored girl, who is later proven white.

The Insiders' Outlook

THAT Roxy-Fox situation is declared nearing a climax, with the parties approaching an agreement on abrogation of the showman's contract. Roxy is slated to join the RCA-RKO interests, as head of the mammoth theatre to be housed in the Radio City project planned for New York.

His contract with Fox still has about two years to run, and although it has been stated repeatedly that no contract has been signed, the inside dope is that the deal is all set, signed and bank-vaulted. It is reported on good authority that the Roxy-RCA agreement was completed when he went to Bermuda in company with N. R. Aylesworth, president of National Broadcasting.

At the time, Roxy called in his whole staff and informed them that he was joining the new venture. Although the Radio City project won't be completed for two years or more, at least, Roxy it is said, is to join NBC's broadcasting activities if agreement to cancel Fox contract is completed.

Big Potatoes

Howard Hughes is no piker when it comes to spending dough. He showed it in the making of "Hell's Angels" and he's emphasizing it in putting over the picture, aided and abetted by Sid Grauman.

Now he's planning to splurge on Broadway like nobody's business. He's just signed for a neon sign to light the street which will cost 75 grand, it is claimed. No indication as to where it's to be hung has been given, but it is promised to be a dazzler.

He intends to top this off with a newspaper campaign which will cost another $100,000. Another $100,000 is being spent for other signs and billposting. The film is to be presented simultaneously starting Aug. 15 at the Criterion and Gaiety.

The former seats 850. The latter 808. The Criterion can do better than $18,000 weekly. The Gaiety, a few dollars less.

Your adding machine might jam in doping this one out with mathematical precision. Regardless of that, you must admit this chap Hughes is either a champ gambler, a sublime believer in everlasting faith or just plumb reckless.

Experience

SOME interesting developments may be in store at the Columbia studio in producing "Tol'able David" as a talker.

Henry King, who made the silent version and piloted it to a "Photoplay" medal for the best picture of its year, picked up his chapeaux and walked off when Harry Cohn began to expound and pound his own ideas as to how the film should be produced.

Those who know King understand why he didn't take it. Those who know Cohn also understand why he tried to give it.

Catechism

A PRECIOUS yarn, this. The story of a coast writer who had the courage to use the word "catechism" in his talker script.

The producer—AA1 example of the kind who rides rough-shod over everybody and everything—asks:

"Why use that kind of language? Nobody will know what you're talking about."

Writer: "Well, you know what it means, don't you?"

Producer: "Me? Of course, I know. It means when something terrible happens."

Yet this producer brags he has made his first million, has a yacht and, while he won't admit it—readily—believes he is touched with genius.

In the Fall

The labor situation may blow up clear into the heavens in the fall. The big chain operators are reported to be priming for a battle—a real, two-fisted, he-man, no quarter affair—by the time the cool weather arrives.

If the signs point at all in the direction they are headed, it might be that, among other matters, 1930 will be marked down as the year in which the circuits and the unions had their roughest set-to. Who will win? You decide.

This Insider does know this: The scrap will be bitter, to the death and one to observe from afar. It'll be safer.

Cash

Warners' theatre acquisitions in Illinois would have made considerably greater progress than is now the case had Chicago theatre owners not been so insistent on receiving cold cash for their leaseholds or properties, according to a Chicago Insider. Deal after deal for either chain houses or lone indie spots has been held up in Chi, not through haggling over price, as has been supposed, but because of Warners' reported inclination to employ stock certificates for legal tender. Chicago exhibitors, who are willing to sell, for the most part are anxious to get out of the show business entirely. And, the difficulty as far as the buying circuits are concerned, is that they want to get out with cash in hand.

This explanation has been sufficient to make decidedly questionable when Warners will get two chains, comprising about twenty houses, and which were among the first the circuit opened negotiations for on entering the Chicago field.

Clearing the Bar

He came a cropper, this chap. Went for a spell of gambling that got the best of him and, as usual, those willing to step on a fellow when he's hitting the toboggan, did just that and washer their hands of the incident.

But the incident refused to remain closed. The man involved—you'd recognize the name in a minute if this Insider divulged it, which he won't—is staging a come-back. A real one, too.

He's working like the very devil, earning an extremely comfortable stipend and—what is extremely important—paying off his debts as rapidly as earning power permits.

Give him credit. He rates it.

One Middle, Two Ends

If the executive whose personal activities include building of exchanges for his company to buy at a figure in excess of their worth doesn't watch his step his official bankers may have something to say about it. And it won't be pleasant.

If the executive of another company who insists that all theatre acquisitions are cleared through a brokerage firm in which he holds an interest doesn't take care he may find the ground slipping away from under his easy chair. That wouldn't be pleasant, either.

Quaint

THEN there is a favorite Hollywood yarn which always causes snickers, no matter how many times told.

It concerns a prosperous producer. He entertains in the best Hollywood manner and even gets some of the best people around his dinner table. His idea of big business is to have a telephone connected at the dinner table, conduct studio routine, haggle over prices and lay employees out cold while his guests, more often than not, watch the spectacle in amazement.

THE INSIDERS

Published weekly by Motion Picture News, Inc. Founded in September, 1913. Publication, Editorial and General Offices: 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City, William A. Johnson, President and Publisher; E. J. Hudson, Vice-President; Maurice Kann, Editor; Charles F. Hynes, Managing Editor; James P. Cunningham, News Editor; Raymond E. Gallagher, Advertising Manager; Los Angeles Office; Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood; Walter R. Greene, Western Representative. Chicago Office: 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Harry E. Holquist, Central West Representative. Subscription Price: $3.00 per year in United States, Mexico and all U. S. Possessions. Canada, $5.00. Foreign, $10.00. Copyright 1930, by Motion Picture News, Inc., United States and Great Britain. Title registered in United States Patent Office and foreign countries. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office, New York, April 22, 1926, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Warner Holdings Sold by Raskob? Firm's Net Sags

There were plenty of reports concerning Warners along film and financial rows during the week as the stock was forced to a new low of 36½, closing Thursday at 37⅛. Summer attendance decline, too-speedy theatre expansion and a sharp drop in earnings, with net for the last six months of the fiscal year ending Aug. 31, declared to be below dividend requirements, and report that John J. Raskob and associates had taken their profit and sold their Warner stock were figures in the decline. Quarterly dividend meeting is scheduled Aug. 6 when President H. M. Warner will have returned from Europe.

Earnings for the last six months of the fiscal year ending Aug. 31 are not expected to exceed $5,000,000, as contrasted with net of $14,514,628 in the same period last year. There are 2,870,380 shares outstanding.

Financing Deals

Warners has been authorized to list on the New York Exchange, additional stock, including $4,583,000 of optional 6 per cent convertible debentures, due in 1939, and 140,278 additional common shares, some of which are to be used in its expansion program.

The debentures will be used as part consideration for the properties and assets of the Stanley-Fabian Corp.; the Stanley-Mark-Strand Corp..; the Stanley-Crandall Co. of Washington; the Ardmore theatre, Ardmore, Pa., and the Lerner, Orpheum and Buckler theatres in Elkhart, Ind. Of the new common stock, 36,632 shares will be used in connection with the acquisition of the Federal Theatres Co., the Indiana Harbor Theatre Circuit, the Jefferson and Lincoln theatres of Goshen, Ind., the Parthenon and Orpheum theatres at Canton, Ind., and sites in Akron, Ohio, and White Plains, N. Y.

Mary Bowing Out? Doug May Produce, Not Act

Hollywood—The dopesters here insist that Mary Pickford will retire from pictures.

This much is certain: Mary is through as a producer, has practically disbanded her own company and will make future pictures for Joe Schenck, identically as Fairbanks is to appear in "Reaching for the Moon." That is, Mary will make them for Schenck under salary and with no investment, if she makes any at all.

At any rate, the yarn of Mary's final chapter as a producer on her own made the press wires hum all over the country, and that's something. Officially, the reason is tagged on to Doug's reluctance to finance talkers and Miss Pickford's further reluctance in bearing the expense alone.

On the cuff for a couple of hundred grand, Mary has not determined what she'll do about "Secrets," her latest and unfinished picture.

The final word on Doug has it that he will produce, but not appear in his own pictures. Those who know the rapidity with which Doug changes his mind aren't so certain about it.

Back Home

(International News Reel Photo)
Will H. Hays and C. J. Rass, executive vice-president of RCA Photophane, snapped as they arrived in New York from the recent patent conferences in Paris and Berlin.

Are Gloria and Her Title To Part? Marquis Says No

If Gloria Swanson and the Marquis Henri de la Falaise de la Coudrays have determined to tell it all to a divorce judge, the marquis doesn't know anything about it. He said so this week upon his return to New York from abroad.

Glaria Swansan

The marquis went further. He declared he could see no reason for such reports to get into circulation. One of the ship news reporters asked him if he would see his wife while here. The marquis said he didn't know, since he had no knowledge of her whereabouts.

Camouflage Tricks with Color—3rd Dimension?

Using the tricks of camouflage, Technicolor claims to be bringing a third dimension effect to the screen through use of colors.

Exceptionally Fine

Hollywood — "Monte Carlo," Lubitsch's latest. The master hand of the German director has fashioned another picture that belongs in the highest rank of talkers.'

Plenty of production value, great performances and lots of laughs all set to a fast tempo makes this one a sure-fire hit for those who appreciate the worthwhile.

Reviewed in detail in next week's edition of Motion Picture News.

Quitting German Market Debated By Distributors

Decision on whether to withdraw from Germany or to attempt to maintain business in the face of adverse "kontingent" regulations is expected to be determined at a meeting of foreign sales managers soon to be held.

Headquarters of various Hays member companies in New York are disturbed over the new import regulations and don't hesitate to express their dissatisfaction. Several openly declare there can be no profit under present arrangements and fail to see any advantage in keeping their offices in Berlin and other German cities open.

Will H. Hays arrived in New York on Tuesday from Berlin and Paris. Charles J. Ross, of RCA Photophone was likewise a passenger on the Ile de France.

Commenting on the patent agreement, Hays said, in part:

"The spirit of friendliness and fairness which characterized the negotiations throughout is reflected in the statements made by two of the American delegates following the conclusion of the conference in Paris. I quote from the statement made by J. E. Otterson, representing Electrical Research Products, Inc.:

"'The position was that each party had an exclusive position and the effort we made was to equalize them in a manner justly representing the equity of the situation. That, I think, has been achieved. I, at least, am satisfied, and I believe the Germans are.'

"C. J. Ross, representing RCA Photophone, stated:

"'It is a fair arrangement. Such results are only brought about, of course, by concessions on the part of parties interested. The understandings are satisfactory, I think, both to the German interests and to ourselves.'

"As for myself, the agreement, I am confident, will open a new era of co-operation in the technical progress of the art, through the interchange of patent rights, manufacturing and technical information now provided."

Charles Swartz, who handles dramatic copyrights for Paramount, sailed for Europe the same day Hays arrived to make final the draft of the agreement which Hays brought back to America with him.

Dolores Del Rio About To Become Mrs. Gibbons

Hollywood—Wedding bells for Dolores Del Rio and Cedric Gibbons are about to peal, according to friends of the Mexican star, who cautiously and unofficially announced her engagement to M-G-M's art director.

Drop in Cost of Juice To Cut Theatre Expense

Hundreds of theatres in Greater New York will reduce part of their operating costs if a general reduction in the price of electric current becomes effective following meetings between Milo R. Maltbie, chairman of the Public Service Commission, and Matthew S. Sloan, president of the New York Edison Co.

N. J. Unit Not To Wait Any Longer for U. S. Relief; Plans Own Protection War

Atta Boy, "Zieggy"

Hollywood—Flo Ziegfeld, out here to look things over, and do picture making on the side, has not as yet tried to tell the locals how things should be done, which is something short of a miracle when you consider how many Broadway stage producers tried to remake the picture industry upon their arrival from Mazda Lane.

But, Ziegfeld still thinks the picture boys have a lot of nerve expecting to turn out masterpieces over night.

And maybe he's right!

Iowa Indies Give Publix Battle on Protection Plan

Des Moines—Max Friedman, assistant to Saul of Publix, has been in Des Moines the past week. The effort to zone the state has involved considerable discussion, and the sessions have been continuing for several days. Miss Margaret McGrevey, secretary of the Film Board, is preparing a report of the results of the conference. Exhibitors over the state have stated some reluctance to allow Publix all the privileges of first showings, and they have been making a stubborn fight especially at Boone and Fort Dodge.

Roadshow Cutting Own Throat with Trick Ad Splurge

Cleveland—Roadshow presentations are digging their own grave through trick advertising, it is believed here. The latest example is "All Quiet on the Western Front," which opens Saturday at the Hippodrome, after but a five weeks' lapse from the Hanna run. In the latter showing, advertisements stated the picture would not be shown at pop prices for one year.

Probing Continues

Baltimore—Investigation of the advertising used on roadshows, stating the pictures will not play pop prices the same season, is under way by the Maryland exhibitor unit.

Armstrong, Gleason Reunited

Hollywood — Robert Armstrong and James Gleason are reunited for the first time since "Oh, Yeah" in Eddie Quillan's latest starring feature for Pathe, "Looking for Trouble". Original story is by Walter De Leon and Russell Mack, with Mack also slated to direct.

Ten Grand Pledged As a Starter in Battle on Alleged Abuses

Newton, N. J.—Convinced, apparently, that government relief on extended protection is not to be forthcoming, in the immediate future, at least, the New Jersey exhibitor unit intends to carry its battle to the courts and will ask for public co-operation in backing its fight, it is indicated by Sidney E. Samuelson, president of the association.

The New Jersey unit, as exclusively reported by Motion Picture News, postponed court action on protection some months ago, at the request of the Dept. of Justice, which wanted to complete its own investigation before the matter went into court.

The New Jersey unit raised $10,000 as an initial campaign fund at its Newark meeting, according to Samuelson, who says counsel is being retained to start action. When a court fight was proposed previously, Abram F. Myers, Allied States Ass'n. president, was asked to act for New Jersey exhibitors. Samuelson says the campaign now planned is to protect exhibitors of the state "from further obnoxious and oppressive tactics of the motion picture trust."

Number of Alleged Abuses

Tactics, he says, complained of are: "First, the overbuying of films by producer theatres so as to make it impossible for competing independent theatres to obtain sufficient films to operate. Second, the system of giving unfair protection to producer theatres. This means that a producer owned theatre gets the film anywhere from 30 to 100 days before the independent theatre is allowed to exhibit it. And, third, the discrimination in price whereby producers lease their own films or other producers' films to producer theatres for 17½ or 20 per cent of the gross box-office receipts and independent theatres are charged anywhere from 25 to 50 per cent of the box-office receipts. Because of protection and the log rolling buying of one producer's films by the other producer's theatres, it is perfectly noticeable that the public already pays more money for admission to the producer owned theatre of the same type and class than it does to the independently operated house.

Fighting for the Masses?

"This is not merely an intra-industry battle," Samuelson says. "The public has a large stake in the motion picture business. It always has been the amusement for the masses. If closely examined it becomes immediately apparent that the above abuses, if permitted to continue and grow, will result in the patron paying more money and still more money for his movies. Our members feel that in throwing down the gage of battle to this gigantic super-trust we are fighting the battle of every man, woman and child who likes the movies and enjoys them. Secure in the feeling that our cause is just, we invite the co-operation of all patrons of motion pictures."

Philosophy

Hollywood—"Why am I so unlike the rest of the Bennetts?" asks Barbara of a local newshound. "Maybe it's because I'm brunette and they're blonde," states the sister of Constance and Joan. Or—

"Maybe it's because I married a hard working Irish boy, Morton Downey, while they saw fit to wed mere playboys. I like being settled down and sleeping in the same bed every night. I'm for the simple life. I'm darned glad we're in the movies. The theatre and marriage don't mix so well, you know."

N.W. Awaits Keen Battle on Silent Contract's Status

Minneapolis—Status of silent picture contracts, which could not be converted to cover sound pictures, due to non-interchangeability of the theatre's equipment and the sound of pictures involved; and of contracts carrying an arbitration agreement, in cases where the arbitration system was in effect during the life of the contract, is to be tested in suit filed here. First National is plaintiff and wants $1,196 from George Carish, Mohawk, St. Paul. The contracts date back to a former owner of the house.

The Northwest exhibitor unit, which for long has stated it would welcome a test of the issues involved, has not declared itself as backing Carish in his plan to fight the suit, but declares, through General Manager W. A .Steffes, it is "deeply interested in the case to the end."

Carish Plans Finish Fight

Carish plans a finish fight and has declined a reported offer of settlement from First National, which included placing of new season product in his house. While his answer has not been filed, he plans to contend the silents could not be converted, as the theatre had only sound track equipment and the First National sound was recorded on discs. Contracts involved are dated August, 1926, and January and October, 1927.

The contracts, he also will insist, carried an arbitration clause and, as the arbitration agreement was in effect during the life of the contract, they cannot be brought into court without first being arbitrated.

Tom Thumb Chain Formed

Ottawa—Chain system has been extended to Tom Thumb golf courses in Canada with the incorporation at Ottawa under a Federal company charter of the Midget Golf Courses of Canada, Ltd., for the purpose of opening and operating a chain of golf lots in selected cities.

Revised Protection In Chicago Dies; Exhibitors Buying Under Old System

Good Advice

Hizzoner Mayor Jimmy Walker of New York, offered this adage in a recent speech to his aides: "It is more important to keep your nose to the grindstone than your ear to the ground.

Zoning Would Be First in Boston Area's History

Boston—For the first time this territory is to have a systematic zoning plan if conferences under way by distributors, affiliated and independent theatres are successful. All exhibitors of the zone are being asked to transmit their views and suggestions to the committee. Heretofore, all distributors have acted independently on the subject of protection.

Representatives chosen by the groups as members of the committee are as follows: Distributors—Tom Bailey of Paramount, general chairman; M. E. Morey, Universal; Harry F. Campbell, Fox; C. McGerigle, RKO; Thomas B. Spry, First National; alternates, W. H. Erb, Paramount; Timothy O'Toole, Columbia; R. C. Cropper, Pathe.

Independent exhibitors—Nathan Yamins, Fall River; Al Somerby, Eddie Anson and Philip Smith, Boston and Stanley Sumner, Cambridge; alternates, Walter Littlefield, Roxbury; Abe Spitz, Providence; J. Levenson, Boston.

The affiliated theatres, while represented, have yet to name their permanent committee members.

Realism Lacking, Lloyd Abandons Roof Location

Hollywood—After selecting a location for making scenes on top of a loft building in downtown Los Angeles, Harold Lloyd discarded the particular location because tests of the location made it appear that the building top was stagey rather than the real thing. Sudden cancellation of the location held up the Lloyd company for three days while scouts selected another spot that did not have the earmarks of a faked set.

Paramount Planning Quarters in Omaha

Omaha—Paramount Publix is reported planning a $100,000 office building here. The structure will house division offices, projection rooms and storage and exchange facilities.

"D.W." in N. Y.

D. W. Griffith is in New York in connection with forthcoming premiere of "Abraham Lincoln."

After 20 Meetings, Every One A Flop, Groups Agree to Forget Plan

Chicago.—With abandonment of all hitherto proposed plans for the re-zoning of both the Chicago and downstate Illinois territories almost a certainty, local distributors and exhibitors are preparing to discuss new product buying in terms of the old protection clauses which have prevailed here in the past. This marks the first move to sell new product here since the re-zoning conferences were inaugurated almost two months ago.

A final meeting of the zoning committees was held at the Film Board offices here this week. It resulted in the first agreement the committees have reached at any of the twenty meetings that have been held. A majority of the members of both the metropolitan and downstate committees agreed at this session to abandon all proposals for protection changes thus far submitted and to retain the old systems without alteration. No further meetings, it was conceded by committee members, would be held unless C. C. Pettijohn of the Hays office, returned to the city and again sought some sort of revision of the present protection systems. It was at Pettijohn's invitation that the exhibitors and distributors first got together here in their attempt to re-zone the city and the state.

After abandoning the plans first submitted for a new Chicago protection system, the metropolitan committee endeavored to deal with minor phases through a rider to be attached to the contract incorporating the old system. This rider was discarded when pronounced illegal as part of a Film Board contract. After abandonment of the proposed plan for downstate, the committee in charge sought to offer a substitute in the form of individual recommendations to care for strictly local conditions throughout the state where the present protection system was considered to be most unfair.

At the final meet, these local provisions, too, were ignored, with the result that the committee virtually disbands without a single change having been made.

Radio Meet to Hear of New Sound Film Advances

New Developments in television and talking picture recording and reproduction are expected to be outlined at meeting Aug. 18 to 21 at Toronto of the Institute of Radio Engineers. It is the organization's fifth annual gathering. Speeches of welcome are to be read Aug. 18 by Dr. Lee DeForest, O. B. Hanson of National Broadcasting Co., and representatives of RCA, Westinghouse and General Electric.

S.M.P.E. Fall Meet in N. Y. Set for October

Governors of the Society of M. P. Engineers have decided upon Oct. 20 as the opening date of the fall convention, scheduled for the Hotel Pennsylvania, New York.

L. A. Newsreel House?

Los Angeles—Principal Theatres of this city have purchased the President theatre from creditors of the Henry Duffy Players. Theatre will be opened as a pop priced grind house, with chances of it being converted into exclusive newsreel show place in the fall.

Cleveland Zoning Plan Not Seen as Due to Hit Snag

Cleveland — Although the Lefkowitz-Greenberger circuit is declared to favor open selling, the firm is not active in opposing adoption of zoning schedules here.

A proposed zoning system for Cleveland is being worked out by committees representing the distributors, members of the Cleveland exhibitors unit, and independents. The distributors committee consists of Al Mertz, chairman (RKO), president of the Cleveland Film Board of Trade, and C. E. Almy (Warner Brothers), Frank Drew (M-G-M), I. Schmertz (Fox), Charles Kranz (United Artists), and Oscar Ruby (Pathe). The Exhibitor Association committee is composed of Henry Greenberger, chairman, and J. J. Harwood, B. Z. Levine, Louis Isreal, Frank Gross, John Kalafat, and Paul Gusdanovic. Independent theatre owners are represented by M. B. Horwitz, Howard Reif and Percy Essick.

Hays Back in New York; Others on Same Boat

Will H. Hays returned from Europe on Tuesday. He went abroad several weeks ago as chairman of the American-German committee to straighten out sound patent entanglements.

Also on the passenger list of the Ile de France were Norma Terris and her husband, Dr. Jerome Wagner, of the Ziegfeld organization; Georges Carpentier en route to Hollywood; Danielle Bregis, French prima donna and screen player; the Muriel Abbott dancing girls of Chicago, Harry Kline, director of the Chanin Theatrical Corp.; and Marquis Henri de la Falaise de la Coudraye, Gloria Swanson's husband.

American Seating Shows $100,000 Loss in Quarter

Net loss of $108,460 for the quarter ending March 31, is reported by American Seating Co., as compared with a profit of $41,645, before Federal taxes for the corresponding 1929 period.

Giannini in Paris

Paris—Dr. A. H. Giannini of the Bank of America has arrived from New York. Present plans call for his return to America on Sept. 10.

Says Paramount Tried To Blackjack Him Into Selling Houses; Plans Suit

"Broken Dishes"

Hollywood — A good light comedy with Grant Withers and Loretta Young. Will go well in week stands and draw okay in split-week spots. O. P. Heggie walks away with acting honors. A Warner release.

Reviewed in detail in next week's edition of Motion Picture News.

Metzger, Leaving "U" Sets Product Over RKO Chain

Universal's 1930-31 output has been set over the RKO circuit, under terms of a deal completed Wednesday by Lou B. Metzger, retiring general manager of the company, and Jules Levy, RKO buyer, although his resignation from the company was effective on Tuesday, Metzger worked until Wednesday night on the deal.

Lou B. Metzger

Under terms of the deal, RKO agrees to play 17 of the 20 pictures on the program in Class A houses, 10 of them long run. The first picture is "Little Accident," which opened Thursday night at the Globe.

Metzger's sales duties are being taken over by Phil Reisman, who resigned as general sales manager of Pathe to take over the Universal post.

With the exception of the war years, Metzger has been uninterruptedly in the film business since he was 17. He filled every position in the film exchange and rose to the post of exchange manager for Universal and F. B. O. in Portland and Kansas City. He came to the Universal home office as an executive in 1924; subsequently assistant sales manager and to general sales manager. For the last year and a half, he has been general manager.

Grainger Sells Entire Fox Lineup to Warner String

Warners has closed for the 1930-31 Fox output for its circuit. The deal was negotiated by James R. Grainger, Fox general sales manager, with Spyros Skouras, head of the Warner chain.

Under terms of the deal, Warners will pay Fox a film rental in excess of $3,000,000, according to Grainger. The showings cover 133 cities and towns in Connecticut, Delaware, District of Columbia, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, New York City, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and Virginia.

The deal is second to the Paramount-Publix contract, which Grainger says will place Fox product in 1,031 Publix theatres. This latter deal covers 32 states and is a ten-year reciprocal agreement.

Trust Charges To Be Basis of Action by N. Y. Showman

Charges paralleling the allegations on which the Federal Trade Commission's cease and desist order was based, so far as theatre acquisition and building were concerned, and other alleged practices are to be made the basis of an anti-trust suit soon to be launched in Federal Court, N. Y., against Paramount Publix by Joseph Quittner, Middletown, N. Y., exhibitor. Counsel for Quittner now is mapping the line of action to be taken.

Quittner, it is understood, will allege in his complaint that Paramount built in opposition to him after he had refused to be "browbeaten" into selling his theatre to the company on its own terms, and that it has since indulged in unfair methods of competition against him.

Quittner had been a steady customer for Paramount in his nine years of operation of the three Middletown houses, with the product only out of the town two years of the nine, it is stated. Although he is declared to have been playing Paramount product at the time, the distributor-exhibitor company bought a site in 1929, it is claimed. The site was located across from the State, Quittner's ace house. Quittner's refusal to sell in the face of alleged threats to put him out of business was because the figure quoted would have meant a loss, it is said.

The Paramount house opened in June underselling the State with a 40 cent top, whereas the State was getting 50 cents. Since, keen competition has been raging.

International AMPA Idea Is Presented by Bader

Internationalization of the AMPA, of which all publicity, advertising and exploitation heads and associates throughout the world would be members, is being proposed to the B. M. P. A. in London by Dave Bader, now abroad in connection with a biography of Carl Laemmle. The idea behind it is establishment of international amity, offering exchange of ideas between AMPAs in all countries, as well as fraternal association for members visiting other countries.

Von Stroheim Rejoins "U"; First a Remake

Erich Von Stroheim sails Friday on the Ile de France on his first trip to Europe since he came over to this country 15 years ago. He will be gone until October. Upon his return, he will produce for Universal a new talking version of his own original, "The Pinnacle," made for the company in 1919 under the title of "Blind Husbands."

Gulls Will Be Gulls

"Pretty boids," said the movie executive on his first visit to the Coast, nodding his head at the whirling gulls over the bay.

"Yes," assented his friend. "They are gulls."

"Gulls or boys," said the ex-pants presser, "they're pretty boids."

Reisman, "U" Sales Head; O'Leary in Saddle at Pathe

Phil Reisman, veteran general sales manager of Pathe, who resigned to become general sales manager of Universal upon retirement of Lou B. Metzger, leaves shortly for a national tour of exchange keys to meet the sales force. Reisman was succeeded as general sales manager at Pathe by E. J. O'Leary, who has been associated with the company in an executive capacity for the last two years.

Phil Reisman

Since the Pathe reorganization at the time of the P. D. C. absorption, Reisman has handled sales. He maintained sales at a high level, despite the firm's financial difficulties, climaxing this with a gross of $18,000,000 last year. Because of this record, considerable surprise was expressed by his friends when he was not elected an officer at the recent company election.

Had Rapid Rise

Reisman has been in the industry since 1917 starting as salesman, soon becoming manager. He left the latter post to become a Paramount salesman in 1920 and rose by successive steps to district manager, general manager in Canada and eastern sales manager, a post he left to head Pathe sales.

E. J. O'Leary

E. J. O'Leary joined Pathe as feature sales manager and during the last year has been assistant to Joseph P. Kennedy in management of the company. Prior to that he had been associated with Kennedy for a number of years in various banking interests in Boston, as sales representative for FBO in Maine, Boston branch manager, and New England district manager.

Fight Seen Brewing with Exhibitors Demanding Cut in Union Wage Scale

Symptoms

It is Benjamin Holzman's observation that when a New Yorker in Hollywood keeps writing back to New York about the grand sunshine and the beautiful orange groves, you can safely wager that he is still out of a job.—N. Y. Mirror.

Franklin Not Yet Decided on Thumb Golf Course Plan

Hollywood—Despite report to the contrary, Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theatres has no plans at this time of embarking on wide-scale operation of miniature golf courses on the coast. The circuit is operating six putt-putts at the present time, mainly for the purpose of gaining first hand knowledge of the peculiar business. It is understood that the success of the sextette of Fox West Coast miniatures has not been fully demonstrated up to this time.

Harold Franklin

Competition among the golf courses themselves has reached a point where the first courses now find themselves antiquated. New layouts are being constructed on practically every vacant lot big enough for 18 holes, with the cost of many ranging anywhere from $15,000 to $50,000. The latter are coralling all the business, with the smaller and less expensive layouts being passed up entirely.

Winslow Sees Humans in a Sad Way; Films Hit Again

It's a pretty dismal picture for the future that Dr. Paul V. Winslow painted before the Kiwanis Club of New York this week. He sees the human race gradually losing its vision, hearing and sense of balance and pins the first to motion pictures as a contributing factor.

Winslow placed no time expiration date on the lack of availability of the optics.

"Stag" Film Haul Made By Police at Hoboken

Charles Russo, 23, was arrested and held for further investigation, when police seized him at a three-story frame building and garage in Hoboken, where a vanload of allegedly obscene films valued at $100,000 was confiscated. The real owner of the place is being sought.

Big Circuits Seen Set to Follow Twin City and Chicago Lead

General move to reduce labor overhead may result from the one-man-in-the-booth fight launched by independent exhibitors of the Twin Cities. With a number of Minneapolis and St. Paul independents running open shop and prepared for a finish fight on the issue, Publix there is reported considering a similar demand on the union when its contracts with the operators expires in September.

At Chicago, the exhibitor association, headed by Jack Miller, has demanded one man in the booth. Publix is a member of this association.

Meanwhile, circuit heads in New York are declared preparing to demand concessions when contracts come up for renewal, contending that business does not warrant paying what they consider excessive scales.

Hundreds of projectionists would be replaced by highly trained operators having scientific education, if plans now under advisement by Western Electric officials materialize, it is understood. ERPI, so the story goes, would prepare a group of young engineers who will have sufficient technical knowledge to understand the intricacies of possible mechanical changes, thereby eliminating the service staff, which, so it is said, has proven impractical.

Allied States Ass'n recently in its official bulletin declared that relief on labor overhead is needed by independents, so that with advent of the fall season it looks as if a fight is brewing.

Another Seattle Open Shop

Seattle—Open shop is the policy of the Follies, formerly the Pantages. The house had union help when it reopened, but at the end of 30 days the employes were notified they must take a cut, and when they refused, open shop resulted.

Reopening with Open Shop

Minneapolis—Three independent houses here, which have been closed, are to reopen as open shop houses in August. They are: The Paradise, operated by W. A. Steffes, general manager of the Northwest exhibitor unit, leading the independent campaign; the Princess and Gateway.

General Sues RCA and RKO

Wilmington—Two suits charging infringement of patents has been instituted against RCA Photophone and R-K-O in Federal Court here by General Talking Pictures.

Another Link

Philadelphia—Already the head man in the eastern Pennsylvania territory via holdings of the Stanley Company, Warners have reached into Chester where the State has been acquired from the New Seventh Street Theatre Operating Co.

Warner Wide Film To Make Its Debut With Air Picture

Hollywood—Jack Warner has launched preparations for production in the late fall of an air picture, in sound—and on the new Warner-developed widescreen process of 65 mm.

Lucien Hubbard, production executive at Warner studios is now enroute to Washington to talk over the story and government co-operation which will be extended during the making of the production. The picture is roughly estimated right now for a budget of $1,000,000 with Warners expecting that it might hit the million and a half mark before the final scenes are in the can.

Jack Warner

Several years ago, Hubbard was associate producer on "Wings" for Paramount, and spent many months on the Texas locations during the making of that picture.

Three More Exchange Heads for Ad-Vance

Three more branch managers have been named by M. Van Praag, sales manager of Ad-Vance Trailer Service Corp., in connection with that firm's plan to establish an office in each key. The new appointees are: Leo C Garner, formerly. Universal chain executive, as Charlotte manager; Harry Olshowh, formerly with Warners, as New England head, and Nate Sauber, until recently Universal manager at Washington, as the trailer firm's manager there.

Warners Reopening 2 Outlets on Broadway

Warners again will have four outlets on Broadway with reopening of the Hollywood Aug. 14 with "Moby Dick," the Warner a week later with "Old English."

Boomerang Feared in Reported Legit Ban by F. P. Canadian; Officials Mum

Plan to Put in Publix Units Is Seen Loaded With Dynamite

Toronto—Reported dropping of legitimate shows in theatres of the Famous Players Canadian chain, for proposed replacement by Publix stage shows is regarded as loaded with boomerang possibilities. Officials are silent on the reported ban, but pressed, they admit there has been issued a blanket order of the story, but reveal no details of its source or extent.

Trans-Canada Bookings, Ltd., Toronto, booking legit shows across the Dominion is closed and locked. Located in the Shubert theatre building, Royal Alexandria, it is nevertheless, a Famous Players department.

During early organization Famous took over the houses of the bankrupt Trans-Canada Theatres, Ltd., legit syndicate. Policy all along has been to book a moderate number of productions every season and to insist, when alternate house was available in many Canuck cities, on these playing the local Famous house. In recent years, from Quebec centres to the west coast, F. P. houses have been played almost exclusively by road companies except in Montreal, Toronto, Winnipeg, Vancouver. Cities where legit played along the chain included Kingston, Brockville, Peterboro, Trenton, Port Hope, Cobourg, Hamilton, London, Galt, Brantford, Guelph, Kitchener, Sarnia, Welland, St. Cathrines, Fort William, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Calgary, Lethbridge, Edmonton, Victoria.

In these towns, quite suddenly legit is declared being dropped. It is possible, however, that Calgary, Edmonton and Victoria may turn out to be exceptions. In all three, Famous has houses with which it is said, the company has not been able to do much in pictures. They are the Grand, Empire, Royal Victoria, all originally built with stage stuff only in mind but taken by F. P. largely to keep competition under control.

In Calgary, the favorite policy has been split weeks between Orpheum and legit. In Edmonton, customers wouldn't take class vaude and the best-paying stunt was dramatic stock punctuated with road offerings. In Victoria, the house has been dark most of the time.

Throwing this trio into sound and flickers might not pan out so well on the books, either for the theatres themselves or other stands in the neighborhood. Hence, the uncertainty there.

British Angle a Danger

Where the hitch comes in this legit ban is the British angle of the affair. London shows, every year, cross the pond and do all-Canadian tours, rarely entering U. S. territory except occasionally through Seattle. These include Robey, D'Oyley Carte Opera, Shaw repertoire, Stratford-on-Avon Shakespeare troupe, Sir John Martin-Harvey, other English musicals and dramatic. One Canadian ex-soldier show has also been running since 1919. With the bulk of dates on the route now off, they are out.

The idea that Famous is choking the spoken drama if it is spread around the customers, particularly in the Canadian west, is apt to stir things up with the British vs. American angle sure to be played. Nathanson interests, in the background, have been whooping about U. S. control of Canadian theatres at intervals ever since the Paramount deal. With Empire trade and Empire relations, the large battle cry in the recent elections, and an all-Empire economic conference in London scheduled for fall, a jam is feared.

That it will get aired in the House of Commons, if the ban holds, can be taken for granted. London producers are expected to come through with a wail to the Empire marketing board and try to develop the patriotic angle.

Strong lobbying at the next session of Parliament in Canada would almost certainly bring action in the way of a royal commission and investigation of Famous. This would enable the indies and such groups as the exhibitors co-op in Toronto to trail along with their complaints about monoply and drag in this sort of stuff as well. Sir Herbert Holt, former Famous director and political power, is now out of the company. So is Hon. W. D. Ross, lieutenant-governor of Ontario. That does not help the outlook.

Educational Groups Strong

What showmen overlook or do not know, in the matter, is a group called the national council of education with heavy backing from wealthy Canadians. It has already dabbled in show business, producing operas, sending dance troups on trans-Canada tours and otherwise mixing in. This Council has hopes for a national theatre, money behind it and the ability to get the ear of the powers of government. Last session, the national theatre idea was placed before the government and though pooh-poohed by theatrical interests as highly impractical as presented, got a favorable hearing. This same group, in the radio controversy, was a very important factor in the original agitation for government ownership, in the official recommendation for it and the campaign which came within an ace of throwing private interests and existing stations out of the ether business in the Dominion.

In other words, the no-legit order for Canadian F. P. theatres is not as simple as it looks.

Another feature of the case is covered in rumors in Canadian theatre circles that Publix shows are to be booked into several Canadian houses and that Paramount may possibly start producing presentations here with a department headed by Jack Arthur of the Uptown, Toronto.

End of Vaude Seen In Providence

Providence—R-K-O has taken vaudeville off the boards for the showing of "All Quiet on the Western Front," which may mean, it is understood, that variety for Providence may be washed up. This would leave Fays in possession of the vaudeville field. The Carlton stock company, which has held for 15 weeks under guidance of Ed Fay and James Thatcher, will be yanked for the month of August, leaving the house dark. Announcement is made, however, that stock will resume in September.

Nathanson Seen as Having Faded from Canadian Picture

Toronto—With Fox product set in Paramount Publix houses for ten years and the reopening by Paramount of its stock exchange offer in the absorption of Famous Players Canadian Corp., N. L. Nathanson is regarded to have faded from the picture of Canadian film business and his proposed Fox-backed theatre chain abandoned.

Montreal — Famous Players Canadian Corp. stockholders who opposed the absorption of the Canadian chain by Paramount-Publix and declined to turn in their stock certificates in the exchange for Paramount-Publix shares, are being given another chance—with the consent of Paramount headquarters. The limit of time for the exchange of shares on the basis of five of Canadian common for four of Paramount expired May 24, and a great many deposited their certificates before that date. Others decided to fight the change and allied themselves with the shareholders protective association which was organized at Toronto. Moreover, the proposal was aired several times in the Canadian Parliament at Ottawa.

After the change actually took place, the protective association ceased fire and the beligerant stockholders discovered there was no further market for the original shares, Paramount-Publix being listed on the Montreal Exchange in their place. One comment was that these stockholders had been "left holding the bag."

Publix Units To Go Into Canada's Houses in Fall

Toronto—Publix stage shows will be introduced in Famous Players Canadian theatres in fall, it was indicated at the annual convention of eastern managers held here Wednesday. John C. Arthur will have charge of the units, it is understood.

J. J. Fitzgibbons, new director of theatre operations, was introduced to eastern managers at the convention here. Officials of Paramount Publix and of the Canadian chain were on hand for the meetings, which were in charge of Clarence Robson, veteran director of the division. Percy Spencer, recently of Publix, outlined theatre staff revisions adapted from Publix practices. No changes in Canadian managers were announced.

Tariff; Favoritism for British Films Feared from Canadian Election Result

Three a Day

"So your doctor said you'd have to quit drinking so much?"
"Yes, he's cut me down to three conferences a day."—Life.

Planning Test of Manual Music as Talker Stimulus

Advancement of the theory that existing methods of presentation are to a large extent responsible for decrease in attendance, rather than any intention to "slam" talkers, was the purpose of an article in the July 19 issue of Motion Picture News by E. F. Nutter, manager of the New Cliftona, Circleville, O. He now is negotiating with the American Federation of Musicians for a national test of the value of orchestra or organ accompaniment with talkers, as an inquiry into the cause of declared public apathy toward talkers.

"In enumerating the variety of causes which, in my opinion, contributed to the present lack of interest in motion picture entertainment," he says, "I mentioned: Lack of variety of plot; the practice of duplicating or imitating notable successes; inclination of producers to lower star values with mediocre stories; inadequate speaking voices; poor recording, and worse reproduction in the theatres. And that while these causes were more or less instrumental in creating the situation that confronts the trade today, the chief reason for the loss of public interest lies in the lack of proper atmosphere in the theatre—a condition brought about by mechanical presentation, and which I firmly believe can be remedied through the sight of flesh and blood musicians and the orchestra or organ accompaniment of the talking picture.

"I have no desire to criticise producer, star or cast except to advance my reasons for the present low average in theatre attendance. That there is something wrong, is evident. And it it is not altogether a seasonal slump. Nor do industrial conditions have more than a slight bearing on the situation. It is a well-known fact that the public will patronize any form of entertainment in which it is interested regardless of conflicting conditions. Interest in motion picture entertainment has been on the decline for several months. There must be a cause for it.

Would Inquire Into Cause

"My theory of orchestra or organ accompaniment to the talking picture is advanced merely as a unit of inquiry into the cause. It may or may not be the answer to the situation. I am basing my conclusions, however, upon consistent inquiry and observation, and upon the results of an actual test. It is quite as possible for an orchestra or organist to interpret the various sequences of the talking picture as it was with the silent production. The effect of the organ accompaniment in our private test was startling—especially in the dramatic and pathetic scenes. It heightened the audience receptivity to an unbelievable degree and definitely recreated that atmosphere of intimate association with the theatre which has been lost since the advent of talking pictures and the removal of flesh and blood musicians from the theatre.

"In conclusion, may I again state that my idea is presented solely for the purpose of determining its probable appeal to the public, and not as a criticism of producer or star? Yet I am firmly convinced that the poorest work of producer and star can be greatly improved, and the more outstanding attractions made doubly appealing by the proper musical interpretation of living musicians."

Famous Canadian Probe, "Music Tax" Amendment Seen as Dead

Ottawa — Tariff reprisals against the United States, which may result in duty on films and encouragement of British pictures in the form of favorable treatment, are among possible results seen in the outcome of the Canadian elections which swept the imperialistic conservatives to power in a stunning political upheaval. The conservatives swept practically every section of the country, gaining the first clear majority any party has enjoyed in years.

The outcome is seen also as having written finis to proposed investigation of the Paramount-Famous Players Canadian purchase and to have sounded death knell of the proposed amendment to the copyright law to enable collection of a "music tax" by the Performing Rights Society.

Secretary of State Renfret sponsored the latter move, but although he was one of the ministers re-elected, he doesn't stand a chance now or reintroducing the amendment as a private member.

Country Confident

The conservatives, who pride themselves on their empire loyalty, are high protectionists and a wave of confidence has gathered, particularly in the cities and industrial centers. With the depressive influence of Federal elections cleared away, the impression is that business conditions will be stimulated. Manufacturers are looking to trade revival to follow better employment conditions, which should be reflected in theatre attendance. Unemployment in Canada has not been unduly alarming and the general feeling is that the economic situation will adjust itself under the new government. A change of government is interpreted as of no harm and possibly a factor for good. Special aid for the farming industry, which has been nearly wrecked, and immigration control are probably moves for the near future.

Brandt Plans Legit String

Presentation of legit shows at pop prices is planned by William Brandt, until recently with Fox Metropolitan, in Brooklyn, Queens and Bronx.

Sullivan Thalberg's Aide

Hollywood—M-G-M has named C. Gardner Sullivan as assistant to Irving G. Thalberg, vice-president and production chief.

Sexactly

"Things are terrible in Hollywood now," writes Al Klein to Mark Hellinger. "Jobs are so scarce out here that it is nothing but the survival of the ittest."

Nat'l Checking System Planned By Harry Ross

Chicago—To furnish expert accounting service to exhibitor and distributor, particularly for the checking of percentage runs, Federal Theatrical Accounting Service has been formed here by Harry Ross, former Paramount Publix executive. Offices have been established here and at Milwaukee, Detroit and Indianapolis. Branches next are to be opened at Cleveland, Cincinnati and Pittsburgh, with offices in every key city called for under the program.

The plan of operation, as outlined by Ross contemplates the placing of expert "checkers" in every town and city in the United States of 5,000 population or over. These men will all be local residents, selected from a list furnished by the local Chamber of Commerce. Each man on the list will be interviewed personally before a choice is made and his record will be carefully scanned before he is appointed as a representative of the Federal firm.

After a selection is made for the particular town or city, his name is given a bonding company, which again investigates the representative and if found satisfactory he is placed under bond and then given training and instruction in his duties by an expert accountant.

Won't Hire Professionals

In no case will a so-called "professional checker" be selected, the representatives all being men whose lines of business permits them to assume the duties of representing Ross' organization without interfering with their regular duties.

At present several hundred men are representing the new organization through the Middle West taken from the ranks of advertising solicitors, insurance solicitors, bond salesmen, special writers, mail carriers and store managers, all of whom work on their own time. These men were given a thorough training in the duties of a "checker" and were instructed to at no time act in an offensive manner toward an exhibitor or theatre employe.

They are working under the direct supervision of branch and division managers and special field representatives who are constantly supervising their activities.

In the larger cities arrangements have been made for several large banking institutions to supply men from their banking forces, men whose bank duties permit of their absenting themselves during the hours required at the theatre. This plan will be followed throughout the entire United States, Ross asserts, until a force of expert checkers has been secured. The various division managers and field representatives will, in most cases, be public accountants whose duties are to train and supervise the activities of the various branch and local representatives.

Refrigerators vs. Fans Battle For Baltimore "Biz"

Baltimore—Starting with the temperature at 104 degrees on Monday, and with extremely hot weather prevailing throughout the week, there came the acid test of the refrigerated theatres against the fan-cooled ones during this six days with the former coming down the stretch a hundred lengths or so ahead.

People will go into the refrigerated houses, according to what has been heard, no matter what the show, just to sit in the cooling atmosphere for an hour or so and rest. "It's the only place that is cool," they say.

But when a fine picture is presented with cool surroundings, the combination is perfect for this sizzling weather as evidenced at Loew's Valencia, where "Sins of the Children," with Louis Mann, and great supporting cast began strong Monday; by Thursday they were standing them up and by Saturday the house was jammed to capacity. The gross was figured at $7,300, giving this a rating of 208%.

At Loew's Century, refrigerated, "Safety in Numbers" with "Singing to the Stars," the stage unit, constituted the program and the gross leaped up to $22,000, giving this house a rating of 105%.

But at Loew's Stanley, even though it is refrigerated, the gross only came to $15,000, or 86%, due, it is claimed, because people do not care for Clara Bow as she appears in "Love Among the Millionaires."

Other big houses just went along so-so. Probably the worst hit was at the Auditorium, where "Her Unborn Child" labored through a second week and on $1,650, rating 30%.

Estimated takings:

"SAFETY IN NUMBERS" (Paramount)

LOEW'S CENTURY—(3,221), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "Good Bye Legs" (Mack Sennett comedy); "Campus Favorites" (Sportlight); scenic, Western Electric film, "Singing to the Stars"; Loew-Capitol theatre stage unit, orchestra, organ. Gross: $22,000. Rating: 105%.

"LOVE AMONG THE MILLIONAIRES" (Para.)

LOEW'S STANLEY—(3,654), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news; Pathe "Audio Review"; "Kangaroo Steak" (Terrytoon); "The General" (novelty); organ. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 86%:

"SINS OF THE CHILDREN" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S VALENCIA—(1,500), 25c-35c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "Codfish Balls" (cartoon); "When the Wind Blows" (M-G-M Our Gang comedy). Gross: $7,300. Rating: 208%.

"TEXAN" (Paramount)

(Show uptown at the Parkway after one week at Loew's Stanley downtown.)

LOEW'S PARKWAY—(1,092), 15c-35c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "Arctic Antics" (cartoon); "Head Guy," comedy. Gross: $3,800. Rating: 87%.

"RECAPTURED LOVE" (Warner Bros.)

WARNERS' METROPOLITAN—(1,500), 15c-50c, 6 days, starting Saturday. Other attractions: Al St. John in "Two Fresh Eggs" (comedy); Vitaphone Varieties, silent Kinograms, organ. Gross: $2,100. Rating: 35%.

"SOCIAL LION" (Paramount)

KEITH'S—(3,016), 25c-50c, 6 days, starting Friday. Other attractions: Lloyd Hamilton in "Prize Puppies" (comedy); "Voice of Hollywood"; Pathe news; Raynor Lehr with others in a stage show. Gross: $5,200. Rating: 65%.

"CHEER UP AND SMILE" (Fox)

NEW (1,600), 25c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, "Snapshots of Hollywood" (Columbia); "Mickey's Change" (Mickey McGuire comedy). Gross: $4,000. Rating: 40%.

"HER UNBORN CHILD" (Windsor Plays)

AUDITORIUM—(1,600), 25c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Universal news, "Bombay" (travel picture and lecture). Gross: $1,650. Rating: 30%.

"I Wanna Go Back"

Hollywood—The Hollywood song writers held a golf tournament last Sunday and one gag man suggested that the first prize should have been a one-way railroad ticket to New York.

'He Knew Women' Tagged "Out" in Ottawa with 70%

Ottawa—People of the Canadian capital divided their time during the week between federal election meetings and the theatres, although the picture houses did not suffer materially.

Two attractions, "Lady of Scandal," at the Regent, and "Song of the Flame," at the Avalon, registered 100%, while "They Learned About Women" was a draw at the Centre, doing 95%. The one really weak spot was the Imperial, with "He Knew Women" at 70%. Keith's was steady.

Estimated takings:

"LADY OF SCANDAL" (M-G-M)

REGENT—(1,225), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Charlie Chase in "Teed Off," "Lamb Chops," Fox Movietone news, orchestra. Gross: $6,050. Rating: 100%.

"SONG OF THE FLAME" (First National)

AVALON—(990), 25c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, "South Sea Romance," "Zeppelin Honeymoon" (comedy). Gross: $1,400. Rating: 100%.

"SHADOW OF THE LAW" (Paramount)

KEITH'S—(2,596), 15c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Harry Gribbon in "Big Hearted," Horace Heidt jazz band, Pathe news. Gross: $3,400. Rating: 85%.

"THEY LEARNED ABOUT WOMEN" (M-G-M)

CENTRE—(1,200), 15c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: "Voice of Hollywood," William Boyd in "The Frame." Gross: $3,800. Rating: 95%.

"HE KNEW WOMEN" (Radio)

IMPERIAL—(1,200), 15c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Our Gang in "A Tough Winter," "Dooley's the Name," Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $2,600. Rating: 70%.

"DUMBBELLS IN ERMINE" (Warners)

KEITH'S—(2,596), 15c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Laurel and Hardy in "Angora Love"; Mickey Mouse in "Blow Boy"; Willie and Eugene Howard in "Original Music-Makers"; Universal news. Gross: $3,050. Rating: 75%.

"THIS MAD WORLD" (M-G-M)

AVALON—(990), 25c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions: Educational comedy, Fox Movietone news. Gross: $1,050. Rating: 85%.

'Capt. of Guard' Only Des Moines Run Under 100%

Des Moines—Closing of the Des Moines for a complete doing over that will make practically a new house of it has stimulated business at other theatres so that, in spite of desperately hot weather, business is better than usual. However, it is summer time business and does not stack up to the average winter season.

"Hell's Island," at the Orpheum, and "Let's Be Gay," at the Paramount, won top places with ratings of 120%. No picture fell below average with the exception of "Captain of the Guards," Universal, at the Strand, while "Back Pay," which was considered a fair picture, rated 100%. The Paramount act, "The Rube," was very well received. There are pros and cons on Al Morey, but the stage band director, at the Paramount, but he seems to get by.

Estimated takings:

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

PARAMOUNT—(1,700), 25c-35c-60c, 3 days. Other attractions: Paramount news; cartoon, "Hawaiian Pineapples"; 4 acts vaude. Gross: $4,160. Rating: 100%.

"LET'S BE GAY" (M-G-M)

PARAMOUNT—(1,700), 25c-35c-60c, 4 days. Other attractions: "U." news; Sennett comedy, "Goodbye, Legs"; Al morey stage band show, "Seashore Frolics." Gross: $5,472. Rating: 120%.

"SOLDIERS AND WOMEN" (Columbia)

ORPHEUM—(2,000), 25c-50c, 4 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, R-K-O comedy, R-K-O vaude. Gross: $4,672. Rating: 100%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)

ORPHEUM—(2,000), 25c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, Pathe Fables, R-K-O vaude. Gross: $4,372. Rating: 120%.

"CAPTAIN OF THE GUARDS" (Universal)

STRAND—(1,100), 20c-30c, 4 days. Other attractions: Paramount news; Paramount act, "The Rube"; Paramount act, "At Home." Gross: $2,400. Rating: 95%.

"BACK PAY" (F. N.)

STRAND—(1,100), 20c-30c, 3 days. Other attractions: Pathe news; Paramount special, "Voices of Lonely Men"; Columbia cartoon, "Cat's Meaow"; Paramount comedy, "Stronger Sex." Gross: $2,000. Rating: 100%.

$12,000 Puts "Big House" on Montreal Top

Montreal—Patronage at first-runs was seasonal. There were no outstanding sensations and yet no distinct flops, figures indicating steady summer business.

"Big House" at the Palace topped with $12,000, while "Social Lion," at the Capitol, and "Women Everywhere," backed by strong vaudeville, secured $11,500 each. Second week of "Bad One," at the Princess, was good at $9,000. The fifth and last week of "All Quiet on the Western Front" as a road show at His Majesty's brought in $8,000 with two performances daily at $1.50 top. The Imperial with "Framed" and six R-K-O vaude acts was fair at $7,800, rating 80%.

In the list of estimated takings of local stands, the Roxy is included because this theatre, although unwired, is considered a key first run.

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

PALACE—(2,600), 25c-99c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, "Arctic Antics" (cartoon), "Streets of Mystery," Our Gang in "Pets and Pups." Gross: $12,000. Rating 80%.

"SOCIAL LION" (Paramount)

CAPITOL—(2,670), 40c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Orchestra, Fox Movietone news, comedies, "Le Dompteur" and "Good Old School Days." Gross: $11,500. Rating: 80%.

"WOMEN EVERYWHERE" (Fox)

LOEW'S—(3,000, 40c-99c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, cartoon comedy, orchestra, 5 vaude acts. Gross: $11,500. Rating 85%.

"BAD ONE" (United Artists)

PRINCESS—(2,272), 25c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: Universal news, Hearst's Metrotone news, "Voice of Hollywood," comedy, vaudeville reel. Gross: $9,000. Rating 75%. (Second week.)

"FRAMED" (R-K-O)

IMPERIAL—(1,650), 40c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, cartoon comedy, 6 R-K-O vaude acts. Gross: $7,800. Rating: 80%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

HIS MAJESTY'S—(1,600), 50c-$1.50, 7 days, twice daily. Gross: $8,000. Rating: 70%. (Fifth and last week.)

"FALL GUY" (Radio) and "ROYAL ROMANCE" (Columbia)

STRAND—(750), 25c-44c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe Review, cartoon comedy. Gross: $4,500. Rating: 75%.

"SUBMARINE" (Columbia)

ROXY—(550), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Screen Snapshots, "Eagle's Nest," "World We Live In," two-reel Educational comedy. Gross: $2,200. Rating: 70%. (First run silent house.)

Sez They !

Get a load of this, from the New York Daily News:

"The summer depression has hit Hollywood a little harder than is customary, though the flicker industry has held up remarkably well through the difficult months following the Wall Street crash."

Mpls. Outlays Heavy Dough To See "Quiet"

Minneapolis—Despite a heat wave which at the peak registered 97 degrees and opposition furnished by Sells-Floto circus, which starred Tom Mix (a big drawing card in this city), playing here two days, theatres were able for the most part to hold their own.

"All Quiet on the Western Front" caught on with the public, taking $12,000 as its first week's gross. This gives the theatre a rating of 120%.

The big money went as usual to the Minnesota, where a fine cooling system is the major attraction. The house played "Social Lion" and it rang the gong at 80%, a gross of $29,200. The house made a tie-up with the Albrecht Fur Co. and put on a fur show. This was advertised as "Albrecht's Million Dollar Fur Show." This and the Publix unit, "Top o' the World," also aided in drawing customers.

The Orpheum showed "Cheer Up and Smile," and that is about what they had to do after the box office returns were in. The house took a punch on this one. It drew $15,900, rating 64%. "Hot Curves," Tiffany, at the Shubert, was cold. The house grossed $5,000, which is a 71% rating. The Aster, playing "Dangerous Nan McGrew," reached the 100% mark by totaling a gross of $3,000. The State offered "On the Level" and took $19,400, or a 79% gross. The Lyric, presenting "Strictly Unconventional," grossed $1,950, which is 59%.

Estimated takings:

"CHEER UP AND SMILE" (Fox)

R-K-O ORPHEUM—(2,300), 35c-50c-75c, 7 days, 3 shows daily. Other attractions: Five-act vaude bill headlined by the Berkoff's. Gross: $15,900. Rating: 64%.

"SOCIAL LION" (Paramount)

MINNESOTA—(4,025), 35c-40c-75c, 7 days, 4 shows daily. Other attractions: "Top o' the World" (Publix stage show); "Albrecht's Million Dollar Fur Show"; overture; Paramount news. Gross: $29,200. Rating: 80%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

CENTURY—(1,640), 30c-50c-75c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: None. Gross: $12,000. Rating: 120%.

"HOT CURVES" (Tiffany)

SHUBERT—(1,500), 25c-50c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: Newsreel, short subjects. Gross: $5,000. Rating: 71%.

"ON THE LEVEL" (Fox)

STATE—(2,300), 25c-35c-60c, 7 days, 4 shows daily. Other attractions: Paramount comedy, Paramount news. Gross: $19,400. Rating 79%.

"STRICTLY UNCONVENTIONAL" (M-G-M)

LYRIC—(1,238), 15c-25c-30c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: Newsreel. Gross: $1,950. Rating: 59%.

"DANGEROUS NAN McGREW (Paramount)

ASTER—(812), 20c-30c, 7 days, 7 shows daily. Other attractions: Newsreel. Gross. $3,000. Rating: 100%.

Loew Dividend Payable Aug. 15

The regular quarterly dividend on Loew's preferred stock, totaling $1.62½ per share, will be payed on August 15 to stockholders of record on July 31.

Providence Biz Away Under; All Fail to Hit 100%

Providence — Heat knocked percentages for the proverbial row here last week, most of the downtown theatres reporting business on the blink.

The Paramount was strong at $13,800 while Loew's State garnered $17,500. Both grosses, however, are down a bit, although considered good for the season.

Managers, however, are optimistic and feel that mid-August will see patrons deserting the beaches for the synthetically cooled interiors of the cinema.

Estimated takings:

"LAWFUL LARCENY" (Radio)

RKO VICTORY—(1,600), 7 days, 15c-50c. Other attractions: "Mind Your Business," "Swell People," Pathe news. Gross: $6,500. Rating: 80%.

"ADVENTURES OF DR. FU MANCHU" (Para)

MAJESTIC—(2,400), 7 days, 15c-50c. Other attractions: "Song Plugger," Pathe Review, Pathe news. Gross: $9,000. Rating: 85%.

"BAD ONE" (U.A.)

LOEW'S STATE—(3,800), 7 days, 15c-50c. Other attractions: "Head Guy," "Old Time Movies." Audio Review, Joe Stoves' organlogue, Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $17,500. Rating: 90%.

"BORDER LEGION" (Para.)

PARAMOUNT—(2,300), 7 days, 15c-50c. Other attractions: "Flirting Widow," Paramount news, Joe Alexander in organlogue. Gross: $13,800. Rating: 95%.

"CZAR OF BROADWAY" (U.)

RKO ALBEE—(2,300), 7 days, 15c-50c. Other attractions: Five acts of vaude headed by Jean Goldkette's orchestra. Gross: $10,000. Rating: 85%.

"Holiday" Leads Parade in K. C. On $11,700 Gross

Kansas City—With all factors considered. exhibs in this town had litle to complain of when they tallied up the week's intakes, with all house ratings running between 85% and 130%, latter figure clicked by Pathe's "Holiday" when it turned in $11,700.

A close runner up for the top honors was M-G-M's "Romance," which went over nicely at 125%, and a gross of $16,250.

Estimated takings:

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

MIDLAND—(4,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Other attractions: Laurel and Hardy comedy, "Hoose-Gow"; Hearst Metrotone news, old-time movie show. Gross: $16,250. Rating: 125%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)

MAINSTREET—(3,067), 35c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, five acts vaude, headlining Johnny Burke in "Dirty Work." Gross: $16,000. Rating: 110%.

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)

NEWMAN—(2,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Eddie Cantor in "Cockeyed News"; Billy House in "Resolutions"; cartoon, "Jungle Jazz"; Paramount news. Gross: $11,700. Rating: 130%.

"WHAT MEN WANT" (Universal)

UPTOWN—(2,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe short subjects, "Voice of the Sea," and "Big-Hearted"; Mickey Mouse cartoon; Universal news. Gross: $6,000. Rating: 100%.

"COCK O' THE WALK" (Sono-Art)

PANTAGES—(2,160), 25c-50c, 7 days Other attractions: Felix the Cat; Pathe news Gross: $8,000. Rating: 85%.

"COURAGE" (W.B.)

ROYAL—(900), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Columbia short subject, "Heart Shop"; Pathe short, "Some Babies"; Paramount screen song, "Glow Worm"; Paramount news. Gross: $3,800. Rating: 85%.

Laugh, Clown, Laugh

Hollywood—Heard in Radio Pictures' "Half Shot at Sunrise":

Robert Woolsey: "Does this cigar bother you?"

Leni Stengel: "Oh, no, no. Tobacco smoke kills insects."

Robert Woolsey: "Yeah . . . but the trouble is you can't get 'em to smoke!"

'Frisco Turns in $31,000 to "Big House" Coffers

San Francisco—Local picturegoers apparently were waiting for "Big House," which played Loew's Warfield and was the lead attraction of the week. It played to $31,000, or 120%. The picture was exceptionally well advertised days before it was shown.

The picture that rated second was "In Good Intentions," at the Fox, which played to $31,000 also, but its rating was 115%. "The Silent Enemy," shown at the St. Francis, played to $12,600 and its rating was 115%.

The California did well with "Dawn Patrol." Here the gross was $14,000 and the rating 100%. The smaller theatres, generally, did poorer business as their pictures were not so good. The weather, instead of injuring business, helped it.

Estimated takings:

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S WARFIELD—(2,700), 50c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Sacred Fires," Vagabond Director; Silly Symphony, "Arctic Antics"; 15 minutes of Fox and Hearst news. Gross: $31,000. Rating: 120%.

"GOOD INTENTIONS" (Fox)

FOX—(5,000), 50c-65c-75c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Concert orchestra on the stage, Ann Pennington in person, Fanchon and Marco Idea, "Country Club"; Fox news. Gross: $31,000. Rating: 115%.

"TEMPTATION" (Columbia)

DAVIES—(1,150), 35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Group of short screen numbers, Universal news. Gross: $5,500. Rating: 85%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)

ORPHEUM—(2,270), 25c-35c-50c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Music, Pathe news. Gross: $8,500. Rating: 85%.

"INSIDE THE LINES" (Radio)

GOLDEN GATE—(2,500), 30c-40c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, vaudeville, Claude Sweeten and his R-K-O-lians. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 95%.

"ATTORNEY FOR THE DEFENSE" (Paramount)

PARAMOUNT—(2,700), 50c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Harry Gourfain production, "Join the Navy"; Paramounteers, "30 Pink Toes," novelty; Wallace at the organ; Paramount news. Gross: $15,500. Rating: 100%.

"SILENT ENEMY" (Paramount)

ST. FRANCIS0—(1,400), 35c-50c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Larie de Prie's hand; "Sweet People," a comedy; song cartoon; Paramount news. Gross: $14,600. Rating: 115%.

"DAWN PATROL" (First National)

CALIFORNIA—(2,500), 35c-50c-65c-90c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Paul Ash in "I'm a Wild Woman," Paramount news, California orchestra. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 100%.

"WIDE OPEN" (Warner Bros.)

EMBASSY—(1,400), 30c-40c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Liborious Hauptman's "Melody Artists," novelty, Universal news. Gross: $9,500. Rating: 95%.

"SALLY" (First National)

CASINO—(2,500), 40c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Laurel and Hardy comedy; jungle epic, "Up the Congo." Gross: $9,000. Rating: 90%.

"All Quiet" Gets Record

Montreal—A record of five weeks was established by "All Quiet on the Western Front" when the Universal production closed at His Majesty's, formerly a legitimate house, on July 26. The theatre will reopen in the fall and arrangements are under way for a special run of "Hell's Angels."

Five Boston Runs In Neck-and-Neck Race for Top Spot

Boston—Publix held over for another week Moran and Mack in "Anybody's War" which did heavy business a week ago at the Olympia and Uptown theatres, playing day and date. It continued heavy again this week with the Uptown hitting 110%. Publix also moved "Love Among the Millionaires" from the Metropolitan to Scollay Square, where it went over for a gross of $15,000, or 110%.

Universal's "All Quiet on the Western Front" completed its eighth week at the Majestic at a 90% rating. Thus four Boston playhouses were running pictures already seen in previous weeks but all maintaining an average around 100%.

Metropolitan continues its high grosses, with $33,500 on "For the Defense" aided by an unusually good stage show and the increasingly popular lounge dancing in this refrigerated theatre. The two Keith houses maintained their standing with the Albee hitting 110% on "Inside the Lines." Both Loew houses were above average.

Weather was hot and showery.

Estimated takings:

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Paramount)

METROPOLITAN—(4,350), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Stage show, "Noah's Lark," comedy; Paramount news. Gross: $33,500. Rating: 112%.

"INSIDE THE LINES" (RKO)

KEITH-ALBEE—(2,500), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaudeville, RKOlians, Sportlight, Pathe news. Gross: $20,000. Rating: 110%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)

KEITH MEMORIAL — (2,800), 30c-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, Sportlight, Pathe news, organ specialties. Gross: $23,000. Rating: 100%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S STATE—(3,700), 30c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $22,000. Rating: 110%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—(3,100), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaudeville, "Modern Maidens," comedy; Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $20,500. Rating: 105%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

MAJESTIC—(1,800), 50c-$2, 6 days. Gross: $6,500. Rating: 90%. (eighth week.)

"LOVE AMONG THE MILLIONAIRES" (Para.)

SCOLLAY SQUARE—(1,800), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaudeville, beauty shows, bathing girls, comedy. Paramount news. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 110%.

"ANYBODY'S WAR" (Para.)

(Playing day and date with Uptown Theatre)

OLYMPIA—(2,500), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, cartoon, Paramount news. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 100%. (second week.)

"ANYBODY'S WAR" (Para.)

(Playing day and date with Olympia Theatre)

UPTOWN—(2,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Cartoon, comedy, Paramount news. Gross: $13,000. Rating: 110%. (second week.)

Still with Barthelmess

Hollywood—Regardless of reports, Joe Steele is still handling the personal publicity for Richard Barthelmess under terms of the latter's contract with First National. Steele, during the absence of Barthelmess on a vacation in the Canadian northwoods, will assist the regular studio publicity staff on routine work at such times as he is available without interfering with his Barthelmess assignment.

Reingold Heads Board

St. Louis—Ben Reingold of Fox was elected unanimously to the presidency of the Film Board.

Not Even as Good

"You know, movie stars don't look a bit better than we do off the stage."
—New Yorker

Okla. Top Hit By "For Defense" Grossing $5,500

Oklahoma City—The hottest weather that Oklahoma City has experienced for many years was a break for the box offices. With the mercury around 100 daily, theatres were the only cool places in town. High mark for the week was 106.

"For the Defense" was high at the Capitol with $5,500 in the book office till. "Dangerous Nan McGrew," at the Criterion, and "Good Intentions," at the Liberty, were tie with five grand each.

"The Fall Guy," at the Empress, picked up $4,500, the Orpheum with "Border Romance" for four days and "Pardon My Gun," three days, grossed six grand for the week.

With tom thumb golf courses and night baseball competing, the theatres did well. New competition in the field will be the new Midwest theatre, operated by Warner Brothers, which opens Friday with Barthelmess in the "Dawn Patrol." The theatre is housed in a $1,000,000 office building and is said to be the last word in theatre building.

Estimated takings:

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Paramount)

CAPITOL—(1,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Mexicana," musical revue; Harry Langdon in a comedy sketch, Metrotone news. Gross: $5,500. Rating: 110%.

"DANGEROUS NAN McGREW" (Para.)

CRITERION—(2,000), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Paramount comedy. Gross: $5,000. Rating: 95%.

"GOOD INTENTIONS" (Fox)

LIBERTY—(1,800), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox news, Mickey Mouse, "Some Babies," comedy. Gross: $5,000. Rating: 100%.

"FALL GUY" (R-K-O)

EMPRESS—(1,500), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Universal news, Educational comedy, "The Chump." Gross: $4,500. Rating: 95%.

"BORDER ROMANCE" (Tiffany)

ORPHEUM—(1,500), 25c-50c, 4 days. Other attractions: Kinogram news, R-K-O vaudeville. Gross: $3,300. Rating: 100%.

"PARDON MY GUN" (Pathe)

ORPHEUM—(1,500), 25c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Kinogram news, Fanchon & Marco's "Ivory Idea," with Cooper and Orren in "Mimiobartic Oddities," four "High Hatters," Betty Lon Webb, Fly Meyer, Goetz & Duffy, Peggy Carse and the "Sunkist Beauties." Gross: $3,200. Rating: 100%.

Heat from Garbo And Old Sol Hurts Omaha Competish

Omaha—Garbo fans forgot the hot weather and turned out en masse last week to bring the World the money of the town on "Romance" (M-G-M). Picture piled up $10,925 which is a 115% week for the house. Business generally good, despite heat, midget golf and night baseball.

"Let Us Be Gay" (M-G-M) was the Orpheum draw with the stage as just a good filler. The final count, due to the Shearer-Dressler combination, was $15,950, or 110%. Paramount slipped down to 90% with "Unholy Three" (M-G-M) in face of a vigorous campaign to sell big. Gross was $7,200.

"Lady of Scandal" (Fox), first half at the State hit 110% for $2,310. Last half, "Second Choice" (W. B.), brought $2,025, 90%.

Estimated takings:

"UNHOLY THREE" (M-G-M)

PARAMOUNT—(2,900), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, organ, shorts. Gross: $7,200. Rating: 90%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

WORLD—(2,500), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, four acts Publix vaudeville, Billy Meyers & band, comedy. Gross: $10,925. Rating: 115%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)

ORPHEUM—(3,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Four RKO acts, Patbe news, shorts. Gross: $15,950. Rating: 110%.

"LADY OF SCANDAL" (Fox)

STATE—(1,200), 25c-40c, 3 days. Other attractions: Universal news, comedy, cartoon. Gross: $2,310. Rating: 110%.

"SECOND CHOICE" (W.B.)

STATE—(1,200), 25c-40c, 4 days. Other attractions: Universal news, comedy, novelty. Gross: $2,025. Rating: 90%.

$100,000 for "Humanity" Under Leo Feist Will

One hundred thousand dollars was bequeathed to "the welfare of humanity" by the late Leo Feist, music publisher, out of his estate which, it is said, totals more than $1,000,000. The balance went to his widow and two sons. A Leo Feist Charities Fund is to be established, for prompt and temporary relief to deserving persons.

$9 Net for Loew's in Year Ending Aug. 31 Forecast

Net of Loew's for the fiscal year to end Aug. 31 is estimated at $9. The company operates about 200 theatres in the United States, Canada and European cities and owns all common stock of M-G-M. Fifty-six per cent of earnings is declared contributed by production, which employs only 32 per cent of the assets.

"Birth" with Sound Sept. 1.

Hollywood—With sound version and synchronized score of "Birth of a Nation" completed, Triangle Film Corporation will world premiere the new version of the epic at the Biltmore on a twice daily policy, opening Sept. 1. The Los Angeles run at the Biltmore, which is a legit house, will have a stage prologue including singers, dancers and chorus ensembles. The picture in final revised cut for effects and music on sound track runs just two hours.

"Raffles" Gets Big L. A. Dough In Tough Week

Hollywood—"Raffles" and "Dixiana" secured the most of what little business was available downtown, where majority of key runs wilted under terrific heat. Refrigerators, apparently, were useless, with beaches and outdoors elsewhere calling thousands of regular cash customers from the city.

The California has folded until September, making outlook for competitors of this house a little brighter.

"Hell's Angels" continues in the top rating class, hitting $25,600, or 160%, in its ninth week. This followed "Raffles" in main stem first-run parade. "Raffles" clicked at $25,000, rating 180%, while "Dixiana" grossed $24,000 to the tune of 140%. Pantages was splendid at $21,500, or 140%, rolled up by "Big House." "Way of All Men," taking $24,000, completed the small group of current big money makers.

Estimated takings:

"HELL'S ANGELS" (Caddo)

GAUMAN'S CHINESE—(2,023), 75c-$1.50, 9th week, 7 days, twice daily. Other attractions: Four Hunter Brothers Endurance Flyers, Sid Grauman prologue. Gross: $25,600. Rating: 160%.

"SO THIS IS LONDON" (Fox)

FOX CARTHAY CIRCLE—75c-$1.50, 6th week, 7 days, twice daily. Other attractions: Abe Lyman and band, Movietone news. Gross: $11,800. Rating: 95%.

"WILD COMPANY" (Fox)

LOEW'S STATE—(2,418), 35c-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco, "Wild and Wooly" Idea; Laurel and Hardy comedy; Movietone and Metrotone news. Gross: $17,500. Rating: 70%.

"QUEEN HIGH" (Paramount)

PARAMOUNT—(3,596), 35c-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: Sennett comedy, travelogue, Oliver Wallace organ concert, Paramount news. Gross: $19,000. Rating: 78%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

FOX CRITERION—(1,652), 35c-65c, 1st week, 7 days. Other attractions: Movietone news, comedy. Gross: $11,800. Rating: 115%.

"BORDER LEGION" (Paramount)

GRAUMAN'S EGYPTIAN—(1,800), 35c-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, Max Fisher's band, Movietone news. Gross: $5,600. Rating: 70%.

"LADY TO LOVE" (M-G-M)

CALIFORNIA—(2,000), 25c-50c, 7 days, 2nd week. Other attractions: Comedy, news. Gross: $3,500. Rating: 47%.

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

PANTAGES' HOLLYWOOD—(3,000), 40c-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco "Green Devils" Idea, comedy, Movietone news. Gross: $21,500. Rating: 140%.

"WAY OF ALL MEN" (First National)

WARNERS' HOLLYWOOD—(3,000), 35c-65c, 7 days, 2nd week. Other attractions: Larry Ceballos revue, Olsen and Johnson in person, Vitaphone Varieties. Gross: $24,000. Rating: 175%.

"RAFFLES" (United Artists)

UNITED ARTISTS—(2,100), 35c-65c, 7 days, 1st week. Other attractions: Comedy, cartoon, Paramount news, Gaylord Carter organ concert. Gross: $25,000. Rating: 180%.

"THREE FACES EAST" (Warners)

WARNERS' DOWNTOWN—(2,400), 35c-65c, 7 days, 2nd week. Other attractions: Larry Ceballos revue, Vitaphone Varieties, news. Gross: $19,000. Rating: 133%.

"RUNAWAY BRIDE" (R-K-O)

R-K-O—(2,700), 35c-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: R-K-O vaudeville, comedy, Pathe news. Gross: $11,000. Rating: 70%.

"DIXIANA" (R-K-O)

ORPHEUM—(2,750), 35c-65c, 7 days, 1st week. Other attractions: Humanette comedy, Pathe news. Gross: $24,000. Rating: 140%. Total gross includes $5 top opening night.

Langdon in Liberty Film

Hollywood—Harry Langdon has been signed by Liberty Productions to play the featured role in "The Ape," from stage play by Adam Hull Shirk. The picture goes into production in about two weeks.

Glennon with Tiffany

Hollywood—Bert Glennon will direct "The Barbarian" an all-Technicolor talker special for Tiffany studios.

Sunday Shows Banned

Atlanta—Even though they are presented as charity affairs, Sunday shows are illegal in this state if admission is charged, the Supreme Court has held in a case involving Sunday operation at Albany, Ga. Such operation of a theatre, it was contended, is neither work of necessity nor charity, the court pointing out that most of the receipts went to pay employees and for other items of overhead.

Hot Gags

(By WALTER WEEMS*)*
(Sennett Scenario Writer)

LOS ANGELES could have been the "Fifth City" a good many years ago if the Iowans and New Englanders had saved up car-fare for the western jump sooner.

* * *

I believe in killing two birds with one stone—if they are both saxophone players.

* * *

After Carol Kings himself into a new set of money, Lupescu will probably order him back to Paris for a re-take.

Errol Starts Work

Hollywood—"Social Errors," in which Leon Errol will make his first appearance in a full length talking feature for Paramount after having appeared in "Paramount on Parade," has gone into production studios under direction of Edward Sloman. It is from an original by Owen Davis, with adaptation by Percy Heath and Sam Mintz and dialogue by Joseph Mankiewicz. Errol shares leading honors with Richard Arlen and Mary Brian.

McCarey Assigned

Hollywood—Leo McCarey starts work under his new term contract with Fox with the assignment to direct "The Shepper-Newfounder," from novel by Stewart Edward White. Tom Clifford, youngster who appeared with John McCormack in "Song o' My Heart," will be featured.

Dickinson Buys Another

Kansas City—Glen W. Dickinson has acquired the Plaza at Chanute, Kan., and will take over operation Friday. The name will be changed to the Dickinson. Western Electric sound equipment will be installed, as well as other new equipment.

Pre-release Runs Slated

Atlantic City—Pre-release showings of "Song o' My Heart" and "Common Clay" will take up most of the month of August at the Strand. Second run will be at the Steel Pier, directly opposite the Strand.

Christie Role for Greenwood

Hollywood — Charlotte Greenwood has been signed by Christies to star in a series of Tuxedo brand Christie-Educational talker comedies. Miss Greenwood's last film appearance was in "So Long Letty" for Warner Brothers about a year ago.

Cast for Western Leads

Hollywood—Lane Chandler and Betty Boyd will have the leading roles in "The Border Line," a western talker produced by Pan-American studios and released through Sono Art.

B'way Hollers "Ouch" When Heat Pinches

This week started off with a bang at New York's main stem theatres, due to a let-up in the week-end heat wave, but old man Sol again made his appearance late Tuesday and the figures started to taper off toward the lows of the previous week, when practically everything on Broadway was socked aplenty, despite refrigeration systems and heavy ballyhooing on the "cooler inside" factor. In the first four days of this week, "Good Intentions" took $45,760 at the Roxy.

"For the Defense" gave the Paramount a big spurt, reaching $74,900 for the seven days, a jump of $16,000 over the week before, when "Man from Wyoming" grossed only 60 grand.

At the Winter Garden, too, figures were okay, considering blazing heat. This house, with "Dawn Patrol," held up to $35,480. All other stands were off considerably.

Estimated takings:

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

ASTOR—(1,120), 50c-75c-$1-$1.50-$2, 7 days, 6th week. Other attractions: Comedy, "College Hounds"; newsreel. Gross: $19,405; pretty good, but a slide of one grand under previous week.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)

CAPITOL—(4,700), 35c-50c-75c-$1.50, 7 days, second, last week. Other attractions: Overture, Hearst Metrotone news, Capitol presentation ("Dizzy Daze"). Gross: $63,358; okay considering the heat and second week holdover.

"ALL QUIET ON WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

CENTRAL—(922), 50c-75c-$1-$1.50-$2.50, 7 days, 14th week. Other attractions: None. Gross: $12,271; sliding off in its 14th week.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)

GLOBE—(1,050), 35c-50c-75c. Shorts. Gross: $8,030; pretty bad.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Para.)

PARAMOUNT—(3,700), 40c-50c-65c-85c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe Review, Paramount news, cartoon ("Dizzy Dishes"). Gross: $74,900; splendid, jumping more than $16,000 over last week.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

RIALTO—(1,904). 65c-85c, 2nd week, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, "Neighboring Neighbors"; Lee Morse, Paramount news, cartoon, "Barnacle Bill." Gross: $17,000; big drop in 2nd week.

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)

RIVOLI—(2,103), 35c-65c-85c, 7 days, 3rd week. Other attractions: "Cockeyed News" with Eddie Cantor; comedy, "Sing, You Dancers"; newsreel. Gross: $18,000; so-so.

"WILD COMPANY" (Fox)

ROXY—(6,200), 50c-75c-$1-$1.50, 7 days. Other attractions: Overture, "Bolero, Glory to Bacchus," with Harriet Hoctor. Gross: $70,458; away down.

"SONG OF THE FLAME" (First National)

STRAND—(3,000), 35c-50c-60c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Slickers Ever," "Desert Thrills," "Dance of Fear"; comedy, "All Is Quiet." Gross: $18,739; still terrible, hovering around last week's take.

"DAWN PATROL" (First National)

WINTER GARDEN—(1,493), 35c-50c-65c-$1, 7 days, 3rd week. Other attractions: Joe Frisco, "The Song Plugger"; newsreel. Gross: $35,480; a drop of $16,000 under previous week's figure, but still good for this house.

Boyd in Bancroft Cast

William Boyd, stage actor, has been borrowed by Paramount from United Artists for "Rolling Down to Rio," George Bancroft's next starring picture which Rowland V. Lee will direct.

Handles Colbert Vehicles

Full responsibility for story material of pictures in which Claudette Colbert appears has been vested in Rosalie Stewart, former stage producer.

Allen Signs Mexican Player

Hollywood—E. H. Allen, general manager of Educational studios has signed Chiquita, Mexican actress, to appear in an Ideal comedy with Tom Patricola. William Goodrich is directing the talker.

Honest Kay

When asked recently by a New York newshound where she was educated, Kay Johnson replied confidentially: "Don't tell anybody. My misguided family sent me to the Drew Seminary for Young Women in the hope that they'd make a lady of me—and see what I am, a DeMille actress!"

Optimism Trend For Trade Seen In Para. Record

Industry observers declare themselves to be considerably encouraged over the prospects for the immediate future as a result of a forecast this week from Paramount Publix which indicated profits for the first six months of 1930 will run 65 per cent ahead of the similar period last year.

While a forecast and, therefore, subject to change, financial circles usually regard Paramount's statements as hewing close to the line. In view of widespread talk of business depression and its effect on box-office grosses, the inclination consequently is to accept the Paramount figures as an industry barometer for the fall and winter.

The company estimates its consolidated net profit for the six months to June 28, 1930, after all charges and taxes, at $8,434,000, equal to $2.98 per share on 2,832,277 shares, the average number outstanding during the period. The profit for the six months, if reached, created a new high record for this period of the year, and is approximately 65 per cent ahead of the profit for the corresponding period of 1929, which was $5,130,000.

Estimated profit for the three months ending June 28, 1930, is $3,600,000, equal to $1.21 per share on 2,972,742 shares, the average number outstanding during the quarter. This profit compares with a profit of $2,556,000 for the same period of 1929, equal to $1.14 per share on 2,242,862 shares then outstanding.

Earns $1.21 a Share in 3 Months

Estimated profit of $3,600,000 for the second quarter is also a new high record for the second quarter of any year and is approximately 41 per cent ahead of the profit for the corresponding period of 1929.

The profit of $2.98 per share for the first six months on an average number of 2,832,277 shares compares with a profit of $2.31 on 2,224,683 shares, the average of shares outstanding for the corresponding period in 1929, and is an increase in earnings per share of 29 per cent.

Pathe Claims "Rebound"

Hollywood—Pathe has screen rights to "Rebound," despite announcement to the contrary, according to President E. B. Derr. Recently it was stated that Warners intended to film the Arthur Hopkins play. Ann Harding, Constance Bennett or Helen Twelvetrees will be starred in the Pathe production.

Fox and Loew to Play Warners in New York's Area

Warner product for 1930-31 will be played by the Fox and Loew theatres in the metropolitan area, under terms of a deal completed Thursday, according to announcement by Sam E. Morris general manager of distribution. 78 Fox and 58 Loew houses are included in the deal.

Claude Ezell

The conferences ended Thursday with Jack Sullivan and A. Blumenstein representing Fox; David Loew and Eugene Picker representing Loew's and the following representing Warners: Claude Ezell, George Balsden, Edward Goldstein and Harry Deckert.

Publix Houses West of Denver To Go To Fox

(Continued from page 15)

Denver—Rialto, Denver and one to open in August. This will be known as the Paramount.

Colorado Springs—Paramount, Rialto.

Pueblo—Colorado theatre.

Cheyenne, Wyo.—Paramount and Strand.

Grand Junction, Colo.—Mesa, Avalon.

Greeley, Colo.—Sterling and Rex.

Fox West Coast, already the ace circuit on the Pacific Coast, has been reaching East for many months. In the event, the Publix theatres are added to the approximate 600 now owned and operated by Franklin, insiders say it will be all over but the shouting.

R-K-O and Warners operate a limited number of houses in the same territory. The former is slated to turn over the Orpheum, San Diego to Franklin to operate. Thereby indicating possible further development in that direction.

The Warners now have 14 theatres in Southern California.

Los Angeles—Harold B. Franklin returned from the East Thursday, but could not be reached for a statement on the reported purchase of Publix houses in the West.

Plan "Blue" Showdown

Moberly, Mo.—Businessmen here plan to demand a showdown on "blue" Sunday, long a subject of controversy. T. P. Davis, manager of the Grand, recently was arrested for operating on Sunday.

Seek Cruze

Tiffany is dickering with James Cruze for a series of pictures, and for one western with William S. Hart, MOTION PICTURE NEWS learns.

Cruze has two more pictures to make for Sono Art-World Wide, having delivered seven so far to that company.

Support Tiffany On Score Charge Work, N. W. Plea

Minneapolis—Tiffany should be supported 100 per cent by independents for its leadership in bringing about virtual elimination of score charges, franchise holders here declared at a meeting, Monday. This never would have been brought about but for the franchise, it was stated, with RKO's action recalled in trying to back out of the original deal.

Requests for adjustments will be settled by local managers, rather than the setting of arbitrary rates, it is stated. The regular meeting of the rating committee will be held about Aug. 15. Oscar Hanson, sales manager, was here for the meeting.

Tiffany Makes Settlement In Cash on 'Allied' Film

Minneapolis—Tiffany's promise to pay to Allied a percentage of profits on one of the first year's franchise pictures, in return for Allied support, has been cancelled by a cash settlement. The settlement, it is said, ran into five figures. It was negotiated by Oscar Hanson, sales manager and W. A. Steffes, who negotiated the original deal for the picture.

Meet at Denver

Denver—Oscar Hanson, Tiffany sales manager, and W. A. Steffes, Minneapolis, were here Wednesday for a meeting of exhibitors.

Allied Leaders Holding Pow-Wow at Minneapolis

Minneapolis—Leaders of Allied States Ass'n. meet here on Monday. H. M. Richey, Detroit; Col. H. A. Cole, Dallas; Aaron Saperstein, Chicago; H. A. Staab, Milwaukee, Al Steffes and others will attend.

East Goes for Papers And West Cuts 'Em

Gabe Yorke, director of advertising of Fox Theatres (East), grabbed a nice block of space this week with announcement that the circuit's houses were going in for newspaper advertising heavily.

At the same time in Los Angeles, Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theatres, stated he was trimming newspaper space by ten per cent in a number of towns.

That evens up the two major divisions of the Fox theatre organization, even if the scales tip in opposite directions, and gave both of them a publicity break.

New Cameras, Lighting Systems Point Way To Higher Production Standards

Research Is Not Confined to U. S., Report of S.M.P.E. Makes It Clear

Constant scientific research unearthing of new secrets in photography are blazing the trail toward higher standards in production, the report of the committee on progress of the Society of M. P. Engineers declares.

New illuminants, reported to be adaptable for use with panchromatic stock are being developed in Germany. A water cell to reduce the heat given off by high intensity lamps such as are generally used in coast studios is another experiment under way.

These are typical of the advances discussed in the report, another instalment of which follows:

A survey of incandescent lighting in the United States, Germany, and England was published by Eveleigh.[56] Two sizes of spotlights available in Germany permit variation of the spot diameter and utilize a front ground glass plate for obtaining uniform diffuse illumination.[57] Descriptions were published also of searchlights, floodlights, "spots," overhead banks, and broadsides manufactured by a German firm particularly for use in the production of sound films.[58]

In order to decrease the heat given off by high intensity illuminants, such as used for lighting sets for sound and color motion pictures, Gordon[59] has proposed an experimental design of a water cell surrounding the lamp. Such a cell dissipates 75 per cent of the total watts input and results in only about 7 per cent light loss. Although it seemed that the practical limit of incandescent lamps had been reached several years ago when a 30 kilowat lamp was announced, lighting engineers showed this was not the case, for a 50 kilowatt lamp was made available during the fall of 1929.[60] According to recent reports from Hollywood studios 36 inch reflectors have been found to give maximum effectiveness with 10 kilowatt incandescent lamps. The small light units, 1, 1½, and 5 kilowatts, found most extensive employment in studios early in 1930. Portable dimmers, used individually or in connected units of two or three, found useful application for sunrise or sunset effects. Each unit handles 20 kilowatts.

Incandescents in Demand

A joint committee of the producers and technicians' branches of the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences reported on an investigation of arc lighting in fifteen Hollywood studios.[61] In 60 per cent. of the studios, arcs were being used for less than 10 per cent of the lighting; in 35 per cent, arcs were used for 25 to 50 per cent; and in only one studio were they employed almost exclusively. Sun arcs and spots were finding more extensive application. Three types of filters were in use: (a) individual choke coils for each lamp unit, (b) choke coils for each group of lamps, and (c) the use of a large electrolytic capacity across the generator windings. The investigation is being continued with plans for making oscillograph records of the commutator ripple at each studio. Buck and Albert[62] presented a paper on the subject of elimination of commutator ripple at the last meeting of the Society.

Descriptions have appeared in several foreign journals of new styles of illuminants, particularly several designs of the Osram Nitrophot which is said to be especially adaptable for use with panchromatic film.[63] Controversies have raged abroad, as in this country, on the relative merits of arc and incandescent lighting. It seems to be generally agreed that arcs possess many more merits to recommend their employment than when panchromatic film first came into extensive use in 1928.[64]

According to Clerc,[65] reflectors dyed with rhodamine and emitting fluorescent red light proved inadequate and too unstable as a practical means for supplying the red rays deficient in mercury vapor lamps. Combinations of tungsten and mercury vapor lamps in the ratio of 1125 watts or 750 watts of tungsten to 400 watts of mercury both give satisfactory rendering on panchromatic film without a filter.

Abadie[66] reported before the cinematographic section of the French Photographie Society on some interesting experiments with gaseous illuminants. Mercury and neon could not be used effectively in the same tube to give a white light, but when their combined light was supplemented with that from vaporized antimony and arsenic, a good white light was produced for the photography of colored objects. A lamp had been produced which contained neon gas and a cadmium-bismuth alloy at the cathode. Upon heating, the cadmium was vaporized and its arc gave a light of desirable spectral distribution. Two new glow lamps were announced for variable density sound recording.

Benford[67] presented useful data at the Toronto meeting on the radiation characteristics of two mercury arcs. A carbon arc lamp with a chromium plated copper reflector was claimed to give an increased illumination efficiency over other lamps of similar wattage.[68]

Silent Technique Mastered

A make-up test program by the American Society of Cinematographers was expanded to include color pictures and wide film. A new series of powders and greases was developed which photograph exactly as they appear to the eye.[69] A leading comedy actor reviewed some of his experiences in making his first talking picture which was first produced as a silent picture. Greater ingenuity was required in introducing the sound but at least 50 per cent. more laughs were stated to have been added.[70] By studying each spoken word of the English version of the picture, "Lummox," a director so directed a German speaking cast that their voices were adapted to the lip action of the production. Voices were made to appear to come off the screen when expressions could not be made to fit a lip movement.[71]

According to Stull[72] most of the well-known trick effects of the silent picture, such as the fade-out, fade-in, lap dissolve, and double exposure, have been worked out for sound-on-disc and sound-on-film methods. The details of these problems were solved by the cameramen during actual pressure of production. Hutchins[73] dealt mathematically with the problem of dimensional analysis as an aid to miniature cinematography and showed how, by the application of simple physical laws, illusions may be produced which appear real even to the trained.

Coissac[74] described equipment for making animated drawings and an elaborately designed machine printer for making enlargements, reduction prints, fades, double exposures, etc. The printer is built on a rigid steel support which insures freedom from vibration. Lightning effects may be produced, according to Seeber[75] by photographing a white wall upon which zig-zag line figures are intermittently projected by flashing arc lamps behind special tin masks.

Patent protection[76] was granted several applicants who disclosed, among others: methods for making anaglyphs, a process for obtaining composite pictures, a method for the synchronizing of sound with animated cartoons, and the production of grotesque motion pictures by photographing a checkered screen.

Trace History of Sound

Historical summaries[77] of the development of the sound film industry have been published by Gaumont and by Rider. It is of interest that the first patent for an electrical "pickup" was issued to Gaumont. Messter[78] has also reported on his trials with synchronization of sound and picture started 30 years ago.

Production programs for sound pictures continued to expand during the fall of 1929 and early part of 1930. European studios which were slower than the American studios in adopting sound, announced their plans for feature pictures in sound late in 1929. One German producer planned an American "invasion" by announcing the making of English versions of twenty feature pictures.[79] Bohm and Noack have each made an analysis of the situation in Germany during 1929, the latter reviewing the patent difficulties.[80]

Several French studios have commenced sound productions on a large scale, a number of them by the RCA variable area process. Société Gaumont which, until quite recently, recorded on the full width of a separate film by the Danish Peterson-Poulson method, has adopted fixed density recording in the margin of a separate film. This record is printed subsequently on the border of the film bearing the positive image.

In its latest large installation at Epinay, the firm Tobis is reported to have given up the system of employing a camera booth for sound taking and, like many American studios, has adopted sound-proof housings for their cameras. A fixed central station in communication with the different sound stages receives by wire the current from the microphone. In the Cinevox process, recording is accomplished with a glow lamp, according to a variation of the DeForest method.

Soviet engineers have worked out their own systems of sound recording and reproducing for use in the Russian studios and theatres. One studio in Leningrad and one in Moscow are reported to be making short subjects.[81]

Great interest was shown in the sound school sponsored by the Academy of M. P. Arts and Sciences and, with the completion of the fifth and sixth sections, more than 900 studio workers had taken the course.[82] The lectures presented by various authorities before this school were assembled and published as a Technical Digest. Plans were announced for an actor's school under the supervision of the same organization with the aim of giving ae-

(Continued on page 32)

Serially in the NEWS

The report of the committee on progress of the Society of M. P. Engineers covers world-wide research into all of the technical phases of motion pictures.

The text is now appearing week by by week in Motion Picture News.

New Illuminants Developed in Germany; Test Water To Reduce Heat

Portable dimmer used to create "sunset" or "sunrise" effects. Reproduced from Journal of Society of M. P. Engineers by courtesy of Peter Mole, Hollywood.

tors the essential facts to assist them in working naturally before the microphone.[83]

Cameras More Compact

During the winter of 1929-30, a few grand opera stars were prevailed upon to "star" in sound pictures. In March the first screen opera, "Pagliacci" was produced, sung entirely in Italian.[84] A talking newsreel was introduced during December, 1929, which had novelty in that it was made without sound in the field but had the sound added later in the form of a reporter's running comments on the scenes depicted.[85] The problems and troubles of the news cameraman had been increased with the advent of sound, for dexterity, skill, and ingenuity were all necessary in securing good placement of the microphone.[86] Recent improvements in the design of compact equipment have decreased some of these burdens. One outfit for complete recording, exclusive of the camera, could be packed completely in two cases, weighing 70 pounds.[87]

A general review of the problems of sound recording has been published by Eisenberg.[88] Too ready acceptance by studios of certain practices of sound recording is unwise, according to Coffman,[89] as the industry is still in a plastic state and mistakes might easily be converted to production traditions. One of his warnings about too much mixing has already been justified as it is reported that some of the studios have eliminated this position. Maxfield[90] has analyzed the problem of acoustic control for talking motion pictures.

Mechanisms for synchronizing sound film cameras have been described by Friess,[91] one promising type employing a magnetic interlocking device to overcome certain disadvantages of synchronous motors.

The Debrie camera has been fitted with a sound-proof housing consisting of a box, containing the motor drive encased under the camera, and a cover on a vertical track which may be lowered or raised quickly by the movement of a hand lever. All controls are accessible from outside the case when it is closed. The merits of 16 different types of camera silencing housings used in Hollywood have been tested by a joint committee representing the producers and technicians.[92] Most housings were found to absorb more high than low frequencies. Motors should be mounted inside the housing but improvements are needed in methods of coupling the motor to the camera.

Descriptions of types of German portable sound recording trucks have been published.[93] Portable mixing booths mounted on pneumatic tires are reported to be in use.[94]

Data have been given on the frequency ranges of phonograph records showing that reproduction is satisfactory for frequencies from 50 to 10,000 per second.[95] Knowles[96] believes that film recording offers more advantages than disc recording. A synthetic resin coated on a heavy paper base offers a light, economical, and unbreakable material for the manufacture of disc records.[97]

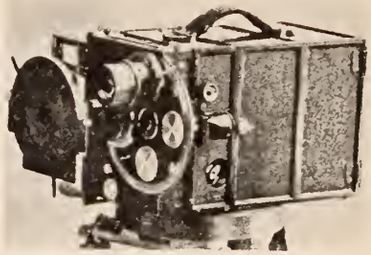
Trace Microphone History

Borchardt[98] has dealt with the properties of microphones and Eveleigh[99] has given an historical review of the development of microphones. Extreme accuracy is needed in the manufacture of microphones according to an article describing their construction.[100] Booms for holding the microphone over the actors have undergone material development and several ingenious devices are available for handling microphones on the set.[101] The booms are operated easily by means of telescoping arms which permit operation over comparatively large areas.

Recording and reproducing lights for variable width sound record films have been improved and standardized. A 4 ampere, 5 volt, single axial filament in a pear shaped bulb is used for recording as well as a 6 ampere, 5 volt double axial filament type. For reproduction, a 7½ ampere, 10 volt single transverse filament is used with a cylindrical bulb. The Aeo light for variable density recording has been improved for effective illumination and life. An optical system has replaced the slit. For Grandeur pictures on 70 mm. film a new optical system was designed.

Palmer[102] has published details of a device for printing the footage numbers on the sound record while it is being exposed in the camera. These numbers correspond with those on the picture negative and facilitate matching the two negatives for printing.

Gaumont[103] has suggested leaving room between the picture and the perforations on both sides of a film for two sound records as might be required if right and left side microphones and reproducers were employed for simulating binaural hearing. The two sound tracks might also be used for non-synchronized speech in various languages.



A modification of the Poulson magnetized wire recording method uses film base impregnated with colloidal particles of an alloy of nickel, cobalt, and iron as the magnetically susceptible recording material. The film possesses a slight lavender tint when so treated.[104] The process can be used for amateur standard reversal film or the record can be impressed by induction during making of the positive.

Another novel recording process is that suggested by Madelar by which a groove is recorded on the film support by means of a diamond stylus.[105]

Improvements in methods of sound recording have resulted in a large number of patents,[106] especially in Great Britain, of which the following may be described briefly: a sound record having varying dielectric characteristics which vary the condenser assembly capacity; in recording by means of the Kerr cell, a means for controlling the light reaching the sensitized surface is provided so that it will be restricted to wave-lengths substantially equally affected by the cell; the use of a tapered quartz glass, connected to the light source of the last element of an optical system, to make "direct impingement" of the sound influenced beam of light on the sensitized support; the enclosure of a camera for sound recording within a chamber which is a vacuum or which contains a rarefied atmosphere.

Laboratory Practice

Production demands necessitated expansion of several Hollywood laboratories.[107] Germany has about twenty-five film processing laboratories with a combined capacity of approximately two million meters of positive film monthly.[108] There are approximately 150 laboratories for film development in the United States, but the bulk of the film is being processed in about five per cent. of these laboratories. According to Hubbard[109] there are six different types of negatives which the processing laboratory is required to handle, as necessitated by disc, and sound-on-film methods. A summary is given of modern versus older methods of processing.

The Castagna camera, manufactured in Vienna, which features a four lens turret. Reproduced from Journal of Society of M. P. Engineers by courtesy of Dr. P. Schrott of Vienna.

Machine development has been adopted universally in this country, chiefly as a result of the introduction of sound pictures. A Los Angeles firm has designed new small tanks and a relatively inexpensive machine. The tanks are arranged horizontally one above the other, and are about 50 feet long with a drying compartment placed above the tanks. Several rolls of film may be processed simultaneously.

Inspection projectors in processing laboratories have not as yet been fitted with sound testing equipment but the need for such installations is becoming apparent.

Rack and reel methods are still in use in the processing plants in Australia, of which there are about twenty. A more modern laboratory under technical control is being constructed.

Conklin described a densitometer constructed from a Martens photometer.[110] A compact developing tank for motion picture film consists of special reels around which the film is wound and a vertical "ring cylinder" composed of two concentric vertical cylinders.[111] Wolter described a small metal cylinder for use in developing test exposure strips on location.[112] Patent protection[113] was granted on devices for automatic inspection of motion picture film during processing, means for handling wet film on sprockets, drying equipment, development of picture area and sound track (on the same film) separately, and improvements in apparatus for the development of film by ammonia gas.

Photographic Chemicals, Solutions

Much attention has been given the composition and properties of the photographic solutions used for film development in recent years, particularly since the general adoption of sound and color pictures. Developer characteristics are continually changing and a test suggested by Dundon, Brown, and Capstaff[114] is of interest, therefore, for it offers a rapid means for determining the degree of exhaustion of a developer. A two-solution developing procedure, whereby overexposed negatives are immersed in a 5 per cent. carbonate solution following development, has been suggested by Forstmann and Lux[115] as a means of avoiding blocked highlights. Hamer[116] concluded that the use of a desensitizer in the form of a preliminary bath is preferable to adding it to the developer.

Fine grain developer formulas for negative development as recommended by three manufacturers have been discussed by Heering.[117] A symposium on fixation was conducted by the Royal Photographic Society during 1929, papers being presented by Renwick and by Baines.[118] The use of a solution of mercuric chloride and potassium bromide was shown by Crabtree and Ross[119] to be capable of detecting 0.05 milligram of sodium thiosulfate (crystal) in motion picture film.

Printing machinery is being redesigned rapidly for better quality and more rapid production of sound-on-film prints. One manufacturer of printing equipment has brought out a single operation printer, and another manufacturer is reported to be working on a new model. A new combination printing device has been described by Goff[120] which permits both optical and continuous printing as well as trick work. It is adaptable either to 16 mm. or to 35 mm. film, has a curved gate, a variable aperture plate, and the pressure plate is recessed and blackened. The Debrie "Matipo" printer was remodeled to adapt it for printing sound and picture records simultaneously.[121] A new continuous printer designed by Lawley is available on the British market.

(Continued on page 33)

Research Blazes Trail for Higher Studio Standards

(Continued from page 32)

A novel feature is that only one tooth of the driving sprocket is in contact with the film while it passes the exposure aperture. The light intensity is magnetically controlled and the printing speed is 90 feet per minute.[122] Wolter[123] has described a German reduction printer in which a violet filter is employed between the light source and the 35 mm. film. A sensitometric device known as a "gammeter" permits the correct printing exposure for a given negative to be found by visual inspection.[124]

"Squeeze" Track Control

One of several problems connected with the reproduction of sound has been the proper control of sound level in the theatre. Much use and some abuse of fader control have resulted from efforts to correct for volume variations resulting from recording sound at different levels and which were not entirely smoothed out by re-recording. One studio has devised a "squeeze track" for the purpose of adjusting differences in sound level. This consists in blocking out part of the sound track by exposing it before development to a negative consisting of a black line of varying width from zero to the full track width. The positive sound track thus becomes a record of varying width contained between two black lines filling up the remaining space of the track on each side of the track itself which is in the center of the space.

Patents related to printing processes[125] disclosed, among others, the following methods: (a) a means of printing two rows of pictures on the same face of a film by printing, first, from every alternate frame of a negative and, subsequently, printing from the remaining frames; (b) synchronization of a positive film and a gramophone by printing markings between the pictures which bear a relationship to divisions on a counter geared with the gramophone; and (c) the use of an illuminating system for rapid printing which comprises an extended light source and a quartz block having curved sides which, by internal reflection, concentrate the light on a single printing point.

Editing and Splicing

A patch made of film support, 0.003 inch thick, was proposed by Crabtree and Ives[126] as a uniform and satisfactory method of blocking out splices on sound film. Equipment for cutting has been developed on a basis of the needs experienced for sound pictures and many of the make-shift devices are giving way to commercial products embodying the necessary features for handling sound films. Three designs of "Moviolas" are available for sound film editing: (a) a sound picture synchronizer for use with records on separate films, (b) a disc reproducer, and (c) an apparatus for use when sound and picture are on the same film. In the last named device, the film movement is continuous; a rotary shutter turns inside a cylindrical lamp housing around which the film passes.[127]

Richardson[128] has described a reduced speed motor driven rewinder devised by Slagle and Seckel which rewinds at 60 to 90 feet per minute. An automatic rewinding device described by Engelmann[129] in 1928, but not mentioned in previous reports, is of interest since the reels lie in a horizontal position. More recently the same author has given details of an expanding case for film rolls permitting quick removal or replacement.[130] Patent protection has been requested for a method of editing pictures and sound records, the latter being recorded magnetically on a steel wire.[131] Several other patents are recorded which relate to improvements in splicing apparatus.[132]

Theatre-Hotel

Sioux City—"Enjoy a comfortable and cool night's sleep," invites Mickey Gross, manager of the Sioux City, as he issued public invitations to anyone to "Pick up your bed and walk to the Sioux City theatre if you want to escape the terrific heat." Gross offered to permit anyone to use the theatre for sleeping purposes during the extremely hot weather.

"There are no restrictions whatever to this proposition," said Gross, "except that the person must bring his own cot."

Less Use for Titles

With the expanding use of sound film, the necessity for titles and titling machines has diminished considerably, although for silent releases and for non-theatrical films, titles still find an important application. A double titling machine made in Germany uses vapor arc lamps and has a capacity of 8,000 meters per eight hours.[133] Another German device for title making employs a projection lamp with a 235 mm. triple condenser for illumination of transparent titles.[134] Three patents were issued pertaining to methods of preparing title copy for photographing.[135]

After Treatment, Cleaning, Reclaiming and Storage

A comprehensive discourse was published by Wiegleb[136] on methods of sulfide toning which included a review of all articles and patents with references. The chemistry of many selenium compounds and their suitability for toning purposes was treated by Sedlaczek.[137] Directions for the use of a dye mordanting formula containing copper sulfocyanide were published by Namias.[138]

Sound record prints may be lubricated satisfactorily, according to Crabtree, Sandvik, and Ives,[139] by applying a thin coating of a solution of paraffin wax in carbon tetrachloride along the edges of the film in the perforation area. Film will have a minimum tendency to accumulate scratches, dirt, and finger marks, which in turn cause ground noise, if edge waxed and buffed after applying a 1 per cent solution of cantol wax to the entire emulsion surface. A description has been published of a film cleaning and treating machine which processes 2,000 meters of film per hour.[140]

Several processes[141] for film preservation have been exploited for which various claims are stated, such as increasing the flexibility of the film, reducing its tendency to become scratched or buckled, and generally increasing its useful life. Another process is particularly recommended for revivifying old films by a method of cleaning, brushing, and resurfacing with a chemical treatment to eliminate scratches and abrasions. No technical details have been published on the chemicals employed.

One patent of three issued, dealing with cleaning and conditioning processes, describes a method for the treatment of a sound record to eliminate "parasitic noise" during reproduction.[142]

As a result of a serious studio fire in the East and a laboratory fire on the West Coast during 1929, a great deal of pressure was brought to bear on all laboratories to increase their safeguards for fire prevention. Even before the two fires, however, a committee of representatives from all laboratories was appointed by Will Hays to work with the National Board of Fire Underwriters to revise the code of recommended practice for laboratory requirements. This committee has not completed its investigation but is expected to report within the next few months.

Incandescents in Demand, S.M.P.E. Survey Reveals

The characteristics of nitrocellulose films which may undergo flameless combustion at 150° C. have been discussed by a well-known Federal chemist.[143] Contact with an electric lamp, a heated steam coil, a hot wire, or a burning cigarette, may ignite such film. Directions for the construction of storage vaults for safe storage of this material have been published by Brown.[144] A German film safe is composed of a series of sliding drawers which may be stacked on top of each other and side by side in sections.[145] Additional containers for film reels have been patented.[146]

References

56 Eveleigh, L.: Bioscope, 79 (June 19, 1929), p. ix; ibid, 80 (July 24, 31, 1929), pp. iii and iii.
57 Kinotechnik, 11 (June 20, 1929), p. 333.
58 Licht Bild Bühne, 22 (May 18, 1929), p. 20.
59 Gordon, N. T.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Mar., 1930), p. 332.
60 Richardson, E.: Internat. Phot., 1 (Dec., 1929), p. 22.
61 Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Mar., 1930), p. 22.
62 Buck, O. K., and Albert, J. C.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Apr., 1930), p. 399.
63 Filmtechnik, 5 (Mar. 16 and Aug. 3, 1929), pp. 109 and 369; also Kinotechnik, 11 (May 20 and Sept. 5, 1929), pp. 274 and 469.
64 Patzelt, F.: Kinotechnik, 11 (Aug. 20 and Oct. 5, 1929), pp. 434 and 513; Reeb, O.: ibid., 11 (Dec. 5, 1929), p. 635.
65 Clerc, L. P.: Sci. Ind. Phot., 9 (July, 1929), p. 75.
66 Abadie, M.: Sci. Ind. Phot., 1, 2nd Series (Apr., 1930), p. 158.
67 Benford, F.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Apr., 1930), p. 404.
68 Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Sept., 1929), p. 22.
69 Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Nov., 1929), p. 13.
70 Lloyd, H.: Hollywood, 18 (Nov., 1929), p. 14.
71 Ex. Herald-World, 97 (Nov. 2, 1929), p. 36; Mot. Pict. News, 40 (Oct. 19, 1929), p. 26.
72 Stull, W.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Mar., 1930), p. 318.
73 Hutchins, G. F.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Apr., 1930), p. 377.
74 Soissac, G. M.: Cineopse, 12 (Jan., 1930), p. 47.
75 Seeber, G., Filmtechnik, 5 (June 22, 1929), p. 261.
76 U. S. Pats. Re. 17,330 of 1,589,731; 1,729,617; Ger. Pats. 474,649; 475,091; Brit. Pats. 318,838; 321,436; Fr. Pats. 644,518; 657,029.
77 Gaumont, L.: Bull soc. franc. phot., 16 (Mar., 1929), p. 62; also Rider, J. F.: MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 39 (Mar. 2, 1929), p. 627.
78 Messter, O.: Kinotechnik, 11 (Nov. 20, 1929), p. 592.
79 Ex. Herald-World, 98 (Mar. 8, 1930), p. 18.
80 Filmtechnik, 5 (Apr. 27, 1929), pp. 171 and 173.
81 Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Mar., 1930), p. 18.
82 Bull. Acad. Mot. Pict. Arts and Sciences, No. 30 (Apr. 18, 1930), p. 5.
83 Bull. Acad. Mot. Pict. Arts and Sciences, No. 29 (Feb. 27, 1930), p. 29.
84 Film Daily, 51 (Mar. 30, 1930), p. 6.
85 Ex. Herald-World, 97 (Dec. 14, 1930), p. 39.
86 Jones, H. W.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Feb., 1930), p. 204.
87 Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Feb., 1930), p. 29.
88 Eisenberg, J. G.: Projection Eng., 1 (Nov., 1929), p. 22.
89 Coffman, J. W.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Feb., 1930), p. 172.
90 Maxfield, J. P.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Jan., 1930), p. 85.
91 Friess, H.: Filmtechnik, 5 (Aug. 3, 1929), p. 332.
92 MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 41 (Feb. 22, 1930), p. 28.
93 Filmtechnik, 5 (Sept. 14, 1929), p. 407; also Kinemat. Weekly, 152 (Oct. 31, 1929), p. 55.
94 Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Dec., 1929), p. 35.
95 Filmtechnik, 5 (Oct. 12, 1929), p. 447.
96 Knowles, H. S.: Ex. Herald-World, 97, Sect. 2 (Oct. 26, 1929), p. 43.
97 Rochester Times-Union, 12 (Jan. 24, 1930).
98 Borchardt, C.: Filmtechnik, 5 (Apr. 27, 1929), p. 181.
99 Eveleigh, L.: Bioscope, 80 (June 26 and July 3, 1929), pp. iii and vii.
100 Ex. Herald-World, 96, Sec. 1 (Sept. 28, 1929), p. 36.
101 Internat. Phot., 1 (Jan., 1930), p. 30.
102 Palmer, M. W.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Mar., 1930), p. 327.
103 Gaumont, L.: Bull. soc. franc. phot., 16 (Mar., 1929), p. 59.
104 Seeber, G.: Phot. Ind., 27 (Apr. 3, 1929), p. 389.

(Continued on page 34)

Invasion of Duluth by R-K-O, Warners is Seen

Duluth—Warners and R-K-O or both are reported seeking a foothold here via the Blackmore string of houses. The Blackmores are planning a 900-seat house, which gave rise to reports that Warner or R-K-O or both are backing the Blackmores. Publix has Duluth sewed up, except for the Blackmore and J. B. Clinton houses.

Film Houses Can Play "All Quiet" at $1.50 Top

With all scheduled $2 showings in wired Shubert houses already opened, "U" now is booking "All Quiet on the Western Front" to picture theatres which agree to advance to $1.50 top. The first of these showings are at the Strand, Far Rockaway, L. I., and Binghamton, Binghamton, N. Y.

Raymaker To Direct Serial

Herman Raymaker is to direct the Rin-Tin-Tin serial, "The Lone Defender," which Mascot Pictures will make, states President Nat Levine. The chapter play, to be made on the Coast, will be the first of three that Mascot will make for 1930-31 release. The others are: "The Phantom of the West," starring Tom Tyler, and "The King of the Wild," a wild animal picture.

Levy Gets Pathe Office

George L. Levy, for six years with Pathe and Associated Exhibitors, has been named manager of the Indianapolis Pathe Exchange, in an appointment just announced. The company has transferred the Pittsburgh office to the Central division, which is headed by Harry D. Graham.

Cinnamond Expands

Madrid—Cinnamond Films, of Barcelona, have opened exchanges in five key cities, Madrid, Valencia, Bilbao, Seville and Barcelona. This organization distributes Pathe's entire product in Spain.

Heads New Department

Universal City—Robert Wyler heads a new department at Universal to assist authors and playwrights to develop story ideas.

Talk with Feature Action

Graham McNamee, talking reporter for Universal's newspaper reel, dramatizes events in the company's feature, "The White Hell of Pitz Palu."

New P. A. Merger

Hollywood—A new free lance publicity firm has opened offices at Tec Art Studios under name of Associated Publicists. Bill Henry, Bill Wise and Milton Watt comprise the firm.

Fox Builds in Wichita

Wichita, Kan.—Fox Mid-West is slated to build a $100,000 house here. A site at 308 East Douglas Ave. has been leased.

Theme Bans "White Cargo"

Richmond—"White Cargo" has been banned by Virginia censors because of its inter-racial marriage theme.

S. M. P. E. References Used in Progress Report

(Continued from page 33)

105 Crawford, M.: Internat. Phot. Bull. (March, 1930), p. 20.
106 U. S. Pats. 1,715,863; 1,718,618; 1,719,462; 1,722,088; 1,736,139; Canad. Pat. 291,386; Brit. Pats. 310,933; 312,161; 313,536; 314,003; 314,095; 315,562; 315,754; 315,842; 316,171; 316,484; 317,735; 318,143; 318,508; 319,246; 319,373; 319,280; 319,913; 320,431; 320,653; 320,872; Fr. Pats. 649,368; 658,552.
107 Ex. Herald-World, 97 (Oct. 5, 1929), p. 36; also Internat. Phot., 1 (Feb., 1930), p. 35.
108 Grafmaun, J.: Filmtechnik, 4 (Nov. 10, 1928), p. 437.
109 Year Book of Motion Pictures, Film Daily, N. Y. (1930), p. 893.
110 Conklin, O. E.: Internat. Phot., 1 (Feb., 1930), p. 22.
111 Phot. Ind., 26 (July 18, 1928), p. 751.
112 Wolter, K.: Film fur Alle, 3 (July, 1929), p. 199.
113 U. S. Pats. 1,716,441; 1,723,950; 1,726,834; Ger. Pat. 483,895; Fr. Pats. 649,135; 650,123.
114 Dundon, M. L., Brown, G. H., and Capstaff, J. G.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (April, 1930), p. 389.
115 Forstmann, W., and Lux, A.: Filmtechnik, 36 (June 25, 1929), p. 244.
116 Hamer, F. M.: Phot. J., 69 (Nov., 1929), p. 479.
117 Heering, W.: Photofreund, 9 (Nov. 5, 1929), p. 416.
118 Phot. J., 69 (July, 1929), pp. 310 and 314.
119 Crabtree, J. I., and Ross, J. F.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (April, 1930), p. 419.
120 Goff, D. J.: Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Jan., 1930), p. 201.
121 Coissac, G. M.: Cineopse, 12 (Jan., 1930), p. 47.
122 Eveleigh, L.: Bioscope, 80 (Aug. 14, 1929), p. iii.
123 Wolter, K.: Filmtechnik, 5 (Oct. 26, 1929), p. 453.
124 Hoke, I. B.: Internat. Phot., 1 (May, 1929), p. 6.
125 U. S. Pats. 1,718,037; 1,721,202; 1,724,933; 1,725,944; 1,729,867; Brit. Pats. 316,623; 318,688; 319,660; Fr. Pats. 640,510; 650,904; 654,253; Ger. Pat. 478,616.
126 Crabtree, J. I., and Ives, C. E.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Mar., 1930), p. 349.
127 Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Feb., 1930), p. 33.
128 Richardson, F. H.: Ex. Herald-World, 98, Sect. 2 (Mar. 15, 1930), p. 50.
129 Engelmann, M.: Filmtechnik, 4 (Apr. 14, 1928), p. 140.
130 Licht Bild Bühne, 22 (July 6, 1929), p. 15.
131 Brit. Pat. 319,679.
132 U. S. Pats. 1,714,605; 1,716,879; 1,727,349; 1,728,349; 1,729,660; 1,732,755; 1,734,140; 1,734,142; Ger. Pats. 476,204; 476,302; Fr. Pat. 658,395; Brit. Pat. 320,058.
133 Filmtechnik, 4 (June 23, 1928), p. 246).
134 Filmtechnik, 5 (Feb. 16, 1929), p. 69.
135 Ger. Pats. 473,626; 473,717; 474,402.
136 Wiegleb, P.: Brit. J. Phot., 76 (June 14, 21 and 28, 1929), pp. 344,363, and 375.
137 Sedlaczek, A.: Brit. J. Phot., 75 (Dec. 28, 1928), p. 784; ibid., 75 (Jan. 4, 18 and 25, 1929), pp. 4, 29 and 41.
138 Namias, R.: Il prog. fot., 35 (1928), pp. 19, 109 and 145.
139 Crabtree, J. I., Sandvik, O., and Ives, C. E.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Mar., 1930), p. 275.
140 Filmtechnik, 5 (Mar. 16, 1929), p. 110.
141 Motion Picture News, 39 (May 4, 1929), p. 1496; also Film Daily, 51 (Jan. 22, 1930), p. 1; Mot. Pict. Projectionist, 3 (Feb., 1930), p. 41; and Amer. Phot., 23 (Sept., 1929), p. 501.
142 Brit. Pat. 313,906; U. S. Pat. 1,716,878; Fr. Pat. 653,955.
143 Motion Picture News, 40 (Dec. 28, 1929), p. 22.
144 Brown, C. R.: Safety Engineering (Aug., 1929), p. 65.
145 Licht Bild Bühne, 22 (Apr. 20, 1929), p. 24.
146 U. S. Pat. 1,726,573; Fr. Pat. 656,470.

Warners Get Interest In Springfield Houses

Springfield, O.—Fifty per cent of the stock in the Fairbanks, Majestic and Regent-State theatres here has passed into possession of Warners, it is reported.

Amusement Park Sound System Stirs Showman

Columbus—Theatre owners here are hot and bothered over installation of sound equipment at Olentangi Park, outdoor amusement park, feeling this offers a dangerous form of competition. Max Stern and Elmer Haenlein operate the resort.

Films for National Theatre

Ottawa—Pictures would be included in presentations scheduled at the proposed 2,000-seat National Theatre. Funds have been raised for the building and the Government has donated a downtown site.

Logue Resigns as "U" Scenario Chieftan

Hollywood—Charles Logue, writer and for several months Universal scenario department head has resigned. No successor has been named.

David Broekman, director general of music at Universal during the past year, also leaves this week on completion of his contract with the organization. Broekman is reported to have left because of the rearranged production schedule for the coming year which limits the number of pictures requiring music.

Two Fox Men Honored

C. E. Hilgers, Dallas, and Booker Ben Dare of Denver are the first field men to qualify for membership in the Fox 1930-31 Hall of Merit, Hilgers, because his Dallas exchange led the field in the first four weeks of selling and Ben Dare for the part he played in bringing the Jimmy Grainger Week championship to the Denver branch for the third successive year.

Iowa Houses Change Hands

Des Moines—Several Iowa theatres to change hands this week were the Rialto at Scranton, transferred from O. E. Holmes to O. A. Unz, formerly an exhibitor in Minnesota, and the Princess at Livermore, sold by R. Weber to Mrs. F. E. Collins, who is the owner of the building which houses the theatre. She plans to take active management again.

Handling "U." Sound Track

Minneapolis—Ted Karatz, manufacturer and distributor of Ultraphone disc device, is taking over distribution of Universal sound track in this territory. The deal was closed recently with W. G. Ranels, sales manager for Universal Sound Systems, Philadelphia.

Two New Paramount Officers

Joseph H. Seidelman, assistant manager of the foreign department, and Walter B. Cokell, head of the budget and statistical division of the treasury department, have been named assistant secretaries of Paramount Publix.

West Coast Rebuilding

Denver—Premiere opening of the rejuvenated Queen is planned by West Coast theatres for the fall, when practically a new structure will be completed on the site of the house which fire destroyed several months ago.

Seek Advertising Censors

Sydney-Censorship of film posters and newspaper advertisements is being sought by Australian reformers.

"U" Signs Mary Duncan

Hollywood—Mary Duncan has been signed by Universal for the leading feminine role in "Boudoir Diplomat," adapted from "The Command to Love."

Wallace Gets Assignment

Richard Wallace is to direct Ruth Chatterton's next picture for Paramount, "The Right to Love."

THE SHOWMAN

SECTION OF MOTION PICTURE NEWS

AUGUST 2, 1930

PRESENTING

THEATRE FASHIONS FOR 1930

In Denver, a house with a facade in Mayan architecture. In Los Angeles, one built a la a French chateau.

In Salem, Massachusetts, a theatre to blend with the architecture of the town and in Sydney, Australia an outstanding example of the Spanish-type house with its brilliant coloring and splatterings of colorful tile. The new order of the day in theatre building as exemplified in the construction activities of important circuits.

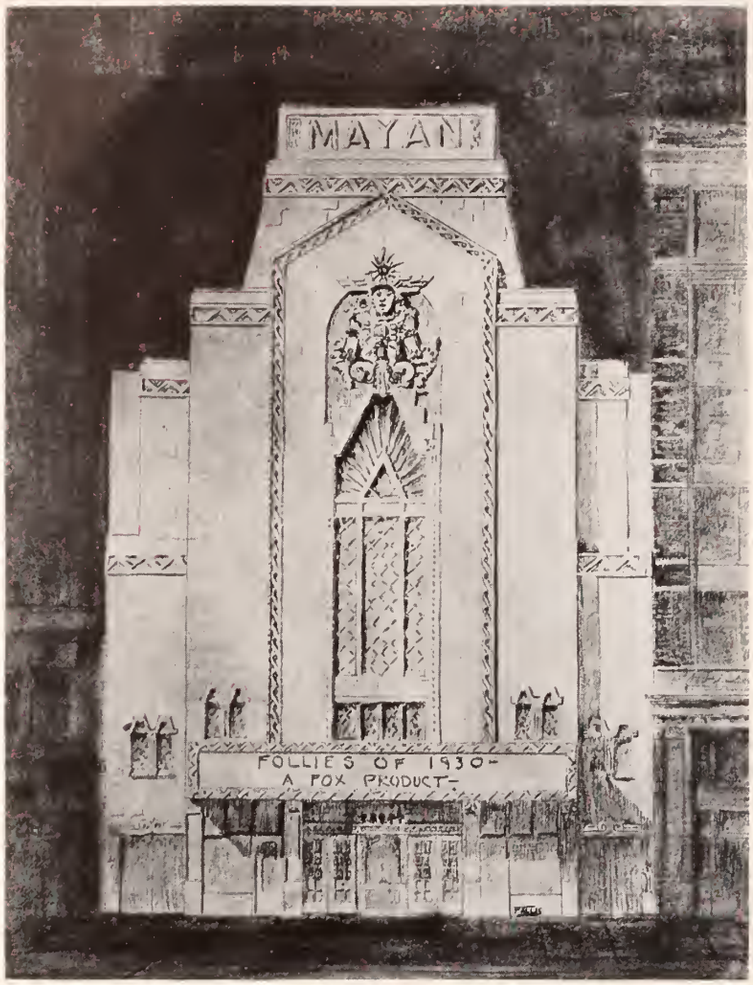
HOW AN INDEPENDENT DID IT

Will Horwitz, Texas showman, smiled at his chain competition, put on his thinking cap and gave the boys a run for their money. He tells how he did it in this issue.

LUMINOUS LIGHTS IN THEATRE LIGHTING

Ever hear of it for interior effects? It takes a house in New Zealand to demonstrate that an innovation or two in showmanship is still left for the enterprising.

SKELETONS AND A NEW THEATRE



They kept the walls and the old steel work and around both are building a de luxe theatre. Right on Broadway, too. R-K-O is providing an answer to a problem facing many showmen. Don't pass this up.

ALSO

John F. Rider's tenth lesson in the Projectionists' Round Table series . . . . Ray Belmont Whitman on what and what not to do in filing patents; also descriptions of newly patented devices . . . New equipment, who is sponsoring it and how it works . . . David Sarnoff who comforts by declaring television will never replace the theatre.

THE SHOWMAN section, a special department devoted to the equipment, building and operation of the theatre plant, is published once a month as a regular feature of MOTION PICTURE NEWS. MOTION PICTURE NEWS Publication, Editorial and General Offices: 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City. Thomas C. Kennedy, Manager of Equipment Advertising. Chicago Office: Harry E. Holquist. Central West Representative, 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Phones Harrison 2431. Los Angeles Office: Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood.

What Fashions Decree for '30

Denver—The Queen, which burned some time ago, emerges in the fall as the Mayan with its facade in that type of architecture. Acoustically, Fox West Coast Theatres will treat this house with a plaster said to kill echoes and rebounds. A stage and a capacity of 1,200 figure in the plans. Architect: M. S. Fallis of Denver

Pomona, Cal.—How Balch and Stanbery, California architects, envision the Fox theatre planned for Pomona. Long and low in conformity with the general architecture of Southern California, the tower of the proposed house will dominate the structure

Los Angeles—Loge seats only will be one feature of the Fox Los Feliz, to be built in the French drawing room style. Landscaping of grounds around the theatre will be a feature and foliage and trees will be planted in abundance. Capacity: 900. Location: Vermont and Franklin Avenues. Architects: Morgan, Walls and Clements

Los Angeles—Another Fox West Coast venture. To the left is Boller Brothers' study of the Stadium Theatre to be built at Robertson Boulevard and Pico Street. This will be one of the few stadium-type houses in Southern California

Blends Theatre With Its Town

The Paramount at Salem, Massachusetts is in the rear of the building here illustrated and is reached by a long lobby. C. W. and George L. Rapp, who designed the theatre, endeavored to fit the house into the existing style of architecture prevailing in the town. Therefore, many Colonial features are included in the decorative scheme.

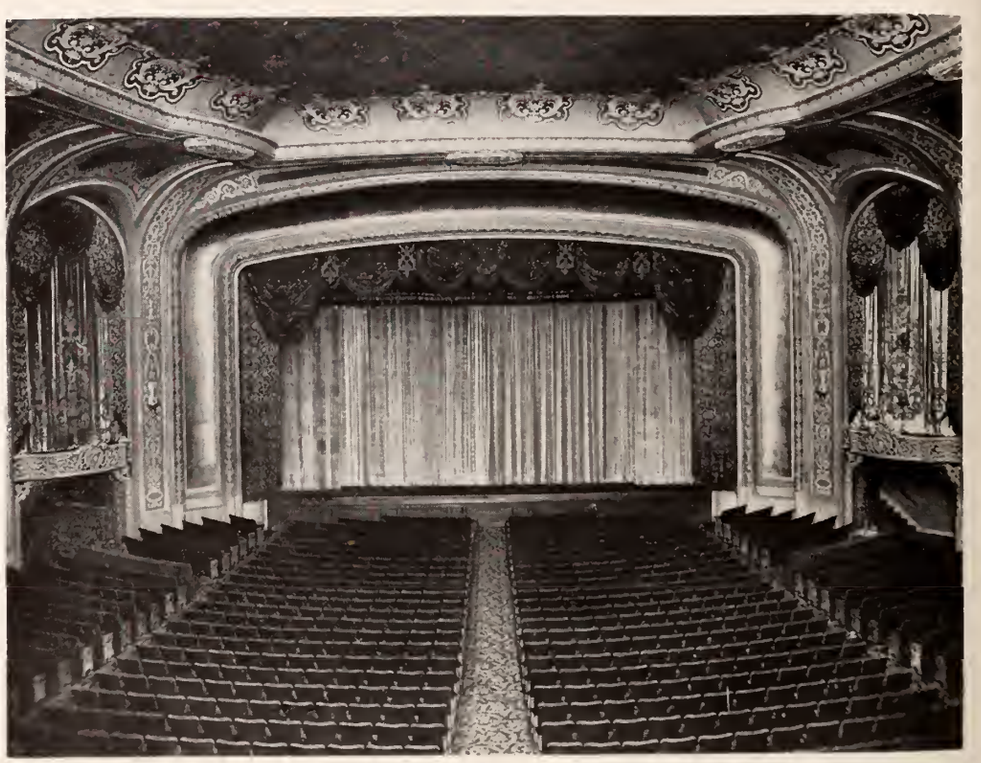
SALEM, Mass.—Paramount Publix has added to its long chain of theatres an interesting project located at Essex near St. Peters Street.

Capacity of this new house is 2,215 seats, with 1,766 on the main floor and the small balcony seating 449.

The entrance to the theatre is reached by a long lobby which goes through an existing building. The main front of the existing building remains without any changes with the exception that the entrance to the theatre has been enhanced by marbles, canopy signs, electrical appliances, etc. In other words, the main theatre sets at the rear of the existing building and utilizes what was waste property which did not bring in revenue.

The auditorium, in design, carries the influence of the refined French Renaissance, but at the same time has the spirit of the Colonial features, such as the grand lobby and the ticket lobby. It has been in the mind of the architects to conform in some respects to the existing style of architecture at Salem.

Prepared for Wide Film



A small stage and sound room have been designed so as to make provisions for an enlarged screen and also to contain equipment for stage presentations. Space has been allotted at one end of the stage for switchboard and other mechanical equipment.

The entire auditorium has been decorated in colors and ornament has been treated by stencil work and brought out in the effects of relief, and is surrounded by a dome illuminated by various colors blended harmoniously with the color treatment of the side walls and proscenium arch.

The foyer at the back of the auditorium is of ample size and is treated in a way to act more or less of a combination between a grand lobby and foyer. Two stairways will take patrons to the foyer at the mezzanine level which is likewise treated in a spacious way. Decoration of the two foyers is refined in color and has been furnished to carry out the uniform style and treatment harmonizing with the balance of the theatre.

Lobby Like a Salon

The grand lobby has been designed and decorated to give one the effect of a large salon. The introduction of shadow boxes at the side walls and over the entrances to the lobby from the street is an added feature.

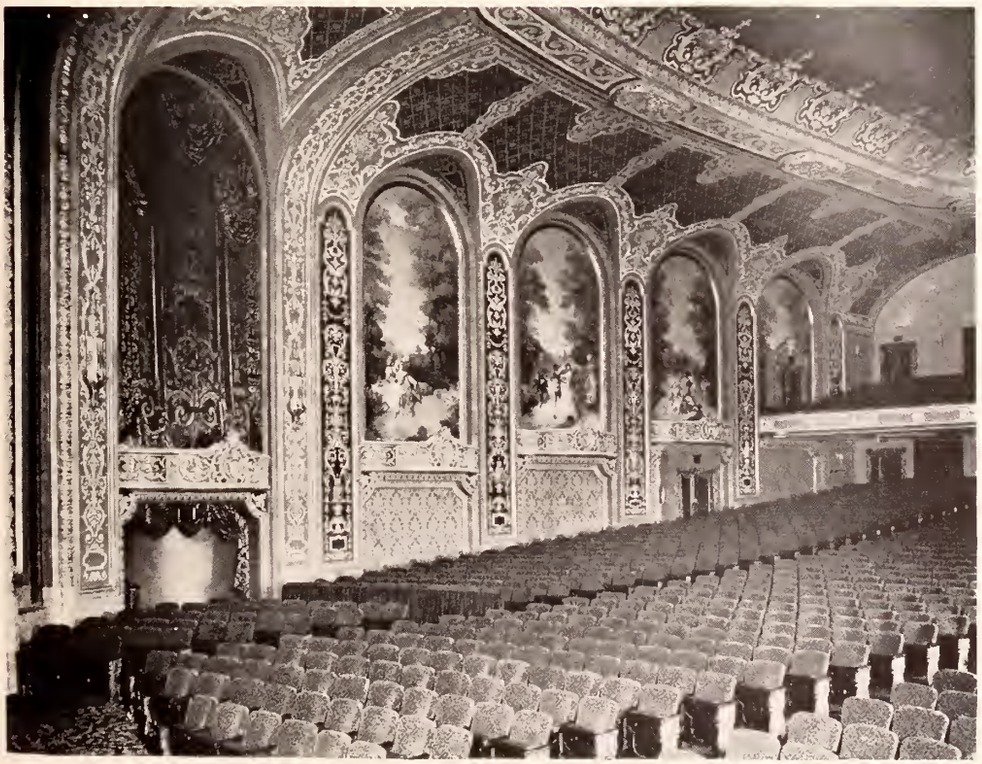
A long shot of the auditorium of the Paramount. In design, it carries the influence of the refined French Renaissance. The stage is sufficiently large to accommodate wide film if and when Publix is ready to introduce it. Space has been left on either side of the stage for a switchboard and other equipment necessary in the exhibition of wide-angled pictures.

Lighting fixtures have been designed in a modernized style to harmonize with the respective places for which they serve.

Retiring rooms, such as the smoking rooms and the lounges, etc., are decorated in colorful treatments. It was the aim of the architects in planning this particular type of theatre to make it as homelike and attractive in appearance as possible.

This particular theatre is one of a series of smaller type houses now being planned by C. W. & Geo. L. Rapp. In each one the architects have taken into consideration the community in which it is being built and have studied the customs of the people and the particular thoughts and styles of their architecture. Although the Salem house may be classed as a medium-sized theatre, it has practically all the mechanical equipment, such as electrical heating plant and cooling system to be found in a deluxe house of a larger type. No expense was spared by the owners in giving to the people of Salem exactly what they would find in larger houses.

Vision Unimpaired



In design, the mezzanine proper has been kept toward the rear of the auditorium which enables practically all those seated on the first floor to get a full view of the decorations in the side walls and the ceiling. The mezzanine does not in any way cut off or impair the sight lines or views from the patrons of the main floor. At the side walls of the auditorium are built-in features which have been used for illuminating decorations by the introduction of Cutler units which can be regulated to give soft tones. By the addition of these units, lighting fixtures have been more or less subdued and give a softer light.

Draperies and period furniture have played an interesting part and have been carefully selected to harmonize with the surrounding architectural detail.

Throughout the theatre, especially in the lobby and foyers, use of mirrors play an important part. They are interesting in detail, have a tendency of increasing the size of the respective rooms and give interesting vistas of the theatre from various angles.

The left wall of the auditorium illustrating the French Renaissance motif in the decorations of the panels. Lighting units, built into the wall, make it possible to soften the illumination and obtain subdued effects.

The lobby which connects what was an existing building front with the theatre itself. Note its unusual length and the richness in effect achieved by the carpet design.

The Antipodes Turn Spanish

The Spanish-type theatre at its best. Hoyt's Plaza at Sydney, Australia, is a one-floor house with balconettes, showing on the left and right of the stage, from which guitar players provide an atmospheric musical interlude prior to each performance

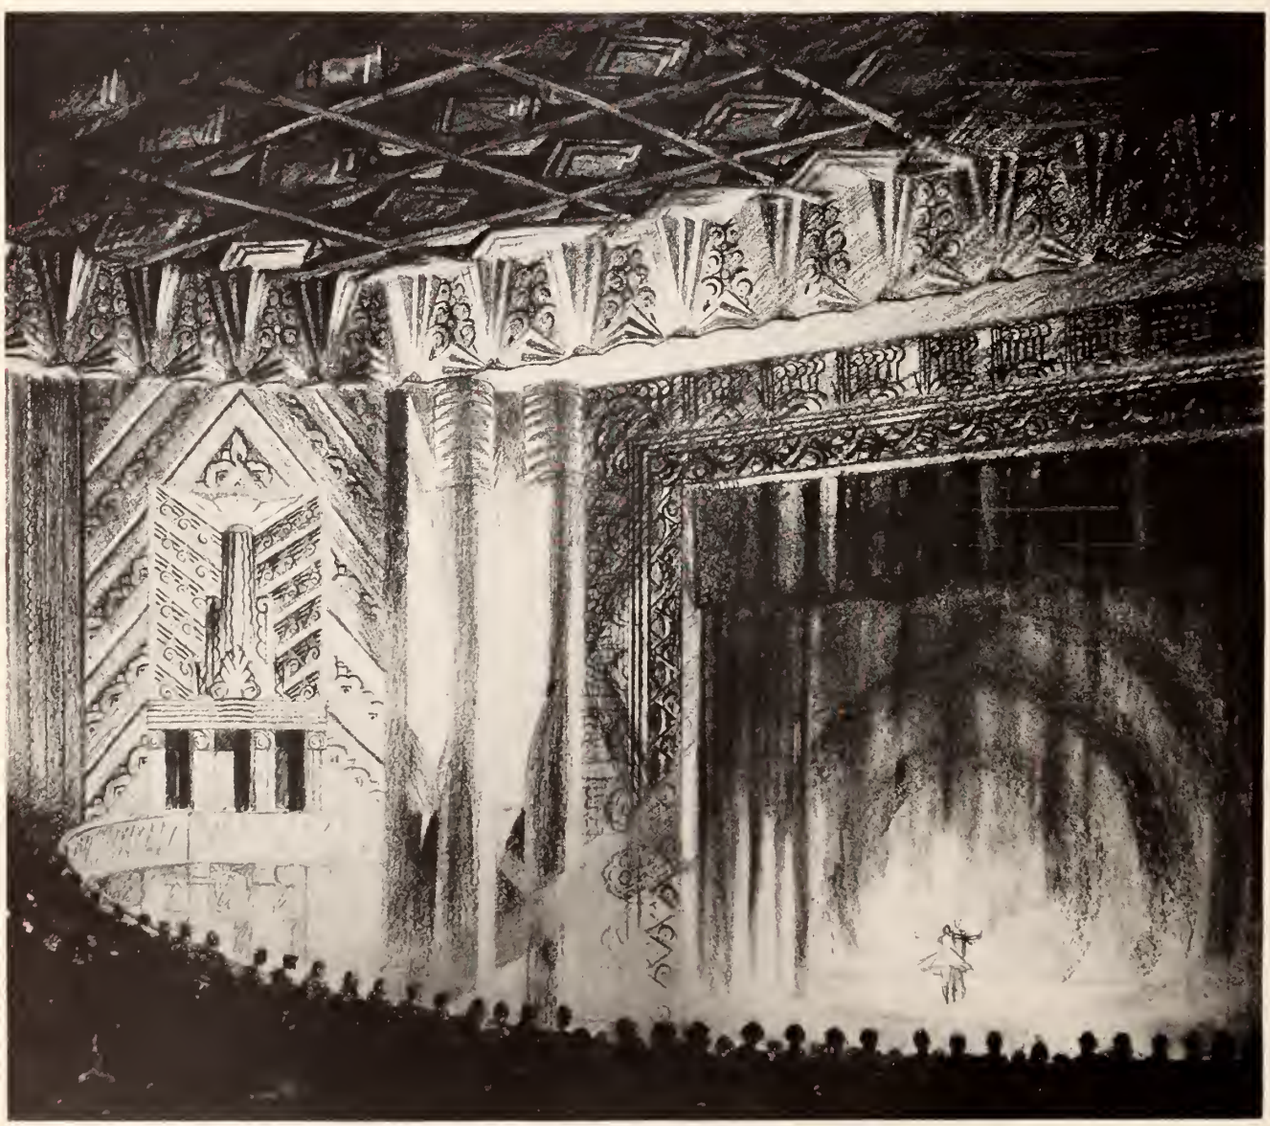
One of the rest rooms. The motif is carried out carefully and with the effective results this illustration reveals. The beamed ceiling, in contrasting color with the remainder of the room, lends an interesting touch

The orchestra from the left. Note the detail of the frieze below the projection booth on the upper left, the chairs and the successful use of colored tiling on the raftered ceiling. The plastic decorations are in Craftex

One view of the lobby. Terrazo and mosaic tile work, conceived by John Foster of Boston, plays an important part in the decorative conception. The usherettes wear ankle length costumes of red velvet and black lace, relieved by yellow flowers at the waist

An excellent illustration of the careful attention paid to detail at the new Plaza. This photographic study tells its own story. The one missing factor are the colors in which the original is designed

An Australian theatre that rivals any of its American competitors is Hoyt's Plaza at Sydney. The new house, built on the site of the old Colonial, is a fine example of the Spanish-type theatre. The facade, illustrated here, is in colored and colorful tile



Modernism Is The Keynote

Study of proposed Fox theatre for Billings, Montana, plans for which are being drawn by Robert Reamer, Seattle architect. The house will seat 1,760, be modern in treatment and cost $250,000.

Modernism will prevail throughout at the Fox in Billings. The stage will be designed to accommodate flesh and blood attractions and will be large enough for a Grandeur screen

Distributor of the World's Best Theatre Equipment

COMPLETE LINE OF THEATRE EQUIPMENT

INSTALLATIONS GUARANTEED

EXPERT ENGINEERING SERVICE

SERVICE AT ALL HOURS

OFFICES IN ALL CITIES

Fulco Service

It is the hope and purpose of the Fulton Company to encourage and maintain lasting relations of a satisfying kind with all whom we contact.

We aim to handle inquiries and orders with a manner and measure of service which supplies the information asked for or the goods wanted promptly and exactly as specified.

Our facilities for serving you are now greater than at any time in the past.

We have achieved closer contacts and better service arrangements with leading makers of Theatre Equipment and Supplies; with Designers, Decorators and others; and through this special cooperation, any Fulton branch can now more fully concentrate upon your inquiries.

It is largely because of these affiliations that we feel justified in urging your consideration of our Single Contract, Single Responsibility plan of purchase if you are in the market for a variety of theatre goods.

It embodies a solid guarantee to protect you.

C. H. FULTON
President.

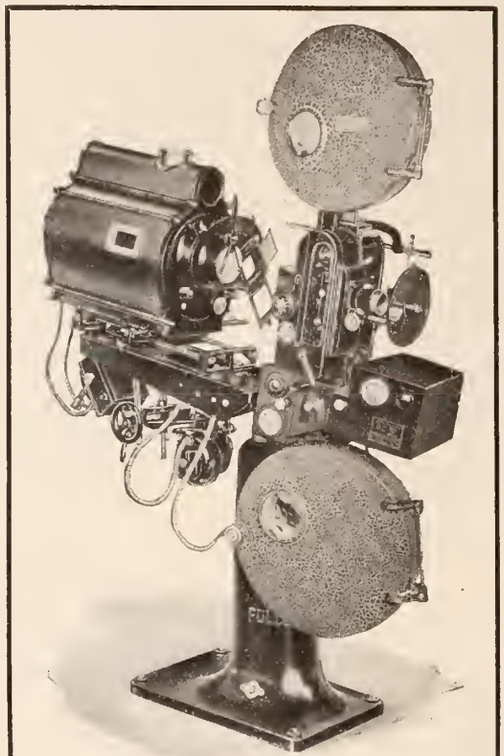
E. E. FULTON CO.

FULCO

BRANCHES IN ALL KEY CITIES

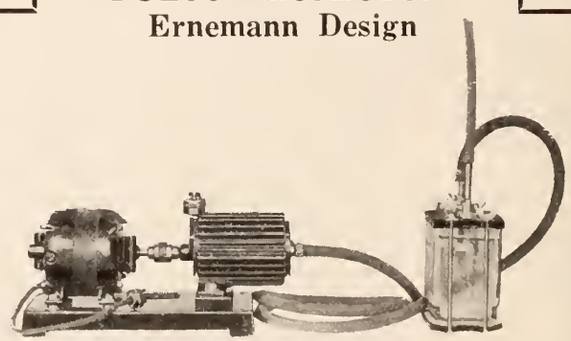
CHICAGO

WORLDS BEST THEATRE EQUIPMENT



Present day projection arc lamps employ more amperage than formerly, and competent engineers predict much heavier currents because of insistent demand for more light to meet the need of larger pictures and to overcome film density, color and "sound" screen porosity. As amperage rises, film heat difficulties and dangers increase.

Be Prepared



JUST REMEMBER — the Fulco Projector is the ONLY MACHINE built to function with the ONLY SYSTEM ever invented that really and completely solves the aperture heat problem—no matter how heavy the lamp amperage—and prevents film warping, buckling, drying, ignition.

The Fulco Moist Air Film Cooler is a complete, separate unit and may be added to Fulco Projector installation at any time.

BE PREPARED—
EQUIP WITH FULCO PROJECTORS

FULCO PROJECTOR
Ernemann Design

FULCO Moist Air Film Cooling Apparatus

E. E. FULTON COMPANY

Executive Headquarters: 1018 So. Wabash Ave., CHICAGO

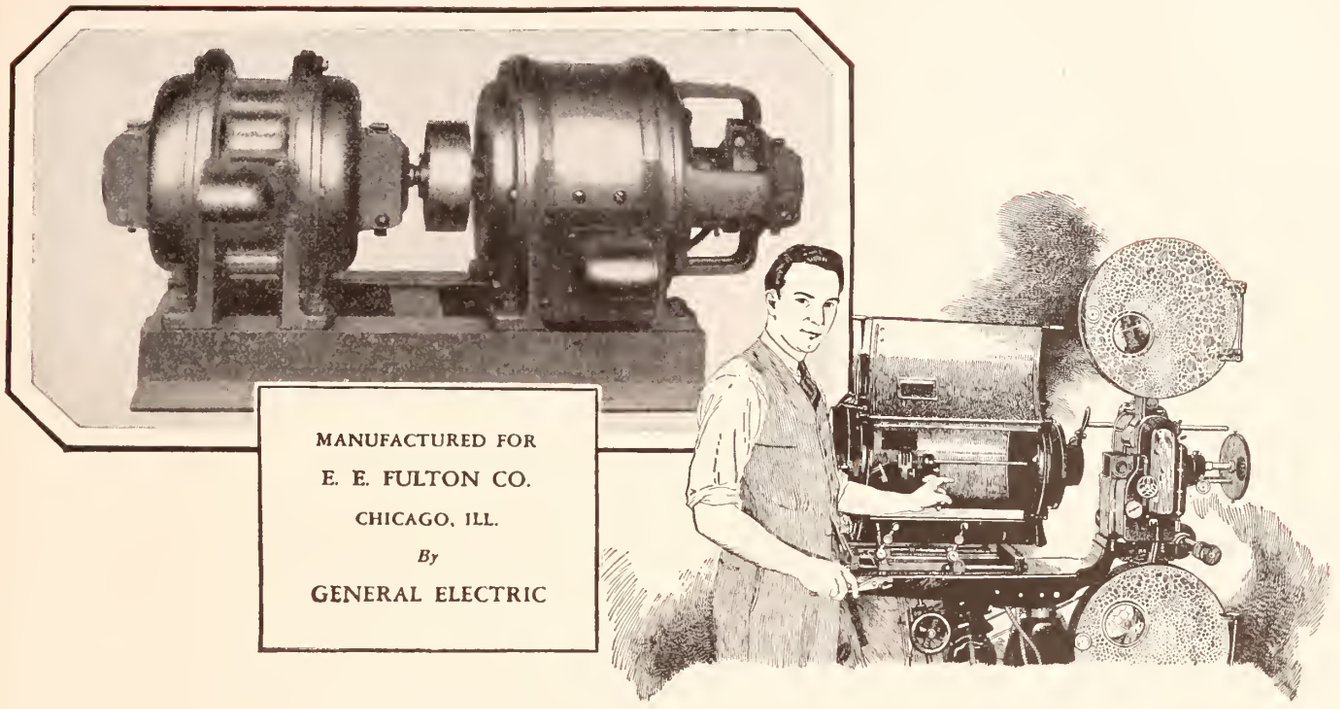
C. H. FULTON
President

CHICAGO—1018 So. Wabash Ave.
NEW YORK—115 W. 45th St.
BOSTON—65 Broadway
PHILADELPHIA—1337 Vine St.

A. G. JARMIN
Treasurer

BRANCHES

ATLANTA—146 Walton St.
LOS ANGELES—Film Ex. Bldg.
Factory—2001 So. California Ave., Chicago, Ill.



F. A. VAN HUSAN
Vice-Pres. and Sales Mgr.

ST. LOUIS—3232 Olive St.
MILWAUKEE—151 Seventh St.
INDIANAPOLIS—340 S. Illinois St.
SAN FRANCISCO—255 Golden Gate Ave.

FULCO

E.E FULTON COMPANY, COAST to COAST DISTRIBUTORS

WORLDS BEST THEATRE EQUIPMENT

There's a G-E motor-generator set to meet every power requirement

Select the right-size G-E motor-generator set for your projection needs. Remember, the right size is also the most efficient size.

But regardless of the size you select, you are assured of the same steady, quiet, vibrationless operation that has helped make G-E motor-generator sets the standard of dependability wherever motion pictures are shown.

As exclusive distributor of G-E motor-generator sets in the theatre field, the E. E. Fulton Company, will gladly furnish complete information on this line. Or, if more convenient, address your inquiry to the nearest G-E office.

150-11

GENERAL ELECTRIC

FULCO

E.E FULTON COMPANY, COAST to COAST DISTRIBUTORS

WORLDS BEST THEATRE EQUIPMENT

WHEN SUMMER IS GONE.....

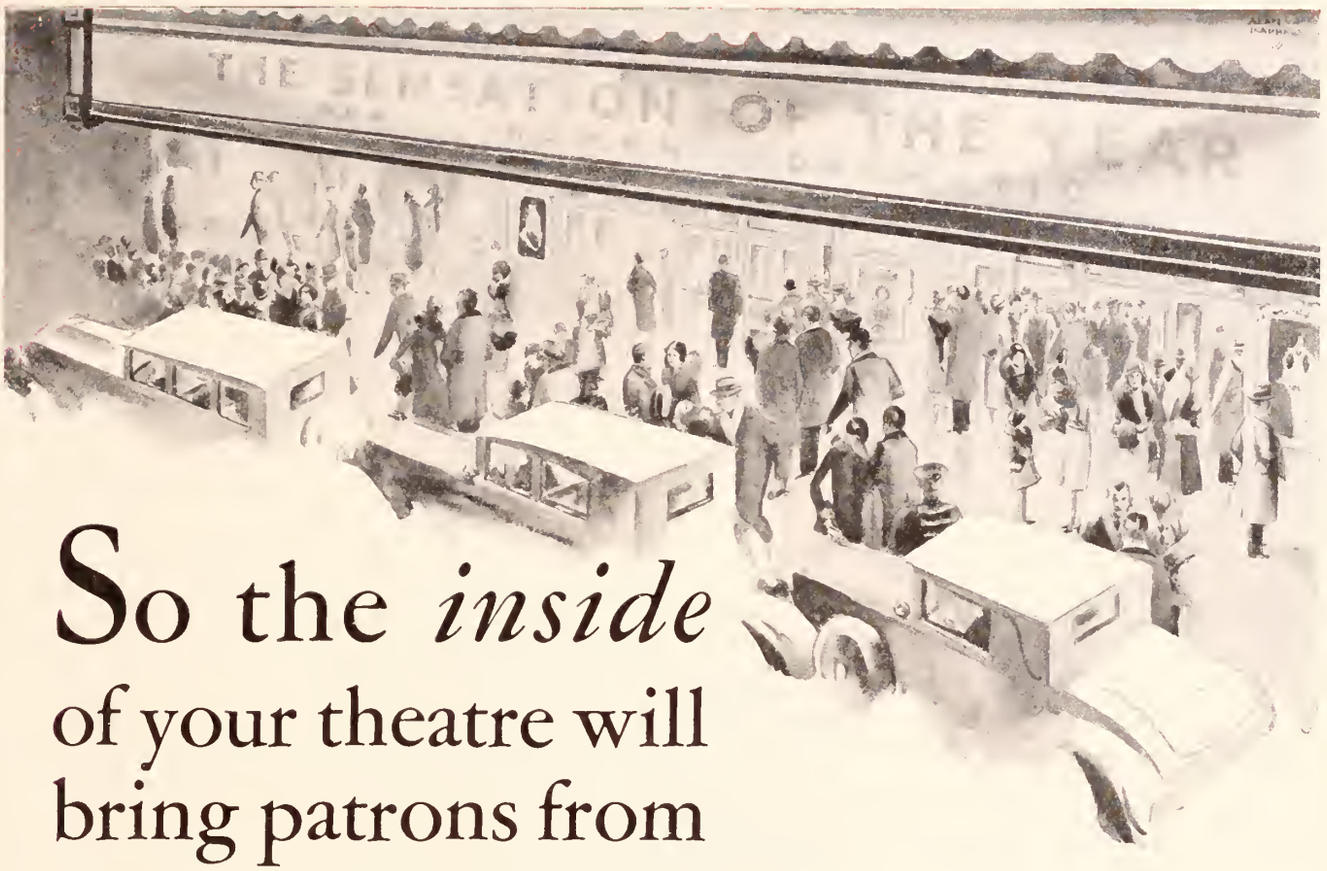
and cool autumn nights arrive once more you will naturally expect to see a lot of familiar faces at your box office window,—faces which have been absent most of the summer. What have you done during the slack period to make the old show shop look good and inviting to this bunch of absentees and returned vacationists who will soon be at your door, ready and eager to slip you the welcome coin once more?

AS CREATORS AND DESIGNERS OF DISTINCTIVE INTERIORS

we have evolved some very striking decorative stunts, — stunts that make a deep and pleasing impression and make 'em feel as though they had stepped right into a brand new place of amusement.

We ask only a chance to submit our ideas. You have everything to gain and nothing to lose by getting in touch with us.

J. A. TORSTENSON & COMPANY



CHICAGO ILLINOIS

FULTON COMPANY branches at Chicago, New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Atlanta, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Milwaukee, San Francisco, and Los Angeles, will gladly give you complete information on the subject.

FULCO

E.E FULTON COMPANY, COAST to COAST DISTRIBUTORS

WORLDS BEST THEATRE EQUIPMENT

So the inside of your theatre will bring patrons from without!

NOW the spotlight is turned from the outside of the theatre to the inside. From the exterior that first attracts patrons to the interior that actually sells and keeps patrons sold. Owners and managers now focus attention on the seated audience . . . make the interior of their theatre so inviting that it brings patrons from without!

In the competition for patron favor, seating . . . the chairs your audience sit in from 2½ to 3 hours, can be made to contribute definitely to bigger volume. For comfortable chairs . . . seating that permits of healthful relaxation is always appreciated by the theatre goer. Showmen find that extra comfort brings extra profits.

So, American Seating Company undertook research. Posture specialists worked with engineers. Chairs were built to conform with proved posture principles. From a maze of research findings, came comfort features that were quickly recognized by the motion picture industry. Roomy, luxurious chairs . . . seating built to fit the body—to correctly support the spine . . . to give the utmost in easy, natural comfort without slumping.

Illustrating Theatre Chair No. 8136 with 843 Standard

A comfortable chair of unusually attractive design that is meeting with the enthusiastic reception of theater owners and managers. Specially built for maximum sound absorption. Only one of the many American Seating Company types and styles of theatre seating.

Then followed acoustical research. It was found that seating had a direct bearing on the acoustics of the theatre . . . that properly built seating had a sound absorption value that assisted in producing more perfect sound effects. Chairs were built that stopped excessive reverberation, echo and hollow sounds—that helped sound reproduction and eliminated rasping noises, jumbling of words.

Your theatre—reseated with these comfortable, acoustically correct American Seating Company chairs will prove to be a magnet of patron drawing power . . . an investment you must eventually make if you expect your daily receipts to show a steady, healthy increase. The facts are available. Just use the coupon. It brings you our interesting booklet, "Acoustics and its Relation to Seating"—and places our Reseating Engineering Service at your free disposal.

AMERICAN SEATING CO., 14 East Jackson Blvd. (M 8)
Chicago, Illinois

Please send me, without obligation, your Booklet, "Acoustics and its Relation to Seating" and the facts about your Reseating Engineering Service.

Name.....

Address.....

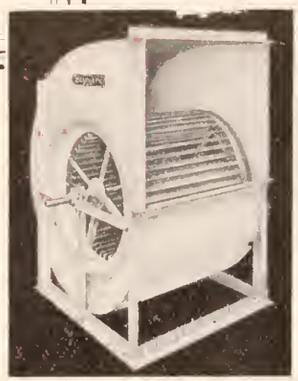
Theatre.....

WORLD WIDE SEATING SERVICE — AMERICAN SEATING COMPANY — CHICAGO, U.S.A. EST. 1885

American Seating Company

Makers of Fine Seating for Churches, Schools and Theatres

General Offices: 14 East Jackson Boulevard, Chicago, Illinois



Branch Offices in All Principal Cities

FULCO

E.E FULTON COMPANY, COAST to COAST DISTRIBUTORS

WORLDS BEST THEATRE EQUIPMENT

BLIZZARD FANS

"Make Talkie Movie Fans"

Meet "The Aristocrat," the new All-Quiet, greater volume air producing Blizzard Fan. Made especially for particular Showmen and their talkie movies.

Built For Your Needs

One of our Blizzard Models is built for your requirements. Jot down the length, width and heighth of your auditorium and address an envelope to us. You will have the facts that mean Cool Comfort. Write us NOW for descriptive literature.

BLIZZARD SALES CO.
OMAHA, NEBR.

AUDITEC

The Modern

Decorative Acoustical Corrective Material

Auditec fulfills so completely every need for acoustical correction making your auditorium clear toned and at the same time being capable of such decoration as to leave your house equally or more beautiful than before. Acoustical correction has a direct result on box office profits and you owe it to your own desire for a greater business to have your house analyzed for acoustics. Auditec is low in cost, high in results.

Made in Six Beautiful Colors and Special Designs

Get in touch with your own E. E. Fulton Company office and have them supply you with a questionnaire. No obligation is involved as this engineering service has been arranged for you through the E. E. Fulton Company firm. You will be surprised at this new and better manner of acoustical correction.

NATIONAL RUG MILLS, Inc.

Milwaukee - - Wisconsin

AUDITEC

GALLAGHER

Orchestra Equipment Company

616 W. Elm St., Chicago

Orchestra Equipment

MUSIC STANDS
STAGE AND PIT
RESONATORS
ORGAN LIFTS
ORGAN SEATS
ORGAN RACKS
PIANO RACKS
LEADER STANDS
STAGE PLATFORMS
CHAIRS
SPECIAL EQUIPMENT
AND FURNISHINGS

ALL DESIGNS AND FINISHES

Centering Lens Mount

For Simplex

Permits instantaneous lateral adjustment of lens to center sound track film picture on screen.

Can be attached in a few minutes without cutting, drilling or machining mechanism. Holds lens rigid and vibrationless.

Centering Lens Holder

SIMPLE ACCURATE EFFICIENT INEXPENSIVE

Price each, $25.00

CENTERING MOUNT for MOTIOGRAPH	Each	$35.00
CENTERING MOUNT for POWERS	Each	50.00
CENTERING MOUNT for FULCO	Each	50.00
DUPLEX APERTURE ASSEMBLY, SIMPLEX TYPE (includes Part E-16) for Sound-on-Film	Each	$35.00
DUPLEX APERTURE ASSEMBLY FOR POWERS for Sound-on-Film		$12.50

FULCO

E.E FULTON COMPANY, COAST to COAST DISTRIBUTORS

WORLDS BEST THEATRE EQUIPMENT

THE ILEX F: 2. 5

Dual Focus

PROJECTION LENS—

Fills the complete screen when running either sound-on-film or standard film with sound-on-disc by ENLARGING the sound on film picture to that of the standard film size picture.

No changing Lenses. A shift of the lever brings picture into sharp focus in either position.

Lens centering device furnished with each lens to center picture on screen when making change-over from sound-on-disc to sound-on-film.

Maximum Sharpness and Brilliancy assured.

Literature at your dealer's or sent on request.

ILEX OPTICAL CO.
ROCHESTER - NEW YORK
Established 1910

REJUVENATE
YOUR HOUSE

APPEARANCE IS IMPORTANT—ESPECIALLY IN THE THEATRE — NEW CARPET IN THE MOST IMPORTANT SPACES IS MOST HELPFUL — ATTRACTIVE PATTERNS ARE ALWAYS AVAILABLE at

SLATERS

WM. SLATER JR.

CHICAGO

FULCO
AUTOMATIC ENCLOSED REWIND

Comprises a well designed cast aluminum frame into which are built all the accurately built elements that make this the easiest and quietest running rewind on the market. Complies with the strictest regulations.

If you show talking pictures, you of course want your projection room free from noise making apparatus. THE FULCO IS A NOISELESS REWIND.

PROJECTION WORRIES CEASE WITH THE INSTALLATION OF STRONG

High and Low Intensity Automatic Reflector Arc Lamps

Made by a concern everlastingly keeping up with the pace of the industry.

Provide the extra light necessary to the proper projection of talking pictures and produce no foreign noise because of the continuous arc feed.

For Sale by Trustworthy Independent Supply Dealers Everywhere

THE STRONG ELECTRIC CORPORATION
2501 Lagrange St., TOLEDO, OHIO
Export Office: 44 Whitehall St., New York City, N. Y.

FULCO

E.E FULTON COMPANY, COAST to COAST DISTRIBUTORS

Would You—
Risk the Quality of Your Sound
Reproduction to Save 25 cents a day?

An 8 volt, 4 ampere type,
Edison MAZDA Exciter Lamp

TODAY, nearly all sound reproduction requires the use of a small incandescent lamp, the «exciter», which supplies the beam of light for the sound track of the film. If this lamp fails to deliver a sufficiently bright light, it is necessary to increase amplification to make up for weakness in the original impulse. - - - -

Increased amplification means increased ground noise, more «blasting», a definite sacrifice in clarity and quality of tone. - - - - - - - -

Avoid this by using genuine Edison MAZDA* Exciter Lamps, scientifically designed to do their important work. Enable them to deliver a beam of proper brightness by burning them at full amperage; replace them as soon as the bulbs begin to show a trace of blackening. By burning lamps at less than full amperage, or by using them after they have begun to blacken, you increase their life a little; you may save, perhaps, 25 cents a day. But you definitely lose a part of the quality of your sound. The saving is not worth the sacrifice. - - - - - -

*MAZDA—the mark of a research service.

EDISON MAZDA LAMPS
GENERAL ELECTRIC

How An Independent Successfully Bucks Competish By Salesmanship

Will Horwitz, Houston Showman, Sells Service on a Par With Chain Opposition And Makes the Grade by Using Showmanship—Kid Activities a Big Factor

HOUSTON, Tex.—Ability of the independent exhibitor to have an open mind, profit by the brains and experience of others, sell service on a par with his big chain competitors, and learn to spend judiciously but without pinching pennies, spells the difference in his success or failure.

This is the opinion of Will Horwitz, veteran theatre man of Houston, who owns and operates one of the outstanding subsequent run theatre chains in Texas and the South. Horwitz is one of the best known theatre men in the state, with a record of more than 20 years in the business in Houston, and his theatres are the only independently-owned downtown houses to get into the high class entertainment group.

A consistent policy of one price that every one can pay; consistent quality of product; keeping apace with modern development in theatre equipment and service, are cited by Horwitz as factors in his success. An outstanding factor, not mentioned by Horwitz, is his loyalty to Houston, his civic-mindedness, and the various activities of boys and girls of the city which he sponsors, admittedly because of the pleasure it gives to him.

Building good-will. Scene at Christmas party given to the poor children of Houston by the Horwitz-Texan Theatres as an annual custom. Last year's event, shown here, was held in the Civic Auditorium

Advocates One-Price Policy

The Horwitz chain of two second and one third run theatres is unique in several ways. All of the theatres are fully equipped with Western Electric sound devices, and two of them with refrigeration plants of the modern air conditioning type. Each of these has evolved from a small house located off the city's main street, remodeled and re-equipped to keep pace with rapid development in film presentation. Yet not a single change in price scale from the day of its opening.

The Iris is the oldest of the chain, and the second in size. It is 11 years old, and seats 1,400 patrons. Prior to the time Horwitz bought the house it was a tab show of such unsavory reputation that people would sit only on the back rows after its conversion to a picture theatre, in easy access to the exit!

From the beginning music was given important place in the Iris. A competent and popular pianist and assistant were on duty all time, and at times a small orchestra was maintained. When the era of pipe organs arrived, not one, but two fine instruments were installed, one on each side of the stage, and the piano also was kept. Rehearsals were held with the films, and the musicians were experts at "playing the pictures." Sound equipment was installed as soon as it became popular, the theatre remodeled to accommodate the new medium.

The Iris, Houston theatre men believe, enjoys the distinction of being the only second run theatre in the United States to offer a modern air conditioning and refrigeration cooling system, modern equipment for sound and talking pictures, running the cream of picture production, and at popular prices of 5 and 15 cents.

The Texan, largest of the chain and a second run house, seats 1,800 people, and has a permanent price scale of 5 and 15 cents during the day and 5 and 25 cents after 6 P. M. The acoustics are unusually good, and the adjustment perfect. This house gets the pick of all films on the market as the largest of the Horwitz chain. It is five years old.

Selling Service

The Ritz was opened four years ago with a permanent price scale of 5 and 15 cents. It is a third run house, and seats 1,200 patrons. The program is changed three times weekly. It is also equipped with Western Electric sound system.

"Most owners of a little house like the Ritz would consider it a 'shotgun' theatre, and run it as such. "I do not," Horwitz says. "We sell service in each of theatres. We find what the customers want, and give it to them. A trained corps of ushers and ticket sellers see to it that the patrons are made comfortable, are treated as welcomed guests, and are entertained." As a consequence, the Ritz, also, is consistently profitable.

Horwitz strikes the heart of the troubles of the independent exhibitor in Texas in the statement that "most of them are where they are because they will not support their state and national organizations.

"They will not pay their dues, and in a pinch they betray their fellow members for personal profit. They refuse to work for the good of all.

"The Texas organization, Allied Motion Picture Theatre Owners, has some fine men as organizers and officials, but the membership will not support them. I am talking about myself now as well as anybody else, for I am no longer a member. That is because I cannot afford to be one unless others will cooperate.'

Horwitz books "every picture made," from every film exchange maintained, and selects the best for his theatres. The Texan and Iris, with three weekly changes of program, each use 156 films a year. The Ritz uses 208. In the interests of his customers and good entertainment, he does not hesistate to take a loss by shelving a poor picture.

Another unique feature of this chain is an expert sound engineer, hired for full time to watch, maintain, and adjust the equipment. This engineer, long with Western Electric, screens every picture and sets the fades for the operators. No other theatre or chain of theatres of any size in Houston have an all-time sound engineer on their payroll.

That Horwitz is on his toes constantly in matters of legitimate publicity is proved by the outstanding publicity stunt of Houston's theatre history, conceived and accomplished by him during the 1928 session of the national Democratic convention here. Newspapers and trade journals alike gave reams of space to his stunt of bringing from Texas prairies 48 donkeys, blanketing each with the name and number of electoral votes per state, and with Boy Scouts as riders, parading them constantly in the streets and around the convention hall. Of course, the blankets also carried the names of Horwitz' theatres.

Play to Children

City activities which are hobbies of Horwitz, and are carried out because of his love for children and not primarily for publicity, are the Boy and Girl Builders, who meet at his theatres on Saturday mornings for regular programs, and are weekly guests at the Texan; cups and trophies offered by Horwitz personally for competitive events among high school pupils; and his big Christmas Eve party for the children of Houston, which has become a city "institution."

Last Christmas more than 6,000 children of Houston under 12 years of age attended the seventh annual Will Horwitz Christmas party at the city auditorium. And it cost the genial Horwitz exactly $5,000! This is

(Continued on page 76)

August Rich With Opportunities To Stage Special Shows for Children

Pictures Available To Tie In With Anniversaries of Leading Figures In History, Exploration and Adventure—Here's the Dope

LOS ANGELES—Ryllis Hemington, director of the public relations department of Fox West Coast Theatres, thinks she has helped solve the problem of how to supply children with entertainment at Saturday matinees during August.

In an analysis, prepared for the use of the circuit's managers, Miss Hemington clearly demonstrates the point that, where the showman is on his toes, there is no dearth of material. Her suggestions for August tell their own story:

Saturday, August 9

FRANCIS SCOTT KEY, Aug. 9, 1870.
- (a) Librarian or history teacher to give story of the writing of "The Star Spangled Banner."
- (b) Salute to the flag and pledge of allegiance led by member of the D. A. R., Boy Scouts, or Camp Fire Girls.
- (c) Song thrown on screen, singing led by local music teacher.
- (d) American Legion officer to illustrate code of the flag.
- (e) Guests of honor: Officers of D. A. R.; Boy Scouts; American Legion.

PICTURES:
1. "Janice Meredith" (M-G-M 7 rls. silent)
2. "Star Spangled Banner" (Pathe 1 rl.)

HERBERT CLARK HOOVER, Aug. 10, 1874.
President of the United States of America, Mining engineer and administrator.
- (a) Librarian to tell of boyhood of President Hoover, his plan for food conservation during the World War and his part in building international good will, touching lightly on his duties as president of the United States.
- (b) Attendance prize: small copy of President Hoover.
- (c) Army officer or world traveler to give significance of the American flag in foreign countries.
- (d) Guests of Honor: Mining engineers.
- (e) Lead the children in singing of "America"; followed by the Stanford Alma Mater, "Hail, Stanford, Hail" (Herbert Hoover, graduate of Stanford University).

PICTURES:
1. "America"—(U.A. 10 rls.)
2. "We Americans"—(Univ. 8 rls.)

SHORTS:
1. "Boyhood Days"—(Para. 1 rl.) (Newsboy harmonica ensemble)
2. "Two Americans" (Walter Huston, Para. 2 rls.)

THE CLERMONT, FULTON'S FIRST STEAMSHIP, MADE A TRIP, Aug. 11, 1807.
This event marked the beginning of steam navigation.
- (a) Exploitation—large replica of the "Clermont" on display in children's department of library or theatre foyer, for a week.
- (b) Doorman in sailor costume.
- (c) Souvenirs—small replicas of the "Clermont."
- (d) Ushers and children in sailor costumes.
- (e) Honor guests—old sea captain or officers of naval recruiting station.
- (f) Prologue—sailor from recruiting station to give demonstration of wig-wagging.
- (g) Display of naval flags—United States and foreign.
- (h) Cooperate with library for display of pictures illustrating progress of shipbuilding, beginning with Fulton's steamboat to present-day floating palaces.

PICTURES:
1. "Steamboat Bill, Jr.," comedy with Buster Keaton—(U.A. silent 7 rls.)
2. "Little Old New York"—(M-G-M 11 rls.)
3. "U. S. Smith"—Little Mickey Bennett, Gotham Prod. All Star, silent 7 rls.)
4. "We're in the Navy Now"—(Beery-Hatton, Para., silent)
5. Shore Leave"—(Navy comedy with Richard Barthelmess, F.N. 7 rls. silent)
6. "Blue Eagle"—(Fox, 6 rls. silent)
7. "Buttons"—Jackie Coogan, M-G-M. 6 rls. silent)
8. "Old Ironsides"—Para. 8 rls. silent)

SHORTS:
1. "Thrills of the Sea"—(Educational 1 rl.)
2. "Call of the Sea"—(Colorart. Educ. 2 rls.)
3. "Codfish Balls"—(Educational 1 rl.)
4. "Ship Ahoy"—(Fable. Pathe 1 rl.)
5. Saltwater Ballads"—(Musical novelty. Para. 1 rl.)

Saturday, August 16

FIRST AMERICAN RAILROAD JOINED SCHENECTADY AND ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 12, 1830.
- (a) Chamber of Commerce representative or railroad agent to tell of development of the American railroad—mileage, types of engines and cars used. Compare mileage with that of foreign countries—steam—oil—electric motivation.
- (b) Cooperate with (guests of honor) Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen.
- (c) Attendance prize: toy engine or car.
- (d) Librarian, transportation company or Chamber of Commerce to loan display of pictures for foyer illustrating progress in types of engines and cars.

PICTURES:
1. "Lightning Express" (Univ. serial)
2. "Iron Horse" (Fox 10 rls.)
3. "White Desert" (M-G-M 8 rls.)
4. "Tell It to Sweeney" (Conklin-Bancroft—Para. 6 rls. silent)
5. "The Night Flyer" (Wm. Boyd—Pathe 7 rls.)
6. "Black Diamond Express" (Warner 6 rls.)
7. "The Runaway Express" (Jack Dougherty—Univ. 6 rls. silent)
8. "Thunder" (M-G-M 8 rls. synchronized)
9. "Oh, Yeah" (Pathe 7 rls. synchronized)

SHORTS:
1. "Permanent Wave Railroad" (Educational 1 rl.)
2. "Runaway Train" (Educ 1 rl.)
3. "The Broadway Limited" (Visuagraphic 1 rl. synchronized)
4. "The Traveler" (New York subway—RKO)
5. "Swinging Brakeman" (Columbia 1 rl.)

SIR WALTER SCOTT, Aug. 5, 1771.
Famous Scottish novelist.
- (a) Guests of honor: representatives from Bobby Burns Society.
- (b) Local dancing school to present Scotch dances in costume—sailor's hornpipe, sword dance, and others.
- (c) Bagpipe players in costume at entrance of theatre, also piper to lead children in singing of Scotch songs.
- (d) American and Scotch flags displayed.
- (e) Doorman and ushers in Scotch costumes.
- (f) History teacher or librarian to give, briefly, interesting facts of childhood and later accomplishments of Sir Walter Scott.
- (g) Children coming in costume as guests of theatre.

PICTURES:
"Wee Scotch Piper" (Pathe 1 rl.)
"Songs of Scotland" (Pathe 1 rl.)
"A Wee Bit of Scotch" (Para. 1 rl.)

ERNEST THOMPSON SETON, Aug. 13, 1860.
Nature writer and illustrator. Prominently identified with the organization of the Boy Scouts of America.
- (a) Guests of honor:
  1. Boy Scout Executives.
  2. Representatives from the Department of Nature Study, Birds, Flowers and Wild Life of the Federated Women's Clubs.
- (b) Eagle Scouts (Senior) to tell of the work of Ernest T. Seton in organizing and assisting Scout activities.
- (c) Librarian to suggest list of books of nature stories.
- (d) Chairman of Nature Study Department of Federated Women's Clubs to tell how children can make friends with wild life.
- (e) Representative from museum to tell stories of life of birds and animals.
- (f) Attendance prize: copy of one of Ernest Thompson Seton's books.

PICTURES:
1. "Around the World with Mr. and Mrs. Johnston" (Boy Scouts. 9 rl. sound)
2. "With Byrd at the South Pole" (Para. 8 rls.)

SHORTS:
1. "Molders of Manhood" (Pathe 1 rl.)
2. "Breath of Life" (plants and fish—Para. 1 rl.)
3. Sportlight "Hook, Line and Melody" (Pathe 1 rl.)
4. "Mother Bird" (Curiosity—Educ. 1 rl.)

PANAMA CANAL OPENED TO COMMERCE OF THE WORLD, Aug. 15, 1914.
- (a) Guests of honor:
  1. Visiting guest from any Central American country.
  2. Officers of the Society of Civil Engineers.
- (b) Member of Society of Civil Engineers to tell of attempts and final success of the building of the Panama Canal; Major Goethal's part in completion of Canal; time, loss of life, cost, overcoming fever and other hardships.
- (c) Representative of Chamber of Commerce or transportation company to tell of the value of this waterway to commerce.
- (d) Cooperate with Chamber of Commerce for display of products of Canal Zone.
- (e) Transportation company to furnish map of Canal Zone for illustrated talk.
- (f) Display of stars and stripes and flags of Central America.

PICTURES:
1. "Hands Across the Border" (RKO 6 rls.)
2. "Canyon of Adventure" (Ken Maynard. F.N. 6 rls.)
3. "Somewhere in Sonora" (Ken Maynard. F.N. 6 rls.)
4. "Desert of the Lost" (Mexico—Pathe 5 rls.)
5. "California Straight Ahead" (Reginald Denny. Univ. 8 rls.)

SHORT:
1. "Trailing the Western Sun" (Technicolor—Castle, 1 rl.)

(Continued on page 75)

Finds Boosting Kid Patronage Is Good Way To Bring In Adults, Too

Grown-Ups' Attendance Stimulated by Concentrating on Kiddies—Many Methods of Improving Business Discovered by Publix in Illinois

By MADALINE WOODS
Division Director of Advertising, Publix Indiana Circuit

CHICAGO—We must give some thought and effort to interesting the children in the theatres especially right now when school activities followed by the summer vacation period directs the children's attention to any number of diversions other than motion pictures.

We must bear in mind the thought that in keeping the children interested in our programs and in theatre activities, we are building up good word-of-mouth advertising, likewise we are directly or indirectly stimulating adult attendance.

There are not a large number of talking pictures which appeal greatly to children, and that is another reason why we must exert more effort than usual to get the children to attend the theatres especially when we have attractions they will like, and likewise when we have attractions which while not unsuited to children, at the same time do not appeal strongly to them.

Children will be interested, of course, in "Young Eagles," "Honey," "Spring Is Here," "Light of Western Stars," "The Texan," "True to the Navy," "Return of Fu Manchu," etc., etc. They will not be interested in "Sarah and Son," "Anna Christie," "Lummox," "Rogue Song," and a number of other attractions which are decidedly adult.

Watch Your Attractions

Therefore, in planning your children's activities you will have to look to your programs first of all. Where we have more than one theatre in the town, work out theatre activities in the various houses so that you will make sure your special children's matinees or special stunts which appeal to children are set in with an appropriate picture—either one which the children will like, or at least one which will be understood and appreciated by them. It is needless to point out that we could not possibly arrange any sort of stunt for the children with an attraction such as "Anna Christie," or "Ladies of Leisure."

In looking over the list of coming pictures, however, it seems to me the greater majority of them will have some children's appeal, but just when and how you work out your children's stunts I leave entirely to your discretion and that of your district manager.

Children's Angle on the Sport Show

You will note that many of these tie-up admirably with your adult activities such as the children's angle of your sport show, etc.

In the other section of this manual, we mentioned giving away autographed baseballs as a feature of your lobby sport show. This will appeal strongly to children.

You can probably promote some baseballs locally. Get some local "celebrity" of the baseball diamond to appear in your theatre and autograph baseballs. He could scarcely refuse you since the great Babe Ruth very frequently does this sort of thing.

These autographed baseballs can be given to the children on some special matinee, either on a Saturday or after school.

If you like, you can have the baseballs in connection with an "Oh Henry! Matinee." We have tried this in some of the towns, and it has been quite successful. The stunt is this:

You purchase 500 (or more as your needs demand) Oh Henry! Bars and the Oh Henry! Company will send you five baseballs; besides, you are loaned a trailer and several one-sheets for use in the lobby. If you like, you can have, instead of five baseballs, two or three baseballs, and two or three children's aluminum cooking sets put up in little doll houses—to appeal to little girls.

With a stunt of this kind, every child gets a bar of candy and the lucky ones get baseballs or cooking sets.

I am lining up some gum to give away, so instead of buying Oh Henry! bars, you might possibly work this with the gum. Every child will get some gum as they leave the theatre and lucky ones will get baseballs which you can easily promote or which I can get for you reasonably.

If you should happen to be playing "They Learned About Women," this baseball tie-up would be most appropriate as the picture is a baseball romance which will appeal to children as well as to adults.

Children are bound to be interested in baseball right now, so if we can make them think of baseball in terms of "theatre," it should help.

Perhaps, you can promote some bats, gloves, etc., to give away as other prizes.

If there are any youngsters around town who have a regular ball club, it might be a good idea to invite them to the theatre on the day that you have your baseball matinee.

Some Suggestions

As a further connection with your lobby sport show, I suggest that you get among your prizes which you will promote, some children's golf sets, tennis balls—perhaps, a teeter-totter—roller skates, etc. Children's tents can be set up in the lobby along with the display of the toys and other prizes and those can be given away from time to time during the month of May.

I would not advise your giving away the children's gifts on the night of the adult prizes as this will only mean the children will be there occupying seats which would otherwise be sold at adult prices.

To get away from this, it would be a good idea to give away the children's prizes, let us say at the after-school matinee on the opening of a picture when you are going to give away the adult prizes some night during the run of the pictures. In this way, the children would see the show and would not come back again at night when the adult raffles are taking place.

This can be handled, of course, by giving away children's prizes at some other theatre where we have more than one house or all the sporting goods for both children and adults can be shown at one theatre with the children's drawing taking place at another house. A card on the display would indicate at what house, what time, etc., the drawings would take place.

I am going to make an effort to get some roller skates to give away. Right here, let me state that I would try to get more prizes for distribution, but that most of my efforts meet with a response from the manufacturer to the effect that it should be taken up with each local dealer. My thought has always been to promote as much merchandise as possible and thus lessen the work of the managers, but in most instances, as I have said, I am referred in turn to the local dealer.

In addition, you can further tie-up with your sport show by modeling children's apparel, and by this, I mean not only apparel for very small children, but for school children, up to 15 or 16 years of age. This will interest both children and adults and might be staged some Saturday afternoon during May. The following week you would have the adult sport style show. You can get children as models without any cost as any dancing school would be glad to provide them for the advertising involved and most patrons would be pleased to have their children in the parade. No doubt, some of the stores who have given clothes to model would give the youngsters a play suit or some hose or something of that kind as a gift.

Sewing and Manual Training Exhibit

As a further means of keeping the school children interested, we want to arrange for your "B" house, a lobby display of articles which have been made by school children.

For instance, there could be a lobby display of articles from the manual training department. You could give ribbons as prizes just as is done at fairs—a white ribbon for the first prize, etc.

I believe it would not be necessary to give any other prizes, but, of course, if you like, we might give a medal or something of that sort.

The girls might display the articles which they made in the sewing classes and this would be especially good in the latter part of May when they could exhibit their graduation dresses as in most of the schools, sewing classes make their frocks.

The girls could model these dresses and a prize could be offered—a ribbon or cup or medal for the dress most neatly made.

This might not mean a whole lot of money at the box-office but at least it would get you some good publicity and would attract some

(Continued on page 72)

Two-Way Method

THE author of this manual of kiddie patronage has come to the conclusion that by keeping children interested in theatre activities, adult attendance is being stimulated.

Here you have an interesting slant on one of the most serious problems facing the live showman today. How Miss Woods has worked it out is explained in the accompanying article, written for the managers of the chain she represents, but, nevertheless, adaptable to theatre operation everywhere.

Before You Compare Mere Bids on Air Conditioning . . . Consider These Points

Responsibility ▼ ▼ ▼

When you purchase an air conditioning system to whom will you look for its satisfactory installation and operation?

If you purchase separate pieces of equipment, you also will split the responsibility. The sale of a Carrier System for Air Conditioning is not a sale of equipment, but is a guarantee of results . . . a binding clause in every Carrier order.

Results ▼ ▼ ▼

Will results be guaranteed? Will you be assured ease of operation and maintenance, combined with economy?

Each Carrier System is designed and installed to provide exactly the conditions desired in any theatre. Installation, operation and maintenance costs are as low as consistent in a system providing complete air conditioning.

Service ▼ ▼ ▼

How long will a specially trained service department of a permanent, financially responsible organization be available after the installation of your equipment?

The Carrier organization . . . a recognized organization of more than twenty-five years' standing . . . backs every installation with a guarantee to render the utmost in service as long as the theatre stands.

Air Distribution ▼ ▼ ▼

Will the conditioned air be distributed uniformly throughout the entire house, for the complete comfort of every patron?

The Carrier System assures positive and uniform air distribution . . . so that the top seat in the balcony is as comfortable as the choicest seat in the orchestra. It is designed to cleanse, purify and deliver into the theatre any desired amount of outdoor air at all seasons . . . providing good ventilation always, consistent with practical economy of operation.

Temperature and Humidity Control ▼ ▼ ▼

Will you be able to control temperature and humidity . . . especially humidity . . . within a reasonably limited variation from the ideal conditions desired?

The Carrier System is the only system which will give you positive and automatic control of the conditions which create maximum comfort . . . that is, temperature, humidity and air movement . . . which affords the flexibility necessary to create these comfort conditions regardless of the size of the audience, the season or the outdoor weather.

Refrigeration ▼ ▼ ▼

Will the air conditioning system include refrigeration . . . without which it is impossible properly to cool and dehumidify the air during the greater portion of the year? Will the refrigeration machine be simple and compact . . . will it use a safe refrigerant? . . . will it be absolutely dependable under all operating conditions?

Carrier Centrifugal Refrigeration is a component part of every Carrier System for Air Conditioning. Operation is simple, nearly fool-proof and almost entirely automatic. The refrigerant is a harmless liquid. Carrier Centrifugal Refrigeration machines are the most efficient and dependable machines available for theatre cooling.

Silence ▼ ▼ ▼

Will the air conditioning system permit presentation of sound pictures without amplification to the extent of distortion and bad reproduction?

The Carrier System is guaranteed not to produce sounds disturbing to reproduction . . . or to recording in the sound studios. It is the only system guaranteed on a scientific db. basis as to sound level.

Efficiency and Maintenance ▼ ▼ ▼

What weight are you placing on yearly operating efficiency and maintenance? How much will refrigerant, oil, power, water, cleaning and repairing cost?

The inherent characteristics of the whole Carrier System . . . and particularly the Carrier Centrifugal Refrigeration Machine . . . provide the lowest overall operating costs and the highest efficiency ever attained in complete air conditioning.

The Carrier System is not expensive . . . it is within the reach of any progressive theatre, regardless of size. The cost of owning a Carrier System is the very lowest for the service rendered.

Carrier Engineering Corporation

NEWARK, NEW JERSEY

OFFICES: NEW YORK, PHILADELPHIA, BOSTON, CHICAGO, CLEVELAND, WASHINGTON, DETROIT, DALLAS, LOS ANGELES

EXPORT DIVISION: 505 FIFTH AVENUE, NEW YORK

CARRIER ENGINEERING COMPANY, LTD.
LONDON, PARIS, BOMBAY, CALCUTTA, JOHANNESBURG

CARRIER LUFTTECHNISCHE GESELLSCHAFT
STUTTGART, BERLIN

Manufactured Weather makes "Every day a good day"

Theatre owners, architects and engineers are invited to investigate the results accomplished by the Carrier System for Air Conditioning . . . to compare these items which represent the differences between complete air conditioning and systems which only approximate complete results. Our engineers will consult with you at your convenience.

Carrier
AIR CONDITIONING
DRYING
REFRIGERATION

Luminous Tubes for Interior Light Called Successful in New Zealand

Theatre Produces Unusual Effects and Claims Saving on Cost and Cut of Glare and Heat Through Neon Tubes—Also Used on Exterior

By JOSEPH HENRY O'NEIL of Claude Neon Lights, Inc.

ANOTHER milestone in the record of advancing civilization may now be dedicated to the theatre, and in particular to the Civic theatre, Auckland, New Zealand.

While scientists and engineers have been discussing the possibilities of interior illumination by the gaseous luminous tube system, Thomas A. O'Brien, head of a large chain of theatres in New Zealand, has had the initiative and the courage to pioneer in the lighting of his magnificent new building which cost more than $2,000,000 to complete. As Mr. O'Brien said, "I will be surprised indeed if any other kind of light is ever used for this class of work if its wonderful advantages are brought before those responsible."

The play is possibly the greatest single influence in changing living conditions, introducing new styles, new customs and even anticipating new inventions. Similarly, the theatre had led in the matter of publicity, advertising and electric displays. Theatres were among the first to see the advantage of luminous tubes, commonly called "neon tubes," for attraction lighting.

Reducing Glare and Heat

The interior illumination of theatres has always been somewhat of a problem, the main objection to the incandescent lamp having been the glare and the amount of heat developed. By indirect and concealed lighting the glare was somewhat overcome, but still there was the uneven, spotty lighting. Theatres have been constantly on the lookout for new developments and their experience with tube lighting for outdoor displays suggested that the advantages of this system might be secured for interiors.

New Zealand is a young country, and the neon industry is newer there by several years than it is in the United States and Europe. They lacked past experiences which sometimes magnify the difficulties in the way of new developments. New Zealand's outlook is not dimmed by ruts of habit. Gaseous tube interior illumination offered certain advantages, so they put it to test.

There have been several instances of rooms illuminated by gaseous tubes in a more or less limited way, but now a large building completely illuminated by this system is an actuality. As one described it, the interior of the Civic theatre in Auckland is like stepping across the threshold into another world—a veritable fairyland. The appointments are elegant, Moorish in design, and there is a certain restful atmosphere which one hardly suspects is due largely to the new system of lighting.

Advantages Claimed

Mr. Boringer, the architect who has designed many of the larger theatres in Australia and New Zealand, stated that in his opinion this lighting arrangement has many advantages over lamps, among them color, continuity of light, lack of heat, economy from the standpoint of current consumption and maintenance, and adaptability.

In arranging the Civic theatre illumination a few local tests were made to determine the quantity and the quality of the light as well as its effect. Approximately 3,000 feet of Claude Neon luminous tubing is now being used. It was installed while the building was in the course of construction. By working closely with the architect and the contractor, changes in the original plans were made from time to time to better accommodate the tubing.

The foyer is elaborate architecturally, containing some 40 domes and completely surrounded by niches and colonnades, which are lighted indirectly by luminous tubing. Blue furnishes the sky effect, and red is used at the lower levels.

The main auditorium of the theatre is designed for atmospheric effect. The domed ceiling is completely surrounded by representations of buildings, colonnades, minarets, balconies, etc. There are 750 stars twinkling in a blue sky which reflects the light of concealed blue tubing. The source of the light is not apparent and the effect is so realistic in suggesting the actual night sky that one patron seeing it for the first time expressed the regret that she had neglected to bring her umbrella.

Exterior illumination of the Civic Theatre at Auckland, New Zealand, using over 4,000 feet of Claude Neon red and blue tubing.

Main auditorium of the Civic theatre illuminated entirely by Neon tubing.

Combination for Proscenium

For the proscenium a combination of tubes is arranged to give multicolored effect when desired. Beneath the balcony and in the winter garden concealed tubes were installed somewhat in the same manner. The finished installation far exceeded the fondest expectation of both the management and the architect.

Except for stage spots and the standing chandeliers in the foyer which are there for effect, having been dimmed to give very little illumination, the entire interior lighting has been accomplished with Claude Neon tubing.

The Civic theatre has a seating capacity of 4,000 and in elaborate appointments and equipment, it is one of the finest houses in the world. As Mr. O'Brien has said, the lighting is not only a success from the artistic point of view, but even more so from the hard practical business standpoint because of the savings in current and lamps and the savings in maintenance cost.

In addition to the innovation in interior lighting, the exterior of the Civic is one of the most brilliantly illuminated in the world, using approximately 4,000 feet of tubing, and above the tower a Claude Neon aeronautical beacon has been erected.

The luminous tubes trace the architectural lines of the building from the top of the tower, following the roof line, circling the appliques and suggesting the row of windows. A clock in the upper part of the center face is emphasized with a frame of luminous tubing and below it there is a panel in which the word "Civic" is outlined with tubes of light.

Located at the corner of Queen and Wesley Streets, this brilliantly illuminated theatre dominates the business section. Regarding the exterior lighting, Mr. O'Brien says that he considers that the advertising value is so great that they can well afford to economize in many other directions to an extent which gives them a huge lighting installation practically gratis.

New Fireproofing Material

Boston—Flamex has been placed on the market by the Paramount Manufacturing Co. The fireproofing material is put up in powder form, 2¾ pounds to the package. This, it is stated, is sufficient to make a solution of three gallons.

Rebuilding A Theatre Without Destruction Of Its Framework

R-K-O Projection on Broadway, New York, Unique Experiment in Engineering Work, Opening Wide Vista for Reconstruction of Old Houses Throughout Nation

REGARDED as opening up a wide vista for conversion of old theatres into up-to-date houses, as well as serving as a model for reconstruction of the kind, work is nearing completion on the R-K-O, being built from the shell of the Columbia, New York.

In the reconstruction of the old theatre, for years the key house of the Columbia vaudeville wheel, the builders are demonstrating how a theatre can be reconstructed from an existing house, utilizing the existing steel structure, without demolition of framework is being demonstrated it the R-K-O, now nearing completion in New York.

The unique and unusual task is being done by M. Shapiro & Son in the reconstruction of the R-K-O theatre, Broadway and 47th St., New York. The house, formerly the Columbia, is to open as the R-K-O on Nov. 1.

Idea Called Revolutionary

The idea of gutting the theatre for remodeling and refurnishing, rather than the razing of the structure, is considered revolutionary in theatre construction. The success with which the task is being accomplished presages new economies in the reconverting of old houses.

Grafting new steel on the old at the new R-K-O theatre on Broadway. Photo also shows how balcony is being rebuilt Modernizing of the theatre, capacity of which is to be increased by 50 per cent and bringing up to date the building in which the theatre is housed were the assignments given the contractor. A seven-story addition, enlargement of the basement and installation of an orange drink stand are provided in the plans.

What the new R-K-O on Broadway will look like when finished

One hundred and thirty working days were allotted by R-K-O, the lessee, and Walter Reade, owner of the building, for the carrying out of the project. This time element is a big factor in the carrying out of the work.

Steel Structure Retained

The first problem was to remove such portions of the existing building as interfere with erection of the new, leaving some of the old steel to brace existing walls and roof. In carrying out this program, the contractors literally gutted the existing building, speedily replacing steel girders as the work went on.

Perhaps one of the most unusual architectural feats was the setting of the marquee truss. While work of demolition was in progress, this massive steel work was set in place so that there might be no interruption of work. There will be no columns to obstruct the lobby.

One of the chief problems in rebuilding the theatre was the framing of the balconies. This was accomplished by bracing the walls while the work of removal was under way. To make room for the

(Continued on page 64)

Riveters busy inside, but the permanent steel for the marquee is already up. The soda stand will make way for the theatre entrance

Television Never To Replace Public Theatre

TELEVISION, now in the laboratory stage, still requires the solution of many technical problems before it can be established in the home, according to David Sarnoff, president of RCA, who believes the home theatre cannot replace the public theatre.

"Mechanically, artistically, psychologically, the public theatre as a focal point for mass entertainment promises to continue as a permanent factor," he declares.

"There is no saturation point to the vast public interest in everything that entertains, amuses, informs or instructs," the RCA chief avers. A separate theatre for every home, although the stage may be only a cabinet and the curtain a screen is in Sarnoff's belief, "the distinct promise of the new era of electrical entertainment." The theatre of the home, he says in discussing television, will be built and ready long before many of the services that can be rendered through it have been established. Progress in both the educational and entertainment arts will be stimulated by the home.

"From the home," he declares, "will come a steady upward pressure upon the public theatre for the creation of higher types of mass entertainment."

Sees Selective Entertainment

The forces of sound and sight, through the medium of broadcasting, talking pictures and electrical recording, are gradually converging upon the home to open a new phase of electrical entertainment—of selective communication, selective entertainment and selective educational programs. This, with organized forms of mass entertainment, I believe, will unite in a new era of entertainment and educational service that will far eclipse the achievements of today.

We have seen the significance of mass communication in relation to mass entertainment. The electrical arts promise to open an equally important vista for selective entertainment. Until recently the opera, the symphony hall, the university or the school stood each within the limits of four walls and drew to themselves their audiences of student bodies. Today music and education have burst through these limitations and have reached out to vast audiences far beyond their immediate location areas.

Yesterday selective entertainment was a great adventure economically; success could only be determined by that proportion of the total public in a given territory which would respond to a new dramatic or musical production. Tomorrow the possibility of Shakespearean drama on the film may be determined not by the comparatively few people who might support classical drama in each of the 22,000 motion picture theatres of the country, but by the total number of Shakespearean lovers who may attend the 5,000,000 or 10,000,000 "home theatres" of the country. In this fact lies the vast opportunity for selective entertainment and education which modern electrical communication to the home now brings into view.

Already the foundations for countless new theatres of the home are being laid. Millions of homes are now resonant with sound. Portable motion picture projectors which would establish miniature sound theatres in the home are being sold upon a commercial basis. Facsimile transmission—telegraph transmissions of reproductions of photographs and documents—is making continuous progress, and there is no technical reason why it should not reach the home eventually.

Television Holds Great Promise

Television, now in the laboratory stage, still requires the solution of many technical problems before it can be established as a service to the home, although much of the pioneering work already done holds great promise for the future. Many elements that go to make up the electrical ear and the electrical eye are already established in the home, through the instrumentalities of sound reception and motion picture reproduction. The theatre of the home, it is probable, will be built and ready long before many of the services that can be rendered through it will have been established.

It is interesting to consider the extent to which the foundations of the home theatre already have been built. Approximately 10,000,000 homes in the United States are now equipped with the instrumentalities of radio reception. Every one of these homes draws nightly upon the programs of the air for the family entertainment. The great events of the day are brought graphically to the fireside by radio announcers, and constant progress is being made in the development of educational features. Broadcasting is essentially a system of mass communication, although the instrumentalities of radio reception include some of the facilities necessary for selective entertainment and educational programs.

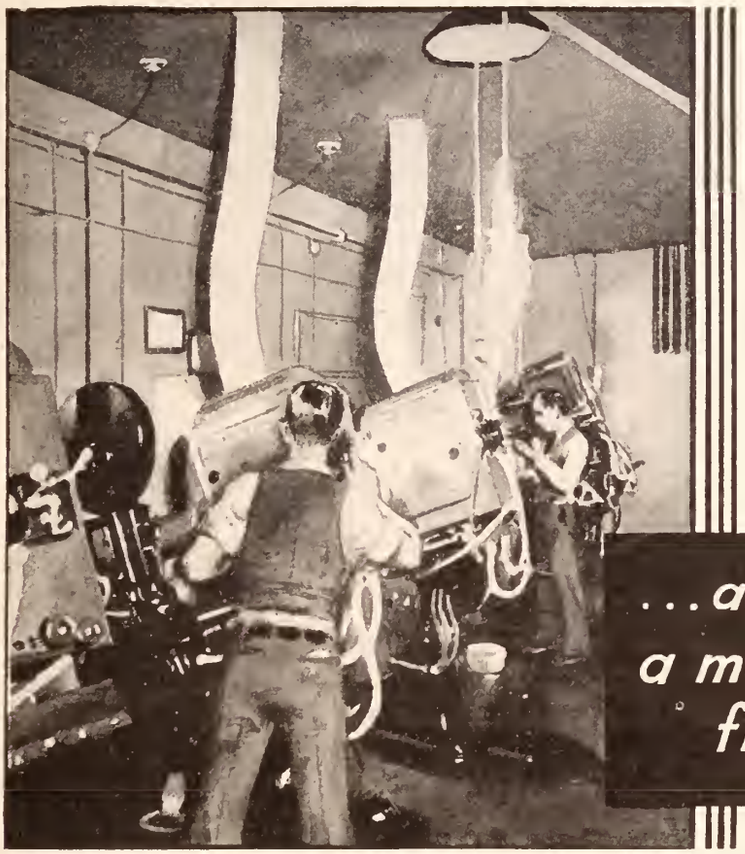
Home Talkers Ready

Today the talking motion picture screen, adapted to the requirements of the home theatre, is making ready to announce its services to the home. It may, and probably will, include many elements of theatrical entertainment service, but it cannot and will not, I believe, transfer the functions of the public theatre to the home.

The home screen will open many new phases in the development of the talking picture art. Through the home screen the motion picture will find its great opportunity to justify the educational and cultural destiny of the art. In the home the talking film will be able to select its audience, to key its message to higher standards of appreciation and to meet the cultural requirements of specific groups rather than of multitudes.

There the motion picture screen can effectively serve the specific interests of the child. With virtually millions of home theatres opened to the distribution of motion picture films, producers will be encouraged in the attempt to express cultural values to which a mass audience might not rise. In the home the motion picture screen can most effectively serve the interests of education. Motion picture programs devoted to the social sciences, civics, vocational guidance, literature and drama, music and art—these are some of the cultural possibilities which the theatre of the home would promise to develop. What an advance from the day when the stereopticon slides were the only visual aids to education projected on the screen!

RCA and its affiliated companies, General Electric and Westinghouse have taken a leading part in developing television and recently gave the first theatre demonstration of practical televised entertainment. The company is to establish a center of television in the "Radio City" to be built in New York. Accordingly, the views of David Sarnoff, RCA president, on television and pictures in the home are especially timely.



He does not believe that home entertainment ever will displace the public theatre, for reasons which he cites in the accompanying article. Television, he believes, will mean a tremendous world cultural development, and will advance the entertainment field to new heights.

Theatre Must Appeal to All

The public theatre, on the other hand, has a place and a purpose to serve in the entertainment field that is peculiarly its own. It must appeal at one and the same time to every individual member of the family, man, woman and child; to the college graduate and to the laborer; to the exceptional and to the average intelligence. It must constantly seek a recognized level of public acceptance. It must serve the greatest number of a fixed sense of social responsibility to every member of the family, to every group of the population, and to every racial, religious and political interest.

Nor will it ever be possible for the home theatre to approach the exact conditions of the public theatre in the field of complete entertainment. The gregarious instincts of man will always lead him to desire to share his pleasures with his fellowmen. Space and mechanical limitations will always restrict the opportunities of the home screen in the elaborateness of entertainment features, and

(Continued on page 70)

...and then a mechanism froze...

...BUT ON WENT THE SHOW!

Friday night at the LYRIC... The feature was on, everything running smoothly as usual. Then, a mechanism froze... There wasn't a very large crowd—that show didn't mean so much. But the next day, Saturday, is a weekly box office picnic at the Lyric. The matinee gets good attendance and the two evening shows pack 'em in... Yes, there was negligence involved—there usually is. The complete overhauling of projectors had been recommended some weeks before but it's human nature to put things off... And now in a jam—what?... There was a hurried phone call to a National Branch. For half an hour one projector did the work of two. Then a National Repair Expert was in the booth and on went the show! No loss of patronage. No cut in Saturday profits... That's the sort of rush repair service National has made available to every American exhibitor. A phone call to your nearest National Branch will get results—as quickly as it's humanly possible to get them; as reliably as the skill of Expert Projection Repair men can make them.

Emergencies are poor things ta wait far. You can avaid them by osking yaur National Representative ta make a periodic check-up an your projection equipment. If repair wark or averhauling is needed the National Repair Department will take care of it far yau. Factory methads. Genuine repair parts. Equipment to replace your own while the work is being done. Maderate charges. Ask at your nearest Natianal Branch for further details.

APPROVED BY NATIONAL THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY COAST-TO-COAST DISTRIBUTORS

This stamp af app a/al is yaur guarantee af manufacturers' quality. Laak far it in theatre equipment advertisements.

NATIONAL THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY
Branches in all Principal Cities

Says "Squeeze" Track Is Good Volume Brake

M-G-M Develops a Control for Sound as Means To Aid Theatre Uphold Talker Standards

By WESLEY C. MILLER

THE proper regulation of volume or apparent loudness is essential to good reproduction of sound. This is particularly true when the sound forms a part of a sound picture, as the success of the latter in producing an illusion of reality is greatly affected by sound volume. If the recording has been well done, and if the theatre apparatus is in good condition, the picture may still be poorly shown if the sound volume is improperly handled. This is clearly a matter of showmanship, and must be studied as such. The definition of suitable volume is simple. It is the volume at which the desired illusion is obtained. The illusion of reality which results from such a combination of sound and scene is such that little imagination is required to think of the scene as being real. The attainment of this result is the goal of all sound picture productions.

In real life our personal and inherited experience produces the effect more or less automatically. Involuntarily, we correlate the impressions we receive—and equally involuntarily, we adjust ourselves to the natural distortions in every-day phenomena. However, an artificial device, such as a recording and reproducing system accompanied by a motion picture, has no such involuntary reactions. It has certain potentialities which may produce amazingly good results, but it must be guided throughout every step or some form of distortion will appear. If we are to show to our audiences a product which will, without effort on their part, give the illusion we plan, this guidance must come from both producer and exhibitor. The studio must anticipate the problems of the theatre, and the latter must endeavor to exhibit the product in a manner approaching that designed by the producer. This combination alone will result in a high average success in terms of audience appreciation.

Sound Not Understood

Technical perfection may be analyzed in terms of scientific laws which are common property. There is general agreement on the fundamentals, but due to the newness of sound reproduction on its present scale there is a tremendous lack of understanding of some of the details. This is naturally less apparent in the studios and among the producers, as they are closer together geographically, and as they were the first to have to meet the problems of the new business. Largely through their own initiative and by their own analysis of the situation, they are for the moment in the position of being able to help the exhibitor to get the results both desire—to please the audience. Among other things, they are trying to do this by the expedient of making proper sound reproduction as nearly automatic as possible.

Sound volume is definitely interrelated with frequency response of records and apparatus, theatre and studio acoustics, sound perspective, personal desires, and a multitude of other factors. Eliminating all of these for the purpose of the present discussion, volume control presents a particular problem. The total range of volume to which we are accustomed in real life is tremendous, and quite beyond the possibilities of any known commercial reproducing device. Fortunately, this is not an impossible limitation. In the first place, we shall probably never wish to reproduce in a theatre the loudest sounds we can feel or hear, as they would be uncomfortable to an audience. Similarly, the lowest sounds we reproduce must be loud enough to be somewhat audible over the theatre-noise—breathing, rustling of clothes, and general movement. Consequently the total range to be accommodated is reduced to a point where it is entirely practical to take care of.

Extending Range of Reproduction

This range, however, still exceeds the capabilities of the record itself. In recording we have two definite limits—an upper limit represented by the overload point of the recording device and medium, and a lower, which is the inevitable surface noise in a record of any kind. Exceeding the upper limit introduces disagreeable distortion without noticeably louder apparent volume. Going below the lower limit results in a loss of part of the record by the masking effect of the surface noise. Every sound recording technician is continually making use of various devices to get the most effective results from this limited recording volume range.

Fortunately there is available a means of somewhat extending this range in reproduction, through the medium of adjustable amplification of the record. By means of this we may amplify some parts of the record more than others, and produce the effect of an over-all range greater than the recording range proper. Even this available increase is limited, as too much additional amplification brings forth other troubles from excessive surface noise, machine noise, and perhaps amplifier or other system overloads. Judiciously used, this factor of additional adjustable amplification is a means of greatly enhancing the effectiveness of the reproduction.

In recording we plan to make use of this extension when necessary. Ordinarily the attempt is made to have a record run without such a change, and the great majority of records fall in this class. But when we do have to use the additional amplification in the reproduction, the operator must know when to use it, and, more important, must use it. Therein lies a weakness which has resulted in many a poor reproduction.

The theatre operator has at his command some form of volume control—a fader or similar device. If cues are furnished with the picture he can control the volume by following these cues with the fader, but if the fader is in the projection booth he has no way of checking the resulting effect in the house, unless by reports from an observer. Fair results may be obtained by such a mechanical method. However, the average operator in a booth has plenty to do during the showing of a picture—changing reels, watching lamp adjustment. The result is that his attention to the fader must suffer.

In certain cases the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer organization has advocated the use of a fader installed in the auditorium and operated by a special operator, who is then in a position to know exactly how the picture sounds and to regulate the sound accordingly. This has produced excellent results, but it has certain disadvantages, not the least of which, from the theatre standpoint, is the requirement of an additional operator who must necessarily be something of a sound expert and artist, in addition to his other attainments.

"Squeeze Track" Evolved

These are real problems to both producer and exhibitor in the face of an annual release of some hundred million or more feet of pictures each year, involving thousands of the theatres. With them in mind the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer sound organization has evolved a means of practically automatic volume control for variable density film release, which has been very effective in practice. From the appearance of the

(Continued on page 78)

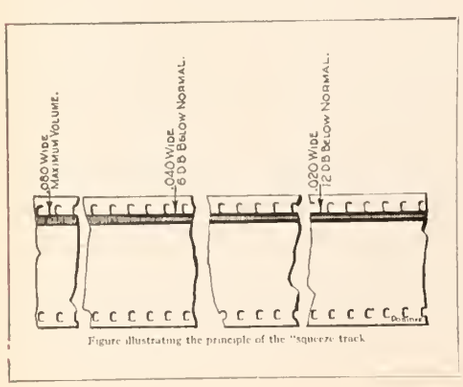

Figure illustrating the principle of the "squeeze track"

Watch Your Volume

NO sound can be good sound without proper and careful reproduction. The fault is not always the operator's in the projection booth, although frequently this is the case.

There is a scientific error which enters into the problem. The total range of volume to which the ordinary individual is accustomed in real life is beyond the possibilities of any known commercial reproducing device.

This is the basis of Mr. Miller's discussion on volume control and what to do about it.

WHY YOU WILL LIKE

HEALTHFUL Kooler-Aire

NATURE'S REFRIGERATION

BECAUSE : it is Nature's Healthful Refrigeration — just the right reduction from any outside temperature to make people feel comfortably cool, never chilly.

BECAUSE : it constantly supplies ONLY fresh air—no recirculation of used air. Every breath of every patron is fresh air.

BECAUSE : it is the lowest cost complete cooling and air conditioning system you can buy.

BECAUSE : it is by far the cheapest to operate—no engineer required.

BECAUSE : it is useful the year round—ideal for winter ventilation and air conditioning with humidity (and supplementary heat if desired.)

BECAUSE : of its phenomenal success — adopted by Paramount-Publix as standard equipment, and used by Warner Bros., Fox, R-K-O and independent exhibitors from coast to coast.

ACTION! Profit by Kooler-Aire THIS season. Upon request, your house will be surveyed by a Kooler-Aire engineer. No obligation. Send today for this book, "Silent Coolness."

KOOLER-AIRE ENGINEERING CORP.

1912 Paramount Building, NEW YORK CITY

B. F. SHEARER CO., West Coast Representatives

SEATTLE PORTLAND LOS ANGELES

Urges Caution in Filing of Patents; No Drop in Stream of New Inventions

Important to Properly Safeguard Rights of the Inventor, Attorney Points Out in Explaining Procedure

By RAY BELMONT WHITMAN

Editor's Note—In his second article on patents, Ray Belmont Whitman discusses who may obtain a patent, when it may be obtained and on what, patent failures and successes and the reasons for each; and how to avoid difficulties in protecting the inventor's rights.

OUR laws say that "any person" may obtain a patent in the United States. The person may be a foreigner or an American citizen, adult or minor, male or female, black or white, a college graduate or educated in "the school of hard knocks." There are no exceptions. "Any person" means anybody and everybody who complies with the legal requirements.

The true inventor, if alive, must always sign the application for a patent. If anyone else signs, the patent is invalid, and so of no value. There may be more than one inventor, in which case they are called "joint inventors," and each must sign the application papers as such. They then obtain a "joint patent." No one of them can obtain a patent for an invention jointly invented by all. Also, independent inventors of distinct and independent improvements in the same machine can not obtain a joint patent for their separate inventions.

When May a Patent Be Obtained, and on What?

Read the following paragraph carefully. It will answer many questions which are usually not understood.

"A patent may be obtained by any person who has invented any new and useful art, machine, manufacture, or composition of matter, or any new and useful improvement thereof. But it must not have been known or used by others in this country before his invention and not patented or described in any printed publication in this or any foreign country before his invention, or more than two years prior to his application. And it must not have been patented in a country foreign to the United States on an application filed by him or his legal representatives or assigns more than twelve months before his application, and not in public use or on sale in the United States for more than two years prior to his application, unless the same is proved to have been abandoned."

To be patentable, then, the idea must be "new." Of that, more later. Also, it must have been "invented"—that is, conceived by the inventor through the exercise of the creative faculty, and not merely by imitation. Again, the idea must be "useful"—that is, applied to the production of a practical result. There is an exception to this last statement in "design" patents, which cover merely the aesthetic appearance or ornamentation of the article, and are not directed to a practical or "useful" function.

Now, having found out just what a patent is, let us next consider, generally, the kind that fail and those that succeed.

In the beginning, it must be admitted that the majority of patents issued to inventors, week in and week out, do not return to them even the cost of taking out these paterts, not to mention the time and expense of developing the ideas to the point of filing the applications in Washington. There are many reasons for this unfortunate condition, some of which it is our purpose to explain, and to suggest means of correcting or largely eliminating. Other reasons exist which cannot be removed, and so they will be clearly pointed out, in the hope that many of these useless patents may in the future be eliminated.

In spite of the many patent failures, it is nevertheless true that for every ten of them that result in a loss to the inventor, there is one, or possibly two, that returns a profit so great as to many times wipe out the combined loss from the failures, and leave a handsome surplus besides.

New Inventions

THIS department, conducted by Ray Belmont Whitman, patent attorney of New York, was inaugurated with THE SHOWMAN last month and will appear as a regular feature. It is Mr. Whitman's purpose to keep the industry abreast of the latest patented inventions.

He offers the readers of MOTION PICTURE NEWS advice without obligation on any subject connected with patents, trade marks, designs and copyrights. All inquiries should be addressed "Patent Editor."

Newspaper accounts frequently attest to the more sensational of these successes. Only recently there was the report of a check for $1,000,000 having been drawn in favor of a Russian immigrant boy for his patent rights on an automatic photograph apparatus. A few years ago Major Armstrong, who invented the regenerative circuit for radio receivers, is said to have received for his patent rights $500,000 from several large electrical companies.

In this author's more recent personal experience, one inventor of a non-set automatic stop for phonographs was paid $124,000 in royalties by one large phonograph company, in less than three years, and for rights secondary to their own. During a recent investigation of the alien-owned patents taken over by the government in the name of the Chemical Foundation, it was revealed that a large camera company had long been paying $100,000 a month in royalties for the use of a small group of German-owned patents.

These only typify a few of many instances; for there are thousands of cases where the cash rewards from patented inventions have meant financial independence for their inventors and promoters.

But the inventor who seeks to profit under the patent laws must know what to invent, and also what not to invent. This is a very large question, but a little general advice will prove of value.

The inventor has the best chance of success who confines his inventive efforts to a field, or industry, about which he knows something; such, for instance, as the one in which he earns his livelihood. Many of the patent failures are due to the fact, as someone has facetiously remarked, that "the Iowa farmer attempts to invent a new form of submarine or the Cape Cod fisherman, a new threshing machine!"

Again, invent something in line with your mental capabilities and your financial station in life. For instance, if you are an average citizen without too much money or technical knowledge, don't try to invent anything too complicated, such as a new form of gas-turbine to drive an automobile; for the experimental work and the cost of the first model necessary to determine the practicability of such highly technical machines, runs into tens of thousands of dollars, and this burden must often first be shouldered by the inventor before he can hope to get anyone to finance him further. A well-to-do technician, such as John Hays Hammond, Jr., might well attack such a problem, but not a poor inventor.

Incidentally, this very condition is often the salvation of the poor inventor, since it forces him to invent in those more simple fields, where perhaps most of the great fortunes have been made in invention.

Speaking about the profits from simple inventions recalls the case of the Cedar Rapids, Iowa, inventor of Eskimo Pie, who is said to have realized a royalty of as much as $35,000 a week from merely putting a coating of chocolate on a piece of ice-cream. Then there was the shoe cobbler of Elyria, Ohio, with a fortune in seven figures, made in a few years, according to sworn testimony in court, from a rubber heel.

The cost of patenting and perfecting a simple invention is usually so little that any poor man can afford the risk, whereas with complicated and more technical conceptions, large sums must invariably be spent before even being able to determine if the subject matter of the invention is of a useful or money-making character.

Questions and Answers

Readers are urged to avail themselves of this free service for advice on the subjects of patents, trade marks, designs and copyrights. If a personal answer is desired a stamp should be enclosed with the inquiry; otherwise the question and its answer will appear in this section in the first available issue. Address all questions to the Patent Editor, care of MOTION PICTURE NEWS. (Write on one side of the paper only, giving full name and address and business connection (only initials will be published if requested.)

Q. (1)—I have obtained a patent on my invention but am now told that I may not have the right to manufacture and sell it without infringing some patent belonging to another. I thought the government would not grant a patent unless it was free of such infringement. Please advise what is the fact.—Charles De Forest, Buffalo, N. Y.

A. (1)—The government grants patents irrespective of possible infringement. The search made by the Patent Office before the granting of a patent is only directed to determine whether the invention is new and patentable. It may be only an improvement of some other person's patent, in which case that earlier patent might be infringed. Thus you would have the right to prevent others from infringing the claims of your patent without having the right yourself to use your own invention without infringing the rights of others. This point will be explained fully in a later article of the series being published in THE SHOWMAN.

Q. (2)—Is it possible to sell or license a patent right on an invention before the patent is issued and while it is still in the application state?—D. W., Washington, D. C.

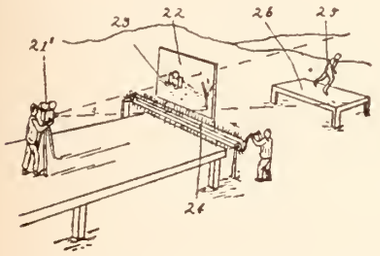
A. (2)—It most certainly is. In fact, many valuable license royalty contracts as well as outright sales of patents are effected before the patent is issued. After you have filed your application you can proceed to try and market your invention and patent-right-to-be.

Q. (3)—What is the total cost for filing a patent application on a simple invention and how much more will it cost before the patent has been obtained? — Lawrence Miller, New York City, N. Y.



A. (3)—About $135 to $150 should cover the cost of preparing and filing the papers, including the drawing, the attorney's fees and the government filing fee of $20; thereafter two or three amendments at perhaps $25 each and a final fee of $25, to the government will secure the patent. These latter expenses, however, are spread over several years usually.

Q. (4)—Does it pay to take out many foreign patents?—A. D., Bronx, N. Y.

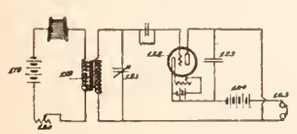
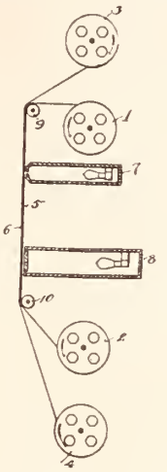
A. (4)—It usually does not pay to take out many of them but it is advantageous to protect the invention in the several most important foreign countries, such as: Great Britain, Germany, France, Canada, Japan and possibly one or two of the South American countries. This advice, however, is general, and much depends upon the specific circumstances.

New Patents



1,764,490. METHOD OF MAKING MOTION PICTURES. Pierre Artigue, Los Angeles, Calif. Filed Nov. 12, 1925. Serial No. 68,681. 8 Claims. (Cl. 88—16.)

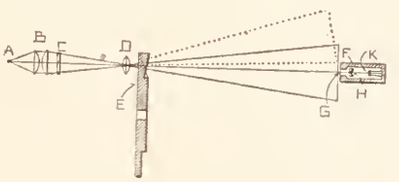
1. In the method of making motion pictures, comprising positioning a transparent screen with an artificial foreground picture thereon in front of a camera, taking a picture of a distant moving object through the screen and shifting the camera relative to the screen to conform to the lateral movements of the object to give the effect of a distant object moving behind and past a foreground.



* * *

1,765,029. SOUND-REPRODUCING APPARATUS. Howard J. Murray, Brooklyn, N. Y., assignor to R. M. Company, Inc., East Pittsburgh, Pa., a Corporation of Delaware. Original application filed Sept. 15, 1921. Serial No. 500,938. Divided and this application filed Mar. 21, 1927. Serial No. 178,516. 12 Claims. (Cl. 179—100.3.)

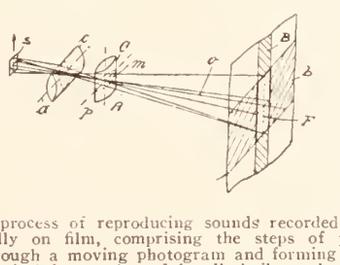
2. In a device of the class described, a light source of constant intensity, means to select a light beam of constant area of cross-section from said source, a sensitive member responding in electrical resistance according to the illumination thereon and comprising a plurality of electrical paths which each has a different resistance from that of the other paths when illuminated by said constant beam, and means to cause said beam to impinge on a selected path whereby to determine the electrical resistance across said member.



1,764,938. METHOD OF PRODUCING TALKING-MOTION-PICTURE FILMS. Lee De Forest, New York, N. Y., assignor to De Forest Phonofilm Corporation, New York, N. Y., a Corporation of Delaware. Filed Apr. 27, 1927. Serial No. 187,026. 2 Claims. (Cl. 95—75.)

2. The method of producing a positive film having sound and picture records thereon from a negative having sound and picture records thereon comprising exposing the picture area of said positive to the picture record of said negative, longitudinally displacing the positive and negative films relatively to each other and exposing the sound area of said positive to the sound record of said negative to produce a positive having the sound and picture records separated a predetermined distance.

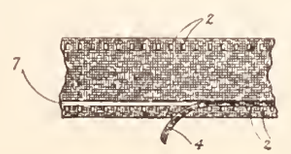
* * *



1,747,173. RADIO VISION ANALYSIS. CHARLES FRANCIS JENKINS, Washington, D. C., assignor to Jenkins Laboratories, Washington, D. C., a corporation of the District of Columbia. Filed Mar. 14, 1925. Serial No. 15,587. 2 Claims. (Cl. 178—6.)

1. The method of converting the light values of a picture or the like into electric current values which consists in enlarging said picture by projection, proportionately enlarging the aperture of a single light sensitive cell to preserve the same dimensional relations between the enlarged aperture as exists between the original image and the ordinary aperture before enlargement, then causing the said projected image to sweep over the said enlarged aperture of the light sensitive cell spreading the light passing through said aperture over the greater part of the cell area, and adjusting the several elements until the cell scans a predetermined area of the projected image.

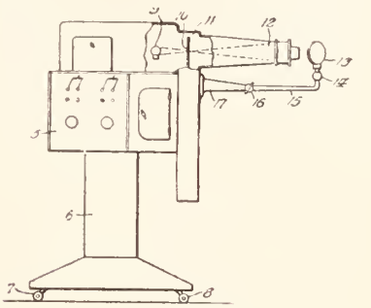
* * *



1,747,261. SOUND REPRODUCTION. ARNOLD POULSEN and AXEL CARL GEORG PETERSEN, Copenhagen, Denmark. Filed Aug. 17, 1926. Serial No. 129,830, and in Germany Sept. 3, 1925. 2 Claims. (Cl. 179—100.)

1. A process of reproducing sounds recorded photographically on film, comprising the steps of passing light through a moving photogram and forming a distorted optical image thereof by dissimilar enlargement of the longitudinal and transverse dimensions of the soundgraphs of the phonogram, and illuminating through said image a light-sensitive cell inserted in a reproducing circuit.

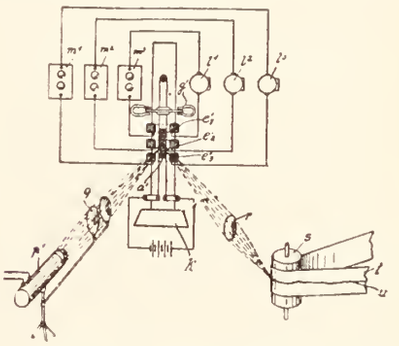
* * *



1,765,944. METHOD OF PREPARING SOUND AND PICTURE FILMS. PAUL C. SEEL, Rochester, N. Y., assignor to Eastman Kodak Company, Rochester, N. Y., a corporation of New York. Filed Mar. 30, 1929. Serial No. 351,243. 5 Claims. (Cl. 88—16.2.)

1. In connection with a photographic film having exposure areas and a related sound track, the method of tinting the exposure areas while keeping the sound-track untinted which comprises applying a removable adhesive layer impervious to tinting material overlying the sound track and applying the tint to all of one side of said film including said layer.

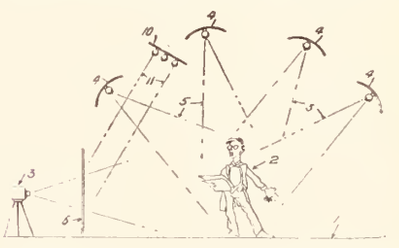
* *



1,765,453. TEL. VISION APPARATUS. GILBERT T. SCHMIDLING, Chicago, Ill., assignor to Alva J. Carter, Chicago, Ill. Filed Mar. 1, 1929. Serial No. 343,644. 2 Claims. Cl. 178—6.)

1. In television apparatus, a device having means for directing a beam of light through a scanning disc and a lens, means associated with said lens for directing the light emanating therefrom in any one of several directions comprising an arm on said device having an extension projecting to a point adjacent the outer end of said lens, and a mirror adjustably mounted on said extension in the field of view of said lens.

* * *



1,765,923. APPARATUS FOR MAKING SOUND RECORDS. HEINRICH KUCHENMEISTER, Berlin, Germany. Filed Dec. 15, 1927, Serial No. 240,327, and in Germany Dec. 15, 1926. 7 Claims. (Cl. 179—100.3.)

1. An apparatus for making sound records comprising a movable recording element including a mirror and an oscillograph loop, a plurality of controlling units, means for projecting light on said mirror, means for moving a sensitized film past said mirror in such a manner as to be struck by the light reflected by said mirror and means intermediate each controlling unit and said recording element for independently, simultaneously and directly influencing said single recording element.

* * *

1,767,668. MEANS AND METHOD FOR TAKING MOVING PICTURES. DAVID WARK GRIFFITH, New York. Filed Apr. 12, 1926. Serial No. 101,299. 2 Claims. (Cl. 88—16.)

2. The process of making moving pictures which consists in positioning a screen having an image thereon which is invisible unless oblique lights be thrown on the screen, illuminating an actor by a series of lights, illuminating with oblique rays the screen by an independent light source, position the camera before the screen and substantially in alignment with the actor and exposing a previously unexposed sensitive film within the camera and before the illuminated screen.

Reservations by Phone for Deaf Picturegoers

Portland, Ore.—Reservations over the telephone are now in order at the Fox Broadway for hard-of-hearing patrons now that special equipment for their benefit has been installed.

Pacific Islands Undeveloped for Equipment Sales

Washington—Islands and small possessions in the Pacific hold few possibilities for American equipment, although if and when those territories extend their amusement interests, the opportunities may be expected to grow with them. This is pointed out in the Department of Commerce report covering equipment potentialities in the East and in Africa.

The report, now appearing in full in Motion Picture News, continues:

Society Islands

From Report by Lewis V. Boyle, American Consul at Tahiti

Projectors.—There are five theatres in the French Establishments of Oceania, and the combined seating capacity of all the theatres is 2,000. All of the theatres are using American motion picture projectors, models 1923 and 1925. All the theatres are equipped with only one projector except the theatre in Papeete, which has two projectors.

Generators.—There is no opportunity for the sale of American generator sets for use in theatres in converting alternating current to direct current, as there is no electric current available in the colony except in the city of Papeete. The four theatres outside that city use individual power plants. The theatre in Papeete is about to be equipped with generator sets purchased in the United States.

Arc Lamps.—There are no high-intensity and mirror-reflector arc lamps used in the theatres in the colony at the present time, although the theatre in Papeete is about to be equipped with such appliances. It is believed that the theatres outside the city are too small to purchase such equipment.

Screens.—Screens in use in all the theatres are made of white cloth painted with water paint.

Visual Education.—Visual education is not used in any of the schools of the colony. There is little possibility for the sale of equipment to the educational institutions of French Oceania, as those institutions do not have funds available for that purpose. The colony is unable to provide for its schools anything other than meager facilities and equipment.

Philippine Islands

From Report by G. C. Howard, American Trade Commissioner, Manila

An American projector and the Pathe are the two types in use in the Philippines. The American machine sells to users from $600 to $1,200, according to equipment, and the Pathé from $500 to $700.

Pathé is the largest seller, by reason of its cheapness, the average theatre in the islands being small and unable to afford any but the lowest-priced equipment. The American projector sells to the largest theatres in the provinces only and to the Manila houses. It is felt that the Pathé would sell to the Manila theatres also if it were a totally inclosed model, but the fire laws of Manila do not allow the use of open types, and for that reason the American machine is used exclusively in Manila. The Pathé machine is said to be simpler to operate, and, therefore, better suited to the needs of theatres having only mediocre operators.

Only the larger theatres in Manila have more than one projector, those in the province using but one.

Except for the five large Manila houses—Lyric, Ideal, Majestic, Savoy and Palace—which use the latest models, projectors are practically all old types.

American and French projectors are both giving good service, and no preference can be found on this score.

Generators.—Practically all electric service in the islands, with exception of Manila, is direct current. In Manila some five or six houses are using generators, but practically all use transformers.

Arc Lamps and Screens.—No high-intensity arc lamps are sold in the Philippines, the mirror-reflector type only being used.

Homemade screens are universally used. One silver screen was installed in a Manila theatre some time ago, but complaints about the reflection and glare were so numerous that it was painted over.

Visual Education.—All matters pertaining to education are under the control of the Department of Public Instruction, Ayutamiento, Intramuros, Manila. No attemps to utilize the motion picture as an educational medium have been made in the Philippine Islands.

Netherland East Indies

From Report by Don C. Bliss, American Trade Commissioner, Batavia

There are only three makes of projectors in use in the Netherland East Indies; the most popular are the Ernemann projectors. It is said that the increasing popularity of those machines is largely due to the excellent service given by its agent. Next in popularity are the Pathé projectors. There are some American machines in use, but they are all old models and the make is not sold in the territory at the present time.

Selling prices of the leading types of projectors are as follows:

Krupp-Erneann:
Doppel-Imperator I	$1,280
Imperator II, model 3375	880
Imperator I, model 3083	560
Imperator I, model 3139	680
Hahn Goerz	622
President, model No. 3098	360
President, model No. 3409	480
Pathé:
Projector, type A. B. R.	150
Professional projector, type A. B. R.	560
Small projector, type N. A. F.	336

Simplicity of construction and operation is the principal selling point in marketing projectors, in view of the fact that native operators are used exclusively in theatres throughout the Netherland East Indies. The operators are not skilled mechanics, can be taught only with difficulty to handle complicated mechanisms, and are not obliged to undergo any examination or test or to go through any course of training.

Most of the theatres are not equipped with more than one projector, and it is estimated that no more than 12 theatres have two projectors. These are all to be found in the larger cities, such as Batavia, Soerabaya, Semarang, and Bandoeng.

By far the majority of the theatres are using all old-model apparatus, although a considerable number of new models were installed during 1927 and 1928. In general, it may be said that there is a fairly constant demand for a small number of new projectors each year.

American projectors are consideed too complicated and their operation too involved for satisfactory use by native operators. This factor outweighs any other considerations, such as the possibility of securing superior results by the use of better equipment.

Generators.—It would be almost impossible to sell American generator sets for use in theatres to convert alternating current to direct current, in view of the fact that equipment from Germany and France is well established in the market, has been demonstrated to be satisfactory, and is sold at prices considerably below those which American manufacturers can quote.

Arc Lamps and Screens.—A number of high-intensity and mirror-reffector arc lamps are used, but only in the larger towns, and almost exclusively in connection with Ernemann projectors. Screens are, for the most part, of local manufacturer, and consist of a simple cloth screen stretched on a frame.

Visual Education.—The Department of Education has under its suervision matters pertaining to education. Purchases are made either in the local market through the central purchasing department or in the Netherlands though a similar purchasing organization. Bids submitted to either of the government purchasing institutions can be entered only through local manufacture, and consist of a simple turers

Practically no attempt has been made to develop organized visual education in the Netherland East Indies, although a few films, such as picturization of the Olympic Games at Bandoeng, have been screened by the Department of Education. Although films of an educational nature have not as yet been introduced, special provision has been made in the censorship laws for such films, and it is possibe that representations made to the Department of Education would receive favorable attention. Before American films could be marketed, some provision would have to be made to overcome the language difficulty, and all titles would have to be made in Dutch, at least; preferably in Dutch and Malay, if the films were to receive wide distribution in the schools.

Seeks Rate Cut

PITTSBURGH — Reduction of 20 per cent on insurance rates is being negotiated for by the Western Pennsylvania and West Virginia exhibitor unit.

A group of insurance companies is included in the negotiations.

Possibilities Good If Pictures Ever Make Dent There

Rebuild Theatre Using Framework

(Continued from page 57)

balcony, the contractor demolished two floors of the office building, carrying the upper floors of the ten-story structure on a truss rising 20 feet above the new roof of the theatre. The balcony extends outward and upward and two existing roof trusses were raised to make room. New anchorages are prepared on existing columns and the truss is raised to its new location and fastened. The steel tower at the center of the auditorium is a temporary structure supporting the derrick which is out of sight far above Broadway's crowds.

To build quickly, the builder must perform on more than one plane. While the balcony is being erected, there is activity below the old orchestra floor.

The columns supporting the structure are carried down to hard rock, in some cases as much as 40 feet beneath the sidewalk.

To Market Flexo Records

San Francisco—Max Graf has organized the Pacific Coast Record Corporation, Ltd., to record and market the Flexo Record which is made in sizes ranging from 3¼ to 16 inches and at both 33 and 78 R.P.M.

RKO RESEATS the STATE LAKE and chooses H-W chairs

THE RKO State-Lake has been reseated with Heywood-Wakefield de luxe, upholstered chairs. Before awarding the contract to reseat this widely-known and important house in the Chicago Loop, RKO officials thoroughly investigated all phases and types of modern theatre seating. . . . RKO selected Heywood-Wakefield theatre chairs because of their style, beauty, long-wearing construction, superior comfort, and sound-absorbing qualities. Publix, Warner Brothers, Roxy, Schine, and scores of other progressive showmen have chosen H-W chairs for the same reason. . . . If you are planning to seat a new house or reseat an old one, get all the facts on this big selling line of theatre chairs. Ask your nearest H-W sales office to tell you why H-W chairs are repeatedly specified by the world's leading showmen.

SALES OFFICES

Baltimore, Md.
Boston, Mass.
Buffalo, N. Y.
Chicago, Ill.
Los Angeles, Calif.
New York, N. Y.
Oklahoma City, Okla.
Philadelphia, Pa.
Pittsburgh, Pa.
Portland, Ore.
San Francisco, Calif.
Seattle, Wash.

HEYWOOD-WAKEFIELD
Theatre Seating Division

Wright-DeCoster Reproducers Successful All Over the World!

A veritable sensation throughout the United States and foreign countries! In this series of advertisements we will not only show that a great number of theatres are using Wright-DeCoster Speakers and Horns but also acquaint theatre owners with the location of nearby sound installation manufacturers.

Read the Endorsements of Prominent Manufacturers of Sound Equipment

AMERICAN THEATRE SUPPLY CO.
J. A. Bradley, President Sioux Falls, S. D.

Wright-DeCoster, Inc. July 12, 1930.
Saint Paul, Minn.

Gentlemen:

We have made a number of replacements of other equipment which has cost considerably more than Wright-DeCoster. We could not understand why the speaker that cost $275.00 could be outclassed with a trial with one that sells for $72.50, but hearing is believing and we left it to the judgment of the exhibitors. Without exception they decided on the Wright-DeCoster.

AMERICAN THEATRE SUPPLY CO., INC., Jos. A. Bradley.

MELLAPHONE CORPORATION
Manufacturers of Synchronous Sound Equipment
Rochester, N. Y.

Wright-DeCoster, Inc., July 15, 1930.
Saint Paul, Minn.

Gentlemen:

We believe that you will be interested in knowing that in the majority of our thirteen hundred Sound Installations Wright-DeCoster Speakers have been used to the great satisfaction of the Exhibitors.

MELLAPHONE CORPORATION, C. Fenyvessy.

THE NATIONAL MOTION-AD CO.
Manufacturers of FETTIFONE TALKING PICTURE EQUIPMENT
CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

Wright-DeCoster Co., July 14, 1930.
St. Paul, Minn.

Gentlemen:

We have been selling Wright-DeCoster speakers as part of our FETTIFONE installations for a year and have never had a complaint. We carefully investigated and tested different speakers before deciding to use the Wright-DeCoster, and we are thoroughly satisfied, both as to quality and service given us.

NATIONAL MOTION-AD COMPANY, R. G. Phillips, Pres.

SONO EQUIPMENT CORPORATION
SONOFILM
Indianapolis, Indiana

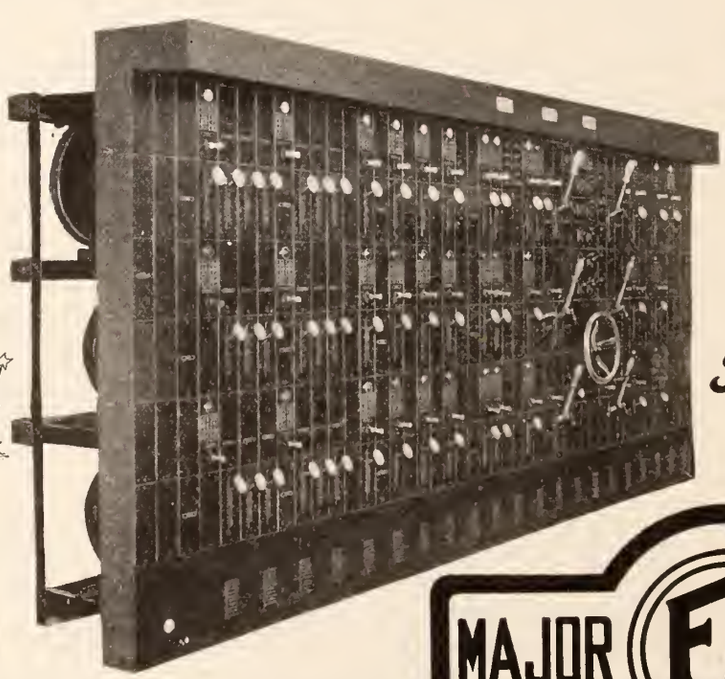
Wright-DeCoster, Inc., July 15, 1930.
St. Paul, Minn.

Gentlemen:

We have been using your Dynamic Unit and Horn for quite a while now and are pleased with their performance. Your speaker has been used on every installation of SONOFILM. We also appreciate the cooperation you have given us.

SONO EQUIPMENT CORPORATION.
R. W. Langsenkamp, Pres.

WRIGHT-DECOSTER, INC., 2229 UNIVERSITY AVE., ST. PAUL, MINN.



Export Dept., M. Simons & Son Co., 25 Warren St., New York.—Cable Address, Simontrice, New York

THIS IS NO. 1 OF A SERIES OF SIMILAR ADVERTISEMENTS

The Popularity of Stage Shows has increased – not diminished

It is box office profits that prove stage show success. The FA Major System is the greatest aid you could have to proper presentations. Every good feature of light control is there.

Frank Adam
ELECTRIC COMPANY
ST. LOUIS

MAJOR FA SYSTEM TRADE MARK

Send for Literature

THE CONTROL OF LIGHTING IN THEATRES

Use of Proper Voltage and Care of Batteries Stressed By McCulloch

Operation of Vacuum Tubes at Proper Voltage Presents Problem—Care and Revival of Storage Batteries Outlined by Fox West Coast Engineer

By R. H. McCULLOCH
Sound Engineer, Fox West Coast Theatres

A. C. LINE voltages throughout the country are not the same and they vary considerably. It is surprising that a leading sound equipment company installs their sound equipment and leaves the exhibitor with a burden which proves to be quite expensive.

We all know that certain amplifiers are not provided with power transformers with variable taps on the primary to permit satisfactory operation on different line voltages. It is a fact that the line voltage in some districts is 115 volts and in many instances 125 volts.

The replacement of vacuum tubes has been enormous in the Western Electric 42-A and 43-A amplifiers. The filaments of those amplifier tubes are lighted from A. C. They are supposed to operate at a certain definite voltage. Above this voltage the filament deteriorates rapidly and burns out.

We have found that this has been the direct cause of so many replacements with 211-E Western Electric vacuum tubes. Incandescent lamps, vacuum tubes and many other things have a guaranteed number of burning hours. This does not signify that the lamp or tube is to be thrown away after the guarantee is used up. Guarantees of this kind are only used to protect the consumer against defective workmanship.

We have some sound equipments which have never had a vacuum tube replacement and the reproduction is very good in these instances. However, there are other theatres which are always having difficulty and upon following these cases through to a conclusion, we have found the line voltage exceedingly high, where A. C. is used to light the vacuum tube filaments.

It must be remembered that the life of anything depends upon the care it receives and this particularly applies to vacuum tubes. Whenever in doubt about the line voltage, secure A. C. voltmeter and see for yourself if the voltage is about 110 volts. If you find the line voltage above 110 volts and varying over wide limits, one of the first things to do is to write a good stiff complaint to the power company.

We have installed voltage regulators, where the voltage varies over wide limits, sometimes being high, sometimes normal and at other times quite low. If the voltmeter test shows the line voltage to be quite high, but uniform, a fixed resistance of the proper value can be used.

Discard Shorted Tubes

When an internal short develops in a vacuum tube discard it immediately. A short circuit of the arrangements in a vacuum tube is very difficult to trace. Do not place a defective tube in the spare parts cabinet, as it may get mixed up with the good vacuum tubes and when you are in a hurry you may grab the defective tube, which may prove serious.

An Expert Speaks

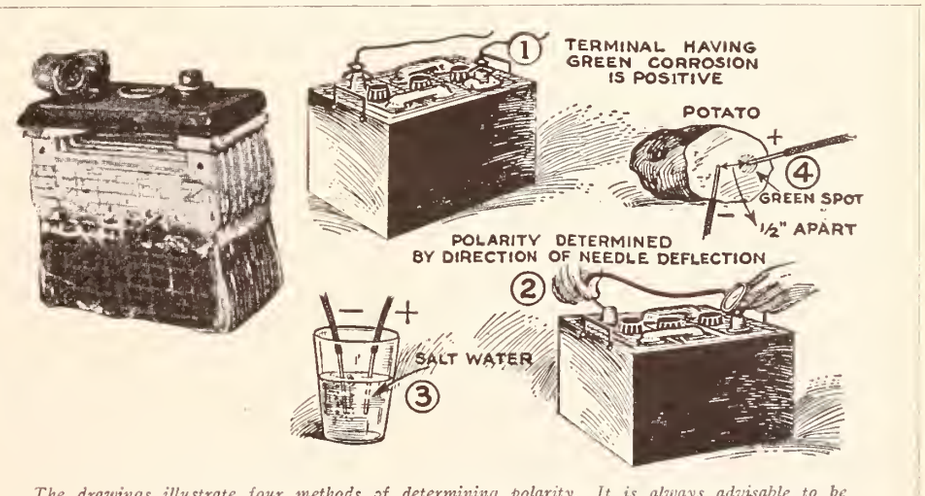
EVERY projectionist must be sufficiently interested in the equipment he is operating, so that he may be able to make corrections in faulty operation, in the opinion of R. H. McCulloch, who herewith offers some suggestions for aiding efficiency in the operation of sound systems. The Fox West Coast engineer is rated one of the leading authorities on sound.

"Good tone quality," he says, "is the ability of an amplifier to evenly and faithfully amplify and reproduce in sounds the music, voice, or other material from the original natural source. All frequencies, from the lowest to the highest, should be amplified to the same extent without exaggeration of some frequencies and suppression of others."

Defective Batteries

Batteries sometimes lose their capacity because the active material has fallen from the plates. This effect will be observed by the inability of the battery to deliver or take an appreciable charge. The remedy is to have the worn-out plates replaced with new ones. A hopeless case is the short-circuited cell of a storage battery.

Sometimes the material that has fallen off the plates piles up under them and short-circuits them—thus causing one or more of the cells to lose its voltage or to lose its charge rapidly. On the other hand, there are many cases where a battery neither behaves badly, nor does it perform well. It has no short-circuited cells, nor does it rapidly lose its charge. But it cannot be charged to the usual specific gravity.



Reviving Batteries

Sometimes the batteries which are in this condition can be revived. The following treatment can be used where the plates of a cell are still in good condition, but have become sulphated and hardened. In the process much of the sulphate is removed and the plates are softened. All the acid, in the first place, must be taken out of the cells. New acid is then added and the battery charged. At first, the battery must be charged slowly. When the specific gravity has reached its maximum value, the charging of the battery should be stopped and all the acid should be drained from the cells. Then they may be refilled with distilled water and the battery discharged through a 6-ohm resistance which is placed across the terminals. The discharging operation will require about 24 hours.

After discharging, the battery should be charged again for about 12 hours at not over 10 amperes and then the charging should be continued at a much slower rate for about 15 to 24 hours more for the purpose of removing any excess of acid from the plates and to take sulphate deposits from them.

This process should be repeated at least twice and possibly three times, removing all the water remaining in the cells and refilling them with fresh distilled water. After this the cells may be filled with a new acid solution which should have a gravity of 1.200 or 1.250. As soon as the new acid solution

(Continued on page 76)

The drawings illustrate four methods of determining polarity. It is always advisable to be sure polarity is correct before making permanent connections. Where battery terminal markings have been effected, one of the above methods can be used for determining polarity. Storage battery, illustrated on the left, must receive careful attention. Note the condition of the plates of the battery by neglecting to keep the electrotype level above the tops of the plates

THE Projectionists' Round Table

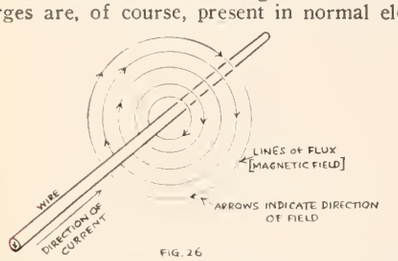
By John F. Rider

WE stated that the flow of electric current through a conductor causes the generation of heat in that conductor. Electric current flow through a conductor causes another very important effect; as a matter of fact, the operation of many electrical devices is due to the presence of this effect. Its generation or presence, if we may call it that, is due to the fact that the electric charges representing the electric current are in motion. An electric charge at rest exerts an electric strain in all directions surrounding its location. A moving charge creates another strain or force known as the magnetic field. The stationary charge has its stationary electric field. The moving charge has its own moving field and the magnetic field is used to designate a property of a moving electric field, by virtue of which property the electric field evokes magnetic forces.

We made mention in Lesson 3 that a substance which will attract iron is said to possess magnetic properties, or the power of attraction and repulsion upon iron. Such a property is possessed by a magnetic field due to a moving field. Quite naturally one would assume that the moving electric field and the magnetic field are one and the same.

In practice, however, it is convenient to consider each a separate entity. One should understand, however, that reference to a magnetic field invariably denotes the presence of a moving electric field. Mention of the electric field when a moving field is discussed is usually omitted and taken for granted.

It might be well at this time to remember that the mention of a moving electric field as it denotes moving charges does not necessarily mean more than one charge. Innumerable charges are, of course, present in normal electric circuits, but a single moving charge would also produce a magnetic field. This fact will receive further comment when we consider magnetic substances.



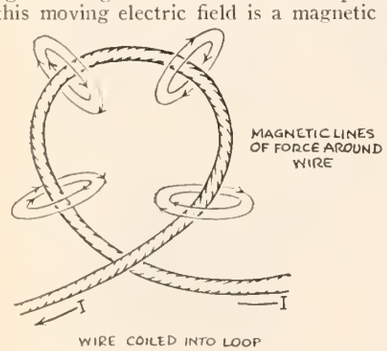


FIG. 26

Referring once more to the effect of current flow through a conductor, the flow of electric current through a wire is the same as moving charges through a wire. The effect produced by this moving electric field is a magnetic field

WIRE COILED INTO LOOP
FIG. 27

surrounding the wire as shown in Figure 26 by the concentric circles surroundings the wire. Now, the flow of the charges or electrons is in a certain definite direction, depending upon the source of potential and, since the magnetic field is produced by the moving charge, it is possible to imagine a definite direction of motion on the part of this field. Thus, the arrows associated with the concentric circles which represent the field. It is customary to refer to this field as consisting of flux lines and the lines are often referred to as magnetic lines of force.

(The magnetic field of a single moving charge is usually classed as constituting a line surrounding the moving charge and, because of the force exerted by this magnetic field, the line is referred to as a magnetic line of force.)

Referring to Figure 26, all wires which carry electric current are surrounded by lines of force

Lesson Ten

MR. RIDER, in this lesson, discusses:

The magnetic effect of electric current flow through a conductor.

The magnetic field around a loop of wire.

The combined magnetic field around two wires.

The polarity of solenoids.

The electro-magnet.

The reason for the magnetic properties of substances.

of flux lines and the direction of the flux lines is dependent upon the direction of the current flow. A general rule known as the finger rule is:

When a wire current electric current is grasped in the hand in such manner that the thumb points in the direction of the current flow, the direction of the flux lines is indicated by remaining fingers about the wire.

Thus, in the illustration, if the current is assumed to be flowing away from the observer, the direction of the flux lines will be toward the right. If a compass is placed near a wire carrying direct current the N pole of the needle will point toward the direction of the magnetic field.

Since there is a definite relation between the direction of the magnetic field and the current flow in one direction, there naturally would be the same relation between the two factors when the current is flowing in the opposite direction. In other words, if the direction of the current were changed so that it flows toward the observer, the direction of the flux lines would be changed so that they would flow toward the left. Mention of left or right in the aforementioned instances is just relative because the lines describe a circle around the wire.

The presence of flux lines around a conductor makes possible the transfer of electrical energy from one point to another without definite metallic contact. The presence of flux lines in magnetic materials makes possible the conversion of mechanical energy into electrical energy. (As an incidental point we wish to remind the reader of the frequently erroneous statement that electrical energy is generated. Such is not the case because the mechanical energy represented by the forces evoked to turn the device is converted into energy into electrical form, just as the heat generated in a resistance when a voltage drop is produced is electrical energy converted into heat.)

If we now imagine the flow of a single charge or, in other words, a constant value of current, the intensity of the magnetic field will be represented by one line of force. If we have a greater number of moving charges, we have a greater number of lines of force. The number can then be expressed as to the intensity of the field and we can say that the intensity of the field is a function of the magnitude of current. If the current flow is maintained at a constant value, the intensity of the field remains constant. If, for some reason, the magnitude of current is continually changed, the intensity of the field will continually vary. Further, if the direction of the current flow is changed the direction of the field will change. Thus, an alternate change in the direction of the flow of current will cause a corresponding alternate change in the direction of the flux lines.

Magnetic Field Around Loop or Wire

Recognizing the presence of a magnetic field around a single length of wire, what is the effect when the wire is coiled as in Figure 27? If we have a field around a length of wire, we naturally have a field around any portion of that wire, no matter how fine the division, just so long as charges move through that conductor, or as long as electric current flows through that conductor. If we now coil the length of wire into a loop as in Figure 27, we produce an effect as if the wire when in a loop is a whirl of moving charges. The line of force now exist within and without the loop, just as if we could imagine the lines of force within the straight conductor as well as outside of the straight conductor.

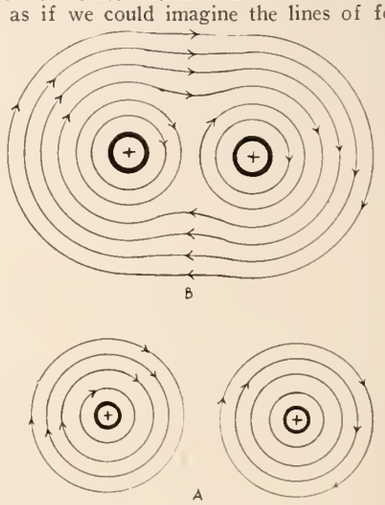

FIG. 28

All the lines of force pass around the conductor in the same direction and are strengthened. So much so that, while a straight length of wire will have very little effect upon a bar of iron, that same length of wire, when formed into a loop and current passed through the conductor, will draw a magnetic substance such as iron into itself. Reference to Figure 27 shows four points at which lines of force surround the conductor. Such lines are to be talking trailers

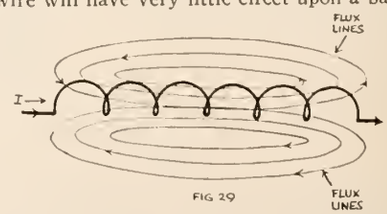

FIG. 29

(Continued on page 77)

THE BEST MEDIUM TO ADVERTISE TALKING PICTURES

2 DISTINCT STYLES
For Sound Equipped Houses
—THE TALKING TRAILER
—THE SOUND TRAILER
ASK OUR SALESMAN TO SCREEN

Entertaining Gems! A Sensation in Advertising!

NATIONAL SCREEN SERVICE
126 W. 46th ST. NEW YORK
CHICAGO 810 SO. WABASH AVE.
LOS ANGELES 1972 SO. VERMONT AVE.

PROTECT

Your

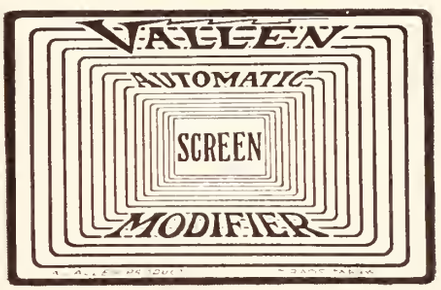
CASH RECEIPTS

with

AUTOMATIC GOLD SEAL REGISTERS

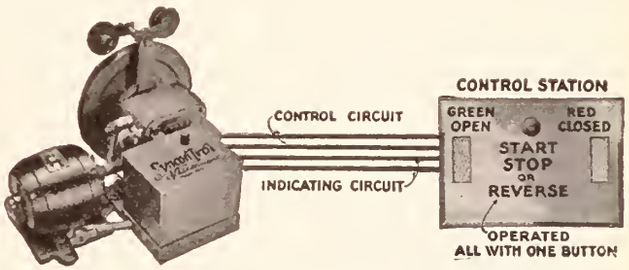
and

SIMPLEX TICKET REGISTERS



SPEED ACCURACY EFFICIENCY

CATALOGUE AND TERMS UPON REQUEST OR REPRESENTATIVE, IF YOU PREFER, WITHOUT OBLIGATION.



GENERAL REGISTER CORP.
PARAMOUNT BUILDING, TIMES SQUARE
NEW YORK, N. Y.
J. C. ENSLEN, Gen. Sales Mgr.

Modern Equipment Helps Provide Perfect Programs

Vallen Theatrical equipment simplifies the operation of stage equipment and provides synchronous operation with screening requirements. Vallen equipment is safe, noiseless and absolutely practical in design; creating a distinct atmosphere of dignity that reflects fitness in the presentation of sound pictures.

The Vallen Automatic Screen Modifier is a practical, electrically operated push button controlled device, that definitely solves all screen modifying problems. It can be used with all large size or mammoth screens for showing Grandeur, Magnascope, Widescope or any size film. It is readily and easily installed, compact, occupying no space beyond the screen frame it embodies. Electrical push button stations can be conveniently located for operation from the stage or projection room. Its operation is noiseless and instantaneous.

The Syncontrol was developed to operate curtains at the proper speed rate for Talking Pictures. Curtains can be started, stopped or reversed at any point of travel. Curtain Position Indicator mounted in the projection room. Always shows the exact position of curtains in relation to the screen.

Complete detailed description of Vallen Theatrical Equipment and facts showing how theatres are kept modern will be furnished on request.

VALLEN ELECTRICAL CO., Inc.
AKRON, OHIO

VALLEN
THEATRICAL EQUIPMENT

Television Won't Replace Theatre

(Continued from page 58)

this will become more apparent when wide-screen projection, with the lifelike backgrounds and perspective this brings into view, is generally adopted in public theatres. Mechanically, artistically, phychologically, the public theatre as a focal point for mass entertainment promises to continue as a permanent factor.

Already the home motion-talking picture projector is a practical accomplishment and many interests are working toward the solution of the enormous problem of film production and distribution which the theatre of the home presents.

The value of a picture depends upon how well it is liked by the public and how often it can make the rounds of exhibition. The problem is great enough as applied to more than 22,000 public theatres in the United States; it is immensely greater when considered in relation to theatres in millions of homes. But here again I am confident science and research will come to the aid of industry. The very immensity of the problem is a challenge to the laboratory, which is now called upon to produce photographic means and methods that will insure the more economical production and the larger supply of positive prints from the same negative.

Meantime, equipment for recorded music and speech has been made available to the home through the electric phonograph, born of the association of the phonograph and radio industries. It is the immediate means of selective entertainment now offered to the home. By it every music lover can make his own program and suit his own taste in musical culture.

But the electric phonograph has an even larger significance to the theatre of the home. The phonograph record now sold like a book or a piece of sheet music will continue to be the basis of the musical or educational home library. The phonograph record is an animated work of reference and entertainment.

Finally comes the promise of television as applied to the theatre of the home. Important as has been our progress in the development of sight transmission, great technical problems still remain to be solved before such a service can be established upon a practical basis. Some of the factors involved are readily appreciated when one considers that television programs of continuing entertainment value would require the transmission of approximately 20 pictures or more per second, each picture the equivalent of somewhere between 5,000 and 10,000 picture elements. From our present knowledge of the principles of radio communication, the frequency bands required for such television transmission would run from 50,000 to 100,000 cycles or more. New channels of communication must be provided in space and they must be made relatively free from electrical interference.

Televised Events Foreseen

In the organization of a broadcasting service by television the question immediately arises how a spontaneous event may be placed before the greatest possible number of spectators, allowing for the fact that such events are apt to occur in the daytime, the difference in time in various parts of the country and the family gathering hours in the evening.

Nevertheless, the opportunities for entertainment and education which television brings into view are much greater than its service problems. Television could be harnessed to the motion picture screen so that a great event might be simultaneously recorded in a number of key cities throughout the nation and the talking-motion picture film distributed again by television to millions of homes some hours after the actual occurrence. Television, when it does come upon a practical service basis, promises to supply a vast invisible channel of distribution for motion pictures in the home.

The inspiration and opportunity for creative talent will be multiplied manifold by the enlarged cultural conception of entertainment which selective programs will make possible. There is no saturation point to the vast public interest in everything that entertains, amuses, informs or instructs. The new age of electrical entertainment which will bring the artist to the public, the lecturer to his audience and the educator to his student body offers a vast field of opportunity to creative talent.

Foto-Voice 33-1/3 R.P.M. synchronous motor-driven turntable unit distributed nationally by Stone & Heath, Inc.

Escalators Advocated

USE of escalators in theatres is being advocated by the Otis Elevator Co. The firm is recommending a cleat type of escalator, reversible to run in either direction. A button is provided at the landing. Up and down escalators are most desirable, according to Otis.

In addition to escalators, regular fire stairways have to be provided, in order to meet building requirements.

Claim New Fabric Is Acoustic Aid

Milwaukee — The National Rug Mills, Inc., has placed on the market a new type of fabric to improve acoustics in the auditorium of theatres, schools and public buildings. It is known as Auditec and is fastened directly on the walls or ceiling.

Auditec is made of a strong vegetable fibre product "needled" to a surfacing material that resembles loosely woven monks cloth. It is permanently vermin-proof. By a special process it is transformed into a decorative richness by the application of analine dye, which colors but is said not to impair the absorbent qualities.

A selection of six mellow colors is offered and the fabric, when in place, resists a hot flame directly applied against its surface. It can be nailed to concrete or brick walls with concrete nails and offers little lodging for dirt. It can be cleaned readily with a wall brush or a vacuum cleaner.

The firm furnishes a questionnaire free, which if filled out enables its engineers to determine the area needed to be covered with Auditec and its proper location. It is designed for easy installation and a specially cut wood moulding that covers the edge of the panels is included at slight additional cost.

William C. Knoernschild is vice president of the National Rug Mills, Inc., and H. J. Knoernschild, secretary and treasurer.

General Register To Have Own Branches

Establishment of a national system of distribution is planned by J. C. Enslen, general sales manager of General Register Corp., which recently took over Automatic Ticket and Register Corp.

General Register is to produce a number of vending devices but will not handle tickets. Enslen formerly was president of the World Ticket and Supply Co.

New Model "D" Van Horne-Flewelling tube checker.

One Cooling Plant To Serve 2 Houses

TOLEDO—A refrigeration plant that will serve both the Rivoli and the Palace, recent R-K-O acquisitions here, is to be installed in the basement of the Rivoli. The fact that the houses are separated only by a 10-foot areaway convinced engineers that one major installation could be made to control the temperature and purity of the air in both, so work is going forward at once on this distinctly unique project. The Cooling and Air Conditioning Corporation, New York, has been entrusted with the job, which is regarded as one of the most unusual in theatre building annals.

There will be one refrigeration unit, consisting of three variable speed rotary condensers with the latest automatic safety devices and highly simplified controls, coupled with a separate conditioning unit in each theatre. A forced draft cooling tower, of 1,250-gallon capacity, on the Rivoli roof will insure the water supply. The cost of the complete installation, which will be of the down draft type will drop panel work throughout, is estimated at $103,000. It will have a capacity of 250 tons, 90 of which will provide for the Palace's seating capacity of 1,200 and the rest for the Rivoli, which as remodeled will accommodate 2,800, although it will be possible to concentrate the whole capacity of the plant on either house at will.

Water refrigeration will be attended to by the main unit of the cooling system under thermostat regulation and piped to the air washing apparatus in each theater, one control room serving for the entire system. The complete installation, incidentally, will require the attention of but one man for its operation. The room which will house the central unit formerly was a ballroom operated in conjunction with the theatre for a season or two after it opened in 1920 and waste space since then.

Both houses now are undergoing extensive alterations, the remodeling program being expected to dig into the R-K-O coffers about $350,000 worth. Other changes being made under the direction of John Eberson, architect, include the removal of boxes in both theatres, addition of two huge arches in the Rivoli and the shifting about of office and wash room space. New seats, carpets, stage equipment and RCA wiring are being installed in both houses. Alterations are being made under the supervision of D. P. Canavan, manager of R-K-O's eastern construction department.

According to present plans the theatres, which were purchased from the Sourbier interests April 1, will be reponed on Labor Day, the Rivoli with a vaudeville and picture policy, the Palace with pictures exclusively.

Howard Feigley is resident manager of the joint enterprise and the houses will be a unit of J. E. Firnkoess' division, headquarters of which are in Cleveland.

New Chair Is Placed On Market by Stones

Philadelphia—L. E. and E. C. Stone recently placed on the market a 12 gauge steel chair, which has six ball bearings to each hinge.

Made on the premises. Home-made cooling system developed by Clarence Wilkerson for Loew's Strand at Memphis

Home Made Cooling System at Memphis

Memphis—Loew's Strand, equipped with the old style fan system, found the air sucked into the theatre was merely the hot air from the street. Various ways and means of cooling the theatre were discussed and the solution was hit upon by Wilkerson, the porter. Being somewhat of a "jack-of-all-trades," Clarence conceived the idea of installing water sprays similar to the large plants and cooling the water by ice.

A large box "C" was constructed with cement base and heavy wooden sides. Inside of this box 32 large 50-gallon iron containers (the same as used in ice plants to mold ice cakes) were placed and connected by pipes. Packing of sawdust was placed around these cans and large lid on top. Valves as shown on attached diagram "A" controlled the water in the various cans. Motor and pump "D" pump the water from the "pan" beneath the sprays back into the ice-box whence it is recirculated into the sprays.

"B" as shown in the accompanying illustration is connected with a floater that shuts on or off the valves when the water level reaches a certain point.

The whole cost of the outfit did not exceed $250. And, believe it or not, the results are satisfactory. The temperature in the theatre, seating about 1,200, is sometimes more comfortable than the larger houses with the latest types of cooling plant.

Landscaping Part of Fox West Coast Enterprise

Hollywood—Landscaping assumes an important role in plans completed for the Fox Los Feliz, to be built at Vermont and Franklin Aves. Morgan, Wells & Clements are the architects. Every seat in the house will be a loge seat, fully upholstered in leather. The grounds around the house will be landscaped with flowers and trees.

A sketch of the exterior of the Los Feliz, as conceived by the architectural firm of Morgan, Wells & Clements, is illustrated on page 37 of this edition.

Mercury Sells Coolness

Canandaiga, N. Y.—A seven-foot-high thermometer with movable red rod to represent the mercury is the means used to sell his cooling system by Manager William McFarlane of the Fox Playhouse. In addition, he has a marquee electric sign, "Come In Here. It's Cool."

Gries Sound Film Reproducer Ready

Gries Reproducer Co., now is marketing a portable sound-on-film reproducing system equipped with mechanical features and a special lens block. Provision has been made for addition of a turntable where desired. There are no illuminated or projected slits, the company states, pointing out that the image is obtained by an arrangement of lenses which results in a slit of .001 inches in width. The light source is the standard 32 watt exciter lamp.

The electrical system consists of an amplifier system giving a total amplification of 100-125 Db and is powered entirely from an A.C. 110 volt source. The output stage is capable of delivering 3 watts of power. An attenuator system controls the volume and changeover is accomplished by a switch, thereby eliminating readjustment of the fader. The changeover switch simultaneously controls the exciter lamps. A power unit delivers direct current to the various circuits including the excitor lamps and the photo electric cells, and is designed for either one or two projectors. The complete electrical system is housed in one metal container with plug connections placed to receive the house line and the speaker cables.

Sound is distributed by two exponential horns placed behind the sound screen. These speakers provide sound distribution for auditoriums with a seating capacity of 300 persons. The speakers are connected to the main system with a single cable. The screen is mounted on a collapsible stand suitable for a 7x9 picture. All these elements are packed in either one or two trunks depending on the number of projectors making a simple and compact unit and easily portable.

Anderson Offering New Sound-on-Film System

Anderson Electric Sound Research has developed a new sound-on-film unit. This follows introduction of a photolytic cell by the Arcturus Radio Tube Co. Simplicity of attachment and operation is a feature claimed for the new equipment. The device has no gears or shafts with low cost of operation claimed as an added feature.

While the performance of the unit is made possible by the photolytic cell, the cell also adds its own qualities, it is stated. This, it is claimed, eliminates background noises, has low coupling, impedance is shock proof and non-microphonic.

The new unit consists of two sound-on-film heads, photolytic cells, pre-amplification and exciting lamps. The attachment, it is claimed, can be hooked to any make projector and will be sold outright for $1,000.

Gets Westinghouse Post

C. E. Stephens now is serving as commercial vice-president of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Co., in charge of the Atlantic division with headquarters in New York. His recent election to the post climaxes 30 years of association with the company. He formerly was a district manager. Stephens is a director of the American Institute of Electrical Engineers students as well as talent to the theatre.

Boosting Kids Helps the B.O.

(Continued from page 53)

Where you do not have sewing classes or manual training classes, you can still have exhibits for children, and these might be something as outlined further on.

Doll and Toy Show

Here is a stunt which can be well employed in one of your houses even though you have a tie-up with the schools for the sewing and manual training exhibit. This can be in addition to the other, or even by itself will prove interesting.

Have a doll show with prizes offered for the dolls most effectively dressed. There can be a prize for the most beautiful doll, for the most comical doll, the largest doll, the smallest doll, and the most unusual doll, etc. This will interest young children, and the older ones as well as girls who are interested in showing, may enter dolls in the contest especially if you offer some prizes.

There should be a prize for little girls, such as a baby doll, and the prize for the more grown up girl—such as a toilet set or silk stockings, or a party bag, or some such gift.

These prizes might be promoted, or, of course, can be obtained quite inexpensively.

So that the exhibit would be interesting to boys as well as girls, you could have along with the doll show, a display of home-made toys or aeroplanes, or radios. Here again, you would offer prizes for the best home-made toy—perhaps a prize for the best radio, or the best aeroplane, etc. These, however, would have to be home-made because they have to show children's skill and the poor youngsters should have some chance at the prizes as much as the ones who can afford more expensive playthings.

At the close of the contest, the prize winning articles can be exhibited in one of the stores, either in the window, the toy department, or children's department, and thus advertise the theatre.

Special Children's Matinees

In connection with the children's activities outlined you can make these exhibits have a general appeal if you employ some stunts such as the following:

Harmonica contest, balloon blowing contest, aeroplane sailing contest, milk-drinking contest.

There are a number of other stunts along these lines which you can figure out.

In the milk-drinking contest, of course, the prize goes to the child who drinks the milk the quickest. The children are lined up on the stage and provided with straws.

With the balloon-blowing contest, the children blow up these ballons and the child that blows up the balloon the largest size, gets the prize.

A lot of fun is created if you have the children eat crackers and then see which one can whistle first after he has swallowed the cracker crumbs.

The aeroplane-sailing contest is staged as follows: Use little aeroplanes such as you received recently from the Sail-Me Company (in connection with "Young Eagles.") Train a couple of youngsters in advance to sail these planes cleverly. They can be made to loop the loop by putting a little weight on the tail (a very small paper clip will do), and they can be made to sail over the audience and back to the stage. Offer a prize to the youngster that can sail the planes best. I think two boys who know how to do it should start off the stunt and then ask for children to come up on the stage and try.

The harmonica contest, of course, you understand how to operate. You can have any number of these stunts worked out using some each Saturday, or at after-school matinees, employing them, of course, in the house where you have a picture suitable for children.

The Kiddies' Club

A very successful Kiddies' Club has been worked out in Bloomington by Manager Lawler. You might do the same thing in your town and employ as part of the club activities some of the stunts as outlined in this manual together with ideas submitted by Mr. Lawler. He has built his club around the organist, but where you do not have an organist, you can still have a club.

The club was started at a matinee which opened at one o'clock and the manager addressed the children telling them that it would be lots of fun for everyone and asked the children to submit their idea of a name for the club, and he offered a prize for the best name—the one that would be selected. This was a free show, but of course, you do not need to start with a free show unless you see fit.

The following week was a candy matinee with the manager obtaining the candy free of charge. Another week, the head of the Boy Scouts was sent to address the children on "Americanism" and each week some city official will appear at the matinee to talk to the children on "Safety." The children have been provided with club buttons.

You can work out something along these lines and have a local athletic coach to talk there one Saturday, and perhaps another day, someone from the library to tell stories and talk to the children about books and another Saturday have a singing contest.

Have the children send in cards telling when their birthday is, and then through the columns of the newspaper, list names of children who have birthdays, and are, therefore, entitled to get in free by identifying themselves at the door. They would have to bring in a birthday card which you would send them.

Along these lines, you can perhaps use a ticket which when used five or six consecutive times, entitles the child to see a seventh show free of charge. They might be used instead of buttons and they would be punched each Saturday.

If you start a Kiddies' Club, you will find some additional stunts on the following page

(Continued on page 74)

HUB

The Most Valuable Theatre Lighting Handbook—FREE

For many years The Hub Electric Company has been a leader in designing, building, and installing complete theatre lighting systems. Many of America's finest motion picture theatres—including those noted for their superb stage presentations—have been completely equipped by Hub.

The results of these years of experience—backed by unceasing research and extensive investigations—are to be found in this comprehensive manual. It is compiled in loose-leaf form so that new material can be added as needed—thus constantly keeping it up to date.

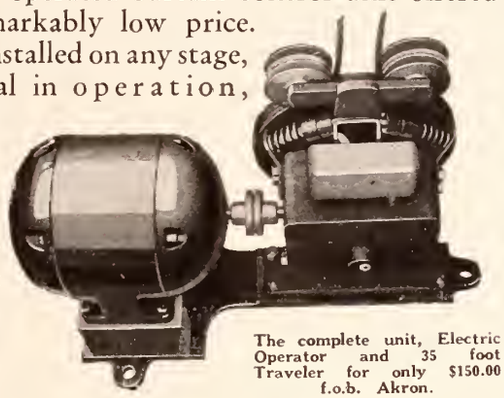
A copy will be sent without charge or obligation to everyone interested in this most important department of successful motion picture theatre operation.

HUB ELECTRIC COMPANY

Sound Reproduction Equipment
Stage Switchboards
Footlights
Borderlights
Stage Pockets
Emergency and Exit Lighting Units
Cove Lighting

Complete Theatre Lighting Equipment

Factory and General Offices



2219-2225 West Grand Avenue
Chicago
Telephone Seeley 6440-1-2-3

Branch Offices in New York, Toledo, Milwaukee, Minneapolis

Exit Signs
Spotlights
Service Boards
Panelboards
Usher Signals
Directional Signs
Flood Lights
Mobile Flood Lighting Equipment

A Low-Priced Electrical Curtain Control Unit

A compact, simple, practically designed and efficiently operated curtain control unit offered at a remarkably low price. Readily installed on any stage, economical in operation, proved in performance by years of service thruout the world.

The complete unit, Electric Operator and 35 foot Traveler for only $150.00 f.o.b. Akron.

The ECONOQUIPMENT MFG. CO.
225 Bluff Street Akron, Ohio

Traveltrol
TRADE MARK

MACY SOUND EQUIPMENT
Pays For Itself
OVER AND OVER AGAIN

An exceptionally fine talking picture equipment (the choice of hundreds of theatres) because we guarantee full range of Sound throughout the area of your theatre and offer it at an inexpensive price.

Good Sound Is More Important Than Good Pictures. If you want good box office receipts you must have good sound equipment.

A MACY HORN IMPROVES ANY INSTALLATION 100%

It is a perfect sound reproducer and extremely easy to install. No loss of pitch, no drumming tone, withstands all climatic conditions because made of the finest acoustic properties.

Especially Recommended for THEATRES — ICE SKATING RINKS — LARGE AUDITORIUMS — DANCE HALLS — SWIMMING POOLS — CHURCHES, etc.

Macy 10 ft. Model S-120 concert type

NOTE — Our smaller model Horn, S-72 (suspension type) is designed especially for small capacity houses. Ask about it.

Booklet on Request

MACY MANUFACTURING CORP.
1451 Thirty-ninth Street, Brooklyn, N. Y.

4000 THEATRES COOLED WITH ARCTIC NU-AIR

"SILENT AS THE SPHINX"

"WILL Arctic Nu-Air cool my theatre to my complete satisfaction?" This is the question that has been asked by more than 4,000 theatre owners and operators—and successfully answered by this equipment.

Arctic Nu-Air fills the theatre with brisk cooling currents of fresh air. If you had an individual electric fan for every person in the audience you could not get better results. And in addition to cooling, Arctic Nu-Air completely changes the air every three minutes.

The new model embodies many valuable exclusive features, including a beautifully decorative grill that harmonizes with any surroundings.

Costs less to buy, less to install, less to operate. An all-year necessity. Write for this book and detailed information.

Arctic Nu-Air Corporation

2103 Kennedy St. N. E., Minneapolis, Minn.

PACIFIC COAST DISTRIBUTORS
B. F. SHEARER CO.
SEATTLE PORTLAND LOS ANGELES

ARCTIC NU-AIR CORP.
2103 Kennedy St., N. E.
Minneapolis, Minn.

Gentlemen: Without obligation on my part, please give me detailed information about the ARCTIC NU-AIR COOLING and VENTILATING SYSTEM.

Name.....

Name of Theatre.....

Address.....

City.....State.....

Boosting Kids Helps the B.O.

(Continued from page 72)

which can be worked out in connection with the club or as individual activities which will appeal to children and will stimulate attendance.

Prize Matinees

You can obtain children's watches guaranteed for one year made in wrist watch style with a leather band, while gold filled case and otherwise very attractive at a nominal cost.

We gave some of these away in one of our towns and they made a big hit. They appealed to children up to 16 and 17 years of age and come in both boys' and girls' styles.

You can also purchase go-ponies each and those, of course, have a strong appeal for children up to 10 years of age.

You might, therefore, work out some prize matinees at which you would give away two watches and two go-ponies or more or less. Two of each would make your matinee cost you about $9, and if this is too much, you can give away fewer prizes.

This, I think, will stimulate attendance because they are prizes that children will want.

Where it is possible to use your stage, you can have go-pony races offering a prize such as a box of candy or a toy for the child winning the race.

To do this, you line the children up at the end of the stage, start them off and determine the winner and then let another group race, until you have three or four winners and then match these winners in a final race. You could give a go-pony perhaps to the winner, and you could give away candy prize to the other participants in the race.

Dancing School Tie-Ups

It always means extra money at the box-office if you can arrange for the local dancing schools to put on an exhibition in addition to your performance.

Teachers are always anxious to exhibit their pupils and especially at this time of year when all the dancing schools have their closing programs.

In the towns where we have this as an annual or semi-annual event, it never fails to stimulate business for the nights. Why not work this out as one of your tie-ups? It will not cost you anything but the stage hands as most dancing schools have to use their own pianist who is familiar with the work of accompanying the children.

By putting on the dancing revue once between shows, those who do not care to see it will not have to sit through it, and you can depend on it that the parents and friends of those participating will be on the job to see the show.

Watch Extinguishers

REFILLING of fire extinguishers containing soda and acid or foamite solution should be done at least once a year. Extinguishers containing tetra-chloride solution should be shaken well twice a year. Whenever a fire extinguisher is used, it should be drained of its contents and refilled. A label carrying the date of refilling and inspection is an aid.

Serials

If you are getting "King of the Congo" or "Hunting Tigers in India," do not let it open "cold" but play it up in advance.

Balloons with animal pictures are very cheap, and you can distribute these in advance as a means of advertising the opening of the picture.

It would be a good idea to open your serial by distributing tickets in advance to the children who would use them throughout the serial and if they attend all the performances up to the last one, and if their tickets are punched to indicate this, they may see the last performance free.

Some Reminders

Don't forget, if you use street ballyhoos such as cowboys on horseback to advertise "Lights of Western Stars," or "The Texan," or any other pictures of this kind, send the cowboy to the schools. By the same token, if you are using an aeroplane over the city to advertise "Young Eagles," or any kind of an outdoor ballyhoo at all to advertise the picture that has any appeal to the children, get this ballyhoo in the neighborhood of the schools at dismissal time.

Children will go home and talk about the ballyhoo as it will impress them more than it will adults.

Don't forget to use the information on pictures recommended by the Parent-Teachers.

Don't forget to bring your special children's attractions and activities to the attention of the P. T. A.

To get a notice on the literary bulletin board when you have a speaker from the city to talk on "Safety."

To get a notice on the library bulletin board when you have a librarian to talk about books and tell stories.

To get bulletins up in the schools and library, when you have children's exhibits in the lobby such as the doll show, and aeroplane show.

To mention your activities in your newspaper advertising.

To talk to the children yourself or even through the public address system in your theatre, impressing upon them your various children's activities.

SYNCRODISK

STANDS THEM UP!

Clear, Sweet, Life-like—that is Syncrodisk quality reproduction. It holds a steady patronage who tell their friends and thus build up your business.

SYNCRODISK SOUND - ON - FILM—People, many people, have stopped to tell the house managers it is by far the best they've ever heard. Over 20 sold and delivered.

SYNCRODISK TURNTABLE — The machine that built the Weber reputation. Beautifully designed and constructed for dependable, long, trouble-free service. Over 1,300 in use. Two Turntables with Pick-ups and Fader, complete $500.

SYNCRODISK JUNIOR—Similar in design and quality to the big one but built for the small house, the part time movie, school, church or auditorium. Two Turntables with Pick-ups and Fader, complete $150.

WEBER MACHINE CORPORATION

59 RUTTER ST. ROCHESTER, N. Y.

Draperies

Decorations

Magnascope Screens

340 W. 41st ST.

NOVELTY SCENIC STUDIOS

BUILT ON MERIT

Settings

Acoustical Treatments

Acoustical Banners

New York City

Shrubs & Flowers

FOR

Auditorium, Lobbies and Foyers

DECORATING OF ORCHESTRA PITS A SPECIALTY

Write for Catalogue No. 7

FRANK NETSCHERT, Inc.

61 BARCLAY STREET NEW YORK. N. Y.

August Rich With Opportunities To Stage Special Shows for Children

(Continued from page 52)

WM. CAREY, Aug. 17.
English missionary to India.
(a) Guest of honor: returned missionaries and world travelers.
(b) President of Missionary Society of local church to tell of experiences of missionaries in various countries, the hardships, etc.
(c) Display of stars and stripes and union jack.

PICTURES:
1. "Hunting Tigers in India" (Talking Pictures Epics, syn. 8 rls.)
2. "The Gorilla Hunt" (RKO 5 rls.)
3. "Chang" (Para. 8 rls.)
4. "The Missing Link" (African game hunt. Warner 7 rls.)

SHORTS:
1. Fitzpatrick Travel Talk on India (1 rl.)
2. "The Jungle Sluggard" (Three-toed sloth —Pathe 1 rl.)
3. "Jungle Bungles" (Felix cartoon. Educ. 1 rl.)
4. "Jungle Fool" (Fable—Pathe 1 rl.)
5. "The Golden Pagoda" (Travel east of Suez—Pathe 1 rl.)
6. "Jungle Drums" (Technicolor. Tiffffany 1 rl.)
7. "Jungle Rhythm" (Mickey Mouse cartoon. Columbia 1 rl.)
8. "The Lion's Roar" (Educ. 1 rl.)
9. "Mandalay" (British soldiers in India. Pathe 1 rl.)

Saturday, August 23

ORVILLE WRIGHT, Aug. 19. 1871.
Aviator and inventor.
(a) Guests of honor: local aviators.
(b) Representative from School of Aviation or Airway Transportation Company to tell of progress of aviation from the first Wright planes to the present de luxe planes.
(c) Representative of playground department to illustrate to children the various types of model planes.
(d) Display in foyer of model planes made by children—prizes awarded for best in each classification.
(e) If possible conduct model airplane tournament in morning.
(f) Librarian to suggest a list of stories on aviation.
(g) Doorman in aviation uniform.

PICTURES:
1. "Flight" (Columbia, silent, 10 rls. syn. 11 rls.)
2. "Flying Romeos" (Sidney-Murray. F.N. silent, 7 rls.)
3. "With Byrd at South Pole" (Para. 8 rls. syn.)
4. "Air Circus" (Fox, sil. and syn. 8 rls.)
5. "Flying Fleet" (Novarro. MGM. syn. 10 rls.)
6. "Young Eagles" (Para., sil. and syn., 7 rls.)
7. "Flying Fool" (Boyd. Pathe 7 rls., syn.)
8. "Flying Luck" (Pathe 7 rls., sil.)
9. "Air Legion" (Moreno. RKO, sil., 7 rls.)
10. "Amazing Vagabond" (Aviation-western. RKO, 6 rls., sil.)
11. "Cloud Dodger" (Aviation-western. Univ. 5 rls., sil.)
12. "Here for a Night" (Airplane comedy. Univ. 5 rls., silent)
13. "Sky Skidder" (Univ. 5 rls. sil.)
14. "Aviator" (Horton. Warner, sil. 6, syn. rls.)

SHORTS:
1. "Come Take a Trip in My Airship" (Aanimated song cartoon—Para. 1 rl.)
2. "Happy Landings" (Visugraphic, sil.)
3. "Sky Skippers" (Fable. Pathe, sound)
4. "The Take Off" (Comedy. Univ. 2 rls.)
5. "Winging West" (Pathe 2 rls.)
6. "Race to Paris" (Lindbergh. Educ. 1 rl.)
7. "Skyranger" (Educ. 2 rls.)
8. Skywayman" (Educ. 2 rls.)
9. "Air Derby" (Educ. 2 rls.)
10. Cloud Patrol" (Educ. 2 rls.)

THE YACHT "AMERICA" WON THE SQUADRON CUP AT THE INTERNATIONAL REGATTA, COWES, ENGLAND, Aug. 22, 1851.
(a) Guests of Honor:
1. Officers of yacht club.
2. Sea captain.
3. Naval officers.
b) Sea captain or naval officers, or local yacht owner to describe an international regatta.
c) Representative from Daughters of the British Empire to give history of activities of Sir Thomas Lipton in promoting yacht races.
(d) Doorman in sailor costume.
(e) Display of miniature yachts.
(f) If possible cooperate with local newspaper, yacht club, etc., in staging a miniature regatta, merchants to award prizes.

PICTURES:
1. "Cappy Ricks" (Thos. Meighan—Para. 8 rl.)
2. "Let It Rain" (comedy—Para. 7 rls.)

SHORTS:
1. "Ship Ahoy" (Fable—Pathe 1 rl.)
2. "Call of the Sea" (Colorart—Educ. 2 rls.)
3. "Salt Water Ballads" (Bruce—Para. 1 rl.)
4. "Dancing Gob" (Para. 2 rls.)
5. "Frolicking Fish" (Silly Symphony cartoon—Columbia 1 rl.)
6. "Newspaper Newsreel" (Univ., sound) (Relaunching of "Old Ironsides")
7. "Sounds of the Sea" (cartoon—Pathe 1 rl.)
8. "Spills and Thrills" (Pathe 1 rl.)
9. "Splashing Through" (swimming—Pathe 1 rl.)
10. "Voice of the Sea" (musical subject) Pathe 1 rl.)
11. "Wild Waves" (Mickey Mouse cartoon—Columbia 1 rl.)

OLIVER HAZARD PERRY, Aug. 23, 1769-1832.
Naval officer, hero of the battle of Lake Erie.
(a) Guests of honor: naval officers; captains.
(b) Representative of Chamber of Commerce or navigation company to tell of importance of Great Lakes as related to transportation and commerce.
(c) History teacher to relate experience of Capt. Perry in the battle of Lake Erie.
(d) Librarian to illustrate lake craft with pictures.

PICTURES:
1. "Old Ironsides" (Para. 8 rls.)
2. "Breed of the Sea" (adventure RKO 7 rls. silent)
3. "Clothes Make the Pirate" (costume—First Natl 8 rls)
4. "The Sea Hawk" (Sills—First Natl. 8 rls.)
5. "Shore Leave" (Barthelmess—First Natl. 7 rls. sil.)
6. "The Blue Eagle" (navy—Fox 6 rls.)
7. "The Midshipman" (M-G-M 7 rls.)
8. "Tell It to the Marines" (M-G-M 9 rls.)
9. "Cappy Ricks" (Meighan—Para. 8 rls.)
10. "Buttons" (sea drama with Jackie Coogan—M-G-M 6 rls. silent)

SHORTS:
1. "Salt Water Ballads" (Bruce—Para. 1 rl.)
2. "Call of the Sea" (colorart—Educ. 2 rls.)
3. "Shipmates" (Lane comedy—Educ. 2 rls.)
4. "Hello Sailor" (Lane comedy—Educ. 2 rls.)
5. "Ship Ahoy" (Fable—Pathe 1 rl.)

BRET HARTE, Aug. 25, 1839-1892.
Poet and novelist, writer of western life.
(a) Guests of honor: Native Sons and Daughters of the West.
(b) Librarian or member of Writers' Club—newspaper representative, etc.—to tell of the experiences of Bret Harte and other writers of western fiction in securing necessary information for their virile stories.
(c) Children encouraged to attend matinee in cowboy outfit.
(d) Doorman to impersonate some western hero.
(e) Stress attendance of Boy Scouts in uniform.
(f) Librarian suggest list of Bret Harte books.
(g) Cooperate with book store for window display of Bret Harte books and other western stories interesting to children.

PICTURES:
1. "The Covered Wagon (Para. 8 rls. sil.)
2. "Valley of the Giants" (Redwood forest —First Natl. 7 rls. sil.)
3. "Great K. and A. Train Robbery" (Tom Mix—Fox 5 rls. sil.)
4. "The Great Divide" (First Natl.)
5. "The Last Trail" (Tom Mix—Fox 5 rls.)
6. "The Frontiersman" (Tim McCoy—M-G-M 5 rls.)
7. "Wyoming" (Tim McCoy—M-G-M 5 rls.)
8. "Nevada" (Gary Cooper—Para. 7 rls.)
9. "North of 36" (frontier—Para. 8 rls.)
10. "Tundering Herd" (Dix—Para. 8 rls.)
11. "Vanishing American" (Dix—Para. 8 rls.)

SHORTS:
1. "Voices of Lonely Men" (Bruce Scenic—Life of American Pioneers—Para. 1 rl.)
2. "Book Lovers" (musical fantasy—Para. 1 rl.)
3. "Travellin' Alone" (singing scenic—Para. 1 rl.)
4. "Pining Pioneers" (Bruce scenic—Para. 1 rl.)
5. "Mountain Melodies" (Bruce scenic—Para. 1 rl.)
6. "The Wanderlust" (Bruce—Para. 1 rl.
7. "Wood Choppers" (Fable—Pathe 1 rl.)

Saturday, August 30

OLIVER WENDELL HOLMES, Aug. 29, 1809-1894.
Poet, essayist and physician.
(a) Guests of honor: members of Writers' Club.
(b) Cooperate with book store for window display of the works of Oliver Wendell Holmes.
(c) Librarian or English teacher to give interesting experiences in the life of Oliver Wendell Holmes.
(d) Member of Writers' Club to give reading of "The One Hoss Shay" or recitation of "The Trained Broomstick" or "The Boys" by pupil of elocution.
(e) Attendance prize: game of authors.
(f) Encourage children to bring sketch of their conception of "The One Hoss Shay"; judges, member of Writers' Club, newspaper and library.
(g) Encourage children to dress impersonating characters in Oliver Wendell Holmes poem. (English teacher to decide best impersonation.)

(Continued on page 76)

How An Indie Wins Battles

(Continued from page 51)

never a publicity stunt—but it does promote good will and helps sell "the patrons of tomorrow."

Charity "Sting" Removed

The big party is in reality camouflage for reaching the 1,000 poor children of Houston, and taking from their gifts the sting of "charity." Every child in Houston, rich and poor, is invited to the tree and party, held at 6 P. M. Christmas Eve, and each one receives a liberal bag of fruits, candy, and nuts, and receives a small gift from Santa Claus in person. In special sections in the very center of the big hall, but camouflaged by the other kids, are the 1,000 children of Houston whose Christmas would be slim indeed without the Horwitz party. To each of these go complete assortments of toys as well as the eats.

How many exhibitors, independent or otherwise, spend $5,000 for the children of their cities at one throw, "because they like to?" This is not the least of the reasons why Mr. Horwitz is a popular exhibitor, and a successful one, and why his chain can claim greater attendance than any subsequent run theatres in the state of Texas.

Let Milwaukee Contract

Milwaukee—George A. Fuller Co. has been awarded contract for construction of Warners' 2,400-seat theatre and office building here. The foundation already has been laid.

Credit on Billings

THE home office advertising department of Loew's is starting a new service aimed to prevent mistakes in billings of shows and to assist managers in checking up the main selling points of their pictures. Billing bulletins on all pictures are to be sent to all theatres, filed, and the information used in checking up posters, trailers, etc. Managers are to convey to the necessary employes the proper billing information so that those who answer phones or otherwise contact the public can give out correct data about the stars and pictures.

It will be up to the managers to see that the finished work conforms and the home office advertising department notified immediately if mistakes are made.

Stresses Need to Check On the Proper Voltages

(Continued from page 67)

has been put into the cells the gravity of the electrolyte drops to some extent, due to absorption by the plates. The gravity rises again as soon as the battery is again charged. The charge should be continued until the gravity test is nearly up to the value stated above. The cells of the battery are then ready for service.

Special Shows For Children

(Continued from page 75)

1. "The Magic Garden" (RKO 7 rls.)

SHORTS:

1. "Put on Your Old Grey Bonnet" (Screen song—Para. 1 rl.)
2. "Summer Time" (Fable—Pathe 1 rl.)
3. "Dear Old School Days" (Fable—Pathe 1 rl.)
4. "A Holiday in Storyland" (Warner syn.)

Fox Orders 12 Automatic Vallen Screen Modifiers

Akron, O.—Twelve automatic screen modifiers have been purchased from the Vallen Electrical Co., by Fox Theatres. The first is to be installed at the Fox, Philadelphia. The modifiers are for use with standard-size film, Widescope, Magnascope and Grandeur.

Record Sales Talk Is Advance Boost

Boston—Larry I. Bearg, manager of the Metropolitan, used a Speak-o-Phone record in place of the usual trailer on a forthcoming Publix unit. The record was hooked up with "Sarah and Son," the recorded woman's voice telling patrons about Ruth Chatterton's picture and also about the stage attraction which would accompany it. At the close of the record she introduced the sound trailer on "Sarah and Son."

"SOMETHING NEW FROM ALLENTOWN"

By the manufacturers of

STABILARC MOTOR-GENERATOR — SILENT STEEL CURTAIN TRACK

will be announced in an early issue of this publication.

Exhibitors, Equipment Dealers, and Drapery Houses will be vitally interested.

AUTOMATIC DEVICES CO.

739 HAMILTON ST. ALLENTOWN, PA.

Genuine "PYROLOID" Dresserware

WILL FILL YOUR EMPTY SEATS

IF GIVEN AWAY

TO YOUR LADY PATRONS

2 COLORS — JADE PEARL and ROSE PEARL

4 PLANS — 26 WEEKS 30 WEEKS 36 WEEKS — 11½ CENTS 12½ CENTS 13½ CENTS

Trailer—Heralds and Window Cards With Your Imprint and every possible help is furnished the exhibitor FREE

"DRESSERWARE-NIGHT" Will Build Permanent Business

PYROLOID SALES CO.

MANUFACTURERS FOR OVER 30 YEARS

NEW YORK AARON SACKS 200 - 5TH AVE. ROOM 538

FACTORY ATTLEBORO, MASS.

PHILADELPHIA JACK VON TILZER ELKS HOTEL

BOSTON JACK BULLWINKEL 28 PIEDMONT ST.

GAYOU SALES CO. 721 OLIVE ST. ST. LOUIS, MO.

CLEVELAND IMPORT FILM CO. FILM EXCHANGE BLDG.

THE Projectionists' Round Table

By John F. Rider

(Continued from page 68)

found at every point around that loop. If we can imagine a very small loop, it is possible to comprehend that the line of force at one point will join with the line of force at another point, thus increasing in strength.

Combined Magnetic Field Around Two Wires

If two wires are separated and the current flowing through both is in the same direction, the fields around these wires would assume the shape shown in Figure 28A, concentric lines around each wire. The plus signs show the direction of current flow away from the observer and that both carry current in one direction. If these two wires are now placed adjacent to each other the two fields combine as shown in Figure 28B, the field around the two wires becoming the combined field of the individual fields and more intense and stronger. An examination of this illustration will show that the combined field may be classed as being the field of a single wire through which are moving the same number of charges as through the two separate wires. In other words, the two wires become one and the resultant field is the combined field of both.

If a number of loops are placed adjacent, in which case the wires are adjacent, the total field is the combined field of the individual fields around each wire and the entire structure, then known as a solenoid, possesses a field of much greater strength. The field surrounding the entire bunch of loops, or the solenoid, can then be said to be that of the equivalent of a cylindrical whirl of charges. The usual representation of a number of loops formed into a solenoid is shown in Figure 29, where the loops represent the turns and the lines emanating from the inside of the loop and surrounding the turns are the flux lines. As a point of information, any electrical structure consisting of turns of wire is usually represented by a number of such joined loops. The flux lines are omitted.

Polarity of Solenoids

The magnetic line of force surrounding a moving charge displays polarity and the line force surrounding a coil of wire carrying current likewise displays polarity. If we refer to each line of force as a magnetic loop, each loop has a plus and a minus magnetic pole. Two such loops placed with their planes in parallel and their free electrons flowing in the same direction, that is, the charge moving in the same direction in each case, will attract each other, but the loops have their unlike poles facing each other. Refer to Figure 28A.

Each wire has its own lines of force. If we select two of these lines, one around each wire, we can say that the side of the loop to the right of each wire is positive and the side of the loop to the left of each wire is negative. At that rate the positive side of one loop will face the negative side of the other and we can say that unlike magnetic poles attract and like magnetic poles repel.

Such would be the case when the currents in the two wires shown in Figure 28A flow in opposite directions. If the wire on the right remained as shown, the direction of the flux lines would remain as shown, but if the current flow through the wire on the left were reversed the polarity of the loop to the right of that wire would be minus and to the left it would be plus.

Since each loop has its own magnetic poles, a solenoid, too, has its own magnetic poles because the entire magnetic field can be considered as one huge magnetic loop. In other words, the solenoid winding acts as if it had a south pole and a north pole. The S pole is where the current enters the coil and the N pole is where the current leaves the coil. If a bar of iron is placed into the hollow center of a solenoid it too becomes magnetized, providing, of course, that current is flowing through the wire.

The magnetic strength of the iron bar is several hundred times that of the solenoid. This strong magnet composed of the solenoid and the bar of iron is known as an electromagnet, i. e., a magnet produced by electrical means, due to the flow of electric current. If the current supply is cut off, the magnetic property of the iron bar ceases since the flux lines produced by the current also cease. The north pole of the magnetized piece of iron is at the north pole of the solenoid and the south pole of the iron magnet is at the south end of the solenoid. In other words, the polarity of the iron is the same as that of the solenoid.

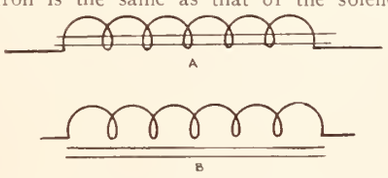

FIG 30

Since the magnetic property possessed by the iron depends upon the current flow and ceases when the current flow ceases, such a body is known as temporary magnets or form a temporary magnet. Other temporary magnets are soft steel and iron alloys. Hard steel magnetizes with difficulty, but once magnetized remain so and can be withdrawn from the solenoid without losing its magnetic properties. Such a body is known as a permanent magnet.

Reason for Magnetic Properties of Substances

The fact that substances can be caused to attract or repel other bodies is of importance in the electrical world and a great many electrical devices employ temporary or permanent magnets. When a magnetic material is utilized as the core for a coil of wire, that unit is shown in electrical circuits as a solenoid with an iron core and represented as illustrated in Figure 30 A and B.

The flux lines previously mentioned in connection with solenoids are not shown, but the core is designated by a series of horizontal lines running through the loops or by a series of horizontal lines located above or below the loops. In Figure 30B, these lines are below the loops. Such a structure would be designated as an iron core solenoid or inductance.

(The term inductance will be dealt with later in this text, but reference is necessary at this time because it is the name applied to coils of wire.)

Before we discuss the utility of the iron core it might be well to consider the assumed reasons for magnetic properties displayed by materials such as outlined. If a bar of steel which has been magnetized is cut into half, each half will constitute a magnet and have its N and S poles. If each half is again cut into two, the new halves will have their S and N poles. Thus, the finest division would produce permanent magnets, each with its own S and N poles. At least, such is the assumption. If the division of the magnet were so fine that the molecules could be separated each would be a magnet and would behave like a magnetic loop.

Reference to lesson 4 will bring to light some assumed reasons for magnetic and non-magnetic materials. If we consider magnetic loops present in the molecules, the arrangement of these loops in iron when not magnetized is such that the unlike poles face each other. When the iron is placed under a magnetic influence, within a field, the plus and minus poles of the loops are forced in opposite directions until all like poles face in the same direction and one end of the complete bar is minus and the other is plus, or one end is south and the other is north just as a series of magnetic loops cause a soleloid to act as a magnet.

Now if a magnet were cut into tiny pieces, each of those pieces would be a magnet and, as such, have a field of its own. When these pieces are again assembled into a bar, the entire bar is a magnet and, as such, to complete their circle, must find a path through the air. If we have a solenoid and cause current to flow through the turns, the lines of force must thread their way through the air in order to complete their circle. If we place an iron core within the solenoid, we provide a much easier path for the flux lines.

The iron need not be in actual contact with the solenoid. The inside of the turns may be separated by a quarter of an inch from the iron core without interfering with the magnetizing action. Such magnetization of a piece of iron without direct metallic contact is known as magnetization by induction. The magnetization is induced in the core. The degree of magnetization, or the force which induces the magnetism in the iron, depends upon the magnitude of current flowing through the turns of the solenoid and the number of turns. This force is known as the magnetomotive force.

As we understand it, the polarity of the solenoid is a function of the direction of the flux lines and the magnetic poles of the iron bar are likewise governed by the direction of the flux lines. If we reverse the current through the coil, the polarity of the solenoid will change and the polarity of the bar will change. This is an important item and finds extensive application in indicating instruments designed to show values of A. C. voltage and current as will be shown later.

Theatre Cleaning Plan Suggested by Manager

Baltimore—Emphasizing the importance of having theatres clean in summer time, A. H. Buehrig, Jr., manager of Loew's Century, submits the following cleaning plan found successful in the Century:

Each cleaner is given a section or a portion of the theatre to clean. This is given to the cleaner in writing and a copy is kept by the head cleaner, if you have one, and another copy is kept by the manager. Each day when the manager or assistant inspects theatre, he makes notes on what is found dirty. The manager places these notes where the head cleaner can get them each night. The head cleaner then determines what cleaner neglected his or her work and takes action accordingly.

In theatres where there is no head cleaner, the manager designates one cleaner to look on his desk each night and give addressed notes to the cleaners in whose section dirt was found.

Claim Way to Check Volume

(Continued from page 60)

sound track which it uses the name of "squeeze track" has come into use.

It is a well known fact that the sound volume resulting from a given variable density sound track record varies as the track width changes. This feature is used for volume control. Due to the width of the reproducing aperture, the effective normal track width is 0.080 inch. Reducing this width to 0.020 inch gives a reduction in volume of 12 db. Moreover, the surface noise to signal ratio reduces in practically the same ratio, that is, the effective surface noise is reduced in proportion to the sound on the record. If, then, we make our average volume track 0.040 inch wide by matting out half of the regular track, we may, by varying the width of the mat, get an increase or decrease of 6 db. by making the track 0.080 inch or 0.020 inch wide, respectively. This is the principle of the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer "squeeze track."

In practice, recording is done as usual and the attempt made to keep the recorded level as nearly uniform as is consistent with the desired effects. If, through some error of judgment, or because of the nature of the scene, a change in fader setting becomes necessary, the mat width in the release print is changed in the proper direction to produce the desired result. Inasmuch as the normal track will produce but half the volume of an unsqueezed track it is of course necessary to run the theatre fader 6 db. higher than normal, but this imposes no hardship.

In operation each reel is handled as a separate unit, and the volume adjustments throughout the reel length are adjusted to keep within the limitations of recording volume range and squeeze mat range. Many reels require no squeeze mat because the range in them is such that the normal recording range is sufficient. In the theatre, then, if the operator adjusts any part of a given reel to the proper volume level the remainder of the reel is automatically right. In other words, if he sets the fader right

This type of volume control has been in use for several months wherever the volume requirements have been such as to require it. Comments from the field have been uniformly favorable, especially since the operation of the device has become better understood by operators. Fader cue sheets still accompany each picture, but disregard of the instructions which they contain has had a less deleterious effect than the past. If any part of a reel is set to give the right volume the rest is automatically correct. If the volume is set for dialogue the high spots are found to be colored as they were designed to be. The adoption of the device has enabled the producer to more nearly obtain in the theatre the result which he put into the picture, and his average of technical and artistic success has improved. The operator is relieved of the difficult problem of constantly watching the fader cues. The net result has been a very gratifying advance in the production of the much sought after illusion which the audience can enjoy and will appreciate.

THE SHOW MUST GO ON!

There must be no interruption in the Performance.

It's the first law of the stage and applies from the Manager down to the mechanics of operation, alike.

Are you safeguarded against a "Dark House"?

Have you a "reserve guard" against possible current interruption?

Can you throw in another switch and instantly shunt around the trouble?

A reserve Transverter means sure protection.

Permanently valuable . . . ever ready for the crisis.

One "Dark Night" will cost you in prestige and seat sales many times that extra Transverter.

APPROVED BY NATIONAL THEATRE SUPPLY COMPANY COAST-TO-COAST DISTRIBUTORS

Canadian Distributor
Perkins Electric, Ltd.

THE HERTNER ELECTRIC COMPANY
12694 ELMWOOD AVE. TransVerteR CLEVELAND, O., U. S. A.
Exclusive Manufacturers of the Transverter

"TONE-O-GRAPH"

Scores another triumph by securing LICENSE under Full Tone Reproduction Co. Patents which cover reproduction of Sound from Film.

Exhibitors Receive Full Patent Protection

YOU HAVE NEVER HEARD SOUND-ON-FILM UNLESS YOU'VE HEARD THE NEW

FULLTONE TONE-O-GRAPH

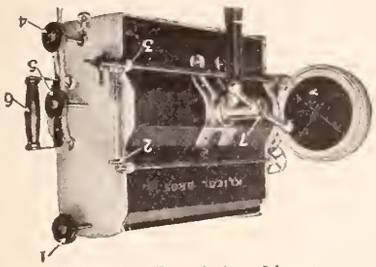
Simplex Film Disc $1750.00 Powers $1800.00

Immediate Delivery

TONE-O-GRAPH, INC.,

Formerly NORTH AMERICAN SOUND & TALKING PICTURE EQUIPMENT CORP.

729 SEVENTH AVENUE, NEW YORK CITY



Glass to Exclude Sounds from Lobby

Des Moines.—Separation of the auditorium from the foyer by plate glass to shut out all outside sound is one of the features of the remodeling of the Des Moines, which is slated to reopen next Friday. Removal of practically all present hangings and wall shields, remodeling of the dome and covering of the houses with acoustical material, is planned. This, it is said, is to correct the reproduction, as it is claimed heavy velours absorb low notes emitted from the sound equipment.

Exterior improvements call for floodlighting of the two entrances, as well as for lights which will outline the terra cotta towers and rim of the building.

A. E. Fox, head of the interior decorating department of Publix, came to Des Moines to work out the color scheme and decorating motif.

Control of all operations at the REAR of This Spotlight

Write for Descriptive Literature

1. Curtain Shutter Control: Opens and closes the curtain shutter in front of the lens, from black-out or a mere slit to full opening.
2. Iris Shutter Control: A partial turn of the handle opens the iris shutter from a pin-point to full opening, or vice versa.
3. Color Frame Control: Separate lever for each color frame, and each lever keyed to correspond with the color frame it controls. A quarter turn of the lever throws the desired color in or out of position in front of the lens; and each color is visible to the operator as the color frame is moved into position.
4. Focusing Control: Positions are with respect to the lens; moves horizontally; thumb nut locks it in place.
5. Arc Control: Varies the distance between the carbons; permits accurate and smooth adjustments of the arc.
6. Handle: For control of direction of the light beam—hood is perfectly balanced, swings easily and "follows" readily.
7. Wing Lock: Holds hood securely at desired angle. Long leverage permits easy and speedy adjustments.

OTHER KLIEGL LIGHTING SPECIALTIES

Footlights	Aisle Lights	Music Stands	Color Mediums
Borderlights	Dimmers	Connectors	Color Caps
Spotlights	Color Wheels	Plugging Boxes	Lamp Coloring
Floodlights	Color Frames	Floor Pockets	Terminal Lugs
Sciopticons	Color Rolls	Scenic Effects	Resistances
Exit Signs	Color Boxes	Shutters	Stage Cable

KLIEGL BROS

UNIVERSAL ELECTRIC STAGE LIGHTING CO., INC.

321 WEST 50th STREET

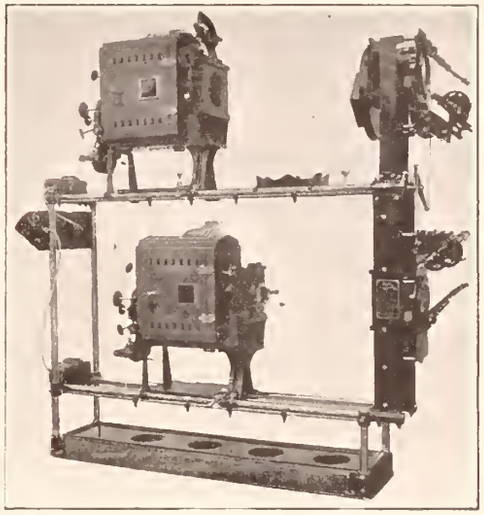
NEW YORK, N.Y.

CINEPHOR

« « LENSES » »

PERFECTLY ALIGNED IN THE LENS SYSTEM

THE meticulous care used in aligning Cinephor Lenses is typical of the precision of their manufacture. Experienced operators check each optical element on special machines. Each lens is right.



This extreme care is the reason why Cinephor Lenses are unexcelled in Flatness of Field, Maximum Illumination, Clear Definition and Maximum Contrast between black and white. Write

BAUSCH & LOMB OPTICAL CO.

678 St. Paul Street « » Rochester, N. Y.

Makers of Orthogon Eyeglass Lenses for Better Vision

BAUSCH & LOMB

SCENIC AND EFFECT LIGHTING

from the projection room with the

BRENKERT F-7

MASTER BRENOGRAPH

. . . adds dignity to your theater and charm to your program. The use of the Brenkert F-7 Master Brenograph is conceded by the most successful showmen as the best method of relieving the monotony of a sound picture program. This has been proven by hundreds of installations.

Your theater can have these advantages at a very nominal cost.

Write today for our latest catalogues No. 28 and No. 29, which are just off the press.

Brenkert

BRENKERT LIGHT PROJECTION COMPANY

Engineers & Manufacturers

St. Aubin at E. Grand Blvd.

DETROIT MICHIGAN

Selected List of Important Trade Publications

Prepared for the Service of Theatre Owners, Managers and Theatre Architects

Important publications issued by manufacturers in connection with the subjects listed in these columns will be sent free to readers upon request to this magazine. For your convenience a number is used to indicate each subject and a request blank provided. To obtain copies of publications on subjects in which you are interested simply insert on line provided in blank the number opposite that subject, fill in name and address and mail to Motion Picture News.

AIR CONDITIONING
(1) General outline of systems with illustrated descriptions of apparatus for atmospheric conditions in theatres.

CARBONS—PROJECTOR, SPOT and FLOODLIGHT
(1A) Descriptive literature, list prices, etc.

CLEANNG SYSTEMS
(2) Apparatus used in central cleaning systems for theatres.

DECORATION
(3) Furnishings for auditoriums, lobbies, lounges—decorative furniture and fixtures, fountains, shrubbery, draperies, etc.
(4) Finishing materials for wall and ceiling treatments.

FILM PROCESSING AND CLEANING
(5) Descriptions of materials and apparatus used in processes for film renovation, preservation and cleaning.

HEATING AND VENTILATION
(6) Types of ventilating and heating systems with diagrams, illustrations and descriptions of apparatus.

LIGHTING, DECORATIVE
(7) Spotlight, effect projectors, automatic and remote control color and effect machines for atmospheric theatres, cove lighting, lobby and rest room illumination, with specifications for uses and operation.

LIGHTING FIXTURES
(8) Decorative chandeliers, wall fixtures, directional signs, illuminated mirrors and fountains for theatres described and illustrated.

LIGHTING, PROJECTION
(9) Arc and incandescent lighting equipment, specifications for use and operation.

LIGHTING, SIGN AND MARQUEE
(10) Flasher equipment, color devices, etc., for front effects and advertising.

LIGHTING, STAGE
(11) Spotlights, effect machines, borders, foot lights, etc., and their uses in stage effects.

LIGHTING CONTROL
(12) Dimmer control, switchboards, panel boards, switches of various types for stage and auditorium lighting control.
(12a) Emergency Lighting Plants.

MOTOR-GENERATORS
(13) Various designs of motor-generators specially designed for motion picture projection.
(14) Power control, transformers, etc., for projection, specifications and illustration of apparatus.

ORGANS AND ORGAN EQUIPMENT
(15) Theatre organ of various types for large and small auditoriums.
(16) Organ blowers, heaters, seats and accessories.

PIT AND STAGE ORCHESTRA EQUIPMENT
(17) Music stands, special designs for pit orchestras and stage band acts.

PLUMBING FIXTURES
(18) Radiators, equipment for wash room furnishing, etc., illustrated.

PROJECTION
(19) Operating instructions, parts for machines (specify make and model).

RIGGING, STAGE
(20) Drapes, curtains, curtain control apparatus, automatic stage platforms, elevators, etc.

SAFES
(21) Descriptive literature illustrating types of safes especially designed for theatre use.

SEATING
(22) Auditorium chairs, special designs illustrated, re-seating arrangements, etc.

SCREENS, MOTION PICTURE
(23) Various types described, diagrams, illustrations of surfaces, etc.

SCREEN SLIDES & MATS
(24) Various types for screen advertising and announcements.

SIGNS AND MARQUISE
(24A) Theatre advertising signs, marquise designs illustrated

THEATRE POSTER AND DISPLAY DEVICES
(25) Materials and supplies for advertising and art work.

TICKET VENDORS
(26) Automatic ticket machines for motion picture theatres, change makers, canceling devices and registers.

Sound Equipment

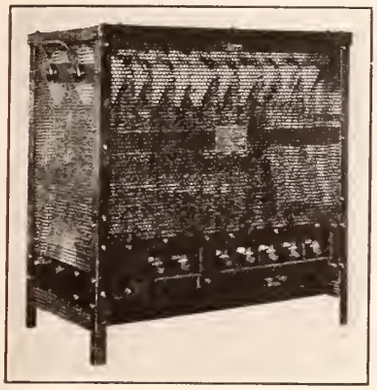
(26) ACOUSTICAL MATERIAL, ENGINEERING AND CONTRACTING
(27) AMPLIFIER UNITS
(28) HORNS AND SPEAKERS
(29) HORN TOWERS
(30) NON-SYNCHRONOUS DISC REPRODUCERS
(31) PICK-UPS
(32) RECORD LIBRARIES FOR NON-SYNCHRONOUS DISC REPRODUCERS
(33) RECORD CUEING SERVICES
(34) SYNCHRONOUS DISC REPRODUCING UNITS
(35) SYNCHRONOUS DISC AND FILM-TRACK REPRODUCERS
(36) TRANSFORMERS AND VOLTAGE REGULATORS

Request Blank

Motion Picture News
729 Seventh Ave.
New York City

Please obtain for me free copies of trade publications dealing with the following subjects:

_____



(Insert above numbers indicating subjects)

Name .....

Theatre .....

Street .....

PERFECTION
RHEOSTATS RHEOSTATS

Wherever you go—from famous theatres to the small suburban movies—from Broadway to Main Street—you will find Perfection Rheostats recognized as the highest standard in the motion picture world.

Leading managers, exhibitors, projectionists all unite in according first place to this Union-Made rheostat, and the only one so made—Perfection in name and performance.

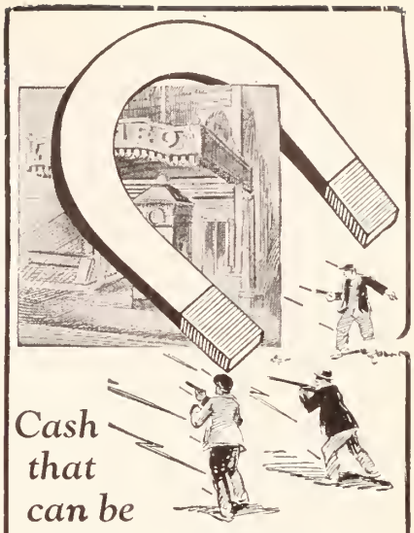
HOFFMANN & SOONS
387 FIRST AVE. NEW YORK CITY
Contracting Electrical Engineers
Moving Picture Theatre Electrical Specialists

PROPER
Sources of Supply

An essential to Theatre Efficiency and Profitable Showmanship Operation

ADVERTISING messages of organizations whose products are featured in The Showman are of particular interest to every theatreman.

For Showman advertisers are the leaders in their field, who, through their association with the leading publication in its field, are performing a service to the industry by keeping theatre men in touch with proper sources of supply.



THE SHOWMAN
A Regular Monthly Feature of
MOTION PICTURE NEWS

Advertisers' Index for The Showman

Section for August 2

The following list of advertisers in The Showman Section has been prepared for the convenience of readers, and while care has been taken to make it correct it cannot be guaranteed against possible errors or omissions.

Adam Electric Co., Frank 66
American Seating Company 47
Arctic Nu-Air Corporation 73
Automatic Devices Company 76
Bausch & Lomb Optical Co. 79
Blizzard Fan Company 48
Brenkert Light Projection Co. 79
Brooks Costume Company 81
Carrier Engineering Corp 54-55
Econoquipment Mfg. Co., The 73
Edison Lamp Works of General Electric Company 50
Fulton Company, E. E. 43-50
Gallagher Orchestra Equipment Co. 48
General Electric Company 45
General Register Corp. 69
Hertner Electric Company, The 78
Heywood-Wakefield 65
Hoffmann & Soons 81
Hub Electric Company 72
Ilex Optical Company 49
Kliegl Bros., Universal Elec. Stage Lighting Company 76
Kooler-Aire Engineering Corp. 61
Macy Manufacturing Corporation 73
Moss (B) Pub. Co., M. E. 81
National Rug Mills, Inc. 48
National Screen Service 69
National Theatre Supply Company 59
Netschert, Inc., Frank 74
Novelty Scenic Studios 74
Pyroloid Sales Company 79
RadiO-Mat Slide Company 81
Slater, Jr., William 49
Strong Electric Corp., The 49
Tone-O-Graph, Inc. 78
Torstenson & Company, J. A. 46
Vallen Electrical Company, Inc. 69
Weber Machine Corporation 74
Weyerhaeuser Forest Products 82
Wright-DeCoster, Inc. 66
York Safe and Lock Company 81

Cash that can be stolen is a magnet!

It draws the burglar and hold-up man just as irresistibly as the loadstone draws steel filings.
The York Burglary Chest—the result of nearly half a century in expert safe construction—will bring to your theatre the protection needed.

YORK SAFE and LOCK COMPANY
York, Pa.

RADIO-MAT PATENTED
RADIO-MAT SLIDE CO. MAKERS
NEW YORK
MR. EXHIBITOR—
During August
FORECAST YOUR FALL IMPROVEMENTS AND ANTICIPATIONS by using
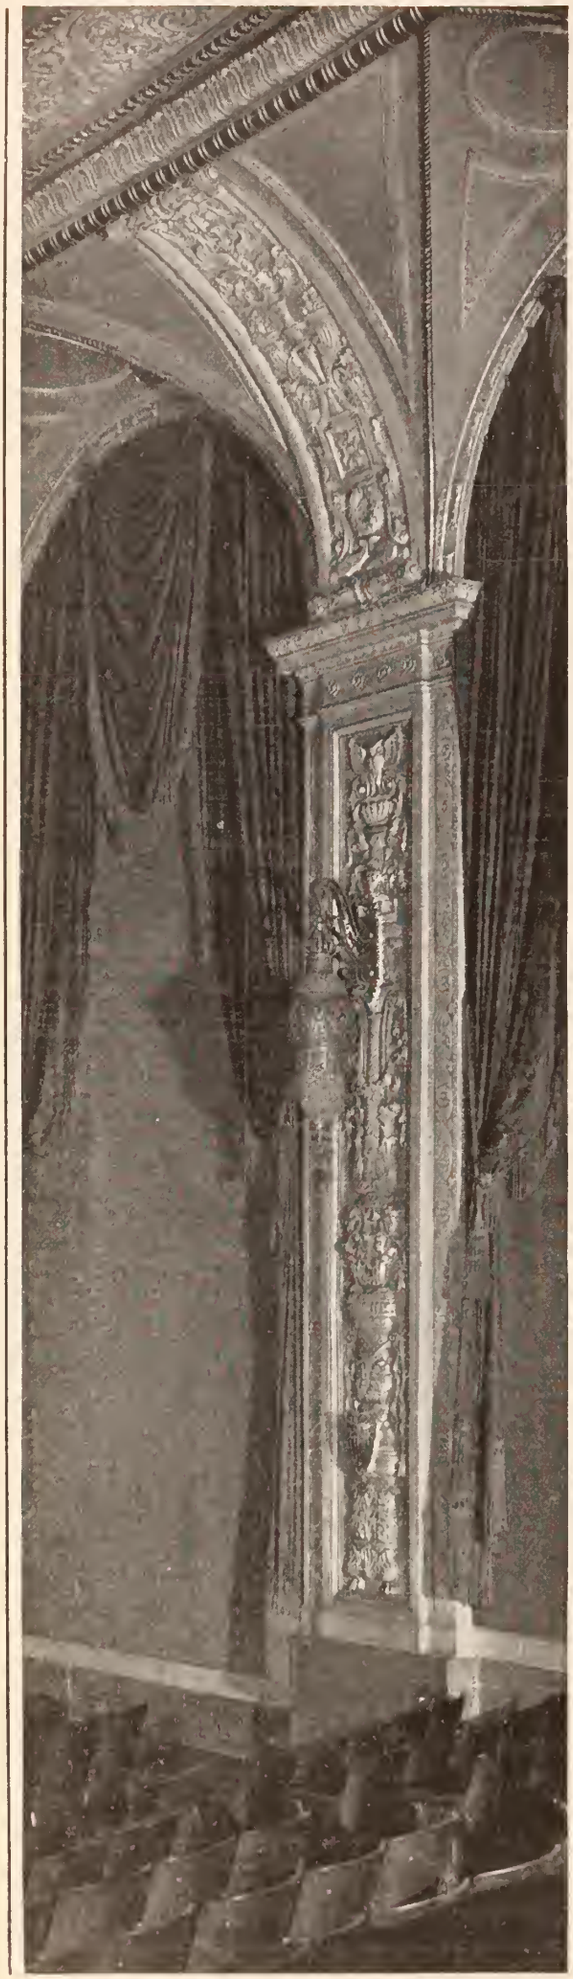
RADIO-MAT SLIDES
DAILY
Effective — Easily Made
Economical
IS THE STATIONERY OF THE SCREEN

Movie Star Rotogravures
Just Out. 25c Sellers. Ready for Framing



Actual Size 2½"x3¼" and 11x14"

Up to 1,000.....5c Each
1,000 or Over.....4c Each

Nancy Carroll, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Maurice Chevalier, Dolores Costello, Bebe Daniels, Conrad Nagel, John Boles, Marilyn Miller, Clara Bow, Ronald Colman, Wm. Haines, Ramon Novarro, John Gilbert, Buddy Rogers, Rudy Vallee, Richard Dix, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Brian, Alice White, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer.

Write for Set of "FREE SAMPLES"
One-Fourth Deposit on C. O. D. Orders.
M. E. MOSS (B) PUB. CO., Hartford, Conn.

UNIFORMS FOR HOUSE ATTACHES COSTUMES FOR STAGE PRESENTATIONS BROOKS 1437 B'way New York

An easy way to correct poor acoustics

IF you are troubled with reverberations, echoes, and "dead spots" in your theatre—here is the safe, easy way to eliminate them....

First—get in touch with our nearest representative. He will give you a questionnaire that, when properly filled out, will enable him to tell you where acoustical treatment is needed. This service is free—you are under no obligation.

Then—apply Balsam-Wool Acoustical Blanket to the areas requiring treatment. It will make "talkies" clearer, more distinct—aid amazingly in increasing box office returns.

Operators of large and small theatres everywhere, who want to give their patrons the best possible performances from sound pictures, are now installing Balsam-Wool. There is no surer, more effective way to correct poor acoustics.

This highly efficient sound absorbing blanket is endorsed by America's leading manufacturers of sound equipment. It is made so thoroughly fire-safe, by special chemical treatment, that fire department officials in principal cities readily approve it.

In addition to its safety and high efficiency, Balsam-Wool Acoustical Blanket is sanitary, a full inch thick, odorless, vermin-proof, and durable.

Take steps today to improve the tone quality of your theatre. Now—get in touch with our nearest representative. You'll find his name listed below.

WOOD CONVERSION COMPANY
Mills at Cloquet, Minnesota

▲

Where You Can Obtain Balsam-Wool Acoustical Blanket

Cowser & Company, Dallas, Texas, *Lee Lumber Company, Memphis, Tenn., *Reserve Supply Company, Minneapolis, Minn., *Stebbins Theatre Equipment Company, Kansas City, Mo., *The Continental Theatre Accessories Corp., New York City, Western Theatrical Equipment Company, San Francisco, Cal.

National Theatre Supply Company, 624 So. Michigan Ave., Chicago, Ill.

*Branches: Atlanta, Ga., Baltimore, Md., Boston, Mass., Buffalo, N. Y., Charlotte, N. C., *Cincinnati, Ohio, Cleveland, Ohio, Dallas, Texas, *Denver, Colo., Detroit, Mich., Indianapolis, Ind., *Kansas City, Mo., Los Angeles, Cal., *Memphis, Tenn., *Milwaukee, Wis., Minneapolis, Minn., New Haven, Conn., New Orleans, La., New York City, Oklahoma City, Okla., *Omaha, Nebr., Philadelphia, Pa., Pittsburgh, Pa., Portland, Ore., Salt Lake City, Utah, San Francisco, Cal., Seattle, Wash., St. Louis, Mo., Washington, D. C.

The E. E. Fulton Company, 1018 So. Wabash Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Branches: Atlanta, Ga., Boston, Mass., Indianapolis, Ind., Los Angeles, Cal., Milwaukee, Wis., New York City, Philadelphia, Pa., San Francisco, Cal., St. Louis, Mo.

American Motion Picture Company, Louisville, Ky.

 carries Balsam-Wool Acoustical Blanket in stock*

Balsam-Wool
Acoustical Blanket

Also manufacturers of the nationally advertised Balsam-Wool Blanket—Standard Building Insulation

Before the "Mike" In N. Y. Studios

THE unit working on "Laughter," starring Nancy Carroll, communed with Mother Nature's great outdoors, when one of the scenes was shot in the Paramount exterior lot. It felt good to get out under the ultra-violet rays of Good Old Sol, that is, it would have felt good if the folks didn't all make a bee-line for the sheltering shade.

* * *

Frederic Mareh, who is playing opposite Nancy Carroll in "Laughter," under the direction of H. D'abbadie D'arrast, has a real woe in that newspapers invariably spell his first name wrong.

* * *

Stanley Smith, whose last appearance at the Paramount New York studios was opposite "Ginger" Rogers in "Queen High," has arrived in the big town where he will again work opposite Miss Rogers in "Manhattan Mary," starring Ed Wynn. Norman Taurog will direct.

* * *

Victor Schertzinger, who is preparing to work on "Skippy," has received hundreds of photographs of potential "skippies" from hopeful mothers. It's the opportunity of a life time for the fortunate youngster.

* * *

A one reel comedy, "Tons of Trouble," written by himself, will be the first directorial attempt of Walton Butterfield, staff writer at the Paramount New York studio. The cast will include Virginia Fairfax, Charles Halton, Rudy Muller and Rosie, a sacred white elephant.

* * *

Janet Currie, who is doubling for Nancy Carroll, says that "if sound doesn't show signs of improvement they're going to pay hush money to the sound men."

* * *

Burnet Hershey, staff writer at the eastern Vitaphone studio, ankled up the alter last week with Adele Allerhand, known as "The Colgate Girl." A honeymoon to Virginia and then back to Brooklyn to author some more varieties.

* * *

A burlesque of the melodrama of 30 years ago is the Vitaphone Variety "Curses," directed by Arthur Hurley. There is the inevitable villain with a hissina "in my power my proud beauty," the brave lover who saves his sweetheart from the railroad tracks in the nick of time and the sinister oriental who reforms and saves the hero. Burnet Hershey wrote this one which includes in the east Clay Clement, George Blackwood, William E. Morris and Erin O'Brien-Moore.

* * *

Lee Phillips, who has come East from the coast where he was associated with several companies, is now assistant director at the Warner Brooklyn studio.

* * *

Ray Foster, the pleasingly plump cameraman at the Eastern Vitaphone studio, says, "We make plenty of shorts here, but in these hot days we ought to wear 'em." And while on the subject of pantaloons, the writers and directors out there where the sea breezes from Coney Island fail to blow, have formed a "Flannel Brigade on Parade," every member sporting a gray, black-striped pair of flannel trousers.

* * *

With the public demand for prison stories still as great as ever, "Excuse The Pardon," another drama of enforced confinement has been completed at the Warner eastern plant under Arthur Hurley's direction. Ralph Morgan, Marjorie Gateson and Robert Middlemass have the leading roles.

THE STUDIO SLEUTH.

Canned Music Is Hit by Canadian Musician Union

Montreal—Campaign against mechanical music is being handled in Canada by the Canadian Musicians Benevolent and Educational Ass'n. The organization is handling employment of musicians displaced by mechanical music. J. J. Shea of Montreal is representative of musicians in the Trades and Labor Council.

Musicians, says Shea, are seeking work, not charity. He states that a fund is being raised for the establishment of an orchestra of 75 musicians in Montreal to offer concerts and other musical features. Similar work would be undertaken in other cities.

A. Mathieu, acting secretary of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council, says various local musicians are in a precarious state after having made sacrifices in order to learn their profession. He asserts that the theatres had lost 50 per cent. of their popular appeal through the discarding of orchestras.

Vice-President Curtis Opening Warner Party

Vice-President Charles Curtis, pinch hitting for President Hoover, Friday, will officially usher in Warner Bros. Silver Anniversary celebration, which is to be countrywide. The vice-president in his home in Topeka, Kan., will press a button which will cause the parting of the screen curtains in a number of theatres around the country and give the signal for the musical overture consisting of "In Memory of You," which was selected as the theme number for the anniversary.

Merger Bug Bites Film Insurance Broker Firms

Consolidation of Stebbins, Leterman & Gates and Herbert R. Ebenstein, Inc., insurance brokers specializing in film business, is effective Friday. The firm will operate as Stebbins, Leterman & Gates with Arthur Stebbins as president, Herbert Ebenstein as first vice-president, Elmer Leterman as vice-president, Arthur N. Gates, secretary-treasurer, and Arthur A. Ebenstein as assistant secretary. Staffs of both companies will be combined.

English and Spanish Versions Simultaneously

Hollywood—Utilizing the same sets but with different directors and casts, "The Cat Creeps" will be produced in English and Spanish versions by Universal, the English version by day and the Spanish version by night. Rupert Julian will direct the former, George Melford, the latter.

Sign Stage Player

Hollywood—Warners have brought Margaret Schilling from the New York stage to play the leading role in "Children Of Dreams" an original operetta by Sigmund Romberg and Oscar Hammerstein II.

High and Low On Music Row

ALTHOUGH conditions in music have been extremely bad during the past few months, the upward trend in music sales for the last fortnight, though slight, is enough to cheer publishers, who have held meeting after meeting to learn what had happened to the music business.

* * *

What they learned was that the market was flooded with synchronized songs that had no commercial sales value and that the ordinary popular song with human appeal showed favorable results. Also that a song, even if well spotted in a picture, would not sell if the song wasn't good. The result is less songs in pictures, those synchronized are chosen with greater care and a chance for a good popular song to see daylight.

* * *

For the first time in several months the DeSylva, Brown & Henderson catalogue includes picture songs, these latter being "When Love Comes in the Moonlight," "Highway To Heaven" and "Leave A Little Smile" from the new Warner production, "Oh, Sailor Behave."

* * *

If there is an outstanding event and it concerns Warner Bros., look for the inevitable theme song. "In Memory of You," a ballad fox-trot, written by Al Dubin and Joe Burke, has been selected as the Warner Bros. Silver Anniversary Song and will be played during the next month at every Warner theatre. Harms, Inc., are the publishers.

* * *

Looks like Donaldson, Douglas & Gumble are at last hitting on all eight with "Little White Lies" by Walter Donaldson and "Love's Melody," by Chet Frost and Howard Grode, starting to climb and "Lazy Lou'siana Moon" still keeping the stock clerks busy.

* * *

Last week we stated that Songs of The Day, Inc., will market a ten-cent seller. Although this firm was originally organized to sell popular music for ten cents, it now seems that the price will be 15 cents. Arthur Carter, who financed the company, is one of the live-wires of the music business.

PINCUS.

BUSINESS MEN stay at the
NEW YORKER

The New Yorker has 2500 rooms, every one with radio, tub and shower bath, Servidor and circulating ice water. There are four popular-priced restaurants, including Coffee Shop. Rates from $3.50 a day. 85% of the rooms are $5, or less.

Manhattan's Largest and Tallest Hotel
34th Street at 8th Avenue, New York City
RALPH HITZ · Managing Director

SALARITIS IS THE AFFECTION that currently has assumed the proportions of an epidemic around the Paramount lot. It's an old and chronic malady that breaks out among the stars of Paramount every so often and while some sort of cure is usually effected there are always scars.

Adolpe Menjou was suffering from salaritis last year when he fled from the presence of Ben Schulberg all the way to Paris. Schulberg, of course, is the prescriber who carries the cure for the worst cases of salaritis, that being the bulging pocketbook of Paramount.

The real trouble with Clara Bow now is diagnosed as nothing but an acute case of salaritis. The Paramount checkbook has been made to bulge most pleasantly as the result of Clara's cavortings in front of the camera. To be brutally frank, she demands more dough and, this being politely declined, she is making it as tough as possible for Schulberg.

Bill Powell caught the salaritis from Menjou. . . . Maurice Chevalier heard about Bill and he, too, sought out Mr. Schulberg. A serious case of salaritis, that one. Well, the story goes that Schulberg capitulated to the Frenchman's demands after a lot of argument, with Chevalier shrugging eloquently and murmuring; "There are other studios, Monsieur Schulberg."

The salaritis germ was growing deadlier. George Bancroft learned of Chevalier's amazing cure. . . . There are other Paramount stars who are close to the vicinity of the salaritis bug and it may bite them yet. Jack Oakie had a mild case which was cured by $1,500 a week.—New York News.

* * *

A Suppressed Desire!

A well known Hollywood leading man appeared at the studio with his foot bandaged. "What's the matter?" he was asked.

"I just kicked my agent in the heart," he exclaimed, passionately.—Los Angeles Herald.

* * *

And now Doug Jr. is playing on the same lot as his step-papa, Jack Whiting, who is only four years older than Doug. Mrs. Whiting lunches with the two of them frequently. It's an odd looking family group.—Motion Picture.

* * *

BULL-etin
(Interview)

"In the picture business one plays a dozen parts a year, each of them different."—Renee Adoree, film actress. —New York American.

* * *

They call Ivan Lebedeff the most perfectly groomed man in Hollywood. Rita LaRoy admits that it is impossible to "muss him up" in a love scene, though she tried hard enough. But when he came up from a ducking in the Pacific Ocean for a scene the other day with his trousers still creased and his hair as perfectly combed as when he went into the water, he cinched the title then and there.—Motion Picture Magazine.

Apropos

Hollywood—Sid Grauman walked through the entrance of the Roosevelt Hotel, and backed into a projecting corner of concrete to scratch his back. Moving along a few yards, he stopped again for the same maneuver. Spotting Sid's strange antics, a couple of the boys watched him with amusement.

Before the boys could deliver the wisecrack, Sid said, "I don't know, but I must have one of those Hell's angels on me," and made a swift exit.

Making 'Em Talk

Tampa, Fla.—Cutting in with a preview three days ahead of the regular opening of a picture is a novel way of starting 'em talking. Paul Short, manager of the Tampa, used this stunt on the first Lon Chaney talkie, "Unholy Three." It went over big.

WITH song and prance films flopping, talkified musical shows and operettas proving a box-office disappointment and many of the run of revamped stage plays failing to hit the ticket choppers for expected returns, a general shakeup in Hollywood studios is under way.

Scores of actors, writers, dialoguers, playwrights, songsmiths, singers and dancers, under contract arrangements of six months, one year and holding one and two picture agreements are being let out as their contracts expire.—Inside Facts, Los Angeles.

* * *

John P. Medbury, who writes about Hollywood and other places, remarked lugubriously: "Times are so tough that the beggars on Vine Street are giving credit."—Los Angeles Herald.

* * *

"The most romantic moment of my life came after I was married—and it was not with my wife."—John Boles in Motion Picture Classic.

* * *

Lya de Putti's hottotot said it with a brand new yacht last week. . . . Metro-Goldwyn, which swore it wouldn't loosen the purse strings for another stage production after "Great Days" flopped, has forgotten already.—Sobol in New York Graphic.

* * *

The public hears only of their extravagances, but many stars give generously of their time and money to worthy causes.—Screen Play Secrets.

* * *

A Toast to Warner Brothers!!!

To you, the three musketeers of the motion picture industry, we awarded the "distinguished service medal for pioneering work in sound pictures."

The failure of others before you, the spectre of financial ruin that stared you in the face in the event of your own failure, neither daunted nor stayed you. Courage to hazard all on a gallant and invincible dream was yours—and the reward, great as it is, can never be counted too munificent.—New York Mirror.

* * *

Gloria Swanson's entry for the production-cost stakes, it would appear, has been scratched. "Queen Kelly" is to be allowed to rest her weary old bones in peace and Joseph Kennedy will take the entire million-dollar loss with as brave a smile as he can summon up.—Motion Picture Classic.

RECENTLY a movie director and a movie star got married in Hollywood. They planned out a huge and elaborate wedding, got the biggest church, arranged for photographers, radio hookup, and so on, and issued a thousand invitations. Unfortunately, it turned out that on the same day there was a whippet race at Tia Juana or some other rival attraction of the kind movie people all go to—anyway, as the hour of the wedding approached, only about a hundred or so guests had appeared. Things looked pretty bad, but the bridegroom rose to the emergency. He called the studio, ordered a general roundup of all the extras in sight, and had them rushed over to the church. The wedding went off with great eclat.—New Yorker.

* * *

Whoopee parties, divorces and scandals are becoming a thing of the past in the film city, where it's now the fashion to be old-fashioned.—Screen Play Secrets.

* * *

Blame Malibooze for La Duncan's Black 'n' Blues!

That so regrettable occurrence at Malibu the other day which put Vivian Duncan in Hollywood hospital and Rex Lease in the calaboose happened in violation of all the rules of cinemaland. Frolicsome boys and girls out for a little good clean fun over the week-end aren't supposed to cavort in the presence of the high moguls of the Will Hays organization.

But that is apparently just what Miss Duncan and Mr. Lease and who else did. My Malibu operative informs me that none other than Fred W. Beetson, head vigilante of movie morals when Hays isn't about, was one of the guests at Charlie Farrell's house where the holiday festivities really started.

Vivian says Rex socked her because he loved her. Rex says "Aw, she must have fallen down." And what with one thing and another, the wags of cinemaland are calling it Malibooze.—New York News.

* * *

The only shady spot in the city is behind Paul Whiteman.—New York Graphic.

* * *

Not so long ago there was a very popular master of ceremonies whose name was Paul Ash. In fact, it still is. He conducted the stage bands in all the bigger Chicago movie theatres. The girls were crazy about him. Just mention his name to them and they swooned.

As a matter of fact, they were so much that way about him that the Paul Ash Fans' Club was formed, the membership consisting of little flappers, nearly all of whom wore their hats pushed way back on their silly little heads. The members of the P. A. F. C. would sit down front at the various theatres and their Paul could do no wrong. They thought he was swell.

But something has happened. Maybe the members of the organization have grown up; maybe some have married. Whatever it is, Paul doesn't seem to exercise the same old thrill as formerly. There are actually members of the club who can sit out front and yawn right in the middle of one of Paul's wisest cracks.

There was recently a gathering of the officers of the P. A. F. C. and it was decided to break up the organization. The constitution was burned, so 'tis said, and the flappers no more flip their foolish little ways to hurn idolatrous incense before the altar that held Paul and his mad band of musicmakers.—Baltimore Sun.

that — Quips Lifted and Sifted

SINCE sound films have gone vocal and since much of the old hurly-burly action of the silents has given way mainly to livid battles between impassioned gangsters, to the nimble graces of long-legged chorus girls and to the ambulations of a few characters in a drawing room, children haven't been so interested in movies.

Dialogue is too sophisticated for them. The laughter of the adults comes at odd, misunderstood places. The climaxes, often as not, are climaxes that occur in some one's mind; rushing trains seldom tumble off trestles any more and you can scarce tell the villain from the hero.

The number of children in neighborhood theatres has dropped accordingly; their attendance downtown is nil.—Milwaukee Journal.

* * *

If ever you've lived in Italy you would think yourself there again to walk through the streets in Hollywood these singing days. The tree-top tenors and the sidewalk sopranos me-me-me, ah-ah-ah, and dough-dough-dough from sunrise to sunset.—Screenland.

* * *

Cutting admissions may boost attendance and even bring a bigger gross, but we doubt if the increase will continue after the first few weeks. We base our opinion on the experience of exhibitors who increased their admission prices when they opened with sound and then, when they found the going below their expectations, dropped their prices. The drop increased attendance some, but the gross was about the same, and, later falling lower, without a proportionate cut in the overhead, this means to increase profits did the opposite.—Associated Publications.

* * *

Considering that the movie producers write and picture nothing else but the noble art of love and the stern business of romance, they seem to know singularly little about it.

For instance, Cecil B. De Mille—in "Dynamite"—tries to make us believe that a gently-bred girl moves down into the tenements, marries an ignorant, egotistical roughneck and lives happily forever. I'll bet Mr. De Mille a nickel that, in the whole range of his wide experience with life and his exceedingly acute observation thereof, he cannot recall one single such case.—Harry Carr in Los Angeles Times.

* * *

In the days of the silent films the director was about 90 per cent responsible for the worth of the picture, and I should say that the same ratio holds true even with the advent of the talkies. You can say what you like about the increased importance of the actor now that dialogue has been added to his lot, but it is being demonstrated time and again that the most telling factors in a good talkie are directly traceable to the skill of the director.—N. Y. Post.

A K.O. Punch

"The 'Ingagi' theme song," it appears to V. K. Richards, the Toledo Blade's dramatic critic, "ought to be 'Phoney That Way,' in the light of recent disclosures."

YOU can't go wrong doing the right or square thing.

Every distributing office knows its exhibitors, those with whom it has done business satisfactorily. Take care of these men; they are not suppliants, nor beggars they are your customers, and it is to your interests and the interests of the community in which they reside, to the interests of your nation that men be helped to remain in business, for an exhibitor's good fortune finds its way in increased patronage, and this increased patronage builds up better rentals as the ultimate result.—Moving Picture Digest, Toronto.

* * *

It's reported that Basil Rathbone will return to the stage in the fall, after having been given anything but a good break in the movies. On the stage he has had marvelous roles and played them marvelously. In the movies he was made just one more leading man, and when he played opposite one attractive young star it somehow happened that in most of their scenes together the top of his head was cut off—focusing more attention on her, of course, and she was the star, of course, and of course—but why go on with it?

Anyway, he's planning to return to the stage, where he enjoyed such outstanding success, unless something unexpected turns up to prove that the screen will do justice to his talents. And who can blame him?—"The Studio Cat" Column in N. Y. Evening World.

* * *

Walter Weems (Sennett scribe) asked Marjorie (Babe) Kane if it was difficult for a girl to succeed in pictures.

Babe says: "The first hundred YEARS are the hardest."—Los Angeles Record.

* * *

Clara Bow seems to have learned the wisdom of keeping quiet. After saying quite a lot of things of which Paramount Publix didn't approve—with reason—she now has nothing to say for publication. And that Bow-Richman romance is still hanging fire.

Movie fans are going to be shocked within a year or perhaps even less by the death of a famous and much-loved star.—N. Y. Evening World.

* * *

Some of the Hollywood stars have found royalties from phonograph records a profitable source of income.

Not all have fared so well, however. A certain comedian says that he wrote the company after six months, asking for a statement.

He received the following reply: "On receipt of 50 cents, we will send you the master record."—Carroll in Los Angeles Record.

IN less than a year's time, Charles Bickford has achieved a reputation as the Bad Boy of the movies, a rôle he thoroughly enjoys.

Around Bickford, the smoke of battle never clears—not if he can help it. He inspires the terms "difficult" and "incorrigible," and some others less academic.

And he cherishes those adjectives the way most actors take to "magnificent" or "notable."

"I was always squawking when I was on the stage," he said, "but theatrical producers, I find, are marvels of intelligence compared to the men who run the movies."

Charlie does have principles. It's true he often starts his riots to defend what he thinks is right. He has a cause, some of the time. But part of the time he just does it to annoy.

Bickford is as inconsistent a he-man as ever I saw.

He has the stature, the muscles, and the coiffure of a Samson.

But those muscles are encased in perfectly tailored garments. Those shaggy locks are carefully brushed, and tinted the exact shade of red that best sets off his blue eyes. And he talks with a Boston accent.

He has been a hobo and a coal-stoker, but his first job on the stage was as an effeminate man, and he's the first to admit he gave a swell performance. Biceps and bulk notwithstanding, he has fastidious tastes, and he loves vanilla ice cream.—Motion Picture.

* * *

Warner Brothers would give a lot to get something on Alice White, so they can squeeze out of their contract with her on the morality clause without its costing them anything. Warners have parted with a lot of ready dough in the last year buying up the contracts of disgruntled and unprofitable stars like Corinne Griffith and Monte Blue, to mention only two. They don't mind that, but they do hate to lose both their good jack and a box office favorite like Alice all in one fell swoop. So the grape vine carries tidings that Miss White is among the most discreetly watched and also watchful "IT" girls in Cinemaland. Being idle at the moment, she has hied away to Arrow Head, where a gal can have some privacy.—Florabel Muir in N. Y. Daily News.

* * *

As we move along in our travel of stage and screen entertainment, it appears to become more and more difficult to classify between the unwholesome and purely wholesome. Former movie fans have become moral fan-atics.

Those who are prone to raise their hands in holy horrer at the type of stage and screen entertainment of today should remember that this is an era of more or less abandon. Principally more.

There is quite as much nudity or undress today in our daily social life, athletic activity, vacation association and places of public assemblage as there ever was on the stage in its balmiest days of shapely coryphees in full flesh tights.—Pacific Coast Exhibitor-Bulletin.

The Cut-throats

A well known exchange man entered the elevator in 729 Seventh Avenue, one of New York's film centers, where he was warmly received by two old playmates working for another distributor. The pair were unusually friendly in acclaiming the chap as their "buddy" and "long lost pal" and insisted that they get together real soon to retrace their close association in the old days. They shook hands and departed, but the duo had scarcely left the building when one was heard to say, "Why, that dirty chiseling so-and-so still owes me eight bucks. He's a bum if there ever was one."

Nize fellows.

Opinions On Pictures

Cheer Up and Smile

(Fox—All Talker)

Light, But Pleasing

(Reviewed by Sherwin S. Kane)

"CHEER Up and Smile" is light program fare which, bolstered with good short subject support, should do nice business in split week houses. It offers mild but amusing entertainment for young and old, and should be perfectly acceptable as a hot weather offering anywhere. Minus an outstanding name draw to carry its inconsequential story, the picture's salvation lies in its lighthearted delivery.

At no time does it take itself seriously, nor does it invite the audience to do so. Credit for this happy result is due Director Sidney Lanfield, a Fox writer who, with this one, put away his typewriter for the megaphone for the first time. His object was solely to entertain, and how well he succeeded may be estimated from a clocking of 28 laughs from an average audience in the theatre where the picture was caught.

The story is that of the trials and misunderstandings which beset the juvenile love affair of Eddie Fripp, a college boy, and Margie, sales girl in the college town music store. As part of his fraternity initiation, Eddie is directed to kick the first male he meets and to kiss the first female. Franklin Pankborn, as a college professor, is the recipient of the kick, while a pretty, little co-ed gets the kiss—in Margie's view, unfortunately. After the resultant misunderstanding has been patched up, Eddie and Margie attend a school dance where, as they are about to step off the "sweethearts' dance" number, Eddie is summoned to the dean's office and suspended for his earlier abuse.

Margie, who had been left waiting without an explanation, later comes upon Eddie in the company of the co-ed she had witnessed him kiss earlier that day. Eddie is given the gate and, disconsolate, leaves for New York, where he lands a job with the orchestra at Pierre's cafe. Here he engages the wrath of the proprietor (Charles Judels) when the attentions of the latter's flirtatious wife center on Eddie with compromising but laughable results. On the eve of a holdup at the cabaret, "Whispering" Jack Smith (himself), an entertainer there, is knocked out by the bandits in the radio broadcasting room at the place. In order that the suspicions of patrons of the place may not be aroused, the bandits force Eddie to sing before the "mike." His quavering, frightened voice makes a hit and Pierre is deluged with requests for more by the same vocalist.

In the meantime, however, Eddie has been discharged by Pierre, who had discovered his wife in the former's dressing room. Faced with Eddie's new popularity, Pierre aboutfaces and seeks to retain the kid as a singer. Eddie has patched things with Margie by phone and insists on returning to her, and in order to keep him in New York Margie is brought to town. Their plans for a wedding, which Pierre fears will ruin Eddie's popularity with the women, are overheard, and, in order to upset them, Pierre plans a frameup which will discredit the lad before Margie.

It is arranged that Margie shall be taken to Eddie's apartment, while a woman, instructed to make love to him, is there. Pierre escorts Margie to the apartment. The woman found there is Pierre's wife. Margie flees in disgust to her hotel; is followed by Eddie, who learns of the frameup and gets the proof of it before her. Reconciliation follows.

The story progresses at a good clip, and although there is little action connected with the picture, the bids for laughs follow each other closely, which, with the brevity of the production, tend to maintain interest and speed things up.

Charles Judels garners most of the laughs, Yvonne, Pierre's wife, does well enough with assistance by Johnny Arthur. Baclanova is in a role that does not offer too much. Arthur Lake is too frankly a "juvenile," but turns in a few laughs now and then. Dixie Lee gives little to a role which demands less. Five songs, good enough in their place, feature in the production. "You May Not Like It, But It's a Great Idea" registers as the most easily remembered of the quintet.

Good novelty shorts and cartoons will balance this.

Produced and distributed by Fox. Directed by Sidney Lanfield. Story by Richard Connell. Adaptation and dialogue by Howard J. Green. Composer and lyricist, Raymond Klages and Jesse Greer. Photographed by Joe Valentine. Length, 5,600 feet. Running time, 62 minutes. Release date, July 26, 1930.

THE CAST

"Margie"	Dixie Lee
Eddie Fripp	Arthur Lake
Yvonne	Olga Baclanova
"Whispering" Jack Smith	Himself
Andy	Johnny Arthur
Pierre	Charles Judels
Tom	John Darrow
Paul	Sumner Getchell
Professor	Franklin Panghorn
Donald	Buddy Messinger

And 14 University of Southern California football stars.

The Sap from Syracuse

(Paramount—All Talker)

Oakie Scores

(Reviewed by Charles F. Hynes)

THE irrepressible Oakie again, this time as a prize sap, who gets all the breaks, but finally comes through in a big way. His fans will rave over it, and although the story probably will be kidded as flimsy, but it's a safe bet that audiences generally will vote this a laugh. Accordingly, it should be a box office card.

The picture starts out at a swift pace, sags somewhat in the middle and builds toward the end. It was made principally to exploit Oakie and does that in good fashion. Paramount has a great bet in the "Big chin and grin man" as he is billed. According to the press sheet, the story is one-half the picture, Oakie the other half, but about an 80 per cent division for Jack would be about right.

Ginger Rogers is a peppy and personable heroine, who does fine work in this. There are plenty of wisecracks, containing a number of good gags. The other members of the cast are uniformly good, with Granville Bates and George Barbier standing out by reason of strong parts capably handled.

Director Edward Sutherland has done a workmanlike job and gets the most out of the gags, although the picture slows up considerably in the middle.

Oakie is cast as a crane driver on a Syracuse canal project, who leaves for Europe after inheriting money. His co-workers frame a series of telegrams to the captain from prominent people and tip off reporters that he is the engineer who built the Erie Canal, but is traveling incognito. He is the center of attraction aboard ship, and when he tries to explain, his efforts are laughed off as modesty.

On board the ship he meets Ginger Rogers, who is traveling to Macedonia to try and save a diamond mine. Accompanying her is a rascally guardian trying to grab the mine by keeping it idle. The girl plays up to Jack as the engineer who can solve her problem, and falls in love with him. Efforts of the guardian to expose him as a fake are futile, and when they arrive at Macedonia Jack tells the girl the truth on the eve of a meeting of experts. With the girl admitting defeat, Jack, through a chance remark, hits upon a solution of the problem. Then the plot is unmasked by the famous engineer, for whom Jack had been unwillingly masquerading, but who himself had been traveling incog. aboard the same ship.

Novelty shorts with this as it has some singing by Oakie and Ginger.

Produced and distributed by Paramount. Directed by A. Edward Sutherland. From the play by John Fray, Jack O'Doonell and John Hayden. Screen play by Gertrude Purcell. Photographed by Larry Williams. Length, 6,108 feet. Running time, 68 minutes. Release date, July 26.

THE CAST

Littleton Looney	Jack Oakie
Ellen Saunders	Ginger Rogers
Hycross	Granville Bates
Senator Powell	George Barbier
Nick Pangolos	Sidney Riggs
Flo Goodrich	Betty Starbuck
Dolly Clark	Veree Teasdale
Captain Barker	J. Malcom Dunn
Bells	Bernard Jukes
Henderson	Walter Fenner
Hopkins	Jack Daley

Worldly Goods

(Continental—All Talker)

Just Fair Program

(Reviewed by Charles F. Hynes)

THE United States Army, this picture would have you believe, let its A. E. F. veterans disembark in New York after the war without any semblance of order, the men just walking down the gangplank as they chose. Even if that were done, on occasion, it is hardly conceivable that the Army would leave a blind veteran to his own devices, so that he might play dead, or that a story of his death at sea would be accepted by his sweetheart without War Department confirmation, or would not give the blind youth a chance of having his sight restored by a Veteran's Bureau exam, or would not pay him compensation insurance.

These are but a few of the implausibilities in this Enoch Arden yarn which is filled with inconsistencies and coincidences. Yet with all this, it maintains a fair amount of interest, and where fans are willing to accept hoke laid on thick without questioning absurdities, it will get by as program fare.

Director Phil Rosen has given it some good touches, despite its wild story, and these help to carry it. The cast is fairly good and James Kirkwood gets over a strong characterization despite what seems to be a voice handicap. This, however, may be the fault of recording or reproduction, but voices of the other players came through satisfactorily when this was caught. Merna Kennedy is a pretty and satisfactory heroine, and Ferdinand Schumann-Heinck good as is his buddy, Billy Featherston, and Shannon Day as the hardboiled chorus girl.

A young aviator is blinded in France when the faulty plane he is flying crashes. He swears vengeance on the profiteering manufacturer, who is a hard-hearted captain of industry. Arriving home, he has his pal tell his sweetheart that he died at sea. The buddies continue aviation work, one as a pilot, the blind youth as mechanic. When the profiteer comes to the airport, he learns the blind boy's story, and pays the cost of an operation to restore the boy's sight, keeping his identity secret meanwhile. The youth regains his eyesight, is persuaded that the profiteer has had a change of heart and become a humanitarian. He resolves to make the best of it when he learns his ex-sweetheart is the now-reformed profiteer's wife. The industrialist, however, solves the problem by leaping to his death from a plane, in which he is riding with the youth.

Use musical shorts with this.

Produced and distributed by Continental Pictures. Directed by Phil Rosen. Scenario and dialogue by Johnny Grey and Scott Littleton. Edited by Carl Himms. Photographed by Herbert J. Kirkpatrick. Length, 6,065 feet. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, Aug. 1.

THE CAST

John C. Bullock	James Kirkwood
Mary	Merna Kennedy
Jeff	Ferdinand Schumann-Heinck
Jim	Billy Featherston
Cassie	Shannon-Day
Secretary	Thomas Curran

Opinions on Pictures

Romance

(M-G-M—All Talker)

Garbo Sends It In

(Reviewed by Don Ashbaugh)

IN the march of progress, the regulation slow-moving and leisurely Victorian form of drama has become a bit old-fashioned. Audiences of the present day rather require their drama hot and the action fast. Neither of these two qualities is incorporated in "Romance," Edward Sheldon's stage play in which Doris Keane appeared for several years.

But Greta Garbo plays the starring part, and carries the picture through by sheer force of her ability even though the story itself is limited as screen material.

"Romance" will go over on account of the tremendous popularity of Garbo but it does not begin to compare with several of her previous efforts. It's a good week run attraction and subsequent bookings will hit in accordance with the star's following in each community.

The picture is slow in tempo and without the dramatic climaxes that are generally the rule in Garbo stories. Doris Keane appeared in the original silent version about ten years ago and the same fault existed at that time.

The story is laid in the latter period of the nineteenth century, with Garbo appearing as the Italian prima donna who falls in love with a young preacher. The latter also gets rather interested in the singer and finally, decision is reached that the romance must be off for all time on account of the difference in their stations of life.

At times the tempo slows down to a walk, making long and uninteresting sequences rather boresome to everyone except those who enjoy the Victorian type of drama. Clarence Brown, despite the tough story assignment, delivered numerous deft touches for which he is noted and the combination of direction and Garbo will have to be depended upon to get the attraction over.

Gavin Gordon, as the young curate lover, demonstrates that he can turn in an excellent performance and will likely find a real spot in talkers. Lewis Stone, as the singer's older lover, delivers his usual sterling characterization.

Comedies, cartoons and musicals should be included here.

Produced and released by M-G-M. From play by Edward Sheldon. Dialogue and continuity by Bess Meredyth and Edwin Justis Mayer. Directed by Clarence Brown. Photographed by William Daniels. Edited by Hugh Wynn. Length, not set. Release date, July 26, 1930.

THE CAST

Rita Cavallini	Greta Garbo
Cornelius Van Tuyle	Lewis Stone
Tom Armstrong	Gavin Gordon
Harry	Elliott Nugent
Suzanne Van Tuyle	Florence Lake
Miss Armstrong	Clara Balndick
Betto	Henry Armetta

Such Is Fame

Hollywood—Harold Lloyd can wander out in public without any chance of recognition—and has done it innumerable times. Discarding the horn-rimmed glasses makes plenty of star-gazers and tourists pass him up continually.

But the pay-off happened last week when Harold visited the radio team of Amos 'n' Andy at the RKO studios. Lloyd asked a secretary the direction to the projection rooms, and she sweetly replied, "You can't go in—no one but people in the picture business are admitted to the projection rooms on the lot!"

"And then you shout, 'Don't You DARE Come in Here'!"

—Life.

Canyon of Missing Men

(Syndicate-Synchronized)

Stock Western

(Reviewed by J. P. Cunningham)

A LOT of cattle rustlin', fiestas and fights, kidnapping and the like all jumbled up into one great big healthy mess of ordinary stock Western program material, the kind that is best suited to a double feature bill in neighborhood theatres where the youngsters whistle and shout when the hero lands the heaviest blow.

It was made as a silent, which is one thing in its favor, because the sappy titles would just about ruin the piece completely if put into verbal form. On the other hand, synchronization is only one niche above the depths of amateurishness.

Direction is unconvincing, with an over-abundance of far-fetched situations made to follow the lines of least resistance. The continuity is sloppy and the story a rehash of everything that has gone before in Westerns. Photography is fair and the locale pleasing.

Sheila LeGay and Arden Ellis, both unknowns are poor as the female attractions, while the rest of the cast, including Tom Tyler, is only fair. The Misses LeGay and Ellis have a heap to learn before their performances can stack up even to Western standards.

The yarn involves the aged-old gag of cattle rustlers and the big he-man who goes straight for the girl, fighting hard throughout the five thousand feet to overthrow crookedness and his former partners in outdoor crime.

Use only with another feature and some comedy shorts.

Produced by Syndicate Pictures and distributed via state rights market. Directed by J. P. McGowan. Story by George H. Williams. Photographed by Hap Depew. Released, June 1. Running time, about 50 minutes. Length, 4,742 ft.

THE CAST

Dave Brandon	Tom Tyler
Inex Sepulveda	Sheila LeGay
Slug Sagel	Bud Osborne
Juan Sepulveda	Tom Foreman
Brill Lonergan	Cliff Lyons
Gimpy Lamb	Bobby Dunn
Peg Slagel	Arden Ellis

The Lone Horseman

(Syndicate—Synchronized)

Poor

(Reviewed by Robert Hage)

A QUICKIE, apparently shot from the cuff in a couple of days, and combining all the worst features of the western cycle. Three men sitting in the vicinity of this reviewer slept through most of it.

It looks as if they cut expenses on this one. J. P. McGowan, the producer and director, also has a fat role as the villain, and the assistant director is in the cast, too. McGowan's performance, like that of most of the cast, was ham to the 'nth degree.

The only humor in the production was unconscious. The villain was named Slicker and the titles were gems of illiteracy. The synchronized music, while well recorded, did not enhance the picture's appeal. It was repetitiously monotonous.

The story concerns a fake sale of Tom Tyler's ranch by the slicker to two women, while Tyler is in a hospital. They had bad boys discover gold on the ranch and try to scare off the dames, but they stick. Tyler, hearing of the sale and believing the purchaser to be a man, writes notes threatening to oust them when he recovers. Finding, on arriving, that the buyer is a girl, he grows romantic and the story wends its weary way through to the customary happy ending.

Only for those who take their western entertainment seriously. Give it a lot of good support.

Produced by J. P. McGowan Prod. Distributed by Syndicate Pictures. Story by Sally Winters. Directed by J. P. McGowan. Photographed by Hap Depew. Length, 4,739 feet. Running time, 53 minutes. Release date, November, 1929.

THE CAST

Jack Gardiner	Tom Tyler
Paul Slicker	J. P. McGowan
"Weary" Walker	Black Jack
Patricia Palmer	Mrs. B. Tanzey
Peggy, "Pat's" niece	Charlotte Winn
Jim Hawks	Tom Bay
Jim Bledsoe	Mack V. Wright

Kathleen Mavourneen

(Tiffany—Talker)

Only So-So

(Reviewed by J. P. Cunningham)

THERE'S plenty of exploitation possibilities in this Sally O'Neil opus, but don't go overboard in the plugging because your dear public may fail to appreciate the enthusiasm. The Irish-American ticket buyers will probably give it a hand, but those not from the "old sod" might hoist a hoof for a kick.

Sally's heavy "turk" brogue and Charlie Delaney's tuneful songs are the only commendable contributions of an unimpressive cast, which is made to spend half of its time doing Irish jigs and the other half singing "harp" melodies.

There are slight threads of a story trickling through, but they never make more than a ripple, due, chiefly to weak direction. Delaney, as a young and healthy Irish plumber working his way up in New York, is jealous of the attentions shown his newly arrived sweetheart, Sally, by Dan Moriarity, politician. They squeeze in a murder. Also a couple of parties as an excuse for the music. Robert Elliott, as Moriarity should wear a much lower dress collar. He appeared entirely too stiff and reserved.

Photography is not always of the best, being spotty and light in many sequences.

Plenty of support needed. Do not use more than one short comedy.

Produced and distributed by Tiffany. Directed by Albert Ray. Continuity and dialogue by Frances Hyland. From the stage play by Dion Boucicault. Photographed by Harry Jackson. Released, June 20. Length, 5,169 ft. Running time, about 56 minutes.

THE CAST

Kathleen	Sally O'Neil
Terry	Charles Delaney
Dan Moriarity	Robert Elliott
Aunt Nora Shannon	Aggie Herring
Uncle Mike Shannon	Walter Perry
Butler	Francis Ford

"Doug" Undecided

Hollywood—Whether to make a talker, silent or synchronized film as his next is a question being debated by Douglas Fairbanks. Meanwhile, "Doug" is to appear in "Reaching for the Moon" for Schenck, and will be on the payroll the same as the other players. After that, "Doug's" course is doubtful, but he is known for sudden decisions, so that it wouldn't prove surprising if "Doug" announced that his next picture may be released via television.

Opinions on Pictures

Raffles

(United Artists—All Talker)

Good Colman Vehicle

(Reviewed by Charles F. Hynes)

RONALD COLMAN'S fine characterization gives interest and kick to this new production of the Hornung story of the suave and intriguing amateur craftsman. It is done in humorous vein with Colman's personality carrying it. While not up to "Bulldog Drummond" and "Condemned," it should prove a good bet for the week stands. No doubt it will be helped by the Colman pictures which have gone before.

Kay Francis is outstanding as Colman's leading woman. Her work in the picture should advance her box office standing considerably, in fact the Rialto, New York, is giving her prominent position in the lights, probably in anticipation of just this.

Whether the censor-minded will take a sock at the fact that the thief, Colman, goes unpunished, and is presented as a highly attractive character is problematical, but it seems to have got by okeh in New York.

Raffles is a clever safe breaker, who successfully eludes Scotland Yard's best efforts. Falling in love, he decides to go straight, but decides on a final "job," to raise money to save a friend in danger of arrest for forgery. He sets out to steal the jewels of a noblewoman, but a vagrant burglar beats him to it. Raffles obtains the jewels and goes back to London, but is followed by the Inspector of detectives, but not before he has sealed his troth with the girl. After returning the jewels, he makes his getaway by hiding in a grandfather's clock and then appropriating the inspector's hat and coat, intending to keep a rendezvous with the girl in Paris.

David Torrence turns in a creditable performance as the Scotch detective, but the others featured are subordinated to the work of Colman, Miss Francis and Torrence. Allison Skipworth gets some laughs. This offers good exploitation angles from the high hat crook slants.

Musical shorts should be good balance.

Produced by Samuel Goldwyn. Distributed by United Artists. Directed by Harry D'Arrast and George Fitzmaurice. Story adapted by Sidney Howard from E. W. Hornung's short stories and plays. Film editor, Stuart Heisler. Photographed by Gerald Grove and John Howell. Length 6,300 ft. Running time, 70 minutes. Release date, Sept. 1, 1930.

THE CAST

Raffles ..... Ronald Colman
Gwen ..... Kay Francis
Bunny ..... Brantwell Fletcher
Ethel ..... Frances Dade
McKenzie ..... David Torrence
Lady Melrose ..... Alison Skipworth
Lord Melrose ..... Frederick Kerr
Crawshaw ..... John Rogers
Barraclough ..... Wilson Benge

Romance of the West

(Hammond-Trop—All Talker)

Ordinary Western

(Reviewed by J. P. Cunningham)

ONE of those border Western yarns more suited for a spot on a double feature bill than as a lone attraction. As a matter of fact, we doubt if it could hold up alone in the most unsophisticated neighborhood theatre, but teamed with another, and stronger attraction, it eases by gently without causing much excitement.

The production was viewed under unfavorable mechanical circumstances. The film broke three times, and on two occasions, the dialogue ran at least three minutes ahead of the action, causing much unscheduled laughter in the audience. We assume, however, that this was due to a faulty print or machine trouble, which can be eliminated, and should be overlooked.

Robert and John Tansey directed. And even this double quota of directors contributed but little to pull the production from the depths of mediocrity. While the story is a weak affair, dragging constantly, you should be thankful, however, that nowhere is there a trace of cattle rustling, the sole excuse for most independent Western or outdoor features in the current release crop.

There's little hard riding and the gun play is insignificant, most of the action being taken up by Jack Perrin protecting a girl who had been betrayed by a former ham-and-egg fighter. The bad man is made a battler in this yarn to build up a ring fight with Perrin for the climax. And it's the most unconvincing fistic encounter we have seen in many years. It is just typical of the old swaying slugging matches shot on top of cliffs in the cinema's earlier days.

The comedy twists are a life saver, lightening the piece to the extent of making the picture bearable. The cast is only fair, with Jack Perrin, the star, doing no better than many of the unknowns with which the lineup is composed.

Sound and photoplay is passable.

Run only with a double feature bill; light comedy preferred.

Produced by Arthur Hammond. Distributed by Jack D. Trop, via State Rights market. Directed by Robert and John Tansey. Dialogue by Robert and John Tansey. No other credits available. Release date, June 15. Length, 5,494 feet. Running time, about 61 minutes.

THE CAST

Jack Walsh ..... Jack Perrin
Mary Winter ..... Edna Marion
K. O. Mooney ..... Tom London
"Slick" Graham ..... Henry Roquemore
Buck ..... Ben Corbett
Landlady ..... Fern Emmett
Parson ..... Dick Hatton
Chuck Anderson ..... Edwin August

To Build Second at Milton

Milton, Pa.—Milton Theatre Co. plan to rebuild the Bijou, with the new sound house to seat 1,200. A sound equipment is being installed at the Legionaire, which will continue operation after debut of the New Bijou.

Postpone "Blue" Action

Philadelphia—Action has been postponed until autumn upon the question of whether the city council will recommend modification of the state "blue" laws.

Zukor Praised

Adolph Zukor, an intelligent American business man, who retains his capacity to keep cool and think clearly even when business is not good says:

"For one thing, we had lost our heads. We began to think about a dollar as we ought to think about a twenty-five cent piece.

"After awhile we shall learn what money is, what thrift and commonsense mean. Then we shall be better off than we ever were.

"Nothing better than this so-called 'slump' could have happened to us.

"For my part, I was never more optimistic in my life."

Mr. Zukor speaks sincerely, and his optimism is justified.

This country needed a lesson and is having it.

How long it will last nobody knows.

—Arthur Brisbane in "Today," New York American.

Clubwomen Want Better Films, or They'll Sock B. O.

State or federal censorship is not the answer to "better" pictures, but the box-office is, and if producers renage in their delivery, the General Federation of Women's Clubs will "aim to influence that box-office in the right direction," states a report of the motion picture committee of the federation, which is actively engaged, through Mrs. Winter and thousands of committee members, in spreading its campaign to "better" films artistically and morally.

Being without the power to "force" producers to listen to reason, the association will continue the "persuasive" method, states the annual report. This calls for encouragement of attendance for good pictures and ignoring of others.

"Complete triumph of sound over silence" is admitted by the federation in the report, which accepts as a second epochal event in the industry the following by producers of "the dictates of the American people," and the establishment for themselves "certain guiding principles which, if rigorously adhered to, will do much to improve the quality of pictures, artistically and morally." The association is "hopeful that the decrease in the number of pictures will provide more working time for artistic and intelligent treatment."

Helped to Get the Code?

"We are quite convinced that our persistent demands and complaints to the producers have been a big factor in the recent action they (the producers) have taken to establish a code for production standards—and we know that our constant attention and insistent demands for decency in pictures gave us Mrs. Winter in the studios," it is stated.

The report indorses Mrs. Winter and her work, and rakes over the coals those "would-be reformers" who censored the Winter affiliation with the M.P.P.D.A.

Advertising on the Pan

"Probably it isn't unfair to say that 50 per cent of the objections made to motion pictures today arise out of the objectionable posters and other advertisements connected with the films," points out the report. "So marked has been this feeling of irritation because of advertising that the motion picture industry has taken cognizance of it" and formulated another code of ethics governing this branch "not only to rid the advertising of objectionable scenes and language but also to help the industry present a truthful and revealing story of what to expect in the picture itself. It is high time this was corrected and we hope some good results will be noticeable."

New Upstate Distributor

Buffalo—Standard Film Exchange has opened offices here and at Buffalo to handle independent films in those territories. The product will consist of ten all-talking dramas, 16 Syndicate all-talker westerns, eight melodramas, three Mascot serials and 18 Alice cartoons. Physical distribution is through First Graphic exchanges.

The Boss's Orders

(Pathe-Talker)

Fair Comedy

THERE'S not an honest-to-goodness laugh in the whole two thousand feet, although you might hear a light ripple of laughter in an audience which is not too discriminating.

The old, old gag of two timid gents partying a pair of female Parisian buyers, for the sake of landing a big order for the boss and being caught red-handed in a cabaret by their respective domestic "anchors," supplies the excuse. Of course, there's the usual musical setting found in most of this "Folly" series, but they won't mind it because it doesn't last long. The cast is only fair and Director Fred Guoil did the best he could under the circumstances. Settings are well conceived and the sound is without cause for complaint. Running time, 20 minutes.

Use a stronger two-reel running mate with this if your bill is in need of laughs.

Ginsberg of Newberg

(Vitaphone—Talker No. 4160)

A Riot!

A RARE treat in the current season's group of alleged comedy and stale gags offered in this by Eddie Lambert, who because of his hilarious Jewish accent and a line of lingo cleverly adapted to it, will make the most hard-boiled grouch go into a tonsil display from laughter.

The theme of the yarn is different from the run-o'-the-mill stuff. Eddie and Bill Irving, as real estate partners, sell the same house to hundreds. This gag is accomplished by means of a moveable structure piloted about on an automobile chassis. Nicely directed. Running time, 19 minutes.

Sufficient comedy in this one for the heaviest feature. Use a novelty on the bill and you're all set.

Love That Kills

(Pathe—Talker)

Another Terriss "Pip"

THERE'S only one fault to be found in Tom Terriss' newest, as compared with predecessors in the "Vagabond Adventure" series, and that is the brevity of the reel. Lasting only nine minutes, the thrilling camera trip in Malays comes too abruptly to an end. There should be more.

Fine as a novelty touch on a bill highlighting a comedy drama, preferably a light one.

Live and Learn

(Pathe-Talker—2 Reels)

Handled Very Nicely

THIS reel is the first Pathe comedy release for the new season, and the initial "Checker" subject. Clarity of sound recording aids considerably to a neat directing job done by Fred Guoil, but the gags are mostly of ancient vintage, plugging that old standby—domestic slapstick. The average fan, however, will accept it in good nature. Ed Dearing, Addie McPhail, Maurice Black, Gertrude Astor, George Towne Hall and David Durand are in the cast. Running time, 20 minutes.

Good stuff for a feature running along dramatic lines.

Audio Review No. 31

(Pathe—Sound)

Entertaining Novelty

PREDOMINATING in this new Review is a strong flavor of novelty. An impressive architectural oddity is the opener. The author of the thought, which sent Pathe's cameraman to the top of New York's skyscrapers in quest of material, rates a word of commendation. It's different, giving a close-up picture of the most grotesque and unusual stone "gargoyles and animals" found carved in the architect's heaven.

A group of sandpiper birds cavorting off the New Jersey coast is second; an interesting bit well done on night-stock, and followed by microphotographic close-ups of wood.

Shots of Africa's great Nyanza waterfalls, reputed to be twice the size of Niagara unreels is in the finish spot. This last is a scenic pip, having a greater kick than the other three units combined.

Stacks up as entertaining fare, well put to music and scenic beauties enhanced by the use of tinted stock. Running time, 9 minutes.

Suitable for use with almost any type of feature, except an outdoor yarn.

Short Subjects

Flinging Feet

(Castle-Sound)

Okay

DANCERS from a dozen countries, and a dozen different routines, splendidly synchronized to music and color tinted in a most natural manner. There's a song or two to boot, and colorful settings, so what more need you ask for in a novelty. Running time, about 14 minutes.

This one will go great with a dramatic feature, offering a nice light contrast.

Out for Game

(Vitaphone—Talker No. 4099)

Very Good

LUCIEN LITTLEFIELD leads "The Potters" gang through the paces in an intelligently handled comedy, chocked full of merriment. "Pa" takes the family on a duck hunting trip and his inexperienced, yet boastful caperings, provide plenty of laughs. Running time, 14 minutes.

Splendid reel to be used as comedy relief on a bill with a dramatic feature.

Hollywood Snapshots

(Columbia—Talker)

Good

ANDY CLYDE, as the m. c., injects his spontaneous humor into this "Snapshot," which gives the usual "inside" shots of picture making. Bessie Love is caught welcoming "Leo," back to Hollywood, a celebration which brought out Abe Lyman's band and a host of other celebs. Aileen Pringle, Grant Withers, Walt Disney (making Mickey, the Mouse cartoons), Eddie Cantor, also appear in this one, which stacks up as first rate entertainment. Running time, about 17 minutes.

Good with a heavy feature and a musical short.

Autumn

(Columbia—Sound Cartoon)

Entertaining

WELL done, but constructed along the same lines as most cartoons, the majority of which depend on fantastic stepping by the animal characters to put it over. The musical renditions are splendid. Running time, about 9 minutes.

Suitable for any bill.

Barnacle Bill

(Fleischer—Paramount)

Good Cartoon

THE producer utilized a good gag in this one which probably will be imitated as it opens up a big field. It is the building of the picture around the verses of the novelty song, fitting the action to the lyrics. It's a funny cartoon subject, showing "Barnacle Bill" on shore leave trying to court the skipper's wife. Running time, seven minutes.

These cartoons fit any bill.

Laurel and Hardy Murder Case

(M-G-M—Roach-Talker)

In the Bag

A THREE-REELER with the famous and funny comedy team. This is a burlesque on the mystery story against the background of which Stan Laurel and Babe Hardy give one of their inimitable performances. Babe thinks he has discovered the heir to a $3,000,000 estate left by Ebenezer Laurel, immediately sponsors the heir and off to the dead relative's house they go to claim the money. But Fred Kelsey, again playing the dumb dick, suspects murder, has all of the relatives corralled while he endeavors to unearth the crime

The whole flock, except Laurel and Hardy, are murdered under his nose, but it remains for the comics to discover the crime. They tussle with the murderer and finally wake up to find it all a dream. Went over emphatically with the audience at the Capitol in New York, although its length cut down the number of laughs considerably. Directed by James Parrott. Running time, 27 minutes.

Cartoons and musicals will go well with this. Fine to offset heavy feature. Worthy of billing in newspaper copy.

Horoscope for July

(FitzPatrick-Talker)

Like the Others

FITZPATRICK'S "Movie Horoscopes," monthly release, vary but little, each having a direct appeal to persons born in the respective month. Clearly and intelligently handled. "Zanzimar," introduced as a big man from the land of crystal gazers, does the honors. Synchronization by the Victor orchestra was tinny at this showing. Running time, about 11 minutes.

A novelty fit for almost any spot on any type of program.

Albany Would Place Ban On Amplifier "Racket"

Albany, N. Y.—Following closely on the footsteps of Troy, where the city fathers have declared against street radio broadcasting and the use of mechanical music in theatre lobbies, a resolution is now before the common council banning what is declared to have become a nuisance to the general public. It is understood that the resolution will be favored in Albany. While picture theatres have not been the chief offenders, they have contributed their share in connection with pictures either playing at the houses or booked for early appearance.

Earlier in the spring, when theatres were calling attention to canned music, through the song hits of the picture being played, it was figured that this was pretty good publicity. Then the radio stores stepped in, with the victrola houses a close second, and downtown Troy as well as Albany became a medley of blatant music, speeches of all sorts and descriptions, from morning until far into the night. There was an immediate public reaction to this and at least one theatre discontinued this type of advertising, believing that it was driving away patronage rather than increasing it.

New Color Lab on Coast Being Completed by Fox

Hollywood—Fox is completing its Nature Color laboratory at the Western Ave. studios and will open the new plant early in September, according to present plans. The addition to the New York laboratory also is slated to be in full operation within a month.

B. & K. Again Bows To M-G-M Film on 4th Loop Booking

Chicago—Obviously, Chicago likes M-G-M product. For the fourth time in almost as many weeks, Publix-B. & K. has seen fit to upset precedent and revise its Loop theatre bookings to accommodate the company's product with some well deserved extra time.

These procedures, rarely duplicated in the history of the circuit, began with "Caught Short," which was sent from the Chicago theatre, a one-week stand, to the Roosevelt for extra time. It was closely followed by "The Divorcee," which went from the Chicago to the Oriental, another one-week Loop stand. Then came "Our Blushing Brides" which approximated an all-time house record at the Oriental, and was held for a second week. This constituted only the second time in the history of the house a picture was so treated. Most recently, "Let Us Be Gay" was moved from the Chicago for a second week at the Oriental. In the meantime, "Love Among the Millionaires" (Paramount), originally scheduled to go into the Oriental after one week of "Our Blushing Brides," has been held up three weeks.

At McVickers, "The Big House" just finished four record weeks, during which it established a new house record. It was replaced in mid-week by "The Dawn Patrol" (F.N.), now current.

Fire Violation Case Put Over Until Next Week

Chicago — A second continuance was granted the Belpark and Cosmo theatres, charged with violations of city fire ordinances, when the cases were called here this week. The cases will go over to August 6, the date set for hearing of similar charges growing out of the type of acoustical materials in use in 24 additional Chicago theatres.

W. B. Houses Celebrate Jubilee

Chicago—A local observance of Warner Bros. silver jubilee will be the donation of Friday's receipts of five of the circuit's newly acquired houses here to a charity ice fund. The houses singled out for the donations are, the Stratford, Shore, Jeffery, Grove and Highland.

Wabash Ave.—South

HENRY HERBEL has recovered sufficiently from an attack of pneumonia to leave the hospital in which he has been confined for the past three weeks. After one week of rest at his home, Herbel will take a brief vacation at a nearby lake before returning to work.

* * *

Frank Flaherty, former city salesman for Paramount here, is managing his Melrose Park theatres, Maywood and Melrose Park.

* * *

Chicago Warner Club voted to pass plans for an August picnic. Interference of vacation plans of many club members decided the vote. The club's social program resumes early in the Fall, with several dances planned for the season, according to Harry Neil, president.

* * *

Lloyd Lewis, B. & K.'s literary advertising man, crashed the Midweek magazine of the "Chi" Daily News with an article entitled "Backstage with Will Rogers." The story was a keen estimate of the Rogers stage character, garnered during Will's recent week at the Chicago theatre.

* * *

Jacques Swaab, American World War "ace" and consultant on aviation matters for "Dawn Patrol," was feted at the Press Club here, during a stop-over. "Airplanes hazardous? Pooh, pooh," poohed Swaab, in the course of a conversation. "I have only ridden on trains six times in the past twelve years, and I was in an accident each time. For safe transportation give me a plane any time."

* * *

David Lee, the Warner "ain't he cute" kid, nearly missed a Pittsburgh train while in town recently, because he monkeyed too long with the toys in State street department stores (so a p. a. advises). Davie was bound for a vaudeville engagement in the Smoky City.

* * *

Charlie Loewenberg resurrected a 1903 one-cylinder Brush sport job to carry "All Quiet" advertising through the Loop on the occasion of the picture's third Loop opening at Warners' Orpheum.

* * *

Sam Halper and Abe Feder are taking over the Rose theatre. It has been leased to Joe Paley for the past 18 months.

* * *

Saul Goldman caught giving daybreak golf lessons to exchange femmes at one of the local public links.

* * *

Dan Roche of Pathe back from Kansas City where it was hotter than Chi, and from Detroit.

* * *

Louie Abramson, the newlywed, has purchased an office contraption by means of which he can do his work with one hand while taking care of the phone with the other. (The bride on the line, of course.)

* * *

Eddie Cantor, caught changing a train en route east, answered inquiries about whether or not he was through with pictures, by flashing a 5-year contract with Sam Goldwyn.

* * *

Harry Neil of Warner Bros. exchange is completing work on the largest theatre map of Chicago. This one gives not only exact location and name of every Chicago theatre but, what is particularly remarkable, it identifies the owner or lessor. A neat piece of detective work, considering the present state of things.

* * *

Billy Weinshenker reports that "What A Man" (Sono Art-World Wide) has hit a pretty business stride here. Bookings have been completed with Essaness, B. & K., Schoenstadt, Coston and RKO. "The Big Fight" is the runner up at the local Sono Art office, according to Billy.

* * *

James Ashcraft, p. a. for United Artists, is in town arranging for advance publicity on Gloria Swanson's new one "What a Widow."

* * *

Hank Peters, western representative for the Van Beuren Corp., visiting with Tom North and other pals at the Pathe exchange while in town.

* * *

L. McDaniels succeeded Harry Hilmes as manager of the Essaness Logan theatre.

* * *

Educational exchange proud of the record being hung up by "Goodbye Legs," a smart little comedy that did four weeks at the Woods recently and was given special advertising display space by the theatre.

KANE

Landlord Tilt May Result in Slashed Rents

Chicago—With prospects for completion of the proposed Film Exchange building at 13th and Wabash practically abandoned a half-dozen owners of buildings on Wabash and Michigan Avenues, from Ninth to Roosevelt Road, are considering remodelling their structures to accommodate the film exchanges that signed leases with the under-financed building concern last spring.

These property owners, in their anxiety to get new tenants, are becoming more reckless with promises from day to day, with the result that, in the event a certain one of them is the last survivor, several exchanges expect to make a profit on next year's rental.

Gregory Acquires House

Chicago—A. Gregory has taken over the Orpheum at Ottawa, Ill. His Gaiety Theatre there has been closed for remodelling and will be reopened early in the Fall.

Chi Exhibitors Fighting Off Labor Pains; Headache Powders In Demand

Picking a Rose

Chicago — Publix-B. & K. ended a two-months' search throughout its Chicago theatres for a new m. c. for the Oriental by drafting Harry Rose, New York comic, for the job. Tryouts of a number of successive local m. c.'s in the big loop theatre failed to establish the popularity of any of them and they were sent back to the outlying houses from which they were drawn. Rose assumed the Oriental post this week, and despite an unimpressive reception is expected to become a fixture at the house.

Exhib-Operator Confab Busts Up In a Deadlock

Chicago—Conferences between Jack Miller of the Chicago Exhibitors' Ass'n and Tom Reynolds, president of the Motion Picture Operators' Union ended Tuesday with little hope of any immediate adjustment of the labor situation here in sight. Miller was advised that the operators' union was unwilling to take any action on Chicago theatre owners' petition to reduce the number of operators in the sound booth from two to one in order to cut expenses which threaten to close a large number of the city's theatres. The union's stand, it was explained, is made necessary by the absence from the city of Tom Maloy, business manager, in whose province the negotiations for a change lie.

Fox Playing Film Hays Banned in 2 Chicago Theatres

Chicago—Although its production was banned by the Hays organization, "White Cargo" is playing at two Fox houses here, the Monroe in the Loop and the outlying Sheridan. And the picture is doing business.

This British picture did capacity business for five weeks at the Castle, Loop stand, last month. Its current draw is reported to be giving the two Fox houses the best business either has enjoyed in months.

Wiens In; Flaherty Out

Chicago—W. P. Wiens, former salesman, has been named city sales manager at the Paramount exchange here to replace Frank Flaherty, resigned.

Operators, Electricians and Overtime Some of the Troubles on Tap

Chicago—Confirmation of the existence of new labor difficulties here, as revealed exclusively in Motion Picture News last week, was had when it became known that union officials and exhibitors' associations are industriously seeking to settle a variety of complaints originating with the smaller theatres. These complaints, aggravated by slimmer box-office receipts during the hot months, range from disagreements on overtime wage scales to a near rebellion against the union's insistence on two men in the sound booth.

The smaller theatres which have not been forced to close down entirely during the hot season, have been pressed to the strictest economies in order to remain open. Even after the economies, any number of these have found it expedient to open only week-ends. Others, still on the full week schedule, have had to reduce admissions or resort to double featuring in order to make expenses. Against these revenue cuts, the high wage scales in effect here and the two men in a booth edict remain the same as ever.

Unions Face Scrap

The results of this situation began to be disquieting about two weeks ago. They brought a statement from Jack Miller, business representative of the Chicago Exhibitors' Ass'n to the effect that, unless an equitable adjustment is reached in the near future, eighty-five per cent of the city's theatres will be obliged to close. Also, in the offing, is the possibility of an inter-union conflict between the operators, musicians and electrical workers' locals.

The dominion of the sound booth, heretofore, has been exercised by the operators. Now, both the musicians and the electrical workers are laying claim to the extra post which has been created by sound. The musicians believe that operation of the discs, especially, should be theirs, while the electrical workers lay claim to the sound supervision, as well.

Immediate negotiations, both as to a revised understanding on overtime schedules and the demands for a reduction from two operators to one, are hampered by the absence from the city of Thomas E. Maloy, business manager of the operators' union. Maloy is in London as one of the American delegates to the International Trades Union Conference, and is not expected back until October. It is extremely doubtful whether any settlement can be reached prior to his return.

Two significant occurrences of the week have served to create considerable stir in Chicago labor and exhibitor circles. The first was the appearance in The Chicago Sunday Tribune of a prominent classified advertisement, bearing a "blind" address, and soliciting applications from operators for an open shop. The advertisement read:

WANTED

"Thoroughly experienced moving picture machine operators. Sound experience preferred but not essential.

OPEN SHOP

"Give full details of experience, references, age and phone number. State all in first letter. Executive positions for some who qualify. Address: L 349 Tribune."

A representative of Motion Picture News, seeking to learn the identity of the persons or organization inserting the advertisement, replied to the ad. No response had been made to date to this application.

The second occurrence was in the form of an anonymous appeal made to Chicago newspapers to warn Ralph O'Hara, of Maloy's office, not to accept invitations he might receive to play golf over the past week-end. The appeals charged a conspiracy to kill O'Hara at one of the golf clubs. O'Hara stated he had received four such invitations. All were cancelled.

No Come-Back

An unknown promoter, attempting to enlist the services of several stars for a radio program, made the mistake of calling Vivienne Segal.

Reaching her by telephone he said: "We have a feature program for you to sing on the radio."

"Yes," she answered. "When is it?"

"It's going to be a tremendous affair," he said, starting the sales talk. "At 9 o'clock, next Saturday night. Everyone of any importance will be there."

"Thanks a lot. I'll listen in," replied Vivienne, hanging up the receiver.

Ice Box Contest Goes to Eskimo Who Raises Hell

Chicago—A local theatre engaged in a tie-up with a refrigerator manufacturer, one of those "lucky-ticket-gets-the-ice-box" things. This particular manufacturer was a newcomer in the field and was more than anxious to have the drawing come off in an impressive, formal manner in order to get the maximum plug for his wares out of the donation.

After much fuss and fol de rol the winning ticket was produced. It proved to be the property of a gentleman from Halifax, Nova Scotia, a visitor in the city, who immediately made overtures to swap it for an oil burner.

"U" Reel Year Old in "Chi"

Chicago—The Chicago Daily News-Universal Newsreel observed its first anniversary here this week. The local popularity of the newsreel has increased tremendously in the initial 12 months period. Approximately 80 local theatres are regular subscribers at present.

Census Jump in Cities to Boost Show Business

Washington—Theatres in 25 cities will share in the benefit of the unusual upward leap of population which sent these spots above the 100,000 mark, making a total of 93 cities of this class, according to Associated Press.

These 93 cities have a total population of 36,393,221, more than one-fourth the nation's estimated population. Led by New York with nearly 7,000,000, five cities of the nation have more than 15,000,000 inhabitants. The others in the million class are: Chicago, Philadelphia, Detroit and Los Angeles. Following is the Associated Press tabulation of the first 93 cities in order of their size:

City	1930 Population	Per Cent Increase Since 1920	1920 Rating
New York	6,958,792	24.0	1
Chicago	3,373,753	24.8	2
Philadelphia	1,961,458	7.5	3
Detroit	1,564,397	57.4	4
Los Angeles	1,231,730	113.59	10
Cleveland	901,402	13.1	5
St. Louis	822,032	9.2	6
Baltimore	801,741	9.2	8
Boston	783,451	4.7	7
Pittsburgh	669,631	13.8	9
San Francisco	625,974	23.5	12
Buffalo	572,913	13.0	11
Milwaukee	568,962	24.4	13
Washington	485,716	11.0	14
Minneapolis	464,674	220.	18
New Orleans	455,792	17.7	17
Cincinnati	449,331	11.9	16
Newark	441,170	9.3	15
Kansas City, Mo.	392,640	21.3	19
Indianapolis	364,073	15.8	21
Seattle	363,134	15.1	20
Atlanta	347,991	73.4	33
Rochester, N. Y.	325,019	9.9	23
Jersey City, N. J.	316,914	6.4	22
Louisville	307,808	31.1	29
Portland, Ore.	229,122	15.8	24
Toledo, Ohio	290,787	19.5	26
Houston, Texas	289,428	109.3	45
Columbus, Ohio	289,056	22.0	28
Denver, Col.	287,644	12.0	25
Oakland, Cal.	284,213	31.4	31
St. Paul	270,883	15.4	30
Dallas, Texas	260,397	63.8	42
Birmingham, Ala.	257,657	44.1	36
Akron, Ohio	256,353	22.9	32
San Antonio, Texas	254,562	57.7	41
Memphis, Tenn.	252,049	55.2	40
Providence, R. I.	251,029	5.3	27
Omaha, Neb.	214,175	11.7	34
Syracuse, N. Y.	209,277	20.5	37
Dayton, Ohio	200,768	30.0	43
Worcester, Mass.	196,395	9.2	35
Richmond, Va.	182,083	6.5	38
Oklahoma City	182,845	100.3	80
Youngstown, O.	170,004	28.4	50
Grand Rapids, Mich.	168,234	22.3	48
Hartford, Conn.	163,849	18.7	46
New Haven, Conn.	162,650	00.7	39
Fort Worth, Tex.	160,892	51.2	65
Flint, Mich.	156,422	70.8	77
Nashville, Tenn.	153,153	29.4	56
Springfield, Mass.	153,153	15.5	51
San Diego, Cal.	147,897	88.4	93
Bridgeport, Conn.	147,206	2.5	44
Scranton, Pa.	143,428	4.1	47
Des Moines, Ia.	142,469	12.6	52
Long Beach, Cal.	141,390	154.3	128
Tulsa, Okla.	141,281	96.0	97
Salt Lake City	140,058	18.6	57
Paterson, N. J.	138,267	1.7	49
Yonkers, N. Y.	135,123	34.8	68
Jacksonville, Fla.	129,682	41.6	78
Norfolk, Va.	127,808	10.8	59
Albany, N. Y.	127,358	12.3	60
Trenton, N. J.	122,610	2.8	55
Kansas City, Kan.	122,327	12.4	67
Chattanooga, Tenn.	119,539	106.4	128
Camden, N. J.	117,172	0.07	58
Erie, Pa.	115,875	21.1	75
Spokane, Wash.	115,514	10.6	66
Fort Wayne, Ind.	115,121	33.1	83
Elizabeth, N. J.	114,551	19.6	72
Fall River, Mass.	114,348	*5.3	54
Cambridge, Mass.	113,650	3.6	63
New Bedford, Mass.	112,804	*6.9	53
Reading, Pa.	110,289	1.3	64
Miami, Fla.	110,025	272.1	255
Wichita, Kan.	109,832	53.4	96
Tacoma, Wash.	106,837	10.2	71
Knoxville, Tenn.	105,797	26.0	88
Canton, Ohio	105,524	21.1	82
Wilmington, Del.	105,191	4.5	62
Peoria, Ill.	105,155	38.1	91
South Bend, Ind.	103,694	64.0	100
Somerville, Mass.	103,604	11.3	76
Evansville, Ind.	103,151	200	84
Utica, N. Y.	102,633	9.0	74
Lynn, Mass.	102,327	3.2	69
El Paso, Tex.	101,975	21.5	89
Duluth, Minn.	101,231	2.5	70
Waterbury, Conn.	101,107	10.2	79
Tampa, Fla.	100,910	95.5	137
Lowell, Mass.	100,300	11.0	61

(At right) Bell & Howell master craftsman using measuring projector in which the greatly magnified contour of the teeth of a cutting tool is projected upon a large scale drawing of the tool for accurate measurement. (Below) Close-up of cutting tool in measuring projector.

BELL & HOWELL

PRECISION

CHALLENGES THE NAKED EYE

SO greatly magnified on the theater screen are the faults of defective films that the naked eye cannot be trusted to measure or test the machinery through which the film runs on its way from raw stock to projection booth. With Bell & Howell cinemachinery, hundreds of thousands of dollars are invested in optical measuring instruments which give readings down to the ten thousandth part of an inch so that the precision necessary for perfect moving pictures may be accomplished.

Just as this necessity for precision challenges the ability of the naked eye, so does the picture projected on the theater screen challenge the naked eye to detect flaws due to inaccurate preparation of the film. In perforating, photographing, printing, cutting and splicing the film is ever ready to reproduce the slightest defect transmitted by the machinery through which it runs. For more than 23 years, the major film producers and distributors of the world have been assured of perfect movies on the screen through the use of Bell & Howell Standard Cameras, Printers, Perforators and Splicers.

BELL & HOWELL

BELL & HOWELL COMPANY

Dept. T, 1852 Larchmont Avenue, Chicago, Illinois • New York, 11 West 42nd Street • Hollywood, 6324 Santa Monica Boulevard • London (B. & H. Co., Ltd.), 320 Regent Street

Established 1907

Paramount Adds Series Of Independent Comedies

Paramount is increasing its comedy schedule adding six two-reelers to star Chester Conklin. They will be made on the Coast by Phil Ryan, formerly with Metropolitan studio. The first, "Cleaning Up," has been completed.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

For Sale

SIMPLEX MOTION PICTURE MACHINE with Peerless Lamp and Rectifier. Half price. Used only three months. E. Hunt, Fourth Street, West Pittston, Penna.

Equipment

THEATRE LOBBY FRAMES—Manufacturer to you; low cost. Gem Frame Company, 2805 Brighton, Kansas City, Mo.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

CHARLES E. LEWIS
Chairman and Editor

A National Association of Showmen Meeting in
MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Every Week—for Mutual Benefit and Progress

CONDUCTED BY AN EXHIBITOR FOR EXHIBITORS

Forget the Alibis!

HERE on the Pacific Coast I am learning a lesson which I don't hesitate passing along to every loyal follower of our Club section. That lesson is, "forget the alibis."

From back east my head was crammed full of stories from this, that and the other manager, telling me that business was rotten because such and such was the trouble. Hot weather, miniature golf courses, circuses and what not. They told me that it was no use plugging and spending money, the "breaks" were against them. They would just have to sit tight and wait for better weather and so on and so forth.

Here in Los Angeles, I was impressed with the more cheerful attitude of the boys running the theatres. If bad times, golf weather, etc., bothered them, they did not tell it to me. They were solely concerned with getting customers into their theatres and running their houses so as to make them comfortable after they got them in.

Which should be a mighty valuable lesson to every showman in the racket. Why waste all your energy worrying about stock-market conditions? I don't believe you should be mixed up in such stuff anyway. If you do, it's your hard luck. And if the weather is going to be hot, all your beefing about it won't make it one mite cooler. And if the little golf courses are getting the customers, sitting back in the privacy of your office and smoking a bad-smelling cigar won't help the b. o. either.

Why not attempt an entirely new piont of view? Forget all the alibis and devote your time from now on, to thinking up new ways of attracting patrons to your theatre Try spending an hour or two some morning going through your tickler file and back numbers of the Club section. See if, here and there, you can't find a gag, a stunt, an idea, something that will strike you as being effective, yet economical, and may result in bringing extra business to the theatre.

Get every one on the theatre payroll together for a half hour before the show, once a week, and ask for suggestions. Announce a five dollar gift for the one who can suggest or create some business getting slant.

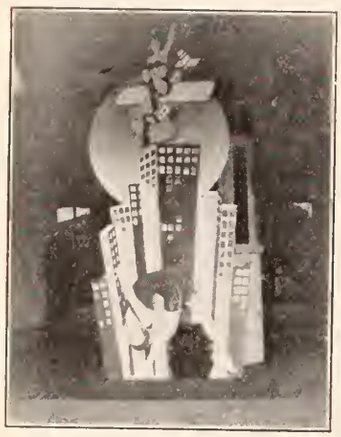
Organization is what counts. Don't just look on your theatre as YOUR individual possession. Get every man on the payroll to be a booster. To think up ideas.

There must surely be many things possible to stimulate business. Forget the drawbacks, the opposition, the weather and above all the alibis. Such thoughts won't get you anything else but grief, and possibly your walking papers.

Pounding the pavements in search of a job has become a heart-breaking experience for hundreds of "alibi experts." Don't permit yourself to get into that class.

"Chick."

Table of Contents



¶ Heinie Johnson's Display Work
¶ Fourmet Broadcast Amos 'n' Andy
¶ Harry Greenberg Aided Town
¶ "Lobby Laffs," by Dick Kirschbaum
¶ Albert Lourie's "Cuckoo" Party
¶ Rosenthal Still Wowing Them in Duluth
¶ Wilson Gives Some Helpful Golf Hints
¶ Lou Smith Gave Away Bicycle
¶ Rosenberg Boosted Kiddie Business
¶ "The Showman's Calendar"
¶ Lawrence Offered Heat Relief
¶ George Landy Sold "Dixiana"
¶ H. B. Ashton's Street Parade
¶ "An Exhibitor in Hollywood," by "Chick" Lewis ¶ Australian Activities!!!
¶ Sperber Had a Corker
¶ Reid Introduced New Parking Law
¶ Waugh Used Austin as Plug
¶ Levey Hits the Front Page
¶ Lewis Used the Turtle Stunt
¶ Duncan Campbell Joins the Club
¶ Landsborough Engineered a Great Campaign
¶ "Road Stands"
¶ Sumpter Used Autographed Ball
¶ "Civic Contacts," by A. C. Raleigh
¶ Frank Hill's Advertising!
¶ Allen and Finley Sprang a Good One
¶ "Suggestions Wanted"!
¶ Brotman Started a Kid Club
¶ Monty MacLevey Still Active
¶ Boucher Put "Family Month" Over
¶ Matt Press Offers Golf Suggestions
¶ Fred Glass's Program Idea
¶ Conery Introduced Living Billboard
¶ Dunnigan Displaying Showmanship
¶ "Laff-O'-The-Week"
¶ Theresa Nibler's Bakery Tie-up
¶ "New Members"

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Johnson Turns Out Some Fine Displays At Ritz In Texas

One thing that the town of Big Spring, Texas, can say with conviction is that the local Ritz Theatre displays are certainly up to anything that the bigger cities are featuring. Novelty and beauty seems to be the keynote of the work turned out by Heinie Johnson, the house artist and exploiteer and we are going to show you what we mean via photograph and story.

On "No, No, Nanette," he created the center piece that we are showing, which was built of compo board with the several designs of figures built out in relief. The background was painted in bright colors and tinsel and with special lights playing upon it proved to be an eye getter de luxe. Another display that caused a lot of comment was the special valance that was used on the same picture. This was painted in flashing colors and airbrushed. By using transparent material Heinie was enabled to put lights behind it and it stood out very well.

For his tie-ups with the local merchants, he made up a number of well built displays and placed them in the store windows. In the leading confectionery and drug stores he painted vivid water color announcements on the mirrors, in this manner keeping the picture always before the gaze of the patrons. These few stunts are regular weekly features at the Ritz and the patrons of the stores look forward with interest to see what new effects Heinie will devise for the next week.

We are also receipt of the photo showing the valance used, but unfortunately it did not "take" on the reproduction, so we were forced to abandon it. However, Heinie is always sending us in photos and we know the next bunch will be better.

Amos 'n' Andy Arrived Late For Al But He Managed It

When Amos 'n' Andy, those two gentlemen of cholocate complexion, first flashed across the horizon of the N. B. C. network and relayed the latest developments in the world of transportation to a palpitating, eager public, business started to drop noticeably at the theatres whenever the taxicab magnates commenced to drawl out their philosophical musings on the intricacies of high finance and the waywardness of a gentleman named King Fish. And so did another obstacle present itself to showmen.

For a while they were perplexed. But not for long. Somebody conceived the idea of putting a radio set on the stage, or relaying the evening dissertations of the tinted gentlemen, through the sound apparatus. This was found to be an excellent plan and business began to get back to normal, showmen began to breath easier and the circuit owners took to eating caviar again. All over the country this plan, originally set forth in the Managers' Round Table Club by some of its members, was put to use. In some cities though, due to change of time made necessary by zones, it was practically impossible to do as the eastern showmen did; put the broadcast on before opening time—for when it was 7 o'clock in New York, it was ten o'clock in California. When it was dinner time in Los Angeles, it was tea-time in Pittsburgh.

Al Fourmet, manager of the Rialto Theatre in San Antonio Texas, though, managed to get around the time obstacle. He, fortunately, had little trouble with the Amos 'n' Andy situation due to the fact that it was 9:30 P. M. in San Antonio when they went on. But he decided that he wanted to give the house some good-will and to that end he installed a radio set in the lobby and invited the residents to listen to it. Many persons unable to get home in time to tune in on the latest developments of the captains of industry took advantage of his offer. In order that early arrivals would not be bored with waiting he arranged to have some dancing dolls and a couple of Mexican jumping beans perform to the evident delight of the persons grouped about the lobby. The stunt met with considerable favor and as a result Fourmet found himself receiving a lot of good-will and free publicity.

Managers' Round Table Club Section

A publication within a publication devoted exclusively to the interests of the

◆◆ HOUSE MANAGER ◆◆

and all others participating in theatre management, exploitation, publicity and advertising.

The Industry's Clearing House For Ideas!

A GOLD MINE OF VALUABLE "DOPE" EVERY WEEK FOR THE LIVE-WIRE SHOWMAN WHO SEEKS TO GET AHEAD IN A BUSINESS WHERE "YOU HAVE TO GO LIKE HELL TO STAY WHERE YOU ARE"

And our slogan is typical of our organization:

"All For One And One For All"

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Harry Greenberg Helped Town After Tornado Disaster

Showmen, as much as any men in the public limelight, have contributed their services to worthy causes whenever necessary. No matter what the occasion might be, whether it is flood, tornado, housing relief, family relief, you'll find the showmen willing and eager to lend a helping hand. They want to do it, not because they are trying to grab a lot of praise for themselves and their houses but because they, too, are human; and in order that we might bring this point home more forcibly we are going to let Cliff Gill, advertising manager for Publix of the district around Minneapolis, Minn., tell you about Harry Greenberg's recent experience along these lines.

In his story Cliff reports:

"When a first-rate Mid-Western tornado swept into Wisconsin recently and tore down electric wires in its wake, plunged the theatres into darkness, and brought injury and desolation to Eau Clair's populace and property, it was a signal for wide-awake Harry Greenberg, manager of the Wisconsin to do two things immediately.

One was to convert his University medical training into practical use in helping care for the injured. The other was to get together the leaders of the Red Cross and the Elks Club and to devise a means of hurrying up assistance for the needy, many of whom lost everything in the storm.

The result was a Benefit Morning Matinee in which all admissions were by donation of groceries and foodstuffs only. The film for the occasion was promoted gratis, and the operators and service staff likewise volunteered their services without pay.

Four hundred dollars in groceries was piled up at the door of the Wisconsin, through this benefit, as you will see from the photograph. Various merchants helped the event along further by contributing coal, clothing, etc.

From the columns and columns of newspaper publicity which was devoted to the occasion, one would gather that the paper was a close sponsor of the stunt too, yet the newspaper in this town has for many months been definitely opposed to theatre publicity. Because of this fact Greenberg's achievement is all the more noteworthy and his showmanship in combating such an opposition all the more significant.

Harry knows that no newspaper can refuse publicity to fraternal and charitable organizations, and time and again he has taken advantage of that fact, at the same time helping along some civic cause. He has gained much space on his various attractions merely by tying them up with some influential society or club.

Greenberg first crashed into the local press when he organized a Kittenball Team and called it the Publix Nine. The team went about winning every one of its games and the newspaper just had to give it plenty of mention. This young manager is a mighty good example of scholarly and persistent showmanship of the highest type.

"LOBBY LAFFS"

By Dick Kirschbaum

"For Once He's 'Button-Holed'!"

And all that we have to say at this time is that we sure do agree with Cliff and we hope that we are going to hear more about Greenberg, and George Irwin and the many other live-wires who are operating houses in Cliff's district.

Lourie Threw A Cuckoo Party For Kids That Clicked

It looked for a time as though they would have to call out the reserves, the militia, and the local asylum keepers when Albert B. Lourie, manager of the Morton Theatre in Dorchester, Mass., sprang his "cuckoo" party for kids, in conjunction with his showing of "The Cuckoos."

For a week previous to the "cuckoo matinee" Lourie advertised through the newspapers, heralds and on the radio. The children were told to be on hand Monday afternoon (second day of run of picture) and be dressed in as crazy a manner as possible. It was suggested to the boys that they wear skirts, different colored shoes, stockings, etc. And the girls were advised to wear their daddy's collars backwards, using ribbons as ties, etc. In fact, the queerer the costume, the better.

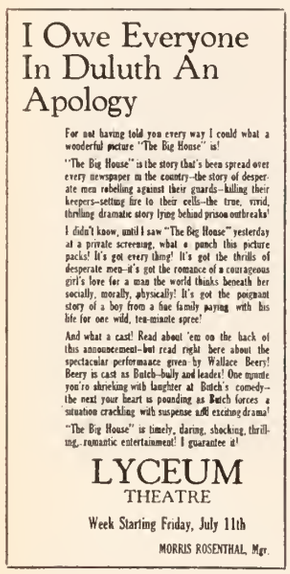
The kids became very much enthused over the idea since this was one chance they had of attending the theatre dressed any old way—when usually their parents make them doll up.

It was further advertised that a contest would be held on the stage for all the children dressed funny and that three cash prizes would be awarded to the winners.

The results of the stunt were almost unbelievable—the kids came dressed in the most unusual rags imaginable. One kid came as "half man, half woman," others came as Arabs, others as tramps and then there was an imitation of Amos and Andy, the Two Baby Tars, and what not.

In running the contest, Lourie put a slide on the screen before the trailers asking all children who were dressed funny to please report to the stage manager. Over 100 kids showed up. After the trailers, the house lights were put on while Lourie explained to the audience what was about to take place.

The house lights were then turned out and only the reds and blues were left on the stage. Each child was then paraded across the stage under a spotlight—and how the audience howled, the adults included, who seemed to enjoy it more than the kids.



After all the kids were brought on the stage, the lights were again turned on and the three winners were selected by applause of the audience. The cost of the entire stunt was very small and the resultant word-of-mouth publicity on the picture more than made up for the expenditure.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Morris Rosenthal Still Bowling Them Over In Duluth

Banging them over the net with the speed of a Tilden, Morris Rosenthal has been ringing up a nice score along the merchandising line out at the Lyceum Theatre in Duluth, Minn.

Noted as one of those showman who can't stand still long enough to eat, it came as no surprise to us to learn that Morris turned out another fine campaign for "The Big House." Running true to form, he injected novelty into the work. And you can see the sort of novelty it was by looking at the cut showing the herald that was sent out in which Morris apologized for not being able to describe the quality of the picture. The heralds were made up in double page form. One side containing the apology and the other page, a plug on the picture and stars. The heralds were a sensation.

I Owe Everyone In Duluth An Apology

For not having told you every way I could what a wonderful picture "The Big House" is!

"The Big House" is the story that's been spread over every newspaper in the country—the story of desperate men rebelling against their guards—killing their keepers—setting fire to their cells—the true, vivid, thrilling dramatic story lying behind prison outbreaks!

I didn't know, until I saw "The Big House" yesterday at a private screening, what a punch this picture packs! It's got every thing! It's got the thrills of desperate men—it's got the romance of a courageous girl's love for a man the world thinks beneath her socially, morally, physically! It's got the poignant story of a boy from a fine family paying with his life for one wild, ten-minute spree!

And what a cast! Read about 'em on the back of this announcement—but read right here about the spectacular performance given by Wallace Beery! Beery is cast as Butch—bully and leader! One minute you're shrieking with laughter at Butch's comedy—the next your heart is pounding as Butch forces a situation crackling with suspense and exciting drama!

"The Big House" is timely, daring, shocking, thrilling, romantic entertainment! I guarantee it!

LYCEUM
THEATRE
Week Starting Friday, July 11th
MORRIS ROSENTHAL, Mgr.

Another stunt that created a good deal of talk was the invitation extended to 100 girls, selected at random from department and drug stores, factories, beauty parlors, etc., to attend a special preview of the film held two days in advance. This angle enabled Morris to get some valuable word-of-mouth publicity circulated about the various shops and places of employment of the various girls. The news spread like wild fire and "The Big House" went over in the same manner.

Whenever we get a sample or two of Morris's newspaper advertising, we are glad to pass it along, particularly so since we know that his fellow members are very much interested in learning what he is doing along these lines, since he left the big city, and, in the two full page lay-outs we are showing, you can see what he did on "Father's Day" and with "With Byrd At The South Pole."

In the South Pole ad, Morris injected his usual novelty by offering free tickets to the theatre to the person sending in the best answer to the question, "What, in your estimation, is Admiral Byrd's greatest feat." Incidentally, the replies that came in through this medium proved to Morris that plenty of attention was paid to the attractions at the theatre.

We would suggest that you put these two ads in your files, especially the "Father's Day" gag, as it will prove to be very handy the next time the occasion to use it rolls around. We won't attempt at this time to describe the little things that Morris did to pep up interest in the lay-outs, as we think they speak for themselves. And as long as Morris keeps speaking to us via Uncle Sam's mail, so that we can present his work, we are more than satisfied. Oke?

Tips And More Tips How to Beat Tom Thumb Courses

Rallying to the aid of his fellow-showmen who are having trouble with the miniature golf courses springing up all over the country, A. Eugene Wilson, manager of the Joie Theatre in Fort Smith, Arkansas, contributes a couple of ideas that have worked great for him and cut down a lot of competition.

Through a tie-up with the operators of one of the local courses, the nearest to his theatre, he arranged to have the theatre artists make up a hazard which was to be placed on one of the course holes. The hazard, as you will note from the photo, was a novel plug for "With Byrd at the South Pole." And the novelty of its make-up made it of double effectiveness.

Every one playing the course had to come to the hazard and they were bound to see the feature film attraction at the Joie. In order to keep interest keyed up, Wilson also placed an art panel, past the hole, which stated that any one making the hole in one would be entitled to a free pass to the theatre. He tells us that this stunt is one of the finest he has ever used and it has helped him immensely in keeping the course from wrecking any great amount of his business.

We want to thank him for passing along so timely a suggestion and we are sure that it will more than be appreciated by his fellow Club members.

Smith Gave Away A Bicycle In Order To Boost Kid Biz

With Lou Smith now handling the Windsor and the Stillwell Theatres in Brooklyn, N. Y., it appears that some more accounts of his work will be presented on these pages because he is bound to have a couple of showman angles to work with while he tries to keep both houses filled.

He has already pepped up the Stillwell to a considerable extent and all through a special tie-up made with a local sporting goods dealer. Having learned from his study of the neighborhood that they would flock in when he gave away radios or offered any special inducement, Lou decided that he would try the same plan at the new house. He persuaded the sporting goods dealer to co-operate with him on a bicycle to be given away to a boy or girl holding a ticket corresponding with a number he intended to draw from a box on the stage of the theatre at the final day.

What a vast crowd of kids swarmed about the doors of the theatre on the day of the award! The bicycle was given away on a Saturday afternoon so as not to conflict with school dates and the affair went off with great success. Through the stunt Lou was enabled to secure for himself, and the dealer, a very large mailing list, as the coupon entitling the bearer to participate in the drawing carried a space for name and address and in addition a line devoted to a question asking whether the signer had a radio. The reason for this is obvious.

Lou informs us that since the first plan proved so successful he plans, in the near future, to give away baseballs, tennis rackets, roller skates, ball gloves and boxing gloves, and promises to keep us posted on how the affair turns out.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Kiddie Business Went Way Up High On Rosenberg's Gag

What to do in order to boost up kid trade seems to be the question that is always confronting showmen. Slant after slant, angle after angle, gag after gag, and stunt after stunt have been offered, tried, and proven by live-wire showmen throughout the country. Mickey Mouse Clubs, Ken Maynard Clubs, Joy Clubs and nearly every sort of club imaginable have sprung into being. We have passed all of them along. Here's another from M. E. Rosenberg, manager of the Diamond Theatre in Oakland, Calif., that we think merits a plug on these pages.

The card that we are reproducing is handed out at the theatre and at the stores of the local dealers represented. The dealers sponsor the Kiddie Klub Matinee. Whenever a kid makes a purchase (or an adult for the kid) the amount of the purchase is punched on the card. When the card is punched up, it entitles the youngster to free admission to the theatre on any Saturday Matinee. A different merchant sponsors the contest each Saturday and the sponsor usually donates a lot of merchandise to be given away to some lucky kids. In return for the donation Rosenberg runs a slide on the screen for one week previous and a plug from the stage.

The merchants formed a general fund to pay for all the advertising and in this manner Rosenberg procured slides, mats, window cards and printing at no cost to the house. The only expense that the theatre is put to is in the booking of a Mickey Mouse in addition to the regular program. The stunt is going over big and we are informed that the merchants are clamoring to get in on it. Here's an idea that may mean a lot to your business too, and even if you have a kiddie klub now, we believe it would pay you to look over this stunt.

In order that you may see what else Rosenberg is doing in the line of merchandising we are presenting a photo of a display he designed for "Ingagi," and placed in the foyer as an advance plug. The lobby was also dressed up in like manner during playdate. Palms and tule (a long jungle-like grass) formed most of the display with cut-outs and stills being grouped about it. Stuffed animals were placed among the palms and grasses and the lion that you see in the photo was equipped with flasher lights so that his eyes would blink on and off.

The display caused a great deal of comment and proved to be a great help towards boosting up business when play date rolled around and need we say that business is always being boosted because when a live-wire like this showman starts out to boost it, it is going to jump way up high.

"The Showman's Calendar"

AN EXCLUSIVE CLUB FEATURE

Check up on these dates each week and see how you can turn them into "money dates" for your theatre.

AUGUST

Aug. 11th	Fulton's First Voyage in America —1807.
Aug. 13th	Occupation Day (Philippines).
Aug. 15th	Panama Canal Opened (1914).
Aug. 16th	Bennington Battle Day (Vermont).
Aug. 17th	First Atlantic Cable Message (1858).
	Discovery Day (Yukon Territory).
Aug. 18th	Virginia Dare's Birthday.
Aug. 23rd	First Steamer to Cross Atlantic Launched (1818).
Aug. 31st	Birthday of Queen Wilhelmina (D. E. I.).

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 1st	Labor Day
Sept. 4th	Hendrick Hudson Sails up Hudson.
Sept. 6th	Pres. McKinley Assassinated — 1901—Lafayette Day.
Sept. 9th	Admission Day (Colorado, California).
Sept. 10th	Perry's Victory on Lake Erie—1813.
Sept. 12th	Defender's Day (Maryland) — Pershing begins successful drive on St. Mihiel salient—1918.

Can you tie any of the above events into your theatre's activities?

And don't overlook the many local events that are constantly turning up right in your own town, county or state.

Keep an eye on "The Showman's Calendar" for an advance tip on future holidays and events.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

THIS ONE SPEAKS FOR ITSELF!

HEAT RELIEF OFFERED

(Lima, Ohio, Newspaper)

If the thundershower of last night do not bring relief from the torrid weather tonight, Schine's Ohio theatre in West North Street will be thrown open all night for the purpose of affording relief from the heat in the artificially cooled theatre. The innovation was planned for last night, but the cooling showers caused a change in schedule, it was announced by C. F. Laurence, manager of the theatre. The general public is invited to take advantage of the offer. The playhouse will be lighted so that reading will be possible, Laurence declared. Doors will be thrown open immediately after the last show and no admission will be charged.

GOOD WORK, "SID"!

Here's Dope On 'Dixiana' Campaign Executed By Landy

Setting out to beat his past performances for turning out great exploitation campaigns, George Landy, publicity director for R.K.O. out on the West Coast, certainly handed Los Angeles a treat with his whirlwind merchandising of "Dixiana."

As this was the world premiere of the picture it will pay you to read this article carefully and hang onto it so that you can use it as a guide for your own merchandising campaign should you decide to play the film, or in the event that you have it already booked.

Effective and attention arresting tie-ups were effected with a score of local merchants who plugged, in their windows, anything that the picture tied-in with their product. In addition to the local tie-ups Landy also arranged for several other angles that were semi-national in character, one of which was a Postal Telegraph tie-up for the delivery of flowers and telegrams to Bebe Daniels, star of the flicker, from all the Governors of the States south of the Mason-Dixon Line.

Then Landy handed the city another surprise! He dispatched carrier pigeons from Los Angeles to the Mayors of every city on the Pacific Coast, inviting them to the premiere. This stunt caused widespread comment and was doubtless the subject of an editorial in many of the local papers.

With so many theme songs to plug it as easy for Landy to contact the music stores, and the Victor and Brunswick companies co-operated on the window displays, besides distributing heralds through their mailing lists. Every book store of pute in the city was tie-up through the novelization of the picture. Those lovers of the better music were reached through the So. California Music Trades Association by the linking of Everett Marshall's name (Metropolitan Opera star who makes his debut in "Dixiana").

Now here's a tie-up that you, too, might find a good box-office builder. Several of the local radio stations were persuaded to present special "Dixiana Mardi Gras Festivals." Talent was furnished and songs of the old South and a score of the picture were featured. If you decided to work along these lines, providing you have a radio station in your town, you can arrange to present local talent over the air. Or, if you choose, as a prologue for your trailer (this would be a real novel touch and could be changed around later to work with the picture itself when it plays your house). We believe that if you can round up some local talent and present them in this manner, the unique trailer plug would pep up interest considerably.

But to get back to Landy. Since Wheeler and Woolsey are featured in the film also, a natural tie-up could be seen in the famous cigar that Bobby Woolsey clenches between his teeth all through his pictures, and Landy took advantage of it by tying up a chain of tobacco stores. Then he contacted the coffee stores, following this with tie-ups in drug stores for the featuring of a Dixiana mint julep, candy stores with New Orleans pralines, Mission Dry drinks, plugged by Dorothy Lee, 25,000 napkins distributed through the fountains of a local drug chain, as well as lining up six hundred other stores to feature Bebe Daniels in connection with a popular make toiletry. All of these tie-ups aided Landy in driving home the premiere to the people of Los Angeles and its surrounding territory.

In conjunction with this story we are showing a photo of the front of the Orpheum Theatre and we want to point out to you the catchline that Landy uses: "Mighty Mardi Gras," which might be well for you to hang onto and use in your newspaper copy together with any other slogans packing a wallop which you think of. The front, turned out for the run of the film, was a classic. It was arrayed in serpentine, balloons and confetti and with lights blazing away it resembled a typical mardi gras festival. There's lots of possibilities for you, too, to display originality in your front display on this picture, particularly since you have a Mardi Gras locale. But the main point to this little story is the fact that since Landy had the whole town talking about his campaign there's no reason why you can't do it too. We believe that if you give a little thought to the merchandising of this film you will turn out some good stuff. There's plenty of opportunity to interest the kids in this film, too. Then look at the possibilities you have in a Midnite Preview—when you can arrange to throw a real Mardi Gras party. It won't cost very much to get a supply of novelties, such as paper hats, etc., that will have your patrons talking for a week, or possibly two weeks after the premiere. You don't mind horns blowing on New Year's Eve—so why not hand out a lot of them and let them make what the columnists call "whoopee" for two hours. Of course, if you think blowing the horns will interfere with the showing of the picture (since some wise youths think it funny to interrupt) you can run a little announcement, or better still, make a personal announcement before the start of the picture to the effect that its value merits respect, etc. We could go on for a couple of hours and hand you tip after tip, but since you are located right on the field, you know better than we do what will click with your patrons. So, getting down to brass tacks, it's up to you. Every picture, no matter what its value, must be sold. And when it's sold right—records are usually broken.

We want to thank Landy for letting us see what he did on the premiere and we are sure that the Club members are going to make use of many of his angles which will fit their special case.

Street Parade Was Aid To Ashton In Selling Attraction

We don't know where H. B. Ashton, manager of the Sterling Theatre in Greeley, Colo., gets all the "pull" he has in his town but it seems that every time he wants to put an added touch to his exploiting he calls in some local organization and always manages to engineer a corking campaign. This time he tied in a local boys' band to plug "Mammy," by means of a street parade.

The boys' band staged their parade on opening day of picture. Preceding the band were two ushers in blackface carrying a large banner reading, "Al Jolson in MAMMY—Now Showing at Sterling." Another usher in blackface also acted as drum major to further create the minstrel effect. In return for their services, the 35 members of the band were permitted to see the picture at the conclusion of their march through the principal streets of the city.

Ashton also had his organist play different numbers containing the word 'Mother' or 'Mammy' in the title of song. These selections were played for a week in advance and those identifying the correct titles of the songs played were given a pass.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

AN EXHIBITOR IN HOLLYWOOD

They Give 'Em Plenty

HEARING a lot about the great stage show they were giving at the Warner Hollywood Theatre we made it a point to look in there last night. Reports were absolutely on the level and what a show they handed out! A flock of girls, troupes doing acrobatic work, others doing toe work, singing teams, dancing teams, comedians and plenty of smart production work surrounding the whole affair. The finale would make George White green with envy. But sufficient, at this time, to say that the cash customers are getting a lot for their money at this house and business, surprisingly rotten elsewhere, is doggoned good.

Had our dinner at the Brown Derby again and the place was pretty well crowded with lots of folks from the studios as well as the usual heavy quota of sight-seeing, curious tourists. And how they still stare. I think I've been mistaken twice for Rin Tin Tin, so hereafter I'm going to bark whenever someone gives me the once over. The crowd must not be disappointed by any means.

And talking about high-powered ballyhoos. Holy-smoke, we passed a dancing studio near the Warner lot and in each of the front display windows they had a girl and boy going through their practice routines. However, no one seemed interested enough to stop and gaze at the sight and all I could think of was that the two exhibits looked kind of hot and tired. But it all comes under the heading of art, believe it or not.

No matter what part of this city you go to, you will find that some high-powered press agents have been at work and you can't look in a drug store window without noticing that the books most prominently featured are those plugging films. It's the same way with every other form of commercial merchandising. The dress shops feature special screen celebrity frocks, the men shops featuring what the correctly attired movie hero is wearing, and so on.

There's no question about it. The showmen out here on the Coast are real wide-awake men. Another funny angle that we noticed, which we think might interest you, is that a sure-fire drawing card at any of the local theatres is the personal appearance of a movie star. You would think that when you can see so many on the streets that the natives would be tired of looking. But they're not. To them a star is a star, and homage must be paid.

Silent Stars Clicking

Among other interesting things, Pete Smith pointed out that the biggest bets in silent pictures on the M-G-M lot are today the biggest bets in talkies. Which disproves the foolish theory that the studios had to drop their old favorites for stage stars in order to keep up with the change from silents to talkies. Many of their stars are even greater today than in the past. As witness Norma Shearer and a host of others. And furthermore, as far as M-G-M is concerned, Stars and Personalities will continue to be a big factor in their production activities as in the old days. Many of the studios claim that it is best to "kill" the so-called star system. But there it is just the reverse and I'm for it a hundred percent.

The Stars Still Shine—!

BACK to the Brown Derby for dinner last night and at last I can lay me down and die in peace. When I entered the "beanery" the usual quota of head waiters and bosses were all conspicuous by their absence, so, not being a celebrity, I strolled around and selected my own table, sat myself down and prepared to put on the well-known feed bag, when my attention was attracted to all of the missing "moguls" of the Brown Derby gathered about one of the booth tables. At first I thought that some one was shot (or half shot) but a willing (???) waiter supplied the valuable information (at no extra cost) that the party in that particular booth included none other than the one and only (foot on the brass) Charlie Chaplin. So like all the other gazers, I gave him the once over, remarking to the waiter that he looked quite young, etcetra, only to be informed, with much disgust, that I was staring at the wrong member in the party.

Hollywood Highlights

LOOKING over the projection booths in the Wesco "Ace" houses and then going backstage to marvel at the stage layouts—what a thrill!

Talking to Frank Whitbeck, and willing to listen to him for hours.

And talk about ushers, these boys who escort you to your seat out here are certainly trained to a "t". Real service with a capital S.

The fronts of some of these houses are certainly eye arresting, and some of them are really original, especially those created by George Landy of R-K-O.

New Pantages Theatre a Beaut.

AFTER a large portion of Chaplin and the Brown Derby, I strolled into the new Pantages Theatre, but before I take you inside, I must let you in on the laugh it handed me when I presented my "special guest card" given to me by Harold Franklin. The doorman told me to take it to the cashier and she told me to take it back to the doorman. After two trips back and forth, they called a meeting of all the employees standing around the front entrance (about six I should judge) and went into a huddle. While this was in progress I passed into the theatre with the remark to the "mass meeting" that I was only going to look the place over and should be finished by the time they all came out of their huddle.

But, what I wanted to tell you, was that this is SOME house. I've lamped (if you'll pardon the slang) some nifty looking movie palaces, but this just about tops them all and that even goes for the Chinese, although that is built along somewhat different lines. But from the viewpoint of theatre construction and beauty, this will leave you gasping for breath. If I'm not mistaken the last Showman issue of Motion Picture News carried pictures and stories about this house.

And say, talk about ushers! They are girls, and what girls! All beauties and dolled up in the cutest (shortest) costumes you can think of. It's worth the price of admission (to the cash customers) to sit out in the entrance foyer and look 'em over. I've paid money and seen much worse on the stage.

Then, surprising as it may sound, I caught part of one of those Fanchon-Marco "Ideas." They are sure staged on an elaborate scale but it left me wondering whether the audiences do not tire of them. I'll probably be able to answer that one myself after I've seen a few more. But, the portion of the show that I caught seemed nice enough entertainment.

It struck me rather funny to see "Slim" Martin (I hope I've got his name right) standing up with enough motions to direct a Roxy Symphony Orchestra, and wasting all that energy on a small combination of not more than about 16 men. But, again, the audience seemed to take it as O. K., so why should I complain? The feature was a Clara Bow affair but time did not permit my seeing the whole show, so I satisfied my hunger for beautiful theatres by walking around this one for a while and enjoyed every moment I was in there. And, leave it to Hollywood weather conditions, they even have a carpet spread over the entire front under the marquee. How's that for an idea? The moment you step on it you know that you are in a different place.

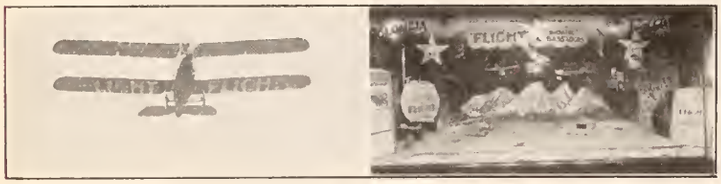
United Artists' Studio Quiet

RAN over to this studio after lunch today and although they have a marvelous layout, there was no activity at all. Won't be any production going on until the latter part of next month. Took advantage of Doug Fairbank's absence to stroll through his private dressing room and office. What a place! They tell me that there is nothing to equal it in this town, with the possible exception of Jack Warner's private office suite on the Warner lot. I'll have to see that before I'm convinced that it's so. Doug's layout consists of a large, elaborate dressing room, a sunken pool, steam room, exercise room with complete paraphanelia and what have you. His place is fixed up in the modern manner. Furniture, knic-knacs, etc. And it was a revelation to look it over.

This studio is certainly individual in many respects. The different stars have their own private bungalows for dressing and lounge rooms and each one is prettier than the other. Strolled in and met Harry Brand, whose chief occupation, according to "dope," is Publicity, Exploitation and Advertising Director for Joe Schenck. Have to see more of him as I may be able to get him to say something interesting for our Club pages. He ought to be in a good position to do so. He's had enough experience and background in the business.

Then was introduced to Hank Arnold, Press Agent for Sam Goldwyn, and a mighty fine chap too. (We put it that way because there are many of them who don't deserve that "too".) He's busy doping out some new gags to open the Cantor picture "Whoopie," and since we were told something he had in mind confidentially, we can't tell you what the gag is, but if he puts it over you can tell the cockeyed world it WILL be different. And, of course, he did want us to meet Sam Goldwyn, but Sam must have had a tough day doing nothing, for he was fast asleep in his private office. Wotalife, sez we. Must be something to this Hollywood racket after all if a busy executive can steal time out for an afternoon nap. But napping after lunch is bad for the health, so we think Sam should have walked around the studio a couple of times. Then he would have been too tired to sleep.

We'll be telling you more about this town in our next message to Club headquarters, and from present indications, there are plenty of things in the wind, not forgetting the party Hank is going to throw out at the U.A. lot next week.



Heigh-Ho. Oh for the life of a Hollywood correspondent.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Here's Australia! Presenting Some Novel Slants Again

Rivaling the world in its fast march towards showmanship supremacy, Australia again offers us some examples of the work her showmen turn out. We use "some examples" conservatively, because we have so many stunts and gags on hand that it would take an entire edition to show them all. With this in view, we have endeavored to present only the highlights of their work that we believe will have special significance to the international group of showmen listed on the rolls of the Round Table Club.

Let's start, first of all, with Cecil Shannon, manager of the Ambassadors Theatre in Kerth. When he played "Flight," he arranged to have a plane, its undercarriage lettered with the title, "Flight," fly about the various towns and get in a plug for his picture. The plane flew as low as regulation would permit and, fortunately, it happened to be low enough to insure the title being discernible. The other photo that we are showing along with the airplane stunt is a special window display arranged in one of the town's leading stores. Nothing like it had ever been seen before. A miniature landing field complete in every detail. Baby planes, strung on wires, whizzed about the windows. On the landing field, other planes taxied about. A special background, showing snow-capped peaks, was arranged. Altogether it was one whale of a fine lay-out and the window was crowded from morning to night with appreciative lookers-on.

And now Jack Smith of the Crown Theatre in Wolongong. He pays plenty of attention to his short subjects and this is evidenced by the cut we are showing of the "Mickey Mouse" ballyhoo he turned out to plug the showings. A man dressed in a comic cat costume was hired to drive a truck about town. A large sign on back of the truck announced the Mickey would give away free sweets on the next Saturday matinee show to the kids attending. The sweets were promoted by Smith from a local manufacturer. This stunt caused a great deal of comment and let the house in for more than the usual amount of publicity and good-will. Another angle that also proved of great benefit was the special ballyhoo used on "The Black Watch." A couple of men and three children were drafted into service.

They wore the costumes of Scotch Highlanders and cruised about the town in a truck carrying a novel cut-out of a black-faced watch. The man also played bagpipes and this served to draw more attention to the display.

When he showed "Paris," Ernie Pelling, manager of the Winter Garden Theatre in Brisbane decided to treat his public to a real live exploitation stunt. To that end he erected a special sign on the top of his marquee. Girls were placed in the various loops of the letters and the living billboard proved to be the subject of much comment on the picture, which ultimately reacted toward larger box-office receipts. Ernie also had a couple of more stunts to work on the film and they, too, clicked.

Roy Nelson of the Capitol Theatre in Melbourne had his city talking with the campaign he engineered for "Disraeli." Tie-ups with schools and heads of various civic departments were productive of much business as well as good-will. Being one of Melbourne's most wide-awake showmen, he was quick to capitalize on the idea (which, incidentally, can be taken up by all reading this story) and place a banner where a building was being constructed. By studying the photo you will realize the vast potentialities of a stunt of this sort. Every showman knows that it is human nature to stop and watch some one tearing down or constructing a building. Perhaps there's a situation like it where you are now. If so, hop to it and stick up some form of advertising. And if you can get a banner like Nelson's, so much the better.

"Gold Diggers of Broadway" must have meant more to Bill Cornell, manager of the Theatre Royal in Newcastle, than just another picture. For, judging by what these photos offer in the way of conclusive evidence as to his work on the film, he must have done some tall hustling. On one of the billboards on the main road to the town a group of girls pasted up a 24-sheet. Being unskilled in the use of the paste pot and brush, it was only natural that it took several hours for them to put it up, not accounting for the clowning they indulged in while doing the work. A crowd of persons and passing autoists stopped to view the process and the stunt more than paid for itself in publicity.

And now C. G. Bouzard, the live-wire manager of the Crown Theatre in Greytown, has found another use for the exchange heralds. Six different heralds at a time are used. The back of them is imprinted in calendar form and the dates of the new openings are imprinted in the space provided thereon. The bottom of the herald carries midget mats plugging the short subjects. The space on top of the herald carries copy reading: "Use the Following Space for Your Engagements." The six heralds are then attached to a card, suitable for hanging, and about calendar size, which announces that it is given with the compliments of the Crown Theatre in Greytown and used to announce the Super Six attractions for the coming month. The stunt clicked very well and the vast amount of calendars distributed showed that it was going to be productive of bigger box-office. In order that you may see for yourself what the finished product looks like, we are reproducing it here.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Take it from Jimmie Punch, manager of the Princess Theatre in Fremantle, there's nothing like a good old laugh ballyhoo once in a while. And Jimmie knows what he's talking about, particularly because he used one to plug "Smiling Irish Eyes." In the photos we are showing you can get an idea or two on the success of the stunt, as the left photo (though a bit small) shows the finish of the gag. He dressed up a number of men in outlandish costumes and dispatched them about the town and the surrounding territory in a motor bus trolley. Wherever the car stopped it was the signal for much hilarity and when it reached its destination in front of a large hotel a big crowd was waiting for it.

Of course, this story would not be complete unless we showed some of Mel Lawton's advertising skill and we are presenting here a few samples of the ads he turned out in his campaign on "The Vagabond King." Since his work covered so many varied details we are unable to present it with this story, but you can bank on it that all of his ads were the sort that would sell a show any time. We want especially to call your attention to the special ad he ran in which he had the title standing out like a beacon light. This ad created a great deal of comment when it appeared in the local papers. Another one that helped sell the picture was a personal endorsement written by the managing directors of the theatre.

And now, last but by no means least, we present this picture of the novel street ballyhoo, constructed by Ted Lane, manager of the Tivoli Theatre in Brisbane for his showing of "The Locked Door." The truck was driven about the main streets of the city and whenever it stopped at a crowded section the man listening at the door would sit down and talk through the dummy phone. His chatter concerned the picture and he told about the plot and announced playdates. As the truck would cruise about the suburbs the driver would sound his horn in the more thickly populated sections. By the time it had finished its trip almost every one in Brisbane knew that the Tivoli was featuring a special picture as its next attraction.

Well, we've lots more news of Australia, but as we seem always to be cramped for space we will have to hold it over until our next edition of "Australian Activities," where you can be sure to pick up a new angle or two on merchandising as it is done on the other side of the world. We want to thank Mell Lawton and the many showmen, whose contributions have kept us informed as to what is being done in their part of the country and we are sure that the future holds a lot more showmanlike surprises.

Ben Sperber Wowed Them With Latest Showmanlike Work

The original idea man, Ben Sperber, had another. It seems that no matter where Ben goes he can find a spot to advertise theatre attractions. Just a little while ago we showed you how he tied up the Brooklyn Dodgers for some free publicity and then we gave you an example of what he did with an ice cake to plug a cooling plant. His latest is herewith presented.

As you will note from the photo, his eagle eye espied a sign board, right in the heart of the shopping center of Brooklyn, N. Y., that, judging from its battered and rusty appearance, wasn't doing anybody much good. So it was up to Ben to make a paying proposition out of that sign. And how he did it! He persuaded the dealer to take down the old one and let him hang a picture of Will Osborn that plugged the show at a local theatre. The dealer readily consented and the picture went up. Right across the street from competition, and directly in front of a subway entrance where thousands of persons pass by daily. A million dollars worth of publicity for almost nothing.

Meeting with success with this venture, Ben next set out to cover the rest of the shopping section and by the time he had finished every available piece of signboard was plugging the theatre. This stunt ought to be a natural for you, too. You can scout around your town and see whether there are any old signs that look as though they are passe. Put some new life in them with your showmanship. If the dealer wants a credit line in your copy so that it will be of mutual advantage give it to him. At any rate, here's an idea that is certainly worth something and if you'll follow it up we are sure that it will more than pay for itself in box office revenue.

Ed. Reid Introduced New Parking Law As Picture Plug

All of Mobile was laughing at the gag that Eddie Reid manager of the Crown Theatre in the Alabama city introduced them to when he handed out gag cards on "A New Parking Law" in order to plug his current feature, "The Night Parade."

The card rectangular in shape, devoted one third of its space to "New Parking Law." The remainder of the space was devoted to, "Section 618, Article 22—Made necessary by the sudden change in weather. On Friday and Saturday, May 16th and 17th, young ladies, men and all classes should change their parking places from street corners, country roads, parlor chairs, etc., to the cool Crown Theatre to see and hear the million volt, all-talking thriller, with Ann Pennington and Dorothy Gulliver, THE NIGHT PARADE."

The cards were given an effective distribution—mainly in parked cars and especially to people owning or driving cars, and the stunt created an unusual amount of interest.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Waugh Made Good Use Of New Austin To Sell Bow Film

Whenever anything new makes its appearance on the market there is sure to be a showman somewhere who will cash in on it. As an example, we can take the new Ford when it first came out. Showmen capitalized on it from the moment it made its appearance. There are many more stunts of like nature that they have cashed in on, too. The Cord car is another instance. So it was only natural when the new auto called the "American Austin" was put on the market, that the showmen who were within reaching distance of a dealer, would realize the vast potentialities of a car so small and unique and use it to put their shows across.

Howard Waugh, manager of the Palace Theatre in Meridan, Conn., had read about the new car. When he heard that the local dealer was featuring one, he decided that it was high time the public knew more about his house, as well as new cars. His first move was to proposition the dealer and promote one of the cars. He then tied up with the Lifesavers Corp. and secured thousands of samples, which he placed in large sized pay envelopes and used them to plug "True to the Navy." One of his ushers was pressed into service, as the photo shows, dressed in nautical costume and sent around to the main streets, the highways and by-ways of Meridan. Copy on the car read, "Your Life-saver is the Austin Car," and also carried playdates and pictures.

This being the first time the natives had been introduced to the latest novelty car, they paid plenty of attention to it and in this manner, Howard was enabled to sell the picture without difficulty. Oh yes! he did have a little trouble—it seems that during the days he had the midget car, a place had to be found to park. Accordingly it was planted on Howard's desk and, quite unwittingly, he took it home for an ash tray. Of course, he found out his mistake later and returned the car to the dealer who asked him for another good method to exploit the automobile. Howard thought a moment and then replied "Get another one and send the pair of them to Primo Carnera for roller skates."

But all kidding aside, he really deserves a lot of credit for grabbing on to this angle as soon as he did and there is no question but that it helped business considerably at the Palace. But then, building business is a habit with Howard—right!

Levey Landed Story On Front Page Of Local Newspaper

We'll tell the world that that fellow Bill Levey, manager of the Beacon Theatre in Port Washington, Long Island, N. Y., isn't letting any opportunities slip to get in a plug for his house. No matter what he is doing he's never too busy to cram in one more touch.

Having the wholeheatred co-operation of his local newspapers, Bill was enabled to establish a precedent recently by landing a serialization of "Lummox," one of his coming attractions, in the columns of the staid Port Washington News. This was the first time that the sheet had ever permitted its pages to be used for plugging a theatre, in this manner. And Bill's "pull" is seen in the front page box he was given which called attention to the story and at the same time told that the film was coming to the local playhouse. Front page advertising at no cost.

When a showman can get breaks of the sort that Bill is landing out in Port Washington, it must certainly feel great to count the patrons as they walk up to the box-office and slap down the required shekels. Incidentally, we'd like to tell you about another clever angle that he is using to plug his current shows. He secured a bunch of gilded frames, placed inserts in them and planted them in the windows of the leading stores in town, crashing Schumaker's one of the biggest stores, visited by nearly everyone in the town, with a special insert. From what we can see this has helped business.

Lewis Cashed In At Box-Office With Special Turtle Gag

When he played "Mamba" at the Old Mill Theatre in Dallas, Texas, William W. Lewis decided to make use of the old turtle gag originated by Jack Fuld a while back. He certainly picked a corker to get interest with and here's how he did it.

The lobby stunt consisted of five small turtles in a tank, each turtle with a letter on his back—using the letters in the title of picture. A sign on the display explained that a free ticket would be given to anyone who discovered all five turtles in a row spelling out MAMBA—and who called the attention of one of the house staff to this. Needless to say, no one found the turtles in the 'correct' position and consequently no tickets were given out. However, the stunt attracted lots of attention and proved an excellent medium in advertising the picture.

And there's no question as to what the residents of the town thought of the stunt either. In fact, Lewis observed a number of them standing around the display for almost an hour at a time and once in a while he would catch some wily youngster giving the turtles a sly dig with his shoe to put them into position. Let's have some more of your work Bill, because we are sure that your fellow managers on the circuit as well as the Club members would like to be kept posted on your merchandising.

Duncan Campbell Of Wallaceburg Ontario Joins Club

Another Canadian showman, in the person of Duncan Campbell, manager of the Capitol Theatre in Wallaceburg, Ont., jumps on the band wagon and joins the fast-growing rolls of the Managers' Round Table Club, and we're glad to welcome him.

Mr. Campbell, as you might perhaps note from his photo, is one of the youngest showmen in his district; but that doesn't mean a thing when it comes time for him to sell his shows. He tells us that he gets a great deal of help out of the Club pages (and who doesn't?) and promises to be a very active contributor. Just to show us that he means what he says he tells us about a little stunt he engineered recently that brought a few more dollars into the box-office.

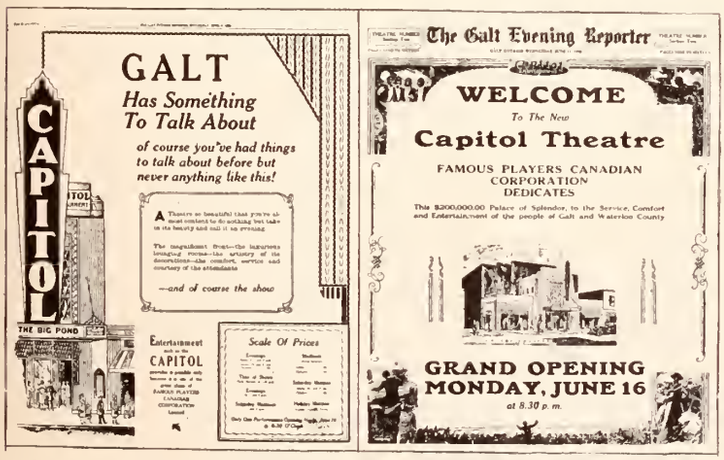
A local druggist was featuring a special brand of perfume and Campbell decided that a tie-up would be of mutual benefit. Accordingly he put his proposition before the druggist and the local dealer agreed to spray the theatre on one of the evening shows with his special perfume. In addition to this, he also agreed to present every lady who attended the show, with a free sample. The stunt was advertised in the newspapers as "Sample Night." It went over with a bang and both merchandisers received plenty of publicity as well as good-will. To say nothing of the additional business.

We want to extend a cordial welcome to this showman and we feel that if he continues the activity he is displaying he will more than be represented among the leaders of our Canadian membership. Give our regards to Jack Allan, Duncan, and remember to keep us posted on your future work.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Ed. Landsborough Engineered Great Opening Campaign

The opening of the new Capitol Theatre in Galt, Ontario, Canada, meant that Ed Landsborough, the manager, would have to step out and secure a lot of additional publicity for his house, especially since he had been chosen to run it, in view of the fine record he made for himself at the old Regent Theatre.



Five hundred tack cards carrying the opening announcement were placed about the most advantageous sections of the city, and throughout the rural districts. At the main intersection of the city a thirty-foot banner was strung across the streets. The banner carried the opening announcement and also plugged the "Capitol Entertainment." A 12-foot balloon, painted in silver and blue, was floated from the top of the theatre with a line play of two hundred feet. The sides of the balloon were painted with announcements regarding the opening. The display caused a great deal of comment as it could be seen for miles around, and as this was the first time it had been used, interest in it was doubled, and in the 10 days that it was floated a great deal of talk resulted.

Another angle that meant plenty of publicity for the house may be seen in the photo we are showing of the enlarged telegram that was sent to the Mayor of the city. The telegram was mounted on beaverboard and carried about town by four Western Union messengers. The Mayor may be seen standing alongside, holding the original telegram in his hand. This picture hit the front page of the local newspapers, giving Landsborough a bit more publicity.

In order that he do the job up proper he felt that a special newspaper would be necessary, and to this end he promoted a 16-page section in the Evening Reporter. So that you may see how well he did his work, we are reproducing a couple of pages of the section, which contained stories, ads, and special pictures. Nearly every dealer in the town was represented and they all expressed their appreciation toward Famous Players for building the new house. The section also carried stories on the various men who participated in making the theatre the amusement palace it looked to be.

Still another angle that Landsborough covered was the mailing of a monthly Amusement Guide which carried the programs of the theatre for the coming month. This was sent to thousands of people in and out of the city. It was made up in the form of an attractively colored card, with a space left on the top for hanging.

ROAD STANDS!

A suggestion recently advanced by a Club member is that of tying in with the various road stands which dot the highways all over the country at this time of the year.

Here's an opportunity for wide-awake showmen to cash in on a medium that can be of great help, just by donating a bunch of paper bags, imprinted with the week's program and any especial institutional plug.

Of course you know your own town and you can tell whether the stunt would mean anything to you. The paper bags and the printing are small expenditures if you happen to be located anywhere near a popular lake or mountain resort. It is a known fact that many people, visiting for the summer would drop into the local theatre in the evenings if they knew the attraction at the theatre. At any rate we are passing along the suggestion because we feel that it has merit and doubly so since the Club member who so thoughtfully passed it on to his fellow showman has used it for the first time this year and declares that it is clicking well for him.

With practically every angle taken care of by Landsborough, it is small wonder that the opening night found crowds storming the doors, and during the rest of the week capacity houses were the order of the day and night. Well, Ed, now that you have more of an opportunity than ever before to display showmanship it seems to us that you should be very active. So we look forward to hearing from you again in the very near future and we hope that it will be soon.

Sumpter Found An Autographed Ball Boosted Interest

Want to pep up the kids' interest in your Saturday matinee shows? Get yourself a baseball autographed by Babe Ruth or some other well known ball player. George Sumpter, manager of the St. George Theatre in Framingham, Mass., tried this angle and it went over great for him. He secured a baseball autographed by none other than the famous "Babe."

The ball was placed on display in the window of the local sporting goods store for one week in advance. A collection of drawings of past and present baseball players was secured and placed in the window with the ball in the center and a sign stating that the ball would be given to the lucky boy at the theatre on Saturday. The stubs were collected at the kids' matinee and then drawn from a basket on the stage. The stunt was found in the columns of the newspaper before and another story appearing afterwards naming the prize winner, etc.

In addition to securing the ball and the drawings, the sporting goods merchant was also induced to give away a Dazzy Vance glove in return for the advertising value of the ball in his window. The glove went to the boy whose 'stub' was drawn second—out of the box.

From the time the baseball first went on display until it was given away, every kid in the town was talking about it. No matter where you went you could hear them say, wistfully "Hope I get that base-ball." And with so much comment rife it was only natural that the parents' attention would be drawn to the stunt and in this manner the house secured some additional publicity. Judging from this one stunt, we feel that Sumpter must be displaying some corking merchandising up there in his neighborhood. Right, George?

"All For One And One For All"

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

CIVIC CONTACTS

(From Fox West Coast "Now")
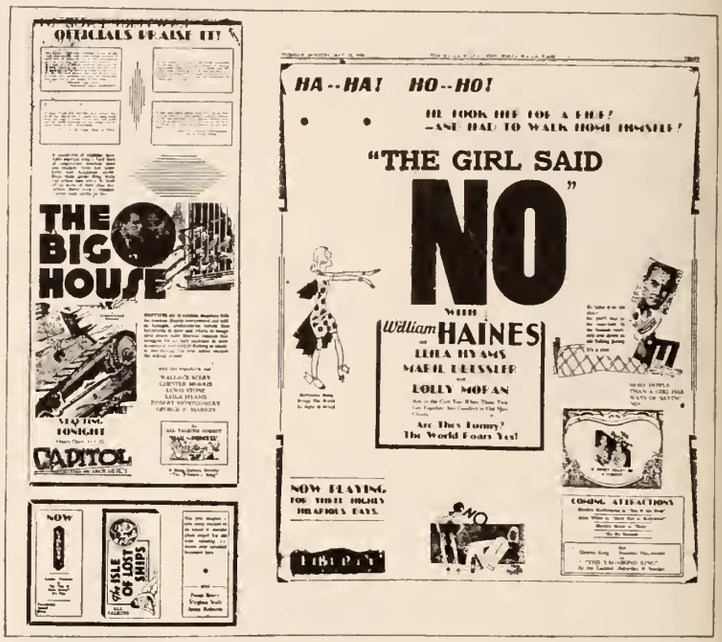
By A. C. RALEIGH
Manager Olympia (Wash.) Theatres

Perhaps the first requisite of a theatre manager in attaining a place in the public life of his city is cleanliness. By this I mean he must first of all have his theatre and its employees morally clean and free from gossip. This same rule applies in greater proportion to the manager himself. Then, in his city he must take care of his outside billing and see that dead and sniped paper is removed or blanked out. If he uses tack cards these should be removed or replaced and all old torn cards or paper picked up. In case he is pasting any of his own boards, such as one or three sheets, he should keep these boards nicely painted and all rubbish cleaned up around them. In short, the manager should be a clean and respectable citizen of his community.

In Olympia the Chamber of Commerce has one active unit which is called the Retail Board. This Board, composed of twelve members, meets weekly and handles all civic events. I was elected a member of this Board shortly after my arrival in Olympia and recently was re-elected a member of this Board for a two-year period. I worked consistently with the Board, giving time and effort to their stunts and in turn have invariably had their help upon call. The main benefit, outside of goodwill for the theatres that I have derived, is that there has not been a single carnival here in Olympia since I became a member of the Board.

With school tie-ups I do not go to the principals and teachers unless I know that I have something that is absolutely all right.

In a city of this size, Women's Clubs are not individually large organizations but they invariably respond and we always have their goodwill. In summing up: Play square with your school, clubs, etc., and do not over-exploit them but always make them feel that they are getting ample returns for their efforts.



Here's A Few Of Frank Hill's Ads; Look Them Over

Another showman who is an ace when it comes to laying out newspaper ads is Frank B. Hill of the Liberty Theatre in Walla Walla, Washington. He has been represented on our pages many times and we know that his layouts have always been sources of interest to the Club members.

This latest batch that we have received will give you some idea of what Frank is doing to sell them via the newspapers and if you'll study the ads perhaps you can find one or two angles that you might want to use in your own layouts. He put plenty of pep in his ad for "The Big House" by running personal endorsements from the Chief of Police, the City Commissioner and the Warden of the State Penitentiary. In the ad in the next column you can see what he did to get them looking at "The Isle of Lost Ships." The ad mat was inserted upside down and this caused the readers to turn the paper around and look the ad over.

Now we come to the big one. The full page ad that he inserted to plug "The Girl Said No." Many times we have commented upon Frank's use of copy and the lot of white space in which he sets it off, and we feel that you will agree with us that he has again turned out a simple but powerfully effective ad, one which no movie going patron could resist reading. And others, too, for that matter. In all his work Frank tries to inject novelty, and in another ad he ran a special box under a heading: "Forward With Walla Walla," in which he stressed the point that there needn't be any business depression in his city if the patrons of the various businesses were treated right. The Rotary Club thought so much of his slant that they called a pep meeting and the result of it was a special aditorial in the paper the next day.

We are also in receipt of one of Frank's novelty herald. Due to its unusual make-up it created a lot of talk. It was used to plug "Show Girl In Hollywood" and was printed in blue and red on white paper measuring 10½ by 11 in. One side only was used. A mat figure of the star was placed on each side of the boxed in layout, with the copy being used the same way. We are showing this herald in the event that you might want to use it for some future attractions if you want to put a little novelty to it. The copy in the center of the page read, "Look Any Way You Please—Still, You Will See Alice White, The Girl With The Hot Stare and Cold Shoulder in 'Show Girl In Hollywood'."

We are glad to note that Frank is keeping up his live-wire work and we hope to pass along some more of his corking layouts and merchandising in the near future. Give our regards to the boys in your district Frank, and tell them we hope to meet them all personally in a little while.

Allen And Finley Received Publicity On Special Week

That there's more than one way of securing institutional plugs for his corporation has been proven many times by Wally Allen, publicity chief for Publix, down around Jacksonville, Tampa and the other nearby Florida cities. So read what he did this time.

When he stopped in at O. G. Finley's house, the Franklin Theatre in Tampa, Finley advanced an idea to put across a special week to plug his theatre. His cashier, Stella Lopez, was celebrating her tenth year on the job and Finley decided that it would be a good break to the theatre if he used the gag as an instrument for securing publicity. Accordingly, a Stella Lopez week was inaugurated. A special trailer, with the cashier's picture on it and filled with compliments was used. The daily newspaper ran a big story on the event and the Spanish paper came through with a front page picture.

Plenty of good-will was created by this stunt and business for the week was boosted up due to the fact that the live-wire showmen told the public that, in honor of Miss Lopez, special shows had been booked at the Franklin Theatre.

We want to thank Wally for passing this along to us and we hope that Finley and himself will keep us posted on their next stunts.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

MacLevey Is Still Keeping Patrons Interested In Shows

Four airplane pictures booked in, one each week for a month, was the one thing Monty MacLevey, former manager of the Lefferts, needed to promote an "Aviation Month." When he got the pictures he set to work to sell them in his well known showmanlike style and he certainly received plenty of results for his labors.

Through a tie-up with three of the leading toy stores in his neighborhood he arranged to run a Model Plane Show. The show was sponsored by the toy dealers and the Curtiss-Wright Flying Service. The sponsors paid for thousands of heralds containing entry coupons which were distributed about the neighborhood. They also paid for the cups which were awarded the builders of the best planes.

In the photos we are reproducing you can note the many planes that were entered. Nearly every kid in the neighborhood was represented and the word-of-mouth publicity that they created boosted interest considerably. The show ran for a period of a month, starting when the first air picture was shown and finishing with the last one. A number of store windows were used for displays of the planes and plugs on the picture.

In order to know how Monty keeps interest in his coming attractions pepped up, it is only necessary to look at the corking lobby flash he made up for "The Sky Hawk." He took one of the stock twenty-four sheets on the film and cut the crowd scenes out. This was placed in front of the rest of the 23 which was used as a background. A zeppelin, bought at a toy shop, was placed above the crowd and in front of the sheet. In order to give the display more of a wallop, a coat of shellac was added to the 24 sheet and this brought out a gloss that took the colors from red and blue spots in great shape. The strength of the display was proven in the many persons who crowded around it all the time it was there.

Here's one that you, too, can use any time you want to, providing, of course, you have a spot in your lobby or foyer, and though Monty found it necessary to shell out a few shekels to procure the zep that's only a rare exception (especially when it's Monty). There's a number of good angles that you should be able to work in connection with a stunt of this sort and we feel that if you take a look about the house, you'll find a lot of spots there in which this gag would fit pretty. At any rate, there's the suggestion and if you can use it, take it with Monty's compliments. Oke?

David M. Brotman Started A Kid Club To Sell New Serial

Though David M. Brotman, managing director of the Avaloe Theatre in Chicago, Illinois, does not expect to be in show business much longer, due to his entering the medical profession, as announced a while ago in the "Chicago Film Row" page of MOTION PICTURE NEWS, he is certainly making good use of his time now and turning out some mighty fine ideas to put his kiddie business across.

As a plug for his new serial, "The Jade Box," he made up a number of special cards, two by three inches, and passed them out as heralds. Each card carried a letter and the entire set spelled out "The Jade Box." Children were supposed to complete the set and present them at the box office, in return for which they were entitled to free admission to the theatre it witness the first chapter of the serial.

SUGGESTIONS WANTED!!!

Fred B. Pickrel, manager of the Bogan theatres in Ponca City, Okla., offers advice and asks suggestions in regards to the troublesome and expensive vandalism practised by some of the rougher element in theatres.

They suffered down his way from a regular epidemic of such vandalism in the form of slashed theatre seats and this reached such proportions that the vandals were even ripping the covers completely off the chairs. From our own experience we know what such a condition means and how hard it is to catch the skunks that do things of this kind.

Fred, however, tried everything under the sun, even to the point of spotting detectives in the house in an effort to catch the vandals, but without success, until he hit on the idea of running a slide or trailer offering one hundred dollars reward, paid immediately at the box office, for any information or the detection of the guilty party. Did this have the desired effect? We'll say it did.

Now, we know from our vast correspondence that many of our members and readers have suffered from this same form of vandalism and we therefore hasten to pass along this successful solution of Fred Pickrel.

Incidentally, if any of you other boys have some suggestion to make, Fred will be delighted to read about it on the Club pages. Here is a marvelous opportunity of helping others and helping ourselves; go to it and let us all benefit by the experiences of each other.

M.R.T.C.

The stunt went over exceptionally well with the kids and they were all hustling about town trying to match up the sets. We would like to point out again that it is not necessary for you to have a serial to use a stunt of this sort as it will be found to be a very effective medium for plugging any special kiddie show that you may want to merchandise more than regularly. Thanks, David, for shooting this along and let's hear some more about your work before you go out of show business in the fall.

Frank Boucher Put Family Month Over In Great Fashion

With his well deserved promotion to district manager of the state of Maryland under his belt, Frank Boucher of Hagerstown, Maryland, still continues to turn out some excellent showmanship.

As his many friends in the Club are aware, Frank is active from morning until night figuring out new schemes and stunts to bring in business to the houses under his wing. The work that he did for "Family Month" showed us again that he knows his public. Though he has been in Hagerstown only a year, he is well spoken of by every resident and his many stunts are also talked about. An angle that put him in solid with the town was the interest he took in their kids by inaugurating a special kiddie club.

On "Family Month," he arranged special weeks. One week should be "Mothers' Week" in which all mothers over fifty would be permitted to see the show as the guests of the house. This was followed by "Fathers' Week" in which all fathers were admitted provided they were accompanied by another member of the family. The next two weeks were devoted to "Graduates' and Boys' Weeks." The month, from a financial as well as a good-will and publicity standpoint, was a huge success.

We want to congratulate Frank on his new position and we know he will continue the same brand of showmanship.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Matt Press Steps To The Front With Golf Suggestion

With Tom Thumb golf courses springing up all over the country, all showmen who have had them near their theatre know well what a detriment they can be to the early show business in the way of chiselling the theatre out of a few bucks extra. So something had to be done, and, like the Amos 'n' Andy menace, which showmen successfully overcame, they jumped right over the golf course competition by offering free tickets to persons making the course in a certain number of strokes. For this the showmen received free publicity on the courses, and this in a measure served to alleviate the loss.

As we have received a number of requests regarding this golf course situation, it affords us great pleasure to present an account of the way Matt Press, manager of the Saenger Theatre in Hope, Arkansas, surmounted the handicap by inaugurating a scheme of his own.

A study of the hazards on the course showed him that the average score for men was around 58 and the ladies 62. With this in view he inaugurated the Saenger handicap, which is explained in the folder we are showing. These folders were attractively printed in green on Manila cardboard and contained the theatre program as well as notice of the handicap. The back of the folder contained an ad plugging the local Retail Merchants' Association. The cost of printing the folder was borne by the golf course operator and the Merchants' Association, with four thousand folders being printed.

The theatre's attractions were also placed on display at each hole on the course. A special guest ticket was made up and presented to those who made the handicap. The tickets were good only during the supper show and were redeemed later by the course for 10 cents each. This angle proved to be a highly beneficial arrangement for all concerned and we think that if you, too, are troubled by having these courses spring up all around you, it will pay you to give Matt's idea a play. We want to thank him for passing this along to us and we know that it will be well appreciated.

O. Fred Glass Found That This Stunt Clicks Well

Stunts galore are pulled by O. Fred Glass, manager of the Fox Theatre in McCook, Nebraska, and there are so many of them that come from his district that we often wonder how it is he finds time to dope them all out. In the past we have presented many novel gags which he used and found to be winners and being an active contributor to the Club pages he has always passed them along in the event that any of his fellow members should care to use them.

His latest idea was a Program Contest in which he tied up with the local newspaper and received several front page stories due to the novelty of the stunt. He inserted a half page ad in the local newspaper that contained the monthly programs for the two Fox Theatres located in the town. In order to plug his RKO Stage shows which he had just inaugurated for Saturday nights he headed the ads with a notice to the effect that any person correcting the errors, purposely made in the copy, was entitled to participate in a plan to procure free tickets to the theatre. The contestants were supposed to see how many words they could make out of the three words "Radio Keith Orpheum."

The response to the stunt was tremendous. The day after the ad was placed in the paper, replies began to pour in and so many of them were received that it was pretty hard to judge the winner but when one lady made up seven hundred and twelve words, that was sufficient. She copped the grand award. Here's another idea that you, too, can put over to good results, providing of course local conditions warrant it. At any rate, if you can't use it now put it away for future use because you can never tell when it will come in handy. We want to thank Fred for passing this along to us and also for keeping us posted on what he is doing out in McCook.

CLUB EMBLEM PIN!!!

IT WILL IDENTIFY YOU AMONG THE WHOLE SHOW WORLD AS A MEMBER OF THIS GREAT ORGANIZATION AND A REAL LIVE-WIRE SHOWMAN!

Use This Blank:

Managers' Round Table Club
729 Seventh Avenue, New York

Kindly send me, postpaid,.... ..Club pins, for which I enclose payment at $1.00 per pin.

Name of Member.....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City..... State.....

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Conery Introduced Living Billboard In Mobile, Alabama

A trio of "bricklayers," not the sort who build houses and buildings, but another kind of bricklayers, were used by Mitchell Conery, manager of the Lyric Theatre in Mobile, Ala., as one of his recent merchandising stunts. And by looking at the photo and reading this article you'll get what we mean when we say that they are "bricklayers," but not bricklayers.

The ballyhoo team consisted of two grown men and one boy—all dressed in overalls. The three played "leap frog" on the main street of town and when the little fellow tried to leap over the bigger ones, he drew the attention of most everybody.

Another advantage of the little fellow was that he worked for almost nothing and had more pep than the others as it was play and not work to him.

Every time a crowd gathered to watch the antics of the ballyhoo team, they would lay brick that they carried upside down on the sidewalk and then would turn them over (bricklaying?). Each brick carried copy and when placed together read, "ON THE LEVEL—With Victor McLaglen—LYRIC NOW."

Another stunt that created some comment for the picture was the placing of a scale in a prominent location on the main street. A card alongside the scale announced that any person having the exact weight as Fifi Dorsay, who appeared in the picture, would be given a free ticket to see the picture. A man was in attendance to see that the proper weights were recorded.

As it so happened, very few passes were issued, but many had the privilege of checking up their weight as well as learning about the picture.

And to give Mobile a treat and a glimpse of some real high-powered showmanship, Conery decided to use the "living billboard" stunt to plug his showing of "Showing Girl in Hollywood."

The billboard stunt consisted of a background of compoboard about the size of a 24-sheet—just above the marquee. Poster cut-outs of Alice White in a bathing suit were used on the "board," together with copy announcing the picture, theatre and play dates.

Around noon time, a drape was placed over the board and four girls in bathing suits were placed behind it. Then the drape was drawn and the girls remained in a posing position while a portable victrola played several selections.

With Conery turning out work like this in Mobile, it would pay you to pick up a couple of these gags and use them.

John J. Dunnigan Is Displaying Showmanship In Town

Giving his town some real live-wire showmanship has long been the policy of John J. Dunnigan, manager of the Greenwich Theatre in East Greenwich, R. I., and it has been largely due to that policy that his house has rated right along with the best in the section.

Though Mr. Dunningan has been a member of the Club for some time we have never shown his picture and we do so now in order that you may see what he looks like. Located in a busy little town, he has plenty of opportunity to display some excellent merchandising and he certainly takes advantage of it. One of his recent gags was to print up a bunch of novelty heralds in the form of court summonses in which he listed all of the shows of the week in a legal form.

As East Greenwich had not seen a stunt like this before, they displayed plenty of interest when the heralds were passed out and as a result found themselves trudging up to the box-office and laying their dough on the line. Dunningan tells us that he has a lot more ideas to pass along to us, so we look forward to seeing them. Keep us posted on your work, John, so that we can pass it along to your fellow members. We note that you speak of J. Fred Lovett, of Olneyville and we hope that if you see him you'll convey our regards.

Bakery Tie-Up Was Feature Of Theresa Nibler's Selling

Our latest lady manager in the Club seems to be determined to show us that she is going to be very active. Of course, we're referring to Theresa Nibler, who handles the Electric Theatre in Springfield, Missouri, and a darn good showwoman too.

Just as an idea of what she is doing, read the tie-up she made for "Honey." For two days in advance of the showing, the largest bakery in town agreed to wrap a herald plugging the picture in every loaf of bread sold. Each herald had a letter from the title of the picture on it and the ones getting the full set to complete the title were entitled to a free ticket to the theatre.

A hundred full combinations were used in the thousands of heralds distributed and the theatre got a lucky break in the fact that only a couple of the completed sets were turned in. The publicity derived from this stunt proved of mutual benefit to the bakery as well as the theatre. At this point, we'd like to ask you again to keep in mind the fact that this stunt can be worked on almost any picture. Besides this one, she secured tie-ups with every soda fountain and restaurant in town and persuaded them to feature special "Honey" dishes and drinks.

So with this to her credit, you can see that Miss Nibler certainly knows how to get them in and it's a sure thing that as she passes along her activities on these pages you'll see some more examples of live-wire work that will make you sit up and take notice. Keep it up, Miss Nibler, and above all, keep us posted as to the methods you display.

LAFF-O-THE-WEEK

A great many showmen who are doing so much unnecessary worrying over the supposed menace of the Tom Thumb golf courses should take a lesson from H. W. whose optimism over any competition is beyond comprehension.

They are saying that when H. was approached on the subject of the midget courses offering competition to his house, he gagged, "Me worry about those. Why, they won't hear about them up in my neck of the woods until five years from now!"

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

SHOWMEN WHO JUST JOINED!

C. GILPIN-HOLMES manages the Capitol Theatre in Brampton, Ont., Can. Mr. Holmes has been on this side of the big pond but a short while, most of his show experience being gained over there. But in the time he has been here he has certainly done some good work and we know that the future issues of the Club are going to bear some nice examples of what he is doing to merchandise shows in Brampton. Oke, Mr. Holmes, and remember—you promised us a photo of yourself.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

MORRIS KAUFMAN is the manager of the American Theatre in Bridgeport, Conn., With a thriving city like Bridgeport to operate in Mr. Kaufman is undoubtedly turning out some ace work and we'd like to hear some more from him regarding the way he keeps them coming up to the box-office window. Drop us a line, Morris, and give us a little light on the subject.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

"CHET" McLEAN is the assistant manager of the Paramount Theatre in Providence, Rhode Island. He is proposed for membership by "Bunny" Bryan, the well known publicity director for Publix around the district. With a man like Eddie Reed for a house manager, "Chet" should pick up some more knowledge that will enable him to step out and handle a house of his own in a little while. Keep us posted on what you are doing, "Chet," so that we can note your progress.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

H. W. RICE manages the Saenger Temple Theatre in Meridian, Miss. Though we have never been through his city we feel that so long as he rates pretty high with the showmen out around his district he must be displaying ample merchandising skill. We hope that he will sit down and give us a line or two as to his activities so that we can present them, along with his photo, on the Club pages.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

GEORGE S. OTTE is the General Manager of the Capitol Theatre Enterprises and when the showman who proposed him sent us a little dope on Mr. Otte's work we knew immediately that the Club had acquired another member who was going to be very active. However, Mr. Otte, before we start to pass along your work, why not send us in a photo of yourself and a little dope on your career so that we can give you a real send-off on our pages.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

MILTON HARMAN manages the Garfield Theatre in Milwaukee, Wis. With Louie Orlove and so many other good showmen located in his city, we are inclined to think that Milton, too, rates up with the leaders, and we are sure that his merchandising must be A1 to keep his house patronage up to the notch he has set for it. Let us in on your secrets, Milton, and tell us what you are doing to bring them up to the box-office.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

LEON STERNBERGER comes recommended to us by Paul Binstock, who, as you all know, is now handling the Astoria Grand in Astoria, L. I. Leon is his assistant, and when Paul starts going into raptures over his showmanship we have to feel that there's something there. Give us a little dope on yourself, Leon, and at the same time include your photo, so that we can let the rest of the Club meet you.

THE SHOWMAN'S MEETING PLACE FOR PROGRESS!

WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

Application For Membership In "MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB"

729 Seventh Ave., New York City

I hereby apply for membership in the Club.

Name .....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City .....

State .....

Position .....

Wm. A. Johnston Honorary Chairman — "Chick" Lewis Chairman

JOIN NOW!!

Here's the Blank

ALBERT B. LOURIE is the manager of the Morton Theatre in Dorchester, Mass. Live-wire showmen have long been operating up in the New England district where Albert works, and we want to say now that he is no slouch when it comes to selling them on his shows, because the way he merchandises them is alone worth the price of admission. We will show some of his work in future issues of the Club pages and then you can judge for yourself.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

H. T. SUMRALL is the Assistant manager of the Saenger Theatre in Mobile, Ala. While we have not been down in Mr. Sumrall's city in recent years, we recall that our stay some time back was a very pleasant and profitable one, because we witnessed some corking showmanship during our brief visit. As a good many showmen from down around Sumrall's way are listed on our rolls, we believe that as he has been doing some fine exploitation work for his house he will become a very active Club member. Are we right "H. T"?

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

WALLACE J. BUTLER manages the Ritz Theatre in San Bernardino, Calif., and since we already know something about his work we are going to keep it to ourselves, because we believe Albert is going to be so active a member that by the time we get set to spring an account of it he will have enclosed us some more dope, as well as his photograph. And when he does that then we're set. Okay, Albert?

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

DUNCAN CAMPBELL, the manager of the Capitol Theatre in Wallaceburg, Ont., is the latest Canadian showman to join the fast growing rolls of the Managers' Round Table Club. To show us that he is going to be a regular contributor to our pages, Duncan has already sent us in some dope on himself and his work, and we are going to present it to you in the near future. But, you know, everyone must be represented here, too, Duncan, and now that you have been "initiated" we want to hear more about your merchandising.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

MERRILL CHASE is the Assistant Manager of the Fox Theatre in Marinett, Wis. As he hails from a State whose showman are well represented on our rolls, we feel that Merrill's jumping on the band wagon is going to be productive of a promotion. Be cause you know Merrill, all of the stunts on our pages are contributed by real wide-awake showmen. And if you're wide-awake we know you'll be handling your own house before long.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

BEN COHN is the General Manager of the Senate, Crystal and Olympic Theatres in Detroit, Mich. and according to the dope we have on him, he is certainly listed as a regular guy. Listen Ben, why don't you send us in a photo and a little dope on yourself?

Photos of Members!

THE Club is anxious to publish photographs of every member and would, therefore, appreciate receiving as many as possible for use in future issues of the Club columns. If you have not already done so, PLEASE send us your own photo at once. Thank you.

COMPLETE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut toward such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributor. Where they vary in different cities or towns, the change is probably due to state or local censorship deletions.

AMKINO

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Cain and Artem	F. Gail-N. Simonov	June	6....7000	78...	June 14
Children of the New Day	Gilladova-Litkin
Crime Express	Special Cast	Mar.	8....5631	65...	Mar. 15
Demon of the Steppes	Saltykov-Podlesnaya	Jan.	18....6800	75...
Fragment of an Empire	Nikitin-Semenoca	Jan.	25....7000	78...	Feb.
Man from the Restaurant	Tchekhov-Malinevska	Jan.	4....6000	67...	Jan. 18
Old and New	Martha Lapkina	May	2....6921	76...	May 10
Roof of the World
Turksib	Educational	May	24....4900	60...	June 14

Coming Attractions

Title	Star
Jimmy Higgins	A. Buchma
Living Corpse, The	V. Pudovkin
Razlom	M. A. Narokov
Soil	S. Svazhenke
Spring	Educational
Storm Over Asia	V. Inkizhinov
Transport of Fire	G. Kuznetsov
Tungas of Siberia	Educational

COLUMBIA

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Around the Corner (A. T.)	Sidney-Murray	Apr.	26....6356	71...	May 3
*†§Call of the West (A. T.)	Revier-Matt Moore	May	10....6500	72...	May 31
*†§Guilty? (A. T.)	Holland-Vaill	Mar.	3....6371	71...	Apr. 12
*†§Hell's Island (A.T.)	Sebastian-Holt-Graves	July	16....7462	67...	July 26
*†§Ladies of Leisure (A. T.)	Stanwyck-Graves-Sherman	Apr.	5....9277	103...	Apr. 19
*†§Lone Rider, The (A. T.)	Jones-Reynolds	June	9....5432	59...	July 12
*†§Melody Man, The (A. T.)	Collier, Jr.-Day-St. Polis	Jan.	25....6386	71...	Feb. 15
*†§Murder on the Reef (A. T.)	Revier-Livingston	Jan.	19....5400	60...	Feb. 1
*†§Personality (A. T.)	Starr-Arthur	Feb.	18....6304	70...	Mar. 1
*†§Prince of Diamonds (A.T.)	Ian Keith-Pringle	Mar.	26....6383	71...	May 17
*†§Royal Romance, A (A. T.)	Collier-Starke	Mar.	17....6359	83...	May 31
*†§Sisters (A. T.)	O'Day-O'Neil	June	15...8284	70...	June 28
*†§Soldiers and Women (A. T.)	Pringle-Wilbers	Apr.	30....6671	70...	May 17
*†§Temptation (A.T.)	Wilson-Gray-Percy	June	6....8279	70...	June 28
*†§Vengeance (A. T.)	Holt-Revier-Strange	Feb.	22....8160	68...	Mar. 1

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Africa Speaks (A. T.)
*†§Arizona (A.T.)
*†§Brothers (A.T.)
*†§Charley's Aunt (A.T.)
*†§Criminal Code, The (A.T.)
*†§Dirigible (A.T.)
*†§Fifty Fathoms Deep (A.T.)
*†§Flood, The (A.T.)
*†§For the Love of Lil (A.T.)
*†§Good Bad Girl (A.T.)
*†§Jazz Daughters (A.T.)
*†§Ladies Must Play (A.T.)
*†§Last Parade, The (A.T.)
*†§Last of the Lone Wolf (A.T.)	Bert Lytell
*†§Lion and the Lamb, The (A.T.)
*†§Madonna of the Streets A. T.)
*†§Man From Hell's River (A.T.)
*†§Paris Nights (A. T.)	Barbara Stanwyck
†§Miracle Woman, The (A.T.)
*†§Rain or Shine (A. T.)	Joe Cook				July 26
*†§Road to Broadway, The
*†§Squealer, The (A. T.)
*†§Subway Express, The (A.T.)
*†§Sweethearts on Parade (A. T.)
*†§Tol'able David (A.T.)
*†§Woman Who Came Back, The (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†Alaska Knights	Krazy Kat Cartoon	May 22	1 reel	July 12
*†Autumn	Disney Cartoon	Feb. 13	1 reel
*†§Barnyard Concert	Mickey Mouse		1 reel	July 5
*†Cannibal Capers	Disney Cartoon	Mar. 13	1 reel
*†Cat's Meow, The	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Jan. 2	1 reel
*†§Continental Evening, A	Fay Marbe	Feb. 12	1 reel
*†Desert Sunk	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Mar. 27	1 reel
*†§Do It Now	Clark & Bergman	Jan. 20	1 reel
*†§Fiddlin' Around	Mickey Mouse		1 reel	June 21
*†§Firefighters	Mickey Mouse	June 11	1 reel
*†Galloping Fish	Disney Cartoon	May 8
*†Hawaiians		Apr. 9	1 reel
*§†Jazz Rhythm	Krazy Kat		1 reel	July 26
*†Marionettes	Tony Sarg	Mar. 12	1 reel
*†Old Flame, An	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Apr. 24	1 reel
*†§Radia-Tors	Utica Jubilee Singers	Feb. 26	1 reel
*†Slow Beau	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Feb. 27	1 reel
*†§Spookeasy	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Jan. 30	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Spike Speaks	Frank Moulan	Mar. 26	1 reel	Mar. 1
*†§Stage Door Knights	Buddy Doyle	Apr. 23	1 reel
*†§Stage Door Pest	Boyce Combe	Jan. 15	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Summer	Silly Symphony	Jan. 16	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Talking Screen Snapshots	Released twice a month		1 reel

EDUCATIONAL

SOUND SHORTS

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bitter Friends (A. T.)	Lambert-McPhail	Apr.	27....1609	18...
*†§Big Jewel Case, The (A.T.)	Lambert-Kelsey-Garvin	Feb.	23....1480	16...	Feb. 22
*†§Bulls and Bears (A.T.)	Pollard-Clyde-Beebe	Mar.	2....1838	20...	Feb. 22
*†§Bully Beef	Terry-toon	July	13....1 reel		July 12
*†§Camera Shy (A.T.)	Hamilton-Hiatt	Feb.	9....1480	16...	Feb. 22
*†§Campus Crushes (A.T.)	Clyde-Beebe-Stuart	June	15...1929	21...	June 28
*†Caviar	Terry-Toons	Feb.	23....659	7...	Feb. 22
*†§Chumps, The (A.T.)	Beebe-Clyde	July	6....1888	21...	July 12
*†§Codfish Balls	Terrytoon	June	15....578
*†§Dad Knows Best (A.T.)	Holmes-Bolton	Mar.	30....1840	20...	Apr. 12
*†§Drumming It In (A.T.)	McKee-Smalley	Jan.	26....1600	18...	Jan. 26
*†§Fat Wives for Thin (A.T.)	Beebe-Barraud-Clyde	May	25....1980	22...	May 31
*†§Fellow the Swallow (A. T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	Apr.	27....1686	19...	Apr. 26
*†§French Kisses (A.T.)	Collins-Boyd	June	15....1694	19...
*†§Goodby Legs (A.T.)	Pollard-Stuart	July	27....1961	22...	July 12
*†§Good Morning, Sheriff (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	May	25....1735	19...	June 14
*†§Hail the Princess (A.T.)	Boley-Collins	May	11....1573	17...
*†Hawaiian Pineapples	Terrytoon	1 reel			May 24
*†He Trumped Her Ace (A.T.)	Burke-Reebe	Mar.	23....1895	21...	Apr. 12
*†§Hello Television	Clyde-Christy	Aug.	17...
*†§Honeymoon Zeppelin (A. T.)	Beebe-Pollard	Apr.	13....1976	22...	Apr. 26
*†§Honk Your Horn (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	June	29....1716	19...	June 28
*†§Hot and Haw (A.T.)	Goodwin-Crane	Jan.	12....1528	17...	Jan. 11
*†Hot Turkey	Terry-Toon	May	4....604
*†§How's My Baby (A.T.)	Barnes-Collins-McPhail			1667...	19...
*†§Hungarian Goulash	Terry-Toons	June	29...
*†Indian Puddine	Terry-Toon	Apr.	6....576	6...	Apr. 26
*†§Kangaroo Steak	Terry-Toon	July	27...	1 reel
*†§Match Play (A.T.)	Hagen-Diegel	Mar.	16....2002	22...	Feb. 22
*†§Monkey Meat	Terry-Toon	Aug.	10...
*Museum of Art, A	Hodge-Podge	Feb.		1 reel
*†§Oh Darling (A.T.)	Dever-McPhail-Peck	Feb.	16....1565	17...	Feb. 1
*†§Peace and Harmony (A.T.)	Lambert-Collins-McPhail	May	18....1660	18...	May 10
*†§Polished Ivory (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	Mar.	16....1642	18...	Mar. 29
*†Rebels	Terry-Toons	Mar.	49....623	6...	Apr. 5
*†§Prize Puppies	Lloyd Hamilton	Aug.	3...
*†§Radio Kisses (A.T.)	Beebe-Duryea-Carewe	May	4....1891	21...	June 14
*†Roman Punch	Terry-Toon	Apr.	20....560	6...	Apr. 26
*†§Scotch (A.T.)	Clyde-Bevan-McPhail	Jan.	19....1961	22...	Jan. 4
*†Spanish Onions	Terry-Toon	Mar.	23....637
*†§Sugar Plum Papa (A.T.)	Clyde-Gribbons	Feb.	16....1932	21...	Feb. 1
*†§Swiss Cheese	Terrytown	June	1....517
*†§Trouble For Two (A.T.)	Raymond McKee	Mar.	9....1527	17...	Mar. 29
*†§Western Knight (A.T.)	Lambert-St. John-McPhail	Apr.	20....1661	20...	Apr. 5

FIRST NATIONAL

(Available sound-on-disc only)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel.	Length Date	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Back Pay (A.T.)	Corinne Griffith	June	1	5672	53...	June 7
*†§Bride of the Regiment (A.T.)	Segal-Pidgeon	June	22	7418	82...	May 24
*†§Dawn Patrol, The (A.T.)	Barthelmess-Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug.	10	not set		July 19
*†§Flirting Widow (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill	May	11	6664	74...	June 7
*†§Furies (A.T.)	Warner-Wilson	Mar.	18	6608	73...	Apr. 26
*†§In the Next Room (A.T.)	Jack Mulhall	Jan.	28	6336	70...	Apr. 12
*†§Lilies of Field (A.T.)	Corinne Griffith	Jan.	5	5979	67...	Dec. 21
*†§Loose Ankles (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr.-Young	Feb.	2	6190	68...	Mar. 8
*†§Murder Will Out (A.T.)	Mulhall-Lee	Apr.	6	6200	69...	Apr. 19
*†§Ne, Ne, Nanette (A. T.)	Claire-Gray	Feb.	16	9108	101...	Jan. 11
*†§Notorious Affair, A (A. T.)	Billie Dove	May	4	6218	69...	May 3
*†§Numbered Men (A.T.)	Nagel-Claire	Sept.	7		72...	June 7
*†§Other Tomorrow (A.T.)	Billie Dove	Feb.	9	5800	84...	Jan. 4
*†§Playing Around (A.T.)	White-Merris	Jan.	19	6003	88...	Apr. 5
*†§Road to Paradise, The (A.T.)	Young-Mulhall	July	20	6935	66...	July 5
*†§Sally (A.T.)	Marilyn Miller	Jan.	12	9277	103...	Dec. 28
*†§Show Girl in Hollywood (A.T.)	White-Mulhall	Apr.	20	7213	80...	May 3
*†§Son of the Gods (A.T.)	Rich. Barthelmess	Mar.	9	8344	92...	Feb. 8
*†§Song of the Flame (A.T.)	Gray-Claire	May	6	6501	72...	May 3
*†§Spring Is Here (A.T.)	Claire-Gray	Apr.	13	6386	71...	Apr. 26
*†§Strictly Modern (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill	Mar.	2	5632	63...	May 10
*†§Sweethearts and Wives (A.T.)	Billie Dove	June	15	7000	77...	June 7
*†§Sweet Mama (A.T.)	Alice White	July	6	5012	55...	July 19
*†§Top Speed (A.T.)	Brown-Claire-Whiting	Aug.	24			June 21
*†§Way of All Men, The (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr.-Revier	Sept.	7	6032	70...	July 26

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Adios (A. T.)	Richard Barthelmess
*†§Bad Man, The (A.T.)	Huston-Revier
*†§Bright Lights (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill			July 5
*†§Broadminded (A.T.)	Kohler-Rennie
*†§Broken Dishes (A.T.)	Yeung-Withers
*†§Call of the West
*†§Captain Blood (A.T.)
*†§College Lovers (A.T.)
*†§Deep Purple (A.T.)
*†§Devil's Playground, The (A.T.)	Billie Dove
*§†Father's Son (A.T.)
*†§Forever After (A.T.)	Yeung-Fairbanks, Jr.
*†§Girl of Golden West (A.T.)	Harding-Rennie			75... June 21
*†§Going Wild (A.T.)	Joe E. Brown
*†§Gorilla, The (A.T.)	Joe Frisco
*†§Heart of the North (A.T.)	Loretta Young
*†§Honor of the Family, The (A.T.)	Walter Huston
*†§Hot Heiress, The (A. T.)
*†§Kismet (A.T.)	Otis Skinner
*†§Lady Who Dared, The (A.T.)	Dove-Tearle
*†§Little Caesar (A.T.)	Edw. G. Robinson
*†§Louisiana Nights (A. T.)
*†§Mother's Cry (A. T.)
*†§One Night at Susie's (A.T.)	Dove-Fairbanks, Jr.
*†§Other men's Wives (A.T.)	Deve-Rathbona-Thompson
*†§Queen of Main Street (A.T.)	Lee-Lyon
*†§Reckless Hour (A.T.)
*†§Right of Way, The (A.T.)	Nagel-Young
*†§Scarlet Pages (A.T.)	Ferguson-Nixon
*†§Sunny (A.T.)	Marilyn Miller
*†§Sweethearts (A.T.)	Miller-Pidgeon
*†§Toast of the Legion A.(T.)	Clare-Pidgeon
†§Truth About Youth (A.T.)	Young-Tearle
*†§Widow from Chicago (A.T.)	Alice White
*†§Woman Hungry (A.T.)	Lee-Kohler-Blackmer

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

FOX FILMS

(After August all releases sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Are You There? (A.T.)	Lillie-Gerrick	Aug. 31
*†§Arizona Kid, The (A.T.)	Baxter-Maris	May 23	7450	83	May 17
*†§Big Party, The (A.T.)	Lee-Carol-Albertson	Feb. 25	6482	72	Mar. 1
*†§Born Reckless (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe	June 6	7400	82	May 10
§†*Camee Kirby (A.T.)	Terris-Murray	Jan. 12	6120	68	Dec. 7
*†§City Girl (P.T.)	Farrell-Duncan	Feb. 16	6171	69	Apr. 19
*†§Common Clay (A.T.)	Bennett-Ayers-Marshall	Aug. 17	7961	88	June 21
*†§Crazy That Way (A. T.)	Bennett-MacKenna	Mar. 30	5828	64	Mar. 29
*†§Double Cross Roads (A. T.)	Ames-Lee	Apr. 20	5800	64	Mar. 29
*†§Fox Movietone Follies of 1930 (A.T.)	Special Cast	May 4	7422	84	May 10
*†§Good Intentions (A.T.)	Lowe-Churchill	June 29	6340	70	June 14
*†§Golden Call (A.T.)	Carol-Mulhall-Brendel	Mar. 16	6552	73	Feb. 22
*†§Heppy Days (A.T.)	Special cast	Mar. 2	7526	84	Jan. 18
*†§Harmony at Home (A.T.)	Collier, Sr.-Churchill	Jan. 19	6395	70	Dec. 14
*†§High Society Blues (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell	Mar. 30	6750	75	Mar.
*†§Last of the Duanes, The (A.T.)	D'Brien-Loy-Browne	Aug. 31			July 12
*†§Let's Go Places (A.T.)	Wegstaff-Lane	Feb. 2	6745	72	Jan. 18
*†§Lone Star Ranger (A.T.)	George O'Brien	Jan. 5	5940	66	Jan. 25
*†§Men Trouble (A.T.)	Sills-Mackaill	Aug. 24
*†§Men Without Women (A. T.)	McKenna-MacOmald	Feb. 9	7216	81	Jan. 4
*†§Not Dameged (A.T.)	Moran-Byron-Ames	May 25	6500	72	June 14
*†§One Mad Kiss (A.T.)	Don Jose Mojica	July 13	5766	64	July 26
*†§On the Level (A.T.)	Victor McLaglen	Mar. 23	5600	62	June 14
*†§On Your Back (A.T.)	Rich-Werner-Hackett	Sept. 14	6600	70	July 26
*†§Rough Romance (A.T.)	O'Brien-Chandler	June 15	4800	60	June 21
*†§Sky Hawk (A.T.)	Garrick-Chandler	Jan. 26	6925	76	Dec. 14
*†§So This Is London (A.T.)	Will Rogers	June 8	8300	92	May 31
*†§Song D' My Heart (A.T.)	John McCormeek	Sept. 7	8243	92	Mar. 15
*†§Such Men Are Dangerous (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Mask of Love" in Feb. 1, 1930, issue)	Baxter-Dwen	Mer. 9	7586	82	Feb. 1
*†§Temple Tower (A.T.)	McKenna-Dey	Apr. 13	5200	58	May 17
*†§3 Sisters (A.T.)	Dresser-Patricola	Apr. 20	6442	71	Apr. 28
*†§Wild Company (A.T.)	Albertson-Warner-Lynn	July 5	7200	80	July 19
*†§Women Everywhere (A.T.)	Murray-Dorsay-Kellard	June 1	7500	83	June 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Alone With You (A.T.)	Gaynor-Gerrick
*†§Barcelone (A.T.)	Gaynor-Bogart
*†§Big Trail, The (A.T.)	Wayne-Churchill-Marshall
*†§Blondie (A.T.)	Moran-Bogart-Ames
*†§Broedminded (A.T.)	Victor McLaglen
*†§By the Way, Bill (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Cheer Up and Smile (A.T.)	Lee-Leke-Beclanova
*†§Cisco Kid, The (A. T.)	Lowe-Baxter
*†§Connecticut Yenkee, A (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Devil With Women (A.T.)	Farrell-Teylor
*†§Fair Werning (A.T.)	O'Brien-Churchill
*†§Girl Downstairs (A.T.)	D'Brien-Moran
*†§Girls Demand Exeltement (A.T.)	Brendel-White-Compton
*†§Going Nowhere (A.T.)	Brendel-White-Compton
*†§Heart Breaker, The (A.T.)	Michael Bartlett
*†§Her Kind of Man (A.T.)	Murray-Huntington
*†§Hot Numbers (A.T.)	Lee-Compton-Corcoran
*†§If I was Alone With You (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§Just Imagine (A.T.)	Brendel-Linow
*†§Living for Love (A.T.)	Sills-Mackaill
*†§Luxury (A.T.)	Garrick-Huntington
*†§Mad Singer, The (A.T.)
*†§Man Who Came Back, The (A.T.)	Farrell-Huntington
*†§Men on Call (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe
*†§Movietone Follies of 1931 (A.T.)	Special Cast
*†§No Favors Asked (A.T.)	Wayne-Lee-Francis
*†§Oh, For a Man! (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§One Night in Paris (A.T.)	Gaynor-MacKenna
*†§On the Make (A.T.)	McLaglen-Dorsay	Not Set	Not Set	July 26
*†§Oregon Trail, The (A. T.)
*†§Painted Woman, The (A.T.)	McLaglen-Dorsay
*†§Play Called Life (A.T.)	Moran-MacKenna
*†§Playmates (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§Princess and the Plumber, The (A.T.)	Farrell-D'Sullivan
*†§Red Sky, The (A.T.)	J. Harold Murray
*†§Renegedes, The (A.T.)	Baxter-MacKenna-Harris
*†§Scotland Yard (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe
*†§Sea Wolf (A. T.)	Sills-Keith-MacKenna
*†§See America First (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Sez You, Sez Me (A.T.)	McLaglen-Maris-Bogart
*†§She's My Girl (A.T.)	Farrell-Compton
*†§She Wears the Pants (A.T.)	Dorsey-MacKenna
*†§Soup to Nuts (A.T.)	Healy-Winniger
*†§Spider, The (A.T.)	Baxter-Churchill
*†§Spy, The (A.T.)	Sills-Muni-Churchill
*†§This Modern World (A.T.)	Baxter-Alcaniz
*†§Time Out (A.T.)
*†§Up the River (A.T.)	Huntington-Luce-Bogart
*†§White Flame, The (A.T.)	Paul Page
*†§Woman Control (A.T.)	Murray-Maris-Luce
*†§Women of All Nations (A.T.)	McLaglen-Lowe
*†§Wyoming Wonder (A.T.)	Wayne-Clarke-Compton
*†§Young Sinners (A.T.)	Moran-Albertson

INTERNATIONAL PHOTOPLAY DISTRIBUTORS

FEATURES

Title	Star		Length Reels.	Mins.	Reviewed
*†After the Verdict	Olga Tschechowe	Jan.	7	76
*†§Crimson Circle, The	Stewart Reme	Feb.	7	79	Jan. 11
*†§Dark Red Roses (A.T.)	Rome-Doble	Mar.	8	67	Mar. 8

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Length Reels.	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Acl-Dental Treatment		2	17
*†§Abbie Mitchell & Sizzle & Blake	Song Program	1	8
†Aliez-Op	Marionettes	1	8
*†§Clyde Doerr & Saxophone Sextet	Jazz Program	1	8
*†§Feed the Brute (A.T.)	Animal Novelty	1	8
*†§Hoak (A.T.)	Frawley & Smith	1	9
*†§Justice (A.T.)	Special Cast	2	17
*†§Little Journeys in Songland	Song Series	1	8
*†§Miser, The (A.T.)	Bransby Williams	1	8
*†§Mr. Smith Wakes Up (A.T.)	Marriott-Gott	2	18
*†§Night in Dixie, A (A.T.)	Mitchell-Hudgins	2	15
*†§Nora Blaney No. 1	Song Program	1	9
*†§Nora Blaney No. 2	Song Program	1	9
*†§Operatic	Marionettes	1	9
*†§Radio Franks & 4 Bachelors	Song Program	1	8
*†§Teddy Brown & His Band	Jazz Program	1	9
*†§Unwritten Law, The (A.T.)	Rosalind Fuller	Feb. 1	3	30
*†§When the Clock Struck Twelve (A.T.)	Niles Welch		2	18

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Anne Christie (A.T.)	Grete Gerbo	Feb. 21	6700	74	Dec. 21
*†§Big House, The (A.T.)	Beery-Morris-Hyams	June 21	7901	88	June 28
*†§Big Shot, The (A.T.)	Keaton-Eilers	Aug. 30		75	July 26
*†§Bishop Murder Case (A.T.)	Basil Rathbone	Jan. 3	7961	88	Nov. 16
*†§Caught Short (A.T.)	Dressler-Moran-Pege	May 10	6873	75	May 10
*†§Chasing Rainbows (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Road Show" in Nov. 2, 1929, issue)	Love-King	Jan. 10	8100	90	Nov. 2
*†§Children of Pleasure (A. T.)	Gray-Rubin-Johnson	Apr. 12	6400
*†§Devil-May-Care (A.T.)	Ramon Novarro	Feb. 7	8782	98	Dec. 28
*†§Divorcee, The (A.T.)	Shearer-Morris	Apr. 26	7533	84	Apr. 19
*†§Free and Easy (A.T.)	Buster Keaton	Mer. 22	8413	93	Feb. 22
*†§Floredora Girl, The (A.T.)	Davies-Grey	May 31	7260	81	June 7
*†§Girl Said No, The (A.T.)	Haines-Hyems	Mar. 15	8382	93	Feb. 1
*†§Good News (A.T.)	Special Cast	Not Set	8100	80	Apr. 12
*†§In Gey Medrid (A.T.)	Ramon Noverro	May 17	7654	85	June 7
*†§Lady of Scandal (A.T.)	Chatterton-Forbes-Rathbone	May 24	6858	68	May 31
*†§Lady to Love (A.T.)	Vilma Banky	Mer. 8	8142	90	Feb. 8
*†§Let Us Be Gey (A.T.)	Shearer-La Roque	Aug. 9		70	May 3
*†§Lord Byron of B'way (A.T.)	Terry-Kaley-Edwards	Jan. 28	7200	80	Jen. 25
*†§Montane Moon (A.T.)	Joan Crawford	Mer. 29	7917	88	Feb. 8
*†§Not So Dumb (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Dulcy" in Nov. 2, 1929, issue	Devies-Nugent	Jan. 17	7650	85	Nov. 2
*†§Our Blushing Brides (A.T.)	Crewford-Pege-Sebestian	July 11	9138	102	July 19
*†§Redemption (A.T.)	Gilbert-Nagel-Adoree	Apr. 5	6019	67	May 10
*†§Rogue Song, The (A.T.)	Lawrence Tibbett	May 10	9372	104	Feb. 1
*†§Sea Bet, The (A.T.)	Bickford-Miljan-Torres	June 7	6570	73	May 3
*†§Ship From Shanghai, The (A.T.)	Nagel-Johnson-Wolheim	Jan. 31	6225	69	Jan. 18
*†§Singer of Seville The (A.T.)	Navarro-Jordan-Adoree	Aug. 24	9179	100	July 12
*†§Sins of the Children (A.T.) (Reviewed under the title of "Richest Men" in the World in July 5 issue	Mann-Nugent	June 27	7775	86	July 5
*†§Strictly Unconventional (A.T.)	Stone-Cavenagh-Owen	May 3	4970	55	Feb. 22
*†§This Med World (A.T.) (Reviewed under the title of "The Circle" in Feb. 22, 1929, issue	Rethbone-Johnson	Apr. 19	6100	68	Apr. 19
*†§They Learned About Women (A.T.)	Van and Schenck	Jan. 31	8773	97	Dec. 14
*†§Unholy 3, The	Cheney-Lee-Linow	Aug. 2		70	May 24
*†§Woman Recket (A.T.)	Moore-Sweet	Jan. 24	6387	71	Dec. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Bellyhoo (A.T.)
*†§Battle of the Ladies (A. T.)
*†§Billy the Kid (A.T.)	John Meck Brown
*†§Bugle Sounds, The (A.T.)	Lon Caney
*†§Crisis, The (A.T.)
*†§Dance, Fools, Dance (A.T.)
*†§Dark Star, The (A.T.)	Merle Dressler
*†§Daybreek (A.T.)	Ramon Noverro
*†§Dixie (A.T.)
*†§Doing That Thing (A.T.)
*†§Five D'Clock Girl, The (A.T.)	Merion Davies
*†§Greet Day, The (A.T.)	Joan Crawford
*†§Greet Meedow, The (A.T.)
*†§Her Fortune (A.T.)	Joan Crawford
*†§Jenny Lind (A.T.)	Grace Moore
*†§Like Kelly Can (A.T.)	Montgomery-Jardon
*†§Madame Satan (A.T.)	Reginald Denny
*†§March of Time (Tent.)	Weber & Fields
*†§Merry Widow, The (A.T.)
*†§Monsieur Le Fox (A.T.)	Barbara Leonard
*†§Naughty Marietta (A.T.)
*†§New Moon, The (A.T.)	Lawrence Tibbett
*†§Passion Flower, The (A.T.)
*†§Razzle-Dazzle (A.T.)	Dressler-Moren
*†§Red Dust (A.T.)	Greta Garbo
*†§Remote Control (A.T.)	Haines-Goran
*†§Revue of Revues (A.T.)	King-Love-Haines-Crawford
*†§Romance (A.T.)	Greta Garbo	July 26		July 26
*†§Rosalie (A.T.)	Marion Davies
*†§Song of India (A.T.)
*†§Tampico (A.T.)
*†§Those Three French Girls (A.T.)
*†§Trader Horn (A.T.)	Harry Carey
*†§War Babies (A.T.)	Buster Keaton
*†§War Nurse (A.T.)
*†§Way for a Sailor (A.T.)	John Gilbert
*†§Way Out West (A.T.)	Haines-Hyams
*†§World's Illusion, The (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§All Teed Up	Charley Chase	Apr. 19	1895	Mar. 20
*†§Baby Follies (A. T.)	Revue	Apr. 12
*†§Bear Shooters	Our Gang	May 17	1881	Feb. 15
*†§Below Zero (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	Apr. 28	1889
*†§Big Kick, The	Harry Langdon	Mar. 29	1827	Jan. 25
*†§Biltmore Trio		Jan. 25	853
*†§Blotto	Laurel-Hardy	Feb. 8	2654	Feb. 15
*†§Brats	Laurel-Hardy	Apr. 27	1928	Apr. 5
*†§Clock Shop, The	Revue	May 10	2 reels
*†§College Hounds	Dogs		2 reels	Mar. 29
*†§College Rameas	Biltmore Trio	Jan. 25	853
*†§Doerr, Clyde		Jan. 18	572
*†§Fast Work (A. T.)	Charlie Chase	June 28	1866	May 24
*†§Fifty Million Husbands	Charlie Chase	May 24	1846	Mar. 29
†§Fighting Parson	Langdon	Feb. 22	1877	Dec. 14
*†§First Seven Years, The	Our Gang	Mar. 1	1843	Apr. 5
*Flower Garden	Revue	Jan. 18
*†§Gems of M-G-M (A.T.)
*†§Haywire (A.T.)	Laurel-Hardy	May 29	1775	June 7
*†§Head Guy, The	Harry Langdon	Jan 11	1878
*†§Hog Wild (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	May 31	1775
*†§Hot Dog	Dogs		2 reels	Feb. 15
*†§Kiddies Revue (A. T.)		Mar. 15
*†§King, The	Harry Langdon	June 14	1787
*†§Manhattan Serenade (A. T.)	Hackett-Doran
*†§Night Owls (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	Jan. 4	1895	Dec. 14
*†§Old Man Trouble (A. T.)	Davidson-Nichels		2 reels
*†§Real McCoy (A. T.)	Chese	Feb. 1	1899	Dec. 14
*†§Shivering Shakespeare	Our Gang	Jan. 25	1870
*†§Shrimp, The	Harry Langdon	May 3	1738	Feb. 15
*†§Song Writer's Revue, The (A.T.)
*†§Tough Winter, A	Our Gang	June 21	1880	Mar. 29
*†§Van & Schenck		Jan. 11	799
*†§Vodeville (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy		2 reels
*†§When the Wind Blews	Our Gang	Apr. 5	1795
*†§Whispering Whoopee	Charlie Chase	Mar. 8	1907	Mar. 29

PARAMOUNT

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel.	Length Date	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Anybody's War (A.T.)	Moran & Meck	Aug.	2	6750	75	Apr. 5
*†§Appleseauce (A.T.)	Helen Morgan	Jan.	4	7068	78	Dec. 12
*†§Behind the Make-Up (A.T.)	Skelly-Wray-Powell	Jan.	11	6364	71	Oct. 28
*†§Benson Murder Case The (A.T.)	Powell-Paliette-Calvert	Apr.	12	5794	65	Apr. 19
*†§Big Pond, The (A.T.)	Chevelier-Colbert	May	3	6984	78	May 17
*†§Border Legion, The (A.T.)	Arlen-Wray-Holt	June	28	6088	68	July 5
*†§Burning Up (A.T.)	Arlen-Brian	Feb.	1	5251	58	Feb. 15
*†§Civilian Clothes (A.T.)	Cooper-Collyer	July	12
*†§Dangerous Dan McGrew (A.T.)	Helen Kane	July	5	6571	71	June 28

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.*

*†§Dangerous Paradise (A.T.)	Carroll-Arlen	Feb.	22	5244	58	Feb.	22
*†§Devil's Holiday, The (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll	May	24	6743	75	May	17
*†§Follow Thru (A.T.)	Rogers-Carroll	July	26	Not set		May	24
*†§For the Defense (A.T.)	William Powell	July	26	5670	63	July	12
*†§Grumpy (A. T.)	Cyril Maude	Aug.	23	5940	66	July	12
*†§Honey (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll	Mar.	29	6701	74	Feb.	22
*†§Kibitzer (A.T.) (D.)	Green-Brian-Hamilton	Jan.	11	7273	81	Aug.	31
*†§Ladies Love Brutes (A.T.)	George Bancroft	Apr.	26	7177	70	Apr.	19
*†§Let's Go Native (A.T.)	MacDonald-Oakie	Aug.	16	6560	63	May	31
*†§Light of Western Stars (A.T.)	Arlen-Brian-Green	Apr.	19	6312	70	May	31
*†§Love Among the Millionaires (A.T.)	Bow-Smith	July	19	6190	71	July	12
*†§Love Parade (A.T.) (D)	Chevalier-MacDonald	Jan.	18	1006	111	Oct.	19
†§Man From Wyoming (A.T.)	Cooper-Collier	July	12	6120	68	July	12
*†§Manslaughter (A. T.)	Colbert-March	Aug.	9			July	26
*†§Men Are Like That (A.T.)	Hal Skelly	Mar.	22	5500	61	Nov.	23
*†§Only the Brave (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	Mar.	8	6024	67	Mar.	15
*†§Paramount on Parade (A.T.)	Special Cast	Apr.	26	9125	90	Apr.	5
*†§Return of Fu Manchu (A.T.)	Diand-Arthur	May	17	6586	73	May	10
*†§Roadhouse Nights (A.T.)	Morgan-Ruggles	Feb.	15	6700	74	Dec.	28
Reviewed as "River Inn" In Dec. 28, 1929 Issue
*†§Safety In Numbers (A.T.)	Charles Rogers	June	7	7074	79	June	7
*†§Sap From Syracuse (A.T.)	Jack Oakie	July	26			Aug.	2
*†§Sarah and Son (A.T.)	Ruth Chatterton	Mar.	22	6868	77	Mar.	22
*†§Seven Days' Leave (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	Jan.	25	8100	68	Nov.	23
Reviewed under the title of "Medal" In Nov. 23, 1929 Issue
*†§Shadow of the Law (A.T.)	Powell-Schilling	June	14	6392	68	June	7
*†§Silent Enemy, The	Indian Cast	Aug.	2	8080	88	May	17
*†§Slightly Scarlet (A.T.)	Evelyn Brent	Feb.	22	6402	71	Jan.	25
*†§Social Lion, The (A.T.)	Dakle-Brian	June	7	5403	60	June	21
*†§Street of Chance (A.T.)	Wm. Powell	Feb.	8	7023	90	Dec.	28
*†§Texan, The (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	May	10	7142	68	May	17
*†§True to the Navy (A.T.)	Clara Bow	May	31	6396	71	May	17
*†§Vagabond King, The (A.T.)	King-MacDonald-Oland	Apr.	19	9412	105	Jan.	11
*With Byrd at the South Pole		June	28	7411	82	June	28
*†§Young Eagles (A.T.)	Charles Rogers	Apr.	5	6405	71	Mar.	22
*†§Young Man of Manhattan (A.T.)	Colbert-Ruggles	May	17	7621	85	Apr.	26

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Animal Crackers (A .T.)	Marx Brothers
*†§Backstage Blues (A. T.)	Moran & Mack
*†§Better Wife, The (A. T.)	Chatterton-Brook	Aug. 30
*†§Blue Angel, The (A.T.)	Emil Jannings
*†§Business is Pleasure (A.T.)
*†§Cave Man, The (A.T.)	Geo. Bancroft
*†§Dancing Mothers (A. T.)
*†§Feet First (A. T.)	Harold Lloyd
*†§Fighting Caravan, The(A.T.)	Cooper-Torrence
*†§Flesh of Eve (A. T.)	Nancy Carroll
*†§General, The (A. T.)	Huston-Francis
*†§Heads Up (A. T.)	Rogers-Kane
*†§Honeymoon Lane (A. T.)	Eddie Dowling
*†§Huckleberry Finn (A. T.)	Junior Coghlan
*†§Kid Boots (A. T.)	Jack Oakie
*†§Ladies' Man (A. T.)	William Powell
*†§Last Company, The (A.T.)	Veidt-Evans
*†§Laughing Lady, The (A.T.)	Chatterton-Brook
*†§Laughter (A. T.)	Nancy Carroll
*†§Leave It to Lester (A.T.)
*†§Little Cafe, The (A. T.)	Maurice Chevalier
*†§Love Waltz, The (A.T.)	Harvey-Batten
*†§Man From Wyoming	Gary Cooper	July 12	6120	68 July 12
*†§Merton of the Talkies (A.T.)	Jack Oakie
*†§Melinoff (A.T.)	Charles Rogers
*†§Morocco (A. T.)	Cooper-Dietrich
*†§Monte Carlo (A. T.)	MacDonald-Buchanan
*†§New Morals (A. T.)	Chatterton-Brook
*†§Queen High (A. T.)	Ruggles-Rogers-Morgan	Aug. 23		July 26
*†§Right to Love, The (A.T.)	Ruth Chatterton
*†§Rodeo Romance (A. T.)	Arlen-Carroll
*†§Rose of the Rancho (A. T.)	Gary Cooper
*†§Royal Family, The (A. T.)	Frederic March
*†§Scarab Murder Case (A. T.)	William Powell
*†§Sea God, The (A. T.)	Arlen-Wray
*†§Skippy (A. T.)
*†§Spoiler, The (A. T.)	Gary Cooper
*†§Station S-E-X (A. T.)	Clara Bow
*†§Tom Sawyer (A. T.)	Jackie Coogan
*§§Youth (A. T.)	Hersholt-Wray

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
†§Accidents Will Happen (A.T.)	Smith and Dale	Aug. 2	2 reels
*†§Actions Speak Louder Than Words	Wm. & Joe Mandel	May 3	1 reel
*†§Artist's Reverie, The (A.T.)	Ash-Washington		1 reel	June 14
*†§At Home (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell		1 reel
*†§Ballet Class, The (A.T.)	De Mille-Albertieri	May 31	1 reel
*†§Barnacle Bill, the Sailor (A.T.)	Talkartoon		1 reel
*†§Bearded Lady (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Mar. 1	1794
*†§Bedelia	Screen Song	Jan. 4	604
*†§Belle of the Night		Feb. 15	2 reels
*†§Chinatown Fantasy, A	Miller-Dova	July 5	1 reel	May 24
*†§Chords of Memory		May 10	1 reel
*†§Cockeyed News (A. T.)	Eddie Cantor
*†§Come Take a Trip In My Airship	Screen Song	May 24	1 reel
*†§Confounded Interest (A.T.)	Haymond & Caverly
*†§Dance, You Singers (A.T.)	Puck & White
*†§Deep "C" Melodies	Frances Williams	Jan. 25	901
*†§Desperate Sam	Bert Green	Mar. 29	1832
*†§Dizzy Dishes (A.T.)	Talkartoon	Aug. 9	1 reel
*†§Don't Believe It (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb. 8	1872	Mar. 22
*†§Down With Husbands	Arthur-Roach	Mar. 8	1660	Mar. 22
*†§Dresden Dolls (A. T.)	Gamby	July 26	1 reel
*†§Duke of Dublin (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb. 1	1850
*†§Family Next Door, The	Charles Ruggles	Jan. 11	1381	Feb. 15
*†§Fatal Card, The (A.T.)	W. & E. Howard
*†§Feelin' Blue (A.T.)	Ash-Washington		1 reel
*†§Firebugs	Talkartoon	May 10	704	Apr. 19
*†§Fit to Be Tied (A.T.)	Burns & Allen	Aug. 2	1 reel
*†§For Love or Money (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Jan. 4	1870
*†§Food for Thought (A.T.)	Allen & Canfield		1 reel
*†§Getting a Break	Block & Sully	May 17	1 reel	June 28
*†§Getting e Ticket	Eddie Cantor	Mar. 22	948	no
*†§Glow Worm, The (A.T.)	Screen Song	Aug. 23	564	July 19
*†§Grand Uproar (A.T.)	Talkartoon		1 reel
*†§Helping Hand, The (A.T.)	Solly Ward		1 reel
*†§He Was Her Man (A.T.)	Gilda Gray		2 reels
*†§His Honor, the Mayor	Christie Comedy	Mar. 22	1665	July 5
*†§Hot Dog	Talkartoon	Mar. 29	1 reel
*†§Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight, A (A.T.)	Screen Song	Aug. 2	1 reel	July 5
*†§I Came First	Herman Timberg	Apr 12	814
*†§I'm a Wild Woman (A.T.)	Boydell-Ash		1 reel
*†§I'm Afraid to Come Hsme In the Dark	Screen Song	Feb 1	651	Jan. 25
*†§I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles	Screen Song	Mar. 15	1 reel
*†§In the Good Old Summertime (A.T.)	Screen Song	June 7	1 reel
*†§In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree	Screen Song	Jan. 18	752
*†§Insurance	Eddie Cantor		1 reel	June 28
*†§Introduction of Mrs. Gibbs (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell
*†§Jazz Preferred (A.T.)	Zelaya		1 reel	July 5
*†§Kandy Kabaret (A.T.)	Children's Ballet		1 reel	June 28
*†§La Paloma	Screen Song	Apr. 12	574
*†§La Schnapps, Inc. (A.T.)	Smith & Dale
*†§Lady, You Slay Me (A.T.)	Perkins-Hillpot		1 reel
*†§Let Me Explain (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Jan. 4	1870
*†§Lovers' Lane (A.T.)	Arthur & Morton Havel
*†§Many Moons (A.T.)	Bruce Novelty	Aug. 9	1 reel
*†§Meek Mr. Meek, The (A.T.)	Jimmy Barry		1 reel
*†§Million Me's, A	Lee Morse	Apr. 26	964	Jan. 25
*†§Moon Bride's Wedding, The	U. S. Indian Band	Feb. 22	967
*†§Mountain Melodies		Jan. 11	994
*†§My Gal Sal (A.T.)	Screen Song		1 reel
*†§Neighborly Neighbors (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell	Aug. 16	2 reels
*†§New Rhythm	Azpiazer & Band			July 26
*†§Ole Man Whoopee (A.T.)	Art Frank		1 reel	July 26
*†§Paramount Acts			1 reel
*†§Paramount Comedies			2 reels
*†§Paramount Pictorials
*†§Paramount Screen Songs			1 reel
*§†Paramount Sound News			1 reel
*†§Paramount Talkartoons			1 reel
*†§Prisoner's Song, The	Screen Song	Mar. 1	738
*†§Radio Riot	Talkartoon	Feb. 15	737	Feb. 15
*†§Resolutions (A.T.)	Billy House	Aug. 30	2 reels
*†§Rube, The	Jimmy Barry	June 21	1 reel
*†§Salt Water Ballads		Mar. 8	967
*†§Scrappily Married (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb. 22	1634	Jan. 18
*†§Schipa, Tito		May 24	1 reel
*†§So This Is Paris Green	Fazenda	Jan. 18	1747	Jan. 25
*†§Story Book Parade, The (A.T.)	Children's Ballet		1 reel
*†§Stronger Sex, The (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Mar. 15	1760
*†§Sunset Hunter, The		June 24	1 reel
*†§Tide Rises, The		June 14	1 reel
*†§Toys	Ormonde Sisters	June 28	1 reel
*†§Twentieth Amendment, The (A.T.)			2 reels
*†§Voices of Lonely Men		Apr. 19	1 reel
*†§Wanderlust	Bruce Scenic	Apr. 5	1 reel	Feb. 15
*†§Wee Bit O' Scotch		Feb. 8	1022
*†§Wise Flies (A.T.)	Talkarton	July 19	1 reel
*†§Yes, We Have No Bananas	Screen Song	Apr. 26	1 reel	May 24

PATHE

FEATURES

Title	Star	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bachelor's Secret, A (A.T.)(F)	Alan Hale
*†§Beyond Victory (A.T.)	Boyd-Collyer	July 13
*†§Big Shot, The (A. T.) (F)
*†§Clothes (A. T.) (F)	Constance Bennett	May 4
*†§Crashing Through (A. T.)(F)	Wm. Boyd	June 8
*†§Grand Parade (A.T.)(D & F)	Twelvetrees-Scott	Feb. 2	7607	84 Nov. 15
*†§Hot and Bothered (A.T.) (F)	Eddie Quillan	Aug. 24
*†§Officer O'Brien (A.T.) (F)	William Boyd	Feb. 15	6740	73 Nov. 30
*†§Negligee (A. T.) (F)	Ina Claire	May 25
*†§Painted Desert (A. T.) (F)	William Boyd
*†§Parachute (A. T.) (F)	Armstrong-Lombard	July 19
*†§Pardon My Gun (A.T.)	Starr-Duryea	June 29	5654	63 July 5
*†§Play Boy (A. T.) (F)	Eddie Quillan
*†§Saratoga (A.T.) (F)	Constance Bennett	July 5
*†§Swing High (A.T.)	Twelvetrees-Scott	June 18	7500	75 May 3
*†§Treasure Girl (A. T.) (F)		Aug. 3

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Adam and Eve (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§All the Way (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§Greater Love, The (A.T.)	Ann Harding
*†§Her Man (A.T.)	Helen Twelvetrees
*†§Holiday (A.T.)	Harding-Astor-Horton	Not Set	8870	97 June 14
*†§In Deep (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§I Take This Woman (A.T.)	Harry Bannister
*†§Last Frontier, The(A .T.)	William Boyd
*†§Lazy Lady (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§Looking for Trouble (A.T.)	Eddie Quillan
*†§Night Work (A. T.)	Eddie Quillan
*†§North of the Yukon (A.T.)	William Boyd
*†§Price of a Party, The (A.T.)	Helen Twelvetrees
*†§Rawhide (A.T.)	William Boyd
*†§Romance Harbor (A.T.)
*†§Siren Song, The (A.T.)	Mary Lewis
*†§Taking the Rap (A.T.)	Robert Armstrong
*†§This Marriage Business (A.T.)
*†§Up and At' Em (A. T.)(F)
*†§War and Woman (A. T.)(F)	Boyd-Harding-Armstrong
*†§Woman Afraid, A (A.T.)(F)

SOUND SHORTS

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

(Note: Pathe does not list running time on Shorts. The approximate running time of reels in the important series, however, follow:

2 reel comedies	20 min.
Pathe Sound News	10 min.
Pathe Silent News	10 min.
Pathe Audio Review	11 min.
Pathe Review	11 min.
Aesop's Fables	8 min.
Grantland Rice Sportlights	10 min.
Talking Topics of the Day	7 min.

• • •

Title	Star	Rel Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§All Stuck Up (A.T.)	McNaughton-Knapp	Jan. 19	2 reels	Feb. 1
*†§America or Bust (A.T.)	Daphne Pollard		2 reels	June 21
*†§Beauty Spot, The (A.T.)	Dawson-Carney	Mar. 30	2 reels	Mar. 22
*†§Big Hearted (A.T.)	Harry Gribbon		2 reels	June 28
*†§Big Top Champions (A.T.)	Sportlight	Mar. 23	1 reel
*†§Bows and Arrows	Sportlight	Jan. 12	1 reel	Jan. 11
*†§Pugville Romance (A.T.)	Aesop Fables		1 reel	June 21
*†§Campus Favorites (A. T.)			1 reel	July 5
*†§Carnival Revue (A. T.)	Hiatt-Hughes		2 reels	July 19
*†§Champion Makers (A.T.)	Sportlight		1 reel	June 21
*†§Child Life of India (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series		1 reel	July 12
*†§Chills and Fever (A.T.)	Shean-Knapp	Apr. 27	2 reels
*†§Clothes Make the Man (A.T.)		Feb. 16	2 reels
*†§Cover Charge (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Feb. 29	1 reel	Feb. 15
*†§Crosby's Corners (A.T.)	Reg. Merville	Feb. 23	2 reels	Feb. 15
*†§Darktown Follies (A.T.)	Buck & Bubbles	Mar. 2	2 reels	Feb. 22
*§†Deep South (A. T.)	Song Sketch	Apr. 20	1 reel	June 28
*†§Dixie Days (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Mar. 30	1 reel
*†§Dogging It (A.T.)	Sportlight	Mar. 9	1 reel	Mar. 15
*†§Doing Phil e Favor (A. T.)	Mackenzie Ward	Feb. 16	2 reels	Feb. 8
*†§Drums of Fear (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series		1 reel	June 28
*†§Fairway Favorites (A.T.)	Sportlight	May 4	1 reel
*†§Feline Fighter (A.T.)	Sportlight	Feb. 9	1 reel	Feb. 8
*†§Fifty Miles from Broadway (A.T.)	Watson-Merville	Mar. 16	2 reels
*†§Fish, Fowl & Fun (A.T.)	Sportlight	Apr. 20	1 reel
*†§Foolish Follies (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	Mar. 16	1 reel	Mar. 8
*†§Glacier's Secret, The (A. T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series	May 19	1 reel	May 31
*†§Golden Pagoda, The (A.T.)	Vagabond Adventure Series	May 5	1 reel	Apr. 5
†Good Old School Days (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	Mar. 2	1 reel	Mar. 8
*†§Happy Golf (A.T.)	Sportlight	Jan. 26	1 reel	Jan. 25
†§Hearts and Hoofs (A.T.)	Keefe-Rico		2 reels	May 31
*†§Haunted Ship (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	April 27	1 reel	May 3
*†§Her Hired Husband (A.T.)	Noel Frances	Jan. 12	2 reels	Jan. 4
*†§High and Dizzy	Geo. LeMaire	Mar. 30	2 reels
*†§His Birthday Suit (A.T.)	Herman-Green	Mar. 9	2 reels	Mar. 1
*†§High Toned (A. T.)	"Buck & Bubbles"	Feb. 9	2 reels	Feb. 3
*†§Home, Sweet Home (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Mar. 23	1 reel	Feb. 22
*†§Honest Crooks (A. T.)	"Buck & Bubbles"	Mar. 23	2 reels
*§Hooked (A.T.)	Sportlight		1 reel
*†§In the Park (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Jan. 26	1 reel	Jan. 18
*†§Iron Man, The (A.T.)	"Aesop Fables"	Jan. 19	1 reel	Jan. 18
*†§Jungle Jazz (A.T.)	Aseop Fable		1 reel	July 19

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

*†§Lair of Chang-How (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series				2 reels	June	7
*†§Love's Memories (A.T.)	Seng Sketch	Feb.	16		1 reel
*†§Mind Your Own Business (A. T.)					2 reels	July	12
†§Musical Beauty Shop (A.T.)					2 reels	June	7
†§Noah Knew His Ark (A.T.)					1 reel	June	7
*†§On the Air (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Jan.	12		1 reel	Jan.	11
*†§Oom Pah Peh (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	May	11		1 reel	June	7
*†§Pathe Audio Review (A.T.)	Released Every Week				1 reel
*†§Pathe Sound News	Released Twice Every Week				1 reel
*†§Perfect Match, The (A.T.)	Butler Mayo	Apr.	8		2 reels	Apr.	5
*†§Pick 'Em Young (A.T.)	Agnew-Geraghty	May	4		2 reels	May	10
*†§Ranchhouse Blues (A.T.)		May	17
*†§Red Heads (A.T.)	Net Carr				2 reels	May	24
*†§Rich Uncles (A.T.)	Richard Carle	May	11		1 reel	May	3
*†§Ride 'Em Cowboy	White-Carney	April	13		2 reels	Apr.	5
*†§Romeo Robin, A					1 reel	June	28
*†§Royal Flush, A (A.T.)					2 reels
*†§Rubeville Night Club (A.T.)	H. B. Watsee	Jan.	26		2 reels	Nov.	18
*†§Sacred Fires (A.T.)	Vagebend Adv. Series
*†§Ship Ahoy (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	Jan.	5		2 reel	Jan.	11
*†§Singing Saps (A.T.)	Aesops Fables	Feb.	2		1 reel	Feb.	8
*†§Sixteen Sweetles (A.T.)	White-McNaughten	Apr.	20		2 reels	Apr.	19
*†§Sky Skinners (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Feb.	16		1 reel	Feb.	15
*†§Snow Time	Aesop Fable				1 reel	July	26
*†§Songs of Mother	Seng Sketch	Feb.	2		1 reel	May	10
*†§Spills and Thrills (A.T.)	Sportlight	Apr.	6		1 reel	Apr.	12
*†§Spleshing Through (A.T.)	Sportlight	Feb.	23		1 reel	Feb.	15
*†§Sporting Brothers (A.T.)					1 reel	June	7
*†§Streets of Mystery (A.T.)	Vagabond Adventure Series	June	2		1 reel	May	3
*†§Swell People (A.T.)	Marcie Menning					July	19
*†§Temple of Silence (A.T.)	Vagabond Ad. Series				1 reel	July	19
*†§Tight Squeeze (A.T.)	LeMaire	Feb.	2		2 reels	Nov.	23
*†§Trumpeteer, The (A.T.)	Song Sketch	Jan.	19		1 reel
*†§Tryine Them Out (A.T.)					2 reels	June	7
*†§Twe Fresh Eggs (A.T.)	St. John-Aubrey				2 reels	July	5
*†§Twe Plus Fours	Cerr-Hill				2 reels	July	26
*†§Voice of the Sea (A.T.)	Song Sketch	May	4		1 reel	May	3
*†§Western Whoopee (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Apr.	13		1 reel	Apr.	19
*†§What, No Bath! (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Mar.	9		1 reel

RKO

FEATURES

Title	Star			Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Alias French Gertie (A.T.)	Daniels-Lyon	Apr.	20	6202	65	Apr.	19
*†§Beau Bandit (A.D.)	La Rocque-Kenyon	Mar.	2	6169	69	June	21
*†§Case of Sergeant Grischo	Merris-Compsen-Hersheit	Feb.	23	8191	92	Mar.	8
*†§Cuckoos, The (A.T.)	Wheeler-Woolsey	May	4	8100	90	Apr.	5
*†§Fall Guy, The (A.T.)	Mulhall-Clarke-Sparks	June	15	6175	65	May	31
*†§Fremed (A.T.)	Brent-Thomey	Mar.	16	6136	68	Feb.	15
*†§Girl of Part (A.T.)	O'Neil-Sherland	Feb.	2	6174	69	Jan.	4
*†§He Knew Women (A.T.)	Sherman-Peyce	May	18	6319	70	Apr.	26
*†§Hit the Deck (A.T.)	Dale Walker	Feb	2	9327	85	Dec.	21
*†§Inside the Lines (A.T.)	Compsen-Forbes	July	20			July	12
*†§Love Comes Along (A.T.)	Daniels-Hughes	Jan.	5	7038	78	Dec.	21
*†§Lovin' the Ladies	Richard Dix	Apr.	6	6138	68	Feb.	22
*†§Midnight Mystery, The (A.T.)	Compson-Sherman	June	1	6463	72	May	31
*†§Runaway Bride, The (A.T.)	Astor-Hughes	May	24	6234	69	May	24
*†§Second Wife (A.T.)	Nagel-Lee	Feb.	9	6058	80	Feb.	15
*†§Seven Keys to Baldpate (A.T.)	Dix-Seegar	Jan.	12	6579	70	Jan.	4
*†§She's My Weakness (A.T.)	Carel-Lake-Bunce	Aug.	24	not set		June	28
*†§Shooting Straight (A.T.)	Dix-Lawlor	July	20	5800	65	July	12

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Babes in Toyland (A.T.)	Special Cast
*†§Bunker Bean (A. T.)
*†§Check and Double Check (A.T.)	Amos 'n' Andy
*†§Cimarron (A.T.)	Richard Dix
*†§Conspiracy, The (A.T.)	Love-Trever-Sparks
*†§Dixiana	Bebe Daniels	Aug. 30	Not set
*†§Escape (A. T.)
*†§Hall Shot at Sunrise (A. T.)	Wheeler-Woolsey
*†§Heart of the Rockies (A. T.)	Marshall-Daniels
*†§High River
*†§Hunted
*†§Iron Trail, The (A. T.)
*†§Ladies of the Past	Betty Compson
*†§Lawful Larceny (A. T.)	Daniels-Thompson	Aug. 17	6379	67	July 19
*†§Leathernecking (A. T.)	Fey, Jr.-Rubin
*†§Old Accordion Man, The (A. T.)	Joseph Cawthern
*†§Perfect Alibi, The (A. T.)
*†§Record Run (A.T.)	Wolheim-Armstrong-Arthur
*†§Sensation (A.T.)
*†§She's My Weakness (A.T.)	Lake-Carroll
*†§Silver Horde (A. T.)	Brent-Welheim
*†§Upperworld (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Age of Innecence, The (A.T.) (F)	Paula Trueman	Jan. 5	1 reel
*†§Before Breakfast (A.T.) (F)		Mar. 9	2 reels
*†§Bobbed Wire (A. T.)	Dane-Arthur
*†§Bridegroom, The (A.T.) (F)	Marc Connelly	Feb. 2	1 reel
*†§Broken Wedding Bells (A.T.)	Dane-Arthur			June 21
*†§Campus Sweethearts (A. T.) (F&D)		Mar. 9	2 reels
*†§Cash and Marry (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke-Sargaat	Mar. 16	2 reels
*†§Dear Slayer (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Mar. 2	2 reels	Feb. 22
*†§Eventually But Not Now (A.T.) (F&D)	Vaughn-Cooke	Apr. 13	2 reels	Apr. 19
*†§Fair Deceiver, The (A. T.) (F&D)		Jan. 6	1 reel
*†§General Ginsburg (A.T.) (F)	Nat Carr	Apr. 13	2 reels
*†§Golf Specialist, The	W. C. Fields		2 reels	July 5
*†§Gunboat Ginsburg (A.T.) (F)	Nat Carr	Jan. 12	2 reels	Nov. 9
*†§Guest, The (A. T.) (F&D)	Marc Connelly	May 25	1 reel
*†§Hot Bridge (A. T.) (F&D)		May 11	2 reels
*†§Humanettes	Benny Rubin		1 reel	July 5
*†§Jazz (A.T.) (F)	Duke Ellington & Orchestra	Feb. 9	1 reel
*†§Lend of the Sky Blue Daughters	Vaughn-Cooke	Mar. 30	2 reels
*†§Lost and Foundered (A. T.) (F&D)	Vaughn-Cooke	Jan. 19	2 reels
*†§Magnate, The (A. T.) (F&D)	Marc Connelly	Mar. 30	1 reel
*†§Men Without Skirts (A.T.)	Dane-Arthur		2 reels	July 5
*†§Mickey's Champs (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Feb. 2	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Luck (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Mar. 30	2 reels	Apr. 12
*†§Mickey's Master Mind (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Mar. 2	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Merry Men (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	July 20	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Strategy (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Jan. 5	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Winners (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Aug. 17	2 reels
*†§Mickey the Remee (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	June 22	2 reels
*†§Mickey the Whirlwind (A.T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Apr. 27	2 reels
*†§Mickey the Warriar	Mickey Yule	May 25	2 reels
*†§Museum, The	Toby the Pup		1 reel	May 24
*†§Musical Moments (A. T.)	Felix Fernande Orch.		1 reel	June 14
*†§Off to Peoria (A.T.)	Nick & Tony	July 13	2 reels	June 14
*†§Old Bill's Christmas (A.T.)		Feb. 9	2 reels	Dec 14
*†§Old Vamps for New (A. T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Feb 2	2 reels	Jan. 25
*†§Palooka Flying School (A.T.)		June 22	1 reel
*†§Peep on the Deep, A	Clark & McCulleugh		2 reels	July 5
*†§Setting Sen, The (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Feb. 16	2 reels	Feb. 8
*†§Sleeping Cuties (A.T.)	Alberta Vaughn	Jan. 5	2 reels	Dec.
*†§Song and the Sergeant, The (A.T.)		May 11	2 reels
*†§Strange Interview, The (A.T.) (F)	Sherwin-Knowles	Mar. 2	1 reel
*†§While Auto Waits (A.T.) (F)		Jan. 12
*†§Who's Get the Body (A.T.)	Nick & Teny	Aug. 3	2 reels	May 24

SONO-ART-WORLD WIDE

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Big Fight, The (A.T.)	Williams-Lene	Sept.	1	5850	65	Apr. 19
*†§Cock O' the Walk (A.T.)	J. Schildkraut-Ley	May	15	7200	80	Apr. 19
*†§Dude Wrangler, The (A.T.)	Duryea-Basquette	June		6200	68	May 24
*†§Fighting For the Fetherland		Apr.
*†§Hello Sister (A. T.)	Hughes-Borden	Feb.		9500	100	Apr. 5
*†§Once a Gentleman (A.T.)	Horton-Wilson	Aug.				June 21
*†§Rene (A.T.)	Reland-Thomson-Leve
*†§Sombres de Glorie (Spanish)	Special Cast	Feb.		9500	100	Feb 22
*†§What e Man (A.T.)	Denny-Segar	Apr.	1	7000	79	Mar. 29

STATE RIGHTS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Dist'r	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewee
*†§Aeress the World (A.D.)	Martin Johnson	Talk. Pic. Epics	Net set	8860	98	Jen. 25
*†§Alter the Verdict (A.T.)	Tschechewa-Ward	Int. Photoplay	Jan. 1	8900	73	June 21
Asphalt	Froelich-Amann	Allied Film.	Mar. 15	8 reels	85	May 10
†§Because I Love You	Mady Christians	Amer. Gen. Film	Jan. 24	9000	100	Feb. 8
*†§Beyond the Rio Grande (A.T.)	Jack Perrin	Big 4	Apr. 15	5400	60	June 7
*†§Bettem of the World		Talk. Pic Epics	Sept. 1	3800	42
*†§Bridge 68 (F.D.)	Verdi-Brink	Amer. Angle	Amer. 8		100	Apr 19
*†§Bright Eyes	Balfour-Trever	New Era	July	10.6800	76	July 5
*†§Burning Heart, The	Christians-Froelich	Harold Auten	May	10 8572	88	May 24
*†§Call of Circus (A.T.) (D.F.)	Bushman Clayton	Burr	Jan. 15	5466	61	Jan. 18
Caught in Berlin Underworld	Fritz Kortner					Feb. 15
Chess Player, The	Jehanne-Blanchard	Unusuel Plct.
*†Civilization	Hickman-Markey	Amer. Trad. Assn
*†§Clancy in Well Street (A.T.)	Murrey-Littlefield	Aristocrat	Mer. 15	7127		Mar. 1
*†§Co-Optimists	Special cast	New Era	Feb. 8			Feb. 22
*†§Danger Men, The (P.T.)	Chas. Hutchinson	Cesmos	May 2	6516	82	May 24
*†§Darkened Skies (A.T.)	Brentweed-MacDonald	Biltmore Prod.	Jen.	5400	60	Dec. 14
Decks of Hamburg	Jugo-Fritsch	Ufa
*†§Drifters		Harold Auten			40	July 5
*†§Escaped from Dartmoor	Bering-Henning	Harold Auten	Apr. 11	7529	70	Apr. 19
Farmer's Wife	Thomas-Hall-Davis	Allied	Jan. 4	6845	76	Jan. 18
*†§Firebrand Jerden	Lane Chandler	Big 4	June 23	5400	60	July 26
Figaro		France-American Net Set		6360	71	Dec. 7
*†§Heeri's Meledy (A. T.) (F & D)	Fritsch-Parlo	Ufa Film
Her Unborn Child (F & D)	Special Cast	Windsor	Jen. 10	7609	85	Jen. 18
Hunted Men	Bob Steele	Syndicate	Apr.	4853
*†§Immortal Vagebond (A.T.)	Heid-Froelich	Ute Film
In the South Seas with Mr. and Mrs. Pinchet		Talk. Pict. Epics.	Sept. 1	5538		May 31
*†Ingagi	African Hunt	Conge Plct. Ltd.	Apr. 13	7778	86	Apr. 28
Jade Casket, The	French Cast	Cesmos		5800	64
*†§Juno and the Paycock (A.T.)	Sera Allgood Herold Auten		June 27	9100		July 5
*†§Ladies in Love (A.T.)	Day-Walker	Chesterfield	May 17	6095	69	May 3
*†§Last Dance, The (A.T.)	Reynolds-Roberds	Audible	Mar. 8	5825	65	Mar. 29
*†§Lest Geds (A.T.)		Talk Pic. Epics	Sept. 1	4800	53	July 12
Lost Patrol		Pro Patria	Not Set	5100	57	Oct. 24
*†§Love at First Sight (A.T.)	Keener-Foster	Chesterfield	Feb. 15	6039	68	Feb. 1
Mystery at the Villa Rose	Trevor-Baring	Harold Auten	May 31	9000	100	mins.
*†§Overland Bound (A.T.)	Perrin-Ray	Raytone	Apr. 15	5040	56	Mar. 29
*†§Parting of the Trails	Bob Custer	Syndicate	Mar. 1	4700	52	Mar. 29
Passion Song, The	Dimsted-N. Beery	Excellent		5080	56
Peacock Fan The	Dorothy Dwan	Chesterfield		5400	60
Poor Millionaire	Talmadge-Howard	Biltmore	Apr. 7	5200	58	May 17
Port	Special Cast	Ufa Films
*†§Rampant Age (A.T.) (D.F.)	Murray-Kennedy	Continental	Jan. 15	5743	64	Jan. 18
*†§Ridin' Law	Perrin-Canutt	Big 4	Mev	12 5600	62	July 5
Sea Fury	Mildred Harris	Tom White	Net Set	5200	58	Dec. 7
*†§Slums of Tokio	Japanese Cast	Moviegraphs
Smoke Bellew	Conway Tearle	First Division		6605	73
South of Panama	Carmelita Geraghty	Chesterfield		6300	70
Stampede	Native Cast	Harold Auten	Apr. 20	7540	80	May 3
Strange Case of District Attorney "M"		Unusual Photoplay	Mar.	6800		Mar. 22
*†§Take the Heir (A.D.)	Edward Herton	Big 4	Jan. 15	5700	63	Jan. 25
Three Outcasts, The	Yakima Canutt	Waca	Mar. 7	5 reels		Oct. 19
Thunder God	Cornelius Keefe	Crescent		5917	66
Western Honor	Bob Steele	Syndicate	Mar.	4849	50	May 17
*†§West of Rockies (A.T.) (D)	Art Mix	World Art	Jan. 18	6100	68
*†§White Cargo (A.T.)	Special Cast	Harold Auten				Mar. 1
*†§White Devil (P.T.) (F & D)	Mesjukin-Dagover	UFA Films
Why Cry at Parting	Halm-Grelle	International		7000	78	Feb. 22
*†§Woman Who Was Forgotten (A.D.)	Belle Bennett	State Cinema	Jan. 1	7560	85	Jan. 25
Wonderful Lies of Nina Petrowna	Helm-Ward	Allied Films	May 30	8 reels	80	June 14
Worldly Goods		Continental				Aug. 2
*†§Would You Believe It?	Walter Ferde	Big 4	Mar. 15	6 reels	60
*†§Yiddish Mama, The (A.T.)	Mae Simon	Judea Films		4000

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewee
*†§Ape, The (A.T.)		Liberty Pred.
*†§Bar L Ranch	Bill, Jr.-Wales	Big 4
*†§Body, Seul and Dress
†§Burned Evidence (F)		Cantinental
Buying a Wife	Special Cast	Aff. Europeen	7 reels
*†§Clewn, The (F)		Continental
*§†Comebaok, The (A.T.)		Majestlo
*†§Dancing Fathers (A.T.)
†§Dangerous Trails		Big 4	Sept. 15
*†§Davy Jones Locker (A.T.)		Liberty Pred.
*†§Diverce Questlen, The (A.T.)		Majestle
Duty to be Silent	Marla Albana	Aff. Eureoean	6 reels
*†§East Lynne (A.T.)		Liberty Pred.
*†§East of Asia (A.T.)		Liberty Pred.
*†§Everybody's Girl (A.T.)		Liberty Pred.
Exedus to the New World, The	Lyon-Prevost	Pleneer
Full Dressed Thieves	Nils Asther	Aff. European	7 reels
German Underworld	Speciel Cast	Aff. European	7 reels
Great Unknown, The	John Leder	Aff Eoropean	8 reels
*§†Hall the Women (A.T.)		Majestlo
Her Viennese Lover	Asther-Nelan	Aff. European	6 reels
*†§In Oklahema (A.T.)
*†§Lady of the Lake, The	Percy Marment	FitzPatrick
*†§Life For Sale, A (F)		Continental
Milak of the Snowlands	Special Cast	Allied
*†§Midnight Alarm, The (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Mether's Millions (A.T.)		Liberty Pred.
*†§Night Hawk, The		Big 4	Aug. 15
Our Daily Bread	Mary Nelan	Aff. Europeen	7 reels
*†§Prlee Mark, The (A.T.)		Majestlo
*†§Red Kisses (A.T.)
*†§Remantic Sceundrel, The (A.T.)
*†§Second Honeymeoa, The (F)		Continental
*†§Sentimental Satan (A.T.)		Majestlo
*†§Smart Women (A.T.)		Majestlo
*†§Thou Shalt Not Squeal (A.T.)
*†§Teday (A.T.)	Nagel-Owen	Majestle
*†§Trap, The (A.T.)		Majestle
*†§Unforbidden Sin, The (F)		Continentel
Unholy Love	Wegener-Petrovitch	Aff. Europeae
When Duty Calls	Soecial Cast	Allied	6714 feet
Wild Men of Kalihari	Denver African Exp.	Talk. Pict. Epics
*†§Worldly Goods (F)	Kirkweed-Kennedy	Continental
*†§Werst Weman in Paris (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Anywhere By Air		Visugraph	3 reels	May 17
*†§At the Photographers (A. T.) (F)	Horry Delf	Elbee	2 reels
*†Beethoven		Fitzpatrick	1 reel	Apr. 19
*†Barn Dance	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
Besides the Western Sea		Castle Film	1 reel
*†§Blind Youth (A. T.)	Lou Tellegen	Capital	2 reels
*†§Bring On the Bride (A.T.)		Elbee	2 reels	Nov.
*†§Broken Doll, The (A.T.)	Sadie Banks	Judea Films	1 reel
*†Chela Gang, The	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†Conquest of the Cascades	Educational	Gen. Electric Co.		Apr. 19
*†§Down Hawaii Way	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
*†§Egypt, Land of Pyramids		FitzPatrick	1 reel	June 21
*†§Fourth of July		Fitzpatrick
*†§Friend Husband (A.T.)		Burr	2 reels
*†Galloping Gauche	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	Feb. 11 reel
*†§Gateway to Indie	Travelogue	Fitzpatrick
*†Jungle Rythm	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel	Jan. 11
*†Just Mickey	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*§†Kiddie Cabaret		Mayfair	2 reels	Apr. 26
*†Kids and Pets	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
Lincoln's Birthday		FitzPatrick	Feb. 12. 350 feet
*Liszt, Franz	Music Master Series.	Fitz Patrick	1 reel	Apr. 5
*†§Mai-Ko Mashma-Lou (A.T.)	Harry Feld	Judea Films
*†§Mawas (P.T.)		Capital Prod.	3½ reels	June 7
*†§Meet the Family (A.T.) (F)	Harry Delt	Elbee	2 reels
*†Mickey's Concert	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†§Monkey Squawks (A.T.)		Burr
*†§Oh Doctor (A.T.)	Special Cast	Judea Films	1800
*†Plane Crazy	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	Jan. 1 reel
*†Plow Boy	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†§Shoemaker's Romance (A.T.)	Special Cast	Judea Films	1900
*†§Should I	Charles Lowmer	Advence Trailer		May 17
*†§Signed, Sealed & Delivered (A.T.)		Burr
*†§Sixty Minutes From Broadway	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
*†§Style end Class (A.T.)	Marty Barretz	Judee Films	2000
*†§Summer Harmonies	Song Cartoon	Biophone	1 reel	Oct. 8
*†Tee Time	Felix the Cat	Copley Films	1 reel	Apr. 5
*Thought for Mother's Day	Fitzpatrick		1 reel	May 10
Washington's Birthday		Fitz Patrick	Feb. 22. 350 feet
*†§When My Dreams Come True	Gene & Glenn	Advance Trailer	1 reel	Apr. 5
*†When the Cat's Away	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†Wild Waves	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel	Jan. 11

TIFFANY

FEATURES

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Border Romance (A. T.)	Armida-Terry	May 18	5971	65	May 31
*†§High Treason (A.T.)	Hume-Thomas	Mar. 25	6210	69	June 7
*†§Hot Curves (A.T.)	Rubin-Leese-Day	June 15	7893	88	July 12
*†§Journey's End (A.T.)	Colin Clive	May 23	11416	130	Apr. 12
*†§Just Like Heaven (A. T.)		July 14
*†§Kathleen Mavourneen (A.T.)	O'Neil-Delaney	June 20	5169		Aug. 2
*†§Mamba (A.T.)	Hershelt-Boardman-Forbes	Mar. 10	6183	69	Mar 1
*†§Medicine Man, The (A.T.)	Benny-Bronson	June 15	6211	69	June 21
*†§Neer Rainbow's End (A.T.)	Steele-Lorraine	June 10	5916	58	July 5
*†§Party Girl (A.T.)	Doug Fairbanks, Jr.	Jan. 1	6750	75	Dec. 21
Reviewed as "Dangerous Business" Issue Dec. 21, 1929
*†§Peacock Alley (A.T.)	Mae Murray	Jan. 10	6060	67	Feb. 8
*†§Sunny Skies	Benny Rubin	May 12	6994	78	May 24
*†§Swellhead (A. T.)	Gleeson-Shilling-Walker	Mar. 20	7040	78	Apr. 26
*†§Troopers Three (A.T.)	Lease-Gulliver	Feb. 15	7239	80	Feb. 22

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Cyclone Hickey
*†§Enchanting Melody (A.T.)
*†§Fascination (A.T.)	Mae Murray
*†§Headin' North (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§His Last Race (A.T.)	Garon-Barry
*†§Lasco
*†§Land of Missing Men (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Left Over Ladies
*†§Love, Life, Laughter
*†§Luxury Girl
*†§Mareea-Marie
*†§My Brudder Sylvest	Leo Carrillo
*†§Oklahoma Cyclone (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Pacer Profits
*†§Paradise Island (A.T.)	Harlan-Dey	not set		July 5
*†§Ridin' Fool, The (A.T.)	Bob Steele
*†§Rattle Straps
*†§So This Is Mexico (A. T.)	Armida
†*§Sunrise Trail, The (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Third Alarm, The (A.T.)
*†§Torrent, The
*†§Under Montana Skies	Harlan-Gulliver
*†§Why Marry (A.T.)	Hunter-Reynolds

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Cosseck's Bride, The	Color Symphony		1 reel	Feb. 22
*†§Enchanted Forest, The (A.T.)			1 reel	May 31
*†§In Old Madrid	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Jungle Drum	Colortone		2 reels	Dec. 28
*†§Melodie	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Minuette	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Modern Cinderella, A	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Mountain Kino, The	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§On the Plantation	Forbes Rondolph Singers		2 reels	May 10
*†§Pharoeh's Daughter	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Sacred Hour, The	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Song of India, A	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Station S-T-A-R			1 reel	Dec. 7
*†§Songs My Mother Tought Me	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Tales of Areby	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Temole Bells	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Viennese Melody	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Voice of Hollywood	Station S-T-A-R Series		1 reel

UNITED ARTISTS

FEATURES

Title	Ster	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bad One, The (A. T.)	Del Rio-Lowe	May 3	6673	74	Mor. 22
*†§Be Yourself (A.T.) (F)	Fannie Brice	Feb. 8	5977	77	Feb. 1
*†§Hell Harbor (A.T.)	Velez-Hersholt	Mar. 22	8354	84	Mer. 8
*†§Lummox (A.T.) (F)	Westover-Lyon	Jan. 18	7533	84	Feb. 15
*†§One Romantic Night A. T.)	Glsh-Nagel-La Rocque	Aor. 12	6592	72	Mar. 26
*†§Puttin' on tha Ritz (A.T.)	Harry Richman	Mar. 1	8225	88	Feb. 22
†§Raffles (A. T.)	Ronald Colman	July 26	6509		Aug. 2

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Abraham Lincoln (A. T.)	Walter Huston	Sept. 28
*†§Bat Whispers, The (A.T.)	Chester Morris	Dec. 20
*†§City Lights (F)	Charlie Chaplin
*†§Du Berry, Women of Passion (A. T.)	Norma Talmadge	Nov. 8
*§†Lilli (A.T.)	Evelyn Laye
*†§Eyes of the World (A.T.)	Merkel-Holland	Oct. 18
*†§Forever Yours (A.T.)	Mary Pickford	Nov. 29
*†Hell's Angels (F)	Lyon-Hall-Harlow				June 7
*†§Lottery Bride, The (A.T.)	MacDonald-Garrick	Aug. 16
*†§Reeching for the Moon (A.T.)	Bebe Daniels
*†§Smilin' Through (A.T.)	Joan Bennett
*†§Sons O' Guns (A.T.)	Al Jolson
*†§What a Widow (A.T.)	Gloria Swanson
†§Whoopee (A. T.)	Eddie Cantor	Sept. 7	8550	95	July 12

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Dete	Length	Reviewed
*†§Glorious Vamp	Bobby Watson	Jan. 25	952	Jan. 25
*†§Second Hungarian Rhapsody		May 24		July 19
*§†Wizard's Apprentice		Aor. 20	840

UNIVERSAL

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Big Timber (Re-Issue)	William Desmond	Mar. 30	4388
*†§Burning Trail (Reissue)	Wm. Desmond	July 29	4223
*†§Captain of the Guard (A.T.)	Le Plante-Boles	Aor. 20	7519	76	Apr. 5
*†§Climax, The (A. T.)	Crawford-Hersholt	Jan. 26	5[illegible]	65	Mer. 29
*†§Cohens and the Kellys In Scotland.	Sidney-Murray	Mar. 17	7600	82	Mar. 15
*†§Concentratio' Kid (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	July 20
*†§Czar of Broadway (A.T.)	Wray-Compson-Harron	May 25	7314	81	Apr. 26
*†§Oames Ahoy (A.T.)	Glenn Tryon	Feb. 9	5773	66	Feb. 8
*†§Ovil's Pit, The	Speciol Cest	Mar. 9	6268	69
Reviewed under title of "Under the Southern Cross"		In April 27, 1929 Issue
*†§Embarrassing Moments (A.T.)	Reginald Denny	Feb. 2	5230	58	June 29
*†§Fighting Legion, The	Ken Meynard	Apr. 6	6763	75	Dec. 21
Flying Hoofs	Jack Hoxie	Feb. 2	3852	43
*§†Hell's Heroes	Bickford-Hatton	Jan. 5	6148	70	Dec. 21
*†§Hide-Out (A. T.)	Murroy-Crawford	Mer. 30	5299	50	Aor 19
*†Lucky Lorkin	Ken Meynord	Mar. 2	5785	64	Mer. 22
†§Mounted Stranger, The	Hoot Gibson	Feb. 16	5784	64	Feb. 15
*†§Mountoin Justice	Ken Maynard	May 4	6748	75	Mer. 22
*†§Night Ride	Robinson-Kent	Jan. 12	5609	62	Dec. 25
*§†Parade of the West	Ken Maynard	Jen. 19	5900	65	Feb. 1
*†§Roering Ranch (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	Apr. 27	6094	67	May 24
*†§Song of Passion (A. T.)	John Boles	Aug. 11
*†§Song of the Caballero	Ken Maynard	June 29	6524	73	July 12
*†§Sons of the Saddle	Ken Maynard	Aug. 3
*†§Spurs (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	Aug. 24
*†§Storm, The (A. T.)	Speciel Cest
*†§Trailing Trouble	Hoot Gibson	Mer. 23	5198	67	Mer. 29
*†§Trigger Tricks (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	June 1	5462	57	June 21
*†§Undertow	Nolan-Ellis-Brown	[illegible]	5025	56	Jen. 4
*†§What Men Went	All Ster	July 13	6041	67
*†White Hell of Pitz Palu	Special Cast	June 1	7727	80	May 10
White Outlaw, The (Reissue)	Jack Hoxie	May 25	4511
*†§Young Desire (A.T.)	Mary Nolen	June 8	6529	73	July 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§All Quiet on Western Front (A. T.)	Wolheim-Ayres-Wray			Apr. 28
*†§Boudoir Diplomat (A.T.)
*†§Bullet Proof (A.T.)
*†§Cohens & Kelleys In Ireland (A.T.)
*†§East is West (A.T.)	Lupe Velez
*†§Flirt, The (A.T.)	Glenn Tryon
*†§Gypsy Love Song (A.T.)	Boles-Velez-Loff
*§†Hunchback of Notre Dame (A.T.)
*†§King of Jazz Revue, The (A.T.)	Whitemen's Band & Special Cest		8724	97	Apr. 5
*†§Ladies In Love (A. T.)	Mary Nolan
*†§Lady Surrenders, The (A.T.)
*†§Little Accident (A.T.)	Fairbenks, Jr., Page	Sept. 1			July 12
*†§Love Cevalier, The (A.T.)	Boles-Loff
*§†Merry-Go-Round (A.T.)	Loff-Boles
*†§Oregon Trail (A.T.)
*†§Ourang
*§†Outside the Law (A.T.)	Nolan-Robinson
*†§Resurrection (A.T.)	Boles-Velez
†§Saint Johnson (A.T.)	Ayres-Wray
*†§Scrub Dak (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson
*†§Serenade (A.T)	John Boles
*†§Signal Tower (A.T.)
*†§Singing Caballero (A.T.)	John Boles
†§Strictly Dishonorable (A.T.)	John Boles
*†§Virgin of Stambeul (A.T.)
*†§Week-End Girl	Laura La Plante

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Rel. Dote	Length	Reviewed
Alias the Bandit	Bobbie Nelson	May 17	2 reels	Apr. 19
All Wet	Sid Saylor		2 reels	May 24
Anthony & Cleopatra (reissue)		May 26	1 reel
Badge of Bravery	Ted Carson	Feb. 8	2 reels	Jan. 11
Bashful Whirlwind (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 30	2 reels
Battling Kid, The	Bobbie Nelson	June 14	2 reels	May 24
Beauty Porade, The	Arthur Lake	July 2	2 reels	June 7
Benjamin Franklin (Reissue)		June 23	1 reel
Boundary Line, The (Reissue)	Fred Humes	July 5	2 reels
Close Call (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 2	2 reels
Columbus & Isabella (reissue)		June 9	1 reel
Crooked Trails	Ted Carson	May 3	2 reels	Mer. 29
Crimson Courage	Ted Carson	Mer. 8	2 reels	Feb. 1
Danger Cleim, The	Bobbie Nelson	Mar. 22	2 reels	Feb. 15
Fighting Terror (Reissue)	Billie Sullivan	July 19
French Leove	Sid Saylor	Mer. 19	2 reels	Mar. 8
Follow Me	Arthur Lake	Apr. 30	2 reels	Apr. 5
Foul Ball	Sid Saylor	Aor. 16	2 reels
Getting the Air	Arthur Lake	Mar. 5	2 reels	Feb. 1
Her Beshful Beau	Arthur Lake	June 11	2 reels	Mev 24
His Girl's Wedding	Arthur Lake	July 23	2 reels	June 28
Kounty Feir	Oswald Cartoon	Jan. 8	1 reel	Dee. 7
Last Stend	Bobbie Nelson	Jen. 25	2 reels	Dec. 21
Law in the Saddle	Ted Carson	Aor. 5	2 reels	Mar. 1
Lightning Rider, The	Ted Cerson	Aug. 23	2 reels	July 19
Lightning Express (Serial)	Chandler-Lorraine	June 2	10 episodes
Make It Snepov	Sid Saylor	Feb 12	2 reels	Jan 18
Man Hunter, The	Ted Carson	July 26	2 reels	July 5
Matter of Policy	Edwords	Jan. 13	1 reel
Milky Way (Reissue)	Charlie Puffy	Mar. 10.	1 reel
Omar Khayam (Reissue)		July 21	1 reel
One Wet Night	Roach-Edwards	Feb. 24	1 reel
Paul Revere (Reissue)		Aug. 18	1 reel
Plane Crazy	Sid Saylor	July 9	2 reels	June 7
Peekaboo	Arthur Lake	Mey 21	2 reels	Apr. 26
Pony Exoress Kid, The	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 9	2 reels	July 19
Post of Honor	Bobbie Nelson	Feb. 22	2 reels	Jan. 18
Prehistoric Man (Reissue)		Aug. 4
Pronto Kid, The (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aor. 12	2 reels
Queen of Roundup (Reissue)	Josie Sedgwick	Mar 1	2 reels
Red Coat's Romance	Ted Carson	June 28	2 reels
Restless Rest (Re-Issue)	Neely Edwards	Mar. 24	1 reel
Ropin' Venus	Josie Sedgwick	Jen. 18	2 reels
Seeing Red (Reissue)	Billy Sullivan	Aug. 16	2 reels
Should Poker Players Morry?		June 30	1 reel
Sid's Long Count	Sid Saylor	May 28	2 reels	Apr. 26

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

Sitting Pretty	Arthur Lake	Jan.	15	2 reels	Dec. 21
Six Gun Justice	Bobbie Nelson	Apr.	19	2 reels	Mar. 15
Some Show	Arthur Lake	Apr.	2	2 reels	Mar. 1
Step Right Up	Sid Saylor	May	7	2 reels	Apr. 19
Son of Courage	Bobbie Nelson	July	12	2 reels	June 21
Storm King (Re-Issue)	Edmund Cobb	Feb.	15	2 reels
Speak Easy (Reissue)	Charlie Puffy	Apr.	7	1 reel
Trail of the Peek	Ted Carson	Jan.	7	2 reels	Dec. 7
Under the White Robe (Re-Issue)	Neely Edwards	May	12	1 reel
Wey of the West (Reissue)	Neely Edwerds	Feb.	1	2 reels
Why Walt	Slim Summerville	Feb.	10	1 reel
Whip Hend, The (Reissue)	Billy Sullven	Mar.	15	2 reels
Wild West Wallop (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	May	24	2 reels
William Tell		Jan.	27	1 reel
Wolf's Fangs	Ted Carson	May	31	2 reels	May 18

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Arabian Daze		Mar.	3	2 reels
*†§Big Circus, The (Serial)	Bushmen, Jr.-Vaughan
*†§Bowery Bimboes	Oswald Cartoon	Mar.	17	1 reel Apr. 5
*†§Broadway Follies	Oswald Cartoon	Mar.	3	1 reel Feb. 15
*†§Brother for Sale (A. T.)	Sunny Jim	June	25	2 reels Dec. 21
*†§Chinese Blues (A.T.)	Sporting Youth	Mar.	31	2 reels Mar. 29
*†§Christmas Cheer (A. T.)	Sunny Jim	Feb.	3	2 reels Dec. 14
*†Chile Con Carmen	Oswald Cartoon	Feb.	3	1 reel Jan. 11
*†§Cold Feet	Oswald Cartoon	July	28	1 reel
Fenny the Mule Cartoons				1 reel
*†§Fellow Students	Sid Seylor	Apr.	9	2 reels Mar. 8
*†§Fireburgs (A. T.)	Archer-Dent			2 reels
†§Footlight Follies (A.T.)	Sporting Youth	Feb.	3	2 reels
*†§Halowe'en	Sporting Youth	Apr.	14	2 reels Apr. 5
*†§Hash Shop	Oswald Cartoon	Apr.	14	1 reel Apr. 12
*†§Hell's Heels	Oswald Cartoon	June	2	1 reel June 7
*†Henpecked	Oswald Cartoon	Aug.	11	1 reel
*†§His Bachelor Deddy	Sunny Jim	May	14	2 reels Apr. 19
*†§Hot for Hollywood	Oswald Cartoon	May	19	1 reel May 24
*Hurdy Gurdy	Oswald Cartoon	Jan.	20	1 reel Nov. 30
*†§Indians Are Coming (A.T.)	McCey-Roy			12 Episodes
*†§Jade Box, The	Lorraine-Perrin	Mar.	24	10 episodes Feb. 22
*†Kisses and Curses	Oswald Cartoon	Feb.	17	1 reel Jan. 25
*†§Leather Pushers Series				2 reels
*†§Lightning Express, The (Serial)	Lorraine-Chandler	June	2	10 episodes April 12
*†§Live Ghosts (F & D)	Ann Christy	Jan.	20	2 reels Jan. 11
*†§Mush Again	Sunny Jim	Apr.	23	2 reels Mar. 29
*†§My Pal Paul	Oswald Cartoon	June	18	1 reel June 28
*†§Neighbors	Sunny Jim	Mar.	26	2 reels Mar.
*†§Not So Quiet	Oswald Carteon	July	7	1 reel July 26
*†§Oswald Cartoons				1 reel
*†§Outdoor Sports	Sid Saylor			2 reels Dec 14
*†Prison Panic	Oswald Cartoon	Apr.	28	1 reel May 10
*†§Royal Feurflush	Sporting Youth	Feb.	17	2 reels Jan. 25
*†§Schoolmates	Sporting Youth	Apr.	28	2 reels Apr. 26
*†§Seeing Stars	Sporting Youth	Mar.	17	2 reels Mar. 8
*†§She's a He (A.T.)	Sunny Jim			2 reels May 10
*†§Sister's Pest	Sunny Jim	Feb.	26	2 reels Jan. 25
*†Snappy Salesmen	Oswald Cartoon	Aug.	25	1 reel
*†§Spooks	Oswald Cartoon	July	14	1 reel
*†§Steeplechase (A. T.)	Sporting Youth	Jan.	6	2 reels Dec. 14
*†§Stop That Noise	Sunny Jim	July	18	2 reels June 14
*†§Strange As It Seems Novelties				1 reel
*†§Talking Newsreel				1 reel
*†Tarzan the Tiger (Serial)	Frank Merrill	Dec	9	10 episodes
*†§Terry of the Times (Serial)	Howes-Thompson	Aug.	11	10 episodes June 21
*†§Traffic Troubles		Mar.	12	2 reels Feb. 15
*†§Trampling Tramps	Oswald Cartoon	Mar.	31	1 reel Mar. 29
*†§Up and Downstairs		Jan.	25	2 reels
*†§Vernen's Aunt	Dent-Archer	Feb.	19	2 reels Feb. 1

WARNER BROTHERS

(Available sound-on-disc only)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Courage (A.T.)	Bennett-Nixon	June	7	6830	74	May 31
*†§Dumbells in Ermine (A. T.)	Armstrong-Gleason-Kent	May	10	6300	70	June 7
*†§Evidence (A.T.)	Pauline Frederick	Jan.	25	7152	79	Dec. 19
*†§General Crack (A. T.)	John Barrymore	Jan.	25	9809	109	Nov. 16
*†§Golden Dawn (A. T.)	Woolf-Segel	June	14	7447	83	June 21
*†§Green Goddess, The (A. T.)	George Arliss	Mar.	8	6653	74	Feb. 22
*†§Hold Everything (A. T.)	Lightner-Brown-O'Neill	May	1	7513	84	Apr. 12
*†§Isle of Escape (A. T.)	Blue-Loy	Mar.	1	5814	85	Apr. 5
*†§Mammy (A. T.)	Al Jolson	May	31	7570	84	Mar. 29
*†§Men frem Blankley's, The (A.T.)	John Barrymere	May	24	6167	68	Apr. 12
*†§Man Hunter (A. T.)	Rin-Tin-Tin	May	3	4383	49	Apr. 12
*†§Oh! Sailor, Behave (A.T.)	Delroy-King	Aug.	16	5850	65	July 12
*†§On the Berder	Rin-Tin-Tin	Mar.	15	4410	49	Feb. 8
*†§Rough Waters (A. T.)	Rin-Tin-Tin	June	7	4280	68	July 26
*†§Royal Box (A.T.) (German)	Moissi-Horn			8000	89	Dec. 28
*†§Second Chelce (A. T.)	Dolores Costello	Jan.	4	8150	91	Jan. 11
*†§Seeend Floer Mystery (A. T.)	Withers-Young	Apr.	26	5268	59	May 10
*†§She Couldn't Say No	Lightner-Morris	Feb.	15	6413	71	Feb. 22
*†§Song of the West (A. T.)	Boles-Segal	Mar.	15	7185	80	Mar. 8
*†§Those Who Dance (A. T.)	Monte Blue	Apr.	19	6878	76	July 12
*†§Under a Texas Moon (A. T.)	Fay-Torres-Ley-Beery	Apr.	1	7498	83	Apr. 12
*†§Wide Open (A. T.)	E. E. Horton	Feb.	1	6341	71	Mar. 29

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Barber John's Boy (A.T.)	Grant Withers
*†§Big Boy (A.T.)	Al Jolson	Not Set	Not Set	July 26
*†§Both Were Young (A.T.)
*†§Captain Applejack (A.T.)	John Halliday
*†§Children of Dreams (A.T.)
*†Dancing Sweeties (A.T.)	Carol-Withers	Not Set	Not Set	75 June 14
*†§Danube Leve Song (A.T.)
*†§Divorce Among Friends (A.T.)
*†§Egg Crate Wallop, The (A.T.)
*†§Fifty Million Frenchmen (A.T.)
*†§Gay Caballero, A (A.T.)
*†§Handful of Clouds (A.T.)
*†§His Brother's Wife (A.T.)
*†§Just an Hour of Love (A.T.)
*†Life of the Party, The (A.T.)	Winnie Lightner
*†§Matrimonial Bed, The (A.T.)	Lilyan Tashman
*†§Maybe It's Love (A.T.)	Brown-Bennett
*†§Maytime (A.T.)
*†§Moby Dick (A.T.)	John Barrymore
*†§Office Wife, The (A.T.)	Mackaill-Stone
*†§Old English (A.T.)	George Arliss
*†§Outward Bound (A.T.)	Howard-Mercer
*†§Penny Arcade (A.T.)
*†§Red Hot Sinners (A.T.)	Winnie Lichtner
*†§Recaptured Leve (A.T.)	Bennett-Halliday		6094	68 June 7
*†§River's End, The (A.T.)	Claudia Dell
*†§Sit Tight (A.T.)	Winnie Lightner
*†§Soldier's Plaything, A (A.T.)	Letti Loder
*†§Steel Highway, The (A.T.)	Hell-Withers-Nixon
*†§Sweet Kitty Bellairs (A.T.)	Claudia Dell
*†§Three Faces East (A.T.)	Bennett-Von Stroheim			June 21
*†§Under Cover (A.T.)
*†§Viennese Nights (A.T.)	Grey-Segal-Hersholt

VITAPHONE VARIETIES (D)

Title	Star	Length	Reviewed
Absent Minded	Perkins-Ford	882	10 Apr. 12
Alda, Frances	Songs	523	6 Feb. 8
And Wife	Elliott-Devis	971	11 Apr. 12
At Home	The Potters	1435	16 Mar. 15
At Your Service	Lendis-Halligen-Blackwood	633	7
Battery of Songs, A	Hoyt-Coots-Quintelle	719	8 May 10
Believe It or Not	Robert L. Ripley	2 reels	May 24
Benefit, The	Joe Frisco	928	10 Feb. 8
Bernie, Ben	Orchestre	771	9 Apr. 19
Big Money	The Potters	1141	12 May 24
Body Slam, The	Lembert-Ledoux-Irving	1 reel	July 19
Bridal Night	Arthur-Merriem
Broadway's Like That	Ruth Etting	865	10 Mar. 8
Bubble Party, The	Geo. Sweet	629	7
Bubbles	Vitephone Kiddies	688	8
Cave Club, The	Leech, Mermen-Pierlot	793	9
Celeste Aide	Giovanni Martinelli		9 June 21
Cheer Leader, The	Tom Douglas	826	9
Christmas Knight	Washburn-Eddy-Middleton	696	8
Collegiate Model, The	Ona Munson	2 reels	May 10
Congo Jazz	Loncy Tunes No. 2
Contrary Mery	Bobby Wetson	839	9 June 7
Cry Beby	Mery Louise Treen
Danger	Litel-Campeau-Merriam	744	8 May 24
Desert Thrills	Edwin Bertlett	725	8 July 26
Devil's Parade, The	Speciel Cest	888	10 June 14
Done in Dil	The Potters	1539	17 June 14
Ducking Duty	Conklin-Morgan	493	5
Duel, The	Fields-Teesdale
Eternal Triangle, The	Rich-Standing-Kaliz
Evolution	Progress of Motion Pictures		10 June 21
Evolution of the Dance		1071	12 Feb. 22
Faust	Le Ist Act	872	16 Nov. 20
Feminine Types	Jean Barrios
Fight, The	Norman Brokenshire	1 reel	May 10
Find the Woman	Hugh O'Connell	817	9
Five Minutes From the Station	Overman-Churchill-Sidney
Footnotes	Page Sisters & Oscar Gregan	519	6 Apr. 19
For Sale	Gregory Rotoff	523	6 June 14
Fore	Ford-Lane
Frame, The	Boyd-Middleton	934	10
Getting a Raise	The Potters	1136	13 May 10
Glee Quartette, The	Jack Buehanan	552	6 Feb. 15
Going Places	Shaw & Lee	660	June 7
Grand Uproar	Jim McWilliams	702	8 May 31
Gym Jams	Lew Mayer	635	7 Apr. 19
Head Man, The	O'Connell-Kelly	796	9 Apr. 19
Heart Breaker, The	Eddie Foy, Jr.	1315	15
Heidt and His Californians			June 7
Her Relatives	Noely Edward
Holland		733	8 June 14
Holiday in Storyland, A	Vitaphone Kiddies	799	9
Idle Chatter	Lou Holtz	908	10 Apr. 19
Ill Wind, An	Hibbard-Loreh-Graham	2 reels	June 14
Japanese Bowl, The		694	8 June 14
Jazz Rehearsal	Kane-Edwards	1 reel	May 10
Keeping Company	Eddie Buzzell	1746	19 May 10
Letters	Pauline Garon	800	9
Let's Elope	Betty & Jerry Browne	645	9 June 14
Lobo, Dog of Dogs	Lebo	590	7 Mar. 8
Lonely Gigle	Lottl Loder	922	9
Lost and Found	Irene Shirley
Love Boat, The	Herman Timberg	754	8 Mar. 1
Married	Flint-Ridges-Foran
Master Sweeper, The	Chester Conklin	904	10 Mar. 8
Matter of Ethics, A	Earle-Oakland	621	7
Matinee Idle	Henry Hull	685	8 June 14
McLallen, Jack		1 reel	June 7
Military Post, The	Reberto Guzman	570	6 Mar. 15
Money, Money, Money	Mason-Keeler	876	10
Naggers at Breakfast, The	Mr. & Mrs. Jack Norworth	845	9 June 14
Nay, Nay, Nero	Cameron-Watson
New Racket, The		1 reel	Mar. 15
New Rythm	Havana Casine Orch.
Nile Green	Broderick-Crawferd	740	8 June 7
No-Aecount, The	Special Cast	777	9
Office Steps		874	10 May 31
On the Rancho	Will & Gladys Ahern	600	7 Mar. 15
Only the Girl	Wattles-Marsh	580	6
Operation, The	Edgar Bergen	835	9 Feb. 8
Pagliacci	John Charles Thomas
Pa Gets a Vacation	The Potters	1243	14
Paper Hanging	Johnny Arthur	1 reel	May 31
Paquita & Chiquita		832	9
Pay Off, The	H. B. Walthall	1076	12 Mar. 8
People Versus, The	Campeau-O'Malley	548	6 Apr. 12
Perfect Understanding, A	May-Oaks	537	6
Play Boy, The	Fox-Curtis	2 reels
Poor Aubrey	Franklin Pangborn	2 reels	May 10
Poor Fish, The	Cavenaugh-Ridges-Schafer
Reno or Bust	Pangborn-Elliott	1150	13 June 7
Royal Fourflusher, The	Eddie Buzzell	1556	17 June 14
Russian Rhapsody, A	Kazneteoff & Nicolina	704	8
Seymour, Ann	Songs
Shakespeare Was Right
She Who Gets Slepped	Tom Dugan		June 7
Sinkin' In the Bathtub	Looney Tunes No. 1	1 reel	May 10
Slick As Ever	H. J. Conley	2 reels	June 7
Song Paintings	Ann Seymour	1 reel	June 7
Song Plugger, The	Joe Frisce	1390	16 June 7
Sound Effects	Buddy Traps	653	7 May 10
South Sea Pearl	Gasten Glass	2 reels	May 10
Stand Up, The	Watson-Cameron-Mack	685	8 June 14
Stepping Oout	Lee Donnelly
Still Alarm, The	Webb-Allen	1 reel	June 7
Strong and Willing	Trixie Friganza
Strong Arm, The
Surprise	Dugan-Leonard	1038	12
Suspleion	Lyons-Earls-Morne
System	Clements-Knapp
Taking Ways	Codee & Orth	2 reels	May 10
Talkine It Over	Jack Dsterman	739	8
Taxi Talks	Tracy-Alexander	1346	15 June 14
Temple Belles	Green-Blackman	1346	15 June 14
Tenement Tangle, A	Ryan & Lee	756	9 June 14
23 Skiddo	Lew Fields	854	10 June 14
Two of a Kind	Lytell-Fant	1 reel	June 7
Two Rounds of Love	Rennie-Dixon
Varsity Show, The	Olive Shea
Vengeance	Richmond-Moorhead	819	9 Feb. 8
Webster ien Students	Ryan-Lee	801	9 Apr. 19
Wedding of Jack and Jill, The	Vitephone Kiddies	701	8 June 7
Wedding Belles	Howard-Newton	485	5
What a Life		955	11 June 14
Who Pays?	Murray-Dekland	942	10 Mar. 15
Window Cleaners	Brice-Edwerds	637	7 Apr. 19
Work, Milton C.
Yamekrew		857	9 Apr. 26

Motion Picture News Points the Way

What are Sound and Color Worth?

. . . NATURALLY they are worth anything you can afford to pay for them. Here is a series of special tinted films that lend charming color, and give strikingly faithful sound, at the cost of black-and-white. "Eastman Sonochrome Tinted Positive Films" is the name. They supply the two prime features of the modern motion picture without any penalty of price.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors
New York Chicago Hollywood

W. H. Cadoret says . .

"What a box office wow this should be!"

Chicago proves it
at Roosevelt Theatre

•

COMMON CLAY

with

CONSTANCE BENNETT

• LEW AYRES •

TULLY MARSHALL • MATTY KEMP

BERYL MERCER

From the Harvard prize play by Cleves Kinkead

Directed by

VICTOR FLEMING

•

"I had the pleasure last night of screening COMMON CLAY What a box office wow this should be."

W. H. CADORET
The Comerford Publix Corporation

FOX

AUGUST 9, 1930

Motion Picture NEWS

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

THE STAR OF THE MONTH!

NORMA SHEARER

"Let Us Be Gay" focuses the attention of the industry again on this charming Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer star who so recently gave theatre owners "The Divorcee." M-G-M not only makes stars, but keeps them stars!

VOL. XLII. NO. 6

Entered as second class matter April 2, 1928, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under the Act of March 3, 1879.

Price 20 Cents

Published Weekly. $3.00 a Year.

Copyright, 1930, by Motion Picture News, Inc.

Los Angeles
Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood

New York
729 Seventh Avenue

Chicago
910 S. Michigan Avenue

Something New!

Here is Why We Are Establishing A New Precedent in Theatrical History By Staging the New York Premiere of "Hell's Angels" Simultaneously In Two of Broadway's Major Theatres

If "HELL'S ANGELS" were to play in one theatre ONLY—there would be thousands of disappointed patrons daily.

The magnitude of "Hell's Angels" demands greater capacity on Broadway than any one theatre can offer.

Therefore we take this means of announcing to the trade and to the theatre-going public of Greater New York that leases have been signed for both the

CRITERION THEATRE and the GAIETY THEATRE

Broadway at 44th Broadway at 46th

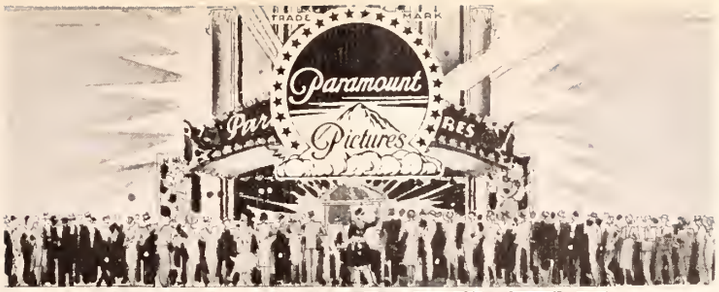
Both theatres will stage the dual Metropolitan Premieres Friday evening, August 15, at 8:30 sharp, with a $2 per seat policy to be maintained for an extended run.



NEVER BEFORE in the history of the motion picture industry has a production demanded the combined capacity of two theatres and we firmly believe that even the added capacity of the two will not be half adequate to accommodate the tremendous New York demand for

Howard Hughes' Greatest Picture of All Time

HELL'S ANGELS

WHILE VISITING NEW YORK do not fail to see the spectacular electrical displays at both theaters, totalling 28,000 square feet of illuminated sign presentation.

SID GRAUMAN

HAPPY NEW YEAR DRAWING CARDS FROM PARAMOUNT!

•

These 18 Giant Box Office Hits Released in August, September and October are Another Reason Exhibitors Rush to Sign Paramount Contracts!

HAROLD LLOYD
in "FEET FIRST." Produced by Harold Lloyd Corp. Paramount release.

TWO BLACK CROWS
MORAN AND MACK
in "ANYBODY'S WAR." Comedy riot. "Funniest since 'Shoulder Arms'," says N. Y. Journal.

"MANSLAUGHTER"
with Claudette Colbert, Fredric March. Everything new and better but the title!

THE MARX BROTHERS
in "ANIMAL CRACKERS." With Lillian Roth. Funnier than "Cocoanuts."

"THE SPOILERS"
GARY COOPER, Kay Johnson, Betty Compson, Harry Green, big cast. EDWIN CAREWE'S brand new prod. of REX BEACH thriller.

"FOLLOW THRU"
CHARLES ROGERS, NANCY CARROLL love team in All-Technicolor wow of famous Schwab & Mandel golf hit.

"LET'S GO NATIVE"

JACK OAKIE, JEANETTE MacDONALD, Kay Francis, Gene Pallette, Skeets Gallagher, James Hall laugh cyclone.

"GRUMPY"

Cyril Maude, world's most famous character comedian; Phillips Holmes, others, in novelty laugh-mystery success.

RUTH CHATTERTON
CLIVE BROOK

in dramatic thunderbolt, "ANYBODY'S WOMAN." Emotional triumph.

"QUEEN HIGH"

Popular roar-comedy knockout with Stanley Smith, Ginger Rogers, Charlie Ruggles, Frank Morgan. Schwab & Mandel Prod.

"THE SEA GOD"

Richard Arlen, Fay Wray, Gene Pallette, others, in strong sea-melodrama.

RICHARD ARLEN

in "THE LAW RIDES WEST." With Rosita Moreno, Gene Pallette, Mitzi Green. Outdoor action.

"HEADS UP"

CHARLES ROGERS, Helen Kane, Victor Moore in lavish picturization of stage comedy hit.

NANCY CARROLL

"LAUGHTER." With Fredric March and Frank Morgan. Stronger and better than "Devil's Holiday."

JACK OAKIE

"EX-GOB" (title to be changed). America's Joy Friend with 100 laughs and girls in every port

"THE BEST PEOPLE"
(title to be changed)

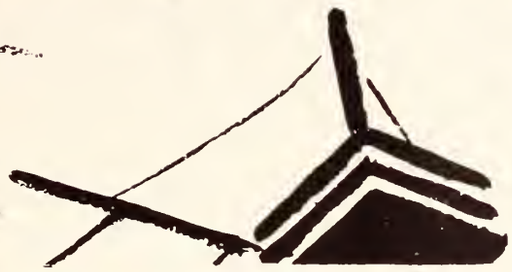
Famous stage success with Carol Lombard, Frank Morgan, Miriam Hopkins, others.

CLARA BOW

"HER WEDDING NIGHT." Charlie Ruggles, Skeets Gallagher, others. Clara's first love-comedy.

"THE SILENT ENEMY"

"More exciting than Dempsey-Firpo fight," says Grantland Rice. Hit at $2 Criterion, N.Y. Burden-Chanler Prod.



PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS
•
PARAMOUNT SINGLE REEL ACTS
•
PARAMOUNT TWO REEL COMEDIES

PARAMOUNT SCREEN SONGS
•
PARAMOUNT TALKARTOONS
•
PARAMOUNT PICTORIALS

JUST the Start of a Mighty Flood of Super-Product

SIGNING A 1930-31 PARAMOUNT CONTRACT IS SHAKING HANDS WITH PROSPERITY! . . . .

CAMERAS PURR ON AMOS 'N' ANDY

MIGHTIEST STARS OF ALL CREATION WELCOMED TO HOLLYWOOD . . . START WORK ON GREATEST ALL-TIME ATTRACTION . . . .

HERE THEY ARE!

TITAN SMASHES MOW PATH TO LEADERSHIP

Setting the Heart of the World Afire!

DIXIANA

RADIO'S MIGHTY DRAMATIC SPECTACLE

Second Week Orpheum, Los Angeles! Second Week Orpheum, Frisco! Poised for Sweep Engagements Portland, Seattle and Points West!

DANGER LIGHTS

First Great Railroad Melodrama of the Talkers! LOUIS WOLHEIM...ROBERT ARMSTRONG...JEAN ARTHUR. Sensational new sound effects

ESCAPE . . LEATHERNECKING

HALF SHOT AT SUNRISE

CIMARRON

And a Grand Array of Others Moving Swiftly Toward the TITAN Stages . . .

Radio PICTURES

Reg U.S. Pat Off.

The Most Widely Read Page in the Industry

18 Motion Picture News August 2, 1930

The Insiders' Outlook

THAT Roxy-Fox situation is declared nearing a climax, with the parties approaching an agreement on abrogation of the showman's contract. Roxy is slated to join the RCA-RKO interests, as head of the mammoth theatre to be housed in the Radio City project planned for New York.

His contract with Fox still has about two years to run, and although it has been stated repeatedly that no contract has been signed, the inside dope is that the deal is all set, signed and bank-vaulted. It is reported on good authority that the Roxy-RCA agreement was completed when he went to Bermuda in company with N. R. Aylesworth, president of National Broadcasting.

At the time, Roxy called in his whole staff and informed them that he was joining the new venture. Although the Radio City project won't be completed for two years or more, at least, Roxy it is said, is to join NBC's broadcasting activities if agreement to cancel Fox contract is completed.

Big Potatoes

Howard Hughes is no piker when it comes to spending dough. He showed it in the making of "Hell's Angels" and he's emphasizing it in putting over the picture, aided and abetted by Sid Grauman.

Now he's planning to splurge on Broadway like nobody's business. He's just signed for a neon sign to light the street which will cost 75 grand, it is claimed. No indication as to where it's to be hung has been given, but it is promised to be a dazzler.

He intends to top this off with a newspaper campaign which will cost another $100,000. Another $100,000 is being spent for other signs and billposting.

The film is to be presented simultaneously starting Aug. 15 at the Criterion and Gaiety.

The former seats 850. The latter 808. The Criterion can do better than $18,000 weekly. The Gaiety, a few dollars less. Your adding machine might jam in doping this one out with mathematical precision. Regardless of that, you must admit this chap Hughes is either a champ gambler, a sublime believer in everlasting faith or just plumb reckless.

Catechism

A PRECIOUS yarn, this. The story of a coast writer who had the courage to use the word "catechism" in his talker script.

The producer—AA1 example of the kind who rides rough-shod over everybody and everything—asks:

"Why use that kind of language? Nobody will know what you're talking about."

Writer: "Well, you know what it means, don't you?"

Producer: "Me? Of course, I know. It means when something terrible happens."

Yet this producer brags he has made his first million, has a yacht and, while he won't admit it—readily—believes he is touched with genius.

In the Fall

The labor situation may blow up clear into the heavens in the fall. The big chain operators are reported to be primed for a battle—a real, two-fisted, he-man, no quarter affair—by the time the cool weather arrives.

If the signs point at all in the direction they are headed, it might be that, among other matters, 1930 will be marked down as the year in which the circuits and the unions had their roughest set-to. Who will win? You decide.

This Insider does know this: The scrap will be bitter, to the death and one to observe from afar. It'll be safer.

Cash

Warners' theatre acquisitions in Illinois would have made considerably greater progress than is now the case had Chicago theatre owners not been so insistent on receiving cold cash for their leaseholds or properties, according to a Chicago Insider.. Deal after deal for either chain houses or lone indie spots has been held up in Chi, not through haggling over price, as has been supposed, but because of Warners' reported inclination to employ stock certificates for legal tender. Chicago exhibitors, who are willing to sell, for the most part are anxious to get out of the show business entirely. And, the difficulty as far as the buying circuits are concerned, is that they want to get out with cash in hand.

This explanation has been sufficient to make decidedly questionable when Warners will get two chains, comprising about twenty houses, and which were among the first the circuit opened negotiations for on entering the Chicago field.

Clearing the Bar

He came a cropper, this chap. Went for a spell of gambling that got the best of him and, as usual, those willing to step on a fellow when he's hitting the toboggan, did just that and washer their hands of the incident.

But the incident refused to remain closed. The man involved—you'd recognize the name in a minute if this Insider divulged it, which he won't—is staging a come-back. A real one, too.

He's working like the very devil, earning an extremely comfortable stipend and—what is extremely important—paying off his debts as rapidly as earning power permits.

Give him credit. He rates it.

One Middle, Two Ends

If the executive whose personal activities include building of exchanges for his company to buy at a figure in excess of their worth doesn't watch his step his official bankers may have something to say about it. And it won't be pleasant.

If the executive of another company who insists that all theatre acquisitions are cleared through a brokerage firm in which he holds an interest doesn't take care he may find the ground slipping away from under his easy chair. That wouldn't be pleasant, either.

Experience

SOME interesting developments may be in store at the Columbia studio in producing "Tol'able David" as a talker.

Henry King, who made the silent version and piloted it to a "Photoplay" medal for the best picture of its year, picked up his chapeaux and walked off when Harry Cohn began to expound and pound his own ideas as to how the film should be produced.

Those who know King understand why he didn't take it. Those who know Cohn also understand why he tried to give it.

Quaint

THEN there is a favorite Hollywood yarn which always causes snickers, no matter how many times told.

It concerns a prosperous producer. He entertains in the best Hollywood manner and even gets some of the best people around his dinner table. His idea of big business is to have a telephone connected at the dinner table, conduct studio routine, haggle over prices and lay employees out cold while his guests, more often than not, watch the spectacle in amazement.

THE INSIDERS

Published weekly by Motion Picture News, Inc. Founded in September, 1913. Publication, Editorial and General Offices: 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City. William A. Johnston, President and Publisher. E. J. Hudson, Vice-President. Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood. Charles E. Hynes, Managing Editor. James P. Cunningham, News Editor. Raymond E. Gallagher Advertising Manager; Los Angeles Office. Walter K. Towers, Chicago Office. 910 So. Michigan Avenue. Central West Representative. Inc.; United States and Mexico and all U. S. Possessions, Canada, $5.00. Foreign, $10.00. Copyright 1930, by Motion Picture News, Inc. United States and Great Britain. Title registered in U. S. Patent Office and foreign countries. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office, New York, April 22, 1926, under Act of March 3, 1879.

A regular weekly feature of

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

FOR 25 YEARS PATHÉ COMEDIES HAVE LED THE FIELD

The great feature stars of today were PATHÉ COMEDY players of yesterday—PATHÉ picks the best and the public approves the choice with fame and fortune.

PATHÉ Directors, Authors, and Composers are natural-born Creators of snappy gags, high powered puns, hot numbers, graceful melodies and toe-tickling tunes, all in grand ensembles of gorgeous girls surrounding comedy stars whom the Gods destined to make the whole world laugh.

Believe it or not—the public knows this and what the public knows is reflected —every day—in the cash receipts.

PATHÉ

AND FOR 1930-31 PATHÉ IS FARTHER AHEAD THAN EVER

RAINBOW COMEDIES

Fast and furious in all the colors of the rainbow, with a pot of gold for the exhibitor who shows them.

WHOOPEE COMEDIES

Young America makes joy unterrified and undefiled.

MANHATTAN COMEDIES

Sophisticated comedy of Main Streets and the Big Towns. Latest popular songs, new jokes, smart gags.

FOLLY COMEDIES

The foibles of farce and gracefulness presented by the daintiest dancers in the profession.

RODEO COMEDIES

An answer to the public demand for talking Westerns featuring cowboy songs and campfire wit.

MELODY COMEDIES

Musical tabloid with popular singers and dancers. A riot of fast stepping melody.

CAMPUS COMEDIES

College whoopee introducing things not found in the curriculum of any university.

CHECKER COMEDIES

Slapstick in which the big stick of sure-fire entertainment is wielded without restraint.

COMEDIES

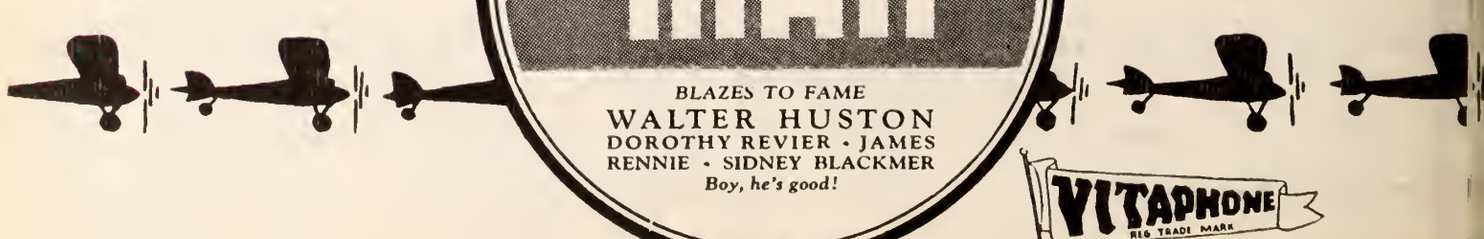
"TOP SPEED"

with FIRST NATIONAL'

RICHARD

Barthelmess

in the Ace Of All Air Epics



The DAWN PATROL

leads the way

Blasted records to smithereens in New York, Boston, Pittsburgh, Chicago, Detroit, Frisco, Seattle, Philadelphia and Portland. With

DOUG. FAIRBANKS, Jr. NEIL HAMILTON

46 Stunt Flyers

The BAD MAN

BLAZES TO FAME

WALTER HUSTON

DOROTHY REVIER • JAMES RENNIE • SIDNEY BLACKMER

Boy, he's good!

VITAPHONE

REG TRADE MARK

"Vitaphone" is the registered trade mark of the Vitaphone Corp. designating its produ

AHEAD

Squadron of Hits!

NUMBERED MEN

FLIES TO VICTORY
with the only true, inside story of jail riots... with BERNICE CLAIRE • CONRAD NAGEL • RAYMOND HACKETT
RALPH INCE

TOP SPEED

Zooms to Glory
with JOE E. BROWN
BERNICE CLAIRE
JACK WHITING LAURA LEE
Records fell in Pittsburgh and Washington (first two showings). Set for runs in country's "A" houses. An Ace of First National's Squadron of Hits.

THE RIGHT of WAY

Reaches New Heights of Dramatic Achievement with CONRAD NAGEL • LORETTA YOUNG • FRED KOHLER

SCARLET PAGES

Hits The Heart Of Womanhood
Introduces ELSIE FERGUSON
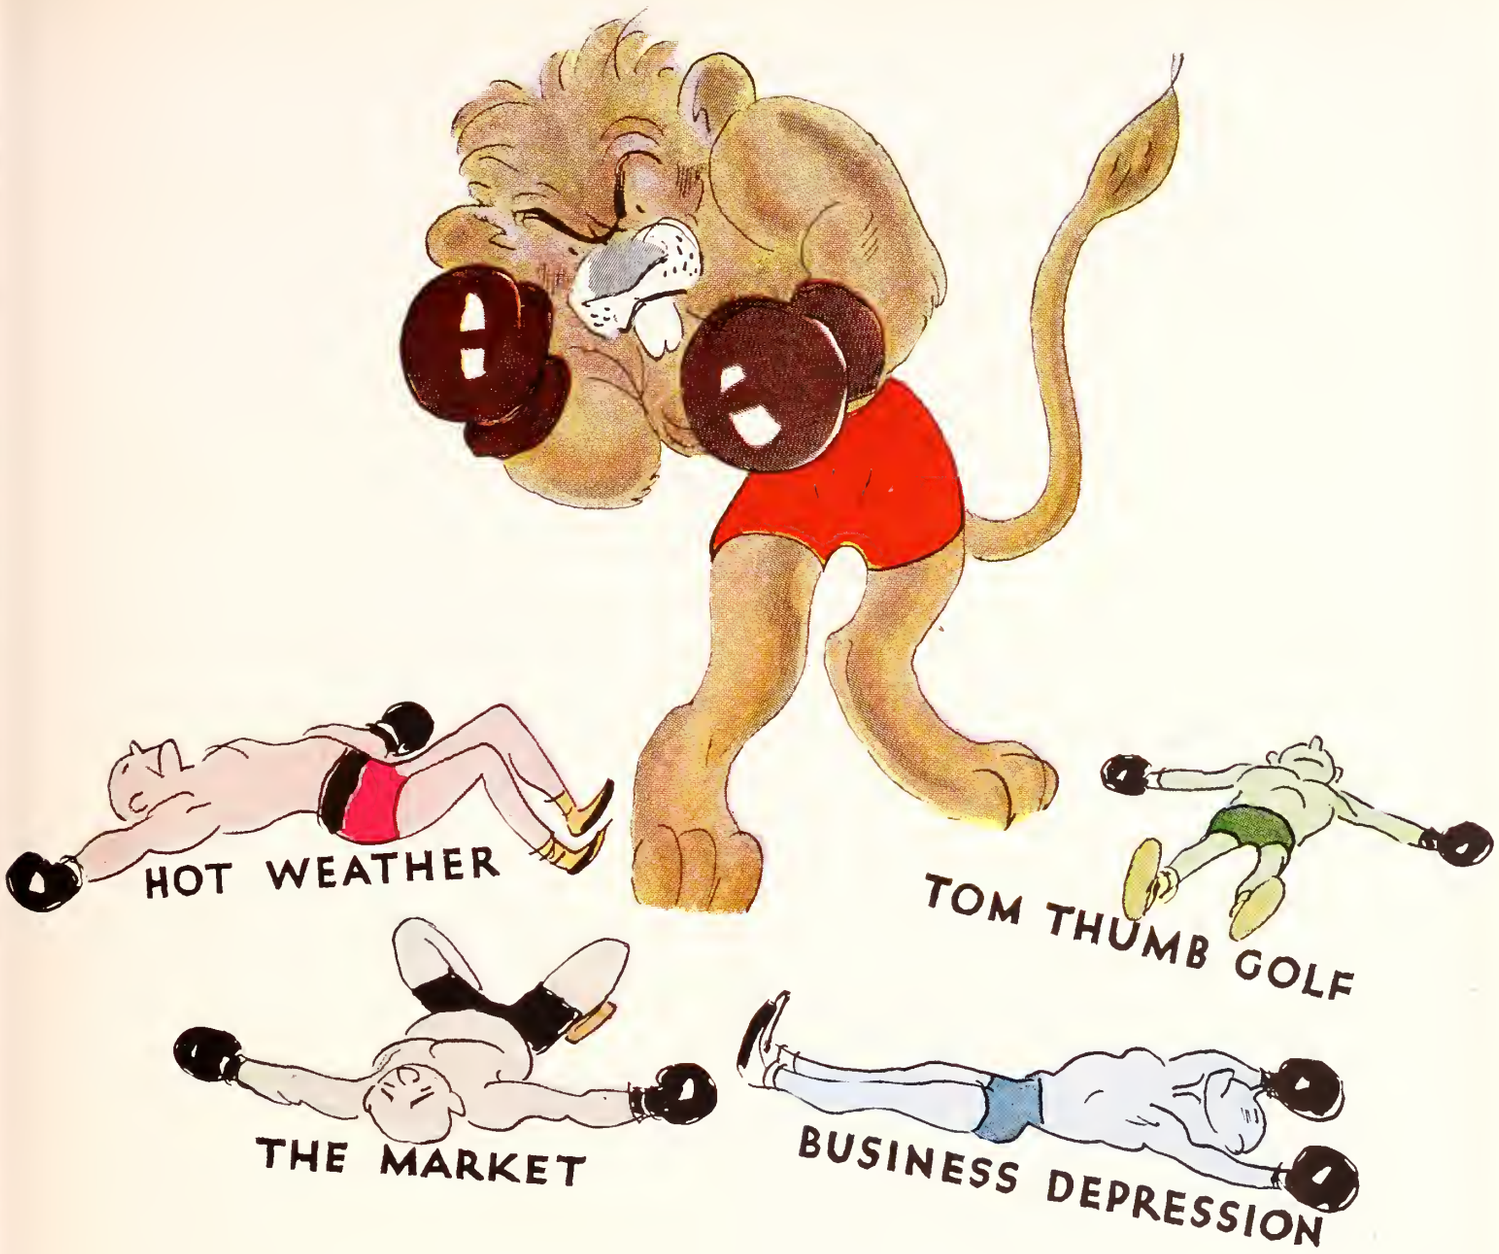
to the talking screen
with Marion Nixon, Grant Withers, John Halliday

Smiles of appreciation on the lips of exhibitors who have bought First National product turn to laughs of content as release after release continues to hold the high level of merchandise and entertainment value.

Soon to take their place in this squadron of hits are Otis Skinner in "KISMET," Lewis Stone and Leon Janney in "FATHER'S SON," Marilyn Miller in "SUNNY," and Edward G. Robinson heading a starring cast of names in "LITTLE CAESAR."

FIRST NATIONAL WILL CONTINUE FIRST!

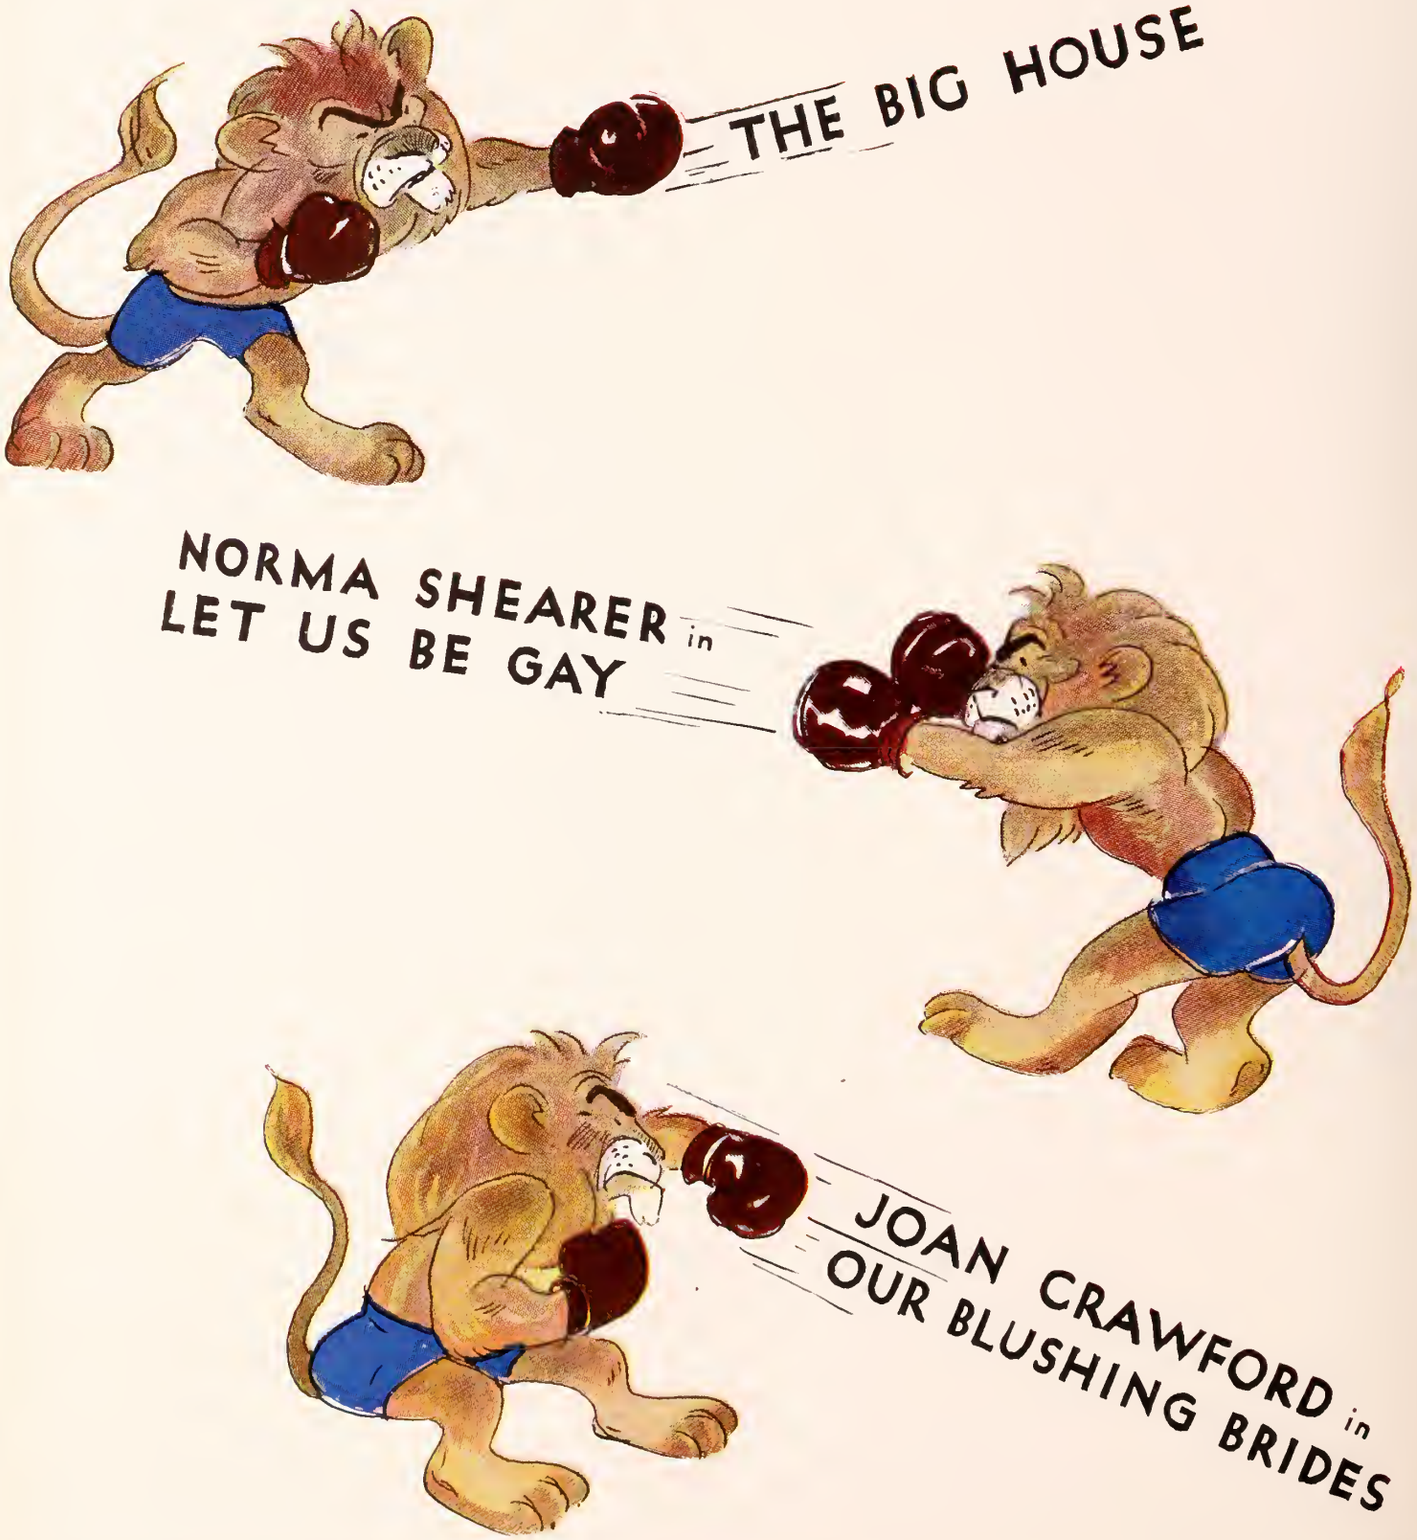
FIRST AND OLDEST



Biographical Reference Work in the Industry

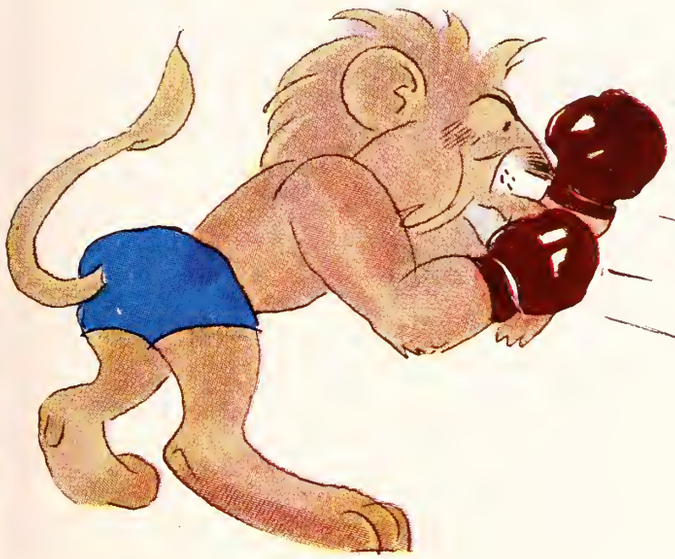
MOTION PICTURE NEWS BLUE BOOK—complete data for busy studio executives and newspaper and magazine photoplay editors on the important people who write, produce, direct, enact, sell and advertise motion pictures.

CHESTER B. BAHN



Motion Picture Editor of the Syracuse Herald, in a recent edition, wrote:

"Quite frequently customers of this department as well as members of The Herald-WSYR Radio Movie Club express curiosity as to the source of intimate facts concerning screen stars typed or broadcast by your reporter. Receipt of the 1930 edition of MOTION PICTURE NEWS BLUE BOOK makes pertinent the disclosure that this annual volume is the authority. Without it as aid, I venture the opinion that movie writers would be lost indeed."



WHERE WOULD THIS INDUSTRY BE RIGHT NOW WITHOUT METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER'S SENSATIONAL SERIES OF HITS?

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER PICTURES ARE LICKING ALL OPPOSITION!

GRETA GARBO in ROMANCE

DRESSLER-MORAN in CAUGHT SHORT

NORMA SHEARER in
THE DIVORCEE

WILLIAM HAINES in WAY OUT WEST

AND A PUNCH IN EITHER FIST FOR NEXT SEASON—

1930-31 FIGHT CARD

KID LEO

of M-G-M

vs.

OPPOSITION

52 from "LUCKY STAR" PRODUCTIONS METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

MARION DAVIES (3)
JOAN CRAWFORD (4)
GRETA GARBO (3)
RAMON NOVARRO (3)
NORMA SHEARER (2)
LON CHANEY (1)
JOHN GILBERT (2)
LAWRENCE TIBBETT (2)
BUSTER KEATON (2)
COSMOPOLITAN (4) (GRACE MOORE)
WILLIAM HAINES (4)
DRESSLER & MORAN (2)

LUCKY STAR PRODUCTIONS (20)

GOOD NEWS
MERRY WIDOW
NAUGHTY MARIETTA
BILLY THE KID
TRADER HORN
MADAM SATAN (Cecil DeMille)
LOVE IN THE ROUGH
TAMPICO
THE CRISIS
MARCH OF TIME
PASSION FLOWER
MONSIEUR LE FOX
DARK STAR
WAR NURSE
THOSE THREE FRENCH GIRLS
BALLYHOO
WORLD'S ILLUSION
DANCE FOOLS DANCE
THE GREAT MEADOW
DIXIE, THE DARK HORSE

SHORT SUBJECTS

6 M-G-M DOGVILLE COMEDIES
6 LAUREL & HARDY COMEDIES
8 CHARLEY CHASE COMEDIES
8 OUR GANG COMEDIES
8 "BOY FRIENDS" COMEDIES
M-G-M COLORTONE REVUES (8)
NOVELTY GROUP (4)
BURTON HOLMES (12)
FLIP THE FROG (12 CARTOON)
HEARST METROTONE NEWS (104)

It's a push-over for METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

"Your Lucky Star"

VOLUME XLII
NUMBER 6

Motion Picture News

NEW YORK CITY
AUGUST 9, 1930

Bankers, Aroused Over Yarns of Graft, Order Sweeping, Secret Investigation

Here's the Guy Who Started It

Discovered, hiding away in the hill-billy mountains of Tennessee, one real estate operator named Garnet Carter, the gent who is wanted by exhibitors far and wide for stating those Tom Thumb golf courses. Carter hit upon the idea three years ago and became a millionaire over night. He receivs a royalty on all courses sold, average price of which is about $2,000.

The New York Sun estimates the combined total of courses to reach 6,000, dotting every section of the country.

Probe to Embrace New York and Hollywood Alike— Clean-Up Demanded

A housecleaning, ordered by the bankers, is about to get under way with no waiting until spring to get it started.

Reports of graft riding rampant through several picture organizations and reaching right up into high executive chambers are being wafted from Times Square to Wall Street and the odor the stories is kicking up in financial circles is anything but pleasant.

Emissaries of several banking groups who are heavily interested in motion pictures are on the hunt for evidence with every expectation that they will get it before their search is ended. Fortified with the facts, as they confidently expect they will be before the digging-in process is ended, the dope will then be submitted to the downtown moguls, who are expected to take speedy action in calling upon the guilty individuals for an explanation coupled with a firm insistence that they discontinue the practice.

It is easily possible that several treasuries will be reinforced with the funds, in part or in toto, which have been diverted from the strong boxes as commissions.

Hollywood—The ugly spectre of graft, long suspicioned by bankers for the picture industry, is about to be brought into the open. Secret investigators from New York are about to alight on Hollywood to discover what they can about the under-cover activities at the studios.

The colony is full of yarns about players, directors and writers dropped by certain organizations upon contract expirations only to be re-employed at higher figures with much of the monetary difference between the old contract and the new going to agents for splits with the higher-ups.

How far the probe will get is a question. That it will be thorough is a fact. Few in the colony are expected to come into the open, fearing that they will eventually find studios doors closed to them if it should become known that their evidence aided the investigators in fixing graft charges where they belong.

Maybe Clara Bow Engagement'd Be Easier Comeback

Hollywood—Just think of it, a burglar awed by Douglas Fairbanks, his victim, and apologizing for the "intrusion" after entering the Fairbanks home. That's the story "Doug" tells adding that he gave the youth $35 in bills and sold him the idea it was dangerous to ransack the house. His salesmanship saved Mary Pickford's jewelry, according to Fairbanks' version.

The matter was not reported to the police, so there will be no investigation, but there has been a suspicion—just the faintest—that the story may have some connection with the reported waning prestige of the Fairbankses due to the talker rage and a desire to crash a few headlines.

Bankers May Put Colvin Brown at Pathe Helm Again

Colvin W. Brown, former executive vice-president of Pathe, may be returned to that company at the invitation of the company's bankers. The report, emanating from inside Wall Street circles, is unconfirmable, but follows on the heels of Phil Reisman's withdrawal as general sales manager to join Universal in a similar capacity.

It is understood the bankers, in digging into the Pathe situation, emerged extremely well satisfied with the showing made by the company under Brown's tutelage and that, in view of past performance, the former operating head may shortly be asked if he is interested in again taking over his old post.

Is Joe Leo In Or Out? Clarke Must Dope This One

Harley L. Clarke will soon determine exactly what he proposes to do about Joe Leo, brother-in-law of William Fox and president of the former Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, Inc., until the new regime at Fox replaced him with Harry C. Arthur.

Leo has a contract. When the switch was made, he was given a 90-day vacation with instructions to report to W. J. Michel, one of Clarke's advisors at Fox, upon expiration of the holiday. Leo did so on Tuesday and was told to take a couple of more weeks of play until Clarke decided what he wanted Leo to do.

If Leo is assigned duties, he will be the only former William Fox-allied executive to be active in the company's affairs. There is a possibility his contract may be settled for cash.

Fox himself is on the payroll at $10,000 a week as the chairman of a phantom advisory committee. This arrangement is scheduled to run for five years and is part of the deal Fox made with Clarke when he sold out his Class B voting stock.

Ben Zeidman Quits After Story "Jam"

Hollywood—Because he disagreed with B. P. Schulberg, general manager of Coast production, over a story, Bennie Zeidman has resigned as an associate producer for Paramount. He is joining Columbia as an associate producer.

Despite the disagreement, the parting was a friendly one, Zeidman told Motion Picture News. He had been a Paramount associate producer for three years.

Returning to Film Board If Arbitration Renewed

Cleveland—When and if arbitration is resumed in this territory, independent distributors intend to renew their cancelled membership in the Film Board. The independents pulled out when compulsory arbitration was declared illegal, feeling that expense of membership no longer was warranted.

Motion Picture News

Vol. XLII NEW YORK CITY, AUGUST 9, 1930 No. 6

THE SADDEST COMEDY OF THEM ALL

HOLLYWOOD has broken loose again. All over this country, unsavory reports of the film colony's infidelities and the bad behavior of its citizenry are reaching an insatiable public via newspaper headlines that scream their stories.

In the last six months, Hollywood has been a newspaper man's paradise. If he looked for divorce, he found it—plenty of it. If it was dishonesty in filing tax reports, he found that. If his search fell as low as an open brawl in a public restaurant or at a private party, that, too, was there ready to be picked up and flashed the length and breadth of the land.

Hollywood Is the Pacemaker

The nation is being furnished a spectacle that doesn't reflect any surplus credit on the kinds of men and women who make up this industry. It may be unfair for the business as a whole, but in the public eye, we are judged as Hollywood acts.

Isn't it ironic and futile for Will Hays or any other mentor of motion pictures to drill into the consciousness of women's clubs and church organizations the doctrine of moral and artistic standards in production when Hollywood notables, by their very acts, are perpetually tearing down the creed that Hays is endeavoring to rear?

In the eyes of those who think, the situation must be funny. It would be laughable for the industry as well if so much were not at stake.

Why Are the Leaders Waiting?

TODAY this business rests in a half dozen or more hands. The men at the helm are in a position to tell miscreants in Hollywood or elsewhere exactly what to do and what not to do. Five years ago, this would have been theory. Now it is fact. Indisputable, argument-proof fact.

Yet so far as the record has divulged they do little or nothing about it, content that luck, or Providence, or who knows what will carry them through.

On the other hand, if the men whose companies have millions involved are not sufficiently interested to effectively choke off recurrences of the Hollywood ilk, editorializing won't swing the tide in the right direction.

IT seems to this writer that a considerable fuss was once made over morality clauses inserted in contracts. The purpose was to keep some of the bad boys and girls in their proper places.

If such clause does exist, why isn't it invoked? If it does not, why doesn't it? Why the dilly-dallying tactics when strong arm measures are necessary to knock common sense into a lot of silly, irresponsible heads?

This business, despite its years, has an inexplicable way of either overlooking or dodging its major problems. This Hollywood spree presages ultimate censorship far and wide and jeopardized box-offices. And not a solitary thing done about it!

An Exhibitor Feels the Pinch

FROM a Pacific Northwest exhibitor:

"The operation of theatres successfully, these days, seems to become more and more difficult. The added cost of sound, with little or no increase in receipts, has made profit more and more difficult. It appears to us that there must be some relief, or many smaller houses will be forced to close. We are asked nowadays to pay as much for a music score to a feature as the whole feature cost in silent days, yet the picture does little or no more business than many a silent picture did three or four years ago. Sound news cost frequently ten times as much as the old silent news used to cost. Sound acts cost much more than old time silent comedies—and so on down the line.

"Here is a real problem for the owner and manager."

Old stuff, you say? Perhaps, but perilously grave to the exhibitor who penned it. Crowding the little fellow to the wall won't help the big companies or the business.

There must be a halt.

100 Pennies Make a Dollar

IT may arrive sooner than you think. This is why: The producer chains formerly computed their combined weekly profits well up in the hundreds of thousands. Today Publix, for instance, loses $40,000 in a week and everyone from Sam Katz down views it as a miracle.

Where the theatres flop, the sales force must make good. It is consequently important to keep the little man alive and as prosperous as conditions make it possible. Squeezing until the eyes pop won't do; the distributor knows it and may be expected to govern himself accordingly.

KANN

Allied May Renounce New Contract As Protection Protest; Units in All Keys

Plans Drafted To Extend Allied Ass'n. to All Exchange Centers

Minneapolis—Allied States Ass'n. will organize a unit in every exchange center under a plan adopted by the executive committee meeting here. Des Moines will be the first objective, Allied leaders attending the convention Aug. 12 by invitation.

Support of the Tiffany franchise was voted and a new drive to sell franchise under consideration.

Plans were agreed upon for financing of the association through a deal soon to be announced. Attending the sessions here were Abram F. Myers, president; H. M. Richey, Detroit; Henry Staab and Steve Bauer, Milwaukee; Col. H. A. Cole, Dallas; Aaron Saperstein, Chicago.

The Rocky Mountain unit, at its Denver meeting last week voted confidence in Allied and paid initial dues of $500, directors were told. Proposal to make the organization bulletin a semi-monthly publication was under discussion at the sessions here.

Bill Fox Off To Late Golf Start, May Plunge Later

William (Bill) Fox is not going into the miniature golf racket on a wholesale scale, but intends to confine his activity—for this year at least—to the two 18-hole courses built by him smack against the rear wall of one of his major coups in the days when he was active head of the Fox enterprises: the Roxy.

William Fox

Fox found himself interested in Tom Thumbs too late this summer to enter the field actively. What will happen next summer hinges entirely around whether or not the golf bug still bites when the warm days of 1931 roll around.

During his seven weeks' stay in Atlantic City, Fox was one day persuaded to try his luck at a local course. It was then that he was first impressed with the possibilities. The layout in back of the Roxy followed.

Teddy and Moe Altman, cousins of Mrs. Fox, are operating the course, which occupies part of the plot owned by Fox personally and which is now used as an auto parking space.

The game is operated on practically a 24-hour basis and gets its heaviest play when the midnight show of the Roxy winds up around one o'clock. The course is the only one in the Times Square district and is a clean-up.

At Allied Meet

Abram F. Myers

W. A. Steffes

H. M. Richey

Aaron Saperstein

They're Selling "U" Once More; Cochrane Says No

The open season for mergers in so far as Universal is concerned gets under way in September or later, declares R. H. Cochrane, in nailing the latest report which has the Laemmle organization swinging to R-K-O.

Cochrane supposes the story was placed in circulation because of the booking deal just closed between the two companies. "That deal runs one year," he said, "and it covers just what it purports to cover: an arrangement whereby Universal product plays the R-K-O string of theatres. Beyond that, nothing."

Mary's Twiddling Had Better Continue—Or Else

Hollywood—Mary Lewis, former grand opera star and—maybe some day picture star, is becoming impatient twiddling her thumbs on the sidelines while Pathe scouts around for a "suitable" vehicle. In fact, Mary's nerves are keyed to such a tense pitch, that she threatens to sue Pathe over her contract. Which is okay with Pathe, but so the story goes, the company plans to have nothing to do with her if she brings suit.

The agreement, made over the "mike" between Mary and A. B. Derr, is understood to have a loophole in that there was no starting time specified by either party.

Extended Clearance May Block Ratification, Leaders Indicate

Minneapolis—Protection, discussion of which was sidetracked at the 5-5-5 conferences, may prove the bugbear which will throw a monkey wrench into the contract machinery, preventing its ratification.

The alleged tendency of distributor-owned theatres to increase their zone protection to excessive limits, may cause the independents to throw overboard the proposed standard licensing agreement drafted at the 5-5-5 sessions.

That was indicated here at the meeting of the executive committee of Allied States Ass'n., where alleged excessive protection demands were denounced bitterly. Allied wants a national board to pass upon any protection controversy which may arise between zone committee members, and may refuse to ratify the licensing agreement unless such a board is created.

Some exchanges, so Allied leaders charge, are acting to violate the understanding of the proposed terms of the new contract, which is seen as another possible stumbling block to ratification.

Allied soon is to publish an analysis of the proposed licensing agreement.

Hanson Intimates Allied to Invade Kansas City Zone

Kansas City—Report that Allied States Ass'n. would invade the Kansas City territory became current last week when Oscar Hanson, Tiffany sales manager, made a remark to that effect while stopping off here en route to Detroit. Hanson did not say where he heard the report.

Oscar Hanson

The Tiffany sales manager had been in Denver, where he had attended a convention of the Rocky Mountain Theatre Owners' Ass'n. which renewed its affiliation with Allied States.

Exhibitors expressed ignorance regarding any effort by Allied to establish a unit here, although it was reported last winter that a group of exhibitors were organizing for the purpose of seeking Allied affiliation. The M. P. Theatres Ass'n. of Kansas and Western Missouri is affiliated with the M. P. T. O. A. The association officials declared they knew nothing of a proposed Allied unit here.

The Insiders' Outlook

THEY'RE praying to the rain gods these days. In every important office in New York and reflected throughout the country's major cities, invisible shrines have been thrown up and the mental kow-towing is under way.

It is now almost ten weeks since the country, by and large, has had a rainy week-end. Friday, Saturday and Sunday—again figuring in averages—represent half or more of the weekly receipts. When the daily reports for those three days are digested each Monday morning, the circuit head can tell whether or not his houses will go into the black or tinge themselves with red for that week. There hasn't been any color blindness this summer.

The big circuits are taking it on the chin as never before in their history. Perhaps the best intrenched of them all is Publix. Amazing but true, the chain came through a week's skirmish recently with only a $250 loss. Its deepest dip into the crimson stopped at $40,000.

Fox theatres (Eastern division) and Warners are six figures in the red weekly, so the adding machine hounds figure it. The Loew circuit, with prices reduced in many of its New York houses and vaudeville ripped out of all but a half dozen or more, has increased its numerical turnover and is understood to be about holding its own. RKO isn't doing any bragging.

Giggle Water

Three or four years ago he was a rather prominent duck in production. Managed a then-important star, had his own unit, selected stories for her and pretty much lorded all the terrain he saw.

But times have changed. The star has lost some of her brilliance. The subject of this discourse has been hitting the bottle day in and day out. His behavior has been so bad for so long that paroles are about out of the question.

Today he's in Hollywood raising hell. When he's sober, he is trying to land a job. So far he hasn't succeeded. And perhaps he won't. Production wheels are whirling too rapidly to be bothered with sad young men who don't know how to conduct themselves.

On the Spot

Hiram Brown left New York rather suddenly a short time back. When he next emerged in print he was in Hollywood. Lee Marcus hit the coast about the same time. Why?

Because Radio is more than a bit concerned with both the quality of its output and the amount of money it costs to turn that output out. It is an open secret that the pictures coming through from the coast haven't hit as many high spots as either the sales staff or the theatre department here in New York had anticipated. Therefore, the trek westward of Brown and Marcus to talk it all over with Bill Le Baron.

And there that remains for the present.

This Needs Light

WHAT is behind Howard Hughes' purchase of screen rights to "Queer People," the Hollywood expose termed the worst insult and affront to the film capital ever published?

Surely, Hughes, who now is embarked on the task of getting back some of the millions he dumped into the making and remaking of "Hell's Angels," hardly can expect cheers from the industry over announcement that he will film the book. And if he carries out what to this Insider looks like a false step, it surely won't do his "Hell's Angels" any good.

Of course, as announced, the story is to be toned down in such a way that it won't be offensive to anyone, but it will take a magician to turn the trick. The book has been called a collection of filth and garbage, giving the impression that all Hollywood is rotten. It's a story of the hangers-on of the Coast metropolis, but the publisher states on the book's jacket that it depicts every strata of Hollywood society.

Garrett Graham, publicity and title writer, and Carroll Graham, publicity writer, are authors of the novel, which contains thinly-disguised characterizations of picture people.

It's pretty hard to imagine Hughes filming such a novel and from the Coast come whisperings that the picture never will be made.

Why then the purchase? This needs light.

Weakening the Chain

He sits his comfortable frame in New York, rarely mixes with the field force which he is directing and, therefore, simply doesn't know this.

Yet this circuit head's practice of bringing outsiders in whenever he creates or revamps a division is raising a tempest of unrest with his managers on the firing line. These front liners figure they are either buried under the weight of political chicanery or incompetent management, see little in store for them under the present regime and naturally are finding their morale and their enthusiasm sinking to lower and lower levels.

Serious About It

The code of advertising has been resting quietly in its haven for some time now. But, merely to keep the record straight, it is of interest to pass on word that in one office at least, the letter of the code is taken seriously. Publix is that office.

The official word has been passed around that the code will be adhered to—right to the letter—or the transgressor thrown out on his ear. All of which would indicate that Sam Katz has been code-impressed.

His is the only spot in New York that feels that way about it. At least, so far as this Insider has been able to discover.

Spying

A system of espionage which savors of the old time German system, for its thoroughness, is maintained by one large company. Constant surveillance of employes is the result. In its theatres, particularly does this company spy on its workers, with a corps of stool piegons and spotters who keep the home office promptly and minutely informed if any of its managers makes a false step, or is not putting in the required number of hours—and they are plenty.

Treading Cautiously

The storm signals are set and the barometer may hit a new low before the year is out.

The Zukor organization is now in operating control of the Famous Players Canadian Corporation, the Dominion's biggest picture company. It may be, and probably is, political that agitation against American domination is being revived up above the line. But regardless of how or why, it is a fact that Paramount in New York is proceeding gingerly in the conduct of its affairs in Canada.

Somewhere on the horizon is the danger of an official investigation. If it comes, expect flag waving, shouts of imperialism and a generally uncomfortable time for Zukor in Canada, what later?

Probably nothing at all.

THE INSIDERS

Published weekly by Motion Picture News, Inc. Founded in September, 1913. Publication, Editorial and General Offices: 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City, William A. Johnson, President and Publisher; E. J. Hudson, Vice-President; Maurice Kann, Editor; Charles F. Hynes, Managing Editor; James P. Cunningham, News Editor; Raymond E. Gallagher, Advertising Manager; Los Angeles Office; Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood; Walter R. Greene, Western Representative. Chicago Office: 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Harry E. Holquist, Central West Representative. Subscription Price, $3.00 per year in United States, Mexico and all U. S. Possessions. Canada, $5.00. Foreign, $10.00. Copyright 1930, by Motion Picture News, Inc., United States and Great Britain. Title registered in United States Patent Office and foreign countries. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office, New York, April 22, 1926, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Protection Knotted in Number of Keys With Exhibs Awaiting U. S. Coast Trial

Wants Hays Indicted

Indianapolis—He intends to go before the Federal Grand Jury and demand indictment of Will H. Hays for alleged criminal conspiracy, Frank J. Rembusch declared at a meeting of the zoning committee here. Rembusch contends that zoning is illegal and in restraint of trade; also that the drafting of the proposed licensing agreement violates Federal laws and the Thacher decree. Spirited discussion marked the meeting of the zoning committee here.

Distribs Trying To Untangle Chi Protection Jam

Chicago—With the blow-up of joint rezoning conferences between committees of distributors and exhibitors here, distributors are now meeting alone in an effort to work out a new protection system for the city and state.

Utmost secrecy surrounded the meeting at the Chicago Film Board of Trade, at which Felix Mendelssohn presided. No word of the meeting was made public to any but those invited to serve on the distributors' executive committee. Not only were no representatives of the exhibitors invited to attend the meeting, but numerous prominent exchangemen here, likewise, were unaware that the new cession was under way. A few members of the committee even denied that a meeting had been held.

It is believed that the insistence of the Hays' office on some sort of a revision of the present protection system in Chicago and the state led to the calling of the executive session. The rezoning conferences broke up here after two months without any agreement being reached on a change in the old protection systems. These systems have never been drafted in legal, written form, but were operative as a generally understood agreement.

Apart on All Points

This situation has made it impossible for Chicago distributors to furnish the Hays' office with a legal draft of the zoning regulations enforced here, and this fact, it is believed, has led the Hays' office to insist that the rezoning conferences do not end until revisions in the present system have been made which will permit a legal draft of them to be supplied.

Unable to agree on any point at 20 joint meetings which were marked by constant arguing between the distributors and exhibitors, it is believed the distributors hope, now, to achieve some sort of an understanding by themselves. Just what they hope to accomplish alone could not be learned, but the committee has several more executive sessions scheduled for next week.

Chicago, Iowa and Texas Meetings Prove Merry-Go-Round Affairs

All is not quiet along the protection front as date nears for trial of the government's conspiracy case against Fox West Coast, Harold B. Franklin and a number of distributors, to be heard at Los Angeles. The date, postponed several times, is now August 15.

The effort to reduce clearance schedules to a written agreement between distributors and exhibitors in each key is hitting a snag in a number of cities, and indications are that some exhibitors plan to sit tight to see "which way the wind blows" in the government action. The proposed zoning agreements, it is stated, are sought by distributors to counteract the government's action.

L. A. Only Spot Set

So far, Los Angeles is the only territory where the new plan has been signed, sealed and delivered. Detroit has renewed its zoning agreement, as is the annual custom, with but few changes made. The zoning schedules adopted there were not part of the present nation-wide effort for adoption of zoning standards.

The Chicago protection meetings proved a bust after two months of wrangling. Iowa exhibitors are sizzling with resentment over the protection proposals, intending to attack the legality of protection and Texas independents have refused to be a party to the proposed protection agreement which would grant clearance outside of the town where the theatre is located. Other cities also are reported experiencing protection difficulties.

Cleveland Sets New Schedules Of Protection

Cleveland—There are only a few minor differences to iron out in the rezoning schedules drafted for this territory. Practically all details were agreed to unanimously by the committee present at the meeting, which included P. J. Wood, chairman, Harry V. Smoots Mt. Vernon; H. D. Shreffler, Shelby; A. J. Paul, Galion; J. L. Damn, Wadsworth; John Pekras, Elyria; Jules Schwartz, Painesville; C. M. Young, Bowling Green and Napoleon; Martin Smith, Toledo; Dan Robbins, Warren; M. B. Horwitz, Cuyahoga Falls. Members of the exhibitor committee on state zoning not present at the meeting were L. F. Eick, Martins Ferry; Henry Bieberson, Delaware; C. W. Brown, Zanesville, and Joe Trunk, Youngstown.

Continue Cleveland Work

Cleveland—Drafting of proposed zoning schedules for this territory were being continued this week.

Experience

Chicago—The story is told of a local exchange man who sat in at a card game. After he had come out second or third best in spite of some nice hands dealt him he grew, first, cautious, then bewildered. Finally, after drawing five aces and betting the limit he watched an opponent lay down six kings.

"Say," he exclaimed in disgust, "what kind of a poker game do you fellows call this, anyway?"

"Poker?" was the response. "Why, we've been playing pinochle."

Iowa Girds For Hot Court Battle Over Protection

Des Moines.—Distributors opened up an old sore when they started protection meetings here, and independent exhibitors are plenty peeved. Their meeting, Aug. 12, is expected to be a sizzler, and they plan action to test the legality of the protection demands made by Publix. State senators and representatives of other cities where there have been jams over protection are to be invited to attend the sessions.

A committee has been named to investigate the legal phase of the matter. It is headed by F. P. Martin. The Democratic candidate for governor is quoted as being strongly opposed to protection and to have advised independent exhibitors to "get legal advice and scrap it out."

The association probably will undergo a shakeup in its officers at the meeting Tuesday. While E. P. Smith has kept harmony during his terms as president, he is not militant enough to suit some of the younger leaders. Clifford Niles, a fighter and with considerable political influence, is being boomed for the presidency.

Protection Over Adjoining Towns Vetoed in Texas

Dallas—Texas independents will not sanction any protection agreement which provides clearance for a theatre over houses outside its town, nor will they be party to any standardized protection set-up based on admission prices.

In taking this stand, the Allied Theatre Owners of Texas flatly rejected the plan proposed by the Film Board. This provided for protection of 25 miles for some Publix houses. Publix had asked from 30 to 50 miles, it is stated. The stand on admission price zoning was in the belief that it would violate the state anti-trust statute.

Yen for Headline Prestige, General Distrust May Wreck 4-Zone Split-Up

Swinging to Legit!

After a run of "Moby Dick," Warners' Hollywood, New York, which opened Thursday, is slated to go legit, it is understood, with Connolly & Swanstrom operating the house. The theatre has had one of the briefest careers of picture houses on record, having folded a few weeks after its opening, ostensibly for repairs. The Warners, located directly across the street on Broadway, which also has been dark this summer, reopens Aug. 24 with "Old English."

E. B. Derr Aims To Spike Pathe, RKO Pool Story

Regarded as spiking reports that the company is to be taken over by or merged with RKO, announcement of the 1931-32 Pathe program is to be made in New York by E. B. Derr, Pathe president, who arrives Tuesday from the Coast.

E. B. Derr

Derr some time ago launched the 20 pictures which are to comprise the 1930-31 line-up and his New York visit is the first since he took over the reins of production. Ten of the 20 pictures on the new schedule are completed or under way.

Derr last week appointed E. J. O'Leary to the post of general sales manager, succeeding Phil Reisman, who resigned to accept a similar post with Universal. Conferences with the new sales chief, and with C. J. Scollard, executive vice president, are included on the Derr program.

Charles Giegerich

Another change in the Pathe ranks is the appointment of Charles Giegerich to the head of the advertising and publicity department. G. R. O'Neil, who has been handling the department, hereafter is to concentrate on exploitation.

Giegerich comes to Pathe from Power's Cinephone, where he has handled sales and advertising and exploitation. He is succeeded there by Harry Post.

Gelsey at "U" City

Hollywood—Erwins S. Gelsey now is serving as scenario editor at Universal City. He recently resigned a similar post at the New York Paramount studio.

Nat'l Circuit Heads Eager to Stay As Is—Bankers May Force Step, However

The road leading to ultimate completion of that much-discussed four zoning plan for producer-owned theatres in the United States looks like a rocky one.

To begin with, the personalities involved in such a division of exhibition interests may easily prove to be weighty enough to kill the entire scheme. It is understood some of the headliners, long identified with national theatre operation, don't relish the idea of having their activities reduced to the territorial limitations defined in the proposed agreement.

If this argument is sufficiently strong to win out, it is pointed out it won't be the first time in the history of the industry that what might otherwise be considered strategic business has been sidetracked in favor of the personal equation.

Full of Suspicions

Another factor is the rather general distrust of each other's tactics which some of the principals take little pains to conceal. During the week, one important executive described the business methods of another theatre man in the sort of language that won't look well in print. The word-slinger may not know it, but the executive he so picturesquely described feels the same way about him.

Yet in the background lurk the bankers whose prime interest is in the profit side of the ledger. Several sources who are familiar with the general terms of the zoning plan aren't at all certain but that the financial interests sponsoring the idustry may force the adoption of the split over the heads of protesting executives on the ground that dips into the red cannot under any circumstances be countenanced for reasons of pride or personal aggrandizement.

No Decision by Publix

First move in the general direction of zoning may yet be the deal whereby Publix turns over its theatres in ten western cities to Fox West Coast. Tip-off of the move, reported exclusively in Motion Picture News last week, created a furore in the trade and was openly laughed at by those who thought they knew what was going on but didn't.

It develops now that, if the transfer is made, the houses switched to Fox will be turned over on a long-term leasing basis, relieving Paramount of a weekly loss fluctuating between $15,000 and $18,000 and at the same time assuring Paramount product the representation which Adolph Zukor and S. R. Kent feel it must have from Denver west.

There has been some discussion of a sale, the price on the inside being reported at $55,000,000. Latest developments, however, lean toward a leasing deal instead.

It's a Gag

Providence—When exhibitors in this town heard the quip about Uncle Sam designating the state of Rhode Island as the site for an official Tom Thumb golf course, they took it good naturedly, but when backers of the vest-pocket edition started their invasion of local towns, there was another tune. The squawks were plenty when the first course opened, and grew louder as newly erected signs on vacant lots told of others being constructed.

No Merger With Paramount Says Schenck of U. A.

Hollywood—No, siree, there is to be no merger of Paramount and United Artists. Take it from Joseph M. Schenck, president of the latter company, who stated he had closed a deal for showing of U. A. pictures in Publix houses, while in New York. That's a laugh, for Publix has a franchise, under terms of which it must play all U. A. pictures for a period of years.

Joseph M. Schenck

Negotiations for playing time in new Publix houses or acquisitions are under way by Al Lichtman, head of distribution of United Artists. Lichtman recently completed a deal which gives the company representation over the Warner circuit.

Al Lichtman

Publix has a franchise for Warner pictures, but theatres added to the string within the last two years are negotiated for separately.

Considerable surprise is being occasioned by sale of the new United Artists product to Joseph Quittner at Middletown, N. Y., where Quittner is engaged in a bitter fight with Publix. Similar deals are reported under way in other controversial spots where Publix is involved.

Schenck Denies

Hollywood—There is no truth in report that he will sell his interest in Art Cinema Corp. to Howard H. Hughes, states Joseph M. Schenck, head of Art Cinema and United Artists.

Raskob Reported as Slated for Warner Board Chairmanship; Dividend Passed

Page the Ethics Code

Robert Mongomery in "Our Blushing Brides"—"I never miss anything." Joan Crawford: "When you grow up you'll learn that men don't brag about that."

Dunning Process To "Dub" Talkers Nabbed by Radio

Radio Pictures is understood to have closed for the Dunning process, a "dubbing" system by which players singing and talking in foreign languages may be photographed separately and "dubbed" into American talkers for distribution overseas.

Carroll Dunning, who, it is reported, controls the process together with Frederick Zelnik, German producer, made three sequences for "Half Shot at Sunrise" while the American version was under way, using German players and singers. The German scenes are reported to have turned out better than the American.

It is probable that a syndicate will be formed with Dunning and Zelnick jointly interested. Small stages, with back drops will be maintained in Berlin, London, Paris, Madrid and Rome, with foreign players on call. The sponsors of the system are said to feel that the small foreign markets of the world, now considered out of the running because of cost involved in making talker versions in their language, will now be reopened.

Hollywood reports have it that a foreign version of "Babes in Toyland," for instance, will cost between $25,000 and $35,000 as against an American negative cost of $500,000.

Dunning and Zelnick are in New York from the Coast, but efforts to reach them have been unsuccessful. They are here, however, to discuss production plans with Radio officials, including Joseph I. Schnitzer, who returns from Europe Monday.

Ferri in New York

Roger Ferri, editor of Fox Dynamo, is in New York from Hollywood in connection with exploitation plans for "The Big Trail," which will have its local run at the Roxy.

Detroit Showman Dies

Detroit—Charles Kain, 49, owner of a string of neighborhood houses, died here Thursday.

Madan Here From India

Fram Madan of Madan Theatres, probably the largest picture company in India, is in New York.

Bearish Reports Follow Decision To Take No Action on Common

Bearish reports on Warners together with whispers of an impending reorganization which would place John J. Raskob as chairman of the board of directors were in circulation in financial circles yesterday when it became known that directors would pass the quarterly dividend of $1 a share on the common. The stock closed yesterday at 36⅜.

The reports concerning Raskob are in direct conflict with other and persistent reports that Raskob and the duPonts had sold their holdings in Warners just before the stock began to drop.

Meeting late Thursday, Warner directors declared regular quarterly dividend on the preferred, payable Sept. 1 to stock of record Aug. 18. A brief statement announced the preferred dividend and stated that the board had taken no action on the common dividend which has been on a $4 annual basis.

Below Dividend Requirements

Warner net has been on the decline, the company's earnings for the last six months of the fiscal year ending Aug. 31 not expected to be in excess of $5,000,000, contrasted with net of $14,514,628 for the same period a year ago. The net for the last six months of the fiscal year, it is said, will be below dividend requirements, hence the decision to pass the dividend.

The decrease is attributable to the summer business decline and the extensive expansion program undertaken by the company in the theatre field.

Neither H. M. Warner nor J. J. Raskob could be reached for a statement on the reported plan to make Raskob chairman of the board.

Houses at Houston Make Bid for Kid Patronage

Houston—Spirited bids for kid trade is being made by local theatres by means of special organ songfests on Saturday mornings, a kids' "Booster Club," through which children under 12 are admitted for five cents and a booster button, dog parades with admission free at a certain hour to each child who brings a dog, and other such devices.

Pictures and vaudeville, however, are not censored for kid trade. The theatre is sold, and not the programs. Loew's State is the only first-class theatre that has made no effort to catch the children's trade.

Honest!

Ottawa—The MOTION PICTURE NEWS representative at Ottawa asked Manager Joe Franklin of B. F. Keith's theatre for "a coupla passes." Franklin opened a drawer containing the stock of passes and a moth flew out.

Shaw Signs

London—George Bernard Shaw signed his first picture contract here Thursday, for filming "How He Lied to Her Husband."

Hurrah! Hurrah! Shouts This P. A. For Little Walter

Believe it or not, there's a flutter in every female heart in Hollywood these days, and all caused by the presence on the Gold Coast of that "remarkably handsome and always well-tailored" fiery "gentleman"—Walter Pigeon!

Walter's press agent would like you to believe that, anyway, judging from his little note recently extracted from the mails:

"What causes those loud huzzahs I hear echoing up and down Hollyood Boulevard?"

"Did you notice that not-so-well suppressed excitement over the luncheon tables at the Embassy Club?

"What is that rustling noise? Why, that's all the powder puffs in the film capital scurrying over all the ladies' noses.

"Why are all the feminine heads together and all the feminine tongues clacking?

"Don't you know? Haven't you heard? There's a gentleman in town! An eligible one! An unattached one! In the city that has been called (and rightly, too!) a manless town, such a phenomenon is the vent of the more or less social season.

"In the hamlet that harbors the aloof Mr. Colman, the inaccessible Mr. Powell and the much-married Mr. Gilbert, Walter Pidgeon has created a sensation..

"Name sounds vaguely familiar, doesn't it? Saw him in a couple of silents some years ago, didn't you? Or was it two other handsome men?

"He was, like John Boles, neglected by the silent 'drama.' He has just come into his own along with the michrophone. He's the toast of the film colony. Directors of musical films cry for him. Just a few short months ago he couldn't get a job. Now he has more than he can do.

"Wait until you see him and hear him in 'Bride of the Regiment.' Now he's doing the lead in 'Mlle. Modiste,' and pretty soon he begins work in 'Sweet Kitty Bellairs.'

"However, it is not alone his professional activities that interest us (and you, too, madame). I know you won't believe me when I tell you about it so if you'll send a self-addressed, stamped envelope I'll furnish signed affidavits to the effect that:

"He is tall—six feet something or other—remarkably handsome and always well-tailored."

Lusty Rejoins Jensen

Lou Lusty is back with Inspiration Pictures, following a three months' job with First National preparing trailers. He arrived in New York Thursday, having made the trip from the Coast by auto in seven days.

Copyright Protection Bureau Hits At Bicycling, Print Hold-overs in Probe

Law Has Teeth

Cleveland—Making an incorrect return on a percentage engagement, either because of falsified figures or holding the print longer than authorized, is listed as perjury in the Ohio statutes. Under the law, the offender is liable to two years imprisonment, fine of $5,000 or both.

Vaude-Film Best Bet for Chain Plunkett States

Chicago.—Flesh will continue to play an important part in all major houses of the RKO string, Joseph Plunkett told a divisional managers' meeting in session here. The records of RKO houses, he said, show that the vaude-film spots fare better financially than the straight picture houses in most instances. As a result, vaudeville will be introduced wherever practicable throughout the circuit.

Joseph Plunkett

Plunkett confirmed reports of RKO's plans to build a new de luxe Loop house here, which have been under consideration for some time. The house, he said, would be a 4,500-seater and would cost between three and four million dollars. The fact that Plunkett admitted the project was still a distant one would indicate, it is felt here, that RKO has not yet succeeded in securing a suitable site for the proposed house. Various Loop locations, it is known, have been under consideration in the past.

About 40 RKO theatre managers and assistants are attending the meetings.

23 Brazilian Children Burned at Home Showing

Sao Paulo, Brazil—Probable fatal burns were sustained by ten of 23 children hurt in a film fire at a home showing here. The children had paid three cents each for the show, given with a small projector. One child struck a match which ignited a pile of films, it is stated.

Ready for Presentations At F-P Canadian Houses

Montreal—George Rotsky, manager of the Palace for years, has returned after a tour of inspection of Paramount-Publix theatres in the United States to study stage presentations which are promised for the Famous Players' Canadian chain this fall.

Number of Territories Under Scrutiny, with Suits Pending

Spirited activity is under way by the Copyright Protection Bureau, formed by distributors to deal with bicycling and hold-overs, which are declared costing distributors $3,000,000 annually and unauthorized holding over of prints. Investigations have been launched in a number of territories, with prosecutions scheduled to follow. Through Film Boards of Trade the bureau is blind checking various theatres without even exchanges knowing who the checkers are, these figures later being tabulated at various home offices.

At Cincinnati interrogatories have been filed in the United States court by M-G-M, Universal, Paramount and Educational vs. Moses Wilchens, Raymond G., Julius and Isaac Frankel, exhibitors, seeking information as to details surrounding alleged unthorized exhibition of films in their Cincinnati theatres.

At Minneapolis, a thorough investigation of alleged bicycling and unauthorized hold-overs has been in progress for some time. A number of exhibitors have been warned that they have violated the copyright law, it is stated.

Several Suits at Cleveland

The Philadelphia zone, too, has been under scrutiny, with a number of cases of alleged bicycling and unwarranted holdovers declared unearthed.

Several cases against exhibitors are to be instituted in the Cleveland territory, according to H. L. Groves of the Copyright Protection Bureau, who has been in charge of the investigation in that zone. Most of the cases so far disclosed have been settled out of court, but there are others pending and action will be filed unless settlement is made. Cleveland exhibitors have not been as flagrant violators as showmen in other towns of the territory.

Violation of the copyright law carries with it a penalty of $250 to $3,000. Criminal prosecution also is provided for under the copyright law.

Court Rejects Charter For Laugh Week Firm

Application for incorporation of the Paul Ash Laugh Club, Inc., has been denied in Supreme Court, Brooklyn. The court frowned upon the proposed laugh week observance stating that while cheerfulness is to be encouraged, the incorporation of a company for an annual laugh week "does not appeal to the court."

Morosco at Long Beach

Long Beach, Cal.—Oliver Morosco has begun production of plays at the Lyric. After their premieres here, the shows will be sent to Los Angeles, New York and other cities.

Sees Legit Revival

London—Legit here is on the eve of a revival in the opinion of C. B. Cochran. He says the talker "bogey has been laid low" and that legit shows will stage a big comeback. Closing of legit theatres is attributed by Cochran to the lack of good plays and too much reliance on foreign vehicles.

Paramount Worth $170,000,000 Is Company's Claim

From Jan. 1, 1929, to March 29, 1930, Paramount Publix spent $66,500,000 on expansion, it is shown in a statement issued in connection with flotation of a $15,000,000 issue of 20-year 5½ per cent sinking fund gold bonds, done principally to finance acquisition of 61 Comerford theatres in Pennsylvania, New York and Rhode Island.

Adolph Zukor

Present market value of the share capital of the company outstanding June 28 amounts to more than $170,000,000, it is claimed. The firm has no bank debt other than $1,000,000 incurred in the Comerford purchase, which is to be repaid through the bond issue, the company states.

Naughty, Naughty, Is Answer to Harlow Suit

Los Angeles.—Charge that Jean Harlow posed for "indecent pictures" is made by her husband, Charles F. McGrew, 3rd, in answer to a civil suit she brought against him for $4,000. She won a default divorce decree last October, but he has had the case reopened. Under terms of their agreement, she was to get $375, but McGrew claims he was persuaded to sign it by trickery and fraud.

Beard Is Transferred

Lawrence I. Beard, who has for several months past been manager of the Metropolitan, Boston, has been named a home office representative of Publix with headquarters in New York, being associated in his new position with John F. Barry, director of personnel. Henry Taylor, formerly connected in a managerial capacity with other theatres in Boston, will succeed Beard at the Metropolitan.

New Contract Goes Under Exhibitor Microscope at Atlanta Convention

Home Comforts for Jailbirds

Conduits for radio and television installations are to be provided in the new $600,000 county jail at East View, Westchester County. A radio set may be put in each cell.

Devil of Time at Seattle as Hell Films Play Town

Seattle—Theatre business in this city has literally "gone to hell" during the last few weeks. To begin with, the Publix Metropolitan recently completed a week's run of "Hell Harbor." No soon was that over than the Fox opened "Hell's Angels."

That picture is still going strong, and along came John Hamrick with "Hell's Island" at his Blue Mouse theatre and "White Hell of Pitz Palu" directly across the street at his Music Box. It is generally expected that "Hell's Heroes" will be booked in by some local second run house just to keep up the good work. Possibly "Dante's Inferno" will be revived.

Warners Line Up Three Plays for Fall Opening

"Illicit," by Robert Riskin and Edith Fitzgerald; "Heat Wave," by Roland Pertwee, and Jane Hinton's "Devil Was Sick" will be presented on the New York stage by Warners. The plays are exclusive of legit attractions financed by Warners and offered by other producers.

R-K-O Building Houses At Albany, Schenectady

Albany—Radio-Keith-Orpheum is building here and at Schenectady in the hectic building which has characterized the year in upstate New York. Meanwhile, hot weather is socking box offices here and at Schenectady and Troy.

Terriss After Material

Hollywood—Tom Terriss with his associates, Elmer Clifton and Alfred Mannon, are in Mexico where they will secure material for a new series of the Vagabond Adventures, for release through the Van Beuren Corporation and Pathe.

Lloyd in Football Yarn

Hollywood—Harold Lloyd's next talker will be a football story, title of which is undecided. At present the comedian is making retakes on "Feet First," which is almost ready for preview. Work on the football picture will be started this fall.

Proposed Agreement to Be Scrutinized When Southerners Meet

Atlanta—First detailed outline of the proposed new standard license agreement to exhibitors is to highlight the convention here Aug. 11 and 12 of the Southeastern Theatres Ass'n.

New zoning plans proposed for this territory, impending inimical legislation, changes in constitution and by-laws of the organization and addresses by national figures in the industry are to be other major features to occupy attention of the 150 exhibitors expected to attend. Georgia, Florida and Alabama will be represented at the sessions.

C. C. Pettijohn

Voluntary arbitration provision in the proposed new form of contract will be studied at length as will the proposed protection schedules.

Charles C. Pettijohn and Arthur Dickinson of the Hays organization, Dr. Lee DeForest of General Talking Pictures, S. L. (Roxy) Rothafel, Montgomery Hill, Publix-Saenger, manager in North Carolina; Willard C. Patterson, Publix division manager here; Horace Russell, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Maurice Kann, editor of Motion Picture News, and others are slated to address the convention.

The convention is to be preceded by a meeting of the board of directors on Sunday. This is to be followed by a screening and entertainment at the new Fox theatre. Alpha Fowler is chairman of the entertainment committee.

Re-election Forecast

G. E. Ricker, president of the Southeastern Theatres Association, who is expected to be re-elected at next week's convention.

Join Move

Milwaukee—Independents here have joined in the move to secure one operator in the booth of sound houses. Minneapolis and St. Paul independents launched the step, which was followed by Chicago.

Spoor Readying Natural Color And Depth Films

Hollywood—By New Year's, a process which will film natural colors combined with the illusion of depth, will be ready for marketing, according to George K. Spoor, motion picture pioneer and inventor, who announces completion of a camera giving the depth illusion.

Spoor, at a demonstration here, claimed perfection, after 14 years, for a process by which the stereoscopic effect of natural vision is given to the screen. This is obtained with a camera having two lenses, both of which record impressions on film through a single aperture; new methods of development, projection and sound recording are features of the process, he states. The double exposure camera places its identical impressions on the film in "staggered" formation, giving the illusion of depth. The new film will run through a projector at a speed at which the individual pictures will merge. Sound registrations are made on the edge instead of the film's surface.

"U" Grooms Former Film Salesmen for Stardom

Hollywood—Universal, in remaking the "Leather Pusher" series in sound, intends to plug Kane Richmond for possible stardom through the series. Richmond, whose real name is Jack Bowditch, was a former film salesman. It will be recalled that the initial "Leather Pusher" series skyrocketed Reginald Denny to the top of the "U" program.

Uncle Sam Says "No" to Pantages Tax Squawk

San Francisco—Pantages Theatre Co., Inc., of Seattle, was denied an appeal for the recovery of taxes totaling $99,780, said to have been paid in 1918 and 1919. The appeal was brought to the Appellate court here.

Warners Aid Charity

Milwaukee—A special charity matinee was featured by the seven Warner theatres in this city. Proceeds from this matinee were donated to the Milwaukee Community Fund. All Warner houses in Milwaukee, with the exception of the Lake, are featuring daily matinees now.

Squawks of the Canned Put to Music in Chi

Chicago—Film "types" seen any week at Chicago railroad terminals:

The former star whose voice test failed, telling reporters that talkies are doomed to an early death. "I refuse to sacrifice my artistry to commercialism. I intend to rest for a few months in Europe until this talkie craze blows over and the movies again become an art."

The gum-chewing flapper who was found singing in a small town church choir by the devout producer who immediately gave her a contract and sent her to Hollywood. "Gese, fellas—" to the reporters—"I'm all hopped up about this break I got. Them bozos is givin' me five hundred smacks a week an' I never been on a stage before. Tie that, you mugs."

The happily married movie couple who grow more in love with each other from day to day. (They were married five months ago.) "Who, us? Get a divorce? Ha, ha, ha. Ain't that rich, dearie? This reporter wants to know if we're going to Paris for a divorce. Why, lambie and I have never even spoken a harsh word to each other. Have we, lambie?" And later, in an undertone: "Listen, you big lout. What're you tryin' to get away with? Don't go crowdin' me out of this picture. The public is just as much interested in me as it is in you, an' don't ferget it."

Bologna in the Younger Stages, Too

The juvenile favorite, accompanied by ma, pa and a nursemaid. "Stardom and a movie career mean nothing to me. I would gladly give them all up to be like other little boys and play fireman and ring doorbells all day long." Pa (sotto voce): "Can that chatter, you little brat."

The erstwhile featured player whose contract was not renewed when she failed to take off the required poundage: "I have had several tempting offers from foreign producers which I am going abroad to consider. You know European directors bring out one's greatest talents. They understand a true artist. They do things with such sublime feeling. Yes, I am afraid I shall be gone for some time. I know my American public will miss me, but then, no one can say I have not served them well."

"I Deny Every Word of It"

The flighty girl-star, returning from a European interlude. "No, that's a lie. I never did stay at her husband's chateau. She's a jealous old cat. But my next picture—That ain't so. I did not hit her with a champagne bottle. It was a beer bottle, and I'm going to sue that newspaper for libel. My next picture will be—I was not drunk at that party. I'd only had eight or nine cocktails and a few straight shots, and you know nothin' like that would make a lady drunk. Now, my next picture—That's a lie, too. I never heard of him."

The star who was "aired" because he couldn't get rid of his foreign accent. "I am what you call 'seek for mine home'. I couldt not stay avay anudder minute from mine vaterland. I must go home to liff. You Amurricans have not yet loined to liff."

The female of the same species. "I am return to Vienna. Ah, ze beeootiful Vienna. Vhy dit I effer leef her? I go back to heppiness, to luff. Ze Amurrican men, he no can make luff. I moost haf luff."

"The Old Grey Mare," etc.

The couple too old to act. "Yes, just a few months of Mediterranean cruising. Possibly a few months in Cairo during the winter. Then Paris in the spring. Yes, we feel we have earned this rest. We may go back into pictures in another year, but for the time being we are satisfied just to travel and really get to know each other."

The producer. "Naw, my studios ain't on the market. I got plenty dough behind me. Besides, they wanted me to take stock."

Maybe a Headache, Yes?

New York's newest gag in theatre circles: Wallack's all short subject theatre, at the end of its second week has turned out to be just about everything but the "sensation" which heavy out front ballyhooing touted it to be.

The theatre is an old legit house on 42nd street, one of those 2x4's, and as hot and stuffy as a Delancey street trolley carrying home its load of button-hole makers. Of course, there's an immense plug out front coaxing the customers in with an "It's Cooler Inside" caption. But, once inside, they soon find out how hot a theatre can be.

On four different occasions, a Motion Picture News reporter failed to find more than a couple of dozen in the audience. At two bits a head, the entire afternoon take looked like eight iron men.

Many of the patrons were seen to hold their ears tightly because of deafening sound, which, in the next instant, faded so low as to almost be inaudible.

Kahn, Neilson and Gell In New Fox Foreign Posts

Henry W. Kahn has been placed in charge of Germany, Poland, Latvia and Holland for Fox with headquarters in Berlin. His post as sales supervisor for Norway, Sweden and Denmark is being taken over by Carl Neilson, formerly with Pathe and a recent addition to the Fox foreign department.

Henry W. Kahn

H. J. Gell has been appointed Fox district manager for Austria, Czecho-Slovakia, Jugoslavia and Roumania with headquarters in Vienna.

The appointments were made by Slayton P. Sheehan, head of the foreign department.

Sues for Accounting

Boston—Miss Emily A. Fuller of Somerville, sole legatee under the will of the late Charles H. Harris, Boston theatre manager, has brought suit against the estate of the late Judge J. Albert Brackett asking for an accounting and claiming that she has received less than $1,000 of the late theatre manager's property. She has asked an injunction impounding all books and accounts of the estate pending a hearing. Harris died in 1922.

$600,000 His End On Fox N. Y. Deal Is Brandt's Claim

Billy Brandt claims he did. A. C. ("Blumey") Blumenthal says he didn't. So the court of law that sits at Mineola, county seat of Nassau County in which Brandt resides, will determine whether or not the former general manager of the erstwhile Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, is entitled to $600,000 of $1,200,000 which, it is alleged, Blumenthal received in commissions for assembling that combination of independent theatres.

The action, brought by Brandt, originally was filed about two months ago and is slated to be heard in the fall, probably in October. The plaintiff asserts it was his idea to combine approximately 200 of the independent theatres in Greater New York into one company and sell the whole shebang to Fox.

Brandt says he worked on the idea for nine months and that Blumenthal got the credit—and the cash—for swinging the deal. Therefore, Brandt is asking 50 per cent of the commission.

Blumenthal insists Brandt is all wrong and will continue to stick to that denial when the action comes up for trial.

Donald Beaton Authors a Book on Hollywood Lights

Hollywood—J. B. Lippincott and Company will shortly publish a new book on Hollywood. The title is "Who's Your Hero?" and the author is Donald Beaton, son of Welford Beaton, publisher and editor of The Film Spectator.

Young Beaton, despite his age, is well known in the picture colony. His reviews on current productions are a leading feature of his father's publication.

Ohio Exhibitors Aroused Over Ban on "Big House"

Columbus, O.—Ohio exhibitors are up in arms over refusal of John L. Clifton, official censor, to pass "The Big House" in the state. Clifton's stand is that, while the picture is "splendid" and "possibly would do more good than harm," it may aggravate the prison situation.

The M. P. T. O. is seeking to whip editorial protests into sufficient froth to make Clifton back water.

Perfect Changes Name

Notice of a name change by Perfect Film Processing Co., Queens, to Denison Film Processing Co. has been filed with the secretary of state at Albany.

Incorporation papers have been granted to the Atlantic Program Magazine Co., program manufacturers with headquarters in New York.

Chains' Zoning Committee

Boston—Allied Theatres has named as their committee on the zoning and protection committee Ralph Branton of Publix, Charles Winston of R-K-O, Joseph Brennan of Loew's, Thomas Meehan of the Fox interests and Al Kraeger of Warners.

Wage Problem to Highlight M.P.T.O.A. Confab; Lightman Reelection Forecast

The Newest Wrinkle

Omaha—A "Know Your City" publicity campaign is being engineered in all Publix theatres in each of eight important Nebraska towns, by Evert R. Cummings, chain division manager here.

The stunt runs three weeks in each town and has the backing of chambers of commerce in the various communities. Other civic organizations have followed in line to put the campaign over on a big scale. All prizes are donated by local merchants. In one spot, the grand award is a large lot in the city limits.

Seattle Suburban Field Invasion Is Under Way by Fox

Seattle—Purchase of three of this city's leading neighborhood theatres by Fox Pacific Theatres, subsidiary of Fox West Coast, has been completed says Earl Crabb, Pacific Northwest division manager of the latter chain. The theatres are the Egyptian and Neptune in the University of Washington district, and the Uptown in the Queen Anne Hill residential section. The purchase price was not disclosed.

The change of ownership will in no way affect the management or policies of the houses, inasmuch as they were owned by Al Rosenberg and Al Finkelstein, who are executives in the Fox Pacific Theatres organization, and who will continue to manage the theatres as they did when they were owners.

This move marks Fox West Coast's first venture into the neighborhood field in this territory. Fox Pacific Theatres operate a chain of houses in smaller cities of this state. Both the Neptune and Uptown theatres are modern houses, but the Egyptian is a de luxe theatre seating about 1,500 persons, built originally by Warner Brothers and later owned by John Hamrick, who sold to Rosenberg and Finkelstein.

Publix Continues To Sew Up N. W. Towns

Grand Forks, N. D.—Publix is continuing to sew up towns in this territory and has acquired the Orpheum, Metropolitan and Strand here from Bennie Berger, giving the firm control of the town. The theatres pass to their new owner Aug. 15. Berger still has the Granada, Sioux Falls, opposition to Publix, and two theatres at Bemidji, Minn.

Bites Hand Feeding Her Is Claim; Mate Asks Divorce

Los Angeles—Because he says his wife, Lillian, believes pictures and picture people are "the bunk," Harry Schenck, director, wants a divorce. He says she continually complained about his occupation, objected to film friends and habitually accused him of associating with screen actresses. They have been married 17 years.

All Foreign Film Policy Chain for California, Plan

Los Angeles—This town's first run landmark, the California, will be transformed into an "international" showhouse, the first of its kind in the world, according to Fred Miller, sponsor, and the initial unit of a string throughout the state.

Miller's plan is based on the belief that large foreign populations of a majority of key towns will support theatres showing product emanating from studios abroad. All films will be screened in foreign language, not only pulling natives from European countries, but also foreign language students of local schools and colleges.

Unlike "little" theatres, Miller will not book foreign and domestic product.

Closes Deal

Lawell V. Calvert, monager of recording operotions far RCA, Photophone, wha hos just closed with Metropolitan M. P. Co., Detroit, for licensing the latter firm to produce sound newsreels, advertising, commerciol films and trailers for a period of yeors. The Detroit firm olso purchased four portable repraducers. Mourice Caplon is president of the Detroit firm, of which H. M. Richey, business manoger of the Michigan exhibitor unit, is a director.

New Contract Slated to Be Adopted at Fall Sessions at Philly

Situation caused by mounting overhead, particularly as it concerns labor, is to be a major topic of discussion at the annual convention of the M. P. T. O. A. to be held in fall at Philadelphia. Ratification of the proposed standard license agreement and re-election of M. A. Lightman to the presidency are expected at the forthcoming sessions, dates for which soon are to be set.

M. A. Lightmon

Philadelphia was selected as the convention city by vote of directors of the organization, over Pinehurst, N. C., which was urged by Charles W. Picquet, vice-president, and a resident of the Carolina resort.

Situation Called Alarming

Both affiliated and unaffiliated exhibitors view with alarm the situation caused by union scales and regulations as to working conditions, particularly the two-men-in-the-booth edict for sound houses, and these subjects will come in for considerable discussion at the forthcoming meetings, it is understood.

As most of the directors of the organization have indicated that they favor the proposed contract, its ratification by directors is expected to be a perfunctory step, and the proposed agreement will go to the convention with the directors' stamp of approval, it is declared.

"All Quiet" Big Hit Down Under

Sydney, Australia—"All Quiet on the Western Front" is goaling 'em at the Royal, former legit house. The attraction is writing picture business here, running four shows daily at 50 cents top and one evening show at $1 top. It is run without intermission and without any support, musical or otherwise.

The opening show was sold out two weeks in advance and standout business has been enjoyed since. Less than three weeks prior to the opening the Royal housed a good legit show which couldn't fill the theatre even at the first performance, folding after a nine-day run.

Datig Recovers; On Job

Hollywood—Fred Datig, casting director at Paramount, has returned to work after a several months' rest on the desert, following a severe illness.

Congress to Go Slow in Modernizing Sherman Anti Trust Laws, NEWS Told Population 122,729,615

Washington — There now are 122,729,615 persons in continental United States, according to census returns compiled by Associated Press. Outlying possessions add 14,772,688 to this figure, for a grand total of 137,502,303. There are 94 cities of more than 100,000 population, the returns show. Cities of 10,000 population and more now number about 900.

Sound Improving Steadily, W. E. Official Finds

Steady improvement is being made in sound reproduction in the nation's theatres, according to H. M. Wilcox, operating manager of Electrical Research Products, who has just returned to New York from a visit to key cities.

Of the Western Electric equipped houses inspected during the trip 88 percent were giving satisfactory sound reproduction at in the horn mouth, Wilcox stated. This compares with percentages of 84 and 76 on the two previous surveys.

"Under the present favorable conditions of steadily increasing co-operation among managers, operators and service men, the outlook is very favorable for 100 percent satisfactory sound reproduction, as far as the mechanics and operation are concerned, in the near future," Wilcox asserted. "The public knows the difference between good and bad reproduction. The theatre management knows that the public knows and the result is a complete desire, on the part of all concerned, to obtain and maintain satisfactory reproduction.

Need Better Acoustics

"As far as theatre acoustics are concerned, there is still a great deal to be desired. In at least one-third of the theatres I visited the sound was not entirely satisfactory, not because of any faults of mechanics or operation but because of acoustical conditions in the theatre. It is to advise and to remedy, as far as possible, such conditions when they are brought to our attention, that we have established a Department of Theatre Acoustics which has already surveyed more than 2,000 theatres in America.

"Until the relation of acoustic conditions to good sound reproduction is fully recognized and until this relationship is taken into consideration both in the construction of new theatres and the equipment and alteration of existing theatres, there will continue to be instances of inadequate reproduction due to theatre acoustics. We have steadfastly urged the need of careful study of acoustic conditions in a theatre and believe that today, it represents one of the most serious problems the theatre owner has to face in adequately presenting good talking pictures."

Hopefuls Are Found to Be Too Optimistic Over Amendment In Near Future

Washington—Little likelihood of congressional action looking to amendment of the anti-trust laws in the near future is seen here by official observers close to the political inside, an investigation by MOTION PICTURE NEWS reveals.

With Congress adjourned until next December, no consideration is being given to subjects of this character. Officials here, when queried about the report to be presented to the American Bar Ass'n. by the Dept. of Commerce, Division of Laws, expressed interest, but explained that Congress alone could act.

The investigation by bar associations last spring into the bankruptcy situation in the United States has led to instructions being given by President Hoover to the Dept. of Justice to thoroughly investigate the matter. Thus it may be that consideration will be given by the government to the recommendations for the overhauling of the anti-trust laws.

Court Factor a Hitch

The MOTION PICTURE NEWS reporter was told that Congress is inclined to go very slowly in the matter of revamping or upsetting the present anti-trust law, on the theory that the general provisions have been pretty well interpreted by the courts, and changes therein might have an adverse effect on their operation.

Representations have been made on numerous occasions for amendments to the law in the interest of modernizing them from the standpoint of changed business conditions and more for the benefit of those engaged in small undertakings, but thus far without result.

While little is to be expected from the short session of Congress convening in December, it was stated here yesterday that there is the possibility that at the next regular session a Congressional investigation of the operation of the laws with a view to effecting betterments would be authorized.

Not Set

No deal has as yet been closed by Tiffany for a series of James Cruze pictures, Motion Picture News learns. Sam Zierler, general manager of the company is in Chicago.

James Cruze

As exclusively stated by Motion Picture News in announcing that the deal was under way, Cruze has two more pictures to deliver to Sono Art-World Wide under his contract with that company. He already has delivered seven pictures to the company.

Maybe Yes—Maybe No

"Radio Corp's report for the first six months will probably be issued this month" and "it is likely to show a profit from operations," states Wall Street Journal.

The report has been held up on numerous occasions due, it was said, to the inability of the company to clarify the financial report following changes brought about by the new capital setup.

"Caught Short" Is Cause of Hilarity In Chicago Runs

Chicago—Lots of hilarity in the outlying houses here over the M-G-M feature, "Caught Short." Lots of it has little to do with the production itself. For instance:

The newsreel was grinding to a close in one neighborhood house when an infant started up a petulant whimpering down front. There were unsuccessful attempts to shush it on the part of its mother as the child's complaints increased in volume. Defeated, the parent grabbed the child by a hand and rushed it up the aisle just as the feature, "Caught Short," flashed on and the house tittered.

In another house, considerable merriment prevailed when a trailer announcing "this week's attractions" flickered out, due to projection machine trouble, immediately after it had heralded "Hold Everything." When the trouble had been corrected the trailer flashed this seemingly explanatory message to the screen: "Caught Short."

Momand Heads Merger Of 2 Oklahoma Chains

Oklahoma City—A. B. Momand is president of the Momand-Griffith Theatres, Inc., new firm formed to merge Momand Theatres and Griffith Amusement Co. Twenty-six theatres in 17 Oklahoma towns are included in the deal. The Griffith firm is a former Universal ally.

Herschmann With N. S. S.

Max Herschmann for many years associated with Loew theatres and more recently selling special trailers in the Metropolitan territory is now actively associated with National Screen Service in charge of their special service sales, working in association with W. P. Garyn, general sales manager.

In Amos 'n' Andy Support

Hollywood—Irene Rich, Rita Le Roy and Alex Robb have been added to the cast of "Check and Double Check," which Amos 'n' Andy will make for RKO. Sue Carol also has a featured role.

Salesmen Fear "The Air" in Growth of Chicago Co-ops; Sales Policy Awaited

Films as An Ad Medium

Motion Pictures are becoming more and more thoroughly established as an advertising medium of genuine merit, according to Walter R. Hine, of J. Walter Thompson Co., who believes that the "time is approaching rapidly when every important advertising agency handling national and international accounts will include a motion picture department to serve as a connecting link between the film company and the client."

Big Campaign for New Season to Be Staged on Coast

Los Angeles—Extensive plans for the inauguration of Greater Talkie Season have been made by Fox West Coast Theatres. Managers of the Los Angeles division have united to carry out plans for a huge publicity and exploitation campaign to run through the season.

The biggest feature of the group will be a parade of studio floats. The route will be through all parts of the city and wind up in Hollywood. A contest to find "Star Doubles" will be started and the winners of these contests will ride in the parade with the stars they resemble. Committee in charge of the parade includes: Ray Dusern, chairman, H. B. Wright, Tom MacDonald, Hal Neides, Rodney Pantages, Speed Borst and Harry Bailey.

An airplane display climaxed by the distribution of 1,000 passes is being arranged by H. B. "Rasty" Wright. Special publicity tie-ups will be handled by a committee that includes: Mel Riddle, chairman, Bob Doman, George Brown, Emil Umann, and Wally Schooler.

Props used in important pictures will be placed on display in the various theatre lobbies. Drug stores and cafes will use printed napkins with advertising matter on them, and the waiters will wear large badges announcing the various attractions.

Two big contests, one for $5,000 in cash prizes and the other for one Cadillac car and ten Chevrolet cars are being arranged by J. J. Franklin, division manager. These prizes are being awarded through merchandising tie-ups. Extra advertising in the form of billboards, throwaways, paper and posters, will also be used in the campaign.

Radio Ads Reach 25,000,000

Twenty-five million readers, Radio Pictures estimates, will be reached in the company's advertising campaign. A number of fan publications are being used. RCA Victor company is supplementing the advertising on the Amos 'n' Andy feature with a national campaign advertising the records of the blackface team.

13 West, Middle West Houses for F. W. C. Planned

Los Angeles—Thirteen theatres in the West and eight in Kansas, Illinois and Missouri are under way or planned by Fox West Coast Theatres, according to President Harold B. Franklin.

He brands as untrue report that the public is losing interest in talkers, citing a number of hit pictures to prove that meritorious films are proving box office draws.

"There has been much loose talk on the part of many who are just on the fringe of the motion picture industry, in which the opinion is voiced that the public is losing interest in the talking motion picture," says Franklin.

"Such opinions are without foundation of fact. As a matter of truth, never before has the public responded so enthusiastically as they now do for worthwhile talking pictures. This fact is undisputed in virtually every community I have visited."

"Blue" Ordinance Loses

Mexico, Mo.—Ordinance to prohibit Sunday amusements here was tabled by vote of 6 to 1, the mayor casting the only dissenting vote. Sunday shows have been running since April 20.

Honored

William J. Kupper, assistant to J. R. Grainger, Fox sales chief; Eddie Grainger, assistant general sales manager, and John Nolan, home office representative, have been named for the Fox Hall of Merit. This marks the first time home office sales executives have participated in the honor. The award is for assistance given General Sales Manager Grainger in closing deals with national circuits and other first runs.

E. C. Grainger

Half of City Theatres Now Members of One of Three Co-ops

Chicago—Salesmen here, their numbers dwindling in the centralizing of buying power in the industry, view with alarm, the growth of booking circuits. Just what is to be the policy of distributors toward booking combines is a matter of speculation, although the co-operatives have had little difficulty in the past in securing film contracts, despite the fact that elsewhere distributors have frowned upon, and sometimes refused to sell, buying combines.

Approximately half of the city's theatres now are subscribing to one or another of the three buying and booking organizations. The last theatre census here showed a total slightly in excess of 300 picture houses in Chicago. Of these, 134 are known to be members of booking circuits. The new Midwest Theatres Corp. leads with 62 subscribers. Coston Booking Circuit, which several months ago had more than 60 theatre members, is now second with 48. The Illinois Independents' booking organization claims 24 more. Expansion plans of the Midwest organization, if achieved, will bring its membership to 100 theatres by the end of the year. The bulk of these, however, in all probability will include out-of-town theatres.

About 75 Sold Individually

Chicago circuit and chain houses number approximately 100, leaving a balance of about 75 city theatres which are sold individually. To this number must be added about 100 additional houses in the metropolitan area outside the city limits. Circuit growths downstate have also developed formidably from the viewpoint of the country salesman. Accurate figures on this growth are not available here, but its effects are evidenced in the reduction of country sales staffs in every local exchange. One of the important ones here has only one country salesman working out of its office. Proportionate reductions have been made at other exchanges in recent months.

Tibbett's Frisco Break

San Francisco—Lawrence Tibbett made an unannounced personal appearance in South San Francisco. There was no applause; in fact, the singer was unnoticed by all save Traffic Officer A. E. Terragano, who politely handed him a ticket for a court performance. The ticket was not complimentary. It charged Tibbett was driving 47 miles an hour in a 15-mile zone on the Bayshore Highway, and also with having an obsolete driver's license dated 1924.

Rogers Starts "Lightnin'"

Hollywood — "Lightnin'," Will Rogers' next for Fox, gets under way this week with Louise Dresser and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in supporting roles. Henry King is directing.

Strike Continues

Minneapolis—No settlement of the operator strike at independent theatres of the Twin Cities is in sight. The houses went open shop when operators refused their demand for one man in the booth. Henry Green's East Lake was bombarded with a volley of shots sprayed from an automobile with shades drawn. A stench bomb was placed in the American and three other theatres here with a warning to the owners they were to "get the works."

Going the Copy Writer Just Step One Better

Hollywood—It actually happened in the publicity department of one of the large coast studios.

A publicity writer was busy pounding out press copy and stories that would eventually be used in the published press book on a particular picture. The writer was called out of the office for a time, and the sheet in his machine, which carried one of the usual hackneyed press varns, finished up thusly:

". . . this is only one of the tense dramatic situations in '.....,' which will be shown at the ..... theatre on ....."

In the meantime a typewriter service man walked into the office to perform his regular periodic inspection of the machine. After working on it for some time, he inserted a new ribbon—tried it out with a few written lines—and departed silently.

When the press agent returned to his machine, he discovered that the final few lines read as follows:

". . . this is only one of the tense dramatic situations in '.....,' which will be shown at the ..... theatre on..... It is a lousy picture, and all exhibitors are hereby warned not to book it unless they need a quiet evening alone in the theatre!"

Studio is still trying to find out if the typewriter repair-man added the phrase.

"Philly" Organist Averts Probable Panic in Fire

Philadelphia—Resourceful action on the part of Rose McGinn, organist in the 333 Market Street theatre, one of the Stanley-Warner chain, is credited with preventing a serious panic among the 500 patrons of the house, when a two-alarm fire broke out on the top floor of the building next to the theatre.

As Miss McGinn returned to the theatre after a lunch relief period, she saw flames shooting from the roof of the building—a suit case factory on the fifth floor—and heard the approach of the fire apparatus. Hurrying into the theatre, she sat at the organ and played loudly enough to drown out the sound of the apparatus and of the debris falling on the theatre roof. Meanwhile police worked quietly from row to row and emptied the house without commotion or panic. The theatre, newly renovated, suffered damage from smoke and water.

Pathe Bettering Status; Receiver Suit Dismissed

Suit for a Pathe receivership charging, in the words of Frederic Coudert, Jr., company counsel, "everything but the kitchen sink," has been dismissed by the Court of Chancery at Trenton, N. J. The company, the vice chancellor held, is "bettering" its condition.

For the last four years, the company has been operated at a loss of $4,566,000, according to the testimony. In the first quarter of 1930 the company lost only $66,431 as compared with $4,000,000 for 1927 and 1928, testimony showed. The figures are far from showing that insolvency is inevitable, the vice chancellor said.

General Outdoor's Net $501,688 for Quarter

Net profit of $501,688 after depreciation, interest, amortization and federal taxes, equivalent after allowing for dividend requirements on $6 preferred stock and participating provisions of Class A stock, to 51 cents a share on 642,383 no-par shares of common stock is reported by General Outdoor Advertising and subsidiaries for the quarter ended June 30. This compares with net loss of $499,004 in preceding quarter and net profit of $806,975 equal to 90 cents a share on common in June quarter of 1929.

Net profit for six months ended June 30 amounted to $2,684 after above charges, equal to 9 cents a share on 28,378 shares of $6 preferred stock, against $762,514 or 66 cents a share on common in first half of previous year.

Nurses Face Quiz on Nolan "Coke" Charges

Los Angeles—The two nurses who started the nation-wide Mary Nolan narcotic scandal will be put on the "mat" by U. S. District Attorney McNabb, if he finds the veracity of their affidavits, charging Miss Nolan with addition to narcotics, to be questionable.

Miss Nolan, who claims she is suffering from a severe case of sunburn, and not dope, told federal agents she was the victim of a plot to extort money.

Chaney, Back on Coast; Denies Operation Story

San Francisco—Lon Chaney denied here that he underwent a throat operation recently in New York. The star now is at the M-G-M studio considering plans for his next talker. It is believed he will abandon plans for remaking of former silent pictures and decide on new vehicles. "The Unholy Three," his initial talker, was a remake of a silent film in which he starred.

Dressler-Beery Teamed

Hollywood—Dorothy Jordan has been assigned by M-G-M to a featured role in "Dark Star," which George Hill will direct with Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery in the leads.

Fay-Warner Break

St. Louis—Has Frank Fay broken with Warners? That question has been asked along Film Row frequently of late. The fact that Fay is entirely overlooked in the advertising and publicity for "The Matrimonial Bed" has caused the gossip. Of course, in St. Louis, where this picture is the current attraction at the Missouri, Fay is getting his share of the advertising space. He is too valuable from a box office point of view locally to be ignored. But Warner Brothers' press sheet, a 16-page tabloid affair, entirely overlooks Fay.

Amos 'n' Andy Get Baptism of Studio Huddle on Vehicle

Hollywood—Amos 'n' Andy attended their first picture story conference at RKO Studios last week. The group doing the conferring, besides the two comedians, included Bert Millhauser the supervisor, Mel Brown the director, J. Walter Rubin writer, and Kalmar and Ruby, song writers.

Like all story conferences, it started out mildly with various individuals presenting their suggestions. Later on the discussion got rather warm, with someone jumping up to declare that another's suggestion or gag was "terrible," "lousy," "cobwebbed," etc.

From that point, the conference took on a rather physical aspect, with any one of the experienced "story conferencers" waving the arms and waxing dramatic. The two blackface comedians found themselves in very strange surroundings, and watched the proceedings in wild-eyed amazement. Then one of the suggestors had a brilliant idea, which he proceeded to orate about. Another arose and pulled him by the coat lapels, asking if he did not know that that particular gag had been used no less than twenty years ago. The two went from this into a tussle that carried both of them to the carpet.

This was apparently too much for Amos 'n' Andy, who expected the shooting, a la Chicago, to start most any minute.

Suddenly one of them spoke up and said "If there's going to be any trouble over this story, we'd just as soon not make the picture."

It took an hour to calm the comedians down to explain that this was the regulation method of conducting a story conference.

Brin Gets Warner Product In Milwaukee First Run

Milwaukee—L. K. Brin has booked the United Artists and Warner product for the coming season for his Garden and Majestic here. "Raffles," with Ronald Colman at the Garden, will mark the opening of the new season, Aug. 15.

It will perhaps be Brin's last opportunity to obtain Warner's first-run product in Milwaukee, for the new Warner house now under construction here is expected to be completed early in January. However, Warners have first run here, the Alhambra acquired from Universal.

Fight Fire with Fire, Exhibitor View In Entering "Demi-Tasse" Golf Racket

Foyer Course Pays

Omaha—To beat the miniature golf courses at their own game, Lionel Wasson, manager of the Paramount, has installed a midget links in the lower foyer of the theater. The first week 1,500 persons played.

The course is free to patrons. Instead of dropping in during the middle of a picture, they are induced to spend the time putting around the intricate holes. It also aids house staff during week-end jam in handling lobby standees. The course cost the house $250 and is worth it, Wasson says.

Fox West Coast Not to Dot N.W. With Golf Plots

Seattle—Published statements that Fox West Coast Theatres will soon install 500 Tom Thumb golf courses on the Pacific Coast in conjunction with its Pacific Coast theatres to offset the inroads made by this form of competition brought forth denials from Pacific Northwest headquarters here this week.

According to information given out at the local offices, the Fox theatres in the states of Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana will have no connection with this form of outdoor pastime.

"With 70 private courses on Seattle lots, 40 in Portland, 15 in Tacoma and corresponding numbers in other towns of the territory, and with the rainy season limiting the months of logical play, we do not believe that there is a need for further courses in this territory," the statement said. "In California, where play runs the year around, it is another matter."

Fox Trying Luck with 4 Golf Courses; More Maybe

With four miniature golf courses at work, the eastern division of Fox Theatres will see what happens before launching on any extension of the idea.

The interior course at the Kew Gardens theatre will be ready by August 18. On the plot assembled in Newark as a site for large first run, a second course is being installed. The third is on a plot at Lexington Avenue and 58th Street in New York and the fourth in Audubon Hall, which is part of the structure housing the Audubon theatre on upper Broadway. The Audubon proper is not being converted, as first reported, but is being renovated at a cost of $300,000. A cooling system is being installed at that theatre.

Morris Kutinsky has been placed in charge of the golf development by Harry C. Arthur.

Courses Adjacent to and in Theatres Plotted to Combat New Fad

Establishment of miniature golf courses is the means being resorted to by exhibitors to compete with this new form of divertissement, which nightly is attracting millions of patrons throughout the nation. It is estimated that there are 2,000,000 playing the game daily.

Tom Thumb courses adjacent to their theatres, miniature courses in the lobby, and even the replacement of auditorium seats in favor of indoor golf courses are the means being employed to counteract the most serious competition picture houses ever have faced.

Fox is taking the lead in combating tabloid golf. On the Coast, Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theatres, has mapped plans for establishment of Tom Thumb courses throughout California, to counteract the effect of opposition courses. The courses are an experiment. Admission may be coupled with theatre admissions to provide an attractive offer for golf bugs, so that theatres of the chain will not be hit by the new competition.

In the East, Harry C. Arthur, general manager of Fox Theatres, is preparing indoor courses in dark houses. The Kew Gardens theatre opens Aug. 18 as the first, with the Audubon, Manhattan, to follow soon after.

More Than 6,000 Courses

There now are more than 6,000 miniature courses in the United States. Within a 30 mile radius of New York there are 1,000 courses, with the number mounting at a rapid rate. Decisions of various courts that no licenses are required for operation of such courses has given impetus to the spread of the new fad. Some cities, however, have imposed license fees, others are making efforts to regulate hours of operation. Exhibitors in various cities are asking imposition of license fees, together with taxes in keeping with those paid by the theatres.

The Tom Thumb courses in a number of cities where "blue" laws prevail have won the right to operate on Sunday, notably in Virginia. In others, the sport is prohibited on the Sabbath. In connection with Sunday operation, the miniature courses may prove an entering wedge for many theatre owners fighting "blue" laws.

Byrd Film Resumes in Canada After Layoff

Ottawa—After a temporary lay-off in Canada, during which bookings were cancelled after the feature had played Toronto and Montreal, "With Byrd at the South Pole" has again appeared on the screen in the Dominion. It is the attraction at the Imperial this week.

Levine with Tiffany

Hollywood.—Abe Levine has joined Tiffany as casting director. He formerly was with the Guy Coburn Agency.

The Fight Is On

Toronto—Exhibs in this town are up in arms over decision of Magistrate Keith who gives Tom Thumb golf courses the right to Sunday operation. The judge claimed that the miniatures have as much right as regular club courses to operate on the Sabbath, while the theatre owners charge discrimination against their houses, which have been held closely to Sunday observance.

Sunday Show Test To Be Carried to Va. High Court

Richmond—Efforts to have Sunday picture shows placed on the same par with golf and baseball so far are likely to be tested in the Virginia Supreme Court of Appeals, despite the fact that several lower courts have in recent years ruled against Sunday shows.

Allen Jenkins has noted an appeal after being fined $500 in Roanoke police court for operating his theatre on Sunday night. His contention was that the same law applying to miniature golf courses also applied to the theatres. The Hustings Court of Roanoke decided that the golf courses might remain open on the Sabbath after the hours for church services. The Roanoke police court decided, however, that the golf matter had no bearing on Sunday shows. A few months ago two men were fined in Hampton on the charge of operating their theatres on the Sabbath. They virtually promised to refrain from repetitions of Sunday shows.

British Complainants Get Substitute in Suit

Hollywood—Following dismissal of suit against Marion Davies, M-G-M and others for asserted infringement of copyright of "Floradora," another suit for the same damages but with different plaintiff was filed in Federal Court. In the original action, William G. Curtis and Walter Westmoreland, executors of the estate of Lester Stuart, deceased, composer of the musical comedy, were plaintiffs.

Upon motion of Attorney Aron B. Rosenthal, for the plaintiffs, the original action was dismissed without prejudice. New suit was brought by Jesse G. Boydston, who, according to an inserted paragraph in the complaint, now has all right and title to "Floradora" and "Sextette," words and music.

Although the complaint does not disclose the exact reason for the change in plaintiffs, it is pointed out that there was some objection and confusion regarding the original plaintiffs because of their nativity, both being subjects of Great Britain.

Trade Papers That Exchange "Blurbs" For Ad Copy May Run Afoul of U. S.

Going Down

Hollywood—"The Doorway to Hell" is new title selected by Warners for "Handful of Clouds", just completed.

California May Refuse To Extradite Van Loan

Sacramento, Cal. — Mrs. Gertrude Van Loan, of New York, estranged wife of H. H. Van Loan, may lose her battle to extradite the author to New York to face a charge of child abandonment. Deputy Attorney-General Jones will recommend that Gov. Young deny the extradition, reaching this decision after Van Loan, under arrest in Los Angeles, had offered to testify that he had been paying $50 a week for the support of his 13-year-old daughter. Van Loan said his daughter was being cared for in Connecticut.

Consolidated's 6-Month Net Above Last Year's

Consolidated Film Industries earned $572,764 net for the quarter ended June 30, the company states. This is equivalent to 71 cents a share on the combined 400,000 shares of $2 no-par cumulative participating preferred and 400,000 shares of no par common. This compares with $667,158 or 95 cents a share on the combined 300,000 shares of preferred and 400,000 shares of common in the preceding quarter, and 581,713 or 83 cents a share on the 700,000 combined preferred and common in the June quarter of 1929.

Ruth Waterbury Edits New Dime Fan Magazine

With Ruth Waterbury, former service editor of Smart Set and feature writer for Photoplay, as editor, Silver Screen is to be offered for newsstand circulation by Alfred A. Cohen, publisher of Screenland, Current Reading and The Thinker. Cohen is the first publisher to go out of the five and ten-cent store field and into general newsstand circulation with a magazine priced at ten cents.

"Big House" Ban in Ohio Seen as Only Temporary

Cleveland—Ban on "The Big House" in Ohio is to be only temporary, the censor board has indicated in asking M-G-M to withdraw the film "for the present." The recent Columbus prison right has led to decision to hold up all prison riot films. This, despite the fact that "The Big House" is being shown in Pennsylvania, New York and Colorado, other states in which prison riots have occurred.

"Dawn Patrol" Attacked

Hollywood—Claim that "Dawn Patrol" infringes upon both "Hell's Angels" and "Journey's End" is made in suits filed here.

P. O. Dept. After Papers Which Swap Readers for Display Ads

Washington—Certain trade papers and advertisers in the industry may come under the scrutiny of the post office department which is investigating the printing of advertising publicity in the guise of news.

The department is determined to put an end to the practice of advertisers and advertising concerns which force editorial publication of material which properly comes within the category of advertising.

Postal laws specifically provide that "publicity matter inserted in a publication as straight editorial or reading matter must be plainly marked with the word 'advertisement'." Both publisher and advertiser may be proceeded against for conspiracy to deprive the government of its proper revenue, penalty for failure to so mark publicity is punishable by fine of $50 to $500, which runs as high as $10,000 and imprisonment. Publicity material is chargeable at the zone rate of postage prescribed for advertising in publications. A statement issued said:

"Adv." Matter Defined

"It has come to the attention of the department that publicity articles are being offered by some advertising concerns to publishers for insertion as reading matter in copies of their publications mailed at the second-class pound rates of postage. The requests accompanying such publicity articles give the publisher to understand that if he does not comply with the request to insert the publicity matter in his publication he may not expect display advertising. On the other hand, if he publishes the publicity matter as reading matter he may expect to be favored with display advertising.

"Matter inserted in a publication under the conditions above mentioned clearly comes within the purview of the act of Aug. 24, 1912, embodied in the Postal Laws and Regulations and must be plainly marked with the printed word 'advertisement' in each copy and is likewise chargeable with the zone rates of postage prescribed for the advertising portion of publications. Failure of a publisher so to mark matter coming within the provisions of the act mentioned is made punishable by a fine of not less than $50 nor more than $500."

Lonsdale, Sedgwick, Booth Under Contract to M-G-M

Hollywood—Frederick Lonsdale, disciple of the sophisticated English drawing room comedy, has been signed by M-G-M to write exclusively for that studio. Paramount had been angling for him.

Edward Sedgwick, long on the Metro directorial roster, has signed a new contract. Another pen-swinging ceremony places Edwina Booth, one of the leads in "Trader Horn," under contract for some time to come.

Verboten

Berlin—Pathe has been refused permission to make scenes in Germany for "Adventures in the Trenches," which is considered uncomplimentary to Germany.

Viv Duncan, Minus Shiner Married to Nils Asther

Reno—Little likelihood that the jam which culminated in a black eye allegedly given by Rex Lease ever would be aired was seen following wedding here of Vivian Duncan and Nils Asther. The marriage culminated a three-year romance. Miss Duncan recently was released from a Hollywood hospital following a beating allegedly administered by Lease. Airing of the case was forestalled when Lease paid a fine. It was stated at the time, that Miss Duncan was shushed through the efforts of the Hays office, seeking a avoid a scandal. Declared presence of Fred Beetson, Hays aide, at the party where the beating is said to have been administered, was ascribed for the soft pedal upon proposed airing of the affair.

"Jim Crow" Move Proves a Bogey at Atlantic City

Atlantic City—Ejection of a negro from a picture house here is a serious offense, particularly when the ejected one is the daughter of a negro magistrate and the manager is brought before another negro judge, Manager Louis Schinholdz of the Aldine learned when he was bound over to the grand jury under $5,000 bail for alleged violation of the civil rights law.

The negress was ejected, it is charged, when she refused to move into a "Jim Crow" section of the theatre reserved for negroes. The manager was in jail eight hours when a negro judge set bail at $50,000. This was described as preposterous in the court of common pleas and the bond was reduced.

"Jim Crow" Suit Balked By Xenia, O., Court

Xenia—"Dick" is a common nickname for Richard, but not in all cases. Three dusky maidens of African descent filed suits for $500 each against Richard Dennison, manager of the Little, claiming damages because Dennison refusted them admittance. The Common Pleas court sustained motion to dismiss case because there was no "Richard" Dennison in the city. Manager Dennison proved to the satisfaction of the court that he had been christened "Dick." The suits will probably be refiled.

R-K-O Net Soars

Net of $2,166,133 for the six months ended June 30, compared with $630,569 in the same period last year is reported by Radio-Keith-Orpheum and subsidiaries. Second quarter profit was $410,230 as against $2,030,902 in the first quarter of this year compared with $26,355 in the second quarter of 1929.

Six of Own Films In Griffith's 50 Best Selections

Six of his own pictures are included by D. W. Griffith in the list of 50 outstanding pictures of film history selected by D. W. Griffith for the New York Evening Post. Ernst Lubitsch, King Vidor and Henry King each have three pictures on the list, while Fred Niblo, Sidney Olcott, Eric Von Stroheim, Cecil B. De Mille, Herbert Brenon and F. W. Murnau have two each.

D. W. Griffith

Pictures, their directors and producers are: "Stella Maris, (Marshall Neilan), Paramount-Artcraft; "The Birth of a Nation" (D. W. Griffith), Epoch Prod. Co.; War Brides (Herbert Brenon), Selznick; "Intolerance" (D. W. Griffith), Griffith Co.; Quo Vadis, Cines Co., Rome; "Avenging Conscience (D. W. Griffith), Mutual; "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse (Rex Ingram) Metro; "The Miracle Man" (George Loan Tucker), Paramount Artcraft; "Broken Blossoms" (D. W. Griffith), Griffith Co.; "Passion" (Ernst Lubitsch), First National; "The Mark of Zorro" (Fred Niblo), United Artists; "The Dark Angel" (George Fitzmaurice), First National; "Driven" (Charles Brabin), Universal; "The White Sister" (Henry King), Inspiration; "Greed" (Eric von Stroheim), M-G-M.

"Way Down East" (D. W. Griffith), Griffith Co.; "Smilin' Through" (Sidney Franklin), First National; "Tol'able David" (Henry King), Inspiration; "Robin Hood" (Alan Dwan), United Artists; "Orphans of the Storm" (D. W. Griffith), Griffith Co.; "The Covered Wagon" (James Cruze), Paramount; "Merry Go Round" (Rupert Julian), Universal; "The Hunchback of Notre Dame" (Wallace Worsley), Universal; "Down to the Sea in Ships" (Elmer Clifton), Hodkinson.

"Little Old New York" (Sidney Olcott), M-G-M; "The Sea Hawk" (Frank Lloyd), First National; "Monsieur Beaucaire" (Sidney Olcott), Paramount; "The Marriage Circle" (Ernst Lubitsch), Warners; "The Ten Commandments" (Cecil B. De Mille), Paramount; "The Kid" (Charles Chaplin), First National; "The Merry Widow" (Eric Von Stroheim), M-G-M; "The Last Laugh" (F. W. Murnau), Universal; "The Big Parade" (King Vidor), M-G-M; "The Valiant" (Richard Harlen), Fox; "Wings" (William Wellman), Paramount; "Variety" (E. A. Dupont), Ufa.

"Beau Geste" (Herbert Brenon), Paramount; "Stella Dallas" (Henry King), United Artists; "What Price Glory" (Raoul Walsh), Fox; "Way of All Flesh" (Victor Fleming), Paramount; "Ben Hur" (Fred Niblo), M-G-M; "Seventh Heaven" (Frank Borzage), Fox; "The Patriot" (Ernst Lubitsch), Paramount; "Sunrise" (F. W. Murnau), Fox; "The Crowd" (King Vidor), M-G-M; "King of Kings" (Cecil B. DeMille), Pathe; "Disraeli" (Alfred E. Green), Warners; "Hallelujah" (King Vidor), M-G-M; "Grass" (Cooper-Schoedsack), Paramount; "All Quiet on the Western Front" (Lewis Milestone), Universal.

More Records

Universal claims an all-time standee record for "All Quiet on the Western Front," during its New York run at the Central, where, so company statisticians state, nearly 6,000 stood during entire performances to watch the war film which closes Sunday.

Paid admissions, not including standees, totalled 188,744, and this, too, "U" declares "constitutes an all-time record for any type of $2 theatrical attraction."

Still another record is credited to the run in the number of performances, which totaled 245 in the three months. "No other $2 attraction, it is confidently asserted by Universal, ever made such a record."

Year's Shutdown Last at Warners

Hollywood—Three months' shutdown of the Warner and First National studios from late September until December, will be the last annual closing of the plant, Motion Picture News has been informed. Hereafter, production will be distributed over the entire season, according to plans.

It has been the policy of the company to finish its new season schedule by November, and then hold operations to a minimum until January. During the lay-off period, only foreign language films will be made at the studios.

"Ziggy" Back in New York "Whoopee" Opens in Sept.

Eddie Cantor, who is starred, and Florenze Ziegfeld, will be on hand for the initial performance of "Whoopee," first under the Goldwyn-Ziegfeld alliance, which is tentatively set for the New York Rialto early in September. Ziegfeld arrived from the Coast this week and is en route to his St. Lawrence River camp with his family, returning shortly.

Moe Mark on High Road to Recovery; Rests at Home

Moe Mark, veteran showman affiliated with the Warner theatre department, is recovering from a stroke suffered at the Sharkey-Schmelling fight in New York several months ago. Mark is confined to his home in White Plains and is reported doing nicely.

"U" Plans Air Special

Hollywood—Universal slates Lew Ayres and John Wray, two youngsters who had important roles in "All Quiet on the Western Front," will be featured in an air picture to be directed by Howard Hawks, who is also author.

New "U" Musical Chief

Hollywood—Heinz Roemheld, pianist and composer, is new musical director at Universal succeeding David Broekman.

New Policy on Fox Production Is Set By W. R. Sheehan

Hollywood—Deciding to strengthen the screen adaptation of "Up the River," a prison melodramatic comedy, Fox has delayed production for two weeks. Spencer Tracy, author of the book, is now at the studio assisting in the story revision for the screen version. John Ford will direct.

Winfield R. Sheehan

Fox also has taken "Hot Numbers" off the current production schedule, with report that the story goes back to the scenario department for further strengthening before approval will be given to begin shooting. Sidney Lanfield was slated to direct "Hot Numbers," a collegiate comedy, and Lanfield is now assigned to make "Stolen Thunder."

The policy of delaying production for story revision and strengthening at Fox has been launched since the reorganization of the company, with local reports stating that Winnie Sheehan will not hereafter allow a pitcure to get under way until the quality of the particular picture is pretty well established in final script form. In this manner, company executives expect to greatly increase the quality of the Fox product for the coming season.

$1 Dues for Each Cent of Admission Scale, Plan

Kansas City—New scale of dues for subsequent run theatres has been adopted by the board of directors of the Kansas and western Missouri associations. Exhibitors owning subsequent run houses in all towns will be assessed $1 for each one cent of its admission scale. That is, theatres charging ten cents admission will pay $10 a year to the association; theatres charging 15 cents will be assessed $15 per year, and so on.

A few weeks ago the association decided on entire revision of the scale of dues. Under the new plan, exhibitors owning one theatre in towns of 600 population or more, playing first or second run, will pay one-half cent per capita of the town to the association. Exhibitors owning one theatre in towns of less than 600 population will pay $1 per year. Chain houses will continue to pay the original dues of one and one-half cent per capita. The membership drive of the association now is under way.

Roth-Oakie Teamed

Hollywood—Lillian Roth has been assigned by Paramount to play the feminine lead opposite Jack Oakie in his next talker, a story of navy life.

Blues Win Another Fla. City

Plant City, Fla.—Following a six weeks campaign voters here defeated a proposed ordinance to permit Sunday pictures. The count showed 323 against the proposition and only 197 in favor of it.

Another Year for Roth as Director In Chief at B'klyn

Murray Roth, director-in-chief at the Warner eastern studios for the last year, has extended his contract for an additional year. During his regime a number of subjects have been launched at his suggestion, including the Robert L. Ripley, the Snooze Reel and Famous Personalities series. He also sponsored the policy of screen originals to replace filming of vaudeville skits.

Murray Roth

Roth has written a number of Vitaphone Varieties and has directed most of the shorts made at the studio under his directorial leadership.

Vitaphone to Make 52 "Celebrities," 1 Reelers

Sam Sax and Murray Roth, producers of the Vitaphone Varieties at the Brooklyn Vitaphone studios, are preparing for the addition of 52 "Celebreties," one reelers to their 1930-31 program.

Stage or screen stars and other name personalities of the radio or in the news of the day will be featured.

Coliseum Manager Again Heads Seattle Censors

Seattle—Seattle's new Board of Theatre Censors, appointed by Mayor Frank Edwards, former exhibitor, is again headed by Dave Himelhoch, manager of the local Coliseum theatre, Fox West Coast house. In place of the nine members of the board that have served for the last two years, there are only five members on the list just announced.

In addition to Himelhoch, they include: Mrs. Donna McDonald, secretary of the Associated Clubs of the North End; Mrs. Rose Rulifson, clubwoman of West Seattle district; Mrs. Helen Victor Zednick, prominent clubwoman and wife of a former state legislator; and Peter J. DeClerque, local financier and former owner of the Society Theatre here.

Among the deposed members of the old board are Melvin G. Winstock, veteran film and theatre man of this territory, and Jack M. Lannon, president of Greater Features Exchanges, who has been ill for many months.

Scott at Capital

Washington—Nate Sauber, has resigned as manager of Universal exchange and has been succeeded by Harry Scott who comes from the Universal exchange in Detroit. Some years ago Scott was doing special work for Pathe in this territory. Sauber may become associated with Ad-Vance Trailer.

The End Is Near

San Francisco—The Dunning-Abbott meller, "Broadway," credited with starting the tidal wave of gangster-backstage-nightclub talker yarns that have been flooding the country for many months, is to find its way into Stanford University, where Harold Helvenston's campus players are rehearsing with a view to fall presentation.

National Service System Formed For Photophone

Alignment of the nation into three divisions and the establishment of a number of district offices have been completed by RCA Photophone, states Sydney E. Abel, general sales manager. These divisions, eastern, central and western, will function under respective direction of C. C. Aiken, headquartering in New York; O. V. Swisher, Chicago, and A. E. Jackson, Los Angeles.

Supplementing district and branch offices previously maintained in a number of centrally located cities, each of the three newly created divisions will maintain district offices and fully equipped service stations as follows: eastern district—New York, Boston, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Atlanta, Albany, and Montreal; central district—Chicago, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Oklahoma City Denver, Dallas, Cincinnati, Cleveland and Detroit; Western District—Los Angeles, San Francisco and Seattle.

Repair stations will be established for major repairs in the three division centers and each of the 19 district offices will have completely-equipped stock rooms. Night service will be available until midnight at each district office.

Night Baseball Latest Worry of Seattle Houses

Seattle—With "Tom Thumb Golf" already making heavy inroads upon the business at local motion picture houses, another competitor arrived in town this week. It was "Night Baseball," being inaugurated by the Seattle team in the Pacific Coast League. Reports from the ball ground following the first three night games indicate that their gross revenue practically doubled when the switch was made. About 10,000 persons attended the opening game. Night games will continue for several weeks until the close of the current season.

Rathbone in Stage Role

Hollywood — Basil Rathbone has been signed by Universal to play the lead in "The Boudoir Diplomat." Mary Duncan has also been assigned in important role in this talker which Mal St. Clair will direct.

Rathbone appeared in the stage version of the story which played in New York as "The Command to Love."

Biggest Billing Is Claimed for "Hell's Angels"

Outdoor billing which it is claimed, will top any showing in film history is being posted for the day and date runs of "Hell's Angels" at the Criterion and Gaiety, New York. Phil Di Angelis, veteran billposter, is in charge of the campaign, under direction of Wayne Pierson.

Phil Di Angelis

Neon signs at the two theatres, it is claimed will cost $100,000, to be augmented by a showing which will cover a radius of 35 miles. Thirty men in 15 cars now are touring the area in connection with billings.

An order placed with General Outdoor calls for the posting of one hundred 84-sheets, twenty-five 56-sheets and three hundred 24's. A supplementary sniping order calls for fifty 84's, one hundred fifty 24's; five hundred 8-sheets, two thousand 3's, two thousand 2's, two thousand 1's and two thousand one-half sheet cards.

Only the showing accorded "The Birth of a Nation" can rival the "Hell's Angels" billing according to Di Angelis, who has handled New York outdoor billing of that and practically every other film roadshow attraction. These include: "Quo Vadis," "Intolerance," "Hearts of the World," "Way Down East," "The Lost World," "The Big Parade," "The Covered Wagon," "Ten Commandments," "Old Ironsides," "Rough Riders," "The Hunchback of Notre Dame," "What Price Glory," "Journey's End," "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "Song of My Heart."

New Optical Unit Said to Improve Sound in Theatre

Claiming higher frequencies, greater volume and a more true reproduction of sound, Tone-O-Graph is ready to market an optical unit which conveys the image of the exciter lamp filament to the sound track in what is described as a purely optical trail. The unit, it is claimed, gives a slit of light at the sound track of .0005 and has no chromatic or spherical aberration. The patents are declared to be owned by the Full Tone Process Company of Cleveland, which has licensed the Full Tone Reproduction Company of Ohio for the use of these patents for sound-on-film reproduction.

Tone-O-Graph, incidentally, is the new trade name for the North American Sound and Talking Picture Equipment Corp.

Dave Bader Returns

Dave Bader, personal representative of Carl Laemmle, has returned to New York from Europe, where he conferred with John Drinkwater, who is writing a biography of Carl Laemmle. Bader has collected a large part of the data for the Universal chief's life story. He is to go to the Coast next week.

Crawford Steals The Show in L. A. Grossing $25,200

Los Angeles—"Our Blushing Brides," starring Joan Crawford, made more than the audience blush in this town. Managers of competitive houses were seen to grow red from ear-to-ear when they saw the lines jamming the Criterion lobby to see Joan. The fans paid $25.200 into the coffers of the Fox house, which closed the week on a 250% rating, a sensational intake and healthy business for any season.

The weather was hot, with thousands deserting town nightly for the beaches or other outdoor spots.

Estimated takings:

LOS ANGELES

"SO THIS IS LONDON" (Fox)

FOX CARTHAY CIRCLE—(1,650), 7th week, 7 days, twice daily, 75c to $1.50. Other attractions: Abe Lyman and band, Movietone news. Gross: $10,100. Rating: 85%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

FOX CRITERION—(1,652), 1st week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Movietone news, comedy. Gross: $25,000. Rating: 250%.

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S STATE—(2,418), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco "Modes" Idea, comedy, Meglin Kiddies, Metrotone and Movietone news. Gross: $24,800. Rating: 92%.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Para.)

PARAMOUNT—(3,596), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy with Eddie Cantor, Paramount news, Oliver Wallace organ concert. Gross: $23,000. Rating: 93%.

"SCARLET PAGES" (Warner Bros.)

WARNER DOWNTOWN—(2,400), 1st week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Larry Ceballos stage revue, news, Vitaphone varieties. Gross: $17,000. Rating: 110%.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

UNITED ARTISTS—(2,100), 2nd week, 9 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Talkartoon, Musical short, news, Gaylord Carter organ concert. Gross: $15,500, (9 days). Rating: 95%.

"INSIDE THE LINES" (RKO)

RKO—(2,700), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: RKO vaudeville, comedy, Pathe news. Gross: $11,500. Rating: 76%.

"DIXIANA" (RKO)

ORPHEUM—(2,750), 2nd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Humanette comedy, Pathe news. Gross: $11,000. Rating: 66%.

HOLLYWOOD

"HELL'S ANGELS" (Caddo)

GRAUMAN'S CHINESE—(2,023), 10th week, 7 days, twice daily, 75c to $1.50. Other attractions: Sid Grauman prologue, four Hunter Bros. (endurance flyers). Gross: $20,800. Rating: 126%.

"JOURNEY'S END" (Tiffany)

GRAUMAN'S EGYPTIAN—(1,800), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, Max Fisher's band, News. Gross: $5,100. Rating: 140%.

"THE MATRIMONIAL BED" (Warner)

WARNER HOLLYWOOD—(3,000), 1st week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Larry Ceballos stage revue, Vitaphone varieties, news. Gross: $17,300. Rating: 125%.

"SHADOW OF THE LAW" (Para.)

PANTAGES HOLLYWOOD—(3,000), 7 days, 40c to 65c. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco "Gems and Jams" Idea, news, comedy. Gross: $12,600. Rating: 82%.

Bargman Moves M. P. Lab. Ass'n Headquarters to '729'

The Godfrey Building film center at 729 7th Ave., New York, is the new headquarters of the Motion Picture Laboratory Ass'n., of which S. L. Bargman is secretary and manager. Majority of important labs in the East are members of the organization.

Astoria Studio Expands

Paramount will acquire on Sept. 1, a building and property adjoining its Eastern studio on Long Island, which will be utilized as storage and shop space.

Closing French Deal

Signing the contract which licenses Braunberger-Richebe, French producing firm, to record talkers by the Western Electric system. This is the second French firm to secure a W. E. license, the first having been Cine Studio Continental. Braunberger-Richebe has a chain of French theatres, 13 of which are wired for W. E. reproduction.

Child Film Study Slated for Nov. 19 Confab at Capital

Survey of pictures and their effect upon boys and girls 18 years or younger will be part of a report to be presented at the White House Conference on Child Health to be held Nov. 19 to 22 at Washington. The special study will be directed by Dr. Lee F. Hanmer, director of the department of research of the Russell Sage Foundation.

Members of the committee, who will make the study and the functions assigned to them are: Mrs. Elizabeth R. Dessez, writer, "Extent of Industry"; Wilton A. Barrett, of the National Board of Review, "Legal Status"; Mrs. Thomas G. Winter, of the Association of Motion Picture Producers, "Public Relations"; Mrs. Mary Allen Abbott, professor of English, Teachers' College, Columbia University, "Attendance of Children"; Mrs. Harriet H. Locher, formerly of the Crandall Theatres, "Special Programs for Children"; Dr. Augustus O. Thomas, president of the World Federation of Education Association, "Neighborhood Motion Picture House."

Also Professor Howard Le Sourd, of Boston University, "Church Use of Motion Pictures"; Colonel Roy W. Winton, of the Amateur Cinema League, "Amateur Picture Making and Showing"; Dr. Albert R. Lovejoy, director, Cambridge School of the Drama, "Youth and the Theatre"; Roy S. Woodbury, of the Children's Aid Society, "Attendance by Children," and Professor Frederick H. Koch, of the University of North Carolina, "Amateur Dramatics."

Rose to Build in Canada

Oshawa, Ont.—George Rose has completed financing for erection of a $200,000 theatre in Oshawa. Construction starts in the autumn.

Colman Pulls 54 Grand Into Rialto at N.Y.

"Raffles," starring Ronald Colman, turned in a sensational performance at New York's Rialto, where, despite terrific heat, the gross rolled up to $54,600, the healthiest take for the week on the main stem.

Majority of the big downtown stands were hit hard by old man Sol, Capitol, Paramount and Roxy, each turning in grosses radically lower than seasonal par.

The town is preparing to take it on the chin aplenty within two weeks when five $2 runs are opened, including two "Hell's Angels" shows, at the Criterion and Gaiety.

Estimated takings:

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

ASTOR—(1,120), 50c, 75c, $1, $1.50, $2, 7 days, 7th week. Other attractions: Comedy, "College Hounds"; newsreel. Gross: $17,700; fair, considering terrific heat.

"SINS OF THE CHILDREN" (M-G-M)

CAPITOL—(4,700), 35c-50c-75c-$1.50, 7 days. Other attractions: Overture, Hearst Metrotone news, comedy (Laurel & Hardy "Murder Case"); presentation ("Under Sea Ballet"). Gross: $66,823; house okay at this seasonal take.

"ALL QUIET ON WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

CENTRAL—(922), 50c-75c-$1-$1.50-$2.50, 7 days, 16th week. Other attractions: None. Gross: $13,592, a jump of two grand over last week and a splendid intake, considering; picture being pulled only to accommodate Roxy booking.

"SHOOTING STRAIGHT" (Radio)

GLOBE—(1,050), 35c-50c-75c, Other attractions: Pathe news, shorts, cartoon. Gross: $12,050; pretty good.

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Paramount)

PARAMOUNT—(3,700), 40c-50c-65c-85c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe Review, Paramount news, "Beside the Western Sea," Sportlight, comedy ("Noah's Lark"); Travel-talk ("India"); Jesse Crawford at the organ. Gross: $68,900, not near par, but a healthy seasonal figure.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

RIALTO—(1,904), 65c-85c, 3rd week, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy ("Neighboring Neighbors"); Lee Morse, Paramount news, cartoon ("Barnacle Bill"). Gross: $54,600. Week's biggest sensation, building up heavy after two weeks.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Para.)

RIVOLI—(2,103), 35c-65c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy ("Accidents Will Happen"); "New Rhythm," by orchestra; Paramount news. Gross: $36,700, too bad for this one; picture rates more, but weather slapped it hard; take nearly double last week's.

"GOOD INTENTIONS" (Fox)

ROXY—(6,200), 50c-75c-$1-$1.50, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone, Hearst Metrotone, organ recital, overture ("Wagneriana, Pastel Ballet"); "Carnival of Venice," "Microphobia," "Prairie Echoes." Gross: $73,100, a flat performance.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)

WINTER GARDEN—(1,493), 35c-50c-65c-$1, 7 days, 3rd week. Other attractions: Joe Frisco in "The Song Plugger"; newsreel. Gross: $32,327, very healthy.

"GOLDEN DAWN" (Warners)

STRAND—(3,000), 35c-50c-60c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedies, "Ginsburg of Newburgh" and The Potters in "Out for Game"; Pathe news, Sportlight, "Somewhere Out"; news. Gross: $18,881, terrible.

Cutler-Hammer Acquires Reynolite from Reynolds

Reynolite division of the Reynolds Spring Co., Jackson, Mich., now is the wholly owned subsidiary of Cutler-Hammer. The deal brings to the latter the line of bakelite flush plates, plural plugs, etc., molded by Reynolite.

Decorator Dies

Boston—Zachariah Mode, internationally known interior decorator whose work is seen in a number of Boston theatres as well as throughout New England, died suddenly at his home in the Dorchester district of Boston.

Vacations, Golf Harmless to B. O. At Oklahoma City

Oklahoma City—Business was fair all around. Warm, sultry weather and vacation seasons for many sent large numbers of cash customers to the far-away spaces, and many were attending night baseball and miniature golf courses.

"Bad One" (U. A.), with Dolores Del Rio, at the Criterion, grossed $5,200, rating 110%. "Richest Man in the World" knocked off $4,500 at the Capitol, and "Numbered Men" (F. N.), at the Liberty, did a like amount.

"Love Racket" (F. N.), with Dorothy Mackail, only did four grand, while "Hot Curves" (Tiffany), at the Orpheum, only pulled down $3,000 for four days.

On Friday, a new Richmond in the field in the par excellent stellar Warner Brothers' Midwest theatre, with Richard Barthelmess in "Dawn Patrol," made its bow and bid for Oklahoma City theatrical patronage. The new theatre is housed in a $1,000,000 theatre-office building and the last word in theatre building. It should be able to make a dent on the row.

Estimated takings:

"LOVE RACKET" (F.N.)

EMPRESS—(1,500), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Lloyd Hamilton in "Prize Puppies," Universal news. Gross: $4,000. Rating: 90%.

"NUMBERED MEN" (F.N.)

LIBERTY—(1,800), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox news, Mickey Mouse in "Barnyard Battles." Gross: $4,500. Rating: 95%.

"BAD ONE" (U.A.)

CRITERION—(2,000), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, "Jazz Preferred," "Hot Turkeys." Gross: $4,500. Rating: 110%.

"RICHEST MAN IN THE WORLD" (M-G-M)

CAPITOL—(1,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, Our Gang in "Bear Shooters." Gross: $4,500.

"HOT CURVES" (Tiffany)

ORPHEUM (1,500), 25c-50c, 4 days. Other attractions: Kinogram news, RKO Vaude. Gross: $3,000. Rating: 90%.

"VERY IDEA" (RKO)

ORPHEUM (1,500), 25c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Kinogram news, Fanchon and Marco's "Desert Idea." Gross: $2,800. Rating: 90%.

'Strictly Modern' Drops Pantages To 60% Intake

Kansas City—Heading the list for the week was M-G-M's "Raffles," at the Midland, which grossed $13,750, a 110% rating. Fox's "Good Intentions," at the Uptown, was rated at 105%, with a gross of $6,300. R-K-O's "Lawful Larceny," at the Mainstreet, did average business on $15,000. The Pantages dropped to 60% on the week's showing of First National's "Strictly Modern," taking in $5,700. At the Newman, where the Paramount picture, "For the Defense," was played, the gross was $9,000 and the rating 100%. The Royal, with Universal's "Captain of the Guard," reported a rating of 90%, or a $4,000 gross.

Estimated takings:

"RAFFLES" (M-G-M)

MIDLAND—(4,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Other attractions: Harry Langdon in "The Shrimp"; Silly Symphony, "Night"; Grantland Rice sportlight; Metrotone news. Gross: $13,750. Rating: 110%.

"LAWFUL LARCENY" (RKO)

MAINSTREET—(3,067), 35c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Five acts vaude headlining Miss Kitty Doner. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 100%.

"GOOD INTENTIONS" (Fox)

UPTOWN—(2,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe comedy, "America or Bust"; Voice of Hollywood; Universal news. Gross: $6,300. Rating: 105%.

"STRICTLY MODERN" (F.N.)

PANTAGES—(2,166), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions Pathe news, Felix the Cat. Gross: $5,700. Rating: 60%.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Para.)

NEWMAN—(2,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Rudy Vallee novelty, Wonders of India ("The Love Temple"); "Neighborly Neighbors." Gross: $9,000. Rating: 100%.

"CAPTAIN OF THE GUARDS" (Univ.)

ROYAL—(900), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Harry Gribbon in "Swell People," Paramount news. Gross: $4,000. Rating: 90%.

'S Fact

Ottawa — A MOTION PICTURE NEWS sleuth asked the head usher at the Imperial the name of the current comedy, and received the reply: "Mind Your Business."

Both were jolted for the moment, but it was.

"Raffles" Only Run to Hit Par At Cleveland

Cleveland—The terrible and continued heat has so exhausted the general public that only the best pictures on view have had any sort of a break. "Raffles" did well enough during its second week at the Stillman to warrant holding it a third week. "Let Us Be Gay," the picture that came within a few dollars of breaking the Allen house record last week, packed both the Cameo and Park this week. A strong vaudeville bill coupled with the picture, "Wild Company," drew well at the Palace, but other houses reported under average business. Matinees have been consistently good, probably because the cool first-run theatres offer relief from the sun, but the evenings have been decidedly off.

Estimated takings:

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

STILLMAN—(1,900), 7 days, 40c-75c. Other attractions: "Hot Dog," (M-G-M);"Jazz Rhythm," (Columbia, Silly Symphony); "Wizard's Apprentice," (United Artist)); Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 100%.

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

ALLEN—(3,300), 7 days, 30c-60c. Other attractions: "Girl Shock," (M-G-M); "Second Hungarian Rhapsody," (United Artist); "Old Time Movies," (state right); Hearst Metrotone news, (M-G-M). Gross: $15,000. Rating: 83%.

"SWEET MAMA" (F. N.)

STATE—(3,400), 7 days, 30c-60c. Other attractions: "An Old Flame," (Columbia); "Chills and Fever," (Pathe); "Cotton Picking Time," (Fischer Film); Paramount news, Loew's Unit show, with Dave Schooler as m. c. Gross: $16,000. Rating: 80%.

"WILD COMPANY" (Fox)

RKO PALACE—(3,600), 7 days, 35c-75c. Other attractions: "Princess Lady Bug,"(Columbia); "Some Baby," (Pathe); Sportlight, (Pathe); Pathe news, vaudeville. Gross: about $21,500. Rating: 85%.

"GOOD INTENTIONS" (Fox)

RKO HIPPODROME—(4,500), 7 days, 35c-75c. Other attractions: "Stage Door Knights," (Columbia); "Peep on the Deep," (RKO); Fox Movietone news. Gross: $15,800. Rating: 79%.

"CRAZY THAT WAY" (Fox)

KEITH'S EAST 105TH ST.—(2,200), 7 days, 25c-50c. Other attractions: "Mind Your Business," (Pathe); Humanettes, (RKO); Sportlight, (Pathe); Pathe news, vaudeville. Gross: $11,000. Rating: 73%.

Dressler-Moran, Iced Weather Is Big Balto Draw

Baltimore—With the exception of one day, when it was terrifically hot and sticky, weather for this week here was temperate and pleasant, but rain is needed very badly. The refrigerated houses, however, again showed their superiority over fan-cooled theatres to draw patrons, and even though another first-run closed for the season, it did not seem to help much.

The outstanding feature of the week was the enormous gross of $26,000 piled up at Loew's Stanley by Norma Shearer and Marie Dressler in "Let Us Be Gay." This made the rating 149%. The public went for it plenty. Here was an admirable example of an excellent picture in a refrigerated house pulling capacity in the worst part of the summer. Not a dissenting comment about the picture, they all thought it great.

At Loew's Century, another refrigerated house, the crowds were large for William Powell in "For the Defense," with "July Follies" starring the Arnaut Brothers on the same bill. Gross here was $21,300, rating 101%.

But at the third refrigerated theatre, Loew's Valencia, the patronage fell off somewhat, even though there was a first-run picture shown, Billie Dove in "Sweethearts and Wives," which did not register so well with the public. Too involved. Here is a case of a refrigerated house not pulling so well due to weak program. Gross: $2,800. Rating: 80%.

On Keith's program they booked Raynor Lehr and a small company to give an act which was presented in one with piano. Lehr spent 22 weeks with a large company in musical tab shows at the house at one time. But he did not seem to pull them in with his act this time. Poorly arranged. Three girl singers only did one number. Gross $5,000, with a rating of 62%.

Estimated takings:

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Paramount)

LOEW'S CENTURY—(3,221), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, Pathe Audio Review, "Big Hearted," (Mack Sennett comedy); Western Electric film, Loew-Capitol revue ("July Follies") with Arnaut brothers; orchestra, organ. Gross: $21,300. Rating: 101%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S STANLEY—(3,654), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "Jazz Rhythm," (Columbia Krazy Kat cartoon); "The Flower Garden" (M-G-M Colortone revue); organ. Gross: $26,000. Rating: 149%.

"SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES" (F. N.)

LOEW'S VALENCIA—(1,500), 25c-35c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "Hawaiian Pineapples" (cartoon), Pathe review. Gross: $2,800. Rating: 80%.

"THE UNHOLY THREE" (M-G-M)

(Shown uptown at Parkway after one week at Loew's Stanley downtown.)

LOEW'S PARKWAY—(1,092), 15c-35c, 6 days. (Mack Sennett Comedy); "Kangaroo Steak" (Terrytoon). Gross: $3,600. Rating: 82%.

"THE BORDER LEGION" (Para.)

WARNERS' METROPOLITAN—(1,500), 15c-50c, 6 days starting Saturday. Other attractions: "Two Fresh Eggs," (Pathe comedy); Vitaphone Variety, silent Kinograms, organ. Gross: $2,700. Rating: 45%.

"HOT CURVES" (Tiffany)

KEITH'S—(3,016), 25c-50c, 6 days starting Friday. Other attractions: "Some Babies," (Pathe comedy); Pathe cartoon, Pathe news; "The Rube," (Paramount act); Raynor Lehr in person with small company in variety act, piano. Gross: $5,000. Rating: 62½%.

"LAWFUL LARCENY" (Radio)

NEW—(1,600), 25c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, "Streets of Mystery" (Van Buren-Pathe travel picture of India); "Hello Television," (Mack Sennett comedy). Gross: $5,000. Rating: 50%.

'Romance,' 'Big House' Roll Up 155% at Frisco

San Francisco—Six of the leading theatres did 100% or over in the past week. Fox did high with "Romance," $40,000 gross and a 155% rating. In rating, Loew's Warfield did as much with "Big House," in its second week. Here the gross was $26,000.

Big business was also done at the Orpheum with "Dixiana." Here the gross was $10,000 and the rating 100%. This picture was very well advertised the first two days.

The California had "Raffles" with a gross of $15,000, rating 105%. "The Dawn Patrol" played at the St. Francis to more than a full house after playing to a full house at the California. The rating was 106% and gross, $12,500.

Estimated takings:

"THE MEDICINE MAN" (Tiffany)

DAVIES—(1,150), 35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Universal news, novelties, music. Gross: $7,000. Rating: 95%.

"QUEEN HIGH" (Paramount)

PARAMOUNT—(2,700), 35c-50c-65c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Organ recital (Harry Gourfain), "Rhythmodists" with Ken Whitman and his Paramounteers; Paramount news. Gross: $12,500. Rating: 105%.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

CALIFORNIA—(2,200), 35c-50c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: California orchestra, comedy ("Radio Kisses"), Paramount news. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 105%.

"THE DAWN PATROL" (First National)

ST. FRANCIS—(1,375), 35c-50c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Larie de Pries' band, Paul Ash, Jean Boyell comedy, novelty—Aesop's Fables, Paramount news. Gross: $12,500. Rating: 106%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

FOX—(5,000), 50c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Walt Roesner conducting concert orchestra; Fanchon and Marco's "Cadet Ideas," Fox and Hearst news. Gross: $40,000. Rating: 155%.

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S WARFIELD—(2,700), 50c-65c-90c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Music, scenic, "Vagabond Director," fashion reel, comedy, cartoon. Gross: $26,000. Rating: 155%.

"DIXIANA" (Radio)

ORPHEUM—(2,270), 35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, comedy, music, R-K-O vaudeville. Gross: $10,000. Rating: 100%.

"ONCE A GENTLEMAN" (Sono Art)

GOLDEN GATE—(2,400), 30c-40c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Nine acts of vaudeville. Gross: $16,000. Rating: 95%.

"THEY HAD TO SEE PARIS" (Fox)

CASINO—(2,500), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Aesop Fable, cartoon, "Vagabond Adventure," scenic, Fox Movietone news. Gross: $9,600. Rating: 91%.

"DANCING SWEETIES" (Warner Bros.)

EMBASSY—(1,400), 50c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Sport Novelty, Liborious Hauptman and his "Melody Artists," news. Gross: $8,500. Rating: 92%.

Montreal Goes For "Holiday"; Pays $13,200

Montreal—There was a somewhat better showing in box office returns among first-run theatres during the past week with the Federal election campaign out of the way, cooler weather and more tourists, a fair improvement being noted all along the theatre row.

"Holiday," at the Palace, topped the list with $13,200 for the seven days. William Powell is proving more popular as indicated by $12,500 for "Shadow of the Law" at the Capitol, although Joseph Cherniavsky helped materially by appearing as guest conductor of the stage band. The theatres gave election returns on Monday night and this strengthened receipts somewhat, although many preferred to celebrate outside.

Estimated takings:

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)

PALACE—(2,600), 25c-99c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, cartoon song, "Streets of Mystery," two-reel comedy. Gross: $13,200. Rating: 85%.

"SHADOW OF THE LAW" (Paramount)

CAPITOL—(2,670), 40c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Joseph Cherniavsky as guest conductor; Fox Movietone news; "La Chanson de Cabanon" (French song reel); "Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight" (cartoon); Charlie Chase in "Girl Shock." Gross: $12,500. Rating: 80%.

"CHEER UP AND SMILE" (Fox)

LOEW'S—(3,000), 40c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, Al. St. John comedy, Sanborn's Symphonies, five vaudeville acts. Gross: $12,100. Rating: 83%.

"LOVIN' THE LADIES" (R-K-O)

PRINCESS—(2,272), 25c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Fellow Students" (comedy); Mickey Mouse cartoon, "Desert Sunk"; Hearst Metrotone news; Universal Topics. Gross: $9,500. Rating: 85%.

"HE KNEW WOMEN" (R-K-O)

IMPERIAL—(1,650), 40c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Six R-K-O acts, Paramount news, Universal news. Gross: $8,000. Rating: 83%.

"TEMPTATION" (Columbia) AND "THE FIGHTING LEGION" (Universal)

STRAND—(750), 25c-44c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe Review, cartoon comedy. Gross: $4,700. Rating: 80%.

Oh, Yeah!

(Newspaper Headline)

VIVIAN DUNCAN WEDS

Becomes Bride of Nils Asther, Film Actress

Winnie Cops Top Dough at Ottawa On $5,900 Take

Ottawa.—Attractive features at the theatres and a return of confidence after the general elections in Canada brought good business to most theatres in Ottawa, during the week exhibitors admitting that receipts were satisfactory. Cooler weather also helped. Outstanding were "Hold Everything" at the Regent; "Caught Short" at the Centre and "Free and Easy" at Keith's, all of which hit around 100%. It was largely comedy week in Ottawa attractions and the people seemed ready for laughs. "One Embarrassing Night" was played up as a British feature at the Imperial but failed to draw more than average. Weather: clear and slightly cooler.

Estimated takings:

"HOLD EVERYTHING" (Warners)

REGENT—(1,225), 15c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, Laurel and Hardy in "Hay Wire"; Mickey Mouse cartoon, orchestra. Gross: $5,900. Rating: 100%.

"FREE AND EASY" (M-G-M)

B. F. KEITH'S—(2,596), 15c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, "Hearts and Hoofs" (comedy). Gross: $4,500. Rating: 90%.

"CAUGHT SHORT" (M-G-M)

CENTRE—(1,200), 15c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: "The Voice of Hollywood," Negro spirituals reel. Gross: $3,750. Rating: 100%.

"A NOTORIOUS AFFAIR" (First National)

AVALON—(990), 25c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, "Bitter Friends" (comedy); Felix the Cat in "Cactus Kid." Gross: $900. Rating: 70%.

"ONE EMBARRASSING NIGHT" (M-G-M)

IMPERIAL—(1,200), 15c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Hearst Metrotone news, "Mind Your Business" (comedy). Gross: $2,600. Rating: 70%.

"COURAGE" (Warners)

KEITH'S—(2,596), 15c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Universal news, "America or Bust" (comedy); "Cannibal Capers." Gross: $3,700. Rating: 75%.

"TROOPERS THREE" (Tiffany)

AVALON—(990), 25c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, "Her Borrowed Husband," (comedy); "Talking in the Air." Gross: $1,200. Rating: 85%.

"Quiet" Catches $20,000 in Run At Providence

Providence—Phenomenal success of "All Quiet on the Western Front," at the RKO Albee proved the week's highlight, the war picture hitting $20,000 which comes close to being a record gross for this house. To give the film big play, vaude was yanked for the week. Picture is being held over for second week and there is every indication that it will be in for a run. On the hottest days of the week, when the mercury climbed to 95, "SRO" signs were flying high with no breeze.

Estimated takings:

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

RKO ALBEE—(2,300), 7 days, 25c-75c. Other attractions: "Golf Specialist." Vaude omitted. Gross: $20,000. Rating: 150%.

"SHOOTING STRAIGHT" (RKO)

RKO VICTORY—(1,600), 7 days, 15c-50c. Other attractions: "Boss's Orders," Pathe news. Gross: $7,000. Rating: 80%.

"LOVE AMONG THE MILLIONAIRES" (Par.)

PARAMOUNT—(2,300), 7 days, 15c-50c. Other attractions: "The Rube." "Fire Bug," "Accidents Will Happen," Joe Alexander's organlogue. Gross: $12,800. Rating: 90%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S STATE—(3,800), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Screen Snapshots, Audio Revue, "Fast Work," Hearst Metrotone news, Maurice, guest organist. Gross: $19,500. Rating: 95%.

"PARAMOUNT ON PARADE" (Par.)

MAJESTIC—(2,400), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "The Man Who Laughed Last," Pathe Audio Revue, Paramount news. Gross: $10,000. Rating: 90%.

"Way Out West" Goes Over Big in Omaha; Hits 125%

Omaha—A break in the weather last week boomed business in all houses, after the hottest July in history of town, with 12 days when mercury was above the century mark. Maximum was 108.6.

A great all-around bill gave "Way Out West" (M-G-M) the big money for a 125% week. Gross was $11,775. Venita Gould headlined the vaudeville.

Paramount, after several mediocre weeks, managed to get $8,800 with "Blushing Brides" (M-G-M), otherwise 110%. "Hell's Island" (Columbia), at the Orpheum, had powerful support in Ledova and Fred Lightner to bring in $14,500, 100%.

Booked for three days, "King of Jazz" (Universal) was kept at the State for the full week, piling up $4,350, which is a normal seven days.

Estimated takings:

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

WORLD—(2,500) 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Venita Gould, 4 Publix acts, Billy Meyers & band, Paramount news, shorts. Gross: $11,775. Rating: 125%.

"BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

PARAMOUNT—(2,900), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, organ, comedy, novelty Gross: $8,800. Rating: 110%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Col.)

ORPHEUM—(3,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Ledova, Fred Lightner on four act RKO bill, Pathe news, shorts. Gross: $14,500. Rating: 100%.

"KING OF JAZZ" (Univ.)

STATE—(1,200), 25c-40c, 7 days. Other attractions: Universal news, comedy, novelty. Gross: $4,350. Rating: 100%.

Unexpected Laughs

San Francisco—Someone with an eye for unexpected comedy arranged the spotlight on the California's orchestra. The spot was to light Bernard Katz, pianist, while he played the cadenzas in "Second Hungarian Rhapsody" with Larian's orchestra. The spot did its work, but it also cast Katz's silhouette against the curtain behind him. The curtain, not a flat one, turned the silhouette into so grotesque a caricature of the pianist that the audience broke into a hearty guffaw. But Katz played bravely on, did so well, in fact, that he received an ovation at the finish.

Wow of a Week At Portland; All Hit Over 100%

Portland, Ore. — With slightly cooler weather the crowds flocked back to the first runs on Broadway and found it hard to choose among the excellent offerings. With splendid exploitation and demonstrating the excellent work of Holt and Graves in their Columbia offering, "Hell's Island," Hamrick's Music Box annexed the highest gross with $15,475 and a rating of 145%. It was the opening of "Greater Movie Season," and a monster electrically lighted neon sign which crossed the full width of the street reading, "'Hell's Angels' With Jack Holt and Ralph Graves," proved the season's best drawing card for the house. Following closely was Fox Broadway, featuring Billy Haines in "Way Out West," grossing $14,875 and 135%; also with plenty of lobby atmosphere, and the usual strong F. & M. stage show.

Estimated takings:

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)

HAMRICK'S MUSIC BOX—(1,835), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vitaphone acts, Fox Movietone news, Micky Mouse cartoon. Gross: $15,475. Rating: 145%.

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

FOX BROADWAY—(1,912), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fanchon & Marco's "Seeing Double Idea," two Stroud boys as m. c.'s, Henry LeBel at Wurlitzer, Don Wilkins (final week), with Kenin's Band; Fox Movietone news. Gross: $14,875. Rating: 135%.

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Paramount)

PARAMOUNT—(3,068), 25c-50c, 7 days, plus midnight shows. Other attractions: Stage show, "Rythmodix," with "Happy" Phil Lampkin and Paramounteers, including Ted Leary; Auriole Craven; Con Maffie, organist. Gross: $13,785. Rating: 125%.

"NIGHT WORK" (Pathe)

RKO-ORPHEUM—(1,700), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Billed as "Greater 1930-31 Show Season"; Roxy Gang, Walter Walters, Roth & Shay. Gross: $12,650. Rating: 115%.

"LOVE AMONG MILLIONAIRES" (Paramount)

RIALTO—(1,700), 25c-50c. Other attractions: Fotovil, "Bombay," "Goodby, Legs," Paramount news, morning broadcast over KXL with Maurie Harris. Gross: $12,350. Rating: 110%.

Building New Exchange

Albany—Paramount is to build a new film exchange here to cost $50,000, and to be located on Broadway in the vicinity of several other exchanges. The building will be ready for occupancy in November. When Paramount leaves its present building there will be but one film exchange left occupying quarters in the business center of Albany, all others being located on the Troy-Albany road near the city line.

"Sea Bat" at Chi Little House, Hits 175% High Spot

Chicago — Loop grosses were off from their sensational paces of recent weeks during the seven-day period just closed, but respectable average figures prevailed in most spots. A few strong ones were also registered.

"Dawn Patrol" (F. N.) was good for $35,400 (126%) in its opening week at McVickers. This figure makes it good for another week, but a third week looks doubtful, as they move from this house at the 25 grand mark. "Common Clay" (Fox), playing to adults only at the Roosevelt, ran into its second week with $24,600 (120%). United Artists maintained its money stride with "Raffles" (U. A.), which took $27,500 (125%) in its first full week. The picture opened niecly but sagged a little toward the close of the week, indicating its next week may be its last.

Among the little houses, the Castle led with $4,900 (175%) for the first week of "Sea Bat" (M-G-M). The picture continues. The Monroe witnessed its best week in some time with "White Cargo," the Hays banned production, playing to adults only. The Fox house doubled its customary gross, taking $6,800 for a rating of 100%. The Orpheum, likewise, hit a good stride with the third Loop run of "All Quiet on the Western Front" (U.). Picture did $7,900 (105%). Weather: hot, then seasonal and fair.

Estimated takings:

"SEA BAT" (M-G-M)

CASTLE—(300), 60c, 1st week. Other attractions: Univ. newsreel. Picture held for a second week. Gross: $4,900. Rating: 175%.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Para.)

CHICAGO—(3,940), 35c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, newsreel, musical short, orchestra, stage show. Gross: $43,200. Rating: 90%.

"THE DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)

McVICKERS—(2,284), 35c-85c, 1st week. Other attractions: Comedy, newsreel, novelty short. Gross: $35,400. Rating: 126%.

"WHITE CARGO" (British)

MONROE—(962), 25c-40c, 7 days. Other attractions: 30 minutes newsreel, comedy. Gross: $6,800. Rating: 100%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)

ORIENTAL—(3,900), 35c-85c, 2nd week in Loop. Other attractions: Stage show, organ, comedy, newsreel, novelty short. Gross: $35,700. Rating: 85%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

ORPHEUM—(762), 25c-50c, 7 days—3d Loop run. Other attractions: 3 Vitaphone acts, newsreel. Gross: $8,000. Rating: 105%.

"GOOD INTENTIONS" (Fox)

PALACE—(2,509), 35c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: 5 acts vaudeville, newsreel, comedy. Gross: $19,200. Rating: 80%.

"COMMON CLAY" (Fox)

ROOSEVELT—(1,591), 35c-85c, 1st week. Other attractions: Comedy, musical short, newsreel. Gross: $24,600. Rating: 120%.

"CHEER UP AND SMILE" (Fox)

STATE-LAKE—(2,776), 35c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: 5 acts vaudeville, cartoon, newsreel, Gross: $23,800. Rating: 90%.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

UNITED ARTISTS—(1,700) 35c- 85c, 1st week. Other attractions: Comedy, musical short, newsreel. Gross: $27,500. Rating: 125%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Col.)

WOODS—(1,166), 35c-75c, last 7 days of 12-day run. Other attractions: Comedy, newsreel, cartoon. Replaced by "Rain or Shine" (Col.), which opened big with an accompaniment of extra newspaper display space. Gross: $9,300. Rating: 80%.

Mix Charges Dropped

Los Angeles—By payment of back taxes and penalties, Tom Mix has avoided trial on charges to defraud the Government of income tax.

How Do You Mean That?

Rockville Center—Owner, unexpectedly called on European business, offers Colonial home, motion picture actress, South Shore Long Island, within ten minutes Long Beach, for rental, first time; design leading architect; living room, library, dining room, large screened porch; complete furnishings, good taste, silver, linen, china, glass . . . —From an adv. in the Times.

We don't question your taste, but we'd really have to see her.—New Yorker.

"Recaptured Love" Rates 40% on $720

Des Moines—The hottest day in Iowa since 1918 was recorded here and business at local houses might have been expected to be the worst of the season, but it was not.

"For the Defense" at the Paramount with good billing was successful in recording 175%. Joan Crawford stacked up a record of high popularity with 225% for "Our Blushing Brides." "Clancy in Wall Street" at the Orpheum with a band which especially drew big crowds scored 120% in the larger house.

The return of the heat, which was turned off for a couple of days, cut into the business at the end of the week. "Recaptured Love" hit a new low mark with 40%. Matinees were away off and evenings but a few dollars better.

Business at the Paramount was stimulated by the fact that the Des Moines, next door, is closed for redecorating.

Estimated takings:

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Para.)

PARAMOUNT—(1,700), 3 days, 25c, 35c, 60c. Other attractions: Paramount news, Bob Hamilton organ specialty, 4 acts of stage band vaud. Gross: $7,000. Rating: 175%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

PARAMOUNT—(1,700), 4 days, 25c, 35c, 60c. Other attractions: "U." news, Bob Hamilton organ number, Al Morey and stage band in stage show ("Hoop-La). Gross: $9,370. Rating: 225%.

"CLANCY IN WALL STREET" (Capitol)

ORPHEUM—(2,000), 4 days, 25c-50c. Other attractions: RKO vaud. Pathe news, RKO comedy ("Mickey's Merry Men). Gross: $4,980. Rating: 120%.

"WOMEN EVERYWHERE" (Fox)

ORPHEUM—(2,000), 3 days, 25c-50c. Other attractions: RKO vaud., Pathe news, Pathe Fables. Gross: $3,504. Rating: 100%.

"RECAPTURED LOVE" (F. N.)

STRAND—(1,100), 20c, 30c, 4 days. Other attractions: Para. news, Para. special ("Our Man Reunion"); Educ. comedy ("The Head Guy"). Gross: $720. Rating: 40%.

"THE SAP" (Warner)

STRAND—(1,100), 20c-30c, 4 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, Para. comedy ("Dresden Dolls"); Columbia cartoon ("Felix the Cat"). Gross: $1,800. Rating: 100%.

Hersholt Cast in Two

Hollywood—Jean Hersholt, has been assigned by Universal to play in two forthcoming talkers for that studio, "The Cat Creeps" and "East Is West." Upon finishing these Hersholt will move to Metropolitan studios where he will appear in "Red Kisses" and "East of Asia" for Liberty Productions.

Richardson Aids Fox's "Philly"; Pulls $29,500

Philadelphia — Continuing hot weather kept business a little below average in most Philly houses, though Fox showed an appreciable jump above usual mark with personal appearance of Frankie Richardson, local entertainer, now a Fox featured player. "Wild Company" was the film. Business here jumped to $29,500, $2,500 better than summer average and over $3,000 better than previous week.

Mastbaum nosed just under usual mark with $39,000 for Clara Bow's "Love Among the Millionaires." "Holiday" did $15,000 in four days at the Stanley to earn 100% rating. "Dawn Patrol" and "Big House" had good second weeks at the Boyd and Stanton, respectively.

The Chestnut, Shubert house, remains dark after a summer run of "All Quiet on the Western Front." Rumors, however, indicate that this theatre will open in the fall on a picture policy. The Erlanger, legit house rented by R-K-O, has been dark since this company's lease expired three weeks ago. House will return to legit in the fall.

Estimated takings:

"LOVE AMONG THE MILLIONAIRES" (Para.)

MASTBAUM—(4,800), 35c-50c-75c, 6 days. Other attractions: Esther Ralston in personal appearance; unit stage show (Publix), "Forward March," with Nina Olivette and Talent and Merritt; Fabien Servitzky, guest conductor. Gross: $38,000. Rating: 95%.

"WILD COMPANY" (Fox)

FOX—(3,000), 40c-50c-75c, 6 days. Other attractions: Frank Richardson in person, Fanchon and Marco's "Peasant's Idea," Movietone news, orchestral interlude. Gross: $29,500. Rating: 110%.

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)

STANLEY—(3,700), 35c-50c-75c, 4 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Vitaphone comedy ("The Potters"). Gross: $15,000. Rating: 100%. "Romance," M-G-M, grossed $3,500 last two days of run.

"DAWN PATROL" (First National)

BOYD—(2,400), 35c-50c-75c, 6 days, 2nd week. Other attractions: M-G-M news. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 80%.

"MIDNIGHT MYSTERY" (R-K-O)

EARLE—(2,000), 25c-65c, 6 days. Other attractions: Stage show, "Something Different" with Jay Mills m. c., Burns and Allen and Pasquali brothers headlining; M-G-M news. Gross: $18,000. Rating: 100%.

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

STANTON—(1,700), 25c-65c, 6 days. Other attractions: Newsreel, Vitaphone Variety, Charlie Kerr's radio orchestra. Gross: $12,000. Rating: 105%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

KARLTON—40c-50c, 6 days, (second run). Other attractions: Lloyd Hamilton comedy, news-reel. Gross: $6,000. Rating: 115%.

McElwaine Returns to Coast

After weeks of conferences at the home office in New York with the advertising and publicity department, Donn McElwaine, director of advertising and publicity at the Pathe studios, has returned to Culver City. He made the trip by airplane.

Italian Talker Premiered

San Francisco—North Beach's Milano theatre is running "Alma Gaucha," the first Italian all-talker to be produced in Hollywood. Before closing, a print will be shipped by plane to New York for showing there prior to its departure for Italy.

Burke Resigns from U. A.

Minneapolis — Tom Burke resigns as United Artists manager here about Aug. 20, and is expected to join Publix.

9,000 Radios Daily

Within two weeks, the newly rejuvenated RCA-Victor plant at Camden, N. J., will be geared to a daily turnout of 9,000 radiolas, victrolas and radios daily, merchandising through this unit, in addition to General Electric and Westinghouse.

RCA-Victor recently added 7,000 to its employees' roster.

4 Boston Runs In Stiff Race For Top Spot

Boston—"For the Defense" which moved along from the Metropolitan to the Publix Scollay Square continued to pull heavy receipts which marked its Metropolitan appearance, hitting 110% for $15,000.

With the leading Publix house playing a Pathe feature, "Holiday," for a $34,000 gross, with both RKO houses showing Fox films and two Publix houses showing First National's "Dawn Patrol" day and date, the usual order of things was considerably mixed up. Both Fox features, "Double Cross Roads" and "Wild Company" did good business with $18,000 and $22,500 respectively while "Dawn Patrol" rated 90%, which is well above the seasonal ratings in Boston.

Both Loew houses rated 110% with "Our Blushing Brides" and "The Unholy Three." Weather: Fair and warm.

Estimated takings:

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)

METROPOLITAN—(4,350), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Publix revue, "High Speed"; comedy, Paramount news, lounge dancing. Gross: $34,000. Rating: 110%.

"DOUBLE CROSS ROADS" (Fox)

KEITH-ALBEE—(2,500), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Casa Loma orchestra, vaudeville, RKOlians, Pathe news. Gross: $18,000. Rating: 95%.

"WILD COMPANY" (Fox)

KEITH-MEMORIAL—(2,800), 30c-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: comedy, Pathe review, Pathe news. Gross: $22,500. Rating: 100%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S STATE—(3,700), 30c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, Hearst news. Gross: $21,000. Rating: 110%.

"THE UNHOLY THREE" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—(3,100), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaudeville, comedy, Hearst news. Gross: $21,000. Rating: 110%.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Para.)

SCOLLAY SQUARE—(1,800), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Band show, vaudeville, comedy, Paramount news. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 110%.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)

(Playing day and date with Uptown)

OLYMPIA—(2,500), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, cartoon, Paramount news. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 90%.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)

(Playing day and date with Olympia)

UPTOWN—(2,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Cartoon, comedy, Paramount news. Gross: $11,000. Rating: 90%.

Ford Sterling Is Latest To Join Christie Ranks

Hollywood—Ford Sterling is the latest addition to the Christie ensemble of comedians who will appear in the Christie-Educational comedies during the coming year. Sterling, one of the first film comedians in the business, has appeared in innumerable short reelers, and was under contract to Paramount for two years as a featured player in regulation productions.

Bow, Swedes Don't Mix; Result: 60% Rating at Mpls.

Minneapolis—Clara Bow and her "Love Among the Millionaires," at the Minnesota, did not make the box-office run in the big money class. A snappy stage show saved the house from an out and out flop. The take was $22,000, which placed the house in a 60% rating.

The State, showing "Swanson's Big Night Out," walked away with every other house in the Loop with the exception of the Century. Brendel is "aces" with the cash customers. The house grossed $19,000 or a rating of 110%. The Orpheum, showing "Floradora Girl," and featuring "Signor Friscoe" and his band as the vaude headliner, took a 65% rating to a gross of $16,750.

The Century, boosting "All Quiet on the Western Front," is doing land office business. The picture is playing its second week and has been over the hundred per cent mark both weeks. The house grossed $11,000, rating 120%. The Shubert closed its doors Friday after switching from the straight drama field to pictures. Their last picture, "Paradise Island," brought the house a gross of $4,000, rating 55%. The Lyric hit the hundred per cent mark with "Swing High." It grossed $3,000. The Aster tied the rating of the Lyric by shooting "The Big Party" over to a take of $2,200. Weather was warm.

Estimated takings:

"LOVE AMONG THE MILLIONAIRES" (Para.)

MINNESOTA—(4,025), 35c-45c-75c, 7 days, 7 shows daily. Other attractions: "Magic Melodies" (Publix stage show); "Neighborly Neighbors," comedy; Paramount newsreel. Gross: $22,000. Rating: 60%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (Universal) (Second Week)

CENTURY—(1,640), 50c-75c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: None. Gross: $11,000. Rating: 120%.

"THE FLORADORA GIRL" (M-G-M)

ORPHEUM—(2,900), 35c-50c-75c, 7 days 3 shows daily. Other attractions: "Signor Friscoe," heading four-act variety bill. Gross: $16,750. Rating: 65%.

"SWANSON'S BIG NIGHT OUT" (Fox)

STATE—(2,300), 25c-35c-60c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: "The Champs," comedy; "Glow Worm," Paramount featurette; news reel. Gross: $19,000. Rating: 110%.

"PARADISE ISLAND" (Tiffany)

SHUBERT—(1,500), 50c-75c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: None. Gross: $4,000. Rating: 55%.

"SWING HIGH" (Pathe)

LYRIC—(1,238), 15c-25c-40c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: News. Gross: $3,000. Rating: 100%.

"THE BIG PARTY" (Fox)

ASTER—(812), 15c-25c-30c, 7 days, 7 shows daily. Other attractions: Newsreel. Gross: $2,200. Rating: 100%.

New Warner House in Okla. City Pinches First Run Row

Oklahoma City—The Mid-West, new Warner first-run and one of six houses controlled by the chain in Oklahoma City, has finished its first week.

The house seats 1,800 and is Spanish in design and decoration. Fifteen hundred business men attended a private premiere the night before the public opening. Leto Hill, district manager for Warners, has the house under his general jurisdiction. The manager is John M. Schoeppel, former assistant manager of the Missouri Theatre in St. Louis. H. H. Niemeyer is now divisional publicity manager, likewise coming from St. Louis, where he handled the Missouri. Hill was formerly manager of the Ambassador in the same city.

100,000 Amateurs in Television May Hold the Answer to Practical Use

Constant Experiment Seen as Way to Unearth Facts That Scientists Miss

One hundred thousand experimenters in the United States who now dabble in radio may be the ones to unearth the scientific facts which will make television practicable.

In the opinion of Dr. E. F. W. Alexanderson, internationally known inventor and General Electric engineer, this group will popularize long distance television.

He believes this country shortly will see a wave of activity in amateur television largely because commercial broadcasting has starved radio bugs of real interest in radio for the past several years. Alexanderson, in an article appearing in "Boy's Life," says he believes boys experimenting at work benches in attics and cellars all over the country have solved the problems that baffled scientists.

According to C. Francis Jenkins, 20,000 amateurs are receiving radio motion pictures broadcast from station W3XK of Washington. Chicago, Passaic and Jersey City have their broadcasting stations, he is quoted as saying in the progress committee's report of the Society of M. P. Engineers.

The latest section of the report which is being published in full in Motion Picture News deals with the applications of motion pictures outside of the entertainment field. The text:

Sound motion pictures began to be used for non-theatrical purposes during 1929. The Hotchkiss School in Lakeville, Conn., was reported according to Lewin,[241] to be the first school to have sound reproduction facilities installed. He also reported that an experimental program of sound pictures was planned for a Newark, N. J., public school in April or May, 1930. A film entitled "Administration Departments of the Federal Government" was selected for projection. This film included voice and picture records of the President of the United States. Lewin gave a list of 18 industrial and educational sound pictures. A description was published of a sound film on vocational guidance made by Kitson of Columbia University.[242] Announcement of plans was made of the U. S. Department of Agriculture for recording such events as the National Dairy Show in sound.[243]

A sound newsreel was made of the wireless reception of the news of Admiral Byrd's flight over the South Pole.[244] More than 1000 feet of motion pictures were reported to have been made of the polar regions during this flight.

The first transcontinental use of a sound motion picture as a substitute for the presence of the actual person is stated to be the address made by Hon. R. L. Wilbur, U. S. Secretary of the Interior, in May, 1929, at the Muybridge Celebration at Stanford University. It was shown with portable equipment.[245] A more extensive application of this public address idea was made in January, 1930, when a corporation president spoke in eleven different cities on the same evening at the annual president's dinner, through the medium of the sound picture.[246]

Future students in universities may be able to see as well as hear some of the world's leading scientists which should serve to enhance their interest in the investigations of such men. Sound films were made of lecture demonstrations by Sir Oliver Lodge, Sir Ernest Rutherford, Sir William Bragg, well-known English scientists, and of Dr. Irving Langmuir of the Research Staff of the General Electric Company.[247]

A series of sound motion pictures relating to business conditions has been planned by Harvard University on the subjects—"Regions of the United States," and "Commerce and Industry."[248]

Confessions of the defendants in burglary and murder trials were recorded in Philadelphia as a part of an experimental investigation on the value of the sound motion picture in criminal court practice.[249] It was reported that a bureau is to be established for making sound pictures of prisoners so as to have records of their voices, gestures and mannerisms. A similar bureau has been established in Paris by the Surete Generale.[250]

Films in Universities

The cultural course, "Introduction to the Photoplay," established in 1928 at the University of Southern California, has been continued and has also been adopted by Stanford University and the University of Iowa.[251] Courses on technical and scientific cinematography were begun at the Vienna Technische Hochschule under Dr. P. Schrott and a three year course has been established in Berlin.[252] Santini[253] stated that there are over 5000 projectors being used for showing educational films in Italian schools. A résumé of the uses made of classroom films as an aid to teaching has been published by McClusky.[254] According to Walters,[255] increased interest, as well as a better understanding of processes, resulted from showing industrial films as a part of the work of chemistry classes in an Oklahoma high school. Thirty-two new films for classroom use have been released since October, 1929, by a corporation organized for the production of such films. A total of over ninety films have been prepared.

A motion picture conference held in New York between leaders of the industry and civic, educational, religious, and social service organizations, resulted in a better understanding of the relationship between the industry and the public.[256] Educators have urged that the best photoplays should be preserved and revised for visual education after they have served their entertainment purposes.[257] A Dutch society for the preservation of motion picture records of the history of the Netherlands was organized in 1919 and has collected more than 1000 films during the decade.[258]

Medical Films, Radiography, and Photomicrography

Included in a group of motion pictures shown at the 1929 fall convention of the American College of Surgeons were four sound pictures, three of which were recorded addresses accompanying diagrammatic pictures, while the fourth represented an obstetrical operation accompanied by dialog.[259] The operation was performed by Dr. DeLee, well-known Chicago obstetrician, and the dialog was synchronized with the film by a crew of Fox cameramen.* Dr. DeLee has an elaborate laboratory for motion picture photography in the Lying-In Hospital in Chicago. It is also equipped with an animation department.[260]

Sound films have been made for the Los Angeles County Health Department by Hearst-Metrotone cameramen to encourage greater interest in public health.[261] Motion pictures of living cells of body tissues were made by Rosenberger, working with Carrel at the Rockefeller Institute, and shown at the Thirteenth International Physiologists Congress in 1929. Studies requiring days of observation were shown to an audience in half an hour.[262] Roon[263] predicts that voice recording of wills, testimony at trials, property sales, etc., will make records of greater value and accuracy than written records. Fifteen medical films have been prepared in a program under the auspices of the American College of Surgeons, the M. P. Prod. and Dist. of America, and the Eastman Kodak company. Subjects made during 1929 deal with acute appendicitis, obstetrics, vestibular function and, development of the rabbit's ovum. The last named picture was made by Dr. W. H. Lewis of the Carnegie Institute of Embryology in Baltimore and represents a beautiful example of photomicrography.

Umbehr[264] has published an historical survey of attempts made to produce X-ray motion pictures. A method used by Ruggles is considered by another writer to be very promising. The X-ray tube is turned on and off every twenty-fifth of a second in place of using a shutter.[265] Studies of movements of the heart may be made by roentgenographing the heart through a series of parallel slits in a lead screen upon a film moving slowly past the slits.[266] Rosenberger[267] published a brief description of a method for attaching the Eyemo camera to a microscope. An automatic micro-cinematographic apparatus mounted on a heavy rigid support has been described by Coissac.[268] Storch of Vienna made ultra-rapid motion analysis studies of microörganisms using an Askania high frequency camera. To reduce vibration effect, the camera was attached horizontally to the wall but the microscope may be used either in a horizontal or vertical position. (Fig. 4.) Exposures mostly over 100 per second were used, focussing was done with a green filter interposed, and the arc current reduced to 5 amperes so as to minimize heating effects on the delicate organisms.

Canti of London filmed the growth of normal and of cancer cells.[269] Francois-Franck and collaborators made motion picture studies of white blood cells in vitro and of the embryonic development of the sea urchin.[270]

20,000 Now Listen to Films Via Radio Station, S.M.P.E. Report Points Out

Telephotography and Television

The general public may deposit ordinary messages in postal boxes conveniently located in three leading French cities for transmission by telephotography as part of a service begun in France during 1929.[271]

The industry is alive to the possibilities of television and further progress has been made which, though rather slow, is encouraging. Three producers have included reservation of television rights in their contracts.[272] A demonstration of the RCA Kerr cell principle apparatus was given at Proctor's 58th Street in New York in January. Jenkins[273] gave a summary of progress by his method at the last meeting of the Society held in October, 1929. According to his estimates about 20,000 amateurs are receiving radio movies which are broadcast from station W3XK, Washington. Other new television stations are WENR, Chicago, operated by the Great Lakes Broadcasting Company,[274] and W2XCR, Jersey City, and W2XCD, Passaic. The last two named stations synchronize radio with the pictures and, though the images were said to be hazy, the lip movements are stated to be discernible with the sound.[275] A painted rectangle was transmitted by short waves in February from station W2XAF, Schenectady, to Sydney, Australia, and rebroadcast back again by station VK2ME in an elapsed time of one-eighth second.[276]

A new cathode ray type of receiver giving a picture 4 inches by 5 inches has been described by Zworykin.[277] The method eliminates the high frequency motor previously necessary for synchronization, together with its power amplifier. No moving parts are used. A fluorescent screen aids the eye's persistence of vision and makes possible a reduction of the number of images per second without noticeable flicker. The transmitter is a modified motion picture projector with means for horizontal scanning.

The selection of standards for radio television has been discussed, including picture proportions, number of scanning elements, number of pictures per second, scanning method and direction, and phase of current.[278]

In the Telefunken system of television being developed in Germany, a combination of a mirror wheel for illuminating the subject and a photo-electric cell are used for sending, and a Kerr cell, together with a rotating mirror wheel, for receiving.[279] A French patent covering one phase of this process has been issued.

General Recording

A camera capable of taking 40,000 pictures per second by means of a drum having 180 mirrors, revolving 225 times per second, was exhibited in 1929 at a Scientific Congress in Tokyo. The camera was designed by the Institute for Physical Research of the University of Tokyo.[280] Cranz and Schardin[281] described a method for photographing a series of pictures of rapid action on a stationary piece of film, the time between successive pictures being variable from 0.1 to 0.000003 second. Lawrence and Dunning of the University of California have been studying the characteristics of the high voltage spark by means of a camera which has a shutter speed equivalent to the taking of 250,000 pictures per second. A 20,000 volt spark lasting 0.00001 second was found to be nearly 50 per cent hotter than the sun.

Cinematographic methods were used to time the high speed Schneider Cup airplane races held at Calshot, England, in the fall of 1929. A motion picture camera made pictures of the plane as it crossed the start and finish line and also recorded simultaneously the face of two calibrated Veeder counters which were actuated by a tuning fork vibrating 10 times per second.[282] A machine gun motion picture camera makes 300 exposures per second, and by means of a network of lines covering the image, it is possible to make a number of calculations of value to the designer of airplanes.[283]

A company has been formed in Paris to publish on cinematographic films, reproductions, page by page, of manuscripts, rare books, etc., with the necessary illustrations. Application for a patent covering this principle has been made.[284] A device known as a photographic accelerometer was attached as a fifth wheel to the running board of an automobile and, by means of suitable disks and a motion picture camera, records were made of the distance travelled per second.[285]

A patent for an apparatus for making motion pictures of a moving object (such as an oil well rope, to detect wear) has been granted.[286]

Color Cinematography

As noted earlier in this report, the use of motion pictures in color has continued to expand and a number of new processes have appeared, although technical descriptions of them are rather meager. The new Technicolor laboratory in Hollywood has been completed and is stated to have a daily capacity of 47,000 feet of finished color film. Daily rushes are to be developed and printed in color on one side only, whereas double-coated film has been used in the past.[287] An estimate has been made that 15 per cent of all pictures made in 1930 will be in color.

The first German all-color sound picture, The Nun of Heiligenworth, produced by Detofa of Berlin, is scheduled for release in May, 1930.[288] Color sequences by the Horst three-color process are to be included in releases by the British Instructional Films Ltd. in the spring of 1930.[289]. Newsreels made by a new color process were released by Pathé in March, 1930. The process is claimed to be equally as rapid in production as black and white prints and avoids the use of filters and prisms. Pictures of the New Orleans Mardi Gras floats were made and shown the following week in New York.[290] A recording photometer or color analyzer has been designed for the measurement of color values in sets, thus permitting more accurate control of illumination.[291]

A general summary of the principles and processes of color photography has been published by Matthews[292] which includes an extensive bibliography of all books and articles published on the subject between 1925 and 1930.

In the Herault Trichome process, three-color component negatives are exposed in rapid succession by means of a rotating sector wheel; for the positive, a similar projecting device is used.[293] According to the scheme devised by a Boston inventor, prints from a color component negative exposed with the aid of a rotating sector wheel, are projected onto a special metal screen built up of four separate sections, each one being displaced slightly in front of the other and, except for the bottom one, perforated with holes. The outer screen is blue, the second yellow, the third red, and the base screen azure blue. Stereoscopic effects and undistorted side views are claimed.[294]

Patents on three-color additive processes[295] described improvements in methods for utilizing color screens, objectives for superposing multiple images during projection, and a four-color method for exposing the four images on one frame with suitable projection facilities for registration on the screen.

A company is reported to have been organized in Switzerland for the exploitation of a color motion picture process using film coated on a lenticulated support. Patents related to lenticulated films[296] are concerned chiefly with methods of printing such films and with equipment for embossing the film support.

Naumann[297] has given a description of the illuminating equipment and other apparatus used by the Busch two-color additive process for medical cinematography. The film runs horizontally through the camera gate and the images, one-half standard size, are registered lengthwise along the film, one above the other, in such a way as to occupy one frame.

Color in Medical Films

In the Raycol two-color additive process demonstrated in England, light enters the camera and is divided into two parts by means of a beam splitter. It is then caused, by a system of rhomboids, to form two images one-quarter normal size in opposite quarters of the frame on standard size film, one through an orange filter, and the other through a blue-green filter. A twin lens projector with the appropriate filters over the lens superimposes the two positive images on the screen.[298]

Several patents[299] disclosing features of two-color additive processes have appeared, concerned with exposure and projector mechanism, the production of stereoscopic effects and the positioning of the image pairs on the film, and other features.

Arc lights equipped with "silencers" are stated to be in use again for the production of Technicolor features, of which one hundred are scheduled for 1930. Cameras for this process are being manufactured at a cost of $14,000 and in April, 1930, about fifty cameras were stated to be available.[300]

A new film is reported to have been adopted for the Multicolor process which permits exposures on a black and white base.[301] In the Colorcraft process, although a beam splitter optical system was originally employed, early in 1930 the color separation negatives were being made by running two negative films, emulsion to emulsion, through the camera. Specially hardened double coated positive stock was utilized in making the positive records on which the color records were produced as dye images. Vague descriptions have been published of two other processes known as Photocolor and Harris color, respectively. The former purports to be a two-color process using dyed images on double coated film;[302] the latter is stated to be a three-color process using a single emulsion film for printing.[303]

The Sirius color process announced in Germany in 1929 produces the red and green exposures on alternate frames by means of a beam splitter and the prints are made on opposite sides of a double coated film, both sides being dyed simultaneously in the production of the color image.[304] The process was demonstrated in London early in 1930.

A considerable number of patents for subtractive color motion picture processes appeared during the past six months.[305]

Versatile

Mansfield, O.—Harry W. ("Tim") Roberts, old-time exhibitor, and former Madison theatre manager here, proves that he does not have a single-track mind. He has gone literary. Located temporarily in McKeesport, Pa., Roberts has written a highly interesting symposium on the present theatrical and movie situation, baring certain facts with which the dear public have not heretofore been familiar.

References

240 Adam, M. Filmtechnick, 5 (Jan. 5, 20, 1929), pp. 13 and 31.
241 Lewin, W.: Ed. Screen, 9 (Feb., 1930), p. 41.
242 Ed. Screen, 8 (Dec., 1929), p. 295.
243 Ed. Screen, 8 (June, 1929), p. 188.
244 Ex. Herald-World, 40 (Dec. 7, 1929), p. 14.
245 Ann. Report. Acad. Mot. Pict. Arts and Sciences. Hollywood, Cal. (1929), p. 9.
246 Ex. Daily Review and Motion Pict. Today, 27 (Jan. 25, 1930), p. 4.
247 Ex. Daily Review and Mot. Pict. Today, 27 (Jan. 11, 18, 1930), pp. 14 and 12.
248 Mot. Pict., 5 (Dec. 1, 1929), p. 2.
249 Ex. Herald-World, 97 (Dec. 7, 1929), p. 32; also Ed. Screen, 8 (Dec., 1929), p. 298.
250 Reports Mot. Pict. Div. U. S. Dept. Commerce (Mar. 12, 1930).
251 Bull. Acad. Mot. Pict. Arts and Sci., No. 29 (Feb. 27, 1930).
252 Gunther, W: Filmtechnik, 5 (June 8, 1929), p. 240.
253 Santini, G.: Internat. Rev. Ed. Cinemat., 1 (July, 1929), p. 26.
254 McClusky, F. D.: Ed. Screen, 8 (Nov.-Dec., 1929), pp. 260 and 297.
255 Waiters, O.: J. Chem. Ed., 6 (Oct., 1929), p. 1736.
256 Ed. Screen, 8 (Nov., 1929), p. 265.
257 Mot. Pict. 5 (Nov., 1929), p. 1.
258 Reports Mot. Pict. Div. U. S. Dept. Commerce (Feb. 5, 1930).
259 Ex. Herald-World, 97, Sect. 1 (Oct. 26, 1929), p. 26.
260 Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Dec., 1929), p. 46.
261 Sierks, T. H.: Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Dec., 1929), p. 13.
262 Ed. Screen, 8 (Nov., 1929), p. 265.
263 Roon, H.: Kinotechnik, 11 (Aug. 20, 1929), p. 430.
264 Umbehr, H.: Filmtechnik, 5 (June 18, 1929), p. 249.
265 Photo-Era, 63 (Nov., 1929), p. 277.
266 Stumpf, P.: Fortschr. a. d. Gebiete d. Roent., 40 (Nov., 1929), p. 798.
267 Rosenberger, H.: Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Mar., 1930), p. 37.
268 Coissac, G. M.: Cineopse, 12 (Jan., 1930), p. 47.
269 Ed. Screen, 8 (June, 1929), p. 170.
270 Bull. soc. franc. phot., 16 (Feb., 1929), pp. 39 and 41.
271 Neblett, C. B.: Photo-Era, 62 (June, 1929), p. 331.
272 Chicago Tribune (Feb. 2, 1930), p. 1.
273 Jenkins, C. F.: J. Soc. Mot. Pict. Eng., 14 (Mar., 1930), p. 344.
274 Rochester Sunday American (Oct. 31, 1929).
275 Ex. Daily Review and Mot. Pict. Today, 27 (Jan. 18, 1930), p. 1.
276 Ex. Herald-World, 98 (Mar. 1, 1930), p. 47.
277 Zworykin, V.: Project. Eng., 1 (Dec., 1929), p. 18.

(Continued on page 42-B)

Paramount Victor In Suit to Block Use of Its Name

Seattle—After many weeks of litigation in the courts, the Seattle Theatre Corporation, a subsidiary of the Paramount-Publix organization, has finally won the privilege of calling its de luxe house in this city the "Paramount."

When the name was first attached to the house a few months ago, in the nation-wide move by Publix to name its key house in each city "Paramount," an injunction against the local company was obtained by William Code, an exhibitor of this city who has operated a small suburban theatre under the name of "Paramount" for about ten years. He also sued for $5,000 damages.

Pending the outcome of the suit, the local house was named the "Seattle Paramount," merely adding the word "Paramount" to the former name. Now the local court decides that "Paramount" on a first run downtown theatre in Seattle conflicts in no way with the same name on an outlying suburban theatre, nor has the latter house been damaged to any financial extent by the coming of another house of the same name.

"King of Jazz" Suit Settled Out of Court

Attorneys for King of Jazz and His Orchestras, Inc., and Universal have amicably adjusted the suit brought by the former on account of the use of the title "King of Jazz" for Whiteman's picture. The settlement, said to be a friendly one, did not involve cash payment; Universal recognizing the right of Frank Graves, president of the orchestra unit, to use the title as he has heretofore, while Graves will not raise objection to use by Universal.

Sono Art Puts Over Nat'l Plugs for "Reno"

National advertising campaigns in conjunction with Lux soap, Ampico pianos, New Mode hosiery, I. Miller shoes, American Morocco Case, Ullman Silver Frames and Macauley Book Publishers, have been arranged for "Reno" by Sono Art-World Wide.

The picture, marking return to films of Ruth Roland, will be released late this month.

Slote, Eastman Mgr., Passes

Rochester—Robert M. Slote, manager of the Eastman, largest Publix house in Rochester, died at his home in Cumberland, Md., where he had gone after an operation. He was 43 years old and hailed as one of the most successful managers in the local field. He had returned to work after his operation, but found it necessary to go home for a rest. He is survived by his wife. The funeral was held in Weehawken, N. J.

"Lab" Suit Filed

Cinema Patents Co., has filed suit for accounting and triple damages against Du-Art Film Laboratories charging infringement of patents.

150 Tons of Silver for Films

Washington—The picture industry, and allied photographic fields consume in excess of 150 tons of silver annually, according to Dr. Burt H. Carroll, of the Dept. of Commerce, Bureau of Standards. In all but one of the major processes, sound as well as picture is produced by photographic means in which silver is used.

Sources Used in S. M. P. E. Progress Fall Report

(Continued from page 42-A)

[278] Proc. Inst. Rad. Eng., 17 (Sept., 1929), p. 1584.
[279] Filmtechnik, 5 (June 22, 1929), p. 274; Fr. Pat. 654,018.
[280] Sci. ind. phot., 2nd Series, 1 (Apr., 1930), p. 160.
[281] Cranz, C., and Schardin, H.: Z. Physik, 56 (July, 1929), p. 147.
[282] Nature, 124 (Aug. 31, 1929), p. 338.
[283] McKay, H. C.: Photo-Era, 63 (July, 1929), p. 58.
[284] Clerc, L. P.: Brit. J. Phot., 76 (Nov. 15, 1929), p. 681; Brit. Pat. 316,668.
[285] Camera, Philadelphia, 39 (Oct., 1929), p. 227.
[286] Ger. Pat. 472,028.
[287] Ex. Herald-World, 97 (Dec. 21, 1929), p. 40; also Film Daily, 51 (Jan. 8, 1930), p. 1; and MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 41 (Feb. 8, 1930), p. 69.
[288] MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 41 (Apr. 19, 1929), p. 39.
[289] Reports Mot. Pict. Div. U. S. Dept. Comm. (Feb. 18, 1930).
[290] Film Daily, 51 (Mar. 31, 1930), p. 1.
[291] Peck, W. H.: Film Daily, 52 (Mar. 6, 1930), p. 19.
[292] Matthews, G. E.: Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Jan., Feb., 1930), pp. 3 and 12.
[293] Rodde, M.: Bull. soc. franc. phot., 15 (Mar., 1928), p. 80.
[294] Photo-Era, 63 (Aug., Sept., 1929), pp. 103 and 162.
[295] U. S. Pats. 1,717,404; 1,717,405; 1,730,712; 1,732,432; 1,735,108; Brit. Pats. 310,533; 314,546; 316,236; Fr. Pats. 33.167 (add. 619,904); 651,196; 651,355.
[296] U. S. Pats. 1,721,244; 1,729,922; 1,730.942; Canad. Pat. 293,857; Brit. Pats. 310,320; 314,995; 317,051; 317,-060; Fr. Pats. 641,870; 650,093; 654,243; 667,332.
[297] Naumann, H.: Phot. Korr., 65 (Apr., 1929), p. 177; also Egrot, L. G.: Kinemat. Weekly, 152 (Nov. 7, 1929), p. 52.
[298] Egrot, L. G.: Kinemat. Weekly, 152 (Oct. 10, 1929), p. 63.
[299] U. S. Pat. 1,728,426; Brit. Pats. 312,248; 316,141; 319,194; 319,195; Fr. Pats. 658,984; Ger. Pats. 466,302; 471,508; 475,982; 479,755; 481,301; 484,900.
[300] Ex. Herald-World, 97 (Nov. 6, 1929), p. 36; also MOTION PICTURE NEWS, 40 (Oct. 5, 1929), p. 1196; Film Daily, 52 (Apr. 22, 1930), p. 1.
[301] Amer. Cinemat., 10 (Dec., 1929), p. 9.
[302] Ex. Herald-World, 96 (Aug. 3, 1929), p. 48.
[303] Ex. Herald-World, 98 (Feb. 1, 1930), p. 21.
[304] Licht Bild Buhne, 22 (Aug. 17, 1929), p. 14.
[305] U. S. Pats. 1,734,476; 1,735,142; 1,735,810; 1,735,811; 1 735,812; 1,735,813; 1,736,554; 1,736.555; 1,736,557; 1,736.-826; Canad. Pats. 291,636; Brit. Pats. 316,338; 316,339; 316.367; 316.388; 317,909; 319,779; 319,924. Ger. Pats. 472,502; 473,623; 477,878; 482,166; 483,674; 484,009; 484,306.

"Legit" Circuit for N. Y. Under Way in September

A "legit" circuit in New York with four theatres as a nucleus and a price scale topped at $1 for evenings and fifty cents for matinees is under way by William Brandt, former Brooklyn exhibitor and of late general manager of Fox Metropolitan Playhouses, Inc.

Brandt has leased the Flatbush theatre in Brooklyn from RKO, and the Windsor in the Bronx, the Jamaica in Jamaica and the Boulevard in Jackson Heights from Fox and will open them in September under Shubert and Erlanger franchises.

On Sundays, he plans to show pictures regardless of what run is available, figuring his rent on a seven day basis will give him each Sunday in the clear.

Dolores Del Rio Wed

Santa Barbara, Cal.—In a private wedding here, Dolores Del Rio became the bride of Cedric Gibbons, M-G-M art director.

Big Chiefs and Tribe Members on A Scalping Party

At least 60 scalps will be hanging on the walls of the New York Motion Picture Club before its new membership drive terminates.

The roster, now listing 440 of the town's bigger-and-better film execs, will be expanded to 500—or else. This is the ultimatum delivered by Big Chief Lou Blumenthal, membership committee chairman, who heads the drive.

New members admitted in recent weeks include Hans Bartsch, Edward Davidow, Jay Schreck, Billy Grady, Jerry Cargill, Morris Sarnoff, Ed M. Saunders, Peter A. Adams, Alfred Fiegel, A. P. Waxman, Sam Sweedler, Joseph Raushwerger, A. Edelman, Leon Schlessinger, Sol. G. Newman and George R. Coughlan.

Starting Saturday night, Oct. 4, and each Saturday evening thereafter, until May, 1931, a supper club will be inaugurated at the club's headquarters, convening at 11 P. M. A "name" orchestra and entertainment will be featured, with assessment at $5 each, including supper.

Treasurer Artie Stebbins has filed the financial statement with the directors, covering the annual period ending June 30. It shows a surplus of $20,855, and follows in detail:

Condensed Statement of Assets and Liabilities June 30, 1930

ASSETS
Cash	$17,613.00
Due from Members	16,988.40
Deposits as Security	6,050.00
Inventories of Food and Supplies	1,408.91
Prepaid Items	190.89
Furniture and Equipment (Depreciated)	76,752.75
Total Assets		$119,003.95
LIABILITIES
Accounts Payable	$6,844.46
Accrued Expenses	1,269.92
Reserves	820.00
Bonds Payable	66,000.00
Total Liabilities		74,934.38
CLUB SURPLUS		$44,069.57

Condensed Statement of Income & Expenses for the Ten Months Ended June 30, 1930

INCOME (Initiation Fees, Dues, etc.)		$61,825.81
CLUB EXPENSES
Salaries	$8,742.67
Administrative Expenses	29,357.37	38,100.04
SURPLUS FROM CLUB OPERATIONS		$23,725.77
DEPARTMENTAL OPERATIONS
Restaurant—Loss	$17,665.41
Cigar Stand	1,115.20
Card Rooms	3,937.15
Pool and Billiards, etc.	1,315.40
Special Functions and Affairs	8,427.15	2,870.51
SURPLUS FOR THE PERIOD		$20,855.26

New England Expansion Is Started by Graphic

Bangor, Me.—Expansion throughout New England has been started by the Graphic Circuit Co., with acquisition of the Millinocket Opera House from Charles J. Rusch. The theatre is to be improved, states Samuel Kurson, president of the circuit.

Whale Remains with Tiffany

James Whale will continue on the Tiffany directors' roster, having been given a term contract this week. Whale's first appearance on the company list was as director of "Journey's End," made in England.

• Stop Us If We're Wrong •

NED DEPINET is upstage these days and rightly so over the manner in which "The Dawn Patrol" is clicking in a number of cities.

* * *

Howard Hawks, director of "The Dawn Patrol" and John Monk Saunders, author, have been signed to long term contracts by First National as a result of their work on the air picture.

* * *

With an ever-increasing demand for his services, Jean Hersholt is finding the free-lance field a lucrative one insofar as he is concerned. His latest assignment is with Universal, having recently signed to enact the featured character role in "East is West," which Monta Bell is to direct and "The Cat Creeps," Rupert Julian directing. The latter was originally titled "The Cat and the Canary."

* * *

John W. Schwalm, son of John A. Schwalm, president Jewel Photoplay Co., and manager of the Rialto, Hamilton, O., has been made cavalry commander at Culver Military Academy. His dad contends that he passed his ability as well as his name down to his son.

* * *

After looking at a test of Lucien Littlefield, director Harry Pollard, who is preparing to make "The Great Day," a story of the South for M-G-M, decided to make a change in the assingments to his cast.

Instead of portraying the role of "Pooch" in this production, Pollard has handed Littlefield the role second in importance to those of Joan Crawford and Johnnie Mack Brown who will be featured; that of "Saphire."

* * *

Universal now is considering titles for the new series of comedy shorts to feature Charlie Murray and George Sidney. Ed Kaufman will supervise. Clarence Hennecke is completing script for the first.

* * *

Yvonne Vallee, wife of Maurice Chevalier, will appear with him in his new picture, "The Playboy of Paris."

* * *

Annual outing of the industry in Boston territory was held at Pemberton Inn, Hull, Mass., on Monday, Aug. 4. There was a sail down Boston harbor for those desiring to make the trip by water, while others travelled down by auto. There were the usual dinner, games and dancing. Maurice N. Wolf, district manager of Metro, general chairman, was assisted by William H. Erb of Paramount and F. Sliter of Educational.

Regulate Golf

Ottawa — Vacant lot golf courses have been placed under the building restriction by-laws of Ottawa by the City Council with the result that the golf lots can only be established in business zones of the Canadian Capital. A miniature course was started by J. G. Boyes on a residential street and he was ordered to close down.

The civic authorities have also ruled that the golf lots must close at midnight every night, as well as all day Sunday, of course. Traffic restrictions have been imposed so that streets will not become blocked in the vicinity of the courses.

Sounds Just Like It

The Talkie Producer—Excellent! Excellent! I have never heard Miss La Hotte's voice reproduce so well!
The Director—Good Lord! That isn't Miss La Hott—that's the parrot!
—Judge

Gress Smith, mid-west manager of United Artists, is in Minneapolis on an extended trip.

* * *

Universal has borrowed Conrad Nagel from M-G-M for a featured spot in "The Lady Surrenders," which John Stahl will direct.

* * *

Budd Rogers of Sono Art is continuing to step these days. He has closed contracts on "Cock o' the Walk," "What a Man," and "The Dude Wrangler" for the Butterfield circuit in Michigan, and for "Once a Gentleman," "The Big Fight," "What a Man" and "Cock o' the Walk," for the Stanley-Fabian houses in New Jersey.

* * *

Josephine Velez, sister of Lupe, makes her film debut in "Her Man," Pathe production featuring Helen Twelvetrees, Marjorie Rambeau, Phillips Holmes and Ricardo Cortez.

* * *

Edgar Selwyn will direct "War Nurse," from novel by Rebecca West, which will be produced as a Cosmopolitan special.

* * *

Manager Joe Franklin of B. F. Keith's Theatre, Ottawa, played no favorites when, for a Canadian election stunt, he gave autographed photographs of the two political rivals, W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, and Hon. R. B. Bennett, Conservative leader, to theatre patrons on request. There was a big demand and patronage showed an immediate improvement.

* * *

Tea served on the mezzanine of the California, San Francisco, proved popular at that theatre.

* * *

Harold B. Franklin, Fox West Coast chieftan, is continuing to annex titles. His latest is honorary president of the Exhibitors and Exchangemen's Benefit Ass'n., in Los Angeles. W. H. Lollier is chairman of this year's annual outing.

* * *

Don Eddy, who does RKO publicity on the Coast, sees a good omen in the fact that RKO means "record" in the Phillips telegraph code.

* * *

Richard "Skeets" Gallagher and his wife, the former Pauline Mason are the proud parents of a seven-pound son. No name has been decided upon for the infant.

DESPITE its grim title, "Hell's Island," the Columbia picture with Jack Holt and Ralph Graves was delivered to the RKO Orpheum, San Francisco, by a dainty messenger, none other than Miss Dorothy Sebastian, who enacts the only femininte role in the picture. Miss Sebastian volunteered to deliver the film direct from the studio in Hollywood to the theatre here in order to greet the audience personally. It was her first visit to San Francisco.

* * *

Bebe Daniels got a real kick out of selection of her new picture, "Dixiana," for the charity show at the Orpheum, San Francisco.

* * *

Walter Little is the voice of more stars than any double in the business, and believe him, it's not the hardest job in the world. Little, visiting San Francisco, is the assemblyman who represents most of the stars of Southern California. "And the only one of my noted constituents who publicly impresses on me his views on public questions is Will Rogers," Little smiled. "Except that he claims to be the only Democrat living, Rogers would sweep California for United States senator. At that, if he ran as a Democrat, he would get thousands of Republican votes."

* * *

To have been able to capture a series of pictures of George Arliss, famous stage and screen star, the first time he operated a film camera, is the unusual experience of W. B. Wagnon, Jr., son of the San Francisco theatre owner. "Bill" Wagnon has just returned from a two-weeks' trip to the Yosemite Valley. He carried with him a portable motion picture camera.

* * *

Although he had been granted an America visa before he left England, Shale Gardiner, British actor, found on his arrival in Canada to proceed to Hollywood that he had been barred from the United States under the quota. He had previously been in Hollywood where he had played in "Disraeli," "Three Live Ghosts" and "Three Passions." Gardiner plans to return to England to go into vaudeville, he says.

* * *

Murray Feil has assumed charge of the William Morris Agency office in Hollywood.

* * *

Maybe the leathernecks won't be sore at the billing on Columbia's "Soldiers and Women," which is a story of marines. Ever hear of a marine relishing being called "soldier?"

Ouch!

Hollywood—"Chick" Lewis, editor of the Managers Round Table Club, visiting Hollywood and trying to find out the inside of picture making, ran into one of those famous California periodic heat waves last week. "Chick," sweltered with the old thermometer hitting around 90.

On one of those hot days, he did some visiting at the United Artists studios. While sitting in the office of Harry Brand, and cussing and discussing the weather, the sound projection in the building nearby started playing the music for "My Sunny California"—and "Chick" graciously folded up!

Language, Cost of Reproducers Balk Sound in Poland

Washington—Language barrier and cost of reproducing equipment are holding the development of sound in check in Poland, according to the survey of European markets conducted by the M. P. Division of the Dept. of Commerce.

Supplementing these two trade factors is the unsatisfactory year through which Polish theatre owners have been passing. To compete with the limited number of the houses wired for sound, other showmen have been compelled to add vaudeville, and the increased overhead was not offset by grosses .

In Switzerland, despite public apathy and, in some cases, objections to talkers, the trade believes sound is here to stay and accordingly is making plans to equip theatres.

The report, covering these two countries, follows:

POLAND

By GILBERT REDFERN
Assistant Trade Commissioner, Warsaw

While the advent of the sound film has been the cause of uncertainty and anxiety to the trade in Poland, it has had a very beneficial effect on the local industry. During recent months a pronounced demand from several European countries, notably France, Germany, and Czechoslovakia, has sprung up for Polish silent films, and it is reported that better prices are now being realized for them than the producers had ever hoped for. It is hardly likely that this unexpected demand is raising the Polish industry to a position of affluence, but it undoubtedly means that the business is not so unprofitable as it would have been without the advent of the sound film.

The sound film has been by no means enthusiastically received in Poland. To begin with, only a very small percentage of the Polish people understand English. The criticism is also generally made that the sound films so far exhibited have been lacking in artistic merit. The Poles have a highly developed artistic sense. It is the custom, when exhibiting a feature sound film in Poland, to cut out the dialogue completely, virtually making it a silent film with musical accompaniment and with subtitles in Polish.

Apart from the language difficulty, the majority of Polish cinema owners are restrained from installing sound reproduction equipment because they can not afford it. A number of the leading owners in the large cities, however, are still waiting for the cost of the principal American makes to come down or hoping that a cheaper set of unquestionable quality will come on the market. Twenty thousand dollars or thereabouts for renting sound reproduction equipment is a considerable amount for a Polish cinema proprietor.

No sound equipment is yet manufactured locally, and experiments so far made with French and German sets have not given satisfaction.

Apart from the perplexing situation caused by the entry of the sound film, owners of the atres in Poland in general had an unsatisfactory financial year in 1929. They were greatly affected by the abnormally severe weather in the first three months of the year and later by the acute industrial depression. To compete with the talkies, many owners of silent houses are now offering vaudeville programs. This, of course, means an appreciable addition to their costs. The price of silent films also increased considerably during the year.

Polish feature films completed during 1929 totaled 12, as compared with a production of 14 in 1928. It is estimated by the trade that the average production cost per film in 1929 was in the neighborhood of $30,000, whereas in 1928 the average production cost was estimated at about $25,000. The following is a list of Polish completions during the past year, with name and address of the producing companies, all at Warsaw:

Mocny Szlowiek—Gloria, Marszalkowska, 119.
Szlakiem Hanby—Starfilm, Marszalkowska 125.
Pod Bandera Milosci—Lux, Jasna 24.
9.25—Jarfilm, Nowy Swiat 19.
Policmajster Tagiejew—Leofilm, Nowy Swiat 39.
Kobieta Ktora Grzecha Pragnie—Bieganski, Krolewska 35.
Moralnosc Pani Dulskiej—Heros, Jerozolimska 31.
Halka—Wirfilm, Sienkiewicza 12.
Mascotte—Horodyski St. Didier Co., Mazowiecka.
Z Dnia na Dzien—Enhafilm, Marszalkowska 125.
Grzeszna Milosc—Sfinks, St. Krzyska 35.
Pierwsza Milosc Kosciuszki—Bigoszt, Hoza 56.

The following table shows the films imported into Poland, classified as to countries of origin, as reported by the Film Bureau of the Ministry of the Interior. No figures are available for 1929:

Imports of Motion-Picture Films Into Poland

Country of Origin	1924	1925	1926	1927	1928
Austria	84	81	59	59	73
Czechoslovakia	2	3	1	13	6
Denmark	18	8	19	17	15
France	180	283	175	274	250
Germany	217	130	146	350	337
Great Britain	17	4	8	33	58
Italy	36	34	19	10	26
Soviet Russia	2	6	4	10	30
Sweden	7	4	2	10	4
United States	370	629	1,043	1,294	1,443
Other countries	7	7	1	12	61
Total	940	1,189	1,477	2,082	2,303

No authoritative figures are yet available on the number of cinemas or the aggregate seating capacity. There were, however, no completions of outstanding importance during 1929, and the trade estimates that the total seating capacity was increased but slightly during the year.

The latest figures given in the "Film Almanac," a trade publication, shows a total of 861 registered picture theatres in Poland, with an aggregate seating capacity of 200,000 to 225,000. Since many of these are small town houses, the seating capacity is largely guesswork. Moreover, it is estimated that not more than 30 per cent of the cinemas in Poland are open all the year; most of the small town houses are open only occasionally during the week, while in holiday resorts, health resorts, etc., cinemas are open only for three or four months of the year.

At the end of 1929 the following cinemas had been equipped with sound reproduction apparatus: Splendid, Warsaw; Palace, Lemberg; Swiatowid, Warsaw; Splendid, Lodz; Uciecha, Cracow; Tencza, Warsaw; Apollo, Lemberg; and Sztuka, Cracow.

The following houses were being wired: Atlantic, Warsaw; Colosseum, Krolewska Huta; Rialto, Kotowice; and Kino Miejskie, Bielsko.

The Capitol in Lodz and the Quo Vadis and Palace in Warsaw have experimented with French and German sound reproduction equipment, but the results obtained, it is reported, were unsatisfactory.

So far, only one studio in Poland is known to have been equipped for the production of sound films. This is the Syrena Studio on Wisniowa Street, Warsaw, owned by the leading gramophone record producer in the country. It is the understanding that for the present the Syrena company will make only shorts.

SWITZERLAND

By HENRY E. STEBBINS
Clerk to American Com'l Attache, Berne

The greatest change in the situation in Switzerland since the opening of the first cinema was the inauguration on March 8, 1929, of the first talking picture. This revolutionary development came late in Switzerland for several reasons, the language difficulty was by no means the least of these. One-language projection is not sufficient in Switzerland. This situation has been a problem in the silent pictures and is merely accentuated in the talkies. The second contributory cause of the slowness in arrival of the sound film in the country is the policy of the general European film distributors, who look upon Switzerland as a market decidely secondary in importance to such countries as England, France and Germany. As a non-producing country, Switzerland was a tempting market for left-over silent films which accumulated rapidly after the first wave of popularity for the talkie was manifested in the United States. Finally, the Swiss theatre owners and managers balked at the high price of sound installations. With the market frankly glutted, owners whose houses were rarely, if ever, packed did not feel justified in making large outlays for a development which they felt in many cases would not give them the necessary increased patronage.

Swiss Make Plans To Go Sound-Wise; Theatres Wiring

However, with the opening of the Orient Theatre in Zurich for sound projection in March, others followed at varying intervals. The Orient was equipped with the German Tobis sound appartus. Today there are 10 cinemas in Switzerland equipped to show sound films. They are, aside from the Orient, which seats 700, the Capitol in Zurich, seating 1,300; the Apollo, Zurich, seating 2,000; the Alhambra, Geneva, seating 1,300; the Molard, Geneva, seating 670; the Capitol in Basel, seating 1,200; the Palace in Basel, equipped with the German Tobis Klangfilm apparatus and seating 500; the Flora in Lucerne, seating 380; and the Splendid-Place in Berne, seating 700. All those in which the equipment is not specifically mentioned have American apparatus.

Plans for wiring the Kapitol, Berne's newest cinema, have been postponed indefinitely on account of the expense. In spite of this handicap, the Kapitol continues to run feature films to large audiences. They are now showing silent versions of well known American talkies. Doubtless this theatre will be wired during 1930. The Bubenberg Theatre in Berne, seating 900, will be wired early in the year.

Other plans for 1930 include the wiring of the Scala in Zurich, seating capacity 1,100. This is a new theatre, having been completed in 1929. Plans are also being made for the wiring of the Pax in Locarno, which seats 300. This latter is in the Italian-speaking Canton of Switzerland. Plans doubtless include the wiring of certain theatres in Lausanne, most probably the Moderne, although no information is definitely available on this point as yet. The Scala in Bienne was wired early in 1930.

Theatre Building Slight

Seven new cinemas were completed in Switzerland during 1929, while four were closed. The new theatres are the Picadally in Zurich, seating 250; the Colosseum in Zurich, seating 350; the Lichtspiele in Bischofzell, seating 220; the Bel-Air in Yverdon, seating 650; the Kapitol in Berne, seating 874; the Scala in Bienne, seating 1,000; and the Capitol in Bienne, seating 1,200. The four theatres that were closed were the Eden in Zurich, with 350 seats; the Maxim in Zurich, with 600 seats; the Union in St. Gall, with 270 seats; and the Klein in Schaffhausen. In addition to these, two cinemas with only occasional performances, the Excelsior at Binningen and the Seewadel at Bauma, were closed. The total net increased seating capacity was therefore only a little over 3,000. Three cinemas were reconstructed during the year, the Gottardo in Bellinzona, with 300 seats, the Palace in Lucerne, with 380 seats, and the Moderne in Lucerne, with 600 seats.

Arrangements have been made for the opening of seven new cinemas during 1930. They are to be the Lichtspiele in Schwanden, the Kino Leuzinger in Frauenfeld, and one each in Wattwil, Lugano, St. Gall, Leistal, and Schaffhausen. The Lichtbuhne in Zurich, now seating 450, will probably be enlarged during 1930.

Several new companies have been formed during the past year for the promotion and sale of motion pictures in Switzerland. From the American point of view the most important of these is the branch of an American distributor in Geneva. Other new film promotion agencies in Switzerland are the Cenflag A. G., of Lucerne, with a capital of 70,000 francs; the ESA S.-A., of Bienne, with a capital of 3,000 francs; and the Standard Cine-Photo A. G., of Zurich, with a capital of 20,000 francs. The Cie Generale du Cinematographe, which in 1928 was moved from Geneva to Zurich, increased its capital and plans some expansion, although the expected fusion with Emelka did not materialize.

Trade Strong for Sound

Differences in the professional and lay attitude toward the talkie have been wide. After the first sound film was shown in Basel, the Basler Nachrichten, a large daily newspaper, conducted in its correspondence columns a forum on the future of the talking picture. As comparatively few of the readers of the Nachrichten had had much of an opportunity to judge the talkies, the forum lasted only a few days. What opinions were given, however, were, on the whole, unfavorable and immature. As might be expected, the loudest cry came from those who felt that the language feature was the greatest handicap. Up to that time, Basel audiences had had opportunities to see only American—that is, English-speaking—films. The demand, of course, was for German dialogue. A few protests were made against the mechanics of reproduction, one correspondent claiming that the women's voices sounded like men's and the men's like bass drums.

Those in favor of the talking film emphasized the musical aspects of the presentation, especially songs and dances, which the people could see were actually synchronized. One difficulty which arises in Switzerland in respect to this question is the fact that actually synchronized pictures—that is, the so-called "100 per cent all-talking"--can not be shown in English versions. In its stead must be shown silent pictures with a synchronized sound accompaniment, which, after all, is very similar to the old silent picture aided by an orchestra. Short musical subjects, songs even though sung in English, have a great appeal, but there is undoubted irritation at the dialogue parts of sound pictures when the language is English.

The opinion of the trade is, on the whole, decidedly favorable toward sound pictures. Owners and managers realize that the talkie, like the radio, has come to stay. For a large part they pin their hopes on the productions of the German and French studios. At present the American sound picture rules the market; whether it will continue to do so is an open question. If the German and French studios can produce sound films approaching the American product in quality, the Swiss public and theatre owners will be satisfied. The solution, as far as the Swiss market for American producers is concerned, is to concentrate on musical comedies, operettas, etc., as well as high-grade musical short subjects. The people will soon lose interest in the mechanical device as such and as displayed in sound synchronization of silent pictures. What they want is the added realism given to the movies by actual synchronization. If this is in the form of music and dancing they will flock to see it, but if it differs little from the old silent picture they will confer their patronage on talking pictures made by the Germans and the French.

The general feeling is that the best films are American—which is natural, it is claimed, because most of the films shown are American. Second in importance after American films are the German. Certain German stars are immensely popular in Switzerland, at least in the German-speaking part, and there can be no doubt of the general popularity of German films. It is usually the Germans who come into Switzerland to film Alpine pictures, such as the "Drama of the Matterhorn" and the "White Hell of the Piz Palu." French films are generally not popular. One French talkie has been shown in Berne, but was by no means a great success. A certain amount of English films are shown, but they are almost invariably poor. The German version of the English talkie "Atlantic," however, had great success in Zurich.

On the whole, the people like spectacles. German romances are usually good drawing cards, as are American western pictures.

Production Nondescript

Production in 1929 was even less than in 1928. The Schweizerische Schul und Volkskino turned out four pictures, all silent and all having to do with the industries of the country. They were on the dairy industry, horse breeding, cattle breeding, and the textile-machinery industry.

The Helvetia A. G., of Berne, reached its peak in the production of its first picture, "Petronelle," which was produced in 1928 and for the production of which the Helvetia company was originally formed. Since then it has declined noticeably. In 1929 it made only two films, one of three reels and one of six. The short picture was called "Sport Rivals" and was taken in the skiing fields of the Jungfraujoch and Murren. The other, called "The Path Through the Night," was made in England.

The Praesens Film Co., of Zurich, made one picture as propaganda against the evils of alcohol. The producers of this film felt that they had to go carefully in making the picture, for fear of offending the general public, and the result was rather ineffectual. The Eggli Co. made one film on rifle shooting in Switzerland.

No sound films were made in Switzerland during 1929, for there are no studios equipped to make such productions. In all likelihood, there will be no attempt made at such productions in the country during 1930.

Censorship is in the hands of the cantonal authorities, who exercise their right in a very liberal way. A representative of the control board makes a weekly round of the cinema theatres, notes what parts of pictures he feels are objectionable, and advises the owner of the theatre in a friendly way to cut out those portions. Full cooperation is received from the theatre owners, and as a result there is rarely any publicity in regard to censored films. The general public never knows when a film has been censored. Very rarely are whole pictures not allowed to be shown. Zurich and Lucerne are the two strictest cantons. In Zurich, in 1929, 649 pictures were reviewed by the censors, and of these 644 were allowed to be shown, and only 49 of them were cut.

What amounts, however, to a very real censorship, although not a moral or political one, is the system employed whereby pictures are cut to conform to the demand for two-feature pictures in a two-hour show. Often pictures are so drastically cut that the continuity is ruined. Whole slices are taken out which are of the utmost importance to a clear understanding of the picture. It is true now, however, that this tendency to cut is being controlled in the showing of American talking pictures, which are of such length that it is manifestly impossible to show two features in one period.

Radio's Hook-up

San Francisco—New trend is developing in the radio industry, is pointed out by Philip A. Fisher of Gorman, Kayser & Co., in the second edition of their pamphlet, "Better Things in Store for the Radio Industry." A definite sales tie-in is developing between the radio and the motion picture companies. Radio companies are featuring the stars and productions of the affiliated motion picture units in their advertising. In return, the film companies are granting the exclusive right to exhibit certain radios in the lobbies of controlled theatres. This arrangement has proved particularly profitable when phonograph records of the song hits appearing at the theatre are sold near the radio on exhibit.

Management Deal with U. P. Made by Gaumont

London—Gaumont British has closed a five-year contract for management of the United Picture Theatres circuit. Gaumont is to have full charge of booking and operation. Any difference arising out of the agreement is to be submitted to arbitration. Ganmont is to receive $52,000 annually for expenses and additional $15,000 and 10 per cent of distributed dividends. The first sum, it is said, is less than annual operating expense of United and the second the fee formerly paid to its managing director.

Fox Sets 1930-31 Films In Number of Loew Spots

Fox has closed with Loew's for a number of bookings. At New Orleans, the product will be split with Publix. At Cleveland, Loew's State, Stillman, Cameo and other houses will play Fox. Other theatres included in the deal are: Great Lakes, Buffalo; Rochester, Rochester; Midland, Kansas City; Loew's, Norfolk; Broad, Columbus; Loew's, Dayton, O.; Grand and Victory, Evansville, Ind.; Loew's, Memphis, Penn and Aldine, Pittsburgh.

Coast Seeks Listing Of Amusement Stocks

Los Angeles — Listing of amusement stocks on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange is being sought. This would not interfere with existing listings, it is stated. The western market would provide 48-hour transfer service on certificates, as against three to six weeks as at present. The three to four hours' difference in time also would provide additional trading hours.

Gloria to Continue Her "Trial Separation" Plan

Hollywood—Gloria Swanson intends to continue the "trial separation" from her husband, the Marquis de la Falaise de la Cordray, she said in a statement here. The couple have lived apart for a year.

Kirkwood Gets Decree

Los Angeles—Because, he said, he disagreed with his wife's modern ideas about a career and separate home, she deserted him for which James Kirkwood was granted a divorce, shattering Hollywood's "ideal romance." When Lila left him, she shared a home with Mary Nolan, it is stated.

Two $2 Openings in Aug.

Three $2 top showings open on Broadway in August. They are: "Hell's Angels," opening Aug. 15 at the Criterion and Gaiety, and "Abraham Lincoln," opening Aug. 25 at the Central.

They say Quaint

MANY an actress has driven herself into screen oblivion by overestimating her importance to the industry. A current case of that is a certain blonde who rose from a $25-a-week job to a contract of $1,500. She thought she was so necessary to the films that any company would grab her if she were free—and that was her fatal error.

Her last contract increase was from $500 to $1,500 a week and when one considers her limited assets, that salary was a Hollywood miracle. She isn't pretty, she isn't clever, she isn't sweet. She's just a blonde and for a while she had all the executives believing she was a tremendous box-office attraction.

Her recent pictures have been poor and she foolishly believed the advice of these so-called friends who told her the trouble was in the story weakness and that she should demand better scenarios. So she dumbly followed the admonition and started the battle which resulted in her parting from the company that had taken her from obscurity into stardom.

Now the little girl thought that all she had to do was sit at home for a couple of hours after news of her contractual freedom leaked out and all the movie companies on the Coast would be telephoning to secure her services. She was wrong. Not only was there no line of producers forming to the right of her doorway but even her agent's best market efforts failed to get her a new contract. Unless she can get good roles within the next three months she'll be so dead as far as the screen is concerned she'll never again get leads.—N. Y. Graphic.

* * *

Tit for Tat

If you've heard this one, try and stop me. Little Billy, the midget is wearing child's clothes in a picture for Pathe. The other day at lunch, he went to a nearby restaurant smoking a cigar.

A motherly-looking woman stopped him. "Little boy," she reproved, "does your mother know you smoke?"

"Madam," replied Billy, "does your husband know you speak to strange men?"—Carroll in Los Angeles Herald.

* * *

John Boles is not supposed to be photographed with his two little girls or his wife. Nothing legal about it. Just understood between the dashing John and the company that holds his contract. The contented fireside plays havoc to the romantic fires that fan in the bosoms of the sweet sixteens. A romantic actor, too insistently happy, is not the box office fire he might be. Let the nursemaid Lotharios deny it as they will. It has been proved before.—Motion Picture.

Movie stars save themselves brain fag and while away the time by employing bridge doubles to play for them.

—Judge

Carnivals Banned

Montreal—Only top-class travelling circuses will be able to play Montreal in future as a result of the decision of the city council to ban all small tent shows and carnival companies. The local license fee for the big tent shows has been fixed at $1,000 per day.

SUCH pictures as "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "Journey's End" give the lie to any attenuated remnant of claim as to the dignity and the nobility of war, and paint it for what it is—the ultimate climax of stupidity, the colossal failure of human intelligence to deal with problems distinctly human, the devil's laugh at decency.

See "All Quiet on the Western Front" and "Journey's End" and learn what war actually is—not what it is pictured to be.

It will be a great revelation that may help convert you to the great cause of World Peace. —Editorial in N. Y. Mirror.

* * *

Radio, after paying Edna Ferber 125 grand for rights to her incomparable "Cimarron," has cast Richard Dix, superannuated campus cut-up, as Yancey Cravat.

Dix is as far from our idea of Yancey as Vassar is from Cripple Creek. With such a great story it would have paid Radio to shop around for the type.

But things being as they are, we now suggest Polly Moran for Sabra, Charlie Murray for Sol Levy and Wallace Beery for Isaiah. Possibly Roscoe Arbuckle could stage a comeback as Little Cim.*—The Allied Exhibitor.

* * *

For years popular humorists have derided what they deemed the low mean of intelligence prevalent in Hollywood. They have called down the fury of the gods on harebrained ingenues with a predisposition toward attitudinizing, who romp through the years acquiring nothing but imported motor-cars and swollen bank accounts. But the talkies have given the lie to their much-publicized theory. The day of the moronic motion picture actress whose eye-rollings brought her fame and money is past. Beauty, happily, still receives its rewards. But intelligence no longer goes unrecognized.—Sherwood in N. Y. Post.

* * *

Alice White is trying to go the way of all Hollywood. You start as a firebrand, a cut-up; and then you become genteel and "cultured." We hope that Alice is just doing it for a stunt and that it won't take.—Screenland.

* * *

First it was Nancy Carroll who was rescued at sea; now it's Claire Windsor. Well, it's something of an improvement over being kidnapped or having one's jewels stolen, anyway. —N. Y. Journal.

AT the moment, Alice White, the synthetic IT girl of the movies, is very decidedly a blonde, which, after all, is only a reversion to type, for her bobbed head was golden when she started her picture career.

The red hair, which was widely publicized, was a thought of the magnates at the First National studios, and not such a brilliant thought, at that.

You see, Alice—she was born Alva, by the way—burst upon Hollywood just when Clara Bow was getting well started and well advertised as a reigning red-haired flapper type.

First National wanted a Bow of its own, and tiny Miss White seemed to fill all of the requirements except as to coloring, which, after all, is no great difficulty to surmount out here.

Alice was not just a flapper TYPE. She was, and still is, a genuine flapper, heart and soul. So overnight she became a red-head and was heralded as the only rival of the only Bow.

As a matter of fact, Alice had no voice in the proceedings. The studio officials commanded color and got it, over Alice's mild objections.

Naturally enough, Clara Bow was mad—and said so. For a long time she and Alice didn't speak when they happened to meet in any of the restaurants.

Which, after all, was just as well, for any sort of words would have led to an encounter in which both young ladies were well equipped to give a good account of themselves.

Later, friends explained the matter to Clara. Alice had had no part in the changing of her hair shade or in the advertising. She went back to being a blonde, and so the two stars became, well, at least acquaintancees.—St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

* * *

The Extra Girl

"It's one thing to have a soft face and another to have a hard fist."—N. Y. Eve. World.

* * *

Lawrence Tibbett has his glorious voice, John Barrymore has his theatrical finesse, Ramon Novarro has his romantic moments, Buddy Rogers has his curly hair, but Maurice Chevalier has his personal charm. And charm, as Maggie Wylie in Barrie's "What Every Knows" tells you, is the greatest gift in the world. "If you have it, you don't need to have anything else; and if you don't have it, it doesn't matter what else you have." And Maggie knew.—Cinema.

* * *

Chester and Sue Morris—he's that so poisonous villain—are expectin'. It'll happen in November, say the men of science.—N. Y. News.

A Fervent Wish

If I could rub Aladdin's lamp, Buddy Rogers would grow up and drop some of his boyish cuteness.—Louis Sobol in N. Y. Graphic.

that — Quips Lifted and Sifted

THE moving picture is accused of distorting and misrepresenting American life by Rev. Frederick Siedenburg of Loyola University. "Vice is always made pleasant while it lasts," he asserts, "and working girls are always the intended victim of an employer's greed or design. People rarely work unless they live in the tenements, and virtue is generally made to appear depressing. Emphasis is placed on wealth, luxury and laziness."

Difference of opinion is what makes hoss races, and kept Al Smith out of the White House. The professor is entitled to his view, but millions of fathers and mothers in this country who not only permit but encourage their children to see the movies, can't all be wrong.

It is true that vice is made pleasant while it lasts, but the villain always gets kicked in the neck in the last reel and the wayward boy returns from his drunken orgy to see hope, honesty and love in the eyes of the innocent girl at the garden gate. Working girls, as he says, are made the intended victim of their employer, but virtue always triumphs when the orchestra plays the exit march, and if virtue is often pictured as depressing, my opinion is that a whole lot of stiffbacked, leather-lunged virtue is not only oppressive but downright offensive.

The flickers have made more than one young man want to get to work, own a Rolls-Royce and take the old home town by storm. They have taught more than one girl that men eventually, when all is said and done, will push a necker off their laps to win the hand of a decent maiden. They have created a wide interest in athletics and clean living, sportsmanship and fair play. They have bred a desire for good clothes, dignity, position, ambition, and caused a multitude to dry their tears and go home and write a letter to mothers who still burn a candle in the open window of the living room.

I sometimes wonder if men like Professor Siedenburg don't keep their eyes so close to the woods they can't see the majestic height of the trees.—Lynn in Santa Barbara (Cal.), Morning Press.

* * *

Modern motion pictures have no standard of art and industry—E. D. Martin in Des Moines Tribune.

* * *

Gloria Swanson you see, although in former days collected a reputation for Lofty Chapeaux, is now an example of that almost unique specimen in Hollywood, the genuinely democratic person. By this I don't mean that she bandies racy persiflage with electricians on the set, and so forth; not, in brief, that she has bad manners for everybody, but that she has good manners for everybody.—Motion Picture Classic.

The Movie Palace doorman marries.
—Judge

WHEN the makers of movies falsely sweeten their dramatic doses they are compromising with audience elements that do not exist with the strength of years past. Housewives' nerves have been trained and toughened since the days of "Pollyanna." When the cinema attacks stern subjects in a manner intended to be serious, a stern treatment is now more nearly in order. In the interests of box-office health it is no longer so necessary to paste up the happy ending where the happy ending does not logically belong. Honesty and veracity of narrative bid fair to become as effective box-office stimulants as sweetness and light and the sappy tear.

As evidence to these statements, we may mention the success enjoyed by "Journey's End" and "All Quiet on the Western Front." In both of these an artist's authentic conception has been transferred to the screen without a single false deviation.—N. Y. World.

* * *

They say that Phil Plant parted with a cool million in cash when he lost Connie Bennett. . . . Billie Dove continues to speak so kindly of Irvin Willat that one wonders at the separation. . . . Janet Gaynor seems to be having a hard time getting the folks to take her Lydell seriously!—M. P. Magazine.

* * *

There's a lot of good scenery to be admired this year, if you are lucky enough to find a billboard with a knothole in it.—Judge.

* * *

The So Charming Chevalier—an unofficial cementer of cordial relations between France and America.

* * *

"What I want to know is, what is the terrible thing, the Middle West?" asks Clive Brook. "I never find a grand story that I want to do but the Front Office says, 'Yes, it's great, but think of the Middle West.' Whenever we do a particularly hot love scene, it's cut—to save the feelings of the same Middle West. There's just one way to make a producer shrink and turn pale. Sneak up on him and whisper, 'Hst! Remember The Middle West!'"—Motion Picture Magazine.

* * *

Even George O'Brien seems to be falling for a blonde! And after all those years with Olive! Now that the Borden-O'Brien romance seems definitely over, George is consoling himself with Helen Chandler, his golden-haired leading lady of several pictures.—Screen Secrets Magazine.

Laughing It Off

Harold Lloyd, defendant in a suit, had a lot of "gag men" called as witnesses for the defense. Their arrival, of course, put the court in the best of good humor.—L. A. Herald.

Partners

Florence Ross, of the Warner Brothers publicity staff, and Pierre de Rohan, former critic of the Morning Telegraph, not only collaborate in writing plays and scenarios, but now also are joint owners of a big Marmon automobile and joint bosses of a snooty uniformed chauffeur.

VON STROHEIM cares little for money. All he wants for himself in this life is goulash, Lucky Strikes, and work. Von would rather work than sleep. It is all that means anything to him, except his modest home, not in Beverly Hills, he told me, his wife and his son. He has the greatest admiration for Mrs. Von Stroheim, for he declares that she is the only woman in the world who would have put up with him during the twelve years of their married life. Storing up the hurt pride, the disappointments and exhaustion gained from a day in the studio he would, like a child, unburden himself at home.—Screenland.

* * *

Vamp used to be a musical term. Now Director George B. Seitz isn't sure just what it is. In "Hawk Island" Ivan Lebedeff plays the part of a musician and Seitz had given instructions, "Vamp until ready." He turned around in time to catch Rita LaRoy going through some rather seductive motions.

"Just what are you doing?" he asked her.

"Well," replied Rita. "You said vamp until ready and I'm vamping."—Screen Play.

* * *

Some unhappy Bostonians tell us that things are being made harder and harder for the people of their city. Lately the censors got after the talkies, deleting passages of dialogue which were dangerous to morals. The way matters stand now there are passages in many films which can't be said in the town at any time, and still further passages which pass on weekdays but won't do on Sundays. On Sunday nothing the least bit spicy may be spoken. The movie people have to assign a man at a switch which controls the speaking apparatus, and he turns off the sound when a dangerous passage is reached. In Barrymore's picture, "General Crack," for instance, five deletions were made (on Sundays), each at a critical turning point. The actors went on talking but no sound came forth. This practice bewildered the audiences at first, but they are getting pretty good at lip-reading now and can follow the plot fairly well.—"The New Yorker."

* * *

Robert Woolsey was asked what he thought of a certain proposition.

"I don't know," he replied, "but I'll call up my wife and find out."—Screen Play.

Before the "Mike" In N. Y. Studios

IT HAD to come sooner or later. The empty lot directly opposite the Eastern Vitaphone studio in Flatbush which heretofore had been used solely as a short cut to the studio is being converted into a Tom Thumb course. It probably will be ready next week.

* * *

Sez Sam Sax, General manager of the plant, "Tom Thumb will certainly not interfere in any way, shape or manner with the making of Vitaphone shorts."

* * *

With the completion of the variety "For Art's Sake" last week at the Warners Brooklyn studio, the number of Vitaphone shorts produced since the opening of that studio in December, 1928, totals 375. The entire Vitaphone short subject production is scheduled to be made there. A heavy schedule has been prepared.

* * *

Under direction of Arthur Hurley, George Jessel has made a Vitaphone short entitled "Politics," a comedy of how an energetic and bright young man uses the influence of the "district boss" to get his immigrant mother into the country. You'll leff.

* * *

Did you know that all the research work on "Noah's Ark" and "The Singin' Fool" was done by Jean Z. Candell, who is now script at the Warner eastern Vitaphone lot?

* * *

In his apprenticeship in the picture industry, Sam Marino, assistant cameraman at the eastern Vitaphone studio, has done laboratory work at the old Fox studio on Tenth Ave., printing for Famous, had charge of the foreign department for Pathe and then was a studio projectionist for M-G-M.

* * *

Henry H. Dagand, young Spanish director, who handles the radio fortunes of Maurice Chevalier and Lucrezia Bori, is directing Spanish versions of several Warner shorts. Dagand is studying the Spanish picture market with a view to becoming a producer of shorts and features.

* * *

With the rebuilding of the old Edison studio in progress and scheduled to be ready in about a month for occupancy by Audio-Cinema, Inc., Joseph W. Cottman, president of Audio-Cinema, left on the Bremen for Russia where he will act as consultant to the Soviet government on construction and production of sound pictures.

* * *

Director Fred Newmeyer and the cast of "The Best People" unit which includes Miriam Hopkins, Charles Starrett, Frank Morgan, Ilka Chase, Carol Lombard and Henry Wadsworth, went to King's Point, Long Island for some exteriors. It was a perfect outing, with some great photography, a refreshing swim for the entire party and a nice drive back.

* * *

Lou Holtz, of the stage originally, has been added to the cast of "Manhattan Mary," starring Ed Wynn with Ginger Rogers and Stanley Smith featured, under Norman Taurog's direction. The picture which goes into production this week will be Taurog's first feature in the East.

* * *

If you're looking for Mr. Doran at the Paramount New York studio, don't forget to tell the doorman which one you want. There are three of the Clan Doran there, D. A. Doran, Jr., head of the scenario department; John Doran, stage manager and his brother Dan, head of the property department.

THE STUDIO SLEUTH

Des Moines Seeks Levy on Theatres And on Billboards

Des Moines — Tax on theatres, billboards, miniature golf courses, street signs and coal is under consideration by the municipal administration. Levying of the tax will be determined upon as soon as it is ascertained whether the city has authority to do so, according to Mayor Parker I. Crouch.

No decision has been reached by the mayor or members of the city council as to the amount of the levy which theatres here may be obliged to pay. This phase will not be entered into until the legal department has returned its report on the various levies.

It is believed by the law division that the city will have no trouble collecting the billboard tax, miniature golf course tax, theatre tax and possibly the coal dealers' tax. The proposed wheel tax for automobiles has already been ruled impossible.

The object of these added tax levies is to produce approximately $73,000 worth of office receipts next year to make up for the slash in the general consolidated tax levy accomplished by the council this week. The cut was made to avoid an increase in 1931 general taxes.

$25,000 Fire Damage

Cleveland—Fire of unknown origin caused about $25,000 damage at the Gordon Square. The fire was confined to the stage, and all the stage equipment, band instruments, and sound equipment was completely destroyed. The fire occurred about 1 A.M. and was discovered by police. Gordon Square is one of the theatres belonging to the Scoville, Essick and Reif circuit.

Theatre Bandits Busy

Toronto—The same gang which attempted to rob the Prince of Wales theatre is believed to be responsible for the safe cracking at the Beach, a Famous Players house which lost $135. Police scared away the gunmen before they could reach a strong box containing a larger sum.

Denies Winnipeg Deal

Winnipeg—James Richardson & Sons, owners of the Dominion, deny that the house had been leased to G. T. Howden, a veteran local theatre man. A new company has been organized to reopen the Dominion, it is stated.

Chevalier Title Changed

Hollywood—"Playboy of Paris" is the release title of "Little Cafe," a Paramount talker starring Maurice Chevalier. Others in the cast include Frances Dee, O. P. Heggie, Stuart Erwin, Eugene Pallette, Tyler Brooke, Edmund Breese and Cecil Cunningham.

Kinzler With Fox

Morris Kinzler, formerly general press representative for Florenz Ziegfeld, has joined the publicity staff of the Fox Theatres Corporation.

High and Low On Music Row

THIS "if money" isn't confined solely to the race tracks. A little research and delving into the past of tin pan alley will unearth hundreds of instances where music publishers had hits IF they published songs which were in their safes.

Here's one instance. About five years ago Charles Lang, of Bibo-Lang, Inc., was traveling in the Middle West when he was approached by a pair of songwriters who offered to sell their song for $25: Lang did not buy, but suggested that these boys send their song to one of the western music houses.

* * *

The boys sent the number to Sherman-Clay of San Francisco and, two years later, took the song back to place it with Villa-Moret. Another two years and finally the song was tried out. "When It's Springtime in the Rockies" swept the country and at present is still on top.

* * *

The affiliation of Leo Feist with NBC didn't mean a thing, but that six of the best sellers are Feist songs—count 'em. "If I Had a Girl Like You," "It Happened in Monterey," "Around the Corner," "Song Without a Name," "What's the Use" and "Down the River of Golden Dreams." A new addition to the Feist catalogue, "Us and Company," written by Steve Nelson and Johnny Burke, is a clever novelty and, with a plug such as NBC can give, this tune should also step into the big time.

* * *

Julian Woodworth, the Cleveland Crooner, has been turning out some catchy melodies while on Mazda Lane. He's already placed "I Lost a Dream" with Universal Publishing Co., "Sometimes I Wonder" with Popular Songs of the Day, "Lost in a Castle Built with Our Dreams" with DeSylva, Brown & Henderson and "When You Press Your Lips to Mine."

* * *

After months of striving for the breaks that never came, Buddy Valentine finally packed his grip and started for California, disgusted with songwriting and the heartlessness of tin pan alley. Hardly had he gone but Rudy Vallee began plugging his "Beside a Mountain Stream," published by Irving Berlin, Inc., which now bids fair to be of hit proportions, and his "Shadows in the Moonlight," published by Shapiro-Bernstein, which Jesse Crawford plans to feature at the Paramount next week.

* * *

Sherman-Clay has just added to its catalogue "The Wedding of the Birds," an instrumental novelty by Harry and Henry Tobias and Charles Kisco, "Golden Sands" by Jesse Greer and Ray Klages and a hill-billy entitled "Back in the Hills of Colorado." Meanwhile "With My Guitar and You," from the Pathe production "Swing High," is rapidly becoming a favorite.

* * *

Howard Johnson and Joe Meyer, songwriters on the M-G-M lot, have given Robbins Music Corp. another pair of potential hits in "Just a Little Closer," from William Haines' "Remote Control" and "Singin' a Song to the Stars," another M-G-M production starring that Haines fellow. Jack Bregman, general manager of the firm, says: "We not only give the artist the most comfortable and up-to-date piano rooms, but we also give them the song."

* * *

Jack Mills has just taken a cute tune entitled "Pucker Up, Make Out You're Gonna Whistle" (and give me a kiss), written by Frank Perkins and Charles Kenny. Charles is the brother of Nick Kenny, who does nothing but listen to the radio and scribbles some notes in rhyme for the New York Mirror.

PINCUS.

THE Projectionists' Round Table

By John F. Rider

WE MADE the statement that a bar of steel which has been magnetized has a magnetic field and possesses the power of attracting and repelling; like poles repelling and unlike poles attracting. If we cut this magnet in two, we have two separate magnets possessed of the same properties. Since magnetic lines of force are complete circles around a conductor or whatever device is possessed of such flux lines, the magnet provides a partial path for these lines and the air around the magnet provides the remainder of the required path. Since the two extremities of a magnet are of opposite polarity they attract and a force is exerted between these two poles. This force follows the law of electric charges in that it varies inversely as the square of the distance. Hence, the force exerted between the two ends of a bar megnet is not very strong, although the bar exerts a force at a distance from itself.

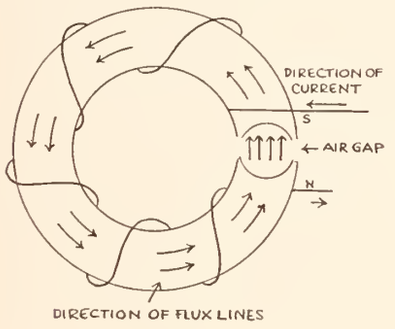

FIG. 31

If we take this bar and bend it into the shape of a horseshoe we greatly reduce the distance between the two pole ends, the shaping of the bar in no way influencing the polarity of the ends or affecting its magnetic properties. What we do accomplish is to reduce the extent of the air through which the flux lines must travel to complete their path, and by this reduction greatly increase the strength of these lines since their path of travel is greatly reduced. Furthermore, the force exerted by the pole pieces is greatly increased because of the inverse square law and the reduced separation. Such horseshoe-shaped permanent magnets find very frequent application in devices employed in sound systems. Discussion relative to such devices will follow in due order.

The construction of a horseshoe magnet with concentrated flux lines in a small airgap is not limited to permanent magnets. If a bar of soft iron is bent into the shape of a horseshoe and wire is wound upon the core, then current passed through the core, that iron will become an electromagnet of horseshoe shape and the lines of force flowing through the core will complete their path through the airgap, as shown in Figure 31. The arrows running around the core indicate the direction of the flux lines and the arrows in the airgap show the direction of the lines within the gap. This illustration shows flux line flow from the N to the S pole, by virtue of the polarity produced by the direction of the current flow through the winding. The same direction of flux line flow is found in the permanent magnet, from the N pole to the S pole.

Magnetization by Induction

Comment relative to electromagnets made thus far referred to a coil wound upon an iron core. Direct contact between the coil and the iron core in order that magnetization of the iron occur is not imperative. Air, or some other non-magnetic material, may separate the coil and the core without interfering with the magnetization process. Thus, current flow in a coil will induce magnetism in an iron bar if that bar is brought close enough to the coil. Naturally when such action is required the physical relation between the core and the coil is made such that the best results will be secured and the core is placed within the hollow centre of the coil. The degree of magnetization, or the intensity of the flux lines, depends upon the current through the winding and the number of turns. When magnetization of such a bar is achieved as mentioned, that action is known as magnetization by induction. The force which induces the magnetization into the iron is known as the magnetomotive force.

Recognizing the magnetic properties of a permanent bar magnet, it is not difficult to imagine flux lines emanating from one pole piece, traveling through the air and entering the magnet at the other pole. Such being the case there are a certain number of lines in a certain area. For example, consider the pole end shown in Figure 32. The dashed lines represent the flux lines. If we determine the number of lines that pass through one square centimeter of the cross-section of the bar, we have determined the flux density of that magnet. The same is true if we measure the number of flux lines passing through one square centimeter of area of an electromagnet. The unit of the flux density is the gauss. The total number of flux lines is called the magnetic flux and is usually designated by capital Greek letter Phi shown as illustrated in Figure 32A.

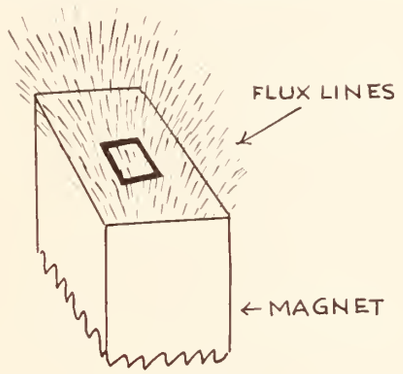

FIG. 32

Magnetic materials, temporary or permanent offer better paths for magnetic lines of force than air and it is necessary to designate some means of comparing the flux lines due to a certain definite magnetizing force when the medium of travel is air or a magnetic material. The ability of a material to allow the passage of flux lines is known as the permeability. The permeability of all materials is compared with that of air, classed as unity or one. Expressed differently, permeability is a measure of the flux lines which exist in a material subjected to a definite magnetizing force. If a force causing the flow of one flux line per square centimeter of air causes 400 flux lines to exist in a square centimeter of iron when that iron is subjected to the same magnetizing force, the permeability of that iron is said to be 400. The permeability of a material is of importance because certain parts, the audio frequency transformers and some ehokes used in sound systems are made of special material which has a high permeability value and certain operating conditions alter this figure. High permeability materials are used for a very definite purpose and, if the operating condition of the amplifier is such that the permeability value is lowered, changes take place in that unit which impair the quality of reproduction. More about that later.

Voltage Generated by Induction

Now we enter upon the subject of voltage generated by induction, the fourth in the list of means of producing electric potential listed in Lesson 5. Number three in this list, thermal means is reserved for later discussion.

If current flow through a conductor causes a magnetic flux, there must be some relation between flux and current flow. Also between flux and voltage since a certain amount of voltage is required in order to cause the flow of current. In other words, a difference of potential is required to cause the motion of charges and, if we can in turn cause the motion of charges because of some magnetic flux reaction, we, in turn, cause a difference of potential between any two points. Perhaps we should explain why we have devoted so much space to the subject of magnetism. We realize that such discussion is usually curtailed in course of this type, but we feel that the greater the familiarity with the subject, as little as it may be, it helps to comprehend the principles underlying the operation of many devices and at the same time perhaps remove that mystifying halo which surrounds many such items.

The reader or student should not believe that departure from any one subject mentioned thus far is completion of that subject. We depart therefrom in order to introduce another so that we can then combine the various items mentioned in the elementary part of the series into the practical unit in use.

SYMBOL FOR MAGNETIC FLUX

FIG. 32A

The Dynamo or D. C. Generator

The dynamo sometimes referred to as a D. C. generator has found extensive application in sound systems to supply the required operating voltages for the amplifying tubes. While the new sound systems are of such design that D. C. generators are no longer used,

(Continued on page 44)

This Is Lesson 11 in The Rider Series on Sound Projection

THE Projectionists' Round Table

By John F. Rider

(Continued from page 43)

there are still quite a few systems in use where this device is still doing active duty. Its law of operation is that:

If a conductor is caused to cut magnetic lines of force an EMF (voltage) will be induced in the conductor and current will flow through the conductor. Let us see why. Suppose we arrange a conductor as shown in Figure 33. The conductor is so arranged that it can move within the space between the pole pieces of a magnet. Whether this magnet is a permanent magnet or an electromagnet is of no consequence just so long as a constant field exists between the pole pieces. The light arrows between the N and the S pole, pointing toward the latter, indicate the direction of the flux line. The heavy arrows associated with the conductor located in the magnetic field indicate the direction of motion of the conductor, namely, at right angles to the direction of the flux lines. This conductor is a part of an electric circuit equipped with an indicating device, as shown, utilized to show the presence of current in the circuit. The double arrows show the direction of motion of the conductor if it were said to be moving parallel to the lines of force.

Some Facts

When this conductor is caused by some mechanical means to travel in the down direction, the free electrons in that conductor also move in the down direction with the velocity of the conductor. At the same time, these free electrons are moving through the conductor. The motion of these charges evokes a magnetic field around the charge and because of the downward direction of the conductor, the direction of the magnetic field around the charge is such as to accelerate the motion of this charge.

Various electric and magnetic forces are evoked in the conductor, which results in a continued flow of electrons when that conductor is a part of a complete circuit. Thus, when the wire shown is moved down through the flux lines, which are acting at right angles to the direction of motion or in the direction of the light arrows, a voltage is induced in the conductor which acts in a direction right angles to both the direction of motion and the direction of the flux, as indicated by the arrow shown upon the conductor midway between the two pole pieces. The emf is, of course, due to the displacement of the electrons and the current flow in the direction shown is registered upon the indicating device. If the motion of the conductor were upward through the magnetic field, at all times cutting the field, the direction of the action of the emf and the current flow would be reversed. The faster the motion of the conductor through the field, or the greater the rate of flux change, the greater is the emf induced and the greater the current in any one circuit. This means that if the indicating device were a resistance of a certain number of ohms, the faster the rate at which the conductor cuts the flux, the greater would be the current through that resistance because the greater would be the voltage induced in the conductor.

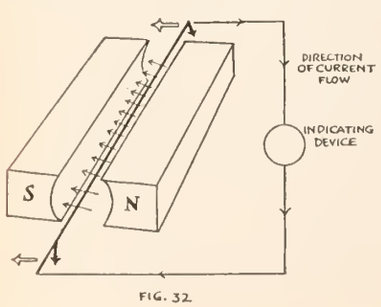

FIG. 32.

(Although we are still in the most elementary stage of the generator, it might be of interest to apply this fact to the average D. C. generator in use. If, for some reason, the speed of the generator is increased beyond the normal value, the voltage generated will likewise increase, with possible damage to whatever device is being supplied with potential by that generator.)

Motion of the conductor shown in Figure 33 on a plane parallel with the lines of force causes no induction of voltage or current flow.

If we now arrange the conductor as a loop of two sides as in Figure 34 and this loop may be revolved within the space between the two pole pieces, it is evident that current will flow in two directions through the loop. First in one direction when one side of the loop is passing down at the N pole and in the opposite direction when the other side of the loop is passing up across the S pole. The loop is imagined rotating on its horizontal axis. The change in the direction of current flow is, of course, due to the direction of motion of the loop with respect to the direction of the flux lines. When the coil side "ba" moves down across the face of the N pole, current flows from b to a. When the coils side "cd" moves up across the S pole the current flows from d to c. The two emfs are acting in one direction and will add causing a current to flow through the loop. As is evident in the drawing, the loop consists of four sides, but only two of these sides are allied with the magnetic flux, the side ab and the side cd. The side ad and the side bc do not cut the flux lines. Their function is to complete the circuit. If we imagine a reversal of the positions of the coil sides, so that cd is at the N pole and ab is at the S pole, there will be a reversal of the current. That is, the current in the ab side is shown moving away from the observer, whereas that in the cd side of the loop is moving toward the observer. When the position of the coil sides is changed the current through cd moves away from the observer and that through ab is moving toward the observer.

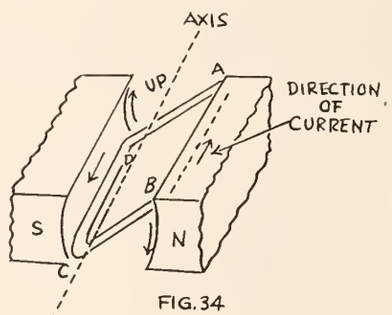

FIG. 34

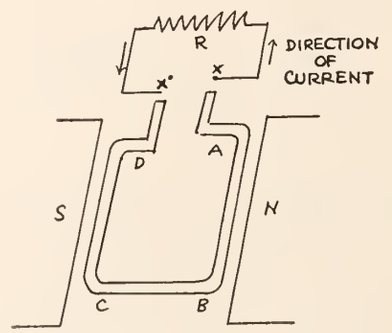

FIG. 35

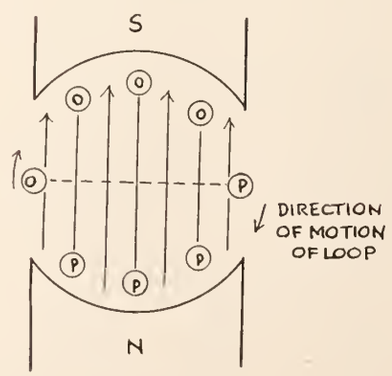

FIG. 36

In order that the current flow in one direction in an external circuit connected to the generator, it is necessary that contact be made with the respective sides when they occupy certain relative positions. If we arrange an external circuit R as shown in Figure 35 and we wish the direction of current flow to be as shown by the arrow, the coil side ab must be connected to the point X while it is traveling down across the N pole and the coil side cd must be connected to the point X when it is moving down across the N pole, which position cd would occupy after revolving 180 degrees. Thus, it is necessary to arrange brushes so that the point X is alternately connected to ab and cd, thereby keeping the current flow through the resistance R always in one direction. This action of shifting the coil side is called commutation and is accomplished by arranging a brush at the points X and XI which makes alternate contact with the coil sides.

The commercial form of D. C. generator makes use of a large number of loop sides and each side has its own commutator segment, which alternately makes contact with the brushes, so that no matter which coil side is passing the N pole, the current flow through the external circuit remains the same.

Generation of Voltage

We know that a voltage may be induced in the coil sides when they cut the magnetic field. We also know that if the coil side moves parrallel to the lines of force voltage will not be induced. Hence, we have a certain position of the coil sides, when no voltage is being induced and another position when voltage is

(Continued on page 52)

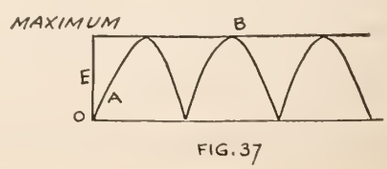

FIG. 37

State U. S. Market For Projectors in Japan Is Limited

Washington — Price is the determining factor in the sale of projectors in Japan and, since American machines get more money than their German or Japanese-made competitors, that market for United States equipment is restricted.

The report of the Department of Commerce on equipment possibilities of countries in Africa and the East points this out. While American machines are regarded as superior, German makes are regarded in Japan as more durable and trouble-proof than the type of American machines now in general use there, the report continues.

The text of the survey, appearing weekly in Motion Picture News, continues:

JAPAN

From Reports by Paul P. Steintorf, American Trade Commissioner; and Graham H. Kemper and Leonard N. Green, American Consuls

The industry in Japan is a comparatively new development, most of the producing companies having been established within the past five or six years. At the present time there are four larger companies and about 12 smaller ones. However, even the largest is quite small judged by American standards. Their production methods are not highly developed and their financial resources are relatively small. In consequence, laboratory and other equipment is comparatively simple.

Standard Projectors.—Below is a list of the standard 35 millimeter projectors now being sold in Japan:

American make	$1,150
A. G. (German)	900
Pathé Simplex (French)	800
Power (German)	1,000
Royal (Japanese)	650
Aurban (Japanese)	300
Waik (Japanese)	150

Of the above, the Japanese Royal projector is the most popular at present since it is of satisfactory quality and the price is very much lower than that of imported machines. Furthermore, the manufacturers supply unlimited service and parts and accessories are readily obtainable. The better-class theatres in principal cities are now using either German or American projectors. Both machines are of excellent quality and are very popular, the only difficulty being that they are comparatively expensive and for that reason are beyond the means of the smaller theatres. The only other machines sold in any appreciable quantities are the Pathé and the Japanese Aurban.

Price is the deciding factor in practically all sales of projectors in Japan. This accounts for the popularity of the Japanese Royal machine. Since price is the deciding consideration there are no particular features which would lead to increased sales of American projectors.

Practically every theatre is equipped with two projectors. In a few cases they have as many as three projectors. However, the great majority of the projectors now in use in the theatres are old and more or less out of date. Many of the new projectors which are being built from time to time are equipped with projectors of the latest type, but most of the older theatres are not particularly prosperous and are not, therefore, in a position to replace the present antiquated equipment.

Most theatre operators appreciate the superior quality of American projectors and freely admit that they are very much better than the Japanese machines. However, there seems to be a more or less widespread opinion that the German machines are more durable and trouble-proof than the American projectors now in use.

Generators.—Japanese theatres generally use alternating current, although most of them are aware that direct current is much better. A few of the largest theatres in principal cities are now using alternating current and are equipped with American converting generator sets. There is a very promising outlet for American generator sets, provided they can be sold at a reasonable price. Theatre owners would very much prefer to use direct current, but feel that they cannot afford the high price which is now demanded for generators. Generator sets are not being manufactured in Japan at present, although the Japanese electric industry is equiped to turn out such sets if the market becomes sufficiently large to make such manufacture profitable. If there is any American generator which can be sold at a low price, it is probable that sales in the Japanese market could be markedly increased.

Electric current of 100 volts is standard throughout Japan. The alternating current of 60 cycles is generally used through the country with the exception of the Tokyo-Yokohama district, in which the current of 50 cycles is supplied.

Arc Lamps.—Practically all of the more important theatres are now using high-intensity and miro-reflector arc lamps.

Screens.—The majority of screens now in use are of white cotton cloth, manufactured locally especially for that prpose. Many theatres are also using a plain white plastered wall as a screen. There is also some use of a type of screen called daylight screen, apparently some fabric with a silvered surface.

Visual Education.—Practically no progress has been made in introducing visual education by means of motion pictures into Jananese educational institutions. However, the various boards of education and school authorities realize fully the advantage of motion pictures for educational work. In Tokyo the municipal board of education has introduced a plan, in collaboration with theatre owners, whereby twice a month special exhibits are held for school children. These shows are usually held on the second and fourth Sunday and start about 10 o'cock in the morning and run for two hours. The films shown are ones which have been specially selected as educational. The plan has proven very popular with the school children. However, there is very strong opposition to this plan by the Christian community on the grounds that it prevents the children from attending Sunday school. The Department of Education is now formulating a national plan for the use of motion pictures in Japanese schools and colleges.

Education in Japan is under the control of the Department of Education. That department collaborates with and supervises the various educational institutions. In addition, each of the prefectures, which correspond to our states, has a local board of education and all of the larger towns and cities have municipal boards of education. All of these local boards are more or less under the direction and control of the central department.

Laboratory Equipment.—There is a very fair market for laboratory and other equipment. That market will undoubtedly increase as the Japanese studios develop and become more thoroughly acquainted with modern production methods. However, the market will always be confined to the more complex and elaborate machinery since all of the simpler equipment can be manufactured locally at very low prices. It is believed that there is an outlet in Japan for a considerable number of polishing machines, although, of course, it will be rather severely limited by the small purchasing power of most of the studios. It is safe to say that at present there is no market for automatic developing machines, although it is possible that sales could be made by sending an American representative to demonstrate the advantages and superiority of such equipment. However, the present developing methods are satisfactory and undoubtedly considerably cheaper, owing to the low price of labor.

Automatic printing machines are being used in most of the larger studios. Machines which will print from 35-millimeter positives to the 16-millimeter amateur size have a potential market, since amateur cinematography is becoming very popular; undoubtedly a number of the Japanese productions will eventually be printed for amateur projection purposes.

There does not seem to be an appreciable market for perforating machines. Very little imported steel equipment of any sort is used, and it is probable that the market for such material will always be very small. The developing tanks, racks, and similar equipment are all manufactured locally at very low prices, and, in consequence there is no market for similar American products.

Below are the names and addresses of the leading studios: Shochiku Kinema K. K., Shintomicho, Kyobashiku, Tokyo; Nippin Kinema K. K., Eirakucho, Kojimachiku, Tokyo; Toa Kinema K. K., 1 Munekore cho. Kitaku, Osaka; and Teikou Kinema Eigwa K. K., 43 Shiomachidori 4 chome, Minamiku, Tokyo. The following are smaller companies and individual producers: Makino Kinema Co., Shimo Kamo, Kyoto; Ichritsu Shokai, Sonezakicho, Kitaku, Osaka; Asahi Kinema Co., 47 Kotobukicho, Asakusaku, Tokyo; Azuma Studio, 1000 Azumachi Kosmurai, Tokyo-fu; Chiyoda Eigwasha, 5 Kitchiracho, Shibaku, Tokyo; Kata Eigwa Sesakusho, 951 Tenoju Sumuyoshi, Osaka; Daido Eigwasha, 92 Sannomiya 3 chome, Kobe; and Sanryu Shokai, Kyoto.

The first four companies comprise a syndicate.

Portable and Amateur Equipment.—Amateur cameras have been on the Japanese market in quantities for only two or three years, and consequently there has not been sufficient time to secure a wide distribution, even within the natural limitations imposed by the economic character of the market. On the other hand, the demand for such cameras, and with them projectors, has been found to be good, and the trend of business volume is upward. The general opinion prevailing in the trade is that the prospects for the sale of amateur equipment are encouraging. The low average purchasing power of the people, however, will for some time confine purchases to the wealthier classes, and the more enthusiastic patrons of motion pictures. The Japanese are distinctly fond of photography of all kinds, and throughout the entire country cameras of all kinds are widely used. As a result, there are, of course, many shops or stores handling them. The matter of price and cost of operation are the only obstacles to a fairly large volume of business in cameras and projectors.

Prices Too Stiff For Theatres To Pay, Gov't Says

CEYLON

From Report by Koyne V. Gram, American Vice Consul, Colombo

Projectors.—There are 17 theatres in Ceylon, all of which are equipped with Pathé projectors. The landed cost of such projectors is 900 rupees ($361). According to several theatre managers, the Pathé projector is preferred to other makes because it is simple and easy to operate and because repairs and replacements can be easily obtained in Colombo. Practically all of the theatres in Ceylon are equipped with at least two projectors, most of which are new models.

Projectors must, in order to find a ready sale, be of the type that can be used on either direct or alternating current, since both kinds of current are used in Ceylon. It is not uncommon in Ceylon for one section of a city to use alternating current and another section to use direct current.

Arc Lamps and Screens.—One theatre, for a short time, tried high-intensity and mirror-reflector arc lamps, but the slight improvement gained thereby did not warrant the expense. All of the picture theatres in the island use ordinary cloth screens.

Opinions on Pictures

Queen High

(Paramount—All Talker)

Amusing Farce

(Reviewed by Bill Crouch)

ADAPTED from the play "A Pair of Sixes," "Queen High" becomes entertaining comedy through the efforts of a capable cast. Headed by the inimitable Charlie Ruggles, the cast carries the action over many trite situations in the story. This one will meet with approval in the week run houses and in the split-week spots. However, it lacks name draw for advance plugging.

Ruggles and Frank Morgan are owners of a concern which manufactures ladies' garters. They spend the greater part of their time in fighting with one another and when Morgan hires Ginger Rogers, his niece, as secretary to offset Ruggles having his nephew, Stanley Smith, in the firm the trouble starts. The lawyer for the firm is called in to settle the argument and suggests the men play a hand of poker to decide the dispute. The winner is to become the master and the loser will be the man. Ruggles loses and becomes Morgan's valet.

From then on things start hot and heavy. Morgan lords over Ruggles and invents many tasks for him. Ruggles resents this and it makes Morgan all the happier. Miss Rogers tells Ruggles that the way to get even is to apparently enjoy the work and appear to be in love with Morgan's wife. Then Morgan will get jealous and end the wager. Ruggles does this, starting out with one of his usual drunk scenes that celebrates the new idea. From then on he has Morgan on the spot. Finally when things are so involved the partners are ready to call off the bet, but as they are about to do so they discover that a poker bet is not legal and that they have been fooled by the lawyer. This shows them what fools they have been for quarreling. They make up and decide to work together instead of fighting.

Into this story is woven considerable romantic interest capably handled by Ginger Rogers and Stanley Smith who make love through some catchy song numbers. Both have good voices and pleasing personalities.

The credit for success of the talker lies mostly with Ruggles as his comedy is way above par. He carries many weak lines over with a bang by his expert mode of delivery and his song number in the kitchen to the cook is a wow.

Others who perform acceptably in the picture are Helen Carrington, Theresa Maxwell Conover, Rudy Cameron, Tom Brown and Betty Garde. Nina Ollivette does a comedy bit very well.

Musical shorts and good dramatic sketches needed here.

Produced and distributed by Paramount Publix. Directed by Fred Newmeyer. From play by Lawrence Schwab, George De Sylva and Lewis Gensler. Scenario by Edward H. Peple. Photographed by William Steiner. Length, not set. Running time, not set. Release date, Aug. 23.

THE CAST

T. Bogg Johns ..... Charles Ruggles
George Nettleton ..... Frank Morgan
Dick Johns ..... Stanley Smith
Polly Rockwell ..... Ginger Rogers
Mrs. Nettleton ..... Helen Carrington
Mrs. Rockwell ..... Theresa Maxwell Conover
Florence Cole ..... Betty Garde
Coddles ..... Nina Ollivette
Cyrus Vanderhold ..... Rudy Cameron
Jimmy ..... Tom Brown

Monte Carlo

(Paramount—All Talker)

Exceptionally Fine

(Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

THE master hand of Ernst Lubitsch has directed another picture that belongs in the highest rank of talker efforts. Similar in many ways to "The Love Parade," it is as appealing and charming, despite the absence of the personable Chevalier.

This one is okay for big centers and should do fine business in these spots. Plenty of production value, great performances and lots of laughs all set to a fast tempo make this one a sure-fire hit for discriminating audiences.

With the story laid around royalty and mythical kingdoms and with most of the scenes at Monte Carlo, the picture has a colorful background. Jeannette MacDonald, as the Countess Von Conti, is about to marry Claude Allister, a prince, when she changes her mind and leaves from the ceremony to escape on a train for Monte Carlo. Here she bets her small fortune on the roulette wheel, but loses what little she has. Jack Buchanan, seeing her at the gambling tables, falls for her beauty and, in an effort to see her, hires out as a hairdresser. She, unaware that he is Count Falliere and very rich, falls in love with him, but refuses to marry him since he is not of noble birth.

With bills staring her in the face, she finally agrees to marry Allister with the understanding that it is only for his money. Buchanan hears of this plan and tells her he can win back her fortune. She gives him her last money and, when he brings back a tidy sum apparrently won at the casino, is almost willing to marry him. However, she changes her mind and the following morning tells him that he is discharged and that she is going to marry the prince. Buchanan then arranges that she attend the opera, "Monsieur Beaucaire," which she does, and, as the story is unfolded, she learns that the hero of the opera was a prince, posing as a hairdresser in an effort to win his lady's hand. MacDonald then sees through it all and the final fadeout finds her in the arms of Buchanan, his real identity established.

The talker moves at a swift tempo and, while there are many musical numbers, they are worked in so cleverly they help carry the story, rather than slow it up.

The subtle, humorous touches of the Lubitsch direction are to be found all through the picture and give it spice. The songs are built into the various situations in many new and novel ways and are especially effective. One number in particular received a great ovation. As Miss MacDonald is leaving on the train for Monte Carlo the camera shows the puffing engine with its driving wheels rotating in time with the music. This is gradually built up until Miss MacDonald breaks into a song which climaxes the action most effectively.

The roles played by Miss MacDonald and Buchanan are exceptionally well handled. Both have splendid singing voices and their acting is above average. Zasu Pitts and Tyler Brooke lend humorous touches to the production with their clever portrayals, while Claude Allister, Lionel Belmore and Albert Conti are also capable in their respective roles. Donald Novis and Helen Garden, who sing in the operatic sequence, have pleasing voices. The scene from the opera "Monsieur Beaucaire" is cleverly worked in and proves most effective. The songs include several potential "hits."

Cartoons and dramatic shorts will go okay here.

Produced and distributed by Paramount-Publix. Directed by Ernst Lubitsch. Scenario by Ernest Vajda. From story "The Blue Coast," by Hans Mueller, and episodes from "Monsieur Beaucaire," by Booth Tarkington and Evelyn Sutherland. Dialogue by Vincent Lawrence. Lyrics and music by Leo Ribbin, Richard A. Whiting and Frank Harling. Photographed by Vincent Milner. Length, about 7,650 feet. Running time, about 85 minutes. Release date, not set, but in the fall.

THE CAST

Countess Vera von Conti ..... Jeannette MacDonald
Count Rudolph Falliere ..... Jack Buchanan
Maria ..... Zasu Pitts
Armand ..... Tyler Brooke
Prince Otto von Seibenheim ..... Claude Allister
Duke Gustav von Seibenheim ..... Lionel Belmore
Paul ..... John Roche
Master of Ceremony ..... Albert Conti
Lady Mary ..... Helen Garden
Monsieur Beaucaire ..... Donald Novis
Herald ..... David Percy

Approves Change

"I see Hollywood stars are going in for canned soup because it's nourishing without being fattening," says Farmer Drybottom. "Better for them to make 'suppee' than 'whoopee.'"—L. A. Herald.

Broken Dishes

(First National—All Talker)

Fair Comedy

(Reviewed by Bill Crouch)

GRANT WITHERS and Loretta Young carry the love interest in "Broken Dishes." Taken from the Martin Flavin play by the same name, it is brought to the screen in interesting style and makes a fair light comedy.

The picture deals with life in the Bumpstead family, which is run by an utterly unsympathetic and dominant mother, Emma Dunn. She makes life miserable especially for Loretta Young, one of the daughters, and O. P. Heggie, the hen-pecked husband.

Grant Withers and Miss Young wish to get married, but the mother refuses to let her daughter marry a delivery clerk. She is always bewailing the fact that she did not marry Richard Tucker.

One evening while the mother and two of the daughters are at a picture show, Loretta invites Grant over to the house. She tells her father he will not have to do the dishes, but should go to the lodge instead. He does and, while celebrating an installation, gets drunk on cider. He returns and in his inebriated condition consents to the immediate marriage of Loretta. The justice of the peace, Farrell MacDonald, is called and the ceremony is performed just before mother and daughters arrive. The mother is in a rage over the marriage, when in walks Tucker. Miss Dunn invites him to stay and then prepares to renew old acquaintances. Heggie, thinking he has lost out, tells Tucker he will give his wife a divorce so that they can be happy. Just then officers arrive and Tucker is arrested for selling fake stocks.

From then on Heggie takes the upper hand. He tells his wife where to head in at and brings about a reconciliation between her and the newlyweds.

Notable in the cast is work of O. P. Heggie, who takes top honors. Dunn, Withers and Young are also capable in their roles. Tucker does a heavy role well. The story, while rather trite, has been nicely directed by Mervyn LeRoy.

Musical and good novelties needed here.

Produced and distributed by First National. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. From the play by Martin Flavin. Adaptation and dialogue by Francis E. Faragoh. Edited by John Rollins. Photographed by Sid Hickox. Length, not set. Release date, approximately Dec. 1. Length and running time, not set.

THE CAST

Elaine ..... Loretta Young
Bill Clark ..... Grant Withers
Justice of Peace ..... J. Farrell MacDonald
Mrs. Bumpstead ..... Emma Dunn
Chester Armstrong ..... Richard Tucker
Sam Green ..... Lloyd Neal
Myra ..... Virginia Sale
Cyrus Bumpstead ..... O. P. Heggie
Mabel ..... Aileen Carlyle
Mr. Purdy ..... Tom Ricketts
Ted Jones ..... Frank Darien
Mrs. Quigley ..... Jane Keckley

Opinions On Pictures

Children of Pleasure

(M-G-M—All Talker)

Good Program Offering

(Reviewed by Charles F. Hynes)

THIS picture rated more than a one-day showing on Broadway, but the dearth of outlets shoved it into a daily change, even though films below it in quality sometimes get a week at the Broadway stands. It's a good program offering, nothing big, but with some good acting, which gets over a rather trite story, some tuneful songs and some comedy bits. As program fare it should prove satisfactory.

Lawrence Gray carries the picture, cast as a song writer who nearly marries a rich butterfly. He is a personable hero (he showed that in "Marianne"), sings well and can act. Wynne Gibson is good playing opposite, giving the touch of reality to a far-fetched part. Helen Johnson is the beauty for whom Gray goes for in a big way, bringing to the part beauty and fair acting ability. May Boley and Benny Rubin furnish some laughs. Kenneth Thomson and Lee Kohlmar also contribute good minor characterizations.

Gray, a rising song writer is enamored of an heiress. Their marriage is all set, but the night before it is to be celebrated, Gray learns that the girl considers it more or less of an experiment, and intends to continue her affair with his "understudy." Incensed, he disappears. His co-worker at the office, who has been a sort of big sister to him, agrees to marry him. They have a few rounds of drinks, and next morning Gray believes they are married. The girl, however, had not gone through with the ceremony, and returns the heiress to him. However, his eyes have been opened and he rushes to the office worker as the girl he really loves.

This ending is somewhat in the nature of a mild surprise, and furnishes a kick. Director Harry Beaumont has got all he could out of the rather slender story. The play was "The Song Writer," in which Georgie Price starred. That title, probably, would have been better in getting this over.

Cartoon and scenic novelties with this.

Produced and distributed by M-G-M. Directed by Harry Beaumont. From the play, "The Song Writer," by Crane Wilbur. Dialogue by Crane Wilbur. Scenario by Richard Thayer. Film editor, Blanche Sewell. Photographed by Percy Hilburn. Length, 6,403 feet. Running time, 72 minutes. Release date, April 26, 1930.

THE CAST

Danny Regan ..... Lawrence Gray
Emma Gray ..... Wynne Gibson
Pat Thayer ..... Helen Johnson
Red Peck ..... Kenneth Thomson
Bernie ..... Lee Kohlmar
Fanny Kaye ..... May Boley
Andy Little ..... Benny Rubin

Scarlet Pages

(First National—All Talker)

Very Good B. O.

(Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

AN interesting story, well directed and ably cast marks this talker as an effective courtroom drama. It has all the essential qualities necessary for good screen entertainment and will probably meet with adult approval wherever shown.

Should go well in the week run bookings and will draw in the split week spots. With Marion Nixon and Grant Withers in the cast it will have juvenile appeal, while John Halliday and Elsie Ferguson will draw the older folks.

Director Ray Enright has kept his production moving at a swift tempo all the way through and has developed the story in logical manner. Intensely dramatic, the piece has dialogue that fits, with no lines wasted, something unusual with most talkers of this type. Miss Nixon has a tendency to overdue her hardboiled manner at times, but for the most part is excellent. Miss Ferguson and Halliday divide stellar acting honors, while Withers plays a smaller role with finesse.

The story opens with a child being left at an orphanage by Miss Ferguson. The father's name is not mentioned and the mother forfeits all right to ever getting the child back. Next we find Miss Ferguson as a successful lawyer. It is 20 years later and she is being asked by Halliday, the district attorney, to marry him. She refuses but does not tell him why. They visit a night club where Miss Nixon is a dancer. Next day they read that she has killed her father. Miss Ferguson takes the case to defend the girl, while Halliday is the prosecutor. Nixon refuses to tell the reason for the murder.

The real reason for the crime is traced to the efforts of the girl's father to make her the sweetie of William Davidson, theatrical producer, who holds out the featured spot in a new show as the bait. The girl refused.

During the trial the orphanage registry card, telling who the girl really is, is brought up as testimony. In order to clear the girl the contents are divulged. Miss Ferguson is disclosed as the mother and when this is made clear Nixon confesses the real cause for the murder and is acquitted. Finale brings the mother and daughter together with the girl marrying Withers and Miss Ferguson marrying Halliday.

The story is well told, of course. It has plenty of punch. Subtle touches of humor are woven in among the more dramatic parts and give the picture a nice balance.

Musical shorts, cartoons and comedy needed here.

Produced and distributed by First National. Story by based on stage play by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer. Directed by Ray Enright. Scenario by Walter Anthony. Dialogue by Maude Fulton. Photography, not credited. Length, 5,906 feet. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date, end of September.

THE CAST

The girl ..... Marion Nixon
The mother ..... Elsie Ferguson
The D. A. ..... John Halliday
The boy ..... Grant Withers
Others in cast include: Helen Ferguson, De Witt Jennings, Charlotte Walker and Wilbur Mack.

Wings of Adventure

(Tiffany—All Talker)

Passable Program Film

(Reviewed by Charles F. Hynes)

SOME of it is pretty wild, and the incidents so far-fetched as to bring forth a sigh, but there are some thrills, a few laughs and Armida, Mexican actress, to recommend it. Rex Lease is the hero, handsome and a capable rider. He takes his heroics in matter-of-fact fashion in this. In fact, it's all so easy that he hardly gets his hair mussed throughout. For instance, hasn't he the aid of the U. S. cavalry, which in violation of the nation's neutrality, lays down a barrage into Mexican territory, even before its officers know the identity of the parties they are protecting, and he's allowed to bring the girl across the line with nary a worry over customs or immigration officials.

It's all done in typical "movie" fashion. Lease and his mechanic (Clyde Cook) are flying in a disabled plane, and fortunately coast to a perfect landing on a conveniently-placed field. Then they are made prisoners by bandits and forced to collect the booty in a stickup. The bandits are holding prisoner a Mexican girl for marriage to their insurgent "president." Lease very casually rescues her, the pair taking refuge behind a tree, whose location should have made it one of the first objects of search. Anyway, he gets the girl home, and then goes back to rescue his mechanic, but both are arrested by federals and sentenced to be shot. This firing squad business is terribly done, the bandits arriving as the soldiers have rifles to shoulders. Then Lease returns for the girl, and with her races to the border and safety.

For kids and fans who crave action and are willing to take their hokum laid on thickly.

Run musical shorts and novelties with this.

Produced and distributed by Tiffany. Directed by Richard Thorpe. Screen play by Harry Frazer. Edited by Clarence Kolster. Dialogue direction by Zella Young. Photographed by Arthur Reeves. Length, 5,050 feet. Running time, 70 minutes. Release date, June 30, 1930.

THE CAST

Dave Kent ..... Rex Lease
Maria ..... Armida
Skeets Smith ..... Clyde Cook
La Panthera ..... Fred Malatesta
Manuel ..... Nick de Ruiz
Viva ..... Eddie Boland

The Matrimonial Bed

(Warners—All Talker)

Just Another Farce

(Reviewed by Bill Crouch)

IT has complicated situations that often get very funny, yet "The Matrimonial Bed" somehow misses. Perhaps smoother direction and a more logical development of the story would have given it more punch.

Frank Fay, with his talents placed in the right kind of a role, does very well in a part that demands much. He carries the piece over numerous rough spots and as Leopold, the hairdresser, and Andre the "dead" husband, offers two distinct and pleasing characters. He is capably supported by Florence Eldridge, Lilyan Tashman, James Gleason and Beryl Mercer, in important parts. Marion Byron, Arthur Edmund Carew and Vivien Oakland also are well cast.

When Fay was apparently killed in a train wreck, his wife, Florence Eldridge, married Gleason. Fay, not dead but suffering from amnesia, turns up five years later as a hairdresser. He is brought out of his queer mental condition and discovers what has happened. He finds that his wife has married again and has a child by Gleason. Fay also finds that he has married again and is the father of four boys, two sets of twins. How he straightens out this mess forms the basis of the story and provides many humorous situations. The ending is made rather satisfactory when he pretends to revert to his unbalanced mental state and rejoins his second wife and children.

The picture is nothing more than a photographed stage play. The action is practically all centered in one room and the photography is not all that it should be. The dialogue is not at all times clearly heard. Too much of the development of the story depends upon words rather than action and many good comedy touches that could have been brought out by pantomime are missing. The sequences are in many cases very episodic, and at times the acting is overdone in an effort to bring out comedy values.

Needs plenty of boosting as no real box-office names are listed in the cast.

Good musical shorts and cartoons needed here.

Produced and distributed by Warners. Directed by Michael Curtiz. From French story by Yves Mirande and Andre Mouezy-Eon. Adapted by Seymour Hicks. Length, 6,030 feet. Running time, 67 minutes. Release date, August 16.

THE CAST

Leopold ..... Frank Fay
Soyvaine ..... Lilyan Tashman
Gustave ..... James Gleason
Corine ..... Beryl Mercer
Juliet ..... Florence Eldridge
Susanne ..... Vivien Oakland
The Doctor ..... Arthur Edmund Carew
The Maid ..... Marion Byron

Sons of the Saddle

(Universal—All Talker)

Good Program Western

THEY take the usual liberties with story and situation plausibilities, but except for a few far-fetched incidents, this registers as good entertainment, which will please the action fans. Superb riding by Maynard and his magnificent horse, Tarzan, feature the picture. Maynard is a popular western star whose following should be increased in talkers, for he has the advantage of good looks, a most pleasing drawl, some acting ability and a singing voice that is not so bad.

Opinions on Pictures

In this, Maynard is a ranch foreman, too bashful to woo the girl he loves. And so, he gets his buddy, a young hand, to speak for him. The kid has been keeping bad company, and is discharged by the ranch owner when caught talking to the rustler leader. He joins the rustler band, whose leader is plotting the ruin of the ranch owner and capture of the daughter. During the roundup, the ousted cowboy comes on the scene to give wrong directions to his erstwhile pal, so that the ranch owner can be ambushed and the herd stampeded. Maynard follows the youth to the bandits' hangout, rescues him and both make their getaway only to be surrounded by the bandits, who, believing their quarry killed, hasten to the ambush. But Maynard has sent the trusty Tarzan ahead with a message, and when the rustlers arrive, the outfit is ready for them, besting the outlaws in a brief fight.

Some beautiful scenery, a thrilling fall taken by Tarzan and some comedy feature the picture. Doris Hill is good opposite Maynard and Carol Nye effective as the weakling.

Francis Ford and Harry Todd are other name members of the satisfactory cast. Harry Joe Brown did a good job of directing.

Talking comedies and cartoons suitable.

Produced and distributed by Universal. Directed by Harry Joe Brown. Story by Bennett R. Cohen.

THE CAST

Jim Brandon ..... Ken Maynard
Ronnie Stavnow ..... Doris Hill
Martin Stavnow ..... Joe Girard
Harvey ..... Carol Nye
"Red" Slade ..... Francis Ford
"Pop" Higgins ..... Harry Todd

West of the Rockies

(J. Charles Davis—State Rights)

Terrible

(Reviewed by Charles F. Hynes)

YOUR audience, including the kids and most rabid western fans, will guffaw at this one. It's not meant for comedy, but it surely should hand them a laugh. An amateurish western, which reeks of the early days of picture making, only that it has outlandish dialogue, hardly an asset.

It's an all-around poor picture and the cast is of an inferior grade. Art Mix is the hero. He can ride, but that just about lets him out. Fontaine La Rue appears opposite and certainly can't rate much by her work in this. The rest of the players are uniformly bad and the comedy, so-called, is atrocious. The love scenes are nobody's business.

"West of the Rockies" is the picture's misnomer, with a title telling you that it is a story of and was filmed in Texas. However, what's a little geography, so far as the great open spaces are concerned?

The story concerns the efforts of Mix to trap a band of rustlers stealing his father's horses, and to win the old man's consent to his marrying the daughter of dad's late enemy (dad apparently having bumped off aforesaid enemy). The old man refuses to budge, until the girl tips off the father that the rustler chief is out gunning for the son. Dad leads the cowboys to the rescue.

Some of the dialogue, a mixture of Mexican expressions and out-of-character American slang, is a riot. There hardly seems any excuse for pictures as bad as this one.

If you must play it, plenty of musical shorts, cartoon and novelty support is needed.

Exhibitors' Film Exchange, New York distributor of the picture, found itself too busy to bother about hunting up credits and so informed Motion Picture News. Therefore, this review appears without them.

Way Out West

(M-G-M—All Talker)

Goofy Western; Dubious

(Reviewed by Walter R. Greene)

WILLIAM HAINES' fans will perhaps think this one is okay, but most of the customers will laugh at this in the wrong places. The story starts out with a lot of circus ballyhoo and ballyhoo is what it will take to put this talker over. It is filled with hokum of all types and even a liberal amount of Haines surefire fails to keep it moving.

The tale begins with the smartcracking Haines as a sideshow barker. Playing in a small western town, Bill takes the cowboys for a "ride" on a gyp roulette wheel. When they get wise to the fake they take Bill for a ride into the country and are about to hang him when the foreman of the ranch comes along and suggests that they have Bill work and pay them back what money he has taken from them. This they agree to do and Bill is taken to Leila Hyam's ranch, where he is forced to do all sorts of menial tasks. He does them without much grumbling and intersperses his duties with lots of laugh-provoking antics. The girl falls for Bill and he for her. When she sends him to town to bank some money he faces the test of either running away or coming back to the girl. The latter is decided upon and when called "yellow" by the girl for not telling the other lads where to get off he fights it out with Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Hyam's suitor and gets licked.

When Bushman and the other cowpunchers leave for the roundup Bill decides to make his get-away. As he is leaving Miss Hyams is bitten by a rattlesnake and Bill after operating with a jackknife and removing most of the poison, rushes her to an Indian medicine man. On the return home they become lost in a sand storm and Bill leaves the girl in the car while he looks for the trail. When he returns Charles Middleton, Miss Hyam's brother, has taken her home and Bill is left in the desert. The cowboys, thinking Bill has kidnaped the girl, set out after him. It is here that one of the most absurd parts of the picture takes place. When they find Bill they all start shooting at him as he runs about an apparently deserted Indian village. How they all missed hitting him, is beyond guessing. Bill, finally cornered, fights it out with Bushman and this time he wins. Hyam's brother then appears and tells them that Bill is a hero and not a kidnapper. From then on all is well and the usual clinch precedes the final fadeout.

This story is filled with many ridiculous situations. Too much leeway was taken in putting over some of the gags and the reason for all the chase scenes in the last reel or two will perhaps never be known. Fred Niblo, the director, had a tough story to begin with, but made fair progress with it. Haines does his usual stuff and has little opportunity for anything new. Cliff Edwards and Polly Moran lend comedy touches that are enjoyable, while Leila Hyams, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., Charles Middleton and Jack Pennick are satisfactory in their respective roles.

Musical and cartoon shorts okay here.

Produced and distributed by M-G-M. Directed by Fred Niblo. Story and continuity by Byron Morgan and Alfred Block. Dialogue by Joe Farnham. Edited by William S. Gray. Length, 6,407 feet. Running time, 71 minutes. Photographed by Henry Sharp. Release date, Aug. 2.

THE CAST

Windy ..... William Haines
Molly ..... Leila Hyams
Pansy ..... Polly Moran
Trilby ..... Cliff Edwards
Steve ..... Francis X. Bushman, Jr.
La Belle Rosa ..... Vera Marsh
Buck ..... Charles Middleton
Pete ..... Jack Pennick
Tex ..... Buddy Roosevelt
Hank ..... Jay Wilsey

Flesh Show Route May Be Launched For Warner Chain

Hollywood—Draw of the Larry Ceballos flesh shows reintroduced at Warners Hollywood and Downtown is leading Warners to plan a national presentation chain to buck Fanchon & Marco, Publix and RKO stage shows, it is stated. Ceballos, it is said, would have charge of the circuit.

Under the reported plan, the shows would be produced at the Warner and First National plants and routed from here. Warners now has a string of 13 California houses, with five more building, has been reported as dickering for theatres in the Pacific Northwest and has an Oklahoma City string. The next jump would be Milwaukee and Wisconsin towns and then into Chicago, Ohio, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland and Virginia contain many company houses for other jumps.

Co-op Venture To Resurrect Flesh-and-Blood

Richmond, Ind.—Bringing back "flesh and blood" to the stage and pit is the purpose of operation of the Lawrence here as a co-operative venture. The house, which has been dark 13 months, reopened with musical tabs, stock and short subjects at pop prices. It is the only legit house here, all other theatres featuring sound films.

Fifteen showmen are partners in the venture, which Frank Templin, manager, says is creating positions for 39 people, many of them out of work for some time. Some of the partners were thrown out of work when sound films became the rage.

Speculation Held Cause Of Exchangeman Thefts

Washington—Edgar L. Jacobs, 39, employed at the Paramount exchange for nine years, during the last two of which he has been acting as auditor, has been arrested charged with embezzling funds of the film company over a period of two years and a suit has been instituted against him for $70,000. Garnishments have been filed against five financial institutions in Washington to try to recover some of the money. Jacobs admitted he had used the money to speculate and had been wiped out by a recent Wall Street crash, it is reported he told detective Dennis J. Cullinane, who made the arrest.

Pathe Steps in and Beats Para. on "Rebound" Buy

Hollywood—With Paramount all ready to close a deal for the rights to "Rebound." Pathe stepped in and purchased the stage play. Paramount had expected to star Ina Claire in the vehicle as she is making a decided hit in the local run of the play.

Across the World With the Martin Johnsons

(Talking Picture Epics — Talker)
Serial—Episode No. 1

Sure Fire B.O. Stuff

AFTER seeing this, they're sure to come back for the others. The recent Martin Johnson travel feature has been made into serial form, and a smart decision it was for Talking Picture Epics, because each unit provides sufficient adventure entertainment to build up a strong following among all kids between six and sixty. We believe that the Johnson material is a good deal more interesting in short slices than in its original state of six or seven reels.

Johnson's accompanying dialogue description, and musical synchronization has been effectively "dubbed" with the silent footage taken by the expedition.

The Johnsons, in this first episode, are seen in the South Sea Islands of the Pacific. There thrilly adventures into dark Africa, according to an announcement, will follow. Running time of each, about 20 minutes.

This will go great with a feature comedy.

Let 'er Buck

(Pathe—Talker)

Thrilly

THE boys out at Cody, Wyo., stage their rip-snorting rodeo on Stampede Day, and Grantland Rice's cameraman was on hand to catch the thrills and spills. He turned in an admirable job, both from the standpoint of lens work and sound. There are a dozen good punches.

The rodeo is staged amid a picturesque setting, with towering mountains in the background. Running time, 9 minutes.

Hold this one for your kid shows on Saturday. Comedy feature will go well.

French Kisses

Just Fair

BOBBY AGNEW is an American in Paris, whose girl has a yen for artists. Accordingly, Bobby poses as one, but a model moves in on him causing complications. His valet helps to cover up things when the fiancee arrives with her aunt, and after a lot of running around, quick exits and quicker lying, everything is hunky dory. There are a few laughs. Monty Collins is the valet. Running time, about 17 minutes.

Bolster with plenty of support required.

Bigger and Better

(Vitaphone—No. 925)

Doesn't Click

FANNY and Kitty Watson in a vaudeville turn. The songs are none too hot and the gags old and unfunny. Fanny runs pretty much to weight, and her size makes her somewhat unique as an entertainer. Otherwise, this is flat, small time stuff which doesn't register. Running time, 8 minutes.

Bolster it plenty.

The Marionettes

(Giving Their Impressions of Al Jolson)
(International Talking Pictures—Talker)

Fair Novelty

MADE in England by a famous old Italian family whose ancestors have been in the marionette business for the past 350 years (so an introductory caption states). The Jolson show staged by the miniature figures is natural enough, and songs and musical accompaniment lend an added touch of entertainment. Running time, about 13 minutes.

Run this with a feature which lacks musical sequences.

Short Subjects

Good Time Kenneth

(Radio Pictures)

Punk

MARC CONNELLY in a so-called comedy which will create scarcely a ripple. It's one of the series made at the Gramercy studios, and probably is one of the reasons that plant was closed. Connelly and her conventioneer set out to buy a drink in a New York speakeasy and manage to get pinched in a radio without so much as getting even a weak snifter. Running time, 9 minutes.

It needs plenty of help to get by.

The Operation

(Vitaphone — Talker)

Splendid Novelty

ONE of those rare occasions where a ventriloquist sketch does not bore its audience may be found in Vitaphone's act featuring Edgar Berger, who unquestionably knows his stuff. Coupled with Berger's fine performance goes expert handling to make this one overflowing in entertainment value, and fit for a spot on any bill. Running time, about 11 min.

Use anywhere, particularly where light comedy is needed.

Screen Snapshots

(Columbia — Talker)

Okay

BUCK JONES introduces Patsy Ruth Miller, at home; Raquel Torres on the beach, Alice White greeting a group of flyers, and Joe Brown, Laura Lee, Fred Kohler, William Beaudine and others "on the lot." Entertaining, with a heap of fan interest. Running time, about 9 minutes.

Adaptable to almost any bill. Ideal with a dramatic feature.

I Still Remember

(Advance—Song)

Usual Stuff

CHARLES LAWMAN rendering the name song, as the newest release in the series of song trailers made by Advance. Not suitable for the key first runs, but okay for neighborhood stands. Urge your audience to join in on the chorus. Running time, about 6 minutes.

Book this with your Western kids' show.

Give Me Action

(Pathe—Talker)

Pretty Weak

BILLED by Pathe as a comedy, at times it's hard to tell what this is. Antiquated gags, sloppy sentimentalism, and only fair direction mixed into a dish of mediocrity. Running time, 18 minutes.

Get good comedy to go with this, if you need laughs.

Hot Tamale

(Pathe—Sound Cartoon)

New Gags

SPLENDID cartoon material in this one, with several good wrinkles adding a refreshing touch of newness. The blare of brass is given a rest, and ukelele and guitar arrangements are effectively used as a change. Several good laughs. Running time, 8 minutes.

Almost every bill should have a cartoon. Here's a good one.

Road Knights

(Vitaphone Varieties No. 4,122)

Good Burlesque Novelty

THE hoboes stage a convention and a real party it is. They travel in style, a la boxcar, burlesquing the convention specials of the various societies and fraternal orders. Arriving at their meeting place, an open-air party is held with a tramp master of ceremonies introducing the various numbers, which include some fine hoofing and a men's chorus number which hands a laugh. Running time, 9 minutes.

Good for comedy bill.

"Be Careful With Those Eyes"

(Advance—Song)

Neighborhood Stuff

CHARLES LAWMAN, a pleasing tenor, sings the title song in this song-trailer, which stacks up to be prety fair audience stuff for neighborhood theatres where a strong flavor of that community spirit prompts a lusty chorus to chime in on the encores. Running time, about 8 minutes.

Good on a neighborhood bill, on the spot following a dramatic feature.

Rhythms

(Vitaphone — Talker)

Good Band Number

UNIQUE handling of this one pulls it out of the class of average jazz band numbers. Leo Reisman and his Hotel Brunswick orchestra are featured. The unit has a keen sense of rhythm and record remarkably well. Beautiful scenic shots are used to advantage, while the band set in a silhouette background offers a touch of novelty. Running time, about 15 min.

Use with a straight comedy, or dramatic feature, but keep it away from a musical.

Audio Review, No. 32

(Pathe—Talker)

Entertaining

MORE than the usual average of interest is contained in Pathe's current Audio, which starts off with a slow, although entertaining unit featuring rugmakers at work in old Bagdad, and then running into another marionette show staged by Sue Hastings. The final subject is a pip. Featuring "This Prince Business," numerous old shots of the Prince of Wales are set to appropriate music. The number traces Edward from the age of six right up to the present day. Stills were used where motion pictures were unavailable. Running time, 10 minutes.

Voice of Hollywood

(No. 15—Tiffany)

Good Subject

JOE COBB, youthful Hal Roach player, is the guest announcer in this number of this popular series of Station S-T-A-R broadcasts. Lina Basquette heads the list of celebs Joe introduces, with Mary Pickford putting in a strong plug for the M. P. Relief Fund, and introducing a number of other screen lights. This slows it down somewhat from others of the series, but it's a good subject, nevertheless.

Fits any bill.

Spoor Bergen, Photo Lyte Units Chartered

Wilmington, Del.—Spoor Bergen Corp., listing 3,000 shares of common, and Photo Lyte Sound, Inc., which will manufacture sound equipment at New York, have been incorporated here.

Spoor Bergen Corp. is understood to be affiliated with Consolidated Film Industries, which purchased rights to the Bergen developing process several months ago.

"Mechanics" the Damper on Hot Love Stories

Chicago—The "Sand-witches" skit, which figured in last week's stage show at B. & K.'s Oriental, frequently came off a little ragged. Here's the explanation:

The skit was a beach scene. To add to the impression of vacation leisure, the stage director supplied the "witches" with magazines as they lolled in the background. Time and again the cues for the reading girls to leave the stage were ignored. B. & K. spotted the slips and complained to the stage director. An investigation disclosed that the girls had been supplied with copies of "Love Stories" magazine and, becoming absorbed in a pash anecdote, ignored their cues in order to finish enough sentences to determine whether or not the heroine collected.

By midweek the skit was coming off efficiently. The stage director had replaced the emotion magazine with copies of "Popular Mechanics."

Ban or No Ban, If It Makes the Dough, Fox Books

Chicago—The fancy business done by "White Cargo (banned by the Hays organization) at the Fox Loop house (Monroe), has induced this theatre organization to book the picture into its outlying houses here. The Commercial and Terminal theatres are next on the Fox string to play the British-made picture. Outlying Publix houses, too, completed bookings for "White Cargo" after it became evident that the Fox houses were getting away with it.

The picture, playing here to adults only, gave the Fox Monroe its first 100% gross rating in months.

Gifford Wants "Century"

Freddy Gifford, operator of the West Side Century, has instituted suit in Federal court here to enjoin Publix-B. & K. from using the name Century Theatre for the circuit's recently acquired property at 2820 North Clark Street.

Wabash Ave.—South

JACK KAPP, former director of Brunswick's Chicago recording studios, and genial toastmaster much in demand at local business-men's luncheons, has been named by Warners to head all Brunswick recording activities. Jack's headquarters will be in New York after August 15.

* * *

William Gaxton, debonair actor of "Fifty Million Frenchmen Can't Be Wrong" fame, flipped the Santa Fe Chief here during the past week en route to Hollywood. He will be starred in Warner's productions of the play which, incidentally, will be his first talking picture.

* * *

Blossom Seeley and Bennie Fields, in town for a week's turn on the State-Lake stage, telling romantic-minded reporters the circumstances under which they met each other here ten years ago at the Majestic theatre and decided to be married. "We've danced together ever since," concluded Blossom, making a pass at Bennie.

* * *

The Biltmore, which has claimed without dispute in past years, the reputation of being Chicago's toughest theatre—as far as theatre audiences are concerned—was re-opened by B. & K. last week. The house, formerly Sittners', has been completely rebuilt and re-equipped.

* * *

Olive Borden caused a flurry among local moom pitcher chatter writers by hopping off a train during the week accompanied by Ray Ryan, head of a local printing and publishing house, after a vacation visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fawcett at Breezy Point, Minnesota. Olive relayed the information that she was en route to New York to consider two picture contracts offered her, but would be back in Chi in two weeks.

* * *

The Leighton Co-Operative Industries, chain lunchroom operators, has leased the space formerly occupied by the Cozy theatre at 40 South Clark St., and will remodel and reopen the premises as a lunchroom.

* * *

Essaness Theatres acquired the Chateau (1,700) last week on lease from Albert Fuchs, the builder. It is reported $100,000 will be spent on refurnishing and remodelling prior to reopening next Fall. The lease is for 20 years and is based on a percentage of the gross receipts of the house with a minimum guaranteed rental varying during the period. The estimated rental for the term is $480,000, or an average of $24,000 yearly.

* * *

Eric von Stroheim, wife and 7-year-old son, Eric, Jr., paused here en route to New York, where they have embarked for Vienna. Eric, Sr., revealed that he was once a flypaper salesman in San Francisco; later entering the United

(Continued on page 51)

Chi Cops Cannot Abolish System Of "Pink" Permits

Chicago—The Chicago police department, under supervision of which the city's censorship board functions, has no authority to discontinue the policy of issuing "pink" permits for films which the censors have adjudged to be unfit for minors, according to a ruling submitted by the city's law department.

Acting Police Commissioner John Alcock asked for the opinion in order to determine whether the "adults only" permits could be abolished. The case directly in mind was that of "Primrose Path," a Willis Kent production, which had been refused a white permit by the city's censor board and has been under consideration for several weeks as to its eligibility for a "pink" permit. The censors indicated they would be obliged to pass the picture on an adults only permit. Alcock, seeking to block its exhibition here, sought the opinion with the above results.

Abolition of the "pink" permits would ban an average of 50 productions annually here. Some of the pinks which have played to adults only in recent months in Chicago were "The Divorcee," "Common Clay," "Lilies of the Field," "White Cargo," "Party Girl," "Ladies of Leisure" and "The Cockeyed World." All would have been banned had the "pink" permit provisions not been in existence here.

All Chi Helps Oscar Pile Up That Fortune

Chicago—Oscar Florine maintained precedent by having as his guests at the annual Crystal Lake Country club pow-wow, about half of Film Row's old guard. His guests, the bulk of whom were on the contributing list as far as their host's golf game for the day was concerned, included Felix Mendelssohn, Floyd Brockell, Lou Reinheimer, Jack, George and Harvey Miller, Frank Schaeffer, Tom Greenwood, Bert and Lou Hay and Izzy Slavin.

RKO Midwest Division Opens Confab at Chi

Chicago — An RKO divisional theatre managers' meeting opened at the Drake Hotel here Tuesday with Joseph Plunkett in charge. About 50 managers and assistants from RKO midwest theatres are in attendance at the meeting.

Brockell Will Quit Publix to Head Chi Buying Combine of 100 Houses

In the Good Ol' Days

Chicago—Sol Stasel, operator at the Owl theatre, harkened back a flock of years to the beginning of the Chicago film business in a biographical article published recently in the Chicago "Daily News." Stasel recalled his first theatre job, landed 25 years ago, at the Paris theatre on South State street.

"It was a 300-seat house and admissions were a nickel," he recalled. "Carl Laemmle, who was then a distributor with an office in a ramshackle building on Lake St., supplied us with film. Operators received $12 a week for thirteen hours a day, seven days a week. The present scale is $122 a week for 52-hour weeks."

62 Stands Now Lined Up, With 40 More to Be Added by January First

Chicago—Midwest Theatres Corp. began operations this week as the biggest and what is expected to develop into the most important independent buying and booking circuit in the country. Floyd Brockell, Publex Midwest buyer, whose name has been repeatedly mentioned in connection with the new venture, did not join the outfit, officially at least.

However, Brockell told a Motion Picture News reporter here that he will resign from Publix ultimately and then join Midwest. He will not be associated with the buying circuit until then.

On the initial subscribing list of Midwest are 62 houses. Plans for future expansion, if and when consummated, will add approximately 40 more houses to the list by the first of 1931.

In addition to the 54 named by Motion Picture News two weeks ago, eight new houses were announced as subscribers to the service this week. They are: Joe Stern's three in Chicago; Dittman's three at Freeport; Ben Katzman's Egyptian at De Kalb, and E. I. Bloom's Jackson Park, Chicago.

Brockell will serve as a buyer for the new organization. Lou Reinheimer will also serve as a buyer. The booking end will be handled by Edward J. Mager, formerly of the Dittman organization and well known in Chicago. He will be assisted by Jim Booth, booker for Essaness Theatres, whose string of 16, with the new Chateau added last week, comprises the largest single unit subscribing to the new service organization.

Emil Stern of Essaness Theatres heads the organization, as was stated in an earlier issue of Motion Picture News.

City Pops Vote Dough for Sound And Troubles End

Chicago—An appropriation of $4,800 was voted by the city council finance committee this week for the purchase of sound equipment for the city censorship board's projection room in the South State street police building.

In the past, the censors have been obliged either to view the productions in one of Film Row's projection rooms or else view them silently in the projection room of the police building. In the latter case, after viewing the silent projection, dialogue script in hand, the censors are privileged to cut either film or script.

"Besides being obliged to read 50 pages of dialogue on every feature released in Chicago," said Effie Siegler, chairman of the board, "there is a large number of shorts which we must edit by the script system alone. Our only alternative is to see the picture at the exchanges; strictly on invitation. The new sound equipment will lessen the committee's inconvenience and add to its efficiency."

Sells Chi Territory

Melvin Hirsh, president of the newly formed Syndicate Exchanges, Inc., has purchased from W. Ray Johnston "The Convict's Code" for Greater New York and Northern New Jersey and will roadshow the picture with a special prison front, electric chair display and chain gang in prison uniforms for ballyhoo. Other sales during the week are: the New England states to Herman Rifkin; Kansas City territory to Midwestern Film Distributors; the Chicago territory to Irving Mandel; Ohio to Fred Schram and California to All Star Features, Inc. The picture stars Cullen Landis and was directed by Harry Revier.

Add 2 More to Chain

Gillespie, Ill.—Dominic Frisena and John Giachetto have taken over the Pert and Colonial in Gillespie, Ill., formerly operated by Mr. Frances Peart. Frisena and Giachetto have also added the Pantheon, Springfield, Ill., to their growing string. Teddy Gray formerly operated the Pantheon.

'Von' Admits Bad Temper and a 'Kaiser Komplex'

(Continued from page 50)

States Army, then back to selling, then writing, then the movies, through Carl Laemmle's invitation to direct "Blind Husbands." He admitted there might have been grounds for the criticisms that have been made of him as "an excessively extravagant director and bad tempered individual with an emperor complex." Eric, Jr., said he wanted to be an Army officer and would enter West Point when he comes of age.

* * *

Ernie Grohe, Fox salesman, is recovering from an operation for an infection in his jaw, performed recently.

* * *

Tom Gilliam reports business in downstate Illinois is following the lead established by the crops. (The crops are poor.)

* * *

The 10-year-old son of Steve Benis, Lincoln, Ill., theatre owner, well known here, died recently at his home. Steve is in Greece in the course of a vacation trip abroad.

* * *

Gus Keresotas of the Strand theatre, Springfield, shaking hands along Film Row during the week.

* * *

Tom North to Nebraska to pick up waiting contracts for Van Beuren product out there.

* * *

The father of Tony Caputo, crack sound man on Gene Couer's Pathe news staff here, died recently after a lengthy illness.

* * *

Illinois independent's organization remodelling their quarters in the Gunther building to provide office space for the organization's new buying and booking circuit. Twenty-four houses are now on the subscribing list here.

* * *

Harry Lorch, in New York for the past several weeks dickering with the circuit buyers on the new Pathe product, is expected back about September 1st.

* * *

Myrtle Collins of the Chi exhibitors' association office to Williams Bay, Wis., on vacation.

* * *

Louie Abramson and bride presented with a handsome table service by Universal exchange employees.

* * *

"Holiday," going into the United Artists theatre late this month, will constitue the first Pathe booking the house has had in a flock of months.

* * *

The Gem, being remodelled, will reopen September 1st.

* * *

Max Brodsky resigned as country salesman for the Universal exchange. Universal now has only one country man at work.

* * *

Joe O'Brien, who has been in charge of Pathe news sound trucks on the Pacific Coast, in town this week with Mrs. O'Brien. Both en route to New York, which is to be Joe's future post.

* * *

Mrs. Tom Gilliam to Elizabeth Lake, Wis., for a month's vacation. Tom commuting to the same spot on week ends.

KANE

Wheeze on Fleas

Heard on the "set" where RKO Radio Pictures' "Half Shot at Sunrise" is being filmed:

Bert Wheeler: "What do you do for fleas?"

Robert Woolsey: "Scratch 'em!"

Wheeler: "I wouldn't do anything for 'em, the dirty brutes."

Films Rapped by Youths' Society Backing Censors

St. Louis—Declaring that alleged scenes of crime and immorality do not represent the entertainment choice of American youth, the St. Louis and eastern Missouri branches of the Christian Endeavor union, young people's organization, has launched a concerted drive for passage of the Hudson bill. Pictures, it is claimed in a resolution, have done more to debauch the morals of young people than any other one agency. "Youth everywhere," it is contended "seeks, if left to its own discretion, the cleanest and highest ideals, directly contradictory to the claims of the motion picture industry that we demand such pictures as mentioned."

Night Shots for Secrecy

Hollywood—In order to keep the theme of the picture a secret from the general run of employees in the studio, Roland West is producing "The Bat Whispers" for United Artists entirely at night. The company goes on the set at 6 P. M. daily and works until three the following morning. The picture is said to be a talker adaptation of "The Bat," which was produced on the stage and as a silent picture several years ago.

Samples.. Convince.. Skeptics!!

The only perfect point for Sound reproduction. They are NEW—They are BETTER. Your audience can tell the difference—Silman Points speak for themselves. A generous lot of samples FREE.

—Send today —

Silman Distributing Co.

Sound Equipment and Apparatus

620 Grant Street Pittsburgh, Pa.

THE Projectionists' Round Table

By John F. Rider

(Continued from page 44)

being induced. Since the maximum voltage is being induced when the magnetic lines of force are being cut at right angles and the voltage induced is zero when the coils sides move parallel to the lines of flux, we have a varying state of induced voltage. Refer to Figure 36.

O and P represent the two coil sides revolving in a clockwise direction. As is evident by the dark arrows at O and P these two coil sides when at rest at the positions shown are parallel to the field abd the induced voltage is zero. However, as they move toward the point 1, each has described an arc of 45 degrees as it is beginning to cut the lines at an angle, and the induced voltage is some value greater than zero. As the sides move to the point 2, each side has described an angle of 90 degrees and is cutting the flux lines at exactly right angles and the voltage is maximum. As the sides move beyond this point to 3, they again approach toward the parallel plane and the voltage is again reduced.

Thus, if the coil consisted of only two loops the voltage output would not be constant, but would vary according to the speed of motion. If such a generator were connected to an external circuit the voltage across the circuit or the current in the circuit could be shown as in Figure 37, curve A. By using many loops the voltage or current curve would approximate a straightline as curve B.

Thus, we conclude the mechanical means of generating D. C. emf.

Closes Number of Deals

Sale of distribution rights to "The Woman Who Was Forgotten" in a number of territories and abroad has been completed by Charles S. Goetz, president of States Cinema Corp. Deals include:

Max Levy, Boston; Progress Pictures, St. Louis; M. J. Levinson, Philadelphia and Washington territories; Charles S. Jones and Cecil Maberry, Dallas and Oklahoma City territories; Arthur C. Bromberg, Charlotte, Atlanta, Memphis and New Orleans territories; M. Wintroub, Omaha; Celebrated Players, Milwaukee; Elliott Film Co., Minneapolis; Richard C. Fox, Buffalo, Cleveland and Cincinnati territories; Harry Lande, Pittsburgh and Midwest Film Distributors, Kansas City. Foreign deals include: Showman Films, Ltd., United Kingdom, and Briskin Distributing Co., Africa.

Camden Ball Park For Sunday Games Seen "Blue" Sock

Philadelphia—A new wedge was thrust into the stiff fight for the repeal of the Pennsylvania "Blue" laws of 1794, with the announcement of John D. Shibe, president of the Philadelphia Athletics, stating that the league leaders are considering a 50,000 capacity stadium in or near Camden, for Sunday ball games.

Film men and other entertainment providers are keeping their ears to the ground in the rumpus, which is viewed more or less as a smoke screen in the "blue" laws attack. While the A's project may be possible, it has been pointed out that for the dozen or so home games which would be scheduled, the club would have to draw a capacity crowd of 50,000 admissions to pay for such a stadium. This, of course, is not taking into account the normal liability of bad weather.

Dr. David S. Rhone, Camden's director of Public Safety is in the open opposing the commercialization of Sunday in his city, and pointed out that New Jersey has just as stiff "blue" laws as Pennsylvania although they are not as rigorously enforced. The A's played a Sunday test game in 1926, protected by an injunction, but lost the ensuing case in both the lower and the Supreme courts.

The idea, however, is attracting considerable notice in Philadelphia and the story made first position in all the dailies. The Sunday opening proposition is a pertinent one in this city and popular agitation has been whipped to a degree of interest not approached within years. Film interests are quietly campaigning for open Sunday and are reaping the fruits of aroused popular interest.

Tidden in Film

Hollywood—Another writer and publicity representative has succumbed to the lure of the camera. Fritz Tidden, former trade paper representative and writer, and currently confidential advisor to Clarence Brown, goes into the cast of "The Great Day," Joan Crawford's starring picture which Harry Pollard is directing. Tidden, under contract to Brown, does not even see the salary checks.

New Sherman Contract

Hollywood—Lowell Sherman has signed a five-year contract with Radio. His old contract, which had two years to run, was discarded.

WANTED

Picture house manager for New York State. Splendid opportunity. State all in first letter, reference—experience—salary—address. Apply Box No. 688, Motion Picture News, 729 Seventh Avenue, New York.

Movie Star Rotogravures

Just Out. 25c Sellers. Ready for Framing

Actual Size 2½"x3¼" and 11x14"

Up to 1,000.....5c Each
1,000 or Over.....4c Each

Nancy Carroll, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Maurice Chevalier, Dolores Costello, Bebe Daniels, Conrad Nagel, John Boles, Marilyn Miller, Clara Bow, Ronald Colman, Wm. Haines, Ramon Novarro, John Gilbert, Buddy Rogers, Rudy Vallee, Richard Dix, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Brian, Alice White, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer.

Write for Set of "FREE SAMPLES"

One-Fourth Deposit on C. O. D. Orders.

M. E. MOSS (B) PUB. CO., Hartford, Conn.

CLASSIFIED ADS.

Equipment

THEATRE LOBBY FRAMES—Manufacturer to you; low cost. Gem Frame Company, 2805 Brighton, Kansas City, Mo.

UNIFORMS FOR HOUSE ATTACHES COSTUMES FOR STAGE PRESENTATIONS BROOKS 1437 B'way New York

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

CHARLES E. LEWIS
Chairman and Editor

A National Association of Showmen Meeting in
MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Every Week—for Mutual Benefit and Progress

CONDUCTED BY AN EXHIBITOR FOR EXHIBITORS

"Big Shots"

ONE lesson I have learned on the coast will remain with me for a long time to come. It is the honest fact that the big men in the industry are the ones who are most ordinary in their methods of meeting people.

I have found that the "duds," (those who make a lot of noise and nothing else) are the birds who try to impress you with their importance by making you wait around to see or talk to them.

On the other hand, the man who can carry an important job plus the many responsibilities that go with it, is the man whose office is an open door, where he who has legitimate business will be cordially received without getting the runaround from a half dozen office boys and stenogs.

And so we come to that point of our little chat wherein we would tell you that along the line of our present trip we have met all sorts of showmen. And those who are the most capable and efficient are the ones who are constantly glad to extend a hearty welcome to people who want to see them; be it patron, salesman or trade-paper writer.

There is still imprinted on my mind a theatre near Chicago where I was impressed with the lousy (spelt with two z's) way the house was being run and the sloppy methods of the employees. Since I was out to meet the managers I asked for that esteemed gentleman (what a flatterer I am) and, after being jockied around we were finally told that he was in conference.

So we sat down to rest outside the door until the conferees (two painted blondes) came out of the office. Then it was our turn. Here is a type picture of the busy (??) manager: He was sitting at a messed up desk, all littered with papers and whatnots; he was sorely in need of a shave; his shirt looked like an ad for "Up the Congo" or "See Pittsburgh First Week"; his trousers may have had a crease in them when he bought them; (we didn't see his coat) and he had a terrible aim (we could tell this by the tobacco stains on the wall back of the cuspidor).

And this was the man we had wasted valuable time to see.

He then entered into a discourse on how he was doing everything a good (?) showman could do to put his house over, but it was impossible. They just wouldn't come in. As for exploitation, why such stuff was baloney, he did not believe in it at all.

How a guy like that keeps his job will forever remain a complete mystery to me.

But then Abe Lincoln said something about only fooling the people SOME of the time. It won't be long now!

"Chick."

Table of Contents

¶ Capitol Opening a Success
¶ Earle Holden Had a Funny One
¶ Fields Copped First Prize
¶ "The Showman's Calendar"
¶ "For Better or Worse"
¶ Hyde Had a Corking Display
¶ Simonis Rewarded Club
¶ "Real Showmanship"
¶ "An Exhibitor In Hollywood"
¶ Kenimer Introduced Some Novel Ones
¶ Wasson's Western Ballyhoo Was Good
¶ Weshner's Division Is Active
¶ "Congratulations, Monty"!
¶ Decker and Abendschein a Good Team
¶ Winstanley Also Has a Booster Club
¶ O'Donnell Found Use for Old Tires
¶ Irving Fineman Going Great
¶ Richardson's Novel Marquee Stunt
¶ Jackson Secured Publicity
¶ "Big Town Posters"—By K. Woodward
¶ Phillips Still Selling Them
¶ Wienschienk Tied-Up Bank
¶ Felker Used Some Good Ones
¶ Lake Featured Lobby Putting ¶ A Couple from Lee
¶ "Looking At Lamps"
¶ Larry Goux's Fronts
¶ "Lost and Found"
¶ Lampe Got Publicity Break
¶ Tom Kane's "Ace" Ballyhoo
¶ Elephant Plugged Price Cut
¶ Wallace Believes in Variety
¶ Lou Swee's Heralds Are Effective
¶ Hall Gave Away Ice Cream
¶ R. S. A. Is At It Again
¶ Manning Knows Local Trade
¶ Kraus Displaying Corking Work
¶ Harry Herman's Birthday Register
¶ Davis Reached Spanish Populace
¶ "Latest New Members"!

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Opening Of Capitol In Wallaceburg Was Big Success

Theatre openings and theatre anniversaries are generally occasions for great rejoicing on the part of showmen for it is then that they are able to engineer some stunts that will more than create interest. In the pages of newspaper advertising that we are reproducing below you can see what the live-wire showmen up in Canada do whenever they open a theatre. Lack of space would not permit our setting forth a whole campaign and for that reason we are able only to show these few samples of fine merchandising (through the courtesy of Jack Allen our regional chairman for Eastern Canada).

The cut shows part of the newspaper advertising for the opening of the Capitol Theatre in Chatham, Ont., and the Capitol Theatre in Wallaceburg, Ont. The Chatham Capitol had a special section of the newspaper devoted entirely to stories about the theatre, construction, policy and stories concerning the coming attractions. The house is managed by A. P. Drohan, who is well known to his fellow Club members as a showman who is always on the alert and we know that under his capable management he will continue to boost up good-will stock. The opening of the theatre was attended by the utmost formality, with special invitations being sent out to local celebrities and on the opening night the Mayor was on hand to deliver an address. The local newspaper commented editorially on the opening and pointed out the fact that Chatham, like so many other Canadian cities was progressing in a remarkable manner.

The Wallaceburg Capitol was opened in much the same manner and it is interesting to note that in the full page we are reproducing that a special "personal" note is meant for the patrons of the house, who, according to the ad made the new theatre possible. The campaigns at both these theatres were smashing successes and the residents of Wallaceburg and Chatham were treated to a display of showmanship the like of which they had never witnessed before. We want to congratulate Mr. M. Allen, General Manager of the chain controlling the Wallaceburg theatre, whose efforts were largely responsible for the construction of the new theatre. We also want to extend congratulations to Mr. Arthur Cohen, managing director of the Chatham Capitol, Mr. C. Robson, Eastern Division manager and Mr. A. P. Drohan, resident manager and we believe that those veteran showmen are going to make Canadian theatrical history in their respective districts.

Managers' Round Table Club Section

A publication within a publication devoted exclusively to the interests of the

◆◆ HOUSE MANAGER ◆◆

and all others participating in theatre management, exploitation, publicity and advertising.

The Industry's Clearing House For Ideas!

A GOLD MINE OF VALUABLE "DOPE" EVERY WEEK FOR THE LIVE-WIRE SHOWMAN WHO SEEKS TO GET AHEAD IN A BUSINESS WHERE "YOU HAVE TO GO LIKE HELL TO STAY WHERE YOU ARE"

And our slogan is typical of our organization:

"All For One And One For All"

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Earle Holden Had A Funny Gag For "Anybody's War"

Something that will always command attention is an amusing herald. In fact, anything with novelty to it has them looking and keeps them looking. One form of novelty herald is the pay envelope which carries suitable copy and contains the gag inside. Earle Holden, manager of the Fairfax Theatre in Miami, Fla., used such a herald to plug his showing of "Anybody's War."

He distributed a pay envelope which carried copy reading: "Look Inside! There you'll find a small portion of a priceless charm! It's 'Danger Eliminating Powder!' Sprinkle a little about you, and its mystic powers will protect you from all harm and mishaps! Well, so say—The Two Black Crows—Moran and Mack—Who use the 'Danger Eliminating Powder' as instructed above to guide them riotously through 'Anybody's War'—Paramount's All Riot On the Blackface Front!" The inside of the envelope contained talcum powder.

A great deal of amusement was occasioned when the patrons were handed the envelopes and the smiles on their faces told Holden that they were going to be there with bells on. Thanks, Earle, for passing this one along so that we could hand it to the rest of the Club in the event that some of our members might be looking for just such a stunt.

Moose Jaw Rodeo Enabled Fields To Cop First Prize

Civic affairs have often helped showmen to secure plenty of publicity and good-will for their theatres, so it was only natural that when the time rolled around for the Moose Jaw Rodeo that E. P. Fields, manager of the Capitol Theatre in Moose Jaw, Sask., Canada, would take advantage of it and boost up business.

With prizes being awarded for special fronts, Fields decided that he would enter the Capitol in the contest and bringing his showmanship into play he turned out a front, which we are showing, that won the principal award. The photo does not do it justice as it was painted up to resemble a real picture front of the days when the West was the West and Horace Greeley decided to find out whether the Indians used hair tonic, and when a "hard" drink contained enough T.N.T. to have cows giving sherbet.

As the Moose Jaw Rodeo was a community proposition it was easy for Fields to secure a raft of publicity and he more than cashed in on the angle. All of the newspapers carried stories on the Rodeo and also mentioned the theatre front. And it was especially interesting to note that when the pictures of the cowboy and cowgirl contestants in the Rodeo were "shot" they were lined up in front of the Capitol. The whole affair went over with a bang and Fields was more than satisfied with the results of his efforts.

In conjunction with this story we are also showing a special street ballyhoo that he constructed for "Swing High" in order that you might see how else he keeps the city informed of the Capitol attractions. A jazz band, dressed in clown costume, was hired to ride on top of the horse drawn float, and this medium attracted plenty of attention as did the girl trapeze performer and the "funny man."

We are glad to see that Fields is still displaying that showmanship he is noted for turning out in his part of the country and we are certainly going to take advantage of his invitation to visit the theatre if we can ever stop long enough in one place. However, "E. P.," remember we still want to hear from you and we hope that you will keep us posted so that we can pass along to your fellow-members accounts of what you're doing to keep them coming up to the box-office window.

"The Showman's Calendar"

AN EXCLUSIVE CLUB FEATURE

Check up on these dates each week and see how you can turn them into "money dates" for your theatre.

AUGUST

Aug. 15th	Panama Canal Opened (1914).
Aug. 16th	Bennington Battle Day (Vermont).
Aug. 17th	First Atlantic Cable Message (1858).
	Discovery Day (Yukon Territory).
Aug. 18th	Virginia Dare's Birthday.
Aug. 23rd	First Steamer to Cross Atlantic Launched (1818).
Aug. 31st	Birthday of Queen Wilhelmina (D. E. I.).

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 1st	Labor Day
Sept. 4th	Hendrick Hudson Sails up Hudson.
Sept. 6th	Pres. McKinley Assassinated — 1901—Lafayette Day.
Sept. 9th	Admission Day (Colorado, California).
Sept. 10th	Perry's Victory on Lake Erie—1813.
Sept. 12th	Defender's Day (Maryland) — Pershing begins successful drive on St. Mihiel salient—1918.
Sept. 13th	U. S. Troops take St. Mihiel—1918.
Sept. 20th	Regatta Day (Hawaii).

Can you tie any of the above events into your theatre's activities?

And don't overlook the many local events that are constantly turning up right in your own town, county or state.

Keep an eye on "The Showman's Calendar" for an advance tip on future holidays and events.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

For Better or Worse!

We did a little visiting last week . . . over to a circuit on the other side of the Big City . . . this circuit had just been taken over by another . . . you know . . . one of those mergers . . . where the big guy steps in and starts to make money according to system . . . not according to personal views . . . yes . . . that is just what a good many managers have complained to us about . . . personal views . . . they will say . . . "Joe Filch, the owner's nephew, thinks this should be done . . . and his cousin thinks this should be done . . . and the baby wants a piece of my drape to chew on . . ." . . . then they'll go on and on and on . . . well . . . if that's the case . . . why moan when a circuit takes you over? . . . you don't know anything about the circuit . . . you don't know how they operate . . . you don't know what they consider a showman . . . in fact you don't take time to think about these things . . . you start to wonder what's going to become of you . . . and who's going to take your place . . . did any one tell you that your place was going to be taken? . . . no . . . then what are you moaning about? . . . don't you realize that the circuits are going to have men around town . . . doing a little quizzing here and there . . . and if you've done your work well . . . what have you got to worry over . . . and if you're still doing your work well . . . you won't have time to worry . . . you'll be selling your shows . . . and when the new circuit manager comes around . . . don't think he won't notice what you've been doing . . . one of the most successful circuits in the world to-day is at the same time a most thoughtful one . . . they have system and promotions . . . and their plan is so perfect that every man on that circuit praises it . . . we have never heard one of their managers complain . . . so if you're located in a small town . . . and have been pretty sore in the past because the boss's this and the boss's that bothered you . . . forget all about it . . . because if a big circuit has swallowed up your little house . . . that's not a cause for worry . . . it's a cause for rejoicing . . . opportunity is knocking . . . and if you're as good as you think you are it won't be long before you'll shout, "Come in." . . .

Icy Front Proved Ideal Display For Byrd Polar Film

Threading a needle with boxing gloves on is easy compared to what the showmen have to do when dog days come along and business must be reported as par. But when all shows are merchandised in the manner that Bolivar Hyde, Jr., of the Paramount Theatre in Montgomery, Ala., sells his, then there's no use complaining about the heat because it doesn't make any difference, anyway, at the box-office.

The photos we are showing will give you some idea of how Bolivar sold the city on "With Byrd at the South Pole." In addition to his regular weekly work, he decided that the art work on this picture would be of such a nature that people would have to stand and look at it. And did he do it? The cut will answer the question; and no come-backs. The man responsible for the work, done under Hyde's supervision, is Ted Burnett and we are showing his photo along with this article.

In the right photo of the cut you will notice the crowd of Boy Scouts that Bolivar tied in with the picture. The Scouts paraded to the house carrying banners announcing their destination and plugging the picture. The best part of the whole stunt was the fact that Bolivar was able to stage the parade and it didn't cost the theatre a cent, as the Scouts paid their way into the show. Plenty of word-of-mouth publicity was derived from this source and as a result the film met with with an unusually good reception at the house.

The next show that Bolivar merchandised had them talking, too. It was "The Cuckoos" and the campaign was "the berrics." He tied up with the newsboys of the city and they carried placques on their backs plugging the film. While they hawked their papers they blew cuckoo whistles which had been supplied them by Bolivar. This angle attracted considerable comment and was one of the reasons for the success of the film. In addition to this gag, he also featured a street ballyhoo in the form of an old hack. A man and woman, stage comedians, were hired to drive the vehicle around and commit crazy capers in the main streets of the town. A sign alongside the wagon carried a notice to the effect that "if you think we're cuckoo—see 'The Cuckoos'." On all of the street corners in the city Bolivar placed three sheet cut-outs of the stars in the picture. No matter what part you went to you were bound to see their faces grinning foolishly.

The atmospheric front for this picture was also a knockout, and with so many mediums tending towards success, it is small wonder that Bolivar had the house packed during the playdates.

Simonis Rewarded His Booster Club With Sport Carnival

A way to double the attendance at his Saturday morning Strand Boosters Club matinee was hit upon by Edgar Simonis, manager of the Strand Theatre in Texarkana, Texas, when he decided to feature a special free outdoor sport carnival.

Notices were circulated about town well in advance that all members of the Strand Booster Club would be eligible to enter into one or more of the contests to be staged at the carnival. However, if any kids wanted to join the organization, all they had to do was to fill out an application at the theatre some time during the week.

The program at the carnival was so arranged that it would be completed in plenty of time to get back to the theatre to attend the regular Saturday morning matinee.

Refreshments at the carnival, which were served gratis, consisted of ice cream, coca cola and lemon snaps.

The use of the grounds, the refreshments and two gross of American flags (which were given to the kids) were all promoted without cost to the theatre.

The stunt was a great success and besides gaining the goodwill of the kids' parents, to say nothing of the youngsters themselves, Simonis added over five hundred new names to his Booster Club, which meant that a lot more people were going to hear the Strand name mentioned.

And just to show you that he is well able to take care of the merchandising of any film that plays his house, we want to pass along what he did to put "The Flirting Widow" across.

He printed up a bunch of special heralds, in the form of telephone memo sheets, which carried a cut of a phone on the upper left hand corner. The copy of the sheet stated that "The Flirting Widow" called you while you were out. She said call her at 944.

The messages were distributed about the town, under doors, in letter boxes and offices. As a result over three hundred answers came in, and as would be expected the person calling up was in for a sales talk on the picture, that was given in such a way that he, or sometimes it was a she, was sold on the film. This gag can be used by you, too, and when handled properly should cause no friction, but be productive of a good many laughs and additional business.

We want to thank Simonis for passing along these stunts to us and we hope that he is going to be as active a member as his fellow showmen in Texas. How about it, Edgar?

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

AN EXHIBITOR IN HOLLYWOOD

Know Your Theatre

That caption just about describes a point which we have pounded home so often that it's a wonder some of the boys didn't shout, "Lay off, Chick." But bellyache just as much as you want to. When it comes to keeping a beautiful theatre beautiful, let Les Fountain, San Diego manager for the Fox West Coast houses, show you how it's done.

Many's the house we've wended our weary way through. And many's the time we left, after the weary wending process, with a heavy heart and a feeling that many managers should practice the gentle are of portering, just to see how it's done. Which about covers the points in question. Namely, keep your theatre clean, but don't confine the cleaning energies just to the portions which are seen by the patron.

We arrived in San Diego in the evening, and ambled over to the California Theatre where United Artists were showing a studio preview of Abraham Lincoln." The preview was almost over, so we waited for the show to break, then looked the house over.

From the California we drove over with Les Fountain to the Fox, the newest and largest of the group. Once again we voted the Franklin houses the finest we have ever set foot in, so far as circuits are concerned. And was Les proud of that house! Nothing would please him but that we should stroll around and look the "shooting gallery" over, and indeed the pleasure was all ours, as far as we were concerned. Every nook and cranny, each room, whether located up in the hanging ceiling or down in the sub-cellar, was spotless and kept so neatly and attractively that you would almost believe you werein some one's living room.

We have a great respect for good showmen capable of selling their attractions and running their theatres, but that respect multiplies a thousand fold when we run into a manager whose theatre is so immaculate that he gets a marvelous kick out of looking it over himself. We all have plenty to learn, and, believe it or not, start taking lessons in this important phase of showmanship (call it what you like) involving the proper maintenance of a theatre, especially above and below the auditorium.

Ocean City or Bust

A perfectly proper caption for this part of our travel-fest. 'Cause, if we were ever to leave the Pacific Coast without a "hello" to Tommy MacDonald, the trip could immediately be considered a "flop," and that's the Gawd's Honest Truth, sahelpmehannah. But lady luck was sort of kicking me in the shins so far as visiting was concerned and I had almost despaired of ever getting down Ocean City way to see Tom. However, freak fate took a hand and Mrs. Chick spent an afternoon with Mrs. Jack Bachmann (whose hubby is associate producer for Paramount) and then called me to come over and bring her back to the hotel. Well, to make the story brief, when I arrived to take her home the Bachmanns would not hear of anything other than our remaining for dinner (and make believe I didn't pack in the food) and after dinner we had to accompany them to the Dome Theatre in Ocean City.

I had to smile to myself when I thought that, despite all my efforts to spend a little while with Tom, this had to be the way it was brought about. But, hell, what difference does it make how one gets to do anything so long as it gets done.

Enjoyed the few moments with MacDonald and I'm sure he understands that, had it been possible, I would have liked to spend much more time with him. Great boy, Tommy, and what a showman!!! He knows how to handle those customers and how to make 'em like the old nickelodeons. Maybe that's the reason why they rate him so highly on the West Coast Circuit. But, at least, I was able to get Tommy's promise that he would once again become the same old active Club member that he was before they started jockeying him all around the town. And those of you who recall his past activities on these Club pages will have something pleasant, and profitable, to look forward to. Righto? Durn tootin'.

It's a Real Education

From what I have observed around Hollywood, particularly in the various studios, I would urge every exhibitor and showman in the country to try and visit the movie capital at least once. But for an education and diversion, here is where your wandering steps should take you so that you can see with your own eyes the immense industry in which YOU are an active and necessary part.

With the varied background of being mixed up in some part of show business or other, since I was thirteen, I still have failed to realize what goes into those pictures I've exhibited in the theatres I haev operated during the many past years. You must see for yourself the gigantic organizations, the tremendous amount of planning and detail to appreciate what must happen before you can show THAT picture in your theatre for whatever the b. o. results might be. Sometimes they will be good and more often they will flop. But that's been the destiny of the picture business from the time it started and we would never believe we were awake were we to start running all b. o. wows. The shock would be far too great for any of us to stand.

Promote yourself a little vacation; no doubt your exchange managers can fix you up with a little letter that will pass you into the studios and then just stroll around and see these immense cities within cities. The working population of any one of the bigger lots would exceed many a town or city in these here United States of Democrats.

But one thing you can depend on. After you have drifted around the city of Hollywood, you will have a greater respect for those things you are paying heavy dough to run on your screens. And, what's more, it will be an inspiration and source of satisfaction to know that you form some part of the giant machine called the movies. We may all be part of that giant machine, but all too often we're such darned small gigs that it's a wonder we are visible to the well-known naked eye.

Believe it or not; it's a business. But WHAT a business? Ouch ! ! !

Hollywood Theatres Impress

It might be a good idea to summarize my reactions to the theatres out in this part of the Pacific Coast. First, they are decidedly different, as compared to the theatres back east. Classifying New York, Chicago and Los Angeles, I would start out by saying that New York gives you all sorts of theatres, advertised in all sorts of ways, and with all kinds of shows. Chicago gives you an over-abundance of de luxe houses, and over-abundance of too many and too large, electric signs, a continuous procession of specially built fronts for each and every change of program, and a decided lack of exploitation. Los Angeles and Hollywood gives you a high-class run of theatres; far more efficiently run, from the standpoint of service and organization, beautiful, but not top-heavy lobby displays and a fire brand of entertainment.

Which might lead you to suspect that I'm not being loyal to little old New York. Well, maybe not, but, in my estimation, these theatres out here have it all over those in the East from practically every angle. If you don't believe it, just ask any one who's been out here about the Chinese, Warner Bros.' Hollywood, Pantages, Orpheum, etc., etc. Their answer is sure to convince you of the point I am trying to get across to you.

As for the physical operation of the theatres themselves, there is nothing to be desired. Just as I raved about Les Fountain and the West Coast houses in San Diego, so I should rave about everyone of the other houses wherever I've visited in this part of California and to the men who are responsible for the maintenance of these houses must go a vast amount of credit.

Hide & Seek With Landy

Of all the circus acts ever staged in good (?) old Hollywood, none can compare with the Hide and Seek games put on between George Landy and yours truly. It was one of those freaks of nature, whereby he was always a jump ahead or behind me and ditto when the tables were reversed.

However, one morning the appointment (for the sixth time) was arranged and so I was up bright (don't make me laugh) and early (ditto) and awaiting news of the coming of Georgie. Soon the phone rang. Walter's melodious voice announced, "Latest news from the front; Landy has been detained and will arrive a half hour late." "Oak, Walter," says I; "we shall sit tight and trust to luck." And so our patient waiting continued, all the time we were conjuring up mental pictures of what this boid Landy would look like. We pictured him as another Frank Whitbeck. Then again we visualized him as a second Harold Franklin. Another view made him look like—but, Ah, wait, the phone rings again. "Hello," says we. "Hello yourself," says the other end. "Mr. Landy has arrived."

My Gosh, they call him "Mr." Landy; that sounds rather bad. I suppose he will expect me to up and bow all over him. So I took a last look in the mirror and sleeked back my golden (blah) hair and started for the office.

There, chatting merrily, was an ordinary, regular guy, who was introduced to me as "Chick," meet George Landy. And does George give me the glad hand? "You tell 'em, baby, 'cause I stutter."

Now I ask you? What greater honor can I bestow on any publicity man than to start off his introduction in this article as I have with Landy. But that's the way I wanted to introduce him. He knows show business, eats, sleeps and drinks his pet hobby—publicity—has earned the respect and confidence of the men he is working for, and is loyal to the core. Which is damned sight more than we can say for a lot of bozos in the racket. He's a hard-working demon and is entitled to all of the fine rep. he has. More power to Landy and we wish him lots of luck. (But don't forget your promise, G. L. The Clu bpages need your stuff.)

Whitbeck Provides the Last Touch

I don't just know what would have been a more fitting "good-bye" to the movie capital than that provided by Frank Whitbeck's Dead Line story in the West Coast house organ, NOW. I don't dare try expressing myself in print because some one is apt to accuse us of starting a mutual admiration society, but if you've read the marvelous tribute Frank paid the Round Table Club, then you really understand why I "emote" this way all over the page. Frankly speaking, I don't know of any other source from which I could welcome such a tribute to the Club than from Whitbeck. For years he has typified, to me, the last word in high-powered theatre publicity. I could live for weeks in what F. W. had to say and there are a thousand others just like me.

It constitutes one of the high-lights of my trip and I will never forget a line of it.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

REAL SHOWMANSHIP!

A point called to our attention recently was that of the free band concerts which are given in the city parks in nearly every small town in the country.

From what we understand, a number of showmen in various parts of the States have suffered a drop in business on the nights when the concerts were given, and, in an effort to combat the situation, they have been bringing their showmanship into play through various mediums.

For those members who are confronted with a problem of this sort, Paul Witte, manager of the Lincoln Theatre in Decatur, Ill., passes along a stunt that he used in an effort to guard against too great a business depression.

He approached the backers of the free concert and broached the idea that he supply them with a singer to render some of the numbers played by the band. The backers were very enthusiastic over the offer and they immediately accepted. Witte secured a girl, who, for the publicity alone, volunteered to sing the theme songs of the current and coming attractions at the Lincoln. TO MAKE SURE THAT THE CROWD WOULD KNOW WHEN THE PICTURES WOULD PLAY HIS HOUSE, HE SUPPLIED THE GIRL WITH A LARGE MEGAPHONE, WHICH HAD THE THEATRE'S NAME AND PLAY DATES PAINTED ON THE SIDES.

Kenimer Introduced Some Novel Angles Into Show Selling

Chalk up another one! Guy A. Kenimer, manager of the Palace Theatre, a Sparks house in Jacksonville, Florida, added another profitable campaign to his list of smartly exploited pictures by strutting his stuff in great style to sell Marion Davies' "The Florodora Girl" to his patrons.

Concentrating first on his lobby, he dressed it up by constructing a special panel board which carried the review given the film by the cinema critic of Liberty magazine. The front page of the magazine and the page carrying the review were prominently displayed, with a large arrow, labeled with copy, pointing out the highlights. He made up a special trailer which preceded the regular sound trailer, that carried a flash of the Liberty front page and faded into the review. Giving Liberty this break won a tie-up with the local distributor who inserted a stock herald plugging the magazine and the review in three thousand copies which went out a day prior to opening.

After looking over the Liberty review, Guy decided that since he wanted the job to be complete in every detail, he'd treat his patrons to a real trade paper review. And (pardon our blush) the trade paper review he selected contained the comments of the Motion Picture News reviewing staff. The review was made up in trailer form and was shown in five of the Jacksonville houses.

This much completed, Guy next turned his attention to the newspapers. He inserted an ad to the effect that he wanted to obtain clothing of the "Gay Nineties" period, to be used in advertising the picture. The ad was productive of a veritable shower of clothes, thirty and forty years aged, many of which held historic value which was seized upon by the newspapers for human interest stories. The costumes were displayed in two of the city's largest department stores. An exclusive women's wear shop featured, in their window, a dress of the halcyon days, purported to have cost $2,000, and the store, being located in one of the busiest sections of the city, crowds swarmed about the window all day long looking at the exhibit.

A tie-up with one of the local newspapers enabled Guy to inaugurate a contest in which he offered prizes for the best and most unique photographs of the Gay Nineties submitted. This brought hundreds of responses and the winning photos were placed on a panel board in the lobby of the theatre. We are showing a photo of it so that you can see how Guy added class to the stunt. A great deal of interest was displayed in this angle and persons flocked about the board looking at it.

For his street ballyhoo Guy sent out a tandem bicycle, manned (or rather, "man-ed" and "woman-ed," as the photo explains) by a boy and girl. The tandem toured the downtown section, and the boy and girl in their gay costumes were the objects of more than passing attention. The bicyclists rode about the city, stopping here and there to eat and drink. Another boy and girl, in similar costume, walked around the town plugging the film. The boy carried a sign on his back and the girl a large fan. Guy also covered the beach by having a couple wearing the bathing suits of yesterday parade about the sands, attracting plenty of attention and comment from the 50,000 people who were disporting themselves.

The newspapers were very generous on this picture, particularly since Guy had covered a lot of "news" angles. Besides a feature story each day, he also secured a four-scene still in four-column special layouts for four days in advance. The papers also ran a special picture, which we are showing of Guy and Bill Krause, manager of the local Empress theatre, mounted on a bicycle. There was also a four-column reproduction of a program of the original Florodora performance, supplied by a Jacksonville woman who saw the show.

All of these stunts, which incidentally included other gags such as door hangers, etc., tended to interest the natives in the picture and as a result Guy's house came in for one of the healthiest week's business in some time. We want to thank him for passing his work along to us and we hope to have more of it very soon.

Wasson Featured Western Ballyhoo As Picture Plug

To show his town that he likes to do things in a big way, Lionel Wasson, manager of the Paramount Theatre in Omaha, Nebraska, decided to go a stunt five better, and instead of using one cowboy to plug his showing of "The Border Legion," to use half a dozen of them, all mounted.

These six cowboys were costumed in colorful western chaps and silk shirts. They wore bandanna handkerchiefs as masks across their faces. One carried a banner on a pole stuck in the steer of his saddle, announcing the current attraction of the Paramount Theatre. The horsemen stopped on street corners where two of them dismounted and did roping tricks for the entertainment of the crowds gathered to watch the ballyhoo.

Being a real western town, and of course, being real western natives, the residents paid especial attention to the ballyhoo and they heartily applauded the roping tricks. Of course, having evidenced so much interest in the street ballyhoo, it was a pretty sure bet that they were going to go in and see a western picture; so the expenditure of the stunt was more than paid for in the increased business during playdates.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

"Skip" Weshner's Division Turning Out Great Work

The latest innovation—a department store in a theatre! Sounds incredible? It's not. And if you want proof of it all you need to do is to take a run over to the Branford Theatre in Newark, N. J., and right on the mezzanine floor you'll see the things that we are reproducing in the cut accompanying this story.

The gag was used as a plug for the cooling plant at the theatre and was the idea of a bunch of live-wires assigned to the Warner Bros. publicity office in the New Jersey zone. The cases placed on the mezzanine plugged everything from an electric fan to clothing, and from the number of persons gazing at the merchandise displayed in the cases it looked as though the department store was in for some biz.

On the opening day of the exhibit the Kresge Department store broke with large display ads in all of the Newark papers. Space was devoted to the exhibit and the attractions at the Branford and the ads were all on the same lines as the one we are reproducing. According to the dope we have on hand, this stunt, the first of its kind ever pulled on the Jersey shore, will be run for a month, with frequent changes of the merchandise in the cases. Just as a suggestion, though they may already be taking advantage of it, we think that a couple of cut-outs of stars stuck in the cases plugging golf togs and shirts, etc., will do a lot to put the Branford's coming attractions over. But then, you know we aren't over in Jersey and can't tell what the arrangement might be regarding a slant of this sort, since it doesn't seem likely that these showmen would pass up any angle to plug their pictures.

The booths had the careful attention of an interior decoration specialist who spent a lot of time on the mezzanine figuring out the best way to put the things across. This stunt marks a new order of things showmanlike over on the Jersey side and we don't doubt but that it will be used again.

CONGRATULATIONS, MONTY!

Since he made so fine a record for himself at the Lefferts Theatre in Brooklyn and the Cross Bay in Ozone Park, L. I., it seems to us that Monty MacLevey deserves his recent promotion, which we are pleased to announce in our pages, as field publicity man for the Brooklyn and Long Island division of the Fox Theatres.

In his new position Monty is working under the direct supervision of Samuel Rinzler, the Division Manager who is known all over the circuit, as a real showman and a "square shooter." This, of course, leads us to conclude that Monty is certainly going to add to his already goodly store of showmanship, for from what we know personally of Rinzler, we can make this prediction.

We want to congratulate Monty on his latest assignment and we are sure that if he continues the live-wire show selling that has characterized his past performances he will be well on the way to a still higher step.

Walter Decker And Abendschein Sold Town On Special

With the combined forces of Walter Decker, manager of the Opera House in Frederick, Md., and A. M. Abendschein, manager of the Tivoli Theatre, the town was bound to see some corking showmanship in connection with the special "Family Month" stunt put on at the local Warner Houses.

Among their many activities was listed a special "Father's Week," "Mother's Week" and a number of novelty nights. One night Abendschein would invite the local physicians and nurses to be his guests at the house and the next night, Decker would follow suit. The same stunt was repeated in connection with the members of the city police force who were invited to attend any theatre with their wives. On a number of days, gifts donated by the local merchants were given away and this served to stimulate interest in "Family Month."

As Abendschein's wife teaches dancing, he arranged to present the pupils on the stage of the theatre in a half-hour recital and this, too, served to liven up interest and make people take more interest in the many events scheduled by the two showmen to keep Frederick cognizant of the fact that there were a couple of fine shows being presented right in their midst.

In connection with almost every picture, special heralds were gotten up and one that struck us as being pretty good was a card that Decker used for "The Runaway Bride." Copy on the card read: "REWARD FOR RUNAWAY BRIDE—MARY ASTOR agreed to be my bride and we eloped. We registered at a hotel before the knot was tied, and, for good reason I locked her in her room. She escaped and went to live with LLOYD HUGHES. I WILL NOT PAY $1,000 IN CASH but will reward you handsomely with genuine entertainment if you will come to Warner Bros. City Opera House, etc." The heralds made a big hit with the town and proved to be excellent business getters. Still another angle that met with favor was a plan used at both theatres whereby all of the local men who were at the time about to entrain for army summer training camps, were invited to attend the show with their lady friends and receive a free admission with every paid one.

With so many novel gags working to bring in business for them, Decker and Abendschein reckoned that they would be able to hand in a good report on "Family Month" and we are happy to say that when they figured up at the end of the month and noticed the reams of publicity, good-will and additional business they had received their expectations were more than fulfilled. We hope that these two showmen will keep us posted on their future work so that we can pass it along on the Club pages. How about it, Walter? And you "A. M."?

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Booster Club Is Clicking For R. W. Winstanley Also

One way to insure word-of-mouth publicity is to follow the plan conceived by B. W. Winstanley, manager of the Saenger Theatre in New Orleans, La., when he organized a Booster Club among the children under twelve years of age.

All that was necessary to become a member of the newly-formed organization was to pay 5 cents for a button, pledge yourself to boost the Publix-Saenger shows as being the best in town. The wearing of the Booster button also permitted each kiddie to attend the Saturday morning matinee at the price of ten cents.

To shove off on the right foot for the first organization meeting, Winstanley arranged with the Junior Police Band, composed of sons of members of the Police force, to have them parade to the theatre as well as play several numbers from the stage. The kids also saw the regular show including the feature picture, stage show and in this instance, Nick Lucas, stage and screen star, in person. They also received chocolate candy which was another inducement for their being present.

After these treats the kids were more than willing to go about the town plugging the shows, especially since they had future parties in view. We are glad to note that Winstanley is keeping up that live-wire showmanship he is noted for and we hope that he will continue his interest in the Club by keeping us posted on his work.

Discarded Tires Were Pressed Into Use By O'Donnell

With a "nut" picture like "The Cuckoos" to merchandise, it didn't take G. E. O'Donnell, manager of the Columbia Theatre in Baton Rouge, La., long to decide that the best way to do it would be through "cuckoo" touches.

Accordingly, 2,000 coin envelopes printed on one side, "CUCKOO FOOD," and sales copy on the other were distributed to the University and High School students as well as being placed in stores, restaurants, pool rooms and office buildings.

The envelopes contained a few grains of bird seed. Copy on the other side read, "Mad wags of RIO RITA hurl giant bolts of laughter in the dizziest riot of slapstick fun ever brought to the screen!—Wheeler and Woolsey—The Cuckoos—Coming to Columbia—A Publix Theatre—Sunday and Monday."

O'Donnell had the lobby fixed up in a most appropriate manner that undoubtedly helped to sell tickets for the attraction. The front of the box office was turned into a huge tree with branches extending in all directions. A large nest was placed in the branches of the trunk—seven feet from the floor. An old-fashioned cuckoo clock was placed above the box office directly above the nest. Paper was crumpled to represent bark on the tree trunk and cut-out heads of the comedy stars were placed on the two front frames.

But O'Donnell's showmanship is also called into play by other mediums, too. Take, for example, the time he made excellent use of several discarded and worn out automobile tires by bringing them into play as part of his campaign for "True to the Navy."

Four of the old converted auto tires were hung under the marquee in the center. These tires were covered with white cloth and lettered with cut-outs of Clara inside the tire.

Eight other old auto tires—similarly treated to represent life savers—were hung around the outer edge of the marquee. These tires carried copy, "Str. TRUE TO THE NAVY" at the bottom with a Clara Bow head placed in center.

The front of the box office was constructed to represent a gun turret with two cannons eight feet long and ten inches in diameter. Large globe in the end of muzzle gave the effect of a gun flashing.

These few stunts form but a small part of the merchandising done weekly by this enterprising showman, and since he has now been represented in our pages we feel that he is going to become very active. We'd like to have your picture, too, "G. E.," so that we can run it in conjunction with your next contribution.

Irving Fineman Is Securing Business By Novel Stunts

We figured that when Monty MacLevy was transferred from the Cross Bay Theatre in Ozone Park, L. I., that his successor would certainly have to step on it to fill the job Monty vacated and we are certainly happy to state that Irving Feinman, who has been managing the house for some time now, is certainly turning out some great stuff.

One peculiar thing about Irving's show merchandising is the fact that he very seldom pays any money out to advertise his attractions. He ties up the local merchants and they pay for his exchange heralds, special heralds and any other novelties that will be of mutual benefit. Take his campaign on "Behind the Make-up." As the photo shows, you can see how effective his street ballyhoo proved to be.

A man dressed in clown costume was hired to ride a bicycle about the town. He would stop at all of the busy sections and perform tricks at the conclusion of which he would pass out heralds. A sign on his back plugged the picture and a local merchant who was co-operating in the stunt. The merchant paid for thousands of the heralds as well as splitting the cost of the bike rental and the clown costume.

When he played "The Love Parade," Irving made up a novelty herald in the form of a cut-up puzzle. A jumbled picture of the stars was placed alongside a regular picture and the holders of the heralds were invited to try and paste the pieces together to achieve the complete effect. The local merchant co-operating with Irving on this plan, gave away three grand awards and Irving followed with an offer of free tickets to the theatre. The merchants paid for 10,000 of the heralds and the final results proved that they did a lot to keep business going heavy for run of the picture.

Another angle that made a great hit with the kids and helped to boost up kiddie biz. on the Saturday matinees, was the distribution of candy banks which were given by one of the merchants. The banks, twenty-five in number, were handed out to holders of corresponding numbers which were called off from the stage. The stunt went over like a million bucks on the first Saturday and the next week found the kids storming the doors to get in, so the word-of-mouth publicity that resulted from the first week was found very effective.

We want to thank Irving for keeping us posted on what he is doing and we know that by continuing his peppy work, he will find himself ranked among the best showmen.

LOUIS ORLOVE Says:

Your NEWS is just like a letter from home to me as every time I open up your magazine I see all the familiar faces such as William L. Hendricks and Rudy Kuehn.

Manager,
Uptown Theatre,
Milwaukee, Wis.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Richardson Erected Tree On Marquee As Picture Plug

With H. L. Richardson batting them out at Fort Plain, N. Y., it was a sure thing that the townsfolk were going to be treated to some fine showmanship, from the minute he set out to merchandise his shows. Read what he did to exploit his latest.

When "The Cuckoos" romped into the Fort Plain, Richardson decided that he was going to use a novelty front which would make everyone in town sit up and take special notice and the first thing he did was to get a piece of beaver board and set to work to fashion a "cuckoo" front.

In the photo we are showing you will note how he made good use of the beaver board by constructing a tree, painted and varnished, as a setting for a cut-out which was made from a three sheet. The finished product showed Wheeler and Woolsey, the stars in the picture, grinning crazily from their lofty perch. But the whole laugh of the gag was the fact that directly behind their heads, Richardson had concealed a Victrola, connected an amplifier to it and was using the "cuckoo" record supplied by the exchange.

Residents of the town, passing by the theatre were regaled by the crazy laughter of the record and it surprised them so much that they would stand for some time and listen to it. This was the first time that the stunt had been engineered in the town and it met with immediate favor. All day the record was kept running, being shut off only after the show had started.

You may wonder why the flags are placed on the marquee, so we'll tell you that it was the Fourth of July celebration picture, as well as a special "Cuckoo Week." We want to thank Richardson for passing this along to us and we hope that we will hear some more of his live-wire work shortly.

J. Jackson Landed Publicity For House With Austin Auto

The advent of the new Austin car was the pay-off for Jack Jackson, publicity director of the Saenger Theatre in New Orleans, La., to step out and grab off a flock of publicity for his house.

The agency distributed 2,500 printed heralds from their salesroom—voicing Ben Black's (Master of Ceremonies at Saenger) opinion of this new small car; bannered seven of their autos advertising "The Devil's Holiday," and paraded the downtown streets for one hour Saturday morning with the entire stage personnel in the cars; used a one-sheet in their salesroom; planted pictures of their car with the theatre's principals in the auto sections of the Sunday papers.

The agency also paid all expenses of banners, cars, photographs, heralds, etc., in return for the privilege of Ben Black using one of their cars for his entrance in the stage show.

No advertising credit was given for this by the theatre other than allowing the auto distributors to carry display advertising to the effect that the car was being used by Mr. Black.

Jackson also effected a tie-up with the American Bread Co., whereby they distributed samples of Merita Devil Food Cake in the lobby. In return for this privilege, the bread company distributed 60,000 9 x 12 heralds in their bread, current with the showing of the picture and handled 500 14 x 22 window cards in the windows of their dealers—calling attention to the distribution of the samples at the Saenger. All this without cost to the theatre.

These stunts, typical of the work being tried out by Jackson are only a small part of his merchandising and since he is one of our active members we know that the future issues will be productive of many fine slants on his show merchandising.

PAGING SOME "LOBBY LAFFS"

Dick Kirschbaum is sorely in need of suggestions for the "Lobby Laffs" series and knowing how popular these cartoons are with our readers, we are broadcasting this request right off the Club pages.

If you stop to think for a moment or two, undoubtedly, you will recall some funny incident that occurred around your theatre and could be converted into one of Dick's "laffs."

"Keep Your Sunnyside Up" and let's all get some fun out of this series as long as Dick is good enough to do the cartooning for us.

M.R.T.C.

Big-Town Posters!

Life and color in theatre fronts are, undoubtedly, of great importance, but when you add to those two essentials, beautiful art work, you are accomplishing for your theatre exactly what the big deluxe houses are for theirs.

We have featured many pages of fine art work in the theatre and feeling that such material can be of immense value to progressive showmen the world over we continue to pass along, as fast as we can secure them, additional reproductions. This week we are showing the type of poster work being turned out by K. Woodward, manager for the Penn State Amusement Co., in Uniontown, Pa. We are not certain, but we have an idea that the gentleman standing beside the "Song Of The Flame" poster is Woodward in person. Are we right "K. W."?

These particular posters are turned out by Woodward's own theatre staff, through the use of a poster design service which enables him to have everything but the lettering made up by any one of the boys working around the theatre. Seems like something of a similar nature appeared on our pages only a short time ago from out Pennsy way. All of these displays are in bright and attractive colors which, unfortunately, cannot be shown here, but with a little imagination you ought to be able to figure it out for yourself, and if you would like to duplicate this sort of stuff we are certain that friend Woodward would gladly pass along all the dope and tell you how he can give his house a million dollar front for a couple of cents a day. Sounds almost like a fairy tale, but we happen to know it's the truth.

Send us some more of your poster art work "W" and we'll pass it along to the rest of our interested gang of members and readers.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Ralph E. Phillips Continues To Sell Them By Fine Work

Nothing less than a couple of earthquakes and things of like nature could stop Ralph E. Phillips, manager of the State Theatre in Chattanooga, Tenn., from merchandising his films; for despite the heat he is still bringing them into his house.

The reason for Phillip's steady business is the fact that he exploits his shows in such a manner as to keep interest pepped up from day to day. In one of the photos we are showing, you can see the novel ballyhoo that helped to sell the "Florodora Girl" to the town. Phillips dug up the old model auto and hauled it over to the State where it was placed in front of the house, constituting a display that created a lot of comment. Effective selling copy was placed alongside the car.

Another campaign stunt that went over successfully for Phillips was the gag he pulled on his merchandising of "The Border Legion." In the left photo of the group, we are showing, you can get an idea of the trick. A large cut-out of the star in the picture was placed alongside a dummy horse. The dummy horse was an immense affair and proved to be the subject of lots of comment. In addition to this stunt, Phillips also had a cowboy ride around the streets, as a ballyhoo for the feature. So that you may see the sort of art work that is turned out at his house, we are showing you a couple of photographic samples of it. His art work, done under his supervision, is always up to the latest standards in display work and occasionally he works in an angle or two that has the city talking.

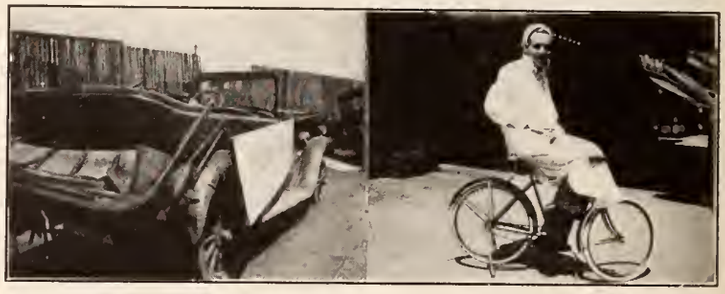
Turning out work such as the above, it is small wonder that Phillips is keeping the house way above par during the summer and we know that he is going to keep us posted on the many angles he covers to keep business the way it is.

Wienshienk Used A Bank Tie-Up To Plug Attraction

Working on a showman margin, I. Wienshienk, manager of the Majestic Theatre in LaSalle, Ill., cornered the town with his exploitation campaign on "Caught Short," and as a result his box-office stock leaped up to amazing heights.

One of his first moves was to arrange a window and counter display at a local bank. He placed a cut-out figure of a man with a movable arm, pointing at a sign, built of cut-out letters, which was captioned: "To be 'Caught Short' shows a lack of thrift—start saving Now—and you won't have to play on margin." See Poly Moran and Marie Dressler in "Caught Short."



He then made up novel heralds in the form of spurious greenback of these were distributed at the theatre and about the town. As a street ballyhoo two men, dressed in old clothes and carrying a canvas sign "We were Caught Short," was used and attracted a great deal of attention. Stencil markings with the words "Don't be Caught Short" were placed upon the sidewalk at all intersections as a teaser gag. Another stunt that created a lot of talk was the Stock Quotation ticker that was placed in the lobby as an advance plug. An usher stood near the machine and handed out the spurious money as persons would examine the machine.

These stunts all proved to be business getters for Wienscheink and we are passing them along in the event that you might have a spot for them some place.

Roy Felker Had A Couple Of Laughs In Store For Town

"Right in his line," might be the way we could describe the two stunts that Roy Felker, manager of the State Theatre in Omaha, Neb., used recently to plug his showing of "Born Reckless," especially since the gags were typical of the work he is always turning out.

One of the stunts, as the photo show, used in exploiting the picture was the use of a wrecked auto. Banners, 10 inches long and two inches high, were placed on both sides of the car; the banners carrying copy about picture, theatre and play dates.

The car was driven all through the business district and the residential districts as well.

The other gag was the promoting of a small scooter-bike from a bicycle dealer. A boy, about 19 years of age and over six feet in height, was engaged to pedal it about the city. He was dressed in baby clothes and wore a sign on his back stating that he was "Born Reckless."

It was sure-fire that the stunts would click and the hearty laughs they occasioned were heard all over town, with the word-of-mouth publicity tending toward box-office receipts above par.

C. Lake Combatted Baby Golf Course With Lobby Putting

The miniature golf courses, which are offering stiff competition to many showmen, did not mean anything to Clinton E. Lake, manager of the Tivoli Theatre in Chattanooga, Tenn., who decided to feature a golf stunt in his outer lobby.

Walter Hagen had recently presented to the theatre a Golf Rug. This rug had several holes in the center of it to permit the receiving of golf balls. And every hole has a certain number.

The object of the rug is a putting game of golf. Consequently, Manager Lake decided to give this rug to the one having the largest score. Each patron was permitted to use five balls in the putting contest—making sure that the attendant made a record of the score.

With various forms of miniature golf springing up all over the country and especially in the South, this stunt proved the highlight of the campaign in that it drew innumerable patrons to the lobby where they eventually purchased tickets to see the picture. In fact, it was necessary to show the attendant your ticket or stub before being permitted to try your luck on the golf rug.

And this helped in no small measure to jack up the theatre's good-will. We want to thank Lake for passing these along to us and we hope that since he is turning out such fine work he will keep us posted on his future activities so that we can pass them along.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Here's Two From Lee That Rate A Lot Of Attention

Since he confesses that he has been very busy of late we decided to pardon H. C. Lee, manager of the Babcock Theatre in Bath, N. Y., and grant him clemency for his non-activity. Of course, "H. C.," when you send us in a couple of good ideas of the sort you have just engineered up in your territory, we are bound to pardon you.

As he is located around the Lake region he decided that his theatre should be represented on the many road stands that dot the highways. To this end, he made up a few thousand paper bags and imprinted them with the theatre's attractions for the entire week. The bags were distributed to the road stand owners and they were more than glad to pass them on. "H. C." tells us that we should credit that live-wire showman, Herman Starr, of the Fox office in Utica for this idea and accordingly we do so. This road stunt is well worth looking into and we believe that if you'll study it carefully, you'll pick out a couple of angles that may fit your case to a "t."

We are reproducing samples of a couple of good-will getters, suggested by Tom Olsen, publicity director for Fox Upstate Division, that can't be beat, for their particular style. The one on the left is a birthday greeting and the one on the right—well, it speaks for itself—but we'll tell you. Lee knows nearly everyone in town (or is it everyone?) and whenever they don't put in an appearance at the theatre for some time, he forthwith despatches samples of the letter, inquiring why they have not attended the theatre recently and inviting them to see the show as his guest.

The management wishes you many happy returns of the day, and a new year of health and prosperity.

It would be our pleaeure to take part in your birthday celebration. Please present this letter at the door and secure two seats that have been reserved for you as guests of the management.

Cordially yours,

by _____ manager

The management has not had the pleasure of welcoming you recently. We are wondering why you have not visited us for the past few weeks. We hope that you have not been ill. We trust that the reason for your absence has been through no fault of ours. Therefore, we would like to have you present this letter at the door and secure two seats that have been reserved for you.

Cordially yours,

by _____ manager

The stunt clicked from the minute it was used. According to Lee, it is one of the finest things that Babcock has ever had; and when a showman gets so enthusiastic about a stunt, we think it bears looking into.

The letter is sent out on ordinary club stationery. The type matter, in typewriter font, is multigraphed. Space was used for plugs on the Fox and the other trademark. This gag deserves a break and we think you will agree with us that it is a very effective medium for getting and retaining good-will for your house. We want to thank "H. C." for passing these along to us and we know that the future will hold many more stunts of similar nature. Because we know what you've accomplished in the past "H. C.," we certainly know that you are engineering some good things up there.

Atmospheric Front At Goux's Theatre Was Very Effective

Shooting right along like a meteor, Larry Goux is still burning the midnight oil out in Pendleton, Oregon, doping out various stunts to sell his shows at the Rivoli Theatre and one of his latest is the atmospheric front he created for "The Big House."

The entire display carried a jail tone, with bars, graystone beaverboard, rewards circulars and many other things creating the effect of prison life. The photo we are showing presents the finished product and we will say that the town was doing a great deal of talking about it as it was one of the finest things they had seen in a long time.

Larry passes along a couple of tips in connection with it. But here—we'll let him tell it by his letter which states: "Out here where the thermometer hangs around the 100 to 108 degree mark it makes us stretch to get them in from the hills and streams. . . . Be sure to tell the boys to go to their local police department and get a lot of "wanted" circulars from the police and plaster them all over the adapted front and you will have your lobby filled with interested readers and you will increase the take at the b.o."

In addition to his tips, Larry also invites any member of the Club, who should be going to Pendleton to see the world-famous round-up, to drop in and see him. Well Larry, we might be up around your district ourselves and if we can make it, you can be sure that we are going to drop in and see you.

LOOKING AT LAMPS?

(Reprinted by Request)

The blending of colors and color schemes has always been identified with theatres of a modern trend. The frequent changing of colors in the lighting of your theatre is bound to create favorable comment from your patrons and keep them from taking everything so matter-of-fact. We have found theatres where fortunes were spent in providing good lighting effects when the theatre was being built, and yet the bulbs were never changed for years at a time. Why? Especially since long experience has shown us that an extra set or two of electric bulbs is a fine investment and when properly handled will last you for many years.

If you only take the trouble to look around your theatre at certain times with the sole idea in mind that you want to "brighten" things up a bit—that your theatre is becoming too monotonous, not only to your patrons but to yourself as well, you may find plenty of opportunities to make changes. You will probably find that the old pilot lights have not been relamped for months—the color on them may be faded; many may be burned out. A new set, with possibly a new color will give you startling results.

The above also goes for your main fixtures, coves or any other portion of your theatre that is used for illumination. We recommend (and hundreds of other showmen also) that a complete relamping be done every six months. Those who can afford it might even do it more often. Try something new and experiment a bit with different colors and if your patrons don't comment on the change we will publish an open apology for even suggesting the idea.

"All For One And One For All"

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

LOST AND FOUND!!!

{ Send Us the Blank — We'll Do the Rest for You! }

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB,
729 Seventh Avenue,
New York City.

I would like to learn the whereabouts of .....

.....

His last known address was .....

..... City ..... State

He was last employed by .....

I last corresponded with him on (date) .....

Remarks (Include here any other information that will guide us in helping you locate this party.) .....

.....

.....

.....

.....

.....

SIGNED .....

ADDRESS .....

CITY..... STATE.....

Strange Twist Of Fate Gave Lampe Publicity Break

We've often heard of white elephants turning into gold mines, so it was not strange to hear that the well planned stunt conceived by Gus Lampe, of the Avon Theatre in Watertown, N. Y., though it went amiss still managed to click. Read on and see what we mean.

On the recent Movie Gras that the Fox Upstate Division celebrated, Lampe arranged to have an aeroplane distribute free balloons plugging the occasion. Passes were attached to some of the balloons. In order to put this stunt over with a bang, he gave it some high powered advance plugging and so well did he do it that the Public Square, on the day the plane was to drop the balloons, was overrun with children.

As time drew near for the plane to appear, the crowds swelled until they got beyond the control of the police. A riot call was sent in and a special motorcycle policeman was despatched to stop the stunt. When Lampe heard that the children were in danger he immediately called a halt to the proceedings. He declared that since the theatre was organizing a "Safety Club" he did not think it advisable to take a chance on having the kids fight for the balloons. With such a huge mob present, the plug on the "Safety Club" proved very valuable and besides securing the good-will of the police for calling off the stunt, he also won favor with the kids' parents. In this manner the last stunt proved to be better than the original one and Lampe let the house in for more publicity and good-will.

Bret Harte Driver Figured In Kane's Street Ballyhoo

Ballyhoos seem to be Tom Kane's middle name for nearly every time we receive an account of his work at the Sequoia Theatre in Redwood City, Cal., it informs us that Tom successfully engineered another ballyhoo stunt out there in Sunshine Land.

In a recent issue we told you about the ace gag he pulled for "The Arizona Kid" and how he engaged the services of old Dan Woods, veteran stage coach driver, and his vehicle to plug the film. Dan and his chariot are mentioned frequently in Bret Harte's famous stories and to the residents of the town the ballyhoo was more than a ballyhoo, as they all know Dan. In the photo we are showing you can see what Tom did to put the picture over.

A special cut-out of Warner Baxter was placed on top of the stage coach and a number of kids were invited to ride inside and yell as loud as they could. The girls on top of the coach sang the song hits of the picture as they went about town. One of the girls supplied music with a ukelele. The man leaning out of the window is Tom's assistant, Clint Eberly, who assists him on all the stunts whenever possible. The ballyhoo proved a very effective means for plugging the picture and receipts for the playdates swelled up a bit more than usual.

Tom turned out some good work on "All Quiet On The Western Front," too. A display containing rifles, sabers, bayonets, an anti-aircraft gun and about fifteen tin helmets were grouped about an imitation fort which was placed in the lobby. The fort featured protruding cannons with flashers working in the cannons. Besides exploiting the picture in this manner, Tom also arranged to have the local American Legion post and their drum corps parade the streets and wind up at the theatre on the opening night of the film. The National Guard at the neighboring town of San Jose sent up a detachment of men, and the soldiers, colors and all, paraded behind the drum corps. The parade (like all of Tom's parades) met with instant approval and the crowd of standees at the first show proved the effectiveness of the ballyhoo.

At this time we would also like to tell you of the laugh gag that he pulled on "The Cuckoos." A cuckoo whistle was secreted in the box office and every time a patron purchased a ticket, he would be greeted with a cry of "Cuckoo." The whistle was hidden behind a cut-out of a cuckoo and caused a lot of laughs. Oke Tom, we are always glad to keep your fellow members posted on what you are doing and you know your work is also a source of interest to us.

LOUIS LAMM Says:

"I thoroughly enjoy the department devoted to exploitation of ideas, which should prove of great value to all exhibitors."

Manager, Mirth Theatre,
Milwaukee, Wisconsin.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Elephant Carried Theatre Price Cut; Results Were "Big"

From the looks of this photo it seems to us that the showmen managing the Warner Bros. Theatre in Fresno, Calif., do their merchandising in a big way. When the circus came to town, somebody had the idea that as long as there was going to be a price slash at the theatre it meant that the public should know of it as quickly as possible. To this end a tie-up with a circus was arranged.

The circus owners agreed to let the theatre place a sign on the elephant's back. The sign plugged the cut prices and in order to draw more attention to the ballyhoo it was arranged that one of the circus clowns be drafted into service. The clown's only duty was to cavort about the back of the elephant and point to the sign. The elephant was walked about the city and the circus lots whenever the crowds were greatest and in this manner much valuable publicity was received.

We don't know whether or not a circus is going to play your town but in the event that one does, it would pay you to see what you can do in the line of tie-ups, as we have found that as a rule the circus people are most agreeable to any arrangements that will prove to be of mutual benefit. If you look for them we are sure that you'll find a great many angles and ways to secure plugs for your house at little or no cost. There's the tip—if it fits, use it.

Variety Is Keynote In House Organs Used By Wallace

Striving for novelty in his house organs has enabled Hugh Wallace to turn out some excellent programs for the Kitsilano Theatre in Vancouver, B. C. As a matter of fact, it is his boast that no two of his programs are alike.

In order to back up his assertion he sends us in a great many of them and we can state that after a careful search we have yet to find any that are alike. Of course, some of the major features are retained but you will find that each succeeding program brings with it a little touch here and there that was not noticed in the former ones.

"I never make two programs alike," says Hugh in his letter, "and my reason for this is because your patrons seeing something new being handed out will always ask for one. The same old program being handed out week after week, with never a change in layout never becomes very effective. Advertising has arrived at such a pitch that you must have something new and original as far as possible in order to attract attention."

And we agree. There's little need of saying that every week means a fresh opportunity for Hugh to display his showmanship and, in fact, he tells us that he looks forward to making up his weekly program. And by the way—that little postscript on the bottom of your letter—you can be sure that if we get up your way we will take advantage of your offer, because it has been a long time since we have had "the real stuff." Oke?

Hall Gave Away Ice Cream Cones To Kiddie Patrons

In weather such as this it must certainly be a pleasure for R. Mason Hall, manager of the Lyric Theatre in Norton, Va., to be able to duck out between opening and closing of the house, and get some of those magnificent views of the kind he shows us in the special souvenir photos of his town which he so kindly sent us.

Hall tells us that he was recently walking along the street and noticed the porter of a popular drug store discarding some very attractive merchandising displays. He took them off his hands and brought them to the theatre where he revamped them and painted them over to serve as window posters and coming attraction plugs. This stunt cost him practically nothing except for the slight expenditure on the stills and paint, and in the end it saved the house money. He passes along this angle in the event that any of the Club members may be able to use it.

A stunt that helped his business considerably was engineered in connection with "The Sophomore." He announced a special children's matinee at a five cent admission. When the house filled up he announced that if the kids would keep their seats and be quiet during the show they would receive an ice cream cone as they went out. What a hit that made with the kids! After the show they went home and told their parents about it. This boosted up good-will and since the kids were unduly enthusiastic about the film, the parents all attended the evening show, and brought the receipts up higher than usual. All because Hall had been wise and pulled a stunt that packed plenty of wallop. Keep up the good work, Mason, and let's hear more from you.

Lou Swee Makes Up Novelty Heralds That Are Effective

Located in a city where he has ample opportunity to display some fine showmanship, Lou Swee, manager of the Union Square Theatre in Cleveland, Ohio, turns out some good work on almost every film he plays. Read what he did with this one.

When he showed "Ladies Love Brutes," not so long ago, he decided to bring into play a gag that he had been saving for just such a picture. In a special pay envelope, labeled with: "MADAME: May We Ask You A Personal Question About Love?" he placed a combination herald and weekly attraction plug at the theatre. Three quarters of the heralds, which were printed in black and yellow, on good stock paper bore selling copy on the film with a head which asked "Do Ladies Love Brutes?"

The heralds were placed in all of the mail boxes around the theatre neighborhood, as well as distributed at the theatre. They made a big hit with the women and were undoubtedly the cause for the boost in business during the run of the film. As Lou says, it is not necessary to use this just once and then throw it away—it can be used on any picture.

We want to thank him for passing this one along to us and we also want him to know that we hope he is going to become an active contributor so that we can let the rest of his fellow members know how he is merchandising his attractions in Cleveland.

Notice to Members

PLEASE be sure to notify the Chairman of any change of address.

—THANK YOU.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

In Again And Out Again—When Will R. S. A. Behave?

To say that he panics the public every time he pulls a stunt would be putting it mildly; for R. S. A., who is merchandising shows in a large mid-western city has even the cops regarding him with suspicion, does this "ace" showman.

A short time ago he played the Weaver Bros. on the house's vaude bill and what he did with that act was plenty. He secured one of the new Austin cars, labeled it with appropriate copy and set the headliners adrift in the city. They drove through the streets, making left and right hand turns, disregarding traffic signals and every other ordinance of the city. At no time were they stopped by the police. As they shot past a red light the cop on duty just smiled at them. The reason, may be partly due to the fact that a certain press agent, a short while back, had planted a story on the front pages of the local papers regarding the escape of a gorilla, that had been placed in the lobby of the St. Louis Theatre. The whole event had been a farce and the cops were pretty wise now; though they did grab R. S. A., not so long ago.

He started out with twenty tons of ice, three trucks and three men on each wagon to plug the attraction at the theatre. All along the main thoroughfare he had the men drop off cakes of ice, into which had been frozen a parafinned card carrying copy on the show at the theatre. The copy read "They have your laugh on ice—Olsen and Johnson, etc."

At 12:30 they hit the shopping district and the fun began. The two hundred pound cakes of ice were being dropped off the wagon with startling rapidity. The day was a scorcher and persons on the street were paying plenty of attention to the unusual activity. Cake after cake was placed on the sidewalk. Suddenly a policeman put in an appearance, and angrily enquired whether the showman had permission to place the ice on the curbing.

"Do I have to get permission?" R. S. A. asked innocently.

"Certainly," stormed the policeman, "who do you think you are—Byrd?"

The two men entered into a heated argument. A big crowd gathered. Taking this as his cue, R. S. A. asked the policeman what he was going to do about it. The cop replied that he was going to arrest him unless he went back and picked them all up.

"I'm putting them down—not picking them up," wise-cracked the showman.

That was enough. The pinch was made.

In court the next morning, R. S. A. brought along Olsen and Johnson, the attraction he was plugging, who are known in vaudeville as "made-wags." For a half hour the court room was in a panic. They couldn't get any sense out of the comedians and less than that out of R. S. A. The courtroom fracas was climaxed with the release of R. S. A. and the judge's decision that the city owed Olsen and Johnson a vote of gratitude for supplying the residents with thousands of laughs. But—take it from R. S. A.—one of the reasons for the dismissal was the fact that the court was reluctant about making a conviction and in this way allowing the theatre newspaper space. As R. says "They don't believe us any more."

Before closing this little story, we'd like you to know that he has plenty more to do besides engineering these freak stunts. One of his latest was a tie-up with the Public Service Corp. to run a popularity contest which was plugged through the company's organ "Transit News," six hundred thousand of which were distributed weekly through the medium of their cars. This tie-up was one of the biggest that had ever been engineerd in the city and was a credit to R. S. A.'s showmanship.

J. Manning Knows How To Build Up Local Patronage

Reviving the old "Lucky Night" gag was one way for Jack Manning, manager of the Greenwood Theatre in Greenwood, Miss., to keep business up to its usual standards during the summer months, and through his promotions of 50 dollars in gold and 10 other gifts, it looks as though he is going to boot home a winner during "dog days."

A week in advance, circus heralds were given an effective distribution throughout the town; the heralds setting forth details of the contest and the list of prizes and their donors.

With every 50-cent purchase at any one of the merchant's stores in the tie-up, would be given a coupon which would entitle that person to a chance in winning one of the valuable prizes. The theatre also passed out coupons to every paid admission during the week previous to the "Lucky Night."

The tie-up not only stimulated business at the various merchants' stores, but perked up business considerably at the theatre for the week previous to the drawing. And on night of drawing, the house was packed—many patrons coming especially to take back home one of the valuable prizes.

And as this was the first time they had been present at a stunt of this sort it only whetted their taste for more. And you can bank on it that Jack had a couple of more tricks up his sleeve for them. Right, Jack? And listen! How about a photo of yourself and a little dope on your career so that we can give you a regular introduction on the Club page?

CLUB EMBLEM PIN!!!

IT WILL IDENTIFY YOU AMONG THE WHOLE SHOW WORLD AS A MEMBER OF THIS GREAT ORGANIZATION AND A REAL LIVE-WIRE SHOWMAN!

This is the actual size of the pin. It is made of rolled gold with the outer circle containing a blue enamel background and the inner circle an orange background. The wording is in gold letters.

Use This Blank:

Managers' Round Table Club
729 Seventh Avenue, New York

Kindly send me, postpaid,.... ..Club pins, for which I enclose payment at $1.00 per pin.

Name of Member.....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City..... State.....

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Kraus Displaying GreatShowmanship Out In Fargo, N. D.

Merchandising right from the famous town of Fargo, in North Dakota is being displayed by Ed. Kraus, manager of the State Theatre and with this kind of work being turned out, no wonder the West had progressed so rapidly. Just look at the photos we are showing with this article and you'll get an eyeful of some corking stunts used on "The Arizona Kid" and "Swing High."

When he played "The Arizona Kid" he ran an ad in the paper asking for 50 boys, equipped with cowboy outfits to report at once to "The Arizona Kid" at the State Theatre. As these boys reported, Kraus took their names and told them they were to march in a street parade Thursday night, the opening day of the picture. For their participation in the parade, the boys were given guest tickets to see the picture.

Permission was received from the city moguls to stage an "Arizona Kid" street parade—and were given two motorcycle policemen to clear traffic and head the procession. The line of march was from the front of the State theatre down Broadway and up again to the front of the theatre.

Following the motorcycle cops was a good-looking young lady attired in cowgirl outfit on horseback. Next came the American Legion Drum and Bugle Corps of 25 men, who were made up and dressed as cowboys.

Next in line was a large stage coach with six young ladies riding inside, dressed in the old-fashion costumes of the early West. Seated with the driver were cowboy guards with rifles.

Directly behind the coach was another smaller coach wherein rode some of the boy cowboys attired in their outfits with guns, etc. And seated with the driver on top of the coach were the guards.

Bringing up the end of the parade was a group of the "cowboy" boys with an extra large pennant reading, "THE ARIZONA KID."

On both of the coaches were painted banners selling the pictures, play date and name of theatre. The parade caused a lot of favorable comment in addition to increasing business perceptibly.

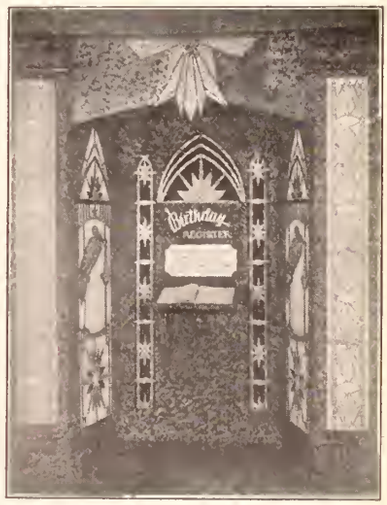
And now the two lower photos will explain why Kraus never has anything to worry about regarding his kiddie business; especially since he made two excellent tie-ups with a local bank and a broadcasting station on his merchandising of "Swing High."

He set up two stands inside the lobby—with white-coated attendants who served all the kiddies with pink lemonade on their way in and gave them a sack of Jumbo peanuts on their way out.

The bank paid for the peanuts and the broadcasting station, the lemonade. The radio station announced five times daily for three days prior to the opening of the picture all about the free lemonade and peanuts. This announcement was continued throughout the run of the picture.

The lemonade and peanuts were very befitting in as much as "Swing High" was a circus type of picture.

The tie-up was very effective resulting in splendid results at the box office. Not only did it bring in over 1,000 children, but many adults who accompanied the kiddies.



About 150 pounds of peanuts and about 25 gallons of lemonade were given away—all at no expense to the theatre.

Listen, Ed., when you are turning out work like this don't you think the best thing to do in regard to letting the world know about it is to hand it to your fellow showmen in the Round Table Club? And when you send us in your next contribution, include your photo and a little dope on yourself so that we can "present" you.

H. Herman Gives Birthday Register A Great Setting

It would stand to reason that any type of gag engineered by Harry Herman of the Paramount Theatre in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, would be surrounded with a beautiful piece of art work. Our reason for making this statement is the many beautiful art displays which are created by Harry and his staff and which have been pictured so frequently on the Club pages.

This particular idea is a birthday register wherein all the patrons of the theatre are encouraged to register their name, address and date of birth and the purpose is two-fold. First: It provides the Paramount Theatre with a marvelous mailing list and there's no denying the effectiveness of this particular plan. Second: It gives Harry an opportunity of sending them a birthday card together with an invitation to the theatre on their birthday.

We have presented the birthday register idea in several different styles and surroundings, but there is none who will deny the beauty of the way Harry has handled this one. We suggest that you get wise to this plan yourself and see if it doesn't prove mighty productive of good will and business.

Spanish Populace Was Reached By DavisViaTelephone

Pictures, whether in dialogue or dialect, mean nothing to showmen when it comes to selling them. The reason for this sentence may be seen in the stunt that was pulled by Lester A. Davis, manager of the Magnet Theatre in Barre, Vt., to sell a large Spanish population on "Under A Texas Moon."

He secured the services of a scholar of languages and the young man, who was a master at Spanish, agreed to phone every Spanish telephone subscriber and in their own language tell them about the picture. The gag made a decided impression on the Spaniards as they were more than pleased to find that the theatre thought enough of their patronage to hire a special man to tell them about the picture. A good many of them, it was found out later, told their friends about the unique way the theatre had of advertising the attraction.

The same stunt was also used as a plug for the regular subscribers in which Davis got in special talks on the other features that the house boasted. By the way, we'd like you to know that this showman had just recently joined the Round Table Club and this is his first contribution to our pages. Since he has started off so well it is only fair to state that we expect to hear some good things about his work.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

EVERY-BODY'S DOING IT—? WHY NOT YOU—?

WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

Application For Membership In "MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB"

729 Seventh Ave., New York City

I hereby apply for membership in the Club.

Name .....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City .....

State .....

Position .....

Wm. A. Johnston Honorary Chairman — "Chick" Lewis Chairman

JOIN NOW!!

Here's the Blank

LATEST NEW MEMBERS

ANTHONY PERRETTA is the manager of the Cresent Theatre in Mahonington, Pa. As Mr. Perretta has been a Club follower for quite a while now it is indeed gratifying to know that he is now going to become one of our contributors. Keep up the good work you are doing Anthony and let's hear from you regarding the methods you use in selling your shows, so that we can pass them along to your fellow members.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

JACK MANNING, we understand, needs no introduction to the showmen located around Greenwood, his part of Mississippi, as his work speaks for itself. This popular manager has been turning out some great stunts and new slants in conjunction with his work and we know that he is going to let his fellow members in on them. And when you drop us the dope Jack, include your photo as well, so that we can give you a send-off.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

ROBERT M. BEATTIE manages the Bradley Theatre in Putnam, Conn. In the "dim and distant past," your Chairman, who had covered this state from top to bottom or head to foot or whatever it is, has been in Beattie's town and if we remember aright it offered some opportunities for live-wire merchandising. Of course, being in New York we don't know how conditions are now so we hope that when Robert sends us in his next letter he'll give us the "low-down."

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

JOHN J. DUNNIGAN is the manager of the Greenwich Theatre in East Greenwich, R. I. He is a veteran showman who has had many wide and varied experiences, and, in view of the fact that he has such a background, we believe we can state with certaintly that his work is going to be productive of some new bo-office building slants. We hope that he will keep up the good work and active interest he is showing so that we can pass is activities along to his fellow-members. What do you say, John?

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

HOBART H. RAMSDELL is the manager of the Lyric Theatre in Gaithersburg, Md. Located as he is, in a pretty little house of three hundred some odd seats. He is so well known to the local merchants that he is enabled to engineer a good many exploitation stunts to say nothing of the good-will that he has derived by extending special courtesies to any of the town people who plan to run theatre parties. Seeing that you're in so "solid" Hobart we'd like to hear more of your work in the near future and we hope that you will keep us posted.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

MILTON WIGHT is the manager of the Liberty Theatre in Kennewick, Washington. He is now handling the house formerly presided over by Ray Meyersick, an active Club member, who resigned. Since Ray turned out some fine work at the house, we feel that Mr. Wight must be a good showman to be given the house and we are sure that he will be as active a member as his brother managers on the Inland Theatres Circuit. Congratulations, Milton.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

LLOYD L. HAUSE is the manager of the Capitol and Columbia Theatres in Bloomsburg, Pa. Having been in the show game for quite some time he is well equipped for the job he is holding and we think the residents of the town are being treated to some find showmanship. Drop us a line or two about you and your work Lloyd so that you can set us right with your show-selling.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

C. A. Y. TANIMOTO manages the People's Theatre in Honokaa, Hawaii. We want to extend him a hearty welcome into the Club and we hope that he will be as active as the other Hawaiian showmen on our rolls. Mr. Tanimoto's house opened just a short time ago and he promises to send us his opening campaign. And include your own photo with it, Mr. Tanimoto, so that we can introduce you to the rest of the Club.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

J. E. LIEBMAN, JR., is the Assistant Manager of the Ogden Theatre in the Bronx, N. Y. Located as he is, in a neighborhood where he can turn out some good exploitation, we believe that he is learning a great deal about show business from his immediate superiors. Let's hear from you, J. E., so that we can note how you're getting along.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

E. L. ZETTERMAN, manager of the Regent Theatre in Vancouver, British Columbia, Canada, is the latest of the Canadian showmen to enrol in the Club. Mr. Zetterman is well versed in showmanship, having been in the business for a number of years and is fully qualified for the position he now holds. As he no doubt intends to show his brother managers how he sells his shows, we know that he will be an active member and we would like to have his photo to use in conjunction with his first contribution.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

JACK M. SUCKSTOFF is the manager of the Rialto Theatre in Glendive, Montana. In addition to handling the house, he also does his own sign work and he tells us that the tips he receives from the Club pages on display fronts are used by him very often. Let's have some examples of your work too, Jack, so that we can pass it along to your fellow-members.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

HOWARD DUNHAM is the Assistant Manager of the Rivoli Theatre in Pendelton, Oregon. Proposed for membership by Larry Goux, whom you all know as the live-wire manager of the house, it seems to us that Howard is going to learn a lot about show business, for Larry is among the best. Keep us posted on your work, Howard, so that we can report your progress on our pages.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

MAX SILVERWATCH is the Assistant Manager of the Imperial Theatre in Pawtucket, R. I. With Joseph S. Borenstein handling the house, and in view of the fact that nearly all of Borenstein's assistants have gone up the ladder we look forward to hearing some good accounts of this young showman's work and we hope that from time to time he will keep us in touch with what he is doing.

Photos of Members!

THE Club is anxious to publish photographs of every member and would, therefore, appreciate receiving as many as possible for use in future issues of the Club columns. If you have not already done so, PLEASE send us your own photo at once. Thank you.

COMPLETE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut toward such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributor. Where they vary in different cities or towns, the change is probably due to state or local censorship deletions.

AMKINO

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Cain and Artem	E. Gall-N. Simonov	June 6	7000	78	June 14
Children of the New Day	Gilladova-Litkin
China Express	Special Cast	Mar. 8	5631	65	Mar. 15
Demon of the Steppes	Saltykov-Pedlesnaya	Jan. 18	6800	75
Fragment of an Empire	Nikitin-Semeneca	Jan. 25	7000	78	Feb. 1
Man from the Restaurant	Tchekhov-Malinovske	Jan. 4	6000	67	Jan. 18
Old and New	Martha Lepkina	May 2	6921	76	May 10
Roof of the World
Turksib	Educational	May 24	4900	60	June 14

Coming Attractions

Title	Star
Jimmy Higgins	A. Buchma
Living Corpse, The	V. Pudovkin
Raziem	M. A. Narokov
Soil	S. Svazhenka
Spring	Educational
Storm Over Asia	V. Inkizhinov
Transport of Fire	G. Kuznetsev
Tungas of Siberia	Educational

COLUMBIA

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Around the Corner (A. T.)	Sidney-Murray	Apr. 26	6356	71	May 3
*†§Call of the West (A. T.)	Revier-Matt Moore	May 10	6500	72	May 31
*†§Guilty? (A. T.)	Holland-Valli	Mar. 3	6371	71	Apr. 12
*†§Hell's Island (A.T.)	Sebastian-Holt-Graves	July 16	7462	67	July 26
*†§Ladies of Leisure (A. T.)	Stanwyck-Graves-Sherman	Apr. 5	9277	103	Apr. 19
*†§Lone Rider, The (A. T.)	Jones-Reynolds	June 9	5432	59	July 12
*†§Melody Man, The (A. T.)	Collier, Jr.-Day-SL Polis	Jan. 25	6386	71	Feb. 15
*†§Murder on the Roof (A. T.)	Revier-Livingston	Jan. 19	5400	60	Feb. 1
*†§Personality (A. T.)	Starr-Arthur	Feb. 18	6304	70	Mar. 1
*†§Prince of Diamonds (A.T.)	Ian Keith-Pringle	Mar. 26	6383	71	May 17
*†§Royal Romance, A (A. T.)	Collier-Starke	Mar. 17	6359	63	May 31
*†§Sisters (A. T.)	D'Day-D'Neil	June 15	6284	70	June 28
*†§Soldiers and Women (A. T.)	Pringle-Withers	Apr. 30	6671	70	May 17
*†§Temptation (A.T.)	Wilson-Gray-Percy	June 6	6279	70	June 28
*†§Vengeance (A. T.)	Holt-Revier-Straspe	Feb. 22	6160	68	Mar. 1

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Africe Speaks (A. T.)
*†§Arizona (A.T.)
*†§Brothers (A.T.)
*†§Cherley's Aunt (A.T.)
*†§Criminal Code, The (A.T.)
*†§Dirigible (A.T.)
*†§Fifty Fathoms Deep (A.T.)
*†§Flood, The (A.T.)
*†§For the Love of Lil (A.T.)
*†§Good Bad Girl (A.T.)
*†§Jazz Daughters (A.T.)
*†§Ladies Must Play (A.T.)
*†§Last Parade, The (A.T.)
*†§Last of the Lone Wolf (A.T.)	Bert Lytell
*†§Lion and the Lamb, The (A.T.)
*†§Madonna of the Streets A. T.)
*†§Man From Hell's River (A.T.)
*†§Paris Nights (A. T.)	Barbara Stanwyck
†§Miracle Woman, The (A.T.)
*†§Rain or Shine (A. T.)	Joe Cook				July 26
*†§Road to Broadway, The
*†§Squealer, The (A. T.)
*†§Subway Express, The (A.T.)
*†§Sweethearts on Parade (A. T.)
*†§Tol'able David (A.T.)
†§Woman Who Came Back, The (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†Alaske Knights	Krazy Kat Cartoon	May 22	1 reel	July 12
*†Autumn	Disney Cartoon	Feb. 13	1 reel
*†§Barnyard Concert	Mickey Mouse		1 reel	July 5
*†Cannibal Capers	Disney Cartoon	Mar. 13	1 reel
*†Cat's Meow, The	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Jan. 2	1 reel
*†§Continental Evening, A	Fay Marbe	Feb. 12	1 reel
*†Desert Sunk	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Mar. 27	1 reel
*†§Do It Now	Clark & Bergman	Jan. 29	1 reel
*†§Fiddlin' Around	Mickey Mouse		1 reel	June 21
*†§Firefighters	Mickey Mouse	June 11	1 reel
*†Galloping Fish	Disney Cartoon	May 8
*†§Hawaiians		Apr. 9	1 reel
*†Jazz Rhythm	Krazy Kat		1 reel	July 26
*†§Marionettes	Tony Sarg	Mar. 12	1 reel
*†Old Flame, An	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Apr. 24	1 reel
*†§Radio-Tors	Utica Jubilee Singers	Feb. 26	1 reel
*†Slow Bean	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Feb. 27	1 reel
*†§Speakeasy	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Jan. 30	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Spike Speaks	Frank Moulan	Mar. 26	1 reel	Mar. 1
*†§Stage Door Knights	Buddy Doyle	Apr. 23	1 reel
*†§Stage Door Pest	Boyce Combe	Jan. 15	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Summer	Silly Symphony	Jan. 16	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Talking Screen Snapshots	Released twice a month		1 reel

EDUCATIONAL

SOUND SHORTS

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bitter Friends (A. T.)	Lambert-McPhail	Apr. 27	1609	18
*†§Big Jewel Case, The (A.T.)	Lambert-Kelsey-Gervin	Feb. 23	1480	16	Feb. 22
*†§Bulls and Bears (A.T.)	Pollard-Clyde-Beebe	Mar. 2	1838	20	Feb. 22
*†§Bully Beef	Terry-toon	July 13	1 reel		July 12
*†§Camera Shy (A.T.)	Hamilton-Hiett	Feb. 9	1480	16	Feb. 22
*†§Campus Crushes (A.T.)	Clyde-Beebe-Stuart	June 15	1929	21	June 28
*†Caviar	Terry-Toons	Feb. 23	659	7	Feb. 22
*†§Chumps, The (A.T.)	Beebe-Clyde	July 6	1858	21	July 12
*†§Codfish Balls	Terrytoon	June 15	538
*†§Dad Knows Best (A.T.)	Holmes-Bolton	Mar. 30	1840	20	Apr. 12
*†§Drumming It In (A.T.)	McKee-Smalley	Jan. 26	1600	18	Jan. 26
*†§Fat Wives for Thin (A.T.)	Beebe-Barraud-Clyde	May 25	1980	22	May 31
*†§Fellow the Swallow (A. T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	Apr. 27	1885	19	Apr. 26
*†§French Kisses (A.T.)	Collins-Boyd	June 15	1684	19
*†§Goodby Legs (A.T.)	Pollard-Stuart	July 27	1961	22	July 12
*†§Good Morning, Sheriff (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	May 25	1735	19	June 14
*†§Hail the Princess (A.T.)	Boley-Collins	May 11	1573	17
*†Hawaiian Pineapples	Terrytoon	1 reel			May 24
*†§He Trumped Her Ace (A.T.)	Burke-Beebe	Mar. 23	1895	21	Apr. 12
*†§Hello Television	Clyde-Christy	Aug. 17
*†§Honeymoon Zeppelin (A. T.)	Beebe-Pollard	Apr. 13	1076	22	Apr. 26
*†§Honk Your Horn (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	June 29	1716	19	June 28
*†§Hot and How (A.T.)	Goodwin-Crane	Jan. 12	1528	17	Jan. 11
*†Hot Turkey	Terry-Toon	May 4	604
*†§How's My Baby (A.T.)	Barnes-Collins-McPhail		1667	19
*†§Hungarian Goulash	Terry-Toons	June 29
*†Indian Pudding	Terry-Toon	Apr. 6	576	6	Apr. 26
*†§Kangaroo Steak	Terry-Toon	July 27	1 reel
*†§Match Play (A.T.)	Hapen-Diepel	Mar. 16	2002	22	Feb. 22
*†§Monkey Meat	Terry-Toon	Aug. 10
*Museum of Art, A	Hodge-Podge	Feb.	1 reel
*†§Oh Darling (A.T.)	Dover-McPhail-Peak	Feb. 16	1565	17	Feb. 1
*†§Peace and Harmony (A.T.)	Lambert-Collins-McPhail	May 18	1660	18	May 10
*†§Polished Ivory (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	Mar. 16	1642	18	Mar. 29
*†Pretzels	Terry-Toons	Mar. 49	623	6	Apr. 5
*†§Prize Puppies	Lloyd Hamilton	Aug. 3
*†§Radio Kisses (A.T.)	Beebe-Duryea-Carewe	May 4	1891	21	June 14
*†Roman Punch	Terry-Toon	Apr. 20	560	6	Apr. 26
*†§Scotch (A.T.)	Clyde-Beven-McPhail	Jan. 19	1961	22	Jan. 4
*†§Spanish Onions	Terry-Toon	Mar. 23	637
*†§Super Plum Papa (A.T.)	Clyde-Gribbons	Feb. 16	1932	21	Feb. 1
*†§Swiss Cheese	Terrytown	June 1	547
*†§Trouble For Two (A.T.)	Raymond McKee	Mar. 9	1527	17	Mar. 29
*†§Western Knight (A.T.)	Lambert-St. John-McPhail	Apr. 20	1661	20	Apr. 5

FIRST NATIONAL

(Available sound-on-disc only)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Back Pay (A.T.)	Corinne Griffith	June 1	5672	53	June 7
*†§Bride of the Regiment (A.T.)	Seosal-Pidgeon	June 22	7418	82	May 24
*†§Broken Dishes	Young-Withers	Dec. 1	Not Set		Aug. 9
*†§Dawn Patrol, The (A.T.)	Barthelmess-Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 10	not set		July 19
*†§Flirting Widow (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill	May 11	6664	74	June 7
*†§Furies (A.T.)	Werner-Wilson	Mar. 16	6606	73	Apr. 26
*†§In the Next Room (A.T.)	Jack Mulhall	Jan. 26	6336	70	Apr. 12
*†§Lilies of Field (A.T.)	Corinne Griffith	Jan. 5	5979	67	Dec. 21
*†§Loose Ankles (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr.-Young	Feb. 2	6190	68	Mar. 8
*†§Murder Will Out (A.T.)	Mulhall-Lee	Apr. 6	6200	69	Apr. 19
*†§No, No, Nanetta (A. T.)	Claire-Gray	Feb. 16	9108	101	Jan. 11
*†§Notorious Affair, A (A. T.)	Billie Dove	May 4	6218	69	May 3
*†§Numbered Men (A.T.)	Nagel-Claire	Sept. 7		72	June 7
*†§Other Tomorrow (A.T.)	Billie Dove	Feb. 9	5800	64	Jan. 4
*†§Playing Around (A.T.)	White-Morris	Jan. 19	6003	66	Apr. 5
*†§Road to Paradise, The (A.T.)	Young-Mulhall	July 20	6935	66	July 5
*†§Sally (A.T.)	Marilyn Miller	Jan. 12	9277	103	Dec. 28
†§Show Girl in Hollywood (A.T.)	White-Mulhall	Apr. 20	7213	80	May 3
*†§Son of the Gods (A.T.)	Rich. Barthelmess	Mar. 9	8344	92	Feb. 8
*†§Song of the Flame (A.T.)	Gray-Claire	May 6	6501	72	May 3
*†§Spring Is Here (A.T.)	Claire-Gray	Apr. 18	6388	71	Apr. 26
*†§Strictly Modern (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill	Mar. 2	5632	63	May 10
*†§Sweethearts and Wives (A.T.)	Billie Dove	June 15	7009	77	June 7
*†§Sweet Mama (A.T.)	Alice White	July 6	5012	55	July 19
*†§Top Speed (A.T.)	Brown-Claire-Whiting	Aug. 24			June 21
*†§Way of All Men, The (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr.-Revier	Sept. 7	6032	70	July 26

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Adios (A. T.)	Richard Barthelmess
*†§Bad Man, The (A.T.)	Huston-Revier
*†§Bright Lights (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill
*†§Broadminded (A.T.)	Kohler-Rennie			July 5
*†§Call of the West
*†§Captain Blood (A.T.)
*†§College Lovers (A.T.)
*†§Deep Purple (A.T.)
*†§Devil's Playground, The (A.T.)	Billie Dove
*§†Father's Son (A.T.)
*†§Forever After (A.T.)	Young-Fairbanks, Jr.
*†§Girl of Golden West (A.T.)	Harding-Rennie		75	June 21
*†§Going Wild (A.T.)	Joe E. Brown
*†§Gorilla, The (A.T.)	Joe Frisco
*†§Heart of the North (A.T.)	Loretta Young
*†§Honor of the Family, The (A.T.)	Walter Huston
*†§Hot Heiress, The (A. T.)
*†§Kismet (A.T.)	Otis Skinner
*†§Lady Who Dared, The (A.T.)	Dove-Tearle
*†§Little Caesar (A.T.)	Edw. G. Robinson
*†§Louisiana Nights (A. T.)
*†§Mother's Cry (A. T.)
*†§One Night at Susie's (A.T.)	Dove-Fairbanks, Jr.
*†§Other men's Wives (A.T.)	Dove-Rathbone-Thompson
*†§Queen of Main Street (A.T.)	Lee-Lyon
*†§Reckless Hour (A.T.)
*†§Right of Way, The (A.T.)	Nagel-Young
*†§Scarlet Pages (A.T.)	Ferguson-Nixon
*†§Sunny (A.T.)	Marilyn Miller
*†§Sweethearts (A.T.)	Miller-Pidgeon
*†§Toast of the Legion A.(T.)	Clare-Pidgeon
†§Truth About Youth (A.T.)	Young-Tearle
*†§Widow from Chicago (A.T.)	Alice White
*†§Women Hungry (A.T.)	Lee-Kohler-Blackmer

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.*

FOX FILMS

(After August all releases sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Are You There? (A.T.)	Lillie-Garrick	Aug.	31
*†§Arizona Kid, The (A.T.)	Baxter-Maris	May	23 7450	83	May 17
*†§Big Party, The (A.T.)	Leo-Carol-Albertson	Feb.	25....6482	72	Mar. 1
*†§Born Reckless (A.T.)	Edmund Lewe	June	6....7400	82	May 10
§*†Cameo Kirby (A.T.)	Torris Murray	Jan.	12....6120	68	Dec. 7
*†§Cheer Up and Smile	Lee-Lake-Baclanova	July	26....5600	62	Aug. 2
*†§City Girl (P.T.)	Farrell Duncan	Feb.	15....6171	69	Apr. 19
*†§Common Clay (A.T.)	Bennett-Ayers-Marshall	Aug.	17....7961	88	June 21
*†§Crazy That Way (A. T.)	Bonnott-MacKenna	Mar.	30....5828	64	Mar. 29
*†§Double Cross Roads (A. T.)	Ames-Loo	Apr.	20....5800	64	Mar. 29
*†§Fox Movietone Follies of 1930 (A.T.)	Special Cast	May	4....7422	84	May 10
*†§Good Intentions (A.T.)	Lowe-Churchill	June	29....6340	70	June 14
*†§Golden Calf (A.T.)	Carol-Mulhall-Brendel	Mar.	16....6552	73	Feb. 22
*†§Happy Days (A.T.)	Special cast	Mar.	2....7526	84	Jan. 18
*†§Harmony at Home (A.T.)	Collier, Sr.-Churchill	Jan.	19....6395	70	Dec. 14
*†§High Society Blues (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell	Mar.	30....6750	75	Mar. 1
*†§Last of the Duanes, The (A.T.)	O'Brien-Loy-Browne	Aug.	31		July 12
*†§Let's Go Places (A.T.)	Wagstaff-Lane	Feb.	2....6745	72	Jan. 18
*†§Lone Star Ranger (A.T.)	George O'Brien	Jan.	5....5940	66	Jan. 25
*†§Man Trouble (A.T.)	Sills-Mackaill	Aug.	24
*†§Men Without Women (A. T.)	McKenna-MacDonald	Feb.	9....7216	81	Jan. 4
*†§Not Damaged (A.T.)	Moran-Byron-Ames	May	25....6500	72	June 14
*†§One Mad Kiss (A.T.)	Don Jose Mojica	July	13....5766	64	July 26
*†§On the Level (A.T.)	Victor McLaglen	Mar.	23....5800	62	June 14
*†§On Your Back (A.T.)	Rich-Warner-Hackett	Sept.	14....6600	70	July 26
*†§Rough Romance (A.T.)	O'Brien-Chandler	June	15....4800	60	June 21
*†§Sky Hawk (A.T.)	Garrick-Chandler	Jan.	26....6925	76	Dec. 14
*†§So This Is London (A.T.)	Will Rogers	June	8....8300	92	May 31
*†§Song O' My Heart (A.T.)	John McCormack	Sept.	7....8243	92	Mar. 15
*†§Such Men Are Dangerous (A.T.)	Baxter-Owen	Mar.	9....7586	82	Feb. 1
(Reviewed under title of "Mask of Love" in Feb. 1, 1930, issue)
*†§Temple Tower (A.T.)	McKenna-Day	Apr.	13....5200	58	May 17
*†§3 Sisters (A.T.)	Drosser-Patricola	Apr.	20....6442	71	Apr. 26
*†§Wild Company (A.T.)	Albertsen-Warner-Lynn	July	5....7200	80	July 19
*†§Women Everywhere (A.T.)	Murray-Dorsay-Kellard	June	1....7500	83	June 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Alone With You (A.T.)	Gaynor-Garrick
*†§Barcelona (A.T.)	Gaynor-Bogart
*†§Big Trail, The (A.T.)	Wayne-Churchill-Marshall
*†§Blondie (A.T.)	Moran-Bogart-Ames
*†§Broadminded (A.T.)	Victor McLaglen
*†§By the Way, Bill (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Cisco Kid, The (A. T.)	Lowe-Baxter
*†§Connecticut Yankee, A (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Devil With Women (A.T.)	Farrell-Taylor
*†§Fair Warning (A.T.)	D'Brien-Churchill
*†§F. O. B. Detroit
*†§Girl Downstairs (A.T.)	D'Brien-Moran
*†§Girls Demand Excitement (A.T.)	Brendel-White-Comgton
*†§Going Nowhere (A.T.)	Brendel-White-Compton
*†§Heart Breaker, The (A.T.)	Michael Bartlett
*†§Her Kind of Man (A.T.)	Murray-Huntington
*†§Hot Numbers (A.T.)	Lee-Compton-Corcoran
*†§If I was Alone With You (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§Just Imagine (A.T.)	Brendel-Linow
*†§Lightnin'	Will Rogers
*†§Living for Love (A.T.)	Sills-Mackaill
*†§Luxury (A.T.)	Garrick-Huntington
*†§Mad Singer, The (A.T.)
*†§Man Who Came Back, The (A.T.)	Farrell-Huntington
*†§Men on Call (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe
*†§Movietone Follies of 1931 (A.T.)	Special Cast
*†§No Favors Asked (A.T.)	Wayne-Lee-Francis
*†§Oh, For a Man! (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§One Night in Paris (A.T.)	Gaynor-MacKenna
*†§On the Make (A.T.)	McLaglen-Dorsay	Not Set	Not Set	July 26
*†§Oregon Trail, The (A. T.)
*†§Painted Woman, The (A.T.)	McLaglen-Dorsay
*†§Play Called Life (A.T.)	Moran-MacKenna
*†§Playmates (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§Princess and the Plumber, The (A.T.)	Farrell-D'Sullivan
*†§Rod Sky, The (A.T.)	J. Harold Murray
*†§Renegades, The (A.T.)	Baxter-MacKenna-Harris
*†§Scotland Yard (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe
*†§Sea Wolf (A. T.)	Sills-Keith-MacKenna
*†§See America First (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§See You, See Me (A.T.)	McLaglen-Maris-Bogart
*†§She's My Girl (A.T.)	Farrell-Compton
*†§She Wears the Pants (A.T.)	Dorsay-MacKenna
*†§Soup to Nuts (A.T.)	Healy-Winnioer
*†§Spider, The (A.T.)	Baxter-Churchill
*†§Spy, The (A.T.)	Sills-Muni-Churchill
*†§This Modern World (A.T.)	Baxter-Alcaniz
*†§Time Out (A.T.)
*†§Up the River (A.T.)	Huntington-Luce-Bogart
*†§White Flame The (A.T.)	Paul Page
*†§Woman Control (A.T.)	Murray-Maris-Luce
*†§Women of All Nations (A.T.)	McLaglen-Lowe
*†§Wyoming Wonder (A.T.)	Wayne-Clarke-Compton
*†§Young Sinners (A.T.)	Moran-Albertson

INTERNATIONAL PHOTOPLAY DISTRIBUTORS

FEATURES

Title	Star		Length Reels.	Mins.	Reviewed
*†After the Verdict	Olga Tschechowa	Jan.	1....7	76
*†§Crimson Circle, The	Stewart Rome	Feb.	1....7	79	Jan. 11
*†§Dark Red Roses (A.T.)	Rome-Doblo	Mar.	1....8	67	Mar. 8

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Length Reels.	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Aci-Dental Treatment		2	17
*†§Abbie Mitchell & Sizzle & Blake	Song Program	1	8
*†Allaz-Dp	Marionettes	1	6
*†§Clyde Doerr & Saxoghone Sextet	Jazz Program	1	8
*†§Feed the Brute (A.T.)	Animal Novelty	1	8
*†§Heak (A.T.)	Frawley & Smith	1	9
*†§Justice (A.T.)	Special Cast	2	17
*†§Little Journeys in Songland	Song Series	1	8
*†§Miser, The (A.T.)	Bransby Williams	1	8
*†§Mr. Smith Wakes Up (A.T.)	Marriott-Gott	2	16
*†§Night in Dixie, A (A.T.)	Mitchell-Hudgins	2	15
*†§Nora Blaney No. 1	Song Program	1	9
*†§Nora Blaney No. 2	Song Program	1	9
*†§Operatic	Marionettes	1	9
*†§Radia Franks & 4 Bachelors	Song Program	1	8
*†§Teddy Brown & His Band	Jazz Program	1	9
*†§Unwritten Law, The (A.T.)	Rosalind Fuller	Feb.	1....3	30
*†§When the Clock Struck Twelve (A.T.)	Niles Welch		2	16

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Anna Christie (A.T.)	Greta Garbo	Feb.	21....6700	74	Dec. 21
*†§Big House, The (A.T.)	Berry-Morris-Hyams	June	21....7901	88	June 28
*†§Big Shot, The (A.T.)	Keaton-Ellers	Aug.	30	75	July 28
*†§Bishop Murder Case (A.T.)	Basil Rathbone	Jan.	3....7961	88	Nov. 16
*†§Caught Short (A.T.)	Dressler-Moran-Page	May	10....6873	75	May 10
*†§Chasing Rainbows (A.T.)	Love-King	Jan.	10....8100	90	Nov. 2
(Reviewed under title of "Road Show" in Nov. 2, 1929, issue)
*†§Children of Pleasure (A. T.)	Gray-Rubin-Johnson	Apr.	12....6400	72	Aug. 9
*†§Devil-May-Care (A.T.)	Ramon Novarro	Feb.	7....8782	98	Dec. 28
*†§Divorcee, The (A.T.)	Shearer-Morris	Apr.	28....7533	84	Apr. 19
*†§Free and Easy (A.T.)	Buster Keaton	Mar.	22....8413	93	Feb. 22
*†§Floradora Girl, The (A.T.)	Davies-Gray	May	31....7260	81	June 7
*†§Girl Said No, The (A.T.)	Haines-Hyams	Mar.	15....8382	93	Feb. 1
*†§Good News (A.T.)	Special Cast	Not Set		8100	80	Apr. 12
*†§In Gay Madrid (A.T.)	Ramon Novarro	May	17....7654	85	June 7
*†§Lady of Scandal (A.T.)	Chatterton-Forbes-Rathbone	May	24....6858	68	May 31
*†§Lady to Love (A.T.)	Vilma Banky	Mar.	8....8142	90	Feb. 8
*†§Lot Us Be Gay (A.T.)	Shearer-La Roque	Aug.	9	70	May 3
*†§Lord Byron of B'way (A.T.)	Terry-Kaley-Edwards	Jan.	28....7200	80	Jan. 25
*†§Montana Moon (A.T.)	Joan Crawford	Mar.	29....7917	88	Feb. 8
*†§Not So Dumb (A.T.)	Davies-Nugent	Jan.	17....7650	85	Nov. 2
Reviewed under title of "Duley" in Nov. 2, 1929, issue
*†§Our Blushing Brides (A.T.)	Crawford-Page-Sebastian	July	11....9138	102	July 19
*†§Redemption (A.T.)	Gilbert-Nagel-Adoree	Apr.	5....6019	67	May 10
*†§Rogue Song, The (A.T.)	Lawrence Tibbett	May	10....9372	104	Feb. 1
*†§Romance	Greta Garbo	July	26		Aug. 2
*†§Sea Bat, The (A.T.)	Bickford-Miljan-Torres	June	7....6570	73	May 3
*†§Ship From Shanghai, The (A.T.)	Nagel-Johnson-Wolheim	Jan.	31....6725	69	Jan. 18
*†§Singer of Seville, The (A.T.)	Novarro-Jordan-Adoree	Aug.	24....9179	100	July 12
*†§Sins of the Children (A.T.)	Mann-Nugent	June	27....7775	86	July 5
Reviewed under the title of "Richest Man" in the World in July 5 issue
*†§Strictly Unconventional (A.T.)	Stone-Cavanagh-Owen	May	3....4970	55	Feb. 22
Reviewed under the title of "The Circle" in Feb. 22, 1929, issue
*†§This Mad World (A.T.)	Rathbone-Johnson	Apr.	19....8100	68	Apr. 19
*†§They Learned About Women (A.T.)	Van and Schenck	Jan.	31....8773	97	Dec. 14
*†§Unholy 3, The	Chaney-Lee-Linow	Aug.	2	70	May 24
*†§Woman Racket (A.T.)	Meore-Sweet	Jan.	24....6387	71	Dec. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Ballyhoo (A.T.)
*†§Battle of the Ladies (A. T.)
*†§Billy the Kid (A.T.)	John Mack Brown
*†§Bugle Sounds, The (A.T.)	Lon Caney
*†§Crisis, The (A.T.)
*†§Dance, Fools, Dance (A.T.)
*†§Dark Star, The (A.T.)	Marie Dressler
*†§Daybreak (A.T.)	Ramon Novarro
*†§Dixie (A.T.)
*†§Demo That Thing (A.T.)
*†§Doughboy	Buster Keaton
*†§Five O'Clock Girl, The (A.T.)	Marion Davies
*†§Great Day, The (A.T.)	Joan Crawford
*†§Great Meadow, The (A.T.)
*†§Her Fortune (A.T.)	Joan Crawford
*†§Jenny Lind (A.T.)	Grace Moore
*†§Like Kelly Can (A.T.)	Montgomery-Jardon
*†§Madame Satan (A.T.)	Reginald Denny
*†§March of Time (Tent.)	Weber & Fields
*†§Merry Widow, The (A.T.)
*†§Monsieur Le Fox (A.T.)	Barbara Leonard
*†§Naughty Marietta (A.T.)
*†§New Moon, The (A.T.)	Lawrence Tibbett
*†§Passion Flower, The (A.T.)
*†§Razzle-Dazzle (A.T.)	Dressler-Moran
*†§Red Dust (A.T.)	Greta Garbo
*†§Remote Control (A.T.)	Haines-Doran
*†§Revue of Revues (A. T.)	King-Love-Haines-Crowford
*†§Rosalie (A.T.)	Marion Davies
*†§Song of India (A.T.)
*†§Tamglee (A.T.)
*†§Those Three French Girls (A.T.)
*†§Trader Horn (A.T.)	Harry Carey
*†§War Babies (A.T.)	Buster Keaton
*†§War Nurse (A.T.)
*†§Way for a Sailor (A.T.)	John Gilbert
*†§Way Out West (A.T.)	Haines-Hyams
*†§World's Illusion, The (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§All Teed Up	Charley Chase	Apr.	19....1895	Mar. 20
*†§Baby Follies (A. T.)	Revue	Apr.	12
*†§Beer Shooters	Our Gang	May	17....1881	Feb. 15
*†§Below Zero (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	Apr.	28....1889
*†§Big Kick, The	Harry Langdon	Mar.	29....1827	Jan. 25
*†§Biltmore Trio		Jan.	25....853
*†§Blotto	Laurel-Hardy	Feb.	8....2654	Feb. 15
*†§Brats	Laurel-Hardy	Apr.	27....1928	Apr. 5
*†§Clock Shop, The	Revue	May	10....2 reels
*†§College Hounds	Dogs		2 reels	Mar. 29
*†§Collage Rameos	Biltmore Trio	Jan.	25....853
*†§Doerr, Clyde		Jan.	18....572
*†§Fast Work (A. T.)	Charlie Chase	June	28....1866	May 24
*†§Fifty Million Husbands	Charlie Chase	May	24....1846	Mar. 29
†§Fighting Parson	Langdon	Feb.	22....1877	Dec. 14
*†§First Saven Years, The	Our Gang	Mar.	1....1843	Apr. 5
*Flower Garden	Revue	Jan.	18
*†§Gems of M-G-M (A.T.)
*†§Haywire (A.T.)	Laurel-Hardy	May	29....1775	June 7
*†§Head Guy, The	Harry Langdon	Jan.	11....1878
*†§Hog Wild (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	May	31....1775
*†§Hot Dog	Dogs		2 reels	Feb. 15
*†§Kiddies Revue (A. T.)		Mar.	15
*†§King, The	Harry Langdon	June	14....1787
*†§Laurel & Hardy Murder Case	Laurel-Hardy		2 reels	Aug. 2
*†§Manhattan Serenade (A. T.)	Hackett-Doran
*†§Night Owls (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	Jan.	4....1895	Dec. 14
*†§Old Man Trouble (A. T.)	Davidson-Nichols		2 reels
*†§Real McCoy (A. T.)	Chase	Feb.	1....1899	Dec. 14
*†§Shivering Shakespeare	Our Gang	Jan.	25....1870
*†§Shrimp, The	Harry Langdon	May	3....1738	Feb. 15
*†§Song Writer's Revue, The (A.T.)
*†§Tough Winter, A	Our Gang	June	21....1880	Mar. 29
*†§Van & Schenck		Jan.	11....799
*†§Vodovillo (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy		2 reels
*†§When the Wind Blows	Our Gang	Apr.	5....1795
*†§Whispering Whoopee	[illegible]	Mar.	8....1907	Mar. 29

PARAMOUNT

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel.	Length Date	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Anybody's War (A.T.)	Moran & Mack	Aug.	2..	6750	75	Apr. 5
*†§Aggiesauce (A.T.)	Helen Morgan	Jan.	4....	7068	78	Oct. 12
*†§Behind the Make-Up (A.T.)	Skelly-Wray-Powell	Jan.	11	8364	71	Oct. 26
*†§Benson Murder Case The (A.T.)	Powell-Paliette-Calvert	Apr.	12....	5794	65	Apr. 19
*†§Big Pond, The (A.T.)	Chevalier-Colbert	May	3....	6884	78	May 17
*†§Border Legion, The (A.T.)	Arlen-Wray-Holt	June	28....	6088	68	July 5
*†§Burning Up (A.T.)	Arlen-Brion	Feb.	1....	5251	58	Feb. 15

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

†§Civilian Clothes (A.T.)	Cooper-Collyer	July	12
*†§Dangerous Dan McGrew (A.T.)	Helen Kane	July	5	6571	71	June	28
*†§Dangerous Paradise (A.T.)	Carroll-Arlen	Feb.	22	5244	58	Feb.	22
*†§Devil's Holiday, The (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll	May	24	6743	75	May	17
*†§Follow Thru (A.T.)	Rogers-Carroll	July	26	Not set		May	24
*†§For the Defense (A.T.)	William Powell	July	26	5670	63	July	12
*†§Grumpy (A. T.)	Cyril Maude	Aug.	23	5940	66	July	12
*†§Honey (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll	Mar.	29	6701	74	Feb.	22
*†§Kibitzer (A.T.) (D.)	Green-Brian-Hamilton	Jan.	11	7273	81	Aug.	31
†§Ladies Love Brutes (A.T.)	George Bancroft	Apr.	26	7177	70	Apr.	19
*†§Let's Go Native (A.T.)	MacDonald-Oakie	Aug.	16	6560	65	May	31
*†§Light of Western Stars (A.T.)	Arlen-Brian-Green	Apr.	19	6312	70	May	31
*†§Love Among the Millionaires (A.T.)	Bow-Smith	July	19	6190	71	July	12
*†§Love Parade (A.T.) (D)	Chevalier-MacDonald	Jan.	18	1006	111	Oct.	19
†§Man From Wyoming (A.T.)	Cooper-Collier	July	12	6120	68	July	12
*†§Manslaughter (A. T.)	Colbert-March	Aug.	9			July	26
*†§Men Are Like That (A.T.)	Hal Skelly	Mar.	22	5500	61	Nov.	23
*†§Monte Carlo		Not Set		7650	85	Aug.	9
*†§Only the Brave (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	Mar.	8	6024	67	Mar.	15
*†§Paramount on Parade (A.T.)	Special Cast	Apr.	26	9125	90	Apr.	5
*†§Return of Fu Manchu (A.T.)	Oland-Arthur	May	17	6586	73	May	10
*†§Roadhouse Nights (A.T.)	Morgan-Ruggles	Feb.	15	6780	74	Dec.	28
Reviewed as "River Inn" In Dec. 28, 1929 Issue
*†§Safety In Numbers (A.T.)	Charles Rogers	June	7	7074	79	June	7
*†§Sap From Syracuse (A.T.)	Jack Oakie	July	26	6018	68	Aug.	2
*†§Sarah and Son (A.T.)	Ruth Chatterton	Mar.	22	6688	77	Mar.	22
*†§Seven Days' Leave (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	Jan.	25	6100	68	Nov.	23
Reviewed under the title of "Medal" In Nov. 23, 1929 Issue
*†§Shadow of the Law (A.T.)	Powell-Schilling	June	14	6392	68	June	7
*†§Silent Enemy, The	Indian Cast	Aug.	2	8080	88	May	17
*†§Slightly Scarlet (A.T.)	Evelyn Brent	Feb.	22	6402	71	Jan.	25
*†§Social Lion, The (A.T.)	Oakie-Brian	June	7	5403	60	June	21
*†§Street of Chance (A.T.)	Wm. Powell	Feb.	8	7023	90	Dec.	28
*†§Texan, The (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	May	10	7142	68	May	17
*†§True to the Navy (A.T.)	Clara Bow	May	31	6396	71	May	17
*†§Vagabond King, The (A.T.)	King-MacDonald-Oland	Apr.	19	9412	105	Jan.	11
*With Byrd at the South Pole		June	28	7411	82	June	28
*†§Young Eagles (A.T.)	Charles Rogers	Apr.	5	6405	71	Mar.	22
*†§Young Man of Manhattan (A.T.)	Colbert-Ruggles	May	17	7621	85	Apr.	26

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Animal Crackers (A .T.)	Marx Brothers
*†§Backstage Blues (A. T.)	Moran & Mack
*†§Better Wife, The (A. T.)	Chatterton-Brook	Aug. 30
*†§Blue Angel, The (A.T.)	Emil Jannings
*†§Business is Pleasure (A.T.)
*†§Cave Man, The (A.T.)	Geo. Bancroft
*†§Dancing Mothers (A. T.)
*†§Feet First (A. T.)	Harold Lloyd
*†§Fighting Caravan, The (A.T.)	Cooper-Torrence
*†§Flesh of Eve (A. T.)	Nancy Carroll
*†§General, The (A. T.)	Huston-Francis
*†§Heads Up (A. T.)	Rogers-Kane
*†§Her Wedding March	Clara Bow
*†§Honeymoon Lane (A. T.)	Eddie Dowling
*†§Huckleberry Finn (A. T.)	Junior Coghlan
*†§Kid Boots (A. T.)	Jack Oakie
*†§Ladies' Man (A. T.)	William Powell
*†§Last Company, The (A.T.)	Veidt-Evans
†§Laughing Lady, The (A.T.)	Chatterton-Brook
*†§Laughter (A. T.)	Nancy Carroll
*†§Leave It to Lester (A.T.)
*†§Little Cafe	Maurice Chevalier
*†§Lost Ecstacy	Richard Arlen
*†§Love Waltz, The (A.T.)	Harvey-Batten
*†§Man From Wyoming	Gary Cooper	July 12	6120	68 July 12
*†§Manhattan Mary	Ed Wynn
†§Merton of the Talkies (A.T.)	Jack Oakie
*†§Molineff (A.T.)	Charles Rogers
*†§Morocco (A. T.)	Cooper-Dietrich
*†§New Morals (A. T.)	Chatterton-Brook
*†§North of '36	Richard Arlen
*†§Queen High (A. T.)	Ruggles-Rogers-Morgan	Aug. 23		July 26
*†§Right to Love, The (A.T.)	Ruth Chatterton
*†§Rodeo Romance (A. T.)	Arlen-Carroll
*†§Rolling Down to Rio	George Bancroft
*†§Rose of the Rancho (A. T.)	Gary Cooper
*†§Royal Family, The (A. T.)	Frederic March
*†§Scarab Murder Case (A. T.)	William Powell
*†§Sea God, The (A. T.)	Arlen-Wray
*†§Skippy (A. T.)
*†§Social Errors	Richard Arlen
*†§Spoiler, The (A. T.)	Gary Cooper
*†§Station S-E-X (A. T.)	Clara Bow
*†§Tom Sawyer (A. T.)	Jackie Coogan
*†§Tonto Rim	Richard Arlen
*†§Typhon Bill	George Bancroft
*§§Youth (A. T.)	Hersholt-Wray

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
†§Accidents Will Happen (A.T.)	Smith and Dale	Aug. 2	2 reels
*†§Actions Speak Louder Than Words	Wm. & Joe Mandel	Mey 3	1 reel
*†§Artist's Reverie, The (A.T.)	Ash-Washington		1 reel	June 14
*†§At Home (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell		1 reel
*†§Ballet Class, The (A.T.)	De Mille-Albertieri	May 31	1 reel
†§Barnacle Bill, the Sailor (A.T.)	Talkarteen		1 reel	Aug. 2
*†§Bearded Lady (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Mar. 1	1794
*†§Bedella	Screen Song	Jan. 4	604
*†§Belle of the Night		Feb. 15	2 reels
*†§Chinatown Fantasy, A	Miller-Dova	July 5	1 reel	May 24
*†§Cherds of Memory		May 10	1 reel
*†§Cockeyed News (A. T.)	Eddie Cantor
*†§Come Take a Trip In My Airship	Screen Song	May 24	1 reel
*†§Confounded Interest (A.T.)	Haymond & Caverly
*†§Dance, You Singers (A.T.)	Puck & White
*†§Deep "C" Melodies	Frances Williams	Jan. 25	901
*†§Desperate Sam	Bert Green	Mar. 29	1832
*†§Dizzy Dishes (A.T.)	Talkartoon	Aug. 9	1 reel
*†§Don't Believe It (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb. 8	1872	Mar. 22
*†§Down With Husbands	Arthur-Roach	Mar. 8	1660	Mar. 22
*†§Dresden Dolls (A. T.)	Gemby	July 26	1 reel
*†§Duke of Dublin (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb. 1	1850
*†§Family Next Door, The	Charles Ruggles	Jan. 11	1381	Feb. 15
*†§Fatal Card, The (A.T.)	W. & E. Howard
*†§Feelin' Blue (A.T.)	Ash-Washington		1 reel
*†§Firebugs	Talkartoon	May 10	704	Apr. 19
*†§Fit to Be Tied (A.T.)	Burns & Allen	Aug. 2	1 reel
*†§For Love or Money (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Jan. 4	1870
*†§Food for Thought (A.T.)	Allen & Canfield		1 reel
*†§Getting a Break	Block & Sully	May 17	1 reel	June 28
*†§Getting a Ticket	Eddie Canter	Mar. 22	948	Feb. 15
*†§Glow Worm, The (A.T.)	Screen Song	Aug. 23	564	July 19
*†§Grand Uproar (A.T.)	Talkartoon		1 reel
*†§Helping Hand, The (A.T.)	Solly Ward		1 reel
*†§He Was Her Man (A.T.)	Gilda Gray		2 reels
*†§His Honor, the Mayor	Christie Comedy	Mar. 22	1665	July 5
*†§Hot Dog	Talkartoon	Mar. 29	1 reel
*†§Hot Time In the Old Town Tonight, A (A.T.)	Screen Song	Aug. 2	1 reel	July 5
*†§I Came First	Herman Timberg	Apr. 12	814
*†§I'm a Wild Woman (A.T.)	Boydell-Ash		1 reel
*†§I'm Afraid to Come Home In the Dark	Screen Song	Feb. 1	651	Jan. 25
*†§I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles	Screen Song	Mar. 15	1 reel
*†§In the Good Old Summertime (A.T.)	Screen Song	June 7	1 reel
*†§In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree	Screen Song	Jan. 18	752
*†§Insurance	Eddie Cantor		1 reel	June 28
*†§Introduction of Mrs. Gibbs (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell
*†§Jazz Preferred (A.T.)	Zelaya		1 reel	July 5
*†§Kandy Kabaret (A.T.)	Children's Ballet		1 reel	June 28
*†§La Paloma	Screen Song	Apr. 12	574
*†§La Schnapps, Inc. (A.T.)	Smith & Dale
*†§Lady, You Slay Me (A.T.)	Perkins-Hilipot		1 reel
*†§Let Me Explain (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Jan. 4	1870
*†§Lovers' Lane (A.T.)	Arthur & Morton Havel
*†§Many Moons (A.T.)	Bruce Novelty	Aug. 9	1 reel
*†§Meek Mr. Meek, The (A.T.)	Jimmy Barry		1 reel
*†§Million Me's, A	Lee Morse	Apr. 26	964	Jan. 25
*†§Moon Bride's Wedding, The	U. S. Indian Band	Feb. 22	967
*†§Mountain Melodies		Jan. 11	994
*†§My Gal Sal (A.T.)	Screen Song		1 reel
*†§Neighborly Neighbors (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell	Aug. 16	2 reels
*†§New Rhythm	Azpiazer & Band			July 26
*†§Ole Man Whoopee (A.T.)	Art Frank		1 reel	July 26
*†§Paramount Acts			1 reel
*†§Paramount Comedies			2 reels
*†§Paramount Pictorials
*†§Paramount Screen Songs			1 reel
†§Paramount Sound News			1 reel
*†§Paramount Talkartoons			1 reel
*†§Prisoner's Song, The	Screen Song	Mar. 1	738
*†§Radio Riot	Talkartoon	Feb. 15	737	Feb. 15
*†§Resolutions (A.T.)	Billy House	Aug. 30	2 reels
*†§Rube, The	Jimmy Barry	June 21	1 reel
*†§Scott Water Ballads		Mar. 8	967
*†§Scrappily Married (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb. 22	1631	Jan. 18
*†§Schipa, Tito		May 24	1 reel
*†§So This Is Paris Green	Fazenda	Jan. 18	1747	Jan. 25
*†§Story Book Parade, The (A.T.)	Children's Ballet		1 reel
*†§Stronger Sex, The (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Mar. 15	1760
*†§Sunset Hunter, The		June 24	1 reel
*†§Tide Rises, The		June 14	1 reel
*†§Toys	Ormonde Sisters	June 28	1 reel
*†§Twentieth Amendment, The (A.T.)			2 reels
*†§Voices of Lonely Men		Apr. 19	1 reel
*†§Wanderlust	Bruce Scenis	Apr. 5	1 reel	Feb. 15
*†§Wee Bit O' Scotch		Feb. 8	1022
*†§Wise Flies (A.T.)	Telkarton	July 19	1 reel
*†§Yes, We Have No Bananas	Screen Sone	Apr. 26	1 reel	May 24

PATHE

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Beyond Victory (A.T.) (F.)	Boyd-Twelvetrees-Gleason-Scott
*†§Crashing Through (A.T.) (F.)	William Boyd
*†§Grand Parade, The (A.T.) (F.)	Twelvetrees-Scott	Feb. 2	7607	84	Nov. 15
*†§Her Man (A.T.) (F.)	Twelvetrees-Rambeau-Cortez-Holmes-Gleason
*†§His First Command (A.T.) (F.)	Boyd-Sebastian	Jan. 19	5850	65
*†§Holiday (A.T.) (F.)	Harding-Astor-Horton-Ames-Hopper		8870	97
*†§Night Work (A.T.) (F.)	Eddie Quillan
*†§Officer O'Brien (A.T.) (F.)	Boyd-Sebastian	Feb. 15	6740	73	Nov. 30
*†§Painted Desert (A.T.) (F.)	Boyd-Burgess
*†§Pardon My Gun (A.T.) (F.)	Starr-Duryea	June 29	5651	63	July 5
*†§Rich People (A.T.) (F.)	Constance Bennett	June 5	7074	78
*†§Swing High (A.T.) (F.)	Twelvetrees-Scott	June 18	7500	75	May 3

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Adam and Eve (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§All the Way (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§Greater Love, The (A.T.)	Ann Harding
*†§In Deep (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§I Take This Woman (A.T.)	Harry Bannister
*†§Last Frontier, The (A .T.)	William Boyd
*†§Lazy Lady (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§Looking for Treuble (A.T.)	Eddie Quillan
*†§North of the Yukon (A.T.)	William Boyd
*†§Price of a Party, The (A.T.)	Helen Twelvetrees
*†§Rawhide (A.T.)	William Boyd
*†§Romance Harbor (A.T.)
*†§Rebound
*†§Siren Song, The (A.T.)	Mary Lewis
*†§Taking the Rap (A.T.)	Robert Armstrong
*†§This Marriage Business (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

(Note: Pathe does not list running time on Shorts. The approximate running time of reels in the important series, however, follow:

2 reel comedies	26 min.
Pathe Sound News	10 min.
Pathe Silent News	10 min.
Pathe Audio Review	11 min.
Pathe Review	11 min.
Aesop's Fables	8 min.
Grantland Rice Sportlights	10 min.
Talking Topics of the Day	7 min.

• • •

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§America or Bust	Daphne Pollard	July 27	2 reels
*†§Beauties, The	Hiatt-Kaley	June 29	2 reels
*†§Big Hearted	Harry Gribbon	June 22	2 reels
*†§Boss's Orders, The	Morgan-McPhail	Aug. 31	2 reels
*†§Bugville Romance, A	Aesop Fable	June 8	1 reel
*†§Campus Favorites	Sportlight	June 29	1 reel
*†§Carnival Revue	Hiatt-Hughes	Aug. 3	2 reels
*†§Chasing Rainbows	Sportlight	Aug. 10	1 reel
*†§Champion Makers	Sportlight	June 15	1 reel
*†§Clark's First Car		Oct. 5	2 reels
*†§Drums of Fear	Vagabond Adventure Series	June 29	1 reel
*†§Give Me Action	Manning-Helman	Sept. 28	2 reels	Aug. 9
*†§Glacier's Secret The	Vagabond Adventure Series	June 1	1 reel
*†§Hearts and Heofs	Rico-Keefe	Sept. 7	2 reels
*†§Hold the Baby	Agnew-Crane-McPhail	Aug. 17	2 reels
*†§Hot Tamale	Aesop Fables	Aug. 3	1 reel	Aug. 9
*†§Hooked	Sportlight	May 18	1 reel
*†§Jungle Jazz	Aesop Fable	July 6	1 reel
*†§Lair of Chang-How, The	Vagabond Adventure Series	June 15	1 reel	Aug. 9
*†§Let 'Er Buck	Sportlight	July 27	1 reel
*†§Live and Learn	McPhail-Deering	June 15	2 reels
*†§Love That Kills	Vagabond Adventure Series	Aug. 10	1 reel
*†§Mandalay	Song Sketch	Jan. 5	1 reel
*†§Mind Your Business	Agnew-Gulliver	July 20	2 reels
*†§Musical Beauty Shop	All Star	June 1	2 reels
*†§New Waiter, The	All Star	June 8	2 reels
*†§Night Clerk, The		Sept. 14	2 reels
*†§Night in a Dormitery, A	Ginger Rogers	Jan. 5	2 reels
*†§Noah Knew His Ark	Fable	May 25	1 reel
*†§Ranch House Blues	Harris-Douglas	July 13	2 reels
*†§Red Heads, The	Nat Carr	May 18	2 reels
*†§Romeo Robin, A	Aesop Fable	June 22	1 reel
*†§Sacred Fires	Vagabond Adventure Series	July 27	1 reel
*†§Snow Time	Aesop Fable	July 20	1 reel
*†§Some Rabies	Carle-Hiatt-Little Billy	Sept. 21	2 reels
*†§Somewhere Out	Sportlight	July 13	1 reel
*†§Sporting Brothers	Sportlight	June 1	1 reel
*†§Streets of Mystery	Vagabond Adventure Series	May 18	1 reel
*†§Swell People	Gribbon-Manning	Aug. 21	2 reels
*†§Temples of Silence	Vagabond Adventure Series	July 13	1 reel
*†§Trying Them Out	All Star	May 25	2 reels
*†§Two Fresh Eggs	St. John-Aubrey	July 6	2 reels
*†§Two Plus Fours	Nat Carr	Aug. 10	2 reels

ALL ALL-TALKING ON FILM AND DISC.

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

*†§Lair of Chang-How (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series			2 reels		June	7
*†§Love's Memories (A.T.)	Song Sketch	Feb.	16	1 reel
*†§Mind Your Own Business (A. T.)				2 reels		July	12
†§Musical Beauty Shop (A.T.)				2 reels		June	7
†§Noah Knew His Ark (A.T.)				1 reel		June	7
*†§On the Air (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Jan.	12	1 reel		Jan.	11
*†§Dom Pah Pah (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	May	11	1 reel		June	7
*†§Pathe Audio Review (A.T.)	Released Every Week			1 reel
*†§Pathe Sound News	Released Twice Every Week			1 reel
*†§Perfect Match, The (A.T.)	Butler Mayo	Apr.	6	2 reels		Apr.	5
*†§Pick 'Em Young (A.T.)	Agnew-Geraghty	May	4	2 reels		May	10
§†Ranchhouse Blues (A.T.)		May	17
*†§Red Heads (A.T.)	Nat Carr			2 reels		May	24
*†§Rich Uncles (A.T.)	Richard Carle	May	11	1 reel		May	3
*†§Ride 'Em Cowboy	White-Carney	April	15	2 reels		Apr.	5
*†§Romeo Robin, A				1 reel		June	28
*†§Royal Flush, A (A.T.)				2 reels
*†§Rubeville Night Club (A.T.)	H. B. Watson	Jan.	26	2 reels		Nov.	18
*†§Sacred Fires (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series
*†§Ship Ahoy (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	Jaa.	5	2 reel		Jan.	11
*†§Singing Saps (A.T.)	Aesops Fables	Feb.	2	1 reel		Feb.	8
*†§Sixteen Sweetles (A.T.)	White-McNaughton	Apr.	20	2 reels		Apr.	19
*†§Sky Skipoers (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Feb.	16	1 reel		Feb.	15
*†§Snow Time	Aesop Fable			1 reel		July	26
*†§Songs of Mother	Song Sketch	Feb.	2	1 reel		May	10
*†§Spills and Thrills (A.T.)	Sportlight	Apr.	6	1 reel		Apr.	12
*†§Splashing Through (A.T.)	Sportlight	Feb.	23	1 reel		Feb.	15
*†§Sporting Brothers (A.T.)				1 reel		June	7
*§†Streets of Mystery (A.T.)	Vagabond Adventure Series	June	2	1 reel		May	3
*†§Swell People (A.T.)	Marcia Manning					July	19
*†§Temple of Silence (A.T.)	Vagabond Ad. Series			1 reel		July	19
*†§Tight Squeeze (A.T.)	LeMaire	Feb.	2	2 reels		Nov.	23
*†§Trumpeteer, The (A.T.)	Song Sketch	Jan.	19	1 reel
*†§Trying Them Out (A.T.)				2 reels		June	7
*†§Two Fresh Eggs (A.T.)	St. John-Aubrey			2 reels		July	5
*†§Two Plus Fours	Carr-Hill			2 reels		July	26
*†§Voice of the Sea (A.T.)	Song Sketch	May	4	1 reel		May	3
*†§Western Wheepee (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Apr.	13	1 reel		Apr.	19
*†§What, No Balk! (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Mar.	9	1 reel

RKO

FEATURES

Title	Star		Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Alias French Gertie (A.T.)	Daniels-Lyon	Apr.	6202	65	Apr. 19
*†§Beau Bandit (A.D.)	La Rocque-Kenyon	Mar.	6169	69	June 21
*†§Case of Sergeant Grischa	Morris-Compson-Hersholt	Feb.	8191	92	Mar. 8
*†§Cuckoes, The (A.T.)	Wheeler-Woolsey	May	8100	90	Apr. 5
*†§Fall Guy, The (A.T.)	Mulhall-Clarke-Sparks	June	6175	65	May 31
*†§Framed (A.T.)	Brent-Toomey	Mar.	6136	68	Feb. 15
*†§Girl of Port (A.T.)	O'Neil-Sharland	Feb.	6174	69	Jan. 4
*†§He Knew Women (A.T.)	Sherman-Joyce	May	6319	70	Apr. 26
*†§Her Man (A.T.)	Dakin-Walker	Feb.	9327	85	Dec. 21
*†§Inside the Lines (A.T.)	Compson-Forbes	July			July 12
*†§Love Comes Along (A.T.)	Daniels-Hughes	Jan.	7038	78	Dec. 21
*†§Lovin' the Ladies	Richard Dix	Apr.	6138	68	Feb. 22
*†§Midnight Mystery, The (A.T.)	Compson-Sherman	June	6463	72	May 31
*†§Runaway Bride, The (A.T.)	Astor-Hughes	May	6234	69	May 24
*†§Second Wife (A.T.)	Nagel-Lee	Feb.	6058	60	Feb. 15
*†§Seven Keys to Baldpate (A.T.)	Dix-Seegar	Jan.	6579	70	Jan. 4
*†§She's My Weakness (A.T.)	Carol-Lake-Bunce	Aug.	net set		June 28
*†§Shooting Straight (A.T.)	Dix-Lawlor	July	5800	65	July 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Babes in Toyland (A.T.)	Special Cast
*†§Bunker Bean (A. T.)
*†§Check and Double Check (A.T.)	Amos 'n' Andy
*†§Clmarron (A.T.)	Richard Dix
*†§Conspiracy, The (A.T.)	Love-Trevor-Sparks
*†§Dixiana	Babe Daniels	Aug. 30	Not set
*†§Escape (A. T.)
*†§Hall Shot at Sunrise (A. T.)	Wheeler-Woolsey
*†§Heart of the Rockies (A. T.)	Marshall-Daniels
*†§High Rivar
*†§Hunted
*†§Iron Trail, The (A. T.)
*†§Ladies of the Past	Betty Compson
*†§Lawful Larceny (A. T.)	Daniels-Thompson	Aug. 17	6379	67	July 19
*†§Leatherneoking (A. T.)	Fay [illegible]-Rubin
*†§Losing Game	Lowell Sherman
*†§Old Accordion Man, The (A. T.)	Joseph Cawthorn
*†§Perfect Alibi, The (A. T.)
*†§Record Run (A.T.)	Wolhelm-Armstrong-Arthur
*†§Sensation (A.T.)
*†§She's My Weakness (A.T.)	Lake-Carroll
*†§Silver Horde (A. T.)	Brent-Wolhelm
*†§Upperworld (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Age of Innocence, The (A.T.(F)	Paula Trueman	Jan. 5	1 reel
*†§Before Breakfast (A.T.)(F)		Mar. 9	2 reels
*†§Bobbed Wire (A. T.)	Dane-Arthur
*†§Bridegroom, The (A.T.)(F)	Marc Connelly	Feb. 2	1 reel
*†§Broken Wedding Bells (A.T.)	Dane-Arthur			June 21
*†§Campus Sweethearts (A. T.)(F&D)		Mar. 9	2 reels
*†§Cash and Marry (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke-Sargant	Mar. 16	2 reels
*†§Dear Slayar (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Mar. 2	2 reels	Feb. 22
*†§Eventually But Not Naw (A.T.) (F&D)	Vaughn-Cooke..	Apr. 13	2 reels	Apr. 19
*†§Fair Dereiver, The (A. T.) (F&D)		Jan. 6	1 reel
*†§General Ginsburg (A.T.) (F)	Nat Carr	Apr. 13	2 reels
*†§Golf Specialist, Tha	W. C. Fields		2 reels	July 5
*†§Goed Time Kenneth	Marc Connelly		1 reel	Aug. 9
*†§Gunboat Ginsburg (A.T.) (F)	Nat Carr	Jan. 12	2 reels	Nov. 9
*†§Guest, The (A. T.) (F&D)	Marc Connelly	May 25	1 reel
*†§Hot Bridge (A. T.) (F&D)		May 11	2 reels
*†§Humanettes	Benny Rubin		1 reel	July 5
*†§Jazz (A.T.) (F)	Duke Ellington & Orchestra	Feb. 9	1 reel
*†§Land of the Sky Blue Daughters	Vaughn-Cooke	Mar. 30	2 reels
*†§Lost and Foundered (A. T.) (F&D)	Vaughn-Cooke ..	Jan. 19	2 reels
*†§Magnata The (A T.) (F&D).	Marc Connelly	Mar. 30	1 reel
*†§Men Without Skirts (A.T.)	Dane-Arthur		2 reels	July 5
*†§Mickey's Champs (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Feb.	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Luck (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Mar. 30	2 reels	Apr. 12
*†§Mickey's Master Mind (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Mar.	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Merry Men (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	July	20 reels
*†§Mickey's Strategy (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Jan.	5 reels
*†§Mickey's Winners (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Aug.	17 reels
*†§Mickey the Romeo (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	June	22 reels
*†§Mickey the Whirlwind (A.T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Apr.	27 reels
*†§Mickey tha Warrior	Mickey Yula	May	25 reels
*†§Museum, Tha	Toby the Pup		1 reel	May 24
*†§Musical Moments (A. T.)	Felix Fernando Orch		1 reel	June 14
*§†Off to Peoria (A.T.)	Nick & Tony	July	13 reels	June 14
*†§Old Bill's Christmas (A.T.)		Feb.	9 reels	Dec. 14
*†§Old Vamps for New (A. T.)	Vaughn-Caoka	Feb.	2 reels	Jan. 25
*†§Palooka Flvine School (A.T.)		June	22 reels
*†§Peep on the Deep, A	Clark & McCulleugh		2 reels	July 5
*†§Setting Son, The (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Feb.	16 reels	Feb. 8
*†§Sleeping Cuties (A.T.)	Alberta Vaughn	Jan.	5 reels	Dec. 21
*†§Song and the Sergeant, The (A.T.)		May	11 reels
*†§Strange Interview, The (A.T.) (F)	Sherwin-Knowlas	Mar.	2 reel
*†§While Auto Waits (A.T.)(F)		Jan.	12
*†§Who's Got the Body (A.T.)	Nick & Tony	Aug.	3 reels	May 24

SONO-ART-WORLD WIDE

Title	Star	Rel. Data	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Big Fight, The (A.T.)	Williams-Lane	Sept.	5850	65	Apr. 19
*†§Cock O' the Walk (A.T.)	J. Schildkraut-Loy	May	7200	80	Apr. 19
*§†Dude Wranglar, The (A.T.)	Duryea-Basquette	June	6200	68	May 24
*†§Fighting Fer the Fatherland		Apr.
*†§Hello Sister (A. T.)	L. Hughes-Borden	Feb.	9500	100	Apr. 5
*†§Once a Gentleman (A.T.)	Horton-Wilson	Aug.			June 21
*†§Reno (A.T.)	Roland-Thomson-Love
*†§Sombras de Gloria (Spanish)	Special Cast	Feb.	9500	100	Feb. 22
*†§What a Man (A.T.)	Denny-Segar	Apr.	7000	79	Mar. 29

STATE RIGHTS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Dist'r	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Aerass the World (A.D.)	Martin Johnson	Talk. Plc. Epics..	Not set	98	Jan. 25
*†§After the Verdict (A.T.)	Tschechowa-Ward	Int. Photoplay..	Jan. 1..	73	June 21
Aspnalt	Froelich-Amann	Allied Film. Mar. 15..	8 reels	85	May 10
Because I Love You	Mady Christians	Amer. Gen. Film	Jan. 24	100	Feb. 8
*†§Beyond the Rio Grande (A.T.)	Jack Perrin	Big 4	Apr. 15	60	June 7
*†§Bottom of the World		Talk. Plc Epics	Sept. 1	42
*†§Bride 66 (P.T.)	Verdt-Brink	Amer. Angla	Apr. 6	100	Apr. 19
*†§Bright Eyes	Balfour-Trevor	New Era	July 10	76	July 5
*†§Burning Heart, The	Christians-Froelich..	Harold Auten....	May 10	88	May 24
*†§Call of Circus (A.T.) (D.F.)	Bushman Clayton	Burr	Jan. 15	61	Jan. 18
*Canyon of Missing Men	Tom Tyler	Syndicate	June 1..	50	Aug. 2
Caught in Berlin Underworld	Fritz Kortner				Feb. 15
Chess Player, The	Jehanne-Blanchard	Unusual Plct.
*†Civilization	Hiekman-Markey	Amer. Trad. Assn
*†§Clancy in Wall Street (A.T.)	Murray-Littlefield	Aristocrat	Mar. 15	7127	Mar. 1
*†§Code of the West	Bob Custer	Syndicate		57
[illegible] Optimists	Special Cast	[illegible] Ltd	Feb. 0		Feb. 22
*†§Danger Man, The (P.T.)	Chas. Hutchinson	Cosmos	May 20	6516	82	May 24
*†§Darkened Skies (A.T.)	Brentwood-MacDonald	Biltmore Prod.	Jan..	5400	60	Dec. 14
Docks of Hamburg	Jugo-Fritsch	Uta.
*†§Drifters		Harold Auten		40	July 5
*†§Escaped from Dartmoor	Baring-Henning	Harold Auten..	Apr. 11	7529	70	Apr. 19
Farmer's Wife	Thamas-Hall-Davis	Allied	Jan. 4	6845	76	Jan. 18
*†§Firebrand Jordan	Lane Chandler	Big 4	June 23	5400	60	July 26
Figare		Franco-American	Net Sat.	6360	71	Dec. 7
*†§Heart's Melody (A. T.) (F & D)	Fritsch-Parlo	Ufa Film
Her Unborn Child (F & D)	Special Cast	Windsor	Jan. 10	7609	85	Jan. 18
Hunted Men	Bob Steele	Syndicate	Apr..	4853
*†§Immortal Vagabond (A.T.)	Haid-Froelich	Uta Film
In the South Seas with Mr. and Mrs. Pinchot		Talk. Plct. Epics.	Sept. 1	5538		May 31
*†Ingagi	African Hunt	Congo Plct. Ltd.	Apr. 13	7776	86	Apr. 26
Jade Casket, Tha	French Cast	Cosmos		5800	64
*†§Juno and the Paycock (A.T.)	Sara Allgood	Harold Auten...	June 27.	9100		July 5
*†§Ladies in Love (A.T.)	Day-Walker	Chesterfield	May 17	6095	69	May 3
*†§Last Dance, The (A.T.)	Reynelds-Robards	Audible	Mar 8	5h 5	65	Mar 29
*Lone Horseman	Tom Tyler	Syndicate...	Nov. 1, '29..	4739	53	Aug. 2
*†§Lost Gods (A.T.)		Talk Plc. Epics...	Sept. 1	4800	53	July 12
Lost Patrol		Pro Patria	Not Set	6100		Dec. 21
*†§Love at First Sight (A.T.)	Kaaner-Foster	Chesterfield....	Feb. 1	6039	68	Feb. 1
Mystery at the Villa Rose	Trevor-Baring	Harold Auten..	May 31	9000	100	mins.
*†§Mysteries of Nature		Ufa			71
*†§Overland Bound (A.T.)	Perrin-Ray	Raytone	Apr. 15	5040	56	Mar. 29
*†§Parting of the Trails	Bob Custer	Syndicate ..	Mar. 1	4700	52	Mar. 29
Passion Song, The	Dimsted-N. Beery	Excellent		5080	56
Peacock Fan The	Dorothy Dwan	Chesterfield		5400	60
Poor Millionaire	Talmadge-Howard	Biltmora	Apr. 7	5200	58	May 17
Pori	Special Cast	Ufa Films
*†§Rampant Aga (A.T.) (D.F.)	Murray-Kennedy	Continental	Jan. 15	5743	64	Jan. 18
*†§Ridin' Law	Perrin-Canutt	Big 4	May 1	25600	62	July 5
*†§Romance of West	Jack Perrin	Jack Trop	June 15..	5494	61	Aug. 2
Sea Fury	Mildred Harris	Tom White	Not Set	5200	58	Dec. 7
*†§Slums of Tokio	Japanese Cast	Movieigraphs
Smoke Bellew	Conway Tearle	First Division		6605	73
South of Panama	Carmelita Geraghty	Chesterfield		6300	70
Stampede	Native Cast	Harold Auten...	Apr. 20	7540	80	May 3
Strange Case of District Attorney "M"		Unusual Photoplay	Mar. 6800			Mar. 22
*†§Taka tha Helr (A.D.)	Edward Horton	Big 4	Jan. 15.	5700	63	Jan. 25
Three Dutcasts, The	Yakima Canutt	Waca	Mar. 7	5 reels		Dec. 19
Thunder Ged	Cornelius Keefe	Crescent		5917	66
Western Honor	Bob Steele	Syndicata..	Mar.	4849	50	May 17
*†§West of Rockies (A.T.) (D)	Art Mix	World Art	Jan. 18.	6100	68
*†§White Cargo (A T.)	Special Cast	Harold Auten			Mar. 1
*†§White Devil (P.T.) (F & D)	Mesjukin-Dagover	UFA Films
Why Cry at Parting	Haim-Gralla	International		7000	78	Feb. 22
*†§Waman Wha Was Forgottea (A.D.)	Balle Beanett	State Cinema....	Jan. 1.	7560	85	Jan. 25
Wonderful Lies of Nina Petrowna	Helm-Ward	Allied Films..	May 30..	8 reels	80	June 14
Worldly Goods	Kirkwond-Kennedy	Continental	Aug. 1..	6065	65	Aug. 2
*†§Would You Believe It?	Walter Forde	Big 4	Mar. 15	6 reels	60
*†§Yiddish Mama, The (A.T.)	Mae Simon	Judea Films		4000

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Ape, The (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Bar L Ranch	Bill, Jr.-Wales	Big 4
*†§Body, Soul and Dress
†§Burned Evidence (F)		Continental
Buying a Wife	Special Cast	Aff. European	7 reels
*†§Clown, The (F)		Continental
*§†Comeback, Tha (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Dancing Fathers (A.T.)
*†§Dangerous Trails		Big 4	Sept. 15
*†§Davy Jones Locker (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Divorce Question, Tha (A.T.)		Majestic
Duty to be Silent	Maria Albana	Aff European	6 reels
*†§East Lynna (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§East of Asia (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Everybody's Girl (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
Exedus te the New World, Tha	Lyon-Prevost	Pioneer
Full Dressed Thieves	Nils Asther	Aff. European	7 reels
Garman Underworld	Special Cast	Aff European	7 reels
Great Unknown The	Jehn Loder	Aff European	6 reels
*§†Hall the Woman (A.T.)		Majestic
Her Viennese Lever	Asther-Nolaa	Aff. European	6 reels
*†§In Oklahoma (A.T.)
†§Lady of the Lake, The	Percy Marmont	FitzPatrick
*†§Life For Sala A (F)		Continental
Milak of the Snowlands	Saecial Cast	Allied
*†§Midnight Alarm, The (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Mother's Millions (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Night Hawk, The		Big 4	Aug. 15
Our Daily Bread	Mary Nolan	Aff European	7 reels
*†§Price Mark, Tha (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Red Kisses (A.T.)
*†§Romantic Scoundrel, The (A.T.)
*†§Second Honeymeon, Tha (F)		Continental
†§Sentimental Satan (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Smart Women (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Thou Shalt Not Squeal (A.T.)
*†§Today (A.T.)	Nagel-Dwen	Majestic
*†§Trap, The (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Unforbidden Sin, Tha (F)		Continental

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.*

Unholy Love	Wegener-Petrovitch	Aff. Europeans
When Duty Calls	Special Cast	Allied	8714 feet
Wild Men of Kaliheri	Denver African Exp.	Talk. Pict. Epics
*†§Worst Woman in Paris (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Distributor	Length	Reviewed
*†§Across the World		Talk. Pictures Epics	2 reels (serial)	Aug. 9
*†§Anywhere By Air		Visuagraph	3 reels	May 17
*†§At the Photographers (A. T.) (F)	Harry Delf	Elbee	2 reels
*†Beethoven		Fitzpatrick	1 reel	Apr. 19
*†Barn Dance	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
Besides the Western Sea		Castle Film	1 reel
*†§Blind Youth (A. T.)	Lou Tellegen	Capital	2 reels
*†§Bring On the Bride (A.T.)		Elbee	2 reels	Nov. 8
*†§Broken Doll, The (A.T.)	Sadie Banks	Judea Films	1 reel
*†Chela Gang, The	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†Conquest of the Cascades	Educational	Gen. Electric Co.		Apr. 19
*†§Dowa Hawaii Way	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
*†§Egypt, Land of Pyramids		Fitzpatrick	1 reel	June 21
*†§Fourth of July		Fitzpatrick
*†§Friend Husband (A.T.)		Burr	2 reels
*†Gallopiag Gaucho	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	Feb. 11 reel
*†§Gateway to India	Travelogue	Fitzpatrick
*†Jungle Rythm	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel	Jan. 11
*†Just Mickey	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*§†Kiddie Cabaret		Mayfair	2 reels	Apr. 26
*†Kids and Pets	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
Lincoln's Birthday		Fitzpatrick	Feb. 12. 350 feet
*Liszt, Franz	Music Master Series.	Fitz Patrick	1 reel	Apr. 5
*†§Mal-Ko Mashma-Lou (A.T.)	Harry Feld	Judea Films
*†§Mewas (P.T.)		Capital Prod.	3½ reels	June 7
*†§Meet the Family (A.T.) (F)	Harry Delt	Elbee	2 reels
*†Mickey's Concert	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Pred.	1 reel
*†§Monkey Squawks (A.T.)		Burr
*†§Oh Doctor (A.T.)	Special Cast	Judea Films	1800
*†Plane Crazy	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	Jan. 1 reel
*†Plow Boy	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Pred.	1 reel
*†§Shoemaker's Romance (A.T.)	Special Cast	Judea Films	1900
*†§Should I	Charles Lawmer	Advance Trailer		May 17
*†§Signed, Sealed & Delivered (A.T.)		Burr
*†§Sixty Minutes From Broadway	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
*†§Style and Class (A.T.)	Marty Barratz	Judea Films	2000
*†§Summer Harmonies	Song Cartoon	Biophone	1 reel	Oct. 5
*†Tee Time	Felix the Cat	Copley Films	1 reel	Apr. 5
*Thought for Mother's Day	Fitzpatrick		1 reel	May 10
Washington's Birthday		Fitz Petrick	Feb. 22. 350 feet
*†§When My Dreams Come True	Gene & Glenn	Advance Trailer	1 reel	Apr. 5
*†When the Cat's Away	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Pred.	1 reel
*†Wild Waves	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel	Jan. 11

TIFFANY

FEATURES

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Border Romance (A. T.)	Armida-Terry	May 18	5974	65	May 31
*†§High Treason (A.T.)	Hume-Thomas	Mar. 25	6210	69	June 7
*†§Hot Curves (A.T.)	Rubin-Lease-Day	June 15	7893	88	July 12
*†§Journey End (A.T.)	Colin Clive	May 23	11416	130	Apr. 12
*†§Just Like Heaven (A. T.)		July 14
*†§Kathleen Mavourneen (A.T.)	O'Neil-Delaney	June 20	5169	56	Aug. 2
*†§Mamba (A.T.)	Herschel Boardmen-Forbes	Mar. 10	6183	69	Mar. 1
*†§Medicine Man, The (A.T.)	Benny-Bronson	June 15	6211	69	June 21
*†§Near Rainbow's End (A.T.)	Steele-Lorraine	June 10	5916	58	July 5
*†§Party Girl (A.T.)	Doug Fairbanks, Jr.	Jan. 1	6750	75	Dec. 21
Reviewed as "Dangerous Business" Issue Dec. 21, 1929
*†§Peacock Alley (A.T.)	Mae Murray	Jan. 10	6060	67	Feb. 8
*†§Sunny Skies	Benny Rubin	May 12	6994	78	May 24
*†§Swellhead (A. T.)	Gleason-Shilling-Walker	Mar. 20	7040	78	Apr. 26
*†§Troopers Three (A.T.)	Lease-Gulliver	Feb. 15	7239	80	Feb. 22
*†§Wings of Adventure	Rex Lease	June 30	5050	70	Aug. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Cyclone Hickey
*†§Enchanting Melody (A.T.)
*†§Extravagance	June Collyer
*†§Fascination (A.T.)	Mae Murray
*†§Headin' North (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§His Last Race (A.T.)	Garon-Barry
*†§Lasca
*†§Land of Missing Men (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Left Over Ladies
*†§Love, Life, Laughter
*†§Luxury Girl
*†§Maresa-Meria
*†§My Brudder Sylvest	Leo Carrillo
*†§Oklahoma Cyclone (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Paper Profits
*†§Paradise Island (A.T.)	Harlan-Dey	not set		July 5
*†§Ridin' Fool, The (A.T.)	Bob Steele
*†§Satin Straps
*†§So This Is Mexico (A. T.)	Armida
†*§Sunrise Trail, The (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Third Alarm, The (A.T.)
*†§Torrent, The
*†§Under Montana Skies	Harlan-Gulliver
*†§Why Marry (A.T.)	Hunter-Reynolds

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Cossack's Bride, The	Color Symphony		1 reel	Feb. 22
*†§Enchanted Forest, The (A.T.)			1 reel	May 31
*†§In Old Madrid	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Jungle Drums	Colortone		2 reels	Dec. 28
*†§Melodie	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Minuette	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Modern Cinderella, A	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Mountain King, The	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§On the Plantation	Forbes Randolph Singers		2 reels	May 10
*†§Pharoah's Daughter	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Sacred Hour, The	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Song of India, A	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Station S-T-A-R			1 reel	Dec. 7
*†§Songs My Mother Taught Me	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Tales of Araby	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Temole Bells	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Viennese Melody	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Voice of Hollywood	Station S-T-A-R Series		1 reel

UNITED ARTISTS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bad One, The (A. T.)	Del Rio-Lowe	May 3	6673	74	Mar. 22
*†§Be Yourself (A.T.) (F)	Fannie Brice	Feb. 8	5977	77	Feb. 1
*†§Hell Harbor (A.T.)	Velez-Hersholt	Mar. 22	8354	84	Mar. 8
*†§Lummox (A. T.) (F)	Westover-Lyon	Jan. 18	7533	84	Feb. 15
*†§One Romantic Night A. T.)	Gish-Nagel-La Roque	Apr. 12	6592	72	Mar. 29
*†§Puttin' on the Ritz (A.T.)	Harry Richman	Mar. 1	8225	88	Feb. 22
†§Raffles (A. T.)	Ronald Colman	July 26	6509	70	Aug. 2

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Abraham Lincoln (A. T.)	Walter Huston	Sept. 28
*†§Bat Whispers, The (A.T.)	Chester Morris	Dec. 20
*†§City Lights (F)	Charlie Chaplin
*†§Du Barry, Woman of Passion (A. T.)	Norma Talmedge	Nov. 8
*§†Lilli (A.T.)	Evelyn Laye
*†§Eyes of the World (A.T.)	Merkel-Holland	Oct. 18
*†§Forever Yours (A.T.)	Mary Pickford	Nov. 29
*†Hell's Angels (F)	Lyon-Hall-Harlow				June 7
*†§Lottery Bride, The (A.T.)	MacDonald-Garrick	Aug. 16
*†§Reaching for the Moon (A.T.)	Bebe Daniels
*†§Smilin' Through (A.T.)	Joan Bennett
*†§Sons O' Guns (A.T.)	Al Jolson
*†§What a Widow (A.T.)	Gloria Swanson
†§Whoopee (A. T.)	Eddie Cantor	Sept. 7	8550	95	July 12

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Ster	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Glorious Vamp	Bobby Watson	Jan. 25	952	Jan. 25
*†§Second Hungarian Rhapsody		May 24		July 19
*§†Wizard's Apprentice		Apr. 20	840

UNIVERSAL

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Big Timber (Re-Issue)	William Desmond	Mar. 30	4388
*†§Burning Trail (Reissue)	Wm. Desmond	July 29	4223
*†§Captain of the Guard (A.T.)	La Plante-Boles	Apr. 20	7519	76	Apr. 5
*†§Climax, The (A. T.)	Crawford-Hersholt	Jan. 26	5946	65	Mar. 29
*†§Cohens and the Kellys in Scotland	Sidney-Murray	Mar. 17	7600	82	Mar. 15
*†§Concentratin' Kid (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	July 20
*†§Czar of Broadway (A.T.)	Wray-Compson-Harron	May 25	7314	81	Apr. 26
*†§Dames Ahoy (A.T.)	Glenn Tryon	Feb. 9	5773	66	Feb. 8
*†§Devil's Pit, The	Special Cast	Mar. 9	6268	69
Reviewed under title of "Under the Southern Cross" in April 27, 1929 Issue
*†§Embarrassing Moments (A.T.)	Reginald Denny	Feb. 2	5230	58	June 29
*†§Fighting Legion, The	Kea Mayaard	Apr. 8	6763	75	Dec. 21
Flying Hoofs	Jack Hexie	Feb. 2	3852	43
*§†Hell's Heroes	Bickford-Hatton	Jan. 6	6148	70	Dec. 21
*†§Hide-Out (A. T.)	Murray-Crawford	Mar. 30	5299	50	Apr. 19
*†Lucky Larkin	Ken Maynard	Mar. 2	5785	64	Mar. 22
*†§Mounted Stranger, The	Hoot Gibson	Feb. 16	5784	64	Feb. 15
*†§Mountain Justice	Ken Maynard	May 4	6748	75	Mar. 22
*†§Night Ride	Robinson-Kent	Jan. 12	5609	62	Dec. 28
*†§Parade of the West	Ken Maynard	Jan. 19	5900	65	Feb. 1
*†§Roaring Ranch (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	Apr. 27	6094	67	May 24
*†§Song of Passion (A. T.)	John Boles	Aug. 31
*†§Song of the Caballero	Ken Maynard	June 29	6524	73	July 12
*†§Sons of the Saddle	Ken Maynard	Aug. 3
*†§Spurs (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	Aug. 24
*†§Storm, The (A. T.)	Special Cast
*†§Trailing Trouble	Hoot Gibson	Mar. 23	5198	67	Mar. 29
*†§Trigger Tricks (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	June 1	5462	57	June 21
*†§Undertow	Nolan-Ellis-Brown	Feb. 23	5025	56	Jan. 4
*†§What Men Want	All Star	July 13	6041	67
*†White Hell of Pitz Pelu	Special Cast	June 1	7727	80	May 10
White Outlaw, The (Reissue)	Jack Hoxie	May 25	4511
*†§Young Desire (A.T.)	Mary Nolan	June 8	6529	73	July 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§All Quiet on Western Front (A. T.)	Wolheim-Ayres-Wray			Apr. 26
*†§Boudoir Diplomat (A.T.)
*†§Bullet Proof (A.T.)
*†§Cohens & Kelleys in Ireland (A.T.)
*†§East is West (A.T.)	Lupe Velez
*†§Ex-Mistress	Nolan-Lyon
*†§Flirt, The (A.T.)	Glenn Tryon
*†§Gypsy Love Song (A.T.)	Boles-Velez-Loff
*§†Hunchback of Notre Dame (A.T.)
*†§King of Jazz Revue, The (A.T.)	Whitemen's Band & Special Cast		8724	97	Apr. 5
*†§Ladies In Love (A. T.)	Mary Nolan
*†§Lady Surrenders, The (A.T.)
*†§Little Accident (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr., Page	Sept. 1			July 12
*†§Love Cavalier, The (A.T.)	Boles-Loff
*§†Merry-Go-Round (A.T.)	Loff-Boles
*†§Oregon Trail (A.T.)
*†§Ourang
*§†Outside the Law (A.T.)	Nolan-Robinson
*†§Resurrection (A.T.)	Boles-Velez
I†§Saint Johnson (A.T.)	Ayres-Wray
*†§Scrub Oak (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson
*†§Serenade (A.T)	John Boles
*†§Signal Tower (A.T.)
*†§Singing Cabellaro (A.T.)	John Boles
I†§Strictly Dishonorable (A.T.)	John Boles
*†§Virgin of Stamboul (A.T.)
*†§Week-End Girl	Laure La Plante

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
Alias the Bandit	Bobbie Nelson	May 17	2 reels	Apr. 19
All Wet	Sid Saylor		2 reels	May 24
Anthony & Cleopatra (reissue)		May 26	1 reel
Badge of Bravery	Ted Carson	Feb. 8	2 reels	Jan. 11
Bashful Whirlwind (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 30	2 reels
Battling Kid, The	Bobbie Nelson	June 14	2 reels	May 24
Beauty Parade, The	Arthur Lake	July 2	2 reels	June 7
Benjamin Franklin (Reissue)		June 23	1 reel
Boundary Line, The (Reissue)	Fred Humes	July 5	2 reels
Close Call (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 2	2 reels
Columbus & Isabella (reissue)		June 9	1 reel
Crooked Trails	Ted Carson	May 3	2 reels	Mar. 29
Crimson Courage	Ted Carson	Mar. 8	2 reels	Feb. 1
Danger Claim, The	Bobbie Nelson	Mar. 22	2 reels	Feb. 15
Fighting Terror (Reissue)	Billie Sullivan	July 19
French Leave	Sid Saylor	Mar. 19	2 reels	Mar. 8
Follow Me	Arthur Lake	Apr. 30	2 reels	Apr. 5
Foul Ball	Sid Saylor	Aor. 16	2 reels
Getting the Air	Arthur Lake	Mar. 5	2 reels	Feb. 1
Her Bashful Beau	Arthur Lake	June 11	2 reels	May 24
His Girl's Wedding	Arthur Lake	July 23	2 reels	June 28
Kounty Fair	Oswald Cartoon	Jan. 8	1 reel	Dec. 7
Last Stand	Bobbie Nelson	Jan. 25	2 reels	Dec. 21
Law In the Saddle	Ted Carson	Apr. 5	2 reels	Mar. 1
Lightning Rider, The	Ted Carson	Aug. 23	2 reels	July 19
Lightning Express (Serial)	Chandler-Lorraine	June 2	10 episodes
Make It Snappy	Sid Sayler	Feb. 12	2 reels	Jan. 18
Man Hunter, The	Ted Carson	July 26	2 reels	July 5
Matter of Policy	Edwards	Jan. 13	1 reel
Milky Way (Reissue)	Charlie Puffy	Mar. 10	1 reel
Omar Khayam (Reissue)		July 21	1 reel
On Wet Night	Reach-Edwards	Feb. 24	1 reel
*†§Parlez-vous	Summerville		2 reels
Paul Revere (Reissue)		Aug. 18	1 reel
Plane Crazy	Sid Saylor	July 9	2 reels	June 7
Peekaboo	Arthur Lake	May 21	2 reels	Apr. 26
Pony Express Kid, The	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 9	2 reels	July 19
Post of Honor	Bobbie Nelson	Feb. 22	2 reels	Jan. 18

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

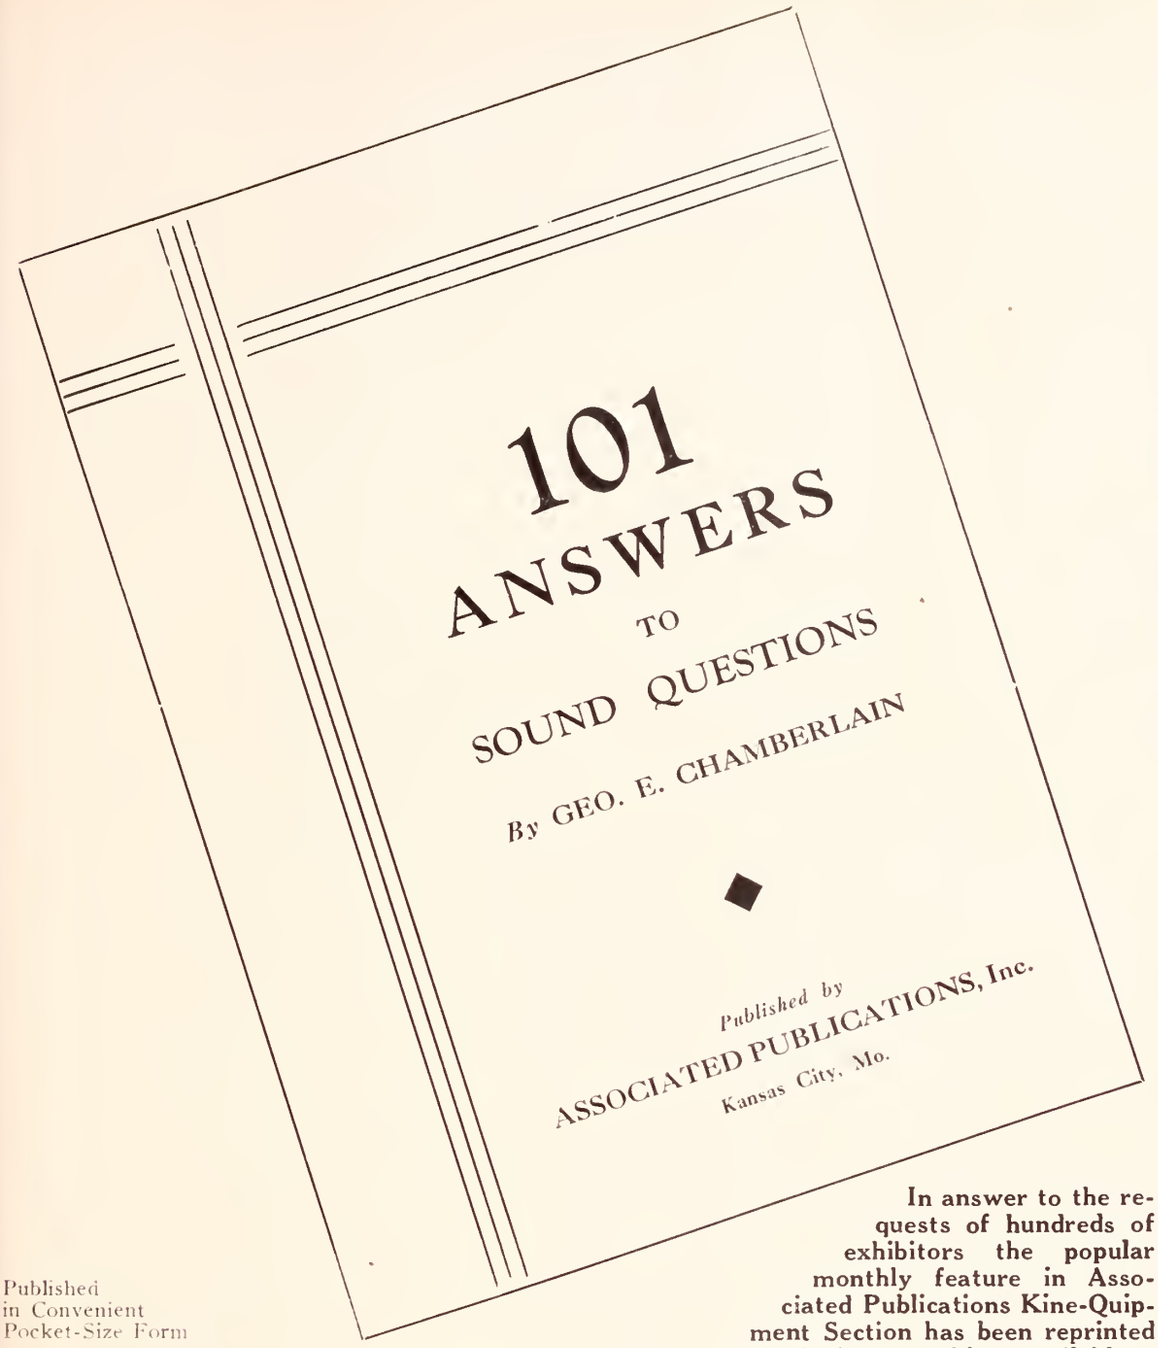
Prehistoric Man (Reissue)		Aug.	4
Pronto Kid, The (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Apr.	12	2 reels
Queen of Roundup (Reissue)	Josie Sedgwick	Mar	1	2 reels
Red Coat's Romance	Ted Carson	June	28	2 reels
Restless Nest (Re-Issue)	Neely Edwards	Mar.	24	1 reel
Ropin' Venus	Josie Sedgwick	Jan.	18	2 reels
Seeing Red (Reissue)	Billy Sullivan	Aug.	16	2 reels
Should Poker Players Marry?		June	30	1 reel
Sid's Long Count	Sid Saylor	May	28	2 reels	Apr. 28
Sitting Pretty	Arthur Lake	Jan.	15	2 reels	Dec. 21
Six Gun Justice	Bobbie Nelson	Apr.	19	2 reels	Mar. 15
Some Show	Arthur Lake	Apr.	2	2 reels	Mar. 1
Step Right Up	Sid Saylor	May	7	2 reels	Apr. 19
Son of Courage	Bobbie Nelson	July	12	2 reels	June 21
Storm King (Re-Issue)	Edmund Cobb	Feb.	15	2 reels
Speak Easy (Reissue)	Charlie Puffy	Apr.	7	1 reel
Trail of the Pack	Ted Carson	Jan.	7	2 reels	Dec. 7
Under the White Robe (Re-Issue)	Neely Edwards	May	12	1 reel
Way of the West (Reissue)	Neely Edwards	Feb.	1	2 reels
Why Walt	Slim Summerville	Feb.	10	1 reel
Whip Hand, The (Reissue)	Billy Sullivan	Mar.	15	2 reels
Wild West Wallop (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	May	24	2 reels
William Tell		Jan.	27	1 reel
Wolf's Fangs	Ted Carson	May	31	2 reels	May 16

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Arabian Daze		Mar.	3 2 reels
*†§Big Circus, The (Serial)	Bushman, Jr.-Vaughan
*†§Bewery Bimbos	Oswald Cartoon	Mar.	17 1 reel	Apr. 5
*†§Broadway Follies	Oswald Cartoon	Mar.	3 1 reel	Feb. 15
*†§Brother for Sale (A. T.)	Sunny Jim	June	25 2 reels	Dec. 21
*†§Chinese Blues (A.T.)	Sporting Youth	Mar.	31 2 reels	Mar. 29
*†§Christmas Cheer (A. T.)	Sunny Jim	Feb.	3 2 reels	Dec. 14
*†Chile Con Carmea	Oswald Cartoon	Feb.	3 1 reel	Jan. 11
*†§Cold Feet	Oswald Cartoon	July	28 1 reel
Fanny the Mule Cartoons			1 reel
*†§Fellow Students	Sid Saylor	Apr.	9 2 reels	Mar. 8
*†§Firebugs (A. T.)	Archer-Dent		2 reels
†§Footlight Follies (A.T.)	Sporting Youth	Feb.	3 2 reels
*†§Halowe en	Sporting Youth	Apr.	14 2 reels	Apr. 5
*†§Hash Shop	Oswald Cartoon	Apr.	14 1 reel	Apr. 12
*†§Hell's Heels	Oswald Cartoon	June	2 1 reel	June 7
*†Henpecked	Oswald Cartoon	Aug.	11 1 reel
*†§His Bachelor Daddy	Sunny Jim	May	14 2 reels	Apr. 19
*†§Hot for Hollywood	Oswald Cartoon	May	19 1 reel	May 24
*Hurdy Gurdy	Oswald Cartoon	Jan.	20 1 reel	Nov. 30
*†§Indians Are Coming (A.T.)	McCoy-Roy		12 Episodes
*†§Jade Box, The	Lorraine-Perrin	Mar.	24 10 episodes	Feb. 22
*†Kisses and Curses	Oswald Cartoon	Feb.	17 1 reel	Jan. 25
*†§Leather Pushers Series			2 reels
*†§Lightning Express, The (Serial)	Lorraine-Chandlar	June	2 10 episodes	April 12
*†§Live Ghosts (F & D)	Ann Christy	Jan.	20 2 reels	Jan. 11
*†§Mush Again	Sunny Jim	Apr.	23 2 reels	Mar. 29
*†§My Pal Paul	Oswald Cartoon	June	16 1 reel	June 28
*†§Neighbors	Sunny Jim	Mar.	26 2 reels	May 1
*†§Not So Quiet	Oswald Cartoon	July	7 1 reel	July 28
*†§Oswald Cartoons			1 reel
*†§Outdoor Sports	Sid Saylor		2 reels	Dec 14
*†Prison Panic	Oswald Cartoon	Apr.	28 1 reel	May 10
*†§Royal Feurflush	Sporting Youth	Feb.	17 2 reels	Jan. 25
*†§Schoolmates	Sporting Youth	Apr.	28 2 reels	Apr. 26
*†§Seeing Stars	Sporting Youth	Mar.	17 2 reels	Mar. 8
*†§She's a He (A.T.)	Sunny Jim		2 reels	May 10
*†§Sister's Pest	Sunny Jim	Feb.	26 2 reels	Jan. 25
*†Snappy Salesmen	Oswald Cartoon	Aug.	25 1 reel
*†§Spooks	Oswald Cartoon	July	14 1 reel
*†§Steeplechase (A. T.)	Sporting Youth	Jan.	8 2 reels	Dec 14
*†§Stop That Noise	Sunny Jim	July	16 2 reels	June 14
*†§Strange As It Seems Novelties			1 reel
*†§Talking Newsreel			1 reel
†Tarzan the Tigar (Serial)	Frank Merrill	Dec.	9 10 episodes
*†§Terry of the Times (Serial)	Howes-Thompson	Aug.	11 10 episodes	June 21
*†§Traffic Troubles		Mar.	12 2 reels	Feb. 15
*†§Tramping Tramps	Oswald Cartoon	Mar.	31 1 reel	Mar. 29
*†§Up and Downstairs		Jan.	25 2 reels
*†§Vernen's Aunt	Oent-Archar	Feb.	19 2 reels	Feb. 1

WARNER BROTHERS

(Available sound-on-disc only)



Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Courage (A.T.)	Bennett-Nixon	June	7 6830	74	May 31
*†§Dumbells in Ermine (A. T.)	Armstrong-Gleason-Kent	May	10 6300	70	June 7
*†§Evidence (A.T.)	Pauline Frederick	Jan.	25 7152	79	Oct. 19
*†§General Crack (A. T.)	John Barrymore	Jan.	25 9809	109	Nov. 16
*†§Golden Dawn (A. T.)	Woolf-Segal	June	14 7447	83	June 21
*†§Green Goddess, The (A. T.)	George Arliss	Mar.	8 6653	74	Feb. 22
*†§Hold Everything (A. T.)	Lightner-Brown-D'Neill	May	1 7513	84	Apr. 12
*†§Isle of Escape (A. T.)	Blue-Loy	Mar.	1 5814	85	Apr. 5
*†§Mammy (A. T.)	Al Jolson	May	31 7570	84	Mar. 29
*†§Man from Blankley's, The (A.T.)	John Barrymore	May	24 6167	68	Apr. 12
*†Man Hunter (A. T.)	Rin-Tin-Tin	May	3 4383	49	Apr. 12
*†§Oh! Sailor, Behave (A.T.)	Oelroy-King	Aug.	18 5850	65	July 12
*†§On the Border	Rin-Tin-Tin	Mar.	15 4410	49	Feb. 8
*†§Rough Waters (A. T.)	Rin-Tin-Tin	June	7 4280	68	July 26
*†§Royal Box (A.T.) (German)	Molssl-Horn		8000	89	Dec. 28
*†§Second Choice (A. T.)	Dolores Costello	Jan.	4 8150	91	Jan. 11
*†§Second Floor Mystery (A. T.)	Withers-Young	Apr.	26 5268	59	May 10
*†§She Couldn't Say No	Lightner-Morris	Feb.	15 8413	71	Feb. 22
*†§Song of the West (A. T.)	Boles-Segal	Mar.	15 7185	80	Mar. 8
*†§Those Who Dance (A. T.)	Monte Blue	Apr.	19 6878	78	July 12
*†§Under a Texas Moon (A. T.)	Fay-Torres-Ley-Beery	Apr.	1 7498	83	Apr. 12
*†§Wide Open (A. T.)	E. E. Horton	Feb.	1 8341	71	Mar. 29

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Bad Women	Mercer-Gordon
†§Barbar John's Boy (A.T.)	Grant Withers
*†§Big Boy (A.T.)	Al Jolson	Not Set	Not Set	July 26
*†§Both Were Young (A.T.)
*†§Captain Applejack (A.T.)	John Halliday
*†§Children of Dreams (A.T.)
*†Dancing Sweeties (A.T.)	Carol-Withers	Not Set	Not Set 75	June 14
*†§Danube Love Song (A.T.)
*†§Divorce Among Friends (A.T.)
*†§Egg Crate Wallop, The (A.T.)
*†§Fifty Million Frenchmen (A.T.)
*†§Gay Caballaro, A (A.T.)
*†§Handful of Clouds (A.T.)
*†§His Brother's Wife (A.T.)
*†§Just an Hour of Love (A.T.)
*†Life of the Party, The (A.T.)	Winnie Lightner
*†§Matrimonial Bed, The (A.T.)	Lilyan Tashman
*†§Maybe It's Love (A.T.)	Brown-Bennett
*†§Maytime (A.T.)
*†§Moby Dick (A.T.)	John Barrymore
*†§Office Wife, The (A.T.)	Mackaill-Stone
*†§Old English (A.T.)	George Arliss
*†§Outward Bound (A.T.)	Howard-Mercer
*†§Penny Arcade (A.T.)
*†§Red Hot Sinners (A.T.)	Evelyn Knapp
*†§Recaptured Love (A.T.)	Bennett-Halliday		8094 68	June 7
*†§River's End, The (A.T.)	Claudia Dell
*†§Sit Tight (A.T.)	Winnie Lightner
*†§Soldier's Plaything, A (A.T.)	Lotti Loder
*†§Steel Highway, The (A.T.)	Hall-Withers-Nixon
*†§Sweet Kitty Bellairs (A.T.)	Claudia Dell
*†§Three Faces East (A.T.)	Bennett-Von Stroheim			June 21
*†§Under Cover (A.T.)
*†Viennese Nights (A.T.)	Gray-Segal-Hersholt

VITAPHONE VARIETIES (D)

Title	Star	Length	Reviewed
Absent Minded	Perkins-Ford	882 10	Apr. 12
Alda, Frances	Songs	523 6	Feb. 8
And Wife	Elliott-Davis	971 11	Apr. 12
At Home	The Potters	1435 16	Mar. 15
At Your Service	Landis-Halligan-Blackwood	633 7
Battery of Songs, A	Hoyt-Coots-Quintelle	719 8	May 10
Believe It or Not	Robert L. Ripley	2 reels	May 24
Benefit, The	Joe Frisco	928 10	Feb. 8
Bernie, Ben	Orchestra	771 9	Apr. 19
Big Money	The Potters	1141 12	May 24
Bigger and Better	Watsons	8	Aug. 9
Boozy Slam, The	Lambert-Ledoux-Irving	1 reel	July 19
Bridal Night	Arthur-Merriam
Broadway's Like That	Ruth Etting	865 10	Mar. 8
Bubble Party, The	Geo. Sweet	629 7
Bubbles	Vitaphone Kiddies	688 8
Cave Club, The	Leach, Merman-Pierlot	793 9
Celeste Aida	Giovanni Martinelli	9	June 21
Cheer Leader, The	Tom Douglas	826 9
Christmas Knight	Washburn-Eddy-Middleton	696 8
Collegiate Model, The	Ona Munson	2 reels	May 10
Congo Jazz	Loney Tunes No. 2
Contrary Mary	Bobby Watson	839 9	June 7
Cry Baby	Mary Louise Treen
Danger	Littel-Campeau-Merriam	744 8	May 24
Desert Thrills	Edwin Bartlett	725 8	July 26
Devil's Parade, The	Special Cast	888 10	June 14
Done In Oil	The Potters	1539 17	June 14
Ducking Duty	Conklin-Morgan	493 5
Duel, The	Fields-Teasdale
Eternal Triangle, The	Rich-Standing-Kallz
Evolution	Progress of Motion Pictures	10	June 21
Evolution of the Ounce		1071 12	Feb. 22
Faust	Duet 1st Act	872 16	Nov. 20
Feminine Types	Jean Barrios
Fight, The	Norman Brokenshire	1 reel	May 10
Find the Woman	Hugh D'Connell	817 9
Five Minutes From the Station	Overman-Churchill-Sidney
Footnotes	Page Sisters & Oscar Grogan	519 6	Apr. 19
For Sale	Gregory Rotoff	523 6	June 14
Fora	Ford-Lana
Frame, The	Boyd-Middleton	934 10
Getting a Raise	The Potters	1136 13	May 10
*†§Ginsberg of Newberg	Eddie Lambert	2 reels	Aug. 2
Glee Quartette, The	Jack Buchanan	552 6	Feb. 15
Going Places	Shaw & Lee	660	June 7
Grand Uproar	Jim McWilliams	702 8	May 31
Gym Jams	Lew Mayer	635 7	Apr. 19
Head Man, The	O'Connell-Kelly	796 9	Apr. 19
Heart Breaker, The	Eddie Foy, Jr.	1315 15
Heidt and His Californians			June 7
Her Relatives	Neely Edward
Holland		733 8	June 14
Holiday In Storyland, A	Vitaphone Kiddies	799 9
Idle Chatter	Lou Holtz	908 10	Apr. 19
Ill Wind, An	Hibbard-Loreh-Graham	2 reels	June 14
Japanese Bowl, The		694 8	June 14
Jazz Rehearsal	Kane-Edwards	1 reel	May 10
Keeping Company	Eddie Buzzell	1748 19	May 10
Latters	Pauline Garon	800 9
Let's Elope	Betty & Jarry Browne	645 9	June 14
Lobo, Dog of Dogs	Lobo	590 7	Mar. 8
Lonely Gigio	Lotti Loder	922 9
Lost and Found	Irena Shirley
Love Boat, The	Herman Timberg	754 8	Mar. 1
Married	Flint-Ridges-Foran
Master Sweeper, The	Chester Conklin	904 10	Mar. 8
Mattar of Ethics, A	Earle-Dakland	621 7
Matinee Idle	Henry Hull	685 8	June 14
McLallen, Jack		1 reel	June 7
Military Post, The	Robarto Guzman	570 6	Mar. 15
Money, Money, Money	Mason-Keeler	876 10
Naggers at Breakfast, The	Mr. & Mrs. Jack Norworth	845 9	June 14
Nay, Nay, Nero	Cameron-Watson
New Racket, The		1 reel	Mar. 15
New Rythm	Havana Casino Orch.
Nile Green	Broderick-Crawford	740 8	June 7
No-Account, The	Special Cast	777 9
Office Steps		874 10	May 31
On the Rancho	Will & Gladys Ahern	600 7	Mar. 15
Only the Girl	Wattles-Marsh	580 6
Operation The	Edgar Bergen	835 9	Feb. 8
*†§Out for Game	Lucien Littlefield	2 reels	Aug. 2
Pagliacci	John Charles Thomas
Pa Gets a Vacation	The Potters	1243 14
Paper Hanging	Johnny Arthur	1 reel	May 31
Paquita & Chiquita		832 9
Pay Off, The	H. B. Walthall	1076 12	Mar. 8
People Versus, The	Campeau-D'Malley	548 8	Apr. 12
Perfect Understanding, A	May-Oaks	537 6
Play Boy, The	Fox-Curtis	2 reels
Poor Aubrey	Franklin Pangborn	2 reels	May 10
Poor Fish, The	Cavanaugh-Ridges-Schafer
Reno or Bust	Pangborn-Elliott	1150 13	June 7
Road Knights		9	Aug. 9
Rhythms	Reisman Band	15	Aug. 9
Royal Fourflusher, The	Eddie Buzzell	1656 17	June 14
Russian Rhapsody, A	Kuznetzoff & Nicolina	704 8
Seymour, Ann	Songs
Shakespeare Was Right
She Who Gets Slapped	Tom Dugan		June 7
Sinkin' In the Bathtub	Looney Tunes No. 1	1 reel	May 10
Slick As Ever	H. J. Conley	2 reels	June 7
Song Paintings	Ann Seymour	1 reel	June 7
Song Plugger, The	Joe Frisco	1390 18	June 7
Sound Effects	Buddy Traps	653 7	May 10
South Sea Pearl	Gaston Glass	2 reels	May 10
Stand Up, The	Watson-Cameron-Mack	685 8	June 14
Stepping Out	Leo Donnelly
Still Alarm, The	Webb-Allen	1 reel	June 7
Strong and Willing	Trixie Friganza
Strong Arm, The
Surprise	Dugan-Leonard	1038 12
Suspicion	Lyons-Earle-Morne
System	Clements-Knapp
Taking Ways	Codee & Drth	2 reels	May 10
Talking It Over	Jack Osterman	739 8
Taxi Talks	Tracy-Alexander	1348 15	June 14
Temple Belles	Green-Blackman	1346 15	June 14
Tenement Tangle, A	Ryan & Lee	756 9	June 14
23 Skidoo	Lew Fields	854 10	June 14
Two of a Kind	Lytell-Fant	1 reel	June 7
Two Rounds of Love	Rennie-Dixon
Varsity Show, The	Olive Shea
Vengeance	Richmond-Moorhead	819 9	Feb. 8
Websterian Students	Ryan-Lee	801 9	Apr. 19
Wedding of Jack and Jill, The	Vitaphone Kiddies	701 8	June 7
Wedding Belles	Howard-Newton	485 5
What a Life		955 11	June 14
Who Pays?	Murray-Oakland	942 10	Mar. 15
Window Cleaners	Brice-Edwards	637 7	Apr. 19
Work, Milton C.
Yamekraw		857 9	Apr. 26

Published in Convenient Pocket-Size Form

In answer to the requests of hundreds of exhibitors the popular monthly feature in Associated Publications Kine-Quipment Section has been reprinted in book form, making available a handy aid to exhibitors encountering various sound equipment problems. "101 Answers to Sound Questions" has been especially prepared by George E. Chamberlain, recognized authority on sound equipment. This is not a treatise; not a book of theories; the questions asked are actual inquiries made by exhibitors on problems they have encountered and Mr. Chamberlain has answered them in brief practical form.

Worth $100.00 But given without cost to subscribers to any one of the ten Associated Publications.

SELECT THE TRADE PAPER YOU WANT—FILL IN COUPON BELOW AND MAIL TO-DAY.

THE FILM GROUP
ASSOCIATED PUBLICATIONS

FILM TRADE TOPICS
Covering San Francisco, Los Angeles, Seattle, Portland, Denver and Salt Lake City territories.

MOTION PICTURE TIMES
Covering Dallas and Oklahoma City territories.

MOVIE AGE
Covering Minneapolis, Milwaukee, Omaha and Des Moines territories.

the REEL JOURNAL
Covering Kansas City and St. Louis territories.

Motion Picture DIGEST
Covering Chicago and Indianapolis territories.

MICHIGAN FILM REVIEW
Covering Detroit territory.

EXHIBITORS' FORUM
Covering Pittsburgh and Buffalo territories.

the OHIO SHOWMAN
Covering Cleveland, Cincinnati and Louisville territories.

NEW ENGLAND FILM NEWS
Covering Boston, New Haven and Portland territories.

WEEKLY FILM REVIEW
Covering Atlanta, New Orleans, Charlotte and Memphis territories.

National in Scope
Local in Service

ASSOCIATED PUBLICATIONS, INC.,
Glover Bldg., Kansas City, Mo.

Date....., 1930.

Gentlemen: Herewith find two dollars ($2.00) or one year's subscription to the publication checked below with which I am to receive without charge a copy of "101 ANSWERS TO SOUND QUESTIONS" by Geo. E. Chamberlain.

☐ Film Trade TOPICS	☐ The Reel JOURNAL	☐ New England FILM NEWS	☐ Motion Picture DIGEST	☐ Weekly Film REVIEW
☐ Motion Picture TIMES	☐ Exhibitors' FORUM	☐ The Ohio SHOWMAN	☐ Michigan Film REVIEW	☐ Movie AGE

Name.....Position.....

Theatre.....City and State.....

JUST LOOK 'EM OVER!

The Biggest Line-up of STAR NAMES that ever started off a new year's program of short features . . . .

You'll get them all in the early releases of EDUCATIONAL'S Talking Comedies for 1930-1931 . . . . and more are coming.

FORD STERLING
CLYDE COOK
JOHNNY HINES
CHARLOTTE GREENWOOD
TOM PATRICOLA
JOE PHILLIPS
BERT ROACH
MARIAN SHOCKLEY
RAY COOKE
ANDY CLYDE
MARJORIE BEEBE
PATSY O'LEARY
DAPHNE POLLARD
BETTY BOYD
BEN BARD
JOHN DARROW
MARGIE "BABE" KANE
NICK STUART
T. ROY BARNES
MONTY COLLINS
GRETA GRANSTEDT
VIRGINIA SALE
FLORENCE ROBERTS
ANN CHRISTY
CHARLES IRWIN
CYRIL CHADWICK
CHURCHILL ROSS
BUSTER WEST
JOHN WEST
VERNON DENT
HELEN BOLTON
ADRIENNE DORE
FRANK RICE
CHIQUITA
ESTELLE BRADLEY
CARMEN GUERRERO

MACK SENNETT COMEDIES
LLOYD HAMILTON COMEDIES
MERMAID Comedies
IDEAL COMEDIES
GAYETY COMEDIES
VANITY COMEDIES
Tuxedo Comedies
MACK SENNETT BREVITIES

Educational's Talking Comedies

AL ALT
JERRY DREW
DICK STEWART
RAE DAGGETT
KATHERINE McGUIRE
MARCIA MANNING
BERNARD GRANVILLE

PAUL TERRY-TOONS
Lyman H. Howe HODGE-PODGE

Member Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc. Will H. Hays President

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

EDUCATIONAL FILM EXCHANGES, Inc.
E. W. HAMMONS, President.

AUGUST 16, 1930

Motion Picture NEWS

WHEN M-G-M STARS 'EM THEY STAY STARRED!

Here's what your marquee needs for 1930-31 profits!

MARION DAVIES

NORMA SHEARER

GRETA GARBO

WILLIAM HAINES

JOHN GILBERT

32 STAR PICTURES
20 SPECIALS
TOTAL 52 M-G-M "Lucky Star Hits!

JOAN CRAWFORD

RAMON NOVARRO

DRESSLER MORAN

LAWRENCE TIBBETT

BUSTER KEATON

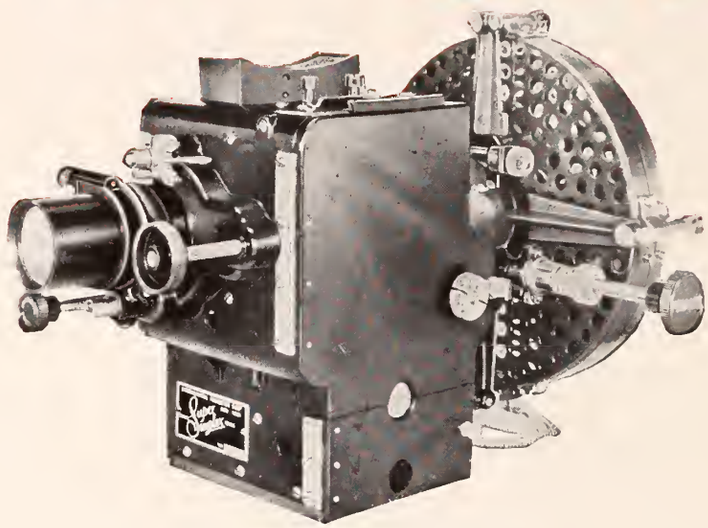
GRACE MOORE

LON CHANEY

VOL. VIII, NO. 7

Price 20 Cents

Los Angeles



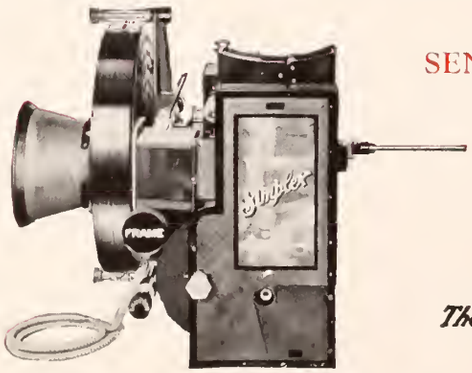
New York

Chicago

Every Theatre Owner
Manager and Projectionist

SHOULD SECURE FULL INFORMATION REGARDING

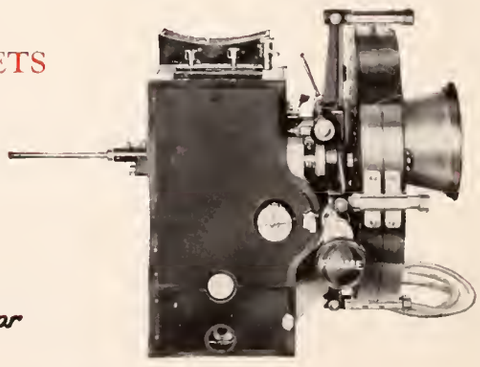
The new Super Simplex



AND THE NEW

REAR SHUTTER ATTACHMENT

FOR



Simplex
TRADE MARK REG'D.

REGULAR PROJECTOR

SEND FOR BOOKLETS

Simplex
The International Projector

International Projector Corporation

90 GOLD STREET NEW YORK

EVERY SIGN OF THE TIMES POINTS TO PARAMOUNT!

EVERY SIGN OF THE TIMES POINTS TO PARAMOUNT!

1. Under present theatre conditions you can't afford to gamble with the quality of your 1930-31 attractions. Buy safe—buy PARAMOUNT.

2. You should depend upon a producing company which will not have to retrench upon money and talent put into pictures, thus decreasing quality. PARAMOUNT'S resources and roster of stars are the largest in history.

3. Things that strike thinking exhibitors in 1930-31 product announcements are:

a. PARAMOUNT gives definite information as to titles, stars, casts, etc.

b. PARAMOUNT'S program contains an amazingly high percentage of natural box office hits.

c. PARAMOUNT has only Class A stars at the height of their popularity. Also more coming stars than anybody in the business. The PARAMOUNT exhibitor will have more box office names in March, 1931, even than he has today.

d. PARAMOUNT has a large number of pictures deliberately designed to bring children to the theatre. Harold Lloyd, Moran and Mack, "Skippy," "Tom Sawyer," "Huckleberry Finn," a whole series of Westerns, etc.

e. PARAMOUNT has the only short subjects program actually based upon a nation-wide survey of theatre needs.

4. PARAMOUNT theatre as well as production brains sit in on our 1930-31 group. A protection to all exhibitors.

5. PARAMOUNT'S policy of dealing with customers is notoriously fair. We are proud of the goodwill we enjoy with theatre men.

6. When the going roughens, the wisest policy in any business is to stick to the leader. In show business—PARAMOUNT.

THE SIGN OF THE TIMES IS A 1930-31 PARAMOUNT CONTRACT

thar she blows!

Now Playing

WARNER BROS.

HOLLYWOOD THEATRE

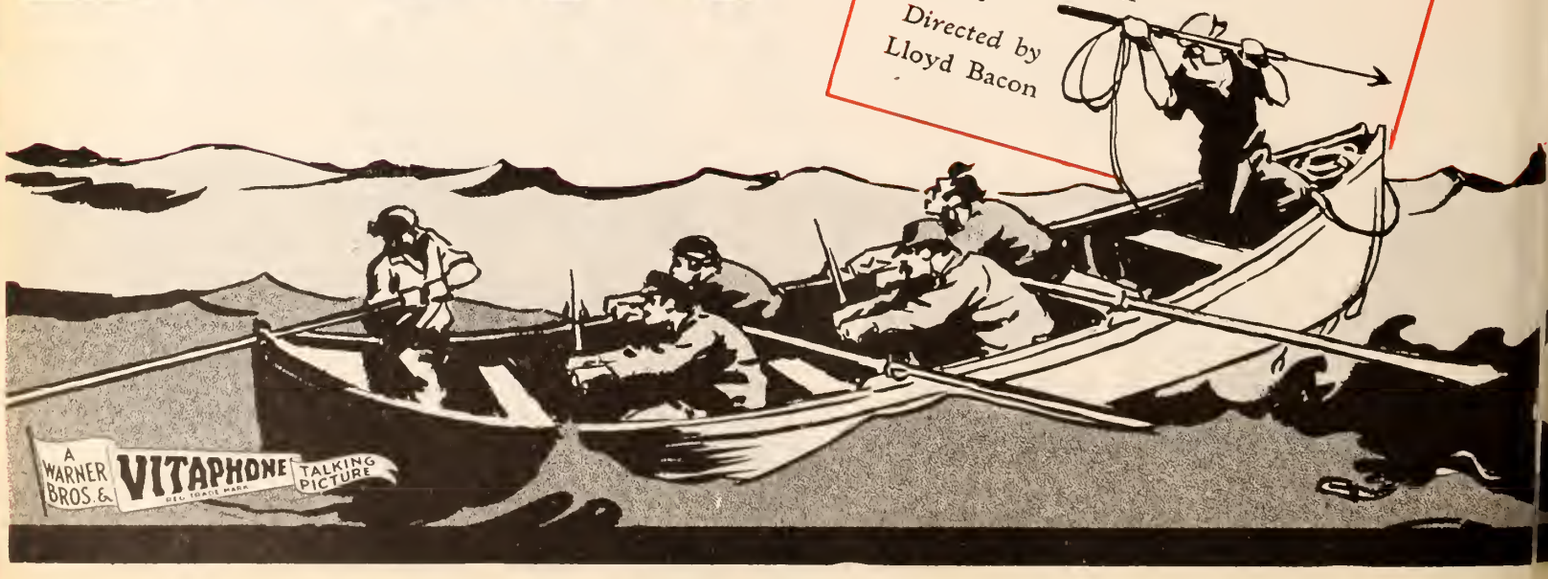
You can have it day and date with Broadway . . . .

WARNER BROS. present

JOHN BARRYMORE

IN

"MOBY DICK"



with

JOAN BENNETT

Lloyd Hughes • Nigel de Brulier
Tom O'Brien • Virginia Sale
Walter Long • May Boley
William Welling

Adapted by
J. Grubb Alexander

Directed by
Lloyd Bacon

Warner Bros.
1930-31 Productions

•

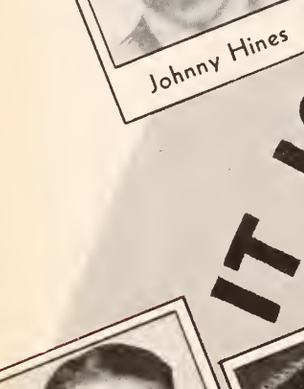
BIGGER THAN THE BIGGEST

★

BETTER THAN THE BEST

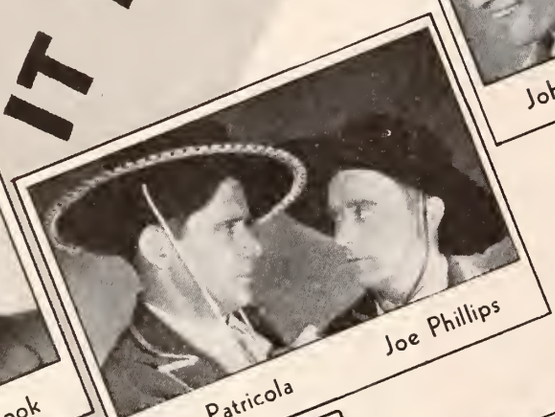
Lloyd Hamilton

Charlotte Greenwood



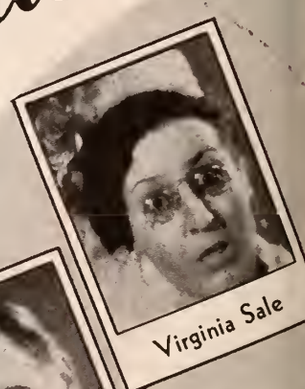
Ford Sterling

IT ISN'T RAINING GOOD

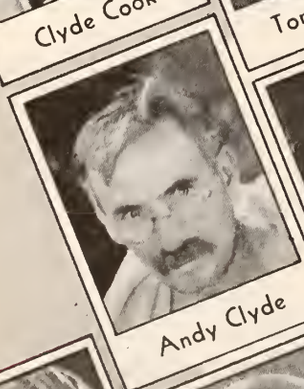


for the exhibitor

& Educationals

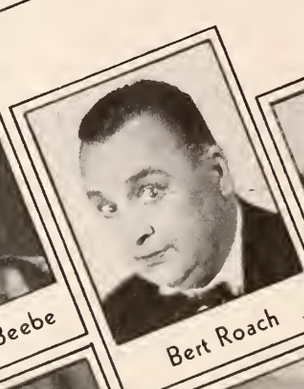


Johnny Hines



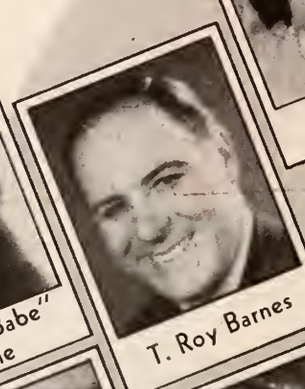
John Darrow

Clyde Cook



Tom Patricola

Joe Phillips



Virginia Sale

Andy Clyde

Marjorie Beebe

Bert Roach

Margie "Babe" Kane

T. Roy Barnes

Daphne Pollard

Patsy O'Leary

Ben Bard

Betty Boyd

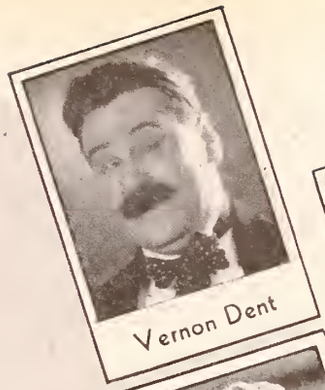
Nick Stuart

Monty Collins

MACK SENNETT COMEDIES

LLOYD HAMILTON COMEDIES

MERMAID Comedies



IDEAL COMEDIES

GAYETY COMEDIES

VANITY COMEDIES

IT'S POURING

NEWS who has Talking Comedies
For 1930-1931

Vernon Dent

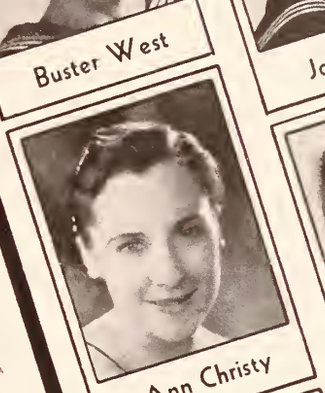
Estelle Bradley

Helen Bolton

Al Alt

Buster West

John West



BOX-OFFICE NAMES!
Big ones!

COMEDY PERSONALITIES!
Real ones!

And more of them than you ever saw before in anybody's comedies!

YOU'LL get them all—and a lot more—in the early releases of EDUCATIONAL'S TALKING COMEDIES for the new season. In such pictures as MACK SENNETT'S "Grandma's Girl", a wow on the fast-stepping grandma of our modern jazz age; the new IDEAL COMEDY, "Si, Si, Senor", full of laughs and pretty senoritas; the first VANITY COMEDY, "The Freshman's Goat", a laugh-getter that is sure to get Old Man Gloom's Nanny; a lively MERMAID COMEDY, "His Error", another laugh gem, and no mistake; and that gay GAYETY COMEDY, "Johnny's Week-End", with HAMILTONS and TUXEDOS to follow soon after.

It's a great start for a great year of laughs

Ann Christy

Katherine McGuire

Churchill Ross

Ruth Hiatt

Greta Granstedt

Tuxedo Comedies

MACK SENNETT BREVITIES

Educational Pictures
"THE SPICE OF THE PROGRAM"

Jerry Drew

PAUL TERRY-TOONS

Lyman H. Howe's HODGE-PODGE

Member, Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., Will H. Hays, President

Geo. W. Weeks Presents

the PERF
BOX-OFF
RECIPE

THE GATEWAY TO

R

FREEDOM or TRAGEDY!

THE OASIS in

the DESERT of

MATRIMONIAL MISTAKES

The Amazing Story of America's Divorce Mill,

CORNELIUS

Syndicated Serially to Over
And Marking the Return of One of

RUTH

with Kenneth Thomson, Lloyd, Montagu Love

DIRECTED BY

A SHOWMANSHIP NATURAL!

"Reno," a daily source of news around which the newspaper headlines of America revolve, is a "natural" for stirring the imagination of every film patron in your community. The scion of one of America's most noted families has combined the might of a great message with the lilt of love, the swan song of mismating, and the excitement of tense melodrama. Smashing press material by Cornelius Vanderbilt, Jr., insures unusual co-operation from local newspaper editors.

ALLIED ARTISTS
WORLD WIDE PICTURES INC.

ECT
ICE

THE CITY WHERE NOBODY CARES

RUTH ROLAND

BELOVED OF OVER A MILLION FANS

from the Best-Seller Novel by VANDERBILT JR.

20,000,000 Newspaper Readers
America's Famous Screen Personalities

OLAND

Sam Hardy, Dorothy
Alyce Mc Cormick

GEORGE J. CRONE

SONO ART-WORLD WIDE PICTURES INC.

READYMADE EXPLOITATION

National advertisers of well-known products are launching powerful campaigns as a compliment to the return of Ruth Roland to the screen. Over 500 department stores are featuring her photo on their counters. Lux Toilet Soap, I. Miller Shoes, Ampico Pianos, Neumode Hosiery, American Morocco Case, Ullman Silver Frames, Shapiro-Bernstein Music Publishers, Macauley Book Publishers, and prominent radio stations offer you unusual opportunities to capitalize local dealer tie-ups. Readymade exploitation!

Samuel Goldwyn Presents

RONALD COLMAN

in his greatest success "RAFFLES"

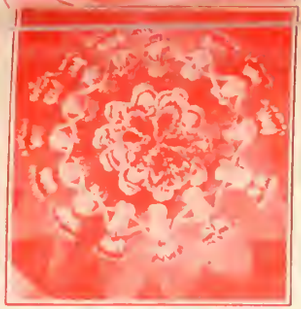
supported by Kay Francis and David Torrence. Praised by critics and public as his finest picture. A tremendous hit everywhere. New York, Cleveland, San Francisco, Portland, Detroit and other cities pay in big grosses in spite of heat wave to see this one.

HAROLD BELL WRIGHT'S "EYES OF THE WORLD"

Henry King Production with Una Merkel, John Holland and big cast. Presented by Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and So Lesser. The book that has gone over the 2,000,000 sale mark. The greatest melodrama of any year. Opening for its World Premiere at the Rivoli-United Artists, New York on August 14th for indefinite run.

"THE LOTTERY BRIDE"

Joseph M. Schenck presents Arthur Hammerstein's thrilling operetta with Jeanette MacDonald, Robert Chisholm, Joe E. Brown, Zasu Pitts, John Garrick. Music by Rudolf Friml. John W. Considine, Jr., General Production Manager. Scenes in Technicolor. The most stupendous dramatic musical of all times. An intense story of strong appeal from start to finish.



Joseph M. Schenck Presents

D. W. GRIFFITH'S "ABRAHAM LINCOLN"

The story of a Man. The Wonder Picture of the Age. Greater than the "Birth of a Nation," with Walter Huston and Una Merkel. Also Hobart Bosworth, Henry B. Walthall, Kay Hammond, Frank Campeau, Ian Keith. Adaptation and dialogue by Stephen Vincent Benet.

The most important motion picture released in fifteen years

Florenz Ziegfeld and Samuel Goldwyn Present

EDDIE CANTOR in "WHOOPEE"

Screendom's mightiest contribution to motion picture entertainment. As the Motion Picture News says: "Will hit heavy when it reaches the theatres. Cantor is going to tear them right out of their seats. Gorgeous scenery, beautiful girls, tuneful music and fast tempo picture. Should turn in substantial runs and business." From the musical comedy by William Anthony McGuire. Directed by Thornton Freeland.

GLORIA SWANSON "WHAT A WIDOW"

This Allan Dwan Production with a cast that includes such well known players as Owen Moore, Lew Cody, Margarette Livingstone, is the greatest box-office picture Miss Swanson has ever produced. Gowns, the most beautiful she has ever worn. New creations for this picture. Here we have the star in the type of role that has made her such a tremendous drawing name everywhere. Here is a marvelous ultra-modern comedy with songs written by Vincent Youmans who wrote such stage hits as "Hit The Deck."

Joseph M. Schenck Presents

NORMA TALMADGE "DU BARRY—Woman of Passion"

A Sam Taylor Production. Supporting the star are found such big names as William Farnum, Hobart Bosworth, Conrad Nagel. This picture marks Mr. Farnum's return to the screen and his first talking production. The most stupendous Talmadge picture ever made and the most inspiring drama of all time. Nothing has been spared in making this a sensational box-office picture at any theatre in the country.

The first SEVEN of the Super 19 from UNITED ARTISTS

Record-makers—Everyone!

NEED UNITED ARTISTS during 1930-1931

You need these 19 stupendous productions—pictures that have made the whole industry gasp in amazement at their box-office strength.

You need them for the big popular star names they carry.

You need them because they meet the world wide emphatic demand for worth-while pictures.

You need them because they bring you a guarantee of consistent box-office business.

3rd WEEK!

Responding to public demand

ROXY

world's largest theatre

with 2nd week bigger than 1st, holds over for 3rd week . . .

COMMON CLAY

with

CONSTANCE BENNETT

LEW AYRES

Tully Marshall · Matty Kemp · Beryl Mercer

Directed by VICTOR FLEMING

From the Harvard prize play by CLEVES KINKEAD

FIRST 4 DAYS OF 2nd WEEK BEAT BY $5280 FIRST 4 DAYS OF OPENING WEEK!

FOX HAS THE PRODUCT

"HOLIDAY" RECORDS!!

INDIANA THEATRE, INDIANAPOLIS:

During the hottest week in twelve years "HOLIDAY" with a gross of $34,000.00, broke the house record by an increase of $5,000 over the best previous figures. This smashing victory was scored against the strongest of competition, in addition to the terrific weather conditions.

RIVOLI THEATRE, NEW YORK:

"HOLIDAY" tripled theatre's previous week's receipts and scored the most conspicuous box office increase on Broadway.

NEWMAN THEATRE, KANSAS CITY:

"HOLIDAY" topped all attractions in town scoring 130% on the house box office rating in the face of intensely hot weather.

METROPOLITAN THEATRE, BOSTON:

"HOLIDAY" led the parade topping the best the opposition could put on. Boosted the big Metropolitan's box office in spite of ideal beach-going weather.

with
ANN HARDING
MARY ASTOR
Edward Everett HORTON
ROBERT AMES
HEDDA HOPPER
Directed by Edward H. Griffith
Produced by · · E. B. Derr
Philip Barry's
Sensational Stage Hit

PATHÉ

THE BIG HIT SCHEDULE for 1930-31

NOW READY

HOLIDAY
HER MAN
BEYOND VICTORY
NIGHT WORK
SWING HIGH

COMING THROUGH ON SCHEDULE • •

IN DEEP
BIG MONEY
THE GREATER LOVE
THE PRICE OF A PARTY
THE LAST FRONTIER
ADAM AND EVE
THE SIREN SONG
TAKING THE RAP
NORTH OF THE YUKON
THIS MARRIAGE BUSINESS
RAWHIDE
I TAKE THIS WOMAN
SIN TAKES A HOLIDAY
ROMANCE HARBOR
LAZY LADY

Filling the demand for Something NEW

Origin U. S. A.

PATHÉ

VOLUME XLII
NUMBER 7

Motion Picture News

NEW YORK CITY
AUGUST 16, 1930

Half of RKO Productions Independent; Other Companies May Institute Policy

Trial Monday

Hollywood—Eyes of the industry will center here on Monday when the government's conspiracy case against Fox West Coast and a number of distributors for alleged efforts to freeze out independents is scheduled to get under way. The charges are based on alleged protection agreements between the defendants.

Cruze Signed by Tiffany in Start Of Unit System

Tiffany has signed James Cruze on a long term contract. The company is inaugurating a unit system of production and although the number of Cruze pictures has not been determined upon, the agreement is for a period of years.

James Whale, who directed "Journey's End," recently was signed by Tiffany and now is considering a number of vehicles. Whether he will make one or a series of pictures depends upon material available.

Trem Carr now is making a series of westerns for Tiffany. Phil Goldstone, the company's studio chief, also is to supervise production of a series.

N. W. Battles Over Operators Heads Toward Climax

Minneapolis—Statements declared signed by A. R. Anderson, striking operator, may lead to a grand jury indictment involving the operators' union, it is reported following Anderson's alleged confession to throwing stench bombs in local houses. He was given a 90-day workhouse term.

All theatres here are well policed, following request of the independents that they be afforded protection against recurrence of stench bomb and shooting outrages.

Exhibitors, led by W. A. Steffes, general manager of the Northwest exhibitor unit, are declared ready to fight to a finish to secure the one-operator-in-the-booth concession they say is essential to profitable operation of their houses. Independents here and at St. Paul adopted the open shop policy when their demand was refused.

Present One-Man System Slated for Discard, Coast Understands

Hollywood—Radio Pictures is taking the lead in return of independent production with a number of other firms declared preparing to follow suit. Under plans understood to have been tentatively agreed to by Hiram S. Brown and William Le Baron, production chief, fully 50 per cent of new product for the company will be made by independents.

Producing firms generally are reported learning that the one-man system of production is slated for the discard. The many features on their respective programs have impressed them with the unfeasibility of the system, it is stated. Accordingly, there is declared to be a well-defined tendency to split up production responsibility, with indications that unit and outside production will be instituted.

The proposed RKO policy of signing up independent producers will be put into effect gradually. The new policy was decided upon by Brown following a survey. Brown's survey was made in the belief that Le Baron had been assigned too heavy a schedule and that one-man production was a fallacious policy. This was pointed out editorially by Motion Picture News and drew widespread comment and commendation throughout the trade.

That Rogers Deal

Contract of Charles R. Rogers for production of a series of features for Radio-Keith-Orpheum is unusual in that the contract is a direct one with the theatre company. Under the deal, the theatre firm is to release the picture through RKO, thus assuring the exhibiting firm product as well as providing potential profit on distribution of the pictures.

Back Unit System

Hiram S. Brown

William Le Baron

May Bar Paramount

Minneapolis — Incensed over what they say are unreasonable protection demands by Publix, exhibitors here are reported planning retaliatory measures. This, it is declared, will take the form of refusing to do business with Paramount.

N. W. Exhibitors Fighting Publix On Protection

Minneapolis—Independents of this territory are preparing to combat the protection demands of Publix, which they describe as "murderous." The claim is made that Publix is seeking 35 miles' protection, to which the independents say they never will agree.

One hundred and twenty days' protection over 20 cent houses, 90 days over 25 cent houses, 60 days over 30 cent theatres and 45 days over 35 cent houses are declared embodied in the Publix demands. This despite the matinee admissions charged by the Publix houses, declared in some instances to be below the price charged at theatres over which protection is sought.

No meetings have been scheduled as yet on the protection issue and W. A. Steffes, general manager of the Northwest exhibitor unit, says he hasn't yet been notified of the protection declared sought by Publix.

Weeks In, Goebel Out, In Sono Art Reorganization

A quiet reorganization of Sono Art has been completed. As a result, O. E. Goebel severs all relations with the company and George Weeks becomes president and prime factor in its affairs.

Sono Art, the producing end of Sono Art-World Wide, will make eight to ten pictures for 1930-1931. The company holds a contract with Eddie Dowling to make "Honeymoon Lane" for which Weeks holds a distributing contract via Paramount. All pictures are expected to be made on the coast.

Motion Picture News

Vol. XLII NEW YORK CITY, AUGUST 16, 1930 No. 7

THOSE INDEPENDENTS ARE STILL IN

The highlights of an address delivered before annual convention of the Southeastern Theatre Owners Association held at the Hotel Ansley in Atlanta, Aug. 11:

YOU want to know if you're going to remain in business. All over the country, the small, unaffiliated exhibitor is raising the same cry.

The answer is you are, as they are, if you continue to use the showmen's and showwomen's brains that have kept you in business so far.

Sitting somewhere near the seat of major operations in New York, this speaker brings to you these observations on the drift of the business, in the belief that they have a definite bearing on what is the uppermost question in your collective minds.

Circuits, Skiddy Grosses and Irony

THE mammoths that the national circuits have built up, the monuments that have been reared in the desire to perpetuate trade-marks, are today causing mental and financial indigestion.

Pictures have been under par in quality. The stock tumble that hit the nation last October is still on the toboggan and nobody quite knows where it is going to end.

Theatre business is off. One circuit is losing $250,000 a week. Another, that and more. A third is lucky enough to break even most of the time and considers its performance a master stroke of business genius.

And the producers who control these theatres find themselves facing the ironic situation of seeing their own pictures flop in their own houses.

Travelers on the Same Road

AS a consequence, the buck has to be and is being passed to the distribution department and the call has gone out in a hurry to stem the gap before the bankers in Wall Street get too inquisitive.

The sales departments have only one direction in which to turn, one road to take and you are their traveling companions.

If you think the independent exhibitor is no longer a factor, here's a slant on how he is regarded in New York: The profits which every major company in this industry make come from the little fellow. Without him, it isn't pleasant to figure out where the business would find itself heading.

Altruism Forced by Necessity

THE point, therefore, is this: The producer is depending, and more fervently than you know, on the bulk bookings of the independent to pull him through. The nose-dive in theatre grosses has brought home to headquarters in New York a realization that the independent is a factor that cannot be overlooked.

YOU may recall that at all of the national sales conventions, sales managers turned altruistic and stressed the importance of keeping the little man in business. That was no accident. It was a change of heart, induced by a stringent and serious situation. The big companies turned altruistic not by choice necessarily, but because they had to do it to find a way out.

The Theatre Merry-Go-Round Quits

IN VIEW of this, it is entirely a fair assumption to make that, as a general policy, they will treat the independents with far more consideration than has been their lot until now. There's one factor that makes the independents' picture brighter.

Secondly, and not necessarily in point of sequence, is the decision of the larger organizations to bear down on theatre expansion. The money market decided that for them, but even if the stock market hadn't, there are indications that the ridiculous and indiscriminate buying of theatres would have stopped anyway.

This speaker happens to know that two companies, both large theatre owners, feel that the saturation point has been reached. Their acquisition and building forays are ended.

That "Loving Hands" Touch

CO-RELATED with this is the sad discovery that, while chains can be operated out of a home office manual, there is a something which personal attention imparts that mechanized operation cannot.

The New York, or divisionally-operated theatre, will never have the warmth and human contact which goes into the management of the individual house. This is a truth which will go a long way toward offsetting the advantages of massed buying power and the protection accorded large scale operations.

Headquarters in New York also are appreciating the fact that small-salaried house managers can never hope to replace the man who functions as an individualist.

Three Points for the Independents

IT IS perhaps because of that, plus the fact that the percentage of profit accruing from small town situations doesn't warrant the cost or the energy applied, that producer chains may be expected to stay out of smaller cities.

Without attempting to narrow down this estimate too closely, this speaker ventures to say that from now on producers will steer clear of towns of 25,000 population or under. The exceptions will include college towns or towns where intensive manufacturing has resulted in concentrations of population.

(Continued on page 22)

Warners to Operate Company, Bankers Checking Money-Bags Seen as Plan

Warners' Big Chief

Soon after his return from Europe, Harry M. Worner, president of Worners, completed plons for refinancing of the compony by Hoyden, Stone & Co. Worner is shown here with his 11-yeor-old doughter, who occomponied him on his trip obroad.

Warners to Drop Stage Shows in Coast Theatres?

Hollywood—Warners will eliminate their presentation policy in both the Downtown and Hollywood houses and revert to a straight picture policy, it is reported. The presentations were added about five weeks ago, but the cost of producing the Larry Ceballos revues is too heavy, reports state.

Musicians and chorus girls have been given two weeks' notice and it is expected the units will be taken out as soon as the present runs are completed.

It is stated that the productions were costing about $10,000 each and that being too heavy for the houses, with business not any too good. Casts of between 70 and 100 have been used in the shows, besides headliners such as Olsen and Johnson, who drew $4,500 per week for their act, thereby sending the weekly "nut" to tremendous figures.

Previously it had been reported that the reception accorded the Ceballos shows at the two local houses would lead to establishment of a national Warner presentation circuit.

"Lincoln" Premiere Aug. 25

D. W. Griffith's "Abraham Lincoln" opens Aug. 25 at the Central, New York.

$20,000,000 in Financing Is Set; Theatre Splurge Now Terminated

The three Warners and their lieutenants in actual charge of operations and management, with one representative or more of the banking interests approving, passing and checking on the expenditures.

This is the reported set-up for the Warner enterprises under new financing plan evolved with Goldman, Sachs and Co. and Hayden, Stone and Co. under terms of which rights to subscribe to the common stock at $20 a share in the ratio of one new share for each four held is to be offered to stockholders on August 25.

The company, beyond doubt the most aggressive in the field of theatre expansion, has ended its spectacular splurge. Harry M. Warner, in a prospectus issued Thursday night, tipped this off when he declared:

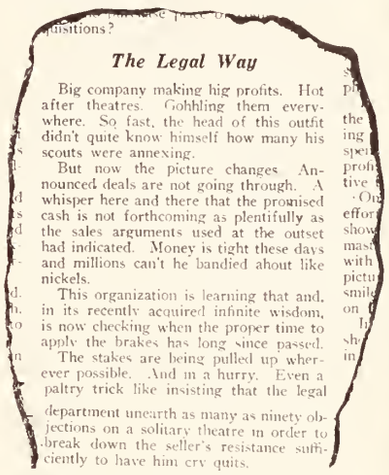
"Although we contemplate the necessity of acquiring or building additional theatres from time to time in various localities where we are not represented or cannot obtain representation, our task from now is to coordinate the various properties and units which we have brought together and wield them into one coordinated and smoothly running organization."

Means $14,375,000 Capital

The new stock offering has been underwritten to the extent of 755,000 shares, which is the approximate number to which holders of common stock will be entitled to subscribe. This will bring approximately $14,375,000 to the company, the rest going to underwriting charges. At the close of the New York stock market on Thursday, Warner common was quoted at $28.63 per share, which would make the subscription rights worth about $1.72 a share.

The Warner directors met during the day and elected Richard F. Hoyt of Hayden, Stone, a director. Walter E. Sachs, of Goldman, Sachs, is already on the board.

Harry M. Warner estimates profit for the nine months to May 31, 1930, at $11,750,000 and anticipates a loss for the fourth and last quarter of the fiscal year ending August 31.



Considerable mystery seems to surround the introduction of Hayden, Stone into the Warner picture. Since their interest in First National and Wesco had been disposed of, these bankers have been out of the picture business. Two of their executives have stated often that the company, moreover, intended staying out.

(Continued on page 35)

Catchings Still In

Waddill Catchings is continuing as a director of Warners, despite the fact that he has severed his connection with Goldman, Sachs & Co., Motion Picture News learns. When Catchings left the banking firm it was variously reported that he had sold out his Warner holdings and probably would sever connections with the film company.

First in "The News"

quisitions?

The Legal Way

Big company making hig profits. Hot after theatres. Gohbling them everywhere. So fast, the head of this outfit didn't quite know himself how many his scouts were annexing.

But now the picture changes. Announced deals are not going through. A whisper here and there that the promised cash is not forthcoming as plentifully as the sales arguments used at the outset had indicated. Money is tight these days and millions can't he bandied about like nickels.

This organization is learning that and, in its recently acquired infinite wisdom, is now checking when the proper time to apply the brakes has long since passed.

The stakes are being pulled up wherever possible. And in a hurry. Even a paltry trick like insisting that the legal department unearth as many as ninety objections on a solitary theatre in order to break down the seller's resistance sufficiently to have him cry quits.

Rumblings that all wos not well on the Worner front were first given to the industry in "The Insider's Outlook" in Motion Picture News for July 21. A reprint of the originol oppears above.

W. B. Finances In Good Shape, Says Comptroller

Warners is in good financial condition, despite the sharp decrease of the company's stock, following omission of the quarterly dividend on the common, according to Samuel Carlisle, company comptroller.

"The company is in good financial shape and I do not think we are overexpanded," says Carlisle. "The dividend was passed to conserve cash in the treasury, which might be needed for future expansion.

"It is true that earnings may be expected to be low in the present quarter, but one must consider the effect of the heat wave on theatre business, and the effect of the business depression.

"The results of several satisfactory booking arrangements we have recently made should show in the period between September and December. I have heard of no merger with any other company, nor have I heard that John J. Raskob was to become chairman of the board.

Neither the report that Raskob is to become chairman of the Warner board of directors nor that he had sold out his Warner holdings when the stock was selling around 80 is true, the Raskob office is quoted as stating.

Warner Left $1,005,913

Estate valued at $1,171,671 gross, and $1,005,913 net, was left by the late Sam Warner. His widow, Lina Basquette, was left a trust fund of $100,000, with an equal sum left to his daughter, Lita, who receives the principal at 21. The residue is left to his three brothers, Harry, Albert and Jack.

The Insiders' Outlook

THE Warners nab the week's headlines and first position in the tongue-waggings of the trade. Everywhere speculation is running high and, as usual, the guessers have turned out in force.

The Insiders happen to know that, while $20,000,000 is the announced figure, actual money requirements to meet obligations will probably reach $30,000,000; that not only Hayden, Stone and Goldman, Sachs will double in the rescuing act, but that a third important banking group will undoubtedly be found in the picture which is now formulating.

There is also this whisper to counter with:

That despite statements to the contrary, the financial position of the Warners is quite complicated and a bit involved because of the nature and extent of outstanding securities as well as the complexion of maturing obligations.

With over 2,000,000 shares now out and an additional large block to be floated, the expectation is that the dividend rate, now $4 per share per annum, will be mercilessly trimmed to meet the situation confronted by the Warner parent and allied companies.

The rest of the whisper has it that some of the assets of the company may be diverted to other interests in order to secure the required cash. This, according to inside report, may take the form of a sale of some of the extensive thetre properties which the Warner organization acquired during its headlong exhibition fling.

To this, as to the other rumblings, the silence is stony. Harry Warner refuses to answer questions and he's the boss.

Ain't That Sumpin'?

E. B. Derr's trip to New York is linked with an inside story of new financing for Pathe. The company, repeatedly tied in with a plan to merge with RKO, needs new capital to carry out its production program, it is said. Therefore, Derr and Joe Kennedy are said to be negotiating for it.

The deal now reported under way will, it is whispered, bring an entirely new banking firm into the picture. Pathe recently came through a receivership action successfully, a master in chancery at Trenton declaring the firm's financial condition is on the mend and that a receivership is not inevitable as contended in the suit. The firm's stockholders also withstood attacks on the present management, voting confidence and electing the "Kennedy slate" into the operating saddle.

Laboring Over Labor

That jam with the operators which Twin City independents are going through is developing serious proportions. The latest threat reported from Minneapolis is that exhibitors will be taken for a ride if they fail to kick in to the demands of the unions. There have been stench bombs galore in a number of theatres and the front of one house was subjected to a fusilade of shots by terrorists.

The Twin Cities several times have been the scenes of operator rows, notably the one two years ago, when a strike of several weeks' duration was called. There was plenty of excitement then, including bombing of one house, acid throwing and stench bombing, which took a heavy toll in admissions.

Exhibitors claim they can't stand the gaff in meeting the unions' demand for two men in the booth of sound houses. They agreed to a helper to change the needles on disc reproducers, but couldn't see their way clear to hire two operators. Indications are that the fight will be long drawn out, for the exhibitors assert they are determined to win out.

Not only to the Twin Cities will the fracas over labor be confined. This Insider pointed out several weeks ago that the fall of 1930 will probably go down in celluloid history as the year when the divine right of labor is either established for all time or kicked completely into the discard.

The impression, backed by any number of inside reports, is growing as the summer wanes.

A Dream

One of The Insiders had a restless time of it the other night. Terrible spell of dreams.

In one of them he saw an office downtown with two men holding the floor. One was Owen D. Young of General Electric. The other was Harley Clarke, public utilities magnate and rapidly learning novice in the picture business.

He heard some conversation. Young was offering to buy the Fox companies —all of them from Clarke. The two spoke at length. It seems Clarke didn't give Young a definite answer, but said he would advise later. Then the picture faded.

General Electric is the parent company of RCA, which, as the world knows, controls Radio-Keith-Orpheum and Radio Pictures. The Insider, of course, knew that, but when the import of his realization flashed across his mind, the jolt proved severe enough to awaken him.

Aren't dreams the damnedest things?

Mixing Flesh and Film

This Insider visited a large Broadway house this week. It was playing a picture that is drawing big throughout the country. The house was packed to capacity and long lines were formed in the lobby. (The weather, incidentally, was delightfully cool.)

The theatre makes a specialty of stage shows. On this occasion the presentation was beautifully mounted and lighted and the ballet attractive.

But almost from the start the audience fidgeted. Costumed figures went through the stately minuet. Several persons in the immediate vicinity of this chronicler yawned openly. A clown went through some pantomimic contortions that were unintelligible to the spectators. More toe dancing. More yawning. Interminably it kept up.

Hope arose after each exit that the curtain would fall. Possibly a dozen persons would applaud. Then came a tenor. Not more than three in that large audience clapped. His face was a study in frustration as he bowed perfunctorily. More leaping in the air and posing.

The thing was aggravatingly dull. There was a perceptible sigh of relief when it was over.

The audience was there to see a picture and had a "stage show" crammed down its throat. The startling lack of applause seems to indicate that the public either is tired of stage shows or weary of attempts to be "artistic" on the stage.

Theatres

A big-circuit executive, describing a certain chain recently acquired in a certain section by a certain producer:

'Those theatres are made of beaverboard and saliva and not much beaverboard."

THE INSIDERS

Published weekly by Motion Picture News, Inc. Founded in September, 1913. Publication, Editorial and General Offices: 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City, William A. Johnson, President and Publisher; E. J. Hudson, Vice-President; Maurice Kann, Editor; Charles F. Hynes, Managing Editor; James P. Cunningham, News Editor; Raymond E. Gallagher, Advertising Manager; Los Angeles Office; Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood; Walter R. Greene, Western Representative. Chicago Office: 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Harry E. Holquist, Central West Representative. Subscription Price: $3.00 per year in United States, Mexico and all U. S. Possessions. Canada, $5.00. Foreign, $10.00. Copyright 1930, by Motion Picture News, Inc., United States and Great Britain. Title registered in United States Patent Office and foreign countries.
Entered as second class matter at the Post Office, New York, April 22, 1926, under Act of March 3 1879.

To Clean Up Film Under Zoning Plan 60 Days After First Run Protection

Here's Why

Sid Grauman, "master" showman of the West, and Howard Hughes, "master" producer-angel, have come to the parting of the ways, despite the agreement which is said to have tied down Grauman to the post of "chief boss" in exploiting the air film.

The split came about, so it is said, when the press gave the publicity breaks to Sid and left Howard out in the cold.

Some there are who say Hughes was right in demanding a showdown, since he put up the money to make the vehicle, and, besides, took plenty of raps from the trade and fan press for spending so much time and money on its production.

Would Bring Product While Still Fresh to Theatres And Bolster the B.O.

Film will be played "right out of the can" and its exhibition life cleaned up 60 days after first-run protection has expired if the zoning plans proposed and now under discussion in a number of key cities throughout the United States are adopted, according to an inside, authoritative analysis made for Motion Picture News.

The Hays office is out after complete zoning with every theatre in the United States catalogued and its protection stipulated for Film Boards of Trade and distributors to follow. It is claimed by advocates of the plan that for the first time in the history of the business all exhibitors in the country will know definitely when releases are to reach them as against the hit-and-miss method which prevails now.

In many exchange centers, the protection afforded varies in accordance with the deals worked out by the theatre and the exchange manager. In a Mid-western city, for instance, one distributor gives a specific theatre 60 days; another exchange, 45 days, and a third 30. This applies to first runs as well with the result that the subsequent runs are in a perpetual quandary trying to figure out when pictures will reach them.

From the inside, the information has it that, while first runs are to be favored in point of area and days in view of the big rentals they pay for product, the radius of the territory in which they are to be afforded protection is to be trimmed as well as the number of days in order to introduce uniformity into the system.

From the exhibitor angle, those familiar and favorable to the plan are of the opinion that the move will be one of the most significant ever undertaken to bolster up box-offices of second, third and all other runs behind the first runs. They argue this will come about because it will enable these theatres to cash in on the advertising campaigns of the first runs and to actually play product within two months after the protection given the first run has expired.

They tacitly make the off-the-record admission that exhibitor complaints over film getting to them when it is no longer fresh are justified, but point out that when the new zoning system becomes effective, this condition will be eliminated.

Will Trim Sales Costs

In so far as the distributor is concerned, the opinion is that this plan will save millions in overhead by substantially reducing sales costs. There are many instances on record now where pictures are reaching small houses as many as 12 and 13 months after national release date.

The extended bookkeeping systems and office operation expense entailed in keeping pace with the current commercial life of each picture are expected to be drastically trimmed by the 60-day clean-up period discussed under the new national zoning scheme.

Tongue-tied Talkers

The situation involving broken film and resultant whistling and stamping of feet in the old silent days has long since passed into the land of oblivion. But, in its place has developed another great American institution: Tongue-Tied-Talkers.

The new-day technic brings the same audience reaction, with the added touch of hilarious laughter, what with the mechanical voice suddenly disappearing and players appearing with definitely shaped lips shot while in the course of conversation, the unnaturalness of their forced silent performance gives much opportunity for poking fun.

Public Prefers Talkers; Legit Out in Canada

Toronto — Famous Players Canadian Corp. has not banned legit shows in its various theatres, but has closed its legitimate booking offices because of public apathy for this type of entertainment, according to Arthur Cohen, managing director of the company.

The public has decided the matter for the company, he says, showing "a decided preference" for talkers at 50 and 65 cents. The talkers, he believes, have sounded the deathknell of profitable legitimate business.

There are houses of the circuit available for legitimate bookings to accommodate road companies touring the Dominion, Cohen says.

Richmond Goes All-Film; Last House Drops Vaude

Richmond, Va.—This center of Southern tradition will make a complete capitulation to pictures by fall with decision to turn the National, closed for several weeks, to a straight film policy minus vaudeville. The re-opening date is August 25 and the picture, "Big Boy." There may and probably will be an occasional road show shown at the Lyric or Mosque, but, by and large, it is pictures that will dominate.

Elmer H. Brient, manager of the National for the last year, has been transferred by Wilmer and Vincent to New York and so far his successor has not been named. Leon K. Stepanian, however, remains as assistant.

Western Electric Service Calls Cut to 5 Per Cent

Calls for servicing of theatres equipped with Western Electric reproducers have decreased to five per cent in recent weeks. Previously the figure had been 21 per cent.

German, French Producers Make Reciprocal Deal

Paris—German and French producers have reached accord on a reciprocal film agreement, according to Charles Delac, president of the cinema syndicate.

This follows the recent deal made between German and American producers, which divided the world's talking picture markets with the exception of France. German producers, it is stated, will increase imports of French films in return for equipment concessions in France.

Pathe to Make Four in England; Stars in Them

Hollywood — Ann Harding, Helen Twelvetrees, Constance Bennett and William Boyd are each slated to star in a picture to be produced by Pathe in England in conformity with the provisions of the British quota law.

Paul Stein, Tay Garnett, Russell Mack and E. H. Griffith will direct.

More Dough Free-Lancing, So Gordon Quits M-G-M

Hollywood—Commencing Sept. 1, Gavin Gordon will free-lance, having persuaded M-G-M to cancel contractural obligations made one year ago. Recently, Gordon appeared as lead opposite Greta Garbo in "Romance." The "run" on male leads is understood to be the reason for the split.

Devaney Heads Circuit For RKO in Canada

Toronto—Leo Murray Devaney has assumed direction of RKO theatres in Canada, coming here from Detroit. Daveney formerly was general manager in Canada for Fox, later serving as sales manager for the Canadian Universal company.

Publix Reducing Operating Costs $1,000,000 Year

Approximately $1,000,000 a year is being lopped off Publix's operating costs as a result of the order to retrench broadcast all over the country by Sam Katz.

The entire theatre organization has been or is being tightened. In some instances, divisional advertising managers have been placed in charge of theatres and house managers either let out or absorbed elsewhere in the organization. The total number of employees has been slashed since the order to cut was put into effect, but wherever possible, employees have been retained.

Patterson Gets 2 States To Operate for Publix

Atlanta—Willard C. Patterson, until now district manager in charge of Publix operations in Atlanta and Birmingham, has been placed in charge of all of Alabama and Georgia. This is a result of a split-up in territorial alignments reported to have been brought about by Sam Katz's decision to effect economies in operation.

Patterson, one of the most experienced and best known theatre operators in the Southeast, will now be chief of approximately 14 theatres.

Hard-Hearted Hollerwood

What ever happened to the grand old standby: "there's a tear for every smile in Hollywood?"

Fox Sales Now Lead Last Year By Seven Weeks

Fox sales are running seven weeks ahead of last year. More accounts will have been closed by this week-end by James R. Grainger and his sales force than were on the books by Oct. 1 of last year. Practically every key city of the United States and Canada has been closed on the new product.

James R. Grainger

Under the plan adopted this year by Grainger, the home office concentrates on national circuits, branch managers on local chains and key cities and salesmen devote their time almost exclusively to subsequent run and small town accounts.

Finkelstein and Friedman Out In Publix N. W. Slash

Minneapolis—Harold Finkelstein and Ben Friedman are first to feel the axe in the economy campaign launched by Publix. Friedman's real estate department has been abolished entirely and the expansion program of the circuit halted in Northwest states. All departments are to be subjected to the pruning knife. Motion Picture News has been informed, with a number of houses now in the red slated to go dark. A number of others are scheduled for the gate, it is reported.

"Big Trail" After "Hell"

Hollywood—"Hell's Angels" is slated to give way to "The Big Trail," the first or second week of September. "The Big Trail" has been filmed on the Grandeur film and will open at Grauman's Chinese as soon as completed.

Fairbanks' Next Titled

Hollywood—"Reaching for the Moon" is title of Douglas Fairbanks' new picture. The story, a modern one, is by William Anthony McGuire. It will be Irving Berlin's first film production. Edmund Goulding will direct.

THOSE INDEPENDENTS ARE STILL IN

(Continued from page 18)

So far then, three points for the independent:

1. The failure of producer theatres to maintain their level and the necessity of turning to independents to maintain sale grosses.

2. The cessation of theatre expansion because of the money market deflation and the approach of the saturation point in big circuit operations.

3. The inability of the chains to give the theatre personal attention to the consequent benefit of individual management.

Needed to Battle Law-Makers

IT IS also understood in New York that the line of legislative defense throughout the country is the small operator, the fellow who knows his congressman, the chap who was running the picture show for many years before the circuits stepped in.

Today with the spectre of chain legislation rearing its head in many sections of the country, the major factors in the industry are realizing that they must have the little fellow help them through the fight.

Another reason why the independents' future appears brighter.

A Case of Brains, Not Brawn

HERE'S a significant observation made by the Department of Commerce, dealing with retailers and how they fit into the chain picture. The department states that the independent operator in all businesses will maintain his place in direct proportion to the efficiency with which he performs his duty to his community.

New methods and new developments have changed the course of American business in the last few years, but the fundamentals of retailing remain the same. The independent who thinks clearly, acts smartly and makes use of the advantages which are his—and not the chains'—stands more than a fighting chance to survive.

At the same time, it must be recognized that incompetents in any business must go; that they would have been weeded out, despite the growth of chain theatres.

"In Union . . ."

IN YOUR own territory, score charges are proving worrisome and there is trepidation, mixed with speculation, over zoning. Insofar as remedies for these and other bothersome trade practices are concerned, the best, quickest and most effective way out of your troubles is to solidify your own organization, locally, and state-wide.

You should bear in mind that the producers and distributors traveled at cross purposes until they banded together in a strongly welded organization of their own. Charles C. Pettijohn is here today as the spokesman for that association.

Linking Up the Chain

THE exhibitors in the Southeast or any other territory in the United States hold a vast, potential but unorganized power in their hands.

If they don't concentrate it and bring it into play for their benefit locally and perhaps nationally by union with other associations, as judgment may dictate, they are overlooking the practical way out of the woods.

KANN

Protection Is Rally Cry of Allied in Membership Drive; Court Action Soon?

Can It Be?

A bunch of New York executives were caught by a MOTION PICTURE NEWS newsbound in the midst of a heated argument as to who was "the most modest" individual in the Eastern film fraternity.

After the casualties were counted, Oscar Cooper, Universal press agent, emerged with the most votes.

See Patee Lease As Fox Entry in Lawrence, Kas.

Lawrence, Kas.—Midwest Film Distributors of Kansas City have taken a long-term lease on the Patee here. The theatre, said to have been the first motion picture house west of the Mississippi, belonged to C. M. Patee, who died last month. Patee claimed to have been the first exhibitor in the United States. Since his death the theatre has been operated by a brother and a nephew.

Glen Dickinson, president of Glen W. Dickinson Theatres, Inc., started his theatre career here and has operated two houses in opposition to the Patee, although of late the competition has not been keen as the latter house had no sound equipment. Midwest Film Distributors formerly was associated with Midwest Theatres, Inc., whose houses were taken over by Fox. It is rumored here that the acquisition of the Patee by Midwest Films may be a first step in a plan by Fox to invade Lawrence as competition to Dickinson, if later Fox should take over the house from Midwest.

Midwest will remodel the theatre and install Western Electric equipment. A few weeks before Patee died, the veteran showman told MOTION PICTURE NEWS that he never would install a sound system, declaring that his patrons preferred silent pictures.

Warning Sounded on Agents

Any dealing of theatrical managers with agents not holding Actor's Equity Ass'n. licenses will be considered an unfriendly act by the organization, it stated this week.

More New Contracts

Hollywood—William Bakewell has signed a new contract with M-G-M.

Jules White and Zion Meyers, producers of the all-dog comedy series which M-G-M is releasing, have also signed new pacts.

Panama Manager in N. Y.

Harry Novak, Paramount manager at Cristobal, Panama, is in New York on his annual visit.

Independents Assail Companies' Attitude on Question; to Invade Iowa

Washington—Protection is to be the rallying cry around which Allied States Ass'n. will make its membership drive. The campaign has for its object the establishment of Allied units in all key cities of the United States, under direction of President Abram F. Myers.

Abram F. Meyers

Allied will take the stand, MOTION PICTURE NEWS learns, that the distributors' position on the protection issue is untenable, and will call upon independents in all territories to work against the fixing of protection schedules as proposed by distributors.

At their meeting at Minneapolis, Allied directors bitterly assailed the protection program of distributors, and hinted that the plan might jeopardize adoption of the proposed standard form of agreement.

Sees Trade Restraints

The protection program is regarded by the independents as restraint of trade and they are marshaling their forces to combat it. The government's trial of the Coast conspiracy case is to be awaited, after which the independents are reported prepared to start legal action in a number of territories. The New Jersey association, a unit of Allied, recently instructed its officers to start court proceedings on the protection issue.

Allied directors at the Minneapolis session drafted plans for their national expansion. Iowa was decided upon as the first territory to be invaded, Allied leaders having been invited to the Des Moines meeting held Tuesday.

Bans Noises on N. Y. Tiny Links After 11 P.M.

Miniature golf courses must discontinue all noises on their premises after 11 P.M., under terms of an order issued in New York by Health Commissioner Wynne. The commissioner says he has no objection to the courses remaining open until 3 A.M., but all noise must cease at 11 P.M.

Bader to Coast

David Bader, collaborating with John Drinkwater in preparation of Carl Laemmle's life story, leaves Saturday for Hollywood. He returned from a data-hunting tour in Europe this week.

M-G-M Re-Signs Keaton

Hollywood—M-G-M has just signed a new contract with Buster Keaton. It's a long-term affair.

Charlotte Sets Date

Charlotte—Aug. 19 has ben set as the date for the next meeting of the zoning committee here. C. C. Pettijohn of the Hays office addressed a conference here Tuesday following his visit to the Atlanta convention of the Southeastern exhibitor unit. About 35 exhibitors and distributors attended the initial meeting here.

Free Shows in West Flourish In Spite of Ban

Minneapolis—Although they are expressly barred under terms of the various forms of contract now in existence, free shows are declared flourishing in this territory. Free shows have been a problem here for several years and at one time nearly wrecked small town business in the territory.

Towns where free shows are reported operating are: Williams Bay and Wausaw, Wis.; Watson, Halloway, Clara City and Danvers, Minn.; Wolsey and Fingal, N. D.; Lake City, S. D., Bennet, Wolbach, Hardy, Kenesaw, Comstock, Platte Center, Carleton, College View, Neb., and Dallas Center, Ia.

Roach and Loew Confer on Foreign Language Films

M-G-M will augment its foreign-language production staff with plans for the expansion now under discussion. Hal Roach is in New York in connection with company plans, having flown here from the Coast in his private plane with Arthur Loew and Ludwig Lawrence, special foreign representatives.

Sues Fox for $150,000

Hollywood—Mrs. Ruth Eastman and her daughter, Patricia Anne, have filed suit against Fox Film, the Tanner Motor Livery and others seeking $150,000 damages for the death of George E. Eastman, cameraman, in an airplane accident off Palos Verdes.

Buying Anderson Contract

Hollywood—John Murray Anderson returns to the Coast this week and it is reported that Universal will buy up his contract as it has not scheduled musicals for the coming season and therefore will not need his services.

News Reel House in U. K.

London—The Shaftesbury Pavilion goes to a newsreel policy shortly.

Fox West Coast in Price Slashing War On Tom Thumbs; Using Dark Houses

Franklin Expanding in New Field at Reduced Prices to Combat Competition

Hollywood—Price slashing is to be employed by Fox West Coast to combat the Tom Thumb golf craze. The move was divulged by Harold B. Franklin, president of the circuit, in announcing that the company intends to continue to expand in the new field.

"The Fox West Coast Theatres," he says, will continue their expansion in regard to the miniature golf courses, which we believe may prove an auxiliary to theatre operation," a statement issued by Franklin asserts. "It is our purpose, when thoroughly organized, that Fox West Coast patrons may have access to such courses at greatly reduced prices of admission. Landscape gardeners and architects are being employed to perfect this diversion up to the highest standards."

Like the Fox theatres in the East, the Coast chain plans to establish indoor courses in dark theatres. The first is to be established in the old De Luxe house here, with plans now under way for utilizing other houses similarly.

Golf "Clubs" Are New Bugaboo for Harried Showmen

San Antonio—Texas theatre owners and managers are facing an added bugaboo. For months they have been worrying themselves sick over patronage taken away from them by miniature golf courses.

Now comes an enterprising miniature golf course owner of this city who, after acquiring a chain of local Tom Thumb courses, has started a club system that is sweeping the city. The dues in the club are $1 monthly and for this sum you can play day or night on any of the chain courses and as often as you like. As the club grows, additional courses are taken into the chain.

So successful has the plan operated in San Antonio, this enterprising golf course owner is planning to invade Houston, Fort Worth and Dallas.

First Fox Miniature Course to Open Aug. 18

Opening of the Kew Gardens, L. I., indoor golf course of Fox Theatres is scheduled Aug. 18. It will be housed in the Kew Gardens Theatre and will be the first theatre golf course operated by the circuit.

Tom Thumbs Close at Midnight

Jersey City, N. J.—Midnight closing of all Tom Thumb golf links here has been ordered.

Shrimp Golf Suffers

St. Louis—Tom Thumb golf is taking the rap here as the field is greatly overcrowded. The courses profited by ideal weather, but with the advent of cooler temperature they are in for what looks like tough sledding. This will bring with it the real test of the draw of the miniature courses.

A number of exhibitors here are entering the new field of competition, some of them deserting exhibition in favor of shrimp golf.

Regulation Golf At Night a New Woe in "Casey"

Kansas City—More competition for theatres was born here when the first illuminated 9-hole golf course of the Eastwood Hills Country Club was inaugurated. Sixty amateurs and professionals played in the opening tournament. The course is now open to the public at regular green fees and is drawing heavy crowds.

The 9-hole course is controlled by one switch, the original plan being to control each fairway separately, illuminating only the holes being played. But the expense of such an arrangement was greater than the expense of keeping the whole course lighted. It has cost the club about $1,000 a hole for lighting equipment.

At present the lighted course is not considered serious competition to theatres, but there is now talk of other clubs going in for night golf. Then regular golf and Tom Thumb courses may go hand-in-hand as a bugaboo to the box offices.

Pigmy Plots Okayed for Sundays; Shows Barred

Roanoke, Va.—Allen Jenkins, proprietor of the Strand, operated his playhouse one Sunday afternoon recently despite the Blue Laws because miniature golf courses were given the right to run Sabbath afternoons by a Roanoke court.

He was find $500 but appealed and the case will be tried before a jury in the Husting's court, which gave the golf courses the right to operate.

According to Jenkins' testimony, 132 patrons were admitted to his house, which caters to colored persons, and 25 white persons wanted to attend, but were turned away. The performance was given at night after church services were held.

2-Way Bet

Detroit—L. A. Young, Tiffany president, gets them going and coming. In addition to his picture interests. Young sponsors manufacture of a golf club, so that the Tom Thumb craze is right up his alley.

New York Eyes Midget Golf in Licensing Move

Albany—New York state may license Tom Thumb golf courses. W. P. Capes, secretary of the State Conference of Mayors, with headquarters in Albany, N. Y., is busy these days ascertaining the number of such courses in New York state, particularly in cities, attendance figures and also as to whether or not they are operating on Sundays.

A bill may be presented at the session of the State Legislature opening in January, calling for the regulation and licensing of this new pastime. In all probability New York will follow Kansas in the drafting of a law calling for a license fee of $50 from each course. It is possible that the act will also carry a clause to the effect that in case of infraction of rules, the license, which will not be transferable, will be revoked.

Late Hours Net Fine of $200 to "Golf" Operator

Chicago—Leo Harrington, manager of a miniature golf course in the Edgewater district (north), was fined $200 and costs in Municipal Court for operating the place too late at night. Though the Court did not set an arbitrary closing hour for the course in the future, the complainants were invited to place charges against the course operator at any time their slumbers were disturbed at unreasonable hours henceforth. Judge John H. Lyle promised to assess a similar fine each and every time similar charges were substantiated.

Nearby residents complained that they were kept awake at all hours of the night by the shouts of inebriated patrons of the course and by noisy workers making late repairs on the links.

Two Boys Named Sammy and Tommy Find New Way to Trim Exhibitor at Golf

Mary Falls

Hollywood—Mary Pickford is the latest picture celeb to go in for miniature golf in a big way. She started work on an elaborate 18-hole course at the edge of Beverly Hills and will operate it as a sideline to her picture activities. The star has many other investments but this is the first of this type she has made.

William Seiter, First National director, is the owner of one of the putt-putt courses in Hollywood.

Temperature Drop Proves Tonic to Chi Box Offices

Chicago—Delightfully cool weather returned to the Loop and, persisting, sent box-office grosses to new highs all around the town. Outlying theatre managers had the pleasure of seeing listless workmen puttering around deserted miniature golf courses while the sidewalks in front of their own establishments were crowded with holdouts waiting for a theatre seat.

In the Loop, "Manslaughter" (Paramount) was off to holdout business after good reviews. The five-day draw was estimated at $42,000. "Common Clay" (Fox) was also holding them out for the third week at the Roosevelt, where the picture is playing to adults only. The Oriental with "The Way of All Men" (F. N.) and Helen Kane on the stage was also registering capacity business, only slightly behind that of the Chicago. "Holiday" (Pathe) is another, but less sensational, money picture at the United Artists. "The Dawn Patrol" (F. N.) opened its third week at McVickers to slightly better than average business.

Universal had two "pinks" (adults only) doing good business next door to each other on Randolph Street. "What Men Want" opened at the Garrick Sunday, while the Woods, next door, took "Little Accident" today. The only flop was "Cock o' the Walk" (Sono Art-World Wide) which, after four days at the Castle during which it grossed only $1,800 (65%), was jerked. "Hell's Island" (Col.) replaced it.

Reubenson Sails

Reg Reubenson of Seventh Ave. Films, Ltd., London, sailed Tuesday from New York for England.

"Ingagi" Banned

Memphis—Because, it is alleged, the film is not authentic, "Ingagi" has been barred by local censors.

The Jig's Up, Mates, They're Going to Keep Them Going All Winter

Washington—Just when thousands of theatre owners in all sections of the country were beginning to count the days until wintry blasts would blast those blasted miniature golf courses, up pops Uncle Sammy with a brand new idea which will enable the Tom Thumbs to stay open all year.

The Department of Commerce, after a study of new uses for cotton, discovered that all-year use of miniature golf links may be made practical through the use of cotton duck or canvas enclosures. And with announcement of the discovery went the hopes of more than one theatre owner who had been made to feel the pinch of the new and serious competitor.

The present number of these enterprises is figured by the government at 25,000, with a total investment value of more than $125,000,000. The growth has been particularly rapid this year, increasing 15,000 courses with an estimated value of $45,000,000 in the early Spring to the current total.

The gross income from the average course, according to information received by the department, for a season of six to ten months indicates that the business is generally profitable. Many towns having less than 10,000 inhabitants were found to have as many as four courses, all running "in the black." Development of the field has given employment to thousands.

Crawford Film History Being Published Abroad

"Men in the Movie Vanguard" by Merritt Crawford is being published simultaneously in "Cine Mundial," Spanish publication, and "Le Nouvel Art Cinematographique," French journal, edited by Maurice Noverre. Crawford is credited by Noverre with preserving the historic truth concerning the origin of films. He attributes the invention of pictures to Dr. E. J. Marey and perforations to Emile Reynaud.

Franklin to Attend Meet

Hollywood—Attending his first session as an active member, Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theatres, will meet with other members of the California State Chamber of Commerce at Del Monte during the latter part of August.

Looking 'Em Over

Charles ("Chick") Lewis, chairman and editor of the Managers' Round Table Club of Motion Picture News, has left Hollywood on the next lap of his nation-wide tour. Read his yarn on "Looking Over the Field with 'Chick'" on the Club pages and get the low-down on his observations and confabs with exhibitor personalities in the U. S and Canada.

One Gorilla! 20 Bucks

(News Item)

Los Angeles—Leaving the ethical aspects of the motion picture, "Ingagi," to Will H. Hays and others, Milton Phillips is concerning himself with an effort to collect $20 for one day's work as the film's gorilla.

"They said I didn't make a good gorilla," Phillips told Deputy Labor Commissioner Thomas Barker. "They refused to pay me. I insist I could be as good a gorilla as anyone else and am entitled to the $20."

Kansas Governor, Foe of Industry, Licked at Polls

Kansas City—Frank Haucke was nominated for governor of Kansas by the Republicans in the primary election, piling up a substantial lead over Gov. Clyde M. Reed. Kansas exhibitors, regardless of party affiliations, were more or less pleased with the outcome as Gov. Reed has not looked upon the industry with any great amount of favor.

Gov. Reed's attitude toward censorship has been one of strict enforcement and several times he has called the Kansas censor board "on the carpet" for not cutting out certain scenes in pictures. Reed also was for enforcement of the Sunday closing laws.

At a convention of Kansas and Missouri theatre owners last year in Kansas City, Gov. Reed rapped the industry for alleged immoral stories and scenes and declared that as long as he was governor he would keep such pictures out of Kansas. The attitude of Haucke and Harry Woodring, Democratic nominee, toward the picture industry is not known.

"White Cargo" Ban Lifted

Sydney, Australia—Appeal against the ban on "White Cargo," imported here independently by Jack Musgrove, general manager of Williamson-Tait, legit producers, has been upheld. Cuts totalling 110 feet were made, it is said.

When the chief censor banned this film in its entirety large newspaper space followed for, as a play it has been very successful here. Then, too, it is British. Owing to this fact the appeal board refused to pass its say-so until the public fan-fare had subsided. It waited two months for that.

Bow in "Wedding Night"

Hollywood—"Her Wedding Night" is the title selected for Clara Bow's forthcoming talker for Paramount. Ralph Forbes will play opposite Miss Bow. "Skeets" Gallagher and Charlie Ruggles will have roles.

Tiffany in Drive to Double Number of Franchise Holders; Allied Votes Aid

Independents Endorse Compact; Hanson Closes Deal for Association Film

New franchise drive is to be launched immediately by Tiffany which aims to double its number of franchise holders, Oscar Hanson, company sales manager, stated this week upon his return from Minneapolis, where he attended the meeting of directors of Allied States Ass'n.

Oscar Hanson

Tiffany now has 2,700 franchise holders, signed for five-year periods, Hanson states. Allied leaders are to get behind the drive for new franchise holders.

Allied recently completed a survey of members who were queried on their experience with Tiffany franchises. This resulted in endorsement of the franchise arrangement at the recent Minneapolis meeting.

While at Minneapolis, Hanson completed a deal with Allied leaders for cash settlement on the agreement of Tiffany to produce a picture for Allied, with the latter sharing in the profits from its distribution. The new arrangement, it is stated, will enable Allied to go ahead with its plans for expansion of the organization.

Legit Passing Out Is Opinion of G. B. Shaw

London—It won't be long now, so far as the legitimate theatre is concerned in the opinion of George Bernard Shaw, which explains his contract with British International Pictures to produce "How He Lied to Her Husband."

"I'm afraid the poor old theater is done for," Shaw said. "The theater may survive as a place where people are taught to act, but apart from that there will be nothing but talkies soon. All my plays will be made talkies before long. I have signed a contract now because I wanted some money."

Shaw says "Arms and the Man" probably would be the next of his plays made into a picture.

Gaynor-Fox Rift Nears End; New Picture Set

Hollywood—The impasse between Janet Gaynor and Fox is about over. The reconciliation is so close, as a matter of fact, that the first picture under resumed relations will be "The Princess and the Plumber" with Charles Farrell co-starred.

Auto Accident Fatal

Hollywood—Injuries received in an automobile accident proved fatal to Leslie Bates, screen player.

Loew's Earnings Improve

Net of $10 on the common stock of Loew's for the year to end Aug. 31 is being anticipated by the company. The company soon is to issue a statement showing earnings for the 12 weeks ended June 6 which will show an improvement over the same period last year.

Loew's earnings are declared reflected in the company's refusal to join the stampede for theatre acquisition which has harassed other companies. A policy of buying houses only where real estate value is sound has contributed to the firm's position.

Musicians Set To Fight Talkers At Canada Meet

Regina, Sask.—Mechanical music in theatres is to be the chief subject of discussion at a conference to be held here is September. The effect of such music upon musicians throughout the Dominion will be discussed at length at the forthcoming sessions.

Montreal—Three delegates will be sent by local musicians to the Regina conference in September, at which sound film music in theatres will be discussed. The local union is sponsoring free concerts in municipal parks "to educate the people to good music." Proposal to boycott theatres using mechanical music exclusively was discussed in detail at the recent meeting of the union.

President J. T. Foster of the Montreal Trades and Labor Council, who recently returned from Europe, says that mechanical music is not proving a success in theatres there.

"Ultimately," Foster said, "the public will rebel against mechanical music and we shall have the human element back in the theatres."

Washington Musicians Refusing to Yield

Washington—Differences between musicians and theatre managers still remain unsettled despite a conference held recently.

Contracts expire in September. There are no indications that new ones will be signed until differences are settled. Managers object to unions stipulating the number of musicians to be employed at each theatre. It is claimed they might employ more musicians from time to time as required if they were not bound by having to employ a certain number all year round whether needed or not.

Not a Bad Idea at That

Los Angeles—Leonard Goldstein told Jimmy Starr that "The Spoilers" should have an all-supervisor cast.

Detroit Strike Off; Operators Accept $5 Cut

Detroit—Operators and exhibitors here have settled their difficulties, with only one man required in booths of sound houses up to 1,500 capacity. In addition, a $5 reduction scale has been agreed to in a number of theatres, with $10 reduction granted some houses until Sept. 30.

H. M. Richey

The present scale is to be extended for two years, under terms of the agreement negotiated by H. M. Richey, business manager of the Michigan exhibitor association.

Previously it had been anticipated that there would be a strike Sept. 1, when present wage agreements were slated to expire.

Unions Demand Wage Boosts in Boston Theatres

Boston—Increased wages and changes in working conditions are included in the new contracts submitted to Boston legitimate and picture theatres by the Theatrical Stage Employees and the M. P. Operators' unions.

The present contract expires on Labor Day. Agents of the two locals declined to divulge just what the terms of the new demands are until after a conference with theatre managers, which it is expected will take place within a week.

Moulin Rouge Sold

Paris—The Moulin Rouge, famous Parisian music hall and known to all American film men visiting here, has been acquired by Pathe Natan. The house went sound last winter.

Boost in Neighborhood Patronage Seen As Spurring on Circuit Zoning Action

Pathe Confab On

Conferences between E. B. Derr, company president, P. J. Scollard, executive vice-president, and E. J. O'Leary, general sales manager of Pathe, are under way in New York. Derr arrived from the Coast Tuesday. The Pathe president is actively in charge of production, supervision of which he assumed a year ago. He now is working on the 1931-32 line-up, announcement of which is designed to set at rest reports of an impending Pathe-RKO merger.

Warners Now Have 21 Houses in Chi; Coston Chain In Chicago—The deal for the Coston houses here has been closed by Warners. Included in the transaction were six theatres owned outright by James Coston. They are the Buckingham, Julia, Shakespeare, Frolic, Metropolitan and Oakland Square. Negotiations for this string were among the first to be opened by Warners on entering the Chicago territory this Spring, but disagreements over terms, it is understood, has held up the deal until now.

Other houses in which Coston has an interest which have been taken over by Warners recently include the Shore, Symphony, Indiana Harbor, (Ind.), Elkhart, (Ind.), and Hoosier (Whiting, Ind.). Closing of the deals for these was announced several weeks ago in Motion Picture News. The Coston deal boosts Warners' total here to 21 theatres in the metropolitan district. The company's goal was set at 60 last Spring.

Coston on Thursday denied the Warner deal for his houses has been completed. He says the official announcement concerned Federal Theatres.

Held in Labor Squabble

Seattle—Suspected of being involved in some way with local labor unions, Mrs. Ada Hagstrom, theatre picket, was arrested by detectives this week and lodged in jail while her union connections are being investigated.

Mrs. Hagstrom was released from the city jail on bail a week ago, after having been charged with disorderly conduct arising from an altercation in the street with another unidentified woman, who, police said, pulled a banner from Mrs. Hagstrom's shoulders and then fled.

Friedl in Atlanta

Atlanta—John J. Friedl, Southeastern divisional manager for Publix, is here conferring with Willard C. Patterson and Robert B. Wilby.

Downtown Houses Are Harmed By Trend Toward Suburbans Due to Lower Prices

Definite trend to neighborhood patronage is noted by suburban theatres in a number of key cities, according to close observers of the situation. As a consequence, suburbans in many principal cities are faring better proportionately than downtown stands.

That is declared to be one reason for the zoning activity instigated by principal circuits. The first runs are declared to be feeling the pinch on account of the 'spurt of neighborhoods' attendance.

The suburbans are declared to be enjoying a decided advantage due to their lower prices of admission. With a majority of houses offering the whole show on the screen, this price advantage is said to be giving the suburbans a decided edge in competing with downtown houses.

Patrons are giving prime consideration to the price angle, the survey indicates, emphasizing a definite preference for neighborhood theatres in many instances. The declared aversion to stage shows also is a contributing factor in the swing to neighborhood patronage.

Stone in Charge of Fox Foreign Language Talkers

Hollywood—John Stone, veteran scenario editor, has been placed in charge of foreign language talkers at Fox. A complete staff of writers, directors and technicians has been established.

Helen Kane Denies She Got Gift of $40,000

Chicago—Helen Kane stopped boop-adoop-adooping here long enough to deny that she ever was presented with $40,000 by Murray J. Rosner, bankrupt. The baby-talk girl's bank account has been tied up in New York.

Mills-Tiffany Music Deal

Mills Music Co. has acquired publication rights to all original music and scores used in Tiffany pictures. Irving Mills now is in Hollywood completing negotiations with Phil Goldstone, company production chief. Jack Mills is president of the music company, which has its headquarters in New York.

Jack Mills

The Mills concern is preparing to launch an intensive campaign

"An Eye for an Eye"

Owensboro, Ky.—Instead of following the Biblical injunction to "turn the other cheek," R. P. Thomas, manager, Bleich and Empress theatres, units of the Strand Amusement Co., of Paducah, who was arrested for ten successive Sundays for violation of the Sabbath labor law, is retaliating. Thomas has gathered evidence against more than 140 local citizens who have been working on Sunday in various lines of trade, and has sworn out warrants for their arrest. Police department has been kept busy preparing and serving the warrants.

Lina Basquette, Grief Stricken, Drinks Poison

Hollywood—Because, it is said, she despaired of ever regaining custody of her four-year old child, adopted by Harry M. Warner, Lina Basquette, screen and vaudeville player and widow of Sam Warner, attempted suicide here.

She swallowed poison after a party at her home. Antidotes were administered at a hospital. Miss Basquette is declared separated from Peverell M. Marley, cameraman, whom she married recently.

New Hollywood Tabloid Planned; Gibbons, Editor

Hollywood—A new tabloid newspaper is set to make an appearance here in the near future according to Ed Gibbons who will be associate editor. The sheet will be called "The Reflector" and will feature material on stage, screen, music, radio, books, and sport. Billy Owens and Jack Tenny, now with Gibbons, were formerly on the staff of "Inside Facts," Pacific Coast theatrical weekly.

Publix Reported Planning Invasion of Glens Falls

Glens Falls, N. Y.—J. A. Hutcheon, former Amsterdam showman, on Labor Day will take over management of the Empire here. A combination policy will be presented. There is considerable talk here of a proposed invasion of the town by Publix.

Aiding "Dawn Patrol"

Curtiss-Wright base stations throughout the country are to aid in exploiting "The Dawn Patrol," under an exploitation tie-up arranged by Charles Einfeld's department. There are 36 Curtiss-Wright air fields throughout the country.

Dipson Sails

Nikitas Dipson, Batavia, N. Y. exhibitor, is Europe-bound on the Saturnia.

Discs Doing Fadeout in Favor of Sound On Film Reproducers, Survey Discloses

Western Electric and RCA Lower Prices on New Equipment

Sharp swing to sound-on-film reproducers is being reported throughout the country, following decision of RCA Photophone and Western Electric to give exhibitors the option of sound-on-film equipment without purchase of a disc reproducer.

Both companies made the sound-on-film equipment available at a lower price than the dual equipment and there has been a resultant speeding up of installations.

Warners' decision to make pictures available with sound-on-film also has given impetus to that method of recording. While the company intends to continue disc recording for use in its own theatres, exhibitors generally are expected to favor the film method.

Union Mandate Factor

Express charges on shipments of records, coupled with the declared disadvantages of synchronization results, also are contributing to the declared preference for film recording. The mandate of operators that exhibitors must employ more than one man in the booth of houses where discs are used also is lending strength to the trend in favor of sound-on-films. This is said to have been one of the big factors which led the two big electrics to make the sound film reproducer available without installation of disc equipment.

While exhibitors and distributors are declared to favor the sound-on-film system, there is no likelihood that discs will be abandoned immediately. One authority estimates that discs will continue for at least two years more, stating that there are about 3,500 theatres equipped for disc reproduction only. The reported belief of distributors that they can't afford to pass up this revenue, will result in continuance of discs, it is stated, with the elimination a slow but definite process.

Sunday Shows Win Big Victory in Upper N. Y.

Rochester, N. Y.—In the face of three defeats in the last five years, Sunday film performances are now legalized in Newark, N. Y., with the Board of Trustees voting to approve a petition signed by 1,479 voters on motion of Mayor Frank J. Baltzel.

The vote was the biggest victory for Sunday shows in Western New York in two years, Newark being the largest village in the district so far to take favorable action. The vote was unanimous.

The board was petitioned last Spring to put the proposition to a vote. Opponents blocked the move with an injunction, but it later was found that only the vote of the board was necessary to solve the problem. The vote followed.

Exhibitors at Atlanta Meet

Western Electric has completed its 6,000th installation. It is at the Comoedia, Marsaeilles, France.

Publix Not Backing Combine

Chicago—Publix is not backing the new booking combine here, it is stated, although Floyd M. Brockell, of Balaban & Katz, is its booker. No date has been set as yet for Brockell's leaving Publix, although it is generally believed he will join the exhibitors' co-operative about the first of the year. Some 40 additional independents are to be added to the combine within the next few months, it is declared.

Sound-on-Film Displacing Discs In Wisconsin

Milwaukee—Trend in sound equipment among theatres in Milwaukee and Wisconsin is toward the sound-on-film apparatus. Warners, operating nine neighborhood theatres in Milwaukee, are installing sound-on-film equipment in all these theatres in addition to making other improvements in the houses. These theatres before operated only with disc equipment.

Theatres being so equipped include the Venetian, Lake, Kosciuszko, Juneau, State, Riviera, Granada and Egyptian. In addition, it is expected that this equipment will also be added to the Warner state theatres where it is not already in use.

The Fox Midwesco theatres in Milwaukee have been operating with both types of equipment as well as the majority of the houses throughout the state. The common opinion, however, among theatre operators in this section is that the sound-on-film apparatus will eventually replace the disc.

Even among the smaller theatres in the state which have been featuring sound pictures for the past year or more, installations of sound-on-film equipment are being made at a fairly rapid pace. The Door at Sturgeon Bay, managed by Frank Borchert, and the Vista at Minocqua are among the recent theatres in smaller cities throughout Wisconsin making sound-on-film installations.

For the most part these theatres are continuing to operate their disc equipment as well as the new apparatus, but will eventually maintain only the latter type.

One Up

The Criterion and Gaiety, New York main stem houses, have contracted for a double sound system which will be ready for the dual "Hell's Angels" premiere Friday night.

Both houses are receiving two separate and distinct sound-wiring systems which, with the usual "emergency" breakdown projectors found in majority of first runs, gives the town the first triple-sound projector systems on record.

Continues Move To Get Cut on Disc Shipments

Atlanta—J. H. Butner is continuing his activities in efforts to secure reduction in express rates on discs. He is manager of the Educational exchange here and recently suggested to the Hays organization that it petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for reduction of the rates.

He takes the position that the increase in shipments which followed advent of sound pictures entitles exhibitors to a cut in rates. Other lines of business enjoy special rates, he declares, and the film industry never has been granted any concession.

Combination Policy to Open Fox Tacoma House

Seattle—Earl L. Crabb, Pacific Northwest division manager of Fox West Coast Theatres, Inc., in this city, will reopen the Fox Broadway in Tacoma next week. The house will again be operated on a combination picture and stage show policy, with Fanchon and Marco units appearing there weekly between their showing at the Fox Broadway in Portland and the Fox Fifth Avenue in Seattle. The Tacoma house has been dark for many months as a result of mediocre business and differences with the Tacoma unions last summer.

Fox now operates the Colonial and Rialto in that city.

Ben Atwell Joins "D.W." As "Abe Lincoln" P. A.

Ben Atwell, one of Broadway's best known press agents, has contracted with D. W. Griffith to handle exploitation and publicity for "Abraham Lincoln," effective this week.

Atwell, who has press-agented many of the town's big legit shows and operatic stars, recently handled publicity for the Chicago Grand Opera Co.

Ufa's First Talker Ready

Ufa will premiere its first German talker on August 29, in New York. The picture, "Melody of the Heart," will be shown in English and German versions.

Kent and Skouras Seen at Loggerheads At Philly; Independents for Paramount

Wedding Bills

Hollywood—It happened in Monterey for Jack Pickford when he was married on the southern peninsula to Mary Mulhern, New York legit player. Summonses were reported served on Pickford by alleged debtors before the wedding ceremony.

New Competition Hits Windy City Showmen

Chicago—Theatre competition greater than that afforded by midget golf courses is seen by local exhibitors in the three months' report of two new civic institutions just made public. The initial quarterly report of the Adler Planetarium showed that more than 1,000,000 visitors had been received since the institution's opening in May. More than $250,000 receipts were reported. A similar report by trustees of the Field Aquarium showed 500,000 visitors had been received during the first 30 days the building was opened. It is reliably estimated that Chicago's 140 miniature golf courses draw fewer than 200,000 persons monthly, and that these spend less time at the courses than in either of the two new civic institutions.

Griffith to Continue to Operate Texas Theatres

Oklahoma City.—Texas theatres operated by the Griffith Amusement Co., are not included in merger of Momand Theatres and the Griffith chain which consolidated 26 theatres in 17 Oklahoma towns. A. B. Momand heads the combined company, which is to be known as Momand-Griffith Theatres.

Cole Buys 18 Duo Fones For Philippine Islands

Manila, P. I.—Majority of theatres in the Philippines will switch to sound policies under the terms of a single deal, concluded between Lyric exchange and Duo Fone Corp., Detroit, which will install 18 duo system devices throughout the islands.

Warners Dissolve Old Strand Corporations

Dissolution papers for Mark Strand Theatre Corp., Brooklyn Strand Theatre Corp., Buffalo, and Albany Regent Theatre Corp., subsidiary units of the former Mark Strand circuit, all listing Buffalo headquarters, have been filed by Warners.

Demi-Tasse Golf Aids Draw at Oklahoma City

Oklahoma City—Grosses have been boosted at the Ritz through a miniature golf course which adjoins the theatre. A paid admission entitles the holder to a free game of golf, under the plan adopted by Manager Tom Johnson.

Paramount House Seen As Likely as First Run Is Denied

Philadelphia—Paramount and Warners are reported at loggerheads here with the Paramount product reported being sold away from Warners. Independents are declared being lined up by Paramount. The local rialto has heard a number of reports, chief of which has been one of personal differences between Sidney Kent and Spyros Skouras.

This reported situation means that Paramount is without a first run outlet in the local situation, it is stated, and there is speculation as to whether Paramount may enter the town with a theatre of its own.

Since the Comerford acquisition by Paramount, there is reported to have been a widening breach between the two companies which less than a year ago were planning to merge. This declared breach was emphasized at the Warner convention at Atlantic City, where Harry M. Warner made what was regarded as a virtual declaration of war against Paramount.

Fischer to Open Exchange At Des Moines for Tiffany

Des Moines—Tiffany will establish an exchange here. Roy Miller is expected to come to Des Moines from Omaha to open the new office. It will be under jurisdiction of A. H. Fischer, veteran Minneapolis manager, who is to have supervision of the Minneapolis, Des Moines and Omaha exchanges.

"Buddy" Rogers May Do Stage Play in New York

Hollywood—Upon completion of his next talker, Charles ("Buddy") Rogers is slated for a musical stage show to be produced in New York, according to reports here.

Possibility is that Flo Ziegfeld may produce the show as the Follies creator has been in conference with Jesse Lasky and Ben Schulberg the last few days. Paramount will film it later.

At Loggerheads

S. R. Kent Spyros Skouras

Dembow in Charge

Sam Dembow is in complete charge of the Publix circuit during the European trip of Sam Katz, who is making a survey of the continental situation. Dembow continues as head of the cost control committee, supervising the company economy program recently instituted.

Dog Track Promoter Gets Writ Against Interference

Indianapolis—It seems this city can't get away from the dog race track idea, though one track has been closed by officials. Proposing to start a dog track shortly, Hugh Frye, Louisville promoter, has filed an injunction suit against the local sheriff and other peace officers to prevent interference with the operation. The promoter is seeking an immediate hearing.

Frye contends in the suit that dog racing is not a violation of the law. Dog track racing, bicycle and motorcycle racing and other forms of contests will be held at the track, he said. Coupons will be given to customers on paid admission in which an opportunity to guess the number of the race winner will be offered. Money and merchandise will be the rewards for the winning guessers, he said.

The suit also alleged that the sheriff had intimated he intended to stop operation of the track. The sheriff said he would resist any attempt to operate games of chance in connection with the track.

DiLorenzo Succeeding Gilbert at Greenwich

Louis Gilbert is succeeded as manager of the Pickwick, Greenwich, Conn., by Joseph DiLorenzo. The house is one of two acquired by RKO this week from Bratter & Pollack, of Newark, N. J., who have sold eight of their local string to the Keith outfit. DiLorenzo, formerly on Paramount's West Coast studio staff, has been managing the RKO Proctor at Mt. Vernon.

Billing Keeps Doug, Jr. Out of Rogers Picture

Hollywood—Joel McCrea, RKO player, has been borrowed by Fox for a featured part in Will Rogers next, "Lightnin'." Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., was to have taken the part but a disagreement over billing caused First National to keep him out of the picture. It is also said that because of plans to star Fairbanks soon he should not play supporting roles.

Canadian Buying Combine Head Reelected to House

Toronto—J. Earl Lawson, chairman of the Exhibitors Co-operative of Canada, film buying pool of 60 independent theatres, has been reelected to the House of Commons.

Score Charges, High Rentals Retard Film Buys in Southeastern States

Exhibitors at Atlanta Meet Refuse to Be Stampeded—Zoning Plan Ready

Atlanta—Exhibitors in this territory are taking their time about buying product for next year. Delegates at the Southeastern Theatre Owners' Ass'n convention held here Monday and Tuesday, almost to a man, admitted they were in no hurry about affixing signatures to contracts for 1930-1931.

General economic conditions which are reported to be unsatisfactory, score charges which are considered exorbitant and rentals that some of the attending exhibitors described as hovering in the neighborhood of heaven are the triple reasons.

Exchangemen, refusing to be quoted, admit that the manner in which new contracts are pouring in is nothing to write headquarters in New York about.

Zoning Another Reason

It may be that, since zoning is now practically set for this territory, sales will take an impetus. Exhibitors at the convention openly declared that misgivings over the extent of the protection afforded first runs and, in particular, producer-affiliated theatres, had influenced them to bear down on purchases until some sort of understanding had been reached.

When Charles C. Pettijohn left here Tuesday night to attend a zoning meeting at Charlotte, he carried with him the details of the plan agreed upon for the Southeast. There are one or two towns in which more protection has been demanded than the distributors in New York are likely to grant, but the impression at the close of the convention was that the plan will be approved practically in toto by distributing and circuit heads in New York.

Included in the speakers at the meeting were: Pettijohn, R. F. Woodhull, representing Dr. Lee De Forest, who could not attend; Montgomery Hill, of Publix-Saenger theatres of North Carolina; M. A. Lightman, national president of the M. P. T. O. A., and "Red" Kann, editor of Motion Picture News.

Following an address by Horace Russell, president of the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce, and an answering address by Willard C. Patterson, district supervisor for Publix in this territory, the trade paper editor spoke.

His subject concerned the independents and their future. Kann pointed out that the stock market, the consequent drop in producers' theatre activities, plus their declared inability to run small town theatres as well as the independents themselves all presaged a healthy future for the unaffiliated exhibitor provided he used ingenuity and showmanship to put over his theatres.

Hill Makes a Hit

Montgomery Hill, who followed, outlined a course in practical showmanship. He said clean theatres, well managed and well programmed, backed up by efficient personnel would always surmount locations and book-

(Continued on page 36)

Brain and Work Way to Theatre Profit Says Hill

Atlanta—Keep your theatre clean, vary your program, make your house comfortable, watch and improve personnel and sell the public hard and often and the problems of theatre operation will dissolve into bigger and better profits Montgomery Hill told the exhibitors attending the Southeastern Theatre Owners' Ass'n convention here this week.

Hill, one of the executives of Publix-Saenger Theatres of North Carolina, brought to the theatre owners the benefits in operation learned by his company through experience and turned them over to the visitors for their benefit without charge.

His address, cryptic and full of meat, was one of the highlights of the convention, was referred to constantly by the speakers who followed him and was described by Charles C. Pettijohn as "the finest talk he had ever heard an exhibitor deliver."

Comfort Emphasized

Hill declared comfort was an important factor in theatre operation and under that heading listed seats, lighting, ventilation, carpets, acoustics, projection, the screen and sound reproduction.

"Get out a flashlight and peer into the corners of your theatre yourself," he urged. "Put yourself in the position of the patron and ask yourself if you would pay money to go into the house as you expect the patron to do. Cleanliness is vital.

"Use contrast in your program. See that it is properly balanced and well put together. Be certain it has variety, class, balance at all times."

On methods of obtaining maximum value from newsreels, Hill said, in part:

"Edit your newsreel. Put speed into it. Make it fit your needs. The newsreel is probably the biggest draw you have for male patronage. See that it opens and closes big."

He stressed the importance of relieving a heavy feature with a light comedy and a light comedy with a different type of short subject. In the presentation of each bill, he told the theatre owners it was vital to introduce color, surprise, life and novelty and to do whatever was possible to make the theatre unusual.

He urged the listeners to remember projection, to see to it that definition is clear

(Continued on page 36)

On the Sidelines at Atlanta

Atlanta—It didn't have to be proved, but the confab of the Southeastern Theatre Owners Association demonstrated clearly the spot—warm one—which Anna Aiken Patterson fills in the thoughts of the Southern crowd.

* * *

For many years, Mrs. Patterson, as publisher and editor of The Weekly Film Review, espoused the cause of the theatre owners in this territory, answered their questions, premiered their theatres, made speeches and contacted the picture business with women's clubs, particularly throughout Georgia.

* * *

Then she sold her publishing property, discovered an unruly appendix and dropped from all activity for three months to emerge for the convention this week. Walking through the lobby of the Ansley was a long series of interruptions. Everybody wanted to know how the Patterson health was.

* * *

At the banquet Monday night it seemed, therefore, entirely fitting and natural that Mrs. Patterson found herself at the speakers' table. What the 180-odd guests didn't know, however, was that it was she who really toastmastered the dinner and not Alpha Fowler.

Fowler knew only some of the speakers whose names he so glibly called upon.

* * *

When Charlie Pettijohn, Arthur Dickinson and Pete Woodhull passed through Charlotte at 3 o'clock Monday morning, Charlie Picquet, president of the North Carolina M. P. T. O., hopped aboard and traveled into Atlanta for the pow-wow.

* * *

Picquet is an adept at community singing and proved his prowess at the banquet when he led the diners through "Tipperary" and "Pack Up Your Troubles in Your Old Kit Bag."

* * *

Not to be outdone, M. A. Lightman, officially known as the national president of the M. P. T. O. A., grabbed the megaphone of the jazz band leader and staged a similar performance that threatened—some thought bettered—Picquet's capabilities as a note yodeler.

* * *

Mack Jackson, who operates, among others, the Strand at Alexander City, Ala., was telling the delegates something of his difficulties. "It happened at a time when there was a fairly good crowd in the house. But that," he supplemented in a hurry, "was some time ago."

* * *

Willard C., who with Anna A. P., makes up the Patterson clan, had almost forgotten he was a vice-president of the M. P. T. O. A. until a local photographer grabbed him for a mass scene in which Lightman, Nat Williams, Alpha Fowler and Mrs. W. M. Kimbro were the other principals.

* * *

G. E. Ricker, president of the association, failed to attend. He raises tobacco on the side—or maybe he runs theatres on the side—and had 100,000 pounds begging to be disposed of.

When Charlie Pettijohn heard about it, he said:

"These poor exhibitors. It certainly is tough."

* * *

Roxy, although scheduled to talk, failed to make an appearance. No explanation was given.

New Contract Form Should Be Hailed By Independents, Allied Leader States

Nathan Yamins Points to Advantages of Pact Drafted By 5-5-5

Washington—Completion of negotiations on the new standard form of license agreement should be the occasion for rejoicing and celebration by every unprejudiced person in the film business, Nathan Yamins declares in current issue of "The Allied Exhibitor," house organ of Allied States Ass'n.

Since the Thacher decision outlawing arbitration chaos has existed in the industry, Yamins' article declares.

"The distributor," he says, "has been unable to get his important playdates; the revenue due him for pictures sold has been held up because of the refusal of exhibitors to give playdates. The exhibitor, on the other hand, was unable to secure the delivery of pictures contracted for because there was no effective machinery to compel the prior run to play the picture. If he had any complaint the only course left to him was the slow and expensive procedure of courts of law. Moreover, the exhibitor lost many rights he enjoyed under the old contract, for after Judge Thacher's decision was rendered, each distributor framed his own contract, omitting several clauses that were inserted in the old contract for the benefit of the exhibitor, who was placed in the position of signing on the dotted line the contract offered him, with the alternative of getting no pictures.

"The adoption of the new standard exhibition contract, legal in all its phases, will change all this. It will restore certainty and order where uncertainty and chaos existed before, and will eliminate the great economic waste that in the last analysis is paid for by the exhibitor and the public. The industry, therefore, will benefit by the adoption of a new standard exhibition contract, but the purpose of this article is not so much to emphasize the necessity of having one uniform contract to be used by every producer selling pictures to the exhibitor, but rather to compare the standard exhibition contract as agreed upon at Atlantic City with the 1928 standard exhibition contract under which every exhibitor contracted for pictures prior to the issuance of Judge Thacher's decision. I start with the premise that every one is familiar with the important provisions of the old exhibition contract, and it will be my purpose, for the sake of brevity, to note only and to explain the important changes.

A Revolutionary Change

"In appearance the new standard exhibition contract presents an almost revolutionary change as compared with the old exhibition contract. The old contract contained 27, more or less, numbered clauses that had only a general application to the transaction that was being negotiated. When the exhibitor was negotiating for pictures he was interested only in the price, run, protection and description of the photoplays, but when a contract was placed in front of him for his signature it contained not only the provisions affecting these important items, but more than 20 other clauses that applied to pictures in general, which because of their length were printed in so small a type as to be practically incapable of being read. In fact, the contract was so formidable in its appearance, with so many fine typed clauses, that it became a habit for many exhibitors to sign on the dotted line without reading provisions that were really important.

"The new standard exhibition contract consists of two parts; one the 'Short Form License Agreement' and the other the 'Standard License Agreement.' The Short Form consists of but eight important clauses, which every exhibitor should read before signing a contract.

"This 'Short Form' agreement is the only agreement presented by the salesman to the exhibitor, and the only agreement with which the exhibitor need concern himself. All other provisions are contained in the 'Standard License Agreement,' which are incorporated into the 'Short Form' by reference only and of course govern every transaction. The exhibitor will be furnished with but one copy of the standard exhibition contract, which he is to keep for reference, but every time he negotiates a contract for pictures he will be presented, for his examination and signature, the usual number of copies of only the 'Short Form.'

"The eight provisions of the 'Short Form' are, first, the license granted; second, the manner of payment, protection and run; third, the type of picture purchased, whether sound or silent, and what type of reproducing equipment the exhibitor has, disc or film; fourth, takes care of representations that pictures are sold on condition that they first secure a prior run; fifth, covers the period for general distribution; the sixth and seventh deal with the manner of acceptance of the application, and the eighth is the voluntary arbitration clause.

Cites Advantages

"The advantage of this new departure to the exhibitor is obvious. His contract is now brief and to the point, and he is almost certain to see that it contains every arrangement agreed upon, because he has so little to read, and because it undoubtedly will now be printed in larger type and more attractive form—since it is so brief.

"Simplifying the contract in this manner, and making ample room in the schedule for all special arrangements, reduces to a minimum all controversies that arise through misunderstandings and verbal arrangements, and in the minds of the Allied committee, who sponsored this change in the contract, this is a great constructive step.

"A discussion of the provisions of the short form agreement, noting wherein it changes any of the provisions of the old standard contract, is next in order, as this is the agreement that the exhibitor will come in contact with frequently.

"The first clause grants the license for the showing of the picture and involves no change in principle. The second clause provides for the payment for film four days in advance of the date of delivery, in place of three days as in the old contract. This, of course, places an additional burden on the exhibitor, but it was agreed to, in fairness to the distributor, in order to allow sufficient time for checks to clear in the case of questionable accounts. There is a new provision, however, that, after the contract has been accepted, credit arrangements can be made by the exhibitor with the home office in New York City, so that it gives an exhibitor of standing the opportunity of eliminating the necessity of payment in advance and places the motion picture industry on the same basis as all other industries where a person's reputation for integrity is recognized.

"The third clause indicates whether the exhibitor is buying sound or silent pictures—one or the other must be crossed out—and also indicates the type of reproducing equipment the exhibitor has. This obviously removes all ambiguity from each transaction, as the contract now specifies whether the exhibitor is buying sound pictures and on what equipment he proposes to reproduce his pictures, so that if the distributor proposes to deliver to him a print that he is not equipped to reproduce, there is no obligation on the part of the exhibitor to change his equipment. Under another provision in the contract the distributor reserves the right to change the method of recording, and if the exhibitor having one type of equipment—we'll assume, for the sake of illustration, that it is film reproduction—specifies in clause three the type of equipment he has, and the distributor subsequently decides to record on disc, both parties to the contract are released as to pictures so recorded. But if the distributor records the same picture on film and disc he must deliver to the exhibitor a picture recorded on the type specified in the paragraph.

Plan Ruling on Score Charge

"It is the opinion of the writer that as this clause is now written, if there is nothing in the schedule with reference to score charges and the exhibitor is entering into a contract for 'sound pictures,' the distributor would be compelled to deliver the picture with the necessary recording for reproduction. If this is so, any additional contracts for so-called score charges are absolutely unnecessary and out of order.

"Clause four is entirely new and was inserted to take care of the situation where subsequent run exhibitors did not wish to run a picture unless they received the benefit of the first-run exploitation in a certain theatre. In the past, whenever this situation occurred and the first-run exploitation did not materialize, either because the first run passed up that picture or because the distributor sold the subsequent run prior to selling the first run and then failed to secure a first run, the subsequent run was made to play that picture or pictures. The new clause provides that the exhibitor may indicate in the schedule that the playing of the picture in a certain theatre is a condition precedent to the playing of the picture in his theatre.

"The fifth clause provides what the releasing period is. While at present the period is blank, it is contemplated that the distributor will have the releasing period one year, with the actual date of commencement and closing of the year,

Experienced

Leading part in the negotiations of the 5-5-5 conferences which drafted a proposed new standard form of licensing agreement was taken by Nathan Yamins, veteran Fall River, Mass., showman.

Yamins, who is a graduate of the Harvard law school and the holder of A.B. and L.L.B. degrees, for years has been a member of various contract committees. He is reputed to be one of the most carefully posted men in the industry on contractual relations.

Document Is Hailed as "Revolutionary Change"; Styled Simple of course changing from year to year—that is to say, if the distributing year begins Sept. 1, 1930, and terminates Aug. 31, 1931, the next year the contracts would be changed to read beginning Sept. 1, 1931, and terminating Aug. 31, 1932. Therefore, if the releasing period is actually one year, and it is possible, of course, that different distributors may have different releasing periods, the exhibitor should take the pains to examine what the releasing period actually is, and how it conforms to his own arrangements.

"Should the exhibitor find that he needs more playing time than is given him by this clause, he should take care of this to compel the prior run to play the picture. If he had any complaint the only course left to him was the slow and expensive procedure of courts of law. Moreover, the exhibitor lost many rights he enjoyed under the old contract, for after Judge Thacher's decision was rendered, each distributor framed his own contract, omitting several clauses that were inserted in the old contract for the benefit of the exhibitor, who accepted or rejected, unless an agreement to the contrary is specifically signed by the exhibitor.

"The eighth and last paragraph in the Short Form is the voluntary arbitration clause, which the exhibitor may reject by crossing out, and which the distributor also may reject by crossing out before the exhibitor signs his application. Inasmuch as the matter is to be treated later, this particular part of the new contract will be omitted in this article.

"As previously stated, the above eight clauses are the clauses that appear in the Short Form license agreement which the exhibitor is called upon to sign, and it is hoped that this article has made clear the changes that have been made. But though the exhibitor does not sign the standard license agreement containing 26 odd clauses, every transaction is nevertheless governed by this agreement. When he signs the short form the larger agreement becomes part of the transaction by incorporation or adoption. Hence, it is important that the exhibitor also become acquainted with the manner in which the new standard license agreement changes the provisions of the old standard exhibition contract.

26 Clauses in Pact

"The standard license agreement, a copy of which will reach the hands of every exhibitor, but which the salesman does not carry with him nor present to the exhibitor at the time of negotiating for pictures, contains 26 clauses, but aside from bringing the language up to date so as to take care of the sound picture situation, there have been only a few important changes, and those will be noted here.

"The old standard contract was all exclusive, and no additional clauses could be added unless they were on a separate rider attached to the contract, and this had to be signed by the exhibitor. The new standard license agreement changes this and provides that added clauses may be written or printed in the schedule under the caption 'Added Clauses.' Exhibitors becoming acquainted with the eight clauses in the 'Short Form' agreement should therefore examine the schedule carefully to see if anything new has been printed therein as an added clause, and if so should read the added clause carefully to make certain that they understand it and that it has their approval before signing. It is only fair to state that added clauses can not be added indiscriminately, as they must not be inconsistent with any provisions of the standard contract.

"The new standard license agreement now contains a clause that did not appear in the old contract, but which was made part of the old contract since sound became a factor by printing it on a rider attached by every distributor to every contract for sound pictures. This clause provides that the exhibitor warrants, first, that his sound equipment will operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce the

(Continued on page 33)

Iowa Unit Joins Allied and Plans Protection Fight

Des Moines—Allied States Ass'n.'s first objective was gained here when the Allied Theatre Owners of Iowa was formed Tuesday and voted affiliation with the national body headed by Abram F. Myers. Forty of the 50 exhibitors attending the sessions here paid dues in the new association, of which Tom Arthur of Mason City is president.

E. P. Smith

Fred Hagerman is vice-president of the association and S. P. Martin secretary and treasurer. Martin has been making a study of what he says are the illegal demands of Publix on zoning of the state. No action was taken on the zoning question at Tuesday's meeting, but the independent exhibitors are planning court action to prevent imposition of any unfair protection. A number of committee meetings have been held in connection with this plan of procedure. On the committee, in addition to Martin, are: Earl Nue, F. P. Puffer, F. P. Hageman, Clifford Niles, E. O. Ellsworth and Harry Hersteiner. Directors will map the association stand on zoning. Niles is chairman of the board.

E. P. Smith, veteran president of the Iowa unit, withdrew when objection was made that he is not a theatre owner, although 20 members present asked him to represent them. Thanks were voted to Smith for his years of service without salary.

Rumor of dissatisfaction in the ranks of the organization was inferred when Smith stated that 50 members of the M. P. T. O. of Iowa, the old organization, who are paid up until January plan to hold a meeting in fall. Membership rates in the new organization run from $25 to $100.

The Des Moines Film Board, in an effort to secure a result satisfactory to all, called a meeting in which Harry Weinberg, Wes Mansfield and E. P. Smith represented the theatre men. The independent theatre men refused to accept this committee as representing them. Mansfield, once very active, is now not in the theatre business. Miss Margaret McGrevey sent out a letter to all the theatre men asking them to meet here to select a committee representing them at the Film Board meeting.

The result of the letter was a meeting at which independents, represented by 20 "strong men," refused to meet the demands of Publix and stated that a number of theatre owners wanted protection against their competitors if there was to be distribution of clearance arrangements.

For years the greatest difficulty in organizing the independent theatre men has been to get them to share a common viewpoint, forgetting their own individual problems to fight for a common problem. Now they are more nearly united than they have ever previously shown themselves and are thoroughly aroused to make a decided stand against what they feel is an important encroachment upon their rights. If they do not show the big fellows that they can not get away with this, then the small theatre men might as well give up completely and immediately. "We have been approaching this for some time," said one leader.

Of the 400 theatres in Iowa, 20 to 25 locations are handled by the chain stands. In their fight against Publix the independents are including the A. H. Blank chain and the RKO group as their enemies in common with Publix. In Des Moines Publix controls the Paramount, the Des Moines, the Strand, Garden and Palace, which leaves but two small downtown houses and three suburban houses beside the two east side houses as independent theatres. Publix owns the Capitol at Newton, the Paramount, Strand, Palace at Waterloo, the Casino and Strand at Marshalltown, the Paramount, State, Palace at Cedar Rapids, the Columbia, Garden at Davenport, the Fort, the Spencer at Rock Island, Ill., and the LeClare at Moline, Ill.

Three Iowa theatres of the Publix chain located at Sioux City, Missouri Valley and Council Bluffs are controlled by the Omaha office. RKO has just three points in Iowa, Des Moines, Cedar Rapids and Davenport. The Central States Theatres, which is the organization of which A. H. Blank is head, with Harry Weinberg as his manager, controls 19 theatres, the Capitol, Ames, Twin Star, at Ames, the Rialto at Boone, the Rialto, Palace, at Burlington, the King at Albia, Ritz at Chariton, Rialto, Capitol, Strand, at Clinton, Rialto, Strand, at Fort Dodge, the Inglert, Garden, at Iowa City, Palace, Bijou, at Mason City, Strand at Oelwein, and the Ritz and Majestic at Centerville, of which they take possession Sept. 1.

'Stuff Life, Mates!

The rigors of theatregoing in summer
—Life

Reported Friction Stops Steffes Des Moines Visit

Minneapolis—Because of reported friction in the committee of exhibitors sponsoring the organization of a new Iowa-Nebraska association to affiliate with Allied States Ass'n., W. A. Steffes, general manager of Allied, did not attend the Iowa meeting Tuesday.

Legal Copyright Factor Important In New Contract

(Continued from page 32)

recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality, and second, that if the recorded sound contains copyrighted music he has or will have the legal right to perform publicly such copyrighted music. The important difference between this clause and the clause appearing on the rider to all old contracts is that in the latter the exhibitor warranted that he had a license from the American Society of Publishers, Authors and Composers. If he had no such license there was an automatic breach of warranty which permitted the distributor to cancel his contract.

Warranty Not Required

"Under the provision as it now stands, the exhibitor is not compelled to secure this license, and whether or not he has the legal right to perform the musical composition publicly then becomes a question of law for the courts to determine, and until determined the distributor can not cancel the contract for any alleged breach of warranty. It can readily be seen that this change is of immense value to the exhibitor, as it removes a powerful weapon from the agents of the society, who may be making an unreasonable demand during negotiations for a license.

"In view of the warranties made by the exhibitor, the distributor in turn makes certain warranties. The distributor warrants in the new contract that he shall deliver to the exhibitor a print 'in physical condition for exhibition, and if the license is for sound motion picture, which will clearly reproduce the recorded sound in synchronism therewith.' This provision is entirely new, and is of great advantage to every exhibitor, for here is a guarantee in the form of a warranty, that the print is in condition to be projected and that the sound is properly recorded. In view of this provision, if the exhibitor is properly equipped he need not accept any motion picture that is not properly recorded, and moreover even has a claim against the distributor for breach of warranty. The writer knows of several instances during the past year, one in particular, where the recording and sound was notoriously poor, and because of the absence of this provision in the old contract, the exhibitor was compelled to play and pay for these pictures.

"Another change that is of benefit to the exhibitor is the provision in the new contract for payment when pictures are being played on percentage. The old contract stipulated that payment was to be made daily, and it was a technical breach of contract if payment was not made daily. The new contract provides that when pictures are played on percentage, the distributor share becomes due at the end of each day's performance, but it is to be paid daily only if demanded. Moreover, the old contract provided that the distributor, through his representative, was to have access to all the exhibitor's books for a period of 60 days for the purpose of verifying the box-office statement. Under this provision it would appear that the distributor could examine any and all entries in his books, and in this manner could, if he desired, secure a complete picture of the exhibitor's business. The new contract changes this by giving the distributor the right to examine only the entries relating to the gross receipts of the picture in question. Under this provision, the exhibitor may cover every item in his books except the actual entry of the day's business and in that way protect his business from becoming public property.

"For the purpose of reducing the number of examinations from 60 days to four months. This change is, to my mind, of inestimable advantage to every exhibitor, as it clearly gives him the right to keep inviolate his private business, and the distributor representative sees only what he should be interested in and no more. Another beneficial change when pictures are being played on percentage is the provision in the new contract that when an exhibitor pulls a percentage picture before the completion of the agreed run, the distributor's share for the incompleted run is based on 65 per cent of the last day's receipts of that picture instead of on the basis of 75 per cent as in the old contract.

Playing Order an Advantage

"Another important change in the new contract is the provision that the exhibitor shall play all pictures in the order of their release, but 'order of release' is defined not as the announced order, but the order in which the pictures are first played for three consecutive days at regular prices of admission in the exchange territory (tryout, previews and pre-releases are excluded). To make the meaning of this provision clear: Suppose distributor A announces his releasing schedule of production No. 1 on January 1, production No. 2 on January 8, production No. 3 on January 15, production No. 4 on January 22 and production No. 5 on January 29. Suppose further exhibitor X, because he is affiliated, or is a favored exhibitor, is allowed to exhibit his pictures in the following order, production No. 1 first, No. 4 second, No. 3 third, No. 5 fourth and No. 2 last. The order of release now becomes Nos. 1, 4, 3, 5 and 2, and every exhibitor in that territory has the right to exhibit the pictures in the same order. The advantage of this to every exhibitor is that whether they are first or subsequent run exhibitors, they enjoy the same benefit and priyilege that the favored exhibitor may enjoy. In other words, the underlying thought is that what is fair for one is fair for the other.

"It is provided, however, that if the exhibitor does not find it convenient to exhibit his pictures in the order of release as above determined, he may jump an earlier release, providing he gives a date for the picture jumped to be played within 30 days from the first date of showing of the picture that is to be played out of the order of release. This provision is entirely new. The old exhibition contract did not provide that pictures be played in the order of release, but it became the practice of distributors to stamp this provision on every contract, and when so stamped the exhibitor was under obligation to play them in the order of announced release. Under this arrangement favored accounts were permitted to play pictures out of order of release, and when a distributor happened to have a "hit" he usually availed itself of this provision and insisted upon having all prior releases played or paid for before accepting a date on the 'hit.'

"The advantage of the new provision to the independent exhibitor is obvious. He now knows in what order he and every other exhibitor should play the pictures under contract, he knows further that no favorites are being played and then, should he desire a little flexibility in his playing arrangement, he has the means of obtaining it. Another indirect advantage of this provision is that it serves as a safeguard—the exhibitor now can not let poorer pictures accumulate and then run them one after the other and drive away his patronage—he must devise ways and means of working off all pictures under contract so that his performances will be of consistent quality.

"Another provision that is entirely new was inserted in the new contract, aimed also to eliminate the granting of favors to one exhibitor which probably would react to the detriment of other exhibitors. This provision is that if protection granted shall affect alike two or more theatres, a waiver of such protection period by the exhibitor as to one of such theatres shall be deemed to be a waiver of such protection period as to all such theatres. For example: Theatre A has 30 days' protection over theatres B, C and D. Theatre D was satisfied to run 30 days after A, because at the time of executing the contract he knew that theatre A had the same protection over B and C, who were his competitors. Let us assume that later theatre A acquires theatre C or wants to permit theatre C to play a picture 14 days after it has run in A. As to that picture, theatres D and B have the right to demand prints 14 days after the completion of the run in A.

Favoritism is Out, According To New Contract

Independent Advantage Cited

"The advantage of this provision to the independent exhibitor is obvious—it is a guarantee to the exhibitor that his competitor can not secure an unfair advantage once the contract is entered into. That this advantage is not merely theoretical is evidenced by the numerous complaints that came in to the Allied committee arising out of just such situations.

"One slight change has been made in the new contract with reference to the time of delivery of a print by the distributor. If delivery was made to a common carrier under the old contract it had to be made so that it was scheduled to arrive one hour before the opening performance. This was sufficient in the days of silent features, when rehearsals were unnecessary, but the old provision was inadequate to take care of the rehearsals that are essential to the proper reproduction of a sound picture. Hence, it is now provided that the delivery shall be made, if to a carrier, in sufficient time for inspection and projection before the usual time for the opening of the theatre.

"One of the most important changes in the new standard license agreement is the adoption of a provision that automatically starts the flow of pictures in any given territory and gives the exhibitors in that territory a guarantee that they will be able to play pictures released within a reasonable time and before they become out of date. Under the old standard exhibition contract, if a first-run exhibitor desired for his own convenience to hold up a date on a picture already released, he could readily do so, regardless of the hardship this might work on all subsequent runs. If he failed or refused to date a picture, the old contract provided that the distributor 'may designate the exhibition date,' and if the first run account was a valuable account, it obviously was to the interest of the distributor not to antagonize this account by assigning a play date. Moreover, if the distributor did actually assign the exhibition date so that the picture would be cleared for subsequent runs, the first run exhibitor could defeat this by paying for the picture and postponing the play date indefinitely.

"This was the source of more complaints from exhibitors throughout the country than almost any other provision in the old contract, because the subsequent run exhibitor found that pictures he had contracted for were not made available to him because of neglect or the refusal of the first run to exhibit that picture, and this compelled him to buy other pictures and the exhibitor frequently found that he had to contract for a group in order to get the few he needed to replace those he couldn't exhibit through no fault of his, resulting usually in an overbought condition.

Must Show in 90 Days

"The new standard license agreement remedies this situation by making obligatory on the first run exhibitor, if he wants to secure the full length of the protection given him, to

Allied Directors at Their Recent Meeting in Middle West

When Allied directors met. A view of Allied Seates Ass'n chieftains taken at their recent meeting at Spring Park, near Minneapolis. The Allied directors chartered a cottage at the lake resort for their sessions. In the photo are: Henry A. Staab, executive secretary of the Wisconsin unit; Oscar Hanson, sales manager of Tiffany; T. E. Mortsensen, publisher of Greater Amusements; W. A. Steffes, general manager of the Northwest exhibitor unit; Steve Bauer, Allied delegate from Wisconsin; H. M. Richey, general manager of the Michigan unit; Abram F. Myers, Allied president; Col. H. A. Cole, president of the Texas unit; Aaron Saperstein, head of the Illinois Independent Exhibitors.

90 to 125 Days Maximum Wait For Second Runs

(Continued from page 33)

exhibit a picture within 90 days after its scheduled release date. If he fails to do so the protection starts on the 90th day, and even if the first run exhibitor had more than 30 days protection, his protection ends 120 days after the general release date, and whether exhibited or not it then becomes available to the second and subsequent runs. With this provision, once an announcement is made of the release date of a picture, the second run knows definitely the longest time he will have to wait before it becomes available to him will be between 90 and 120 days after the release date, depending upon what protection the first run has over the second.

"It follows, of course, that once the picture is made available to the second runs, it is already cleared so that in due course it becomes available to subsequent runs.

"The new contract has been drawn to give the subsequent run exhibitor considerably more freedom in the matter of advertising his pictures than he possessed under the old contract. Formerly the subsequent run exhibitor was precluded from advertising his picture in any manner until the completion of the prior run. This obviously worked a great hardship where the subsequent run followed close on to the prior run, so that his pictures did not receive the proper exploitation. The new contract provides that if the subsequent run exhibitor's date of exhibition comes within 15 days of the last day of exhibition of the prior run, he may nevertheless use legitimate means of advertising his picture, even before the picture has completed the prior run.

"The new contract also gives the exhibitor relief when he is prevented from exhibiting a picture because of causes beyond his control. Under the old contract the exhibitor was not excused from exhibiting a picture when he was prevented from doing so for causes beyond his control, unless those causes continued to exist for 90 days. If the exhibitor had an accidental fire compelling him to close for repairs for 60 days, all pictures that he should have played during that period would have to be played after he reopened. This obviously worked to extend the life of all his contracts by 60 days, so that he necessarily was playing pictures 60 days older than had been his practice. Under the new contract, all pictures that he should have played during that period are automatically removed from the contract and when he reopens he starts anew with the later releases.

"Another change of minor importance is in the provision dealing with accessories and advertising matter. Under the old contract the exhibitor agreed to buy everything from the distributor—he could not purchase advertising matter of any sort from any source except from the distributor, though the provision was never enforced. Under the new agreement the exhibitor may purchase accessories or advertising matter anywhere, but if he buys any from the distributor, he agrees not to resell them nor to lease them to another exhibitor.

Eliminations Seen an Aid

"The provision perhaps most exhibitors will be interested in is the 'elimination clause.' The old contract provided that if an entire

What a World!

By the time you're important enough to take two hours for lunch, the doctor limits you to a glass of milk.

Changes Made in Clause Governing Accessory Sales

group of pictures were contracted for, the exhibitor could eliminate 10 per cent by paying half of the contract price. This provision had its origin at the Federal Trade Conference in New York and was inserted in the 1928 contract also as a method of overcoming some of the evils of block bookings, for it gave the exhibitor the opportunity of laying the bad pictures on the shelf by assuming half the loss, and the distributor assumed the other half. To my mind this was a valuable privilege, but unfortunately very few exhibitors took advantage of it, because undoubtedly they could not afford, in view of business conditions, to pay any part of the price of a picture that they did not use. That this privilege was valuable to the exhibitor and costly to the distributor, if exercised generally by the exhibitor, was indicated by the methods adopted by the distributor to prevent its use. Since the elimination could be exercised only if an entire group of pictures were purchased, distributors printed into their schedules 'number of pictures offered—number of pictures purchased——' and if the exhibitor bought 49 out of 50 pictures, he lost his right to elimination.

"The new contract now provides that if the exhibitor has purchased 20 or more picture features, the average price of which is $250 or less, he may eliminate 5 per cent without any payment whatever, and if the pictures are contracted for on a percentage basis, the exhibitor may eliminate 5 per cent without any payment, if the distributor has averaged $250 or less on the pictures that have previously played on a percentage basis. There is one important qualification—when the price of the picture is fixed and the exhibitor wishes to eliminate it, he pays for the picture at the time of cancelling, but the price is returned to him in its entirety at the termination of the contract. When the picture is to be played on a straight percentage it may be eliminated without any payment whatever. This provision is of inestimable value to every exhibitor whose average price per picture is $250 or less—it absolutely enables him to shelve 5 per cent of the pictures he has contracted for, and since it costs him nothing to exercise this right, there is no excuse for playing a poor picture, or in other words he can now select 95 per cent of the pictures for exhibition. This 5 per cent elimination without payment is of tremendous advantage to the exhibitor, and the loss is assumed entirely by the distributor. To this extent it is a decided improvement over the old contract in which the loss was shared equally by the exhibitor and the distributor.

Embodies Old Clauses

"However, the new contract carries over many of the provisions of the old contract without any change in principle, such as the old roadshow clause, the provision for payment in case of loss or damage to prints, the reissue clause, the minimum admission price clause, the clause relating to the right to exclude on racial or religious grounds, the provision as to time of acceptance of the application and other clauses with which every exhibitor has become familiar by this time.

"It is my humble opinion that the new contract, both in form and in substance, is a decided improvement over the old contract and offers the exhibitor many advantages that he did not have previously. I personally feel proud of having been given this opportunity as a representative of the independent exhibitors to contribute of my time and effort towards making this instrument.

"The contract represents a sincere effort on the parts of all those members of the 5-5-5 conference to understand the problems of the industry and to help solve those problems, and this article would not be complete if I did not pay tribute to Sidney R. Kent and Abram F. Myers, whose leadership, diplomacy, broad vision and complete knowledge of the various ramifications of this industry made this new contract possible. To them every person interested in this business owes a debt of gratitude."

$21,100 Seattle Gross for Norma Shearer Picture

Seattle—Popular Norma Shearer kept business up to capacity all week at the Fox Fifth Avenue in "Let Us Be Gay" and outdistanced other first-run films by a wide margin. The picture was well received by critics and audiences alike.

"Hell's Angels," in its second week at the Fox at $1 top and a two-a-day policy, failed to gross as much as it would have on a continuous performance basis at regular prices.

Clara Bow's diminishing popularity was evident at the Paramount, where "Love Among the Millionaires" was the attraction. While the gross exceeded that of "True to the Navy," it was still below former levels.

Weather, hot.

Estimated takings:

"HELL'S ANGELS" (U. A.) (Second Week)
FOX—(2,450), 25c-50c-75c-$1, 7 days, 2 a day. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, Owen Sweeten's band, Jean Harlow in person. Gross: $12,071. Rating: 110%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)
FOX FIFTH AVENUE—(2,750), 25c-35c-50c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, Fanchon-Marco stage unit. Gross: $21,101. Rating: 150%.

"MAN FROM WYOMING" (Paramount)
METROPOLITAN—(1,100), 25c-35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Lloyd Hamilton comedy, Paramount song cartoon. Gross: $6,100. Rating: 100%.

"LOVE AMONG THE MILLIONAIRES" (Para.)
PARAMOUNT—(3,150), 25c-35c-50c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Publix stage unit, Arthur Clausen and band, Stanleigh Malotte at organ. Gross: $13,000. Rating: 108%.

Six New York Theatres To Be Reopened by Fox

Six New York theatres will be opened by Fox Theatres Aug. 29, which is the official starting date of the new season at company houses. More than $1,000,000 has been spent remodeling these houses, it is stated. The theatres are the Audubon, Crotona, Manhattan, Valentine and U. S. On that date also, the Riverside, combination house, opens as a Fox theatre.

M-G-M Casts Four

Hollywood—Charles Bickford, Lewis Stone, Kay Francis and Leila Hyams have been assigned the featured roles in "The Passion Flower" by M-G-M. Wm. C. de Mille will direct the talker, which is adapted from the novel by Kathleen Norris. Miss Francis was borrowed from Paramount for the part.

Comerford Leads In Pennsylvania Coal Peace Move

Peace in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania has been established largely through the efforts of M. E. Comerford, working through the agency of the M.P.T.O.A., of which he is a director. President M. A. Lightman, Vice-President Frank Walker and Ed Fay, chairman of the board of directors, handled the New York end of the negotiations for the five-year agreement.

Points of contact with the financial and executive heads of the coal companies were established by Comerford, who then took an important part in helping to assure endorsement of the proposed agreement by miners during their convention at Scranton. A strike, it is said, would have meant a direct and indirect loss of wages of $2,500,000 a day and would have disorganized the coal region of the state.

Comerford's efforts were lauded at a meeting at Scranton by Secretary of Labor James J. Davis. Lieut. Gov. Arthur James of Pennsylvania, an associate of Comerford in the theatre business, also spoke at the Scranton meeting.

Bankers to Check Warner Money-Bags?

(Continued from page 19)

Trade circles buzzed during the week over Warner affairs. Ever since the director's meeting when the common dividend was passed, there had been a falling off of the company's stock, which reached a new low of 24 1-4 after having sold as high as 80 earlier in the year.

Decline of film grosses and too-speedy expansion in the theatre field were ascribed in financial circles to the passing of the dividend.

Report that John J. Raskob had sold out his holdings while the stock was up brought a denial from Raskob's office, asserting that he still is holder of a "substantial" number of shares.

Whether or not the company will adopt a policy of disposing of assets is one angle that interests the trade. Sale of some of the Warner theatres to RKO was reported to be under consideration as a means of raising additional capital.

The company has started a general retrenchment policy in its distributing organization and in First National, letting out 200 employes in various departments during the week.

Actress Recovering

Hollywood—Anna Q. Nilsson has been dismissed from the hospital and has returned to her home in Beverly Hills. She plans to make a talker sometime this fall.

M-G-M Preferred Dividend

Dividend of 1¾ per cent on the preferred has been declared by M-G-M directors. It is payable Sept. 15 to stock of record Aug. 30.

Martha Sleeper Cast

Hollywood—Martha Sleeper has been given an important role in "The New Moon," a talker which features Lawrence Tibbett and Grace Moore, opera stars. Jack Conway is directing the production.

RKO Building at Waterloo

Waterloo, Ia.—Reports are current here that RKO is considering building a theatre in the downtown district.

Scores, Rentals Retard Film Buys In the Southeast

(Continued from page 30)

ings. The text of his speech appears elsewhere in this edition.

Pettijohn, scheduled to speak on the new contract, touched on that subject lightly and then switched to zoning which he described as the most vital problem facing the industry today.

"I haven't read the new contract," he said. "I do know the committee started out to shorten the old form which ran nine pages and ended with one that runs nineteen. I say I haven't read it, but I like the short form best.

"I may not be popular when I finish, but I'm going through anyway. I am going to tell you in one minute and a half what I've learned in 16 years in this business. I don't own a share of film stock. I don't care who does the most business next year and I like some people in the business better than I do others.

"Eighteen years ago I was retained by an independent exhibitor organization to solve the music tax problem. I advised them to pay it. They didn't like the suggestion, but they are still paying it. Then I went to work for a film company where they paid me every Saturday night. Then I went to work for the producers and distributors and they pay me every week. The first week they don't, I'm through.

"Now let me tell you what is wrong. It's suspicion. Eliminate it and it'll be a whole lot better for everybody. If you want to know why the old standard contract flopped I'll tell you. It was a question of cheating. Fifty-fifty. Fifty for the exhibitors and fifty for the distributors. Both are to blame."

Hits "Irresponsibles"

Then Pettijohn launched into a variety of topics. He said irresponsibles were responsible for launching trouble in the industry and added, in his opinion, it was ninety per cent the radio that caused the terrific slump in the business which prevailed prior to the advent of sound.

"I know how it is. I would prefer to listen to Amos 'n' Andy than to sit through many of the pictures my clients make. Somebody now will report I was taking a crack at one of my clients, so let me put it this way: I would rather listen to Amos 'n' Andy than read any trade paper editorial ever written.

"This is the only business I know of where the two sides of the fence are natural enemies. Something has been said here about blind booking. Certainly, we'll sell you 40 pictures at $20 each or each one individually at $50 or $60. That means you'll have to bear the selling cost. You wouldn't buy eggs one at a time, would you? Blind buying is just too bad for the exhibitor.

"How much more do you tell your audience when they buy their tickets? They either like the picture or not and you don't worry. You don't give them a 25 per cent reduction if they're dissatisfied, do you?

On protection, Pettijohn advised his listeners not to worry about the contract, but to lend their efforts to voluntarily work out their own zoning before that right of "home rule" is taken away from them.

M. A. Lightman followed Pettijohn and described the successive steps by which the 5-5-5 committee came into being and the conferences that led to formation of the impending standard contract. He stressed the need for exhibitor organization and told the Southeasterners they must have it regardless of what national unit they voted to join. Later, "Pete" Woodhull spoke and also stressed the same point.

Nat Williams of the Rose theatre at Thomasville, Ga., was elected president to succeed G. E. Ricker. This proved to be a convention surprise since the constitution and by-laws provided nominations must be filed thirty days in advance of election. On motion of R. B. Wilby these rules were set aside. The move was first defeated, reconsidered and then finally unanimously adopted.

O. C. Lam, of Rome, Ga., was re-elected vice-president, and Love B. Harrell, of Waycross, secretary. Roy E. Martin, G. E. Ricker, Mrs. W. M. Kimbro, E. F. Boyd, W. J. Brackin, Alf Fowler, A. C. Gortatowsky, J. J. Powell, and R. B. Wilby were re-elected directors. Ricker replaced N. H. Williams and Hugh Manning replaced J. C. H. Wink. The board was increased to allow adequate representation from Alabama, Florida and Tennessee, the new members being Milton Starr and Sam Borisky of Tennessee; Col. T. E. Orr, Mack Jackson and M. G. Lee, of Alabama, and B. S. Donnan and Mitchell Wolfson, of Florida.

The next convention city is to be determined by the board at a later date. About 60 theatre owners attended.

The Big House

Atlanta—"Some years ago while traveling I had occasion to stop over at a railroad junction town. I asked the station master if the town had any particular interest. He said it was the seat of the state insane asylum.

"Would you like to see it?" he asked.

"I agreed, and was taken on tour, noted how beautifully the grounds had been laid out and how quiet the scene was. Suddenly, I came across a group of forty individuals accompanied by one guard.

"'Are all these people crazy?' I inquired.

"'Yes,' said the guard.

"'Well,' I asked 'aren't you afraid that they'll get together some day and pounce on you? Then what'll you do?'

"'Listen, mister,' said the guard, 'they're too crazy to think of such a thing.'"

Told by Pete Woodhull to the Southeastern Theatre Owners' Association in stressing the ned of exhibitor organization and in pointing out why he thought it could never be brought about.

"Pro" for Thumb Course

John A. Winters, golfer who played with the Brown University golf team for three years and more recently was the professional of the Exmoor Country Club in Chicago, has been selected to act as instructor and professional for the new Kew Gardens indoor miniature golf course which opens Monday night in the former Kew Gardens Theatre at Kew Gardens, L. I.

Brain and Work Way to Theatre Profit Says Hill

(Continued from page 30)

and that pictures are projected smoothly. "Spend money when you do to improve your projection," was his advice.

Urges Talker Previews

It was Hill's idea that sound pictures should be previewed in all instances and an observer stationed in the auditorium to control the volume. "Place him four or five rows from the back of your orchestra," remarked Hill. "Shut your eyes and turn your back to the screen in order to judge if the sound is natural. It is a good idea to step up the fader whenever titles are flashed since our experience shows this enhances values. The same practice would be a good one to follow with gags. We have demonstrated this helps."

"Personnel represents one of your most important problems. Have you the best you can get? Are you training them to do their best work? Are you imparting some of your own enthusiasm to them? Ushers and doormen are important. They help to sell tickets. They are your representatives. You should plan their work for them, teach them the feel of the business and make them at all times enthusiastic.

"Analyze the appeal of the pictures you offer the public and, once having established your sales points, sell the public as hard as you know how. The mediums are many. I think you should edit your trailers so that they don't give away too much of the story. Remember also your front is your show window. It should be atmospheric; it should endeavor to induce the public to come in to see what you are selling.

"In your lobbies, strive for contrast, environment and flash. Use newspapers; they give you a daily selling value. You must analyze your selling points, then emphasize them in your copy. You must capture the public's attention, appeal to the women and the mental age of your audiences, sell them the reliability of your house and sell sound.

"Billboard advertising is expensive. Too many advertisers are using outdoor boards today. They are fine to sell a title or a story, but remember for children patronage you must use pictorial material. If you run two changes a week, stress one of them, not both. You'll make more money that way. If you go in for contests, ballyhoos, remember the stunts must always be unusual to capture attention.

Goodwill Vital

"Remember the need to develop goodwill. Everything centers around it. As the town progresses, it carries the exhibitor along with that progress. If your town doesn't progress and you do nothing to help it, you cannot expect to make progress. People fall for service and service can overcome locations or bookings. Today you have many factors to compete with, not merely the theatre down the street.

"Brains are in demand today more so than ever before."

Punny

If you don't give me a coupla lumps of Zukor for my demi-tasse and Laemmle alone, I'll have to movie.
—Judge.

Chilled Weather Favors New $2 N. Y. Openings

Amid a blaze of elaborate ballyhoo, the Howard Hughes much heralded "Hell's Angels" takes off from the New York Criterion and Gaiety screens simultaneously Friday night. The weather, considerably cooled from the torrid spell of a week ago gives the newcomer a big break, because both houses are without refrigerating systems and the heat usually pinches the b.o.

"Moby Dick," a Thursday opener, is the third $2 attraction to open a dark house, lighting the marquee of Warners' Hollywood as a new-season attraction.

The previous week saw average business, seasonal but not heart-breaking, at all except a few main stem houses. The Capitol and Roxy were outstanding, considering the heat, with others keeping very close to par.

Estimated takings:

"THE BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)
ASTOR—(1,120), 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50, $2, 7 days, 8th week. Other attractions: Comedy "College Hounds"; newsreel. Gross: $19,568, great; a spurt of $2,500 over last week.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)
CAPITOL—(4,700), 35c, 50c, 75c, $1.50, 7 days. Other attractions: Overture, Hearst Metrotone News, presentation ("The Invitation to the Dance"). Gross: $77,892, splendid for this, warranting a holdover.

ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (Univ.)
CENTRAL—(922), 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50, $2.50, 8 days, 17th and final week. Other attractions: None. Gross: $14,263, last 8 days.

"THE LITTLE ACCIDENT" (Univ.)
GLOBE—(1,050), 35c, 50c, 75c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy "The Golf Specialist," Screen Snapshots, newsreel. Gross: $13,002, fair; near par.

"GRUMPY" (Para.)
PARAMOUNT—(3,700), 40c, 50c, 65c, 85c, $1.00, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe Review No. 20 and "Sporting Brothers," short. Gross: $57,835, one of the worst summer weeks here.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)
RIALTO—(1,904), 65c, 85c, 4th week. Other attractions: Comedy "Neighboring Neighbors," Lee Morse, Paramount News, cartoon "Barnacle Bill." Gross: $39,790, plenty healthy.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Para.)
RIVOLI—(2,103), 35c, 65c, 85c, 7 days, 2nd week. Other attractions: Comedy "Accidents Will Happen," "New Rhythm" by orchestra, Paramount News. Gross: $26,971, so-so.

"COMMON CLAY" (Fox)
ROXY—(6,200), 50c, 75c, $1.00, $1.50, 7 days, 2nd week. Other attractions: Newsreel, overture and vaudeville. Gross: $108,367, one of the season's best and a holdover.

"THE FLIRTING WIDOW"
STRAND—(3,000), 35c, 50c, 60c, 85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Short "Temple of Silence," "Rose Knights" comedy, "Yama Kraw" shorts "Voice of Hollywood." Gross: $19,384, still in the depths at this house.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)
WINTER GARDEN—(1,493), 35c, 50c, 65c, $1.00, 7 days, 4th week. Other attractions: Joe Frisco in the "Song Plugger." Newsreel. Gross: $28,486, holding up heavily.

Plans Xenia House

Xenia, O.—James T. Hibbert, owner of the Bijou, will build a new $125,000 house in the business district, for which Cincinnati architects have been selected. Talkers will be featured, although large stage will be provided to take care of legitimate productions, if necessary.

"Quiet," Oakie Battle for Top Spot at Omaha

Omaha—Continued hot weather aided in herding the folks into the shows last week. All houses held up well, except the State, which is without refrigeration.

"All Quiet on the Western Front" (U.) and "Sap from Syracuse" (Par.) tied the town with a 125% rating each. Former war yarn at the Paramount piled up $10,000. At the World, "Sap" did $11,875, backed by a strong vaudeville bill.

Orpheum had no difficulty in making a 100% week with "Lawful Larceny" (Radio). Gross was $14,500. State slipped to 75% the first half with "The Love Racket" (F. N.), bringing in only $1,575. Last half, "Honky Tonk" got $1,800, or 80%.

Estimated takings:

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)
PARAMOUNT—(2,900), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Universal news, comedies, and organ. Gross: $10,000. Rating: 125%.

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Paramount)
WORLD—(2,500), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Four Publix acts, headed by the Maxellos; Paramount news, house ballet, Billy Meyers and band, shorts. Gross: $11,875. Rating: 125%.

"LAWFUL LARCENY" (Radio)
ORPHEUM—(3,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Four R-K-O acts, headed by Eddie Nelson, Pathe news, shorts. Gross: $14,500. Rating: 100%.

"LOVE RACKET" (F. N.)
STATE—(1,200), 25c-40c, 3 days. Other attractions: Universal news, shorts. Gross: $1,575. Rating: 75%.

"HONKY TONK" (W. B.)
STATE—(1,200), 25c-40c, 4 days. Other attractions: Universal news, shorts. Gross: $1,800. Rating: 80%.

McCormack Film Scores Par on a $16,000 Gross

Toronto—Main stem theatres benefited materially during the week by the observance of Civic Holiday on Monday, good crowds at raised prices all day giving a boost to the week's totals. The big hit was John McCormack in "Song o' My Heart" at the Tivoli which ranged well above the average for the first six days at $16,000 and was considered good enough to hold over in spite of outdoor diversions. Gary Cooper was well liked in "Man From Wyoming" at the Imperial and, surrounded by a strong bill, turned in $15,500. Edmund Lowe in "Good Intentions" at the Hippodrome hit $15,000 which meant 90%. The Uptown, key house of Famous Players chain, did not open, after extensive alterations, until August 8. Weather, fair and warm.

Estimated takings:

"SONG O' MY HEART" (Fox)
TIVOLI—(1,600), 6 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, News special, ("Arrival of the R100"). Gross: $16,000. Rating: 100%.

"GOOD INTENTIONS" (Fox)
HIPPODROME—(2,600), 6 days, 30c to 65c. Other attractions: Universal news, special, "Arrival of the R-100;" five vaude acts. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 90%.

"MAN FROM WYOMING" Paramount)
IMPERIAL—(3,500), 6 days, 30c to 60c. Other attractions: Paramount news, Johnny Arthur in "The Paper Hanger," vaudeville unit show. Gross: $15,500. Rating: 90%.

Now You Tell One

It was so hot in one Midwestern town that all the snow and ice in the Byrd polar film melted during a showing the other day.

Joan the Big Draw in L. A.; $23,000 Gross

Los Angeles—Key first run houses enjoyed some of the best business of the summer season. Although the row had its low spots, box-office intakes on the whole were well above seasonal par.

The top was reached by Joan Crawford's "Our Blushing Brides," which stayed away up in the big money in its second week. The gross here reached $23,000, rating 230%. The follow up for first honors was "Dixiana" which chalked up 200% at the Orpheum on a take of $8,000, very healthy business.

A snappy, high-class advertising plug for Pathe's "Holiday," premiered at the Circle, sent receipts at that house soaring to new heights. The gross clicked plenty at $19,500, rating 160%. RKO Theatre, showing Columbia's "Hell's Islands," got the biggest gross of many weeks at that house, where the film attracted a 114% rating on a $17,500 intake. Jack Oakie drew big at the Paramount, hitting $30,000 for a rating of 120%. The crowd liked him in "Sap from Syracuse."

Estimated takings:

Los Angeles

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)
FOX CARTHAY CIRCLE—(1,650), 1st week, 7 days, twice daily, 75c and $1.50. (Premiere, $5.00 top.) Other attractions: Abe Lyman and band, Movietone news. Gross: $19,500. Rating: 160%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)
FOX CRITERION—(1,652), 2nd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Movietone news, comedy. Gross: $23,000. Rating: 230%.

"SONG O' MY HEART" (Fox)
LOEW'S STATE—(2,418), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco "Busy Bee" Idea, comedy, Metrotone and Movietone news. Gross: $20,400. Rating: 66%.

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Para.)
PARAMOUNT—(3,596) 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, Paramount news, Oliver Wallace organ concert. Gross: $30,000. Rating: 120%.

"SCARLET PAGES" (F. N.)
WARNER BROS. DOWNTOWN—(2,400), 2nd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Larry Ceballo's stage revue, news, Vitaphone Varieties. Gross: $17,000. Rating: 113%.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)
UNITED ARTISTS—(2,100), 3rd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, news, Gaylord Carter organ concert. Gross $12,200. Rating: 112%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)
RKO—(2,700), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: RKO vaudeville, comedy, Pathe news. Gross: $17,500. Rating: 114%.

"DIXIANA" (RKO)
ORPHEUM—(2,750), 3rd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Humanette comedy, Pathe news. Gross: $8,000. Rating: 200%.

Hollywood

"HELL'S ANGELS" (Caddo)
GRAUMAN'S CHINESE—(2,023), 11th week, 7 days, twice daily, 75c to $1.50. Other attractions: Sid Grauman's prologue, Jean Harlow in personal appearances, news. Gross: $22,000. Rating: 118%.

GRAUMAN'S EGYPTIAN—(1,800), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, news. Gross: $5,700. Rating: 68%.

"MATRIMONIAL BED" (Warner)
WARNER BROS. HOLLYWOOD—(3,000), 2nd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Larry Ceballo's stage revue, Vitaphone Varieties, news. Gross: $18,700. Rating: 133%.

"UNHOLY THREE" (M-G-M)
PANTAGES HOLLYWOOD—(3,000), 7 days, 40c to 65c. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco "Wild and Woolly" Idea, comedy, news. Gross: $15,500. Rating: 102%.

Adv.?

Two bits of advertising appear in current pictures, and the producer certainly gave away footage if they were unpaid. One is a full length shot of the Hotel New Yorker sign in Jack Oakie's "The Sap from Syracuse" (Paramount). The other is a strong plug for Wanamakers, via a newspaper reading slant in "Worldly Goods" (Continental Pictures).

Five in Frisco In Mad Scramble For First Place

San Francisco—The heat wave witnessed in the East and Middle West did not touch this section of the Pacific Coast.

"The Big House" was shown a third week to crowded houses. It played to $26,000 and its rating was 105%. The Fox did big business with "Way Out West." Here it played to $27,500 and the rating was 105%. The Orpheum played "Dixiana" a second week to $10,500 and a 106% rating.

Estimated takings:

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

FOX—(5,000), 50c-65c-75c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Laure. and Hardy, "Below Zero"; Walt Rosener conducting "Formal Selections," Fanchon & Marco's "Idea in Blue," Fox news. Gross: $27,500. Rating: 105%.

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S WARFIELD—(2,700), 50c-65c-90c, 3rd week. Other attractions: Vagabond Director Travel Talk, Fox and Hearst news, "Fashions." Gross: $26,000. Rating: 105%.

"HIT THE DECK" (Radio Picture)

CASINO—(2,500), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, cartoon, "Sportlight," Fox Movietone news. Gross: $9,200. Rating: 92%.

"THREE FACES EAST" (Warners)

EMBASSY—(1,400), 50c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Liborious Hauptman's "Melody Artists," news. Gross: $9,500. Rating: 95%.

"RAMPANT AGE" (All Star)

DAVIES—(1,150), 35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Double feature, "Rampant Age" and "Dude Wrangler," music. Gross: $6,000. Rating: 90%.

"DIXIANA" (Radio Picture)

ORPHEUM—(2,270), 25c-35c-50c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Comedy, news, organ. Gross: $10,500. Rating: 106%.

"FLIRTING WIDOW" (First National)

GOLDEN GATE—(2,500), 30c-40c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Music, vaudeville. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 90%.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

CALIFORNIA—(2,500), 35c-50c-65c-90c. Other attractions: Zara Agha (oldest man in the world), comedy "Radio Kisses," California orchestra, Paramount news. Gross: $14,200. Rating: 100%.

"DANGEROUS NAN McGREW" (Paramount)

ST. FRANCIS—(1,400), 35c-50c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Larie de Pries' band; talking novelty, "Many Moons"; Mack Sennett comedy, "The Chumps"; Paramount news. Gross: $11,500. Rating: 103%.

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Paramount)

PARAMOUNT—(2,700), 35c-50c-65c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Harry Gourfain & Synco-Pastors"; revue, "Hay-Hay-Hades"; "Surette's Devilettes"; Paramount news. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 105%.

Wholesale Managerial Shakeup in Rochester

Rochester, N. Y. — Local managerial changes include: O. E. Solomon, manager of the Piccadilly, downtown Publix, closed for alterations, to the St. James, Asbury Park; Lynn Blackmer, assistant at the Warner Majestic at Hornell, to manager of the Family, Batavia; E. H. Briant of Richmond, Va., temporarily as resident manager of Loew's Rochester here during vacation of David J. Nolan; John J. O'Neill, former manager of the Eastman, has become manager of the Cameo.

'Dangerous Nan' Socked Hard on Gross of $3,300

Baltimore—Another sizzling week, the thermometer hovering over one hundred and on one day reaching 104 degrees, with only one tiny shower throughout the whole six days. This, of course, making big biz for the refrigerated houses, but, strange to say, not for the Valencia, even though refrigerated.

Loew's Stanley, refrigerated, came along again with a big gross estimated at $22,500 for "Raffles," with Ronald Colman, this rating 129%. Picture was aided by slice of national advertising campaign in all Baltimore newspapers—about 4,200 lines—and other tie-ups.

Following this closely as a runner-up was Loew's Century, refrigerated, with $20,500, with Moran and Mack in "Anybody's War," and the Capitol-Loew stage unit, "Cheer Up," with Ted Claire and Evelyn Wilson. This was rated as 98%.

"All Quiet on the Western Front" was presented at popular prices at Keith's after it had been held for four weeks at the Auditorium several weeks ago, at $1.50 top admission, and did extremely well despite terrific heat. Gross was figured at $6,400, making it rate 80%. This house has an old-style water-washed cooling plant.

"Bride of the Regiment" did not fare so well at Loew's Valencia, even though this house is refrigerated. Here is a spectacular picture done in a lavish manner, all in color, which did not register because the audiences seemed to regard it as much ado about nothing and unconvincing. Estimated gross was $2,900, making it rate 83%.

Weather: Clear and extremely hot, slight shower one day. Temperatures ranged around 100 degrees all week and reached a high of 104 on one day.

Estimated takings:

"ANYBODY'S WAR" (Paramount)

LOEW'S CENTURY—(3,221), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "The Rounders" (comedy); scenic, "Cheer Up," a Loew-Capitol stage unit headed by Ted Claire; orchestra, organ. Gross: $20,500. Rating: 98%.

"RAFFLES" (United Artists)

(Aided by slice of national adv. campaign)

LOEW'S STANLEY—(3,654), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "Jumping Jazz" (Aesop Fable cartoon); Pathe Audio Review; "Pups Is Pups" (Our Gang M-G-M comedy). Gross: $22,500. Rating: 129%.

"BRIDE OF THE REGIMENT" (First National)

LOEW'S VALENCIA—(1,500), 25c-35c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "Kangaroo Steak" (comedy); "Big Hearted" (comedy). Gross: $2,900. Rating: 83%.

"LOVE AMONG THE MILLIONAIRES" (Para.)

(Shown uptown after one week downtown at Loew's Stanley)

LOEW'S PARKWAY—(1,092), 15c-35c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, Pathe Audio Review, Jazz Rhythm" (cartoon), "Flower Garden" (M-G-M colortone revue). Gross: $2,900. Rating: 66%.

"DANGEROUS NAN McGREW (Paramount)

WARNERS' METROPOLITAN—(1,500), 15c-50c, 6 days, starting Saturday. Other attractions: Kinograms, Universal news, "Gates of Happiness," Vitaphone Variety, "Cryin' for the Carolines" (Spooney Melodies). Gross: $3,300. Rating: 55%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

KEITH'S—(3,016), 25c-50c, 6 days, starting Friday. Other attractions: "Good Time Hector" (Radio comedy); Pathe news. Gross: $6,400. Rating: 80%.

"SHOOTING STRAIGHT" (Radio)

NEW—(1,600), 25c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, "The Boss's Orders" (Pathe comedy); Snapshots of Hollywood. Gross: $5,200. Rating: 52%.

The Retort Grand

Walter Winchell, New Yark Mirror columnist, passes on the gag about Dayton Stoddart, one of the "better of the high-class exploiteers," who was holidaying in the mountains. Before exploring the most heavily wooded sectors, his guide said: "Are you afraid of rattlesnakes?"

"What!" ejaculated Dayton, "after 12 years on Broadway!"

'Recaptured Love' Falls Down When Run Takes $1,500

Minneapolis—A heat wave that kept the thermometer constantly in the 90-degree class hit this town for the entire week. The Minnesota, which has the best cooling system, again attracted the customers. The house showed "For the Defense," and the Powell-Francis combination had the fans hanging on the ropes. Powell and Kay Francis are the fair-haired children here. The house took an 82% rating to the gross of $30,000.

The Orpheum, with "Lawful Larceny," also did well. The house grossed $18,000, or a rating of 80%. The Century showed "All Quiet on the Western Front" for a third week and registered a gross of $9,580, which rated the house 92%. The State showed "Sea Bat" and took it on the chin. The picture drew $14,000, which gave the house 60%. The Lyric, parading "Recaptured Love," also fell down. The house, despite an attractive front and lots of high-pressure ballyhoo, went into the "red" under a 55% rating when it grossed $1,500 on the picture. The Aster, ballyhooing "The Flirting Widow" in every possible way, shot into the high-rating column with 91%. It grossed $2,600.

Estimated takings:

"LAWFUL LARCENY" (R-K-O)

ORPHEUM—(2,300), 35c-50c-75c, 7 days, 3 shows daily. Other attractions: Four-act vaude bill headlined by Casa and Lehn. Gross: $18,000. Rating: 80%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.) (3rd Week)

CENTURY—(1,640), 30c-50c-75c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: None. Gross: $9,580. Rating: 92%.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Paramount)

MINNESOTA—(4,025), 30c-40c-75c, 7 days, 4 shows daily. Other attractions: "Smart Smarties" (Publix stage show); organ presentation, overture, newsreel. Gross: $30,000. Rating: 82%.

"THE SEA BAT" (M-G-M)

STATE—(2,300), 25c-35c-60c, 7 days, 4 shows daily. Other attractions: Charlie Chase comedy, Paramount scenic, Paramount featurette, newsreel. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 60%.

"RECAPTURED LOVE" (W.B.)

LYRIC—(1,238), 15c-25c-30c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: Newsreel. Gross: $1,500. Rating: 55%.

"FLIRTING WIDOW" (First National)

ASTER—(812), 20c-30c, 7 days, 7 shows daily. Other attractions: Newsreel. Gross: $2,600. Rating: 91%.

Warners May Establish Exchange at Des Moines

Des Moines—Warners may establish an exchange here. The move would be welcomed by exhibitors of the state, who now are served out of Omaha. The proposed Warner branch would be located in the Paramount exchange, being vacated in favor of the company's new building, next door.

Montreal Runs Cash in on the R-100 Arrival

Montreal—A combination of circumstances led to good theatre patronage in Montreal during the week:

The arrival of the British Dirigible R-100 at Montreal brought thousands of visitors; the people had recovered from the Federal election campaign with its speeches, while an array of popular attractions at leading houses proved magnetic despite torrid weather.

Montreal's own star, Norma Shearer, in "Love Career," at the Capitol, and Lon Chaney in "The Unholy Three," at the Palace, divided honors. Norma captured $14,000 for a 95% rating, while Chaney was good for $13,500 at the Palace at 90%. "Hot Curves," at the Princess, was good for the hot weather blues and made a stand at $9,800 for 90%.

"UNHOLY THREE" (M-G-M)
PALACE—(2,600), 25c-99, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, cartoon, comedy. Gross: $13,500. Rating: 90%.

"LOVE CAREER" (M-G-M)
CAPITOL—(2,670), 40c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Movietone news; "Le Sexe Fort," French talking comedy; Joseph Chermavsky conducting house band; Jackie Rae, stage vocalist. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 95%.

"HOT CURVES" (Tiffany)
PRINCESS—(2,272), 25c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Bowery Bimbos" (sound cartoon), "Voice of Hollywood, Universal news. Gross: $9,800. Rating: 90%.

"CZAR OF BROADWAY" (Universal)
LOEW'S—(3,000), 40c-99c, 7 days. Other attractions: Five vaudeville acts, Pathe news, Edmund Sanborn orchestra, cartoon. Gross: $12,500. Rating: 85%.

"VENGEANCE" (Columbia)
IMPERIAL—(1,650), 40c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Six Varieties acts, Paramount news, cartoon comedy. Gross: $7,000. Rating: 80%.

"SWEET MAMA" (Universal)
STRAND—(750), 25c-44c, 7 days. Other attractions: Columbia feature, "Call of the West"; Pathe review. Gross: $4,500. Rating: 75%.

Quebec Exhibs Organize To Plug Safety Drive

Montreal—Theatre owners of Quebec have organized a "Theatre Safety Committee" under the auspices of the Quebec Safety League for the purpose of studying safety principles and equipment and to offer service regarding safeguarding the public.

Maurice West, Montreal, has been elected chairman and George Nicholas Ganetakos, vice-president and general manager of United Amusements, Montreal, is vice-chairman. Arthur Gaboury, Montreal, is secretary. The directors include: Harry S. Dahn, manager of the Capitol, representing Famous Players' Canadian Corp., E. D. Denis, Auditorium, Quebec City, and Albert Beladeau of Drummondville. Safety bulletins are to be sent out at regular intervals.

Clark with Fox

Hollywood—Dan Clark, former president of the American Society of Cinematographers, and a contract cameraman with Fox for over ten years, has been assigned to direct features by Winfield Sheehan. Clark's first assignment will be the talker re-make of "Alcatraz," Max Brand story which was produced in silent form with Tom Mix starred under title of "Just Tony."

—N. Y. World

"Quiet" at Pop Cleveland Run Hits $31,000

Cleveland—The heat continues to hurt local theatre business in its most vulnerable spot. "All Quiet on the Western Front," playing its first popular priced engagement, and "Our Blushing Brides," made good showings, but business in the other downtown houses were just fair, while in the suburban houses receipts continued on the down grade. Weather, unbearable and consistently hot, with thermometer way up in the 90's all the time.

Estimated takings:

"RAFFLES" (United Artists, 3d Week)
STILLMAN—(1,900),40c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Hot Dog" (M-G-M); Jazz Rhythm (Columbia); "The Wizard's Apprentice" (United Artists); Hearst Metrotone news (M-G-M). Gross: $12,000. Rating: 80%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)
ALLEN—(3,300), 30c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Honolulu Wiles" (Columbia); Hearst Metrotone news (M-G-M). Gross: $20,000. Rating: 110%.

"SINS OF THE CHILDREN" (M-G-M)
STATE—(3,400), 30c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Not So Quiet" (Universal); "Jaz Mania" (Fischer Film); Paramount news; Loew stage unit. Gross: $17,000. Rating: 85%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)
HIPPODROME—(4,500), 35c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news. Gross: About $31,000. Rating: 155%.

"SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES" (First National)
R-K-O PALACE (3,600), 35c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe Review, Pathe news, "Carnival Review" (Pathe), "Plain Dealer" reel. Gross: $22,500. Rating: 90%.

"CLANCY IN WALL STREET"
(Fischer Film-State Rights)
CAMEO (1,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "How Wild" (M-G-M); Screen Snap Shots (Columbia); Hearst Metrotone news (M-G-M). Gross: $4,000. Rating: 80%.

Free Parking for Patrons Helps Offset Price Cut

Toledo—Both Publix houses here have cut prices to offset the summer slump. Free parking space has been instituted by the Vita Temple in a garage hook-up. The gag is that the patrons save money and the theatre gains good will without setting a price precedent.

Portland Fans Storm Shearer In Record Runs

Portland, Ore.—Norma Shearer in "Let Us Be Gay" breezed into the United Artists and immediately captured the crowd in large numbers, and still further into the hearts of her feminine admirers, whose word-of-mouth advertising was sufficient to again break house records. This plus splendid exploitation of Couch and Stewart, tie-ups with drug stores, etc., shot the gross to $16,000, with percentage of 165%.

Weather was fair and cooler. Heavy thunderstorms brought back some customers from beaches and parks. Heavy increase advertising for "Greater Moving Season," splendid cooperation four first run houses.

Estimated takings:

"LET US BE GAY" (M.G.M.)
FOX UNITED ARTISTS—(945), 25c-50c, 7 days and extra midnite performances. Other attractions: "Pirates" (M.G.M.), Hollywood Varieties, Fox News. Good comedy repartee brought splendid word-mouth advertising. Gross: $16,000. Rating: 165%.

"ON YOUR BACK" (Fox)
FOX BROADWAY—(1,912), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fanchon & Marco's "Country Club Idea" with Masters & Grayce, comedy team, Ray Samuels and girls, Lenora Cori, with voice and beauty, Don Wilkins, m.c. with band, Henrui Lebel, novelty organ numbers, Fox Movietone news. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 145%.

"DIXIANA" (RKO)
RKO ORPHEUM—(1,700), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Catherine Custer at organ. Gross: $13,250. Rating: 135%.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Para.)
PORTLAND PARAMOUNT—(3,085), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Hey, Hey Hades," vaude presentation with "Happy" Phil Lampkin and Paramounteers, Paul Lock's Dancing Sweethearts, Con Maffie at Wurlitzer. Gross: $12,750. Rating: 125%.

"THREE FACES EAST" (W. B.)
HAMRICK'S MUSIC BOX—(1,835), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vitaphone acts, Fox Movietone news. Gross: $11,675. Rating: 115%.

"THE SILENT ENEMY" (Para.)
RIALTO—(1,498), 25c-50c, 7 days, extra Sat. nite show. Other attractions: Para. news, Boy Scout tie-ups, broadcast from lobby over Station KXL. Gross: $11,350. Rating 110%.

Record Price Paid for "Journey's End" Rights

Sydney, Australia.—Australian rights for "Journey's End" have brought the record price of $50,000. The previous high was $27,750. A mystery surrounds the actual purchaser or purchasers. One story that has crept into print, and is believed to be correct, is that a local syndicate, headed by one Rothe Raymond, unknown, has put up the cash. It bears this correction, though. Those comprising the syndicate are described as men without connection with the industry, but there is a strong feeling prevalent that "Raymond" is in reality one of the amusement leaders here, keeping his name in cover, it is suggested, because he is handling the film independent of his principal film interests.

Whoever has bought the war picture is leaving physical distribution to Union Theatres Feature Exchange, of which Stuart F. Doyle is chairman.

Tishkoff-Fogel Expand

Rochester—Operating as officers of the newly formed Rochester Arnett Operating Corp., William Tishkoff and Max Fogel, owners and operators of the Webster here, will reopen the Arnett, neighborhood house, and install sound and a cooling system. William Belcher will manage.

Unchanging

Hollywood—They tell with great glee the gag that a song-writer pulled on a former stage actor, now in Hollywood.

He came up and shook him by the hand. "It's great," he said, "to meet a New York actor who has made a success in the movies without changing. You're one guy that's been the same all the way through. You were a heel then, and you're a heel now."—L. A. Herald.

Byrd Film Draws At Ottawa; Only Run to Hit Par

Ottawa—The theatre business in Ottawa showed decided improvement during the week. The big surprise was the pull of "Byrd at the South Pole" at the Imperial, where it had been booked as half of the program with a double-feature bill, the other half being "Children of Pleasure." This had been done by Manager Tubman because of a doubt that the Byrd picture would draw, but it did and registered 100% with $4,100. Keith's also came back into its own with William Powell in "For the Defense," doing 95% for three days, and 90% with "Wild Company" the last half. "Grumpy," at the Regent, also came through strong, drawing a "Disraeli crowd" for 98%. It was a sweet week for most exhibitors. Weather, fair and warm.

Estimated takings:

"GRUMPY" (Paramount)
REGENT—(1,225), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Movietone news, "Goodbye Legs" (comedy), Screen Song "Arrival of R-100," orchestra. Gross: $5,900. Rating: 98%.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Paramount)
B. F. KEITH'S—(2,596), 15c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, Grantland Rice Sportlight, "Hooked," "I Come First" (comedy). Gross: $4,900. Rating: 95%.

"DIVORCEE" (M-G-M)
AVALON—(990), 25c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, Educational comedy. Gross: $1,300. Rating: 95%.

"WITH BYRD AT THE SOUTH POLE" (Para.) AND "CHILDREN OF PLEASURE" (M-G-M)
IMPERIAL—(1,200), 15c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $4,100. Rating: 100%.

"RICH PEOPLE" (Pathe)
CENTRE—(1,200), 15c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Chester Conklin in "The Master Sweeper"; Eddie Foy, Jr., and Bessie Love in "Swelled Heads." Gross: $3,200. Rating: 85%.

"WILD COMPANY" (Fox)
B. F. KEITH'S—(2,596), 15c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Universal news, "The Rounder" (comedy); Screen Song, "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree." Gross: $4,300. Rating: 90%.

"IN GAY MADRID" (M-G-M)
AVALON—(990), 25c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, Our Gang comedy. Gross: $1,100. Rating: 85%.

Fay to Reopen Burned Rochester House in Fall

Rochester, N. Y.—Closed for nearly six months after fire of undetermined origin caused damage of upwards of $40,000, Fay's downtown 1,200-seat house, will reopen early in the fall.

Edward Fay of Providence, who leases the house from Chester Fenyvessy, will again operate. Arch McCallum will manage. Fay had exclusive rights to Warner films before the fire, but they since have been acquired by Loew's Rochester.

Joan Crawford's $18,750 Wins Top Spot in K. C. Runs

Kansas City—Loew's Midland did the shouting this week with 150%, or $18,750 on M-G-M's "Our Blushing Brides." The Mainstreet did 103% with First National's "Dawn Patrol," which grossed $19,500, enhanced by a good stage show.

Universal's "All Quiet on the Western Front," playing Kansas City for the first time at pop prices, brought business at the Newman up to 120%, or $11,400. The Uptown, playing First National's "In the Next Room," reported 110%, or $6,500. The Royal, with "Queen High" (Paramount), knocked off 105%, which means about $5,000. At the Pantages, the only bad one in town, Fox's "Women Everywhere," grossed $7,125, only 75%.

Estimated takings:

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)
MIDLAND—(4,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Other attractions: Charlie Chase comedy, "Whispering Whoopie"; Metrotone news. Gross: $18,750. Rating: 150%.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)
MAINSTREET—(3,067), 35c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, four acts vaudeville headlining Ledova, dancer, and Art Landry and orchestra. Gross: $19,500. Rating: 130%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)
NEWMAN—(2,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Krazy Kat. Gross: $11,400. Rating: 120%.

"QUEEN HIGH" (Paramount)
ROYAL—(900), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, talkartoon, "Swing You Sinners"; novelty, "Hearts and Hoofs." Gross: $5,000. Rating: 105%.

"IN THE NEXT ROOM" (F. N.)
UPTOWN—(2,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Benny Rubin in "The General," Mickey Mouse cartoon, Universal news. Gross: $6,500. Rating: 110%.

"WOMEN EVERYWHERE" (Fox)
PANTAGES—(2,160), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, Felix the Kat. Gross: $7,125. Rating: 75%.

All Providence Off; "Raffles" $19,200, Tops

Providence—Local flicker houses again took it on the chin because of hot weather. Loew's State, with "Raffles," was the only main-stem house that came through with a 100% rating. Ronald Colman garnered slightly over $19,000 for this house.

"Western Front," in its second week at the R-K-O Albee, slid to $10,500, and was pulled out for "Holiday." The Universal feature did $20,000 in its first week, sensational business for the Albee. Other huoses in most cases slid below average mark.

Estimated takings:

"RAFFLES" (U-A)
LOEW'S STATE—(3,500), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Charley Chase comedy, "Fast Work"; "Krazy Cat," Hearst Metrotone news, "Screen Snapshots." Gross: $19,200. Rating: 100%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)
MAJESTIC—(2,200), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Loose Ankles," Paramount news. Gross: $10,000. Rating 90%.

"WESTERN FRONT" (Universal)
R-K-O ALBEE—(2,500), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, W. C. Fields in "Golf Specialist." Gross: $10,500. Rating: 85%.

"MAN FROM WYOMING" (Paramount)
PARAMOUNT—(2,200), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Neighborly Neighbors," "Fit to Be Tied," "Sacred Fires," Paramount news. Gross: $10,500. Rating: 85%.

"CAPTAIN OF THE GUARD" (Universal)
R-K-O VICTORY—(1,600), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Across the World," Pathe news. Gross: $6,700. Rating: 80%.

Radio Gags

Overheard on Radio Pictures' "Half Shot at Sunrise" set, with Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey featured:

Diner: "I'll have a young chicken. It must be very young. In fact, extremely young!"

Waiter: Maybe we'd better bring you an egg." And in the same comedy:

Diner: "I can't eat this duck! Send for the manager!"

Waiter: "It's no use. He won't eat it either."

Des Moines Runs Kicked Plenty by Tom Thumb Golf

Des Moines—Warm weather worked hand in hand with the outdoor golf links. They had plenty effect on the theatre business. Exchange men estimate that theatres are losing about $3,000 a week to the outdoor sport.

"Sap from Syracuse," however, showed no great loss since it scored 150%, high for the week at local houses. "Romance," with Garbo, most charming, and a fur fashion parade which showed $100,000 worth of the latest in fur coats, drew 125%. R-K-O's picture at the Orpheum, "Off to Peoria," won above average with 110%, while other pictures scored about average.

Estimated takings:

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Paramount)
PARAMOUNT—(1,700), 25c-35c-60c, 3 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, 4 acts of vaude, Bob Hamilton organ number. Gross: $6,240. Rating: 150%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)
PARAMOUNT—(1,700), 25c-35c-60c, 3 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Paramount short, Eddie Cantór, "Cockeyed News," Bob Hamilton organ number, Al Morey stage band with "Iceland Frolics." Gross: $5,600. Rating: 125%.

"INSIDE THE LINES" (R-K-O)
ORPHEUM—(2,000), 25c-50c, 4 days. Other attractions: R-K-O vaude, Pathe news, Pathe comedy ("Birthday Suit"). Gross: $4,500. Rating: 100%.

"OFF TO PEORIA" (R-K-O)
ORPHEUM—(2,000), 25c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: R-K-O vaude, Pathe news. Gross: $3,980. Rating: 110%.

(GOLDEN DAWN" (Warners)
STRAND—(1,100), 20c-30c, 4 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Columbia cartoon ("Fiddling Round"); M-G-M comedy ("Bear Shooters"). Gross: $2,500. Rating: 100%.

"SEA BAT" (M-G-M)
STRAND—(1,100), 20c-30c, 3 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, M-G-M comedy ("The King"), Paramount act ("Meet Mr. Meek"). Gross: $1,700. Rating: 95%.

Sues for Theatre Title

Elkhart, Ind.—Suit to clear title of the Orpheum theatre property owned by George Doll has been filed in Superior Court at South Bend. The suit is brought by George Doll and is against the Elkhart Orpheum Co., which was organized in 1913 by Charles Allardt and Albert Chambers and which issued bonds and constructed the theatre building on the property owned by Doll. According to the complaint, the Orpheum company was to lease the ground from Doll with the provision that if the lease was forfeited, the building should become the property of Doll. It is averred the company abandoned the property in 1918 and since that time, in practice, the building has been occupied by Doll. However, this ownership is not shown by title and Doll is suing for a judgment to show forfeiture of the lease.

Warner Jubilee Program Boosts Phila. Receipts

Philadelphia—With the help of Davey Lee, the Warner "Silver Jubilee" period got off to a whale of a start at the Mastbaum last week. With the popular juvenile star in a personal appearance to back up William Powell's "For the Defense," and with Creatore, band leader in the pit and Charlie Kaley as new master-of-ceremonies, the house grossed $46,000 the highest peak since the winter season's top. Figures give the house a percentage rating of 115%.

Business on the whole held up to par all through town, probably stimulated by the campaign the Warners are putting on for their jubilee. Since the Warner-Stanley interests control six of the seven first run houses now open it's a case of "as go Warners so goes business."

"Big House" landed $10,000 for its third week at the Stanton, giving it plenty of encouragement for a fourth and possibly a fifth week. This film has brought the best grosses to the Stanton in months.

Estimated takings:

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Paramount)
MASTBAUM—(4,800), 6 days, 35-50-75c. Other attractions: Davey Lee in person, Creatore in orchestra pit, Charles Kaley as new master-of-ceremonies, stage show, "Sportland," featuring Stan Cavanaugh, George Beatty, Olive Faye, Sis and Buddy Roberts. Gross: $46,000. Rating: 115%.

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)
FOX—(3,000), 6 days, 40-50-75c. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco stage show, "Coral Idea," featuring Maurice and Vincent, the "Royal Samoans," Eddie Hanley, Petite Marie, Oscar Taylor; Movietone news. Gross: $25,000. Rating: 95%.

"RAFFLES" (United Artists)
BOYD—(2,400), 2 days, 35-50-75c, "Raffles" grossed $8,000, good opening, while last four days of "Dawn Patrol" (First National) brought $10,000. Rating for entire week, 100% Other attractions: M-G-M news, Fitzpatrick Travelogue, Vitaphone comedy.

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)
STANTON—(1,500), 6 days, 25c to 65c. Other attractions: Paramount news, Vitaphone comedy. Gross: $10,000 (third week). Rating: 100%.

"MATRIMONIAL BED" (Warner)
EARLE—(2,000), 6 days, 25c to 65c. Other attractions: Universal news, stage show, "Frosty Frolic" with Jay Mills, Clifford and Marian, Peppino and Carthe and the Crystal Trio. Gross: $18,000. Rating: 100%.

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)
STANLEY—(3,700), 6 days, 35-50-75c. Other attractions: Paramount news, Vitaphone comedy, "Hello Television." Gross: $17,000 (second week). Rating: 95%.

"NOTORIOUS AFFAIR" (First National)
KARLTON—(1,000), 6 days, 45c to 50c. Other attractions: M.G.M. news, Mickey Mouse cartoon, color novelty, ("Wedding of Jack and Jill"); "Our Gang" comedy. Gross: $5,000. Rating: 100%.

Remaking "Sally, Irene, Mary"

Hollywood—A talker remake of "Sally, Irene and Mary" is being planned by M-G-M. This picture was made in 1925 in silent form by Edmund Goulding. Decision for making of this musical is said to be a result of the enthusiastic reception of "Whoopee" following the preview here. Producers figure that musicals will go over okay if they are good enough, figuring that "Whoopee" will do big business for this reason. No assignments for the picture have been made as yet.

U. A. Set at Montreal

Montreal—The Princess will be the United Artists' first run house for the coming season, a contract having been signed for the booking of the whole United Artists' schedule of releases.

His Only Chance

Hollywood — Robert Montgomery, upon learning that he was to appear in "Dark Star" with those two champion picture stealers, Marie Dressler and Wallace Beery, told the gang 'that's okeh with me if they only let me play it in shorts, so people will know me in the film."

Big Spurt Sends Boston Takes to Summer Records

Boston—Every first run in Boston played way above par all week in the hottest weather of the season, with every theatre doing well above mid-year business for one of the best weeks, as a whole, since the storms of February.

Two theatres rated 120%, Keith Memorial playing "Little Accident" which had a successful run as a stage show in Boston last winter, and the Olympia playing "Dawn Patrol." The latter was a day and date booking at both Olympia and Uptown theatres of the Publix circuit and did $13,500 at the Uptown for 115%, a total for the week at the two houses of $31,500.

"Holiday" went across for $15,500 at the Publix Scollay Square while Metropolitan, Keith-Albee and Loew's State rated 110%.

Some of the smaller downtown theatres are closed for the August vacation season and the other houses have apparently been getting the business distributed among them. General run of films for the week was likewise above the customary week's run. Weather was plenty hot.

Estimated takings:

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Paramount)
METROPOLITAN—(4,350), 7 days, 25c to 60c. Other attractions: Stage presentation, ("Ole Virginny Cotton Pickers,"); comedy, Paramount news. Gross: $34,000. Rating: 110%.

"SWETHEARTS AND WIVES" (1st National)
KEITH-ALBEE—(2,500), 7 days, 25c to 60c. Other attractions: Vaudeville, RKOlians, Sportlight, Pathe news. Gross: $20,000. Rating: 110%.

"LITTLE ACCIDENT" (Universal)
KEITH MEMORIAL—(2,800), 7 days, 30c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, Sportlight, Pathe news. Gross: $27,000. Rating: 120%.

"RAFFLES" (United Artists)
LOEW'S STATE—(3,700), 7 days, 30c to 50c. Other attractions: Comedy, Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $22,000. Rating: 110%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)
LOEW'S ORPHEUM—(3,100), 7 days, 25c to 50c. Other attractions: Vaudeville, comedy, Hearst news. Gross: $21,000. Rating: 105%.

"DAWN PATROL" (1st National)
(Playing day and date with Uptown)
OLYMPIA—(2,500), 7 days, 25c to 50c. Other attractions: Comedy, cartoon, Paramount news. Gross: $18,000. Rating: 120%.

"DAWN PATROL" (1st National)
(Playing day and date with Olympia)
UPTOWN—(2,000), 7 days, 25c to 60c. Other attractions: Cartoon, Paramount news, comedy. Gross: $13,500. Rating: 115%.

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)
SCOLLAY SQUARE—(1,800), 7 days, 25c to 50c. Other attractions: Vaudeville, comedy, Paramount news. Gross: $15,500. Rating: 115%.

First Two of Football Shorts Are Completed

Terry Ramsaye has completed production of two of the series of six football shorts directed by Clyde Elliott, with Knute Rockne, Notre Dame coach, co-operating. The series is being made by arrangement with Christy Walsh.

New Okla. House Cops 15 Grand From 1st Runs

Oklahoma City—Winding its way along a path made by unusual exploitation, "Dawn Patrol" grabbed $15,000 at a rating of 155% at the new Midwest this week, and will be shown for 14 days. This high mark climaxed the opening of the new $1,000,000 Warner Brothers Midwest theatre, which enjoyed unusual high-grade exploitation, in which a number of the leading flyers of this section participated, and a large number of unusual stunts pulled off by General Manager Leo J. Hill, who has just assumed charge of the house, Warners' pride of the Southwest.

The daily newspapers and critics all pronounced "Dawn Patrol" the finest picture ever screened in Oklahoma City, and without a single woman appearing in any of the scenes.

"Unholy Three," with Lon Chaney, an M-G-M production, was the next best bet and played at the Criterion to the tune of $9,000 and a 125%. "Let Us Be Gay," also a M-G-M production, with Norma Shearer and Marie Dressler, shook the bushes and gladdened the hearts of the Capitol to the tune of $7,000 with a rating of 115%.

Other theatres all did normal business, and might have done more, except for unusual competition and hot weather ranging from 101 to 104 daily.

Estimates are:

"DAWN PATROL" (First National)
MIDWEST—(1,500), 25c-60c, first 7 days. Other attractions: Vitaphone news, Vitaphone acts, extra midnight Saturday show. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 155%.

"UNHOLY THREE" (M-G-M)
CRITERION—(2,000), 25c, 50c, 7 days, extra midnight Saturday show. Other attractions: Paramount news, "Jazz Preferred" (Paramount); on the stage, "The Belveders, a singing quartette. Gross: $9,000. Rating: 125%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)
CAPITOL—(1,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Movietone news, Eddie Cantor in "Cockeyed News." Gross: $6,000. Rating: 110%.

"SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES" (F. N.)
LIBERTY—(1,800), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Swell People," Movietone news. Gross: $4,500. Rating: 95%.

"SHOOTING STRAIGHT" (R-K-O)
EMPRESS—(1,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Mickey Mouse in "Merry Men," Universal news. Gross: $4,000. Rating: 90%.

"RICH PEOPLE" (Pathe)
ORPHEUM—(1,500), 25c-50c, 4 days. Other attractions: Kinogram news, R-K-O vaudeville. Gross: $3,200. Rating 95%.

"PARADISE ISLAND" (Tiffany)
ORPHEUM—(1,500), 25c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Kinogram news, Fanchon & Marco's "Overtures Idea." Gross: $3,000. Rating: 90%.

Employ Piano Tuners

Hollywood — Piano tuning departments are the latest to be added to the various studio staffs. Every studio has purchased or rented so many instruments since the introduction of sound pictures, that economy dictated that a regular staff of tuners be employed rather than bringing them in from the outside for individual jobs.

Bessie Love Cast

Hollywood—Bessie Love will play the feminine lead in "See America Thirst," a comedy which has Harry Langdon and Slim Summerville in featured spots. Universal is making the talker and William J. Craft is directing.

Before the "Mike" In N. Y. Studios

AFTER making a few exterior retakes on Nancy Carroll's latest Paramount production, "Laughter," H. D'Abbadie D'Arrast, who wrote and directed the picture, will pack up and mal de mer to his beloved Basque country home. He intends to return in two months.

* * *

Frank Morgan is in great demand these days. First he did his stuff in "Dangerous Nan McGrew," then "Queen High," became Nancy Carroll's husband in "Laughter" and hardly had he finished his role in that than he found that he was expected on the "Best People" set. And "Topaz" soon to reopen. Oh well, as Morgan sez, "There's no rest for the wicked."

* * *

Rube Welch, now with the Paramount short subject department, is the writer of all the shorts, including the Clark & McCullough stories, which were made in the East by RKO. Not only does Rube write 'em, but how he can tell 'em!

* * *

Helene Turner, film cutter at Paramount, celebrated the finishing of "Sap from Syracuse" by buying a new Buick coupe. She says, "those taxi drivers' got nothing on me when it comes to making time." So we ups and sez, "Yeh, better watch out or you'll be doing time 'stead o' making it."

* * *

If one were to pass by the Rhinebeck estate of Ray and Arthur Cozine, of a week-end, one could see the filming of a picture in which the principal characters are John Doran, his brother Dan and Lou Priestly, superintendent of construction at the Paramount New York studio. Arthur Cozine is the director of these epics.

* * *

On our way to see Monte Brice, now vice-president of Famous Artists of the Air, with luxurious offices on Fifth Avenue, when lo and behold, there is the worst traffic jam we've ever seen. Of course this sleuth's natural curiosity was aroused and had to be satisfied. It was Carroll Dunning's set for the "traffic tie-up" scene in the RKO production starring Amos n' Andy. With seven cameras at various vantage points, Dunning didn't miss a trick.

* * *

Joe Seiden, who filmed the Chocolate-Berg fight last week, was beseiged with calls all day from fight fans who asked if he needed any assistant cameramen, prop boys, monitor men etc. So that's why the fourth floor at 729 Seventh Ave. looked like Heywood Broun's bread line.

* * *

Old Sol was playing hide and seek with the boys over in Warner's eastern Vitaphone studio who were trying to shoot some exteriors on "The Thirteenth Prisoner," starring Willie Howard. The dozen "timers" were manacled, the black maria was in readiness, the reflecters were set up in the sun, cameras were ready, Willie had thrown away his cigarette and Director Arthur Hurley was just about to give the signal to start when Sol did the disappearing act behind a cloud. After a delay of about a half hour, the sun gave them a break.

* * *

Stanley Rauh wrote this story, which shows the trials and tribulations of a man who tries to serve his time in jail and finds that the gates of prison are closed to him. Somehow he couldn't convince the guards that he was a criminal.

THE STUDIO SLEUTH

Sound in U. K. Not Proving Big Draw Gov't Says

Exhibitors throughout England are not benefiting by sound, and the slight increase which the new vogue brought to box-office receipts is already on the wane. This is disclosed in a bulletin from the British consul general at New York, who states that conditions in the industry in Great Britain "continue to be unsettled and the future trend of business is by no means clear."

Nearly 2,000 houses are wired, it is stated, and the "audiences are not flocking to see talking pictures in the numbers common when the novelty of the talking film was at it height. The decline in attendance is attributed in some quarters to the finer weather and the attractions of outdoor life at this period of the year, but it is generally admitted that a time is approaching when talking pictures will draw no larger audiences than do silent films. This might not affect the exhibitor were he not in most cases still in the position of having to pay installments for expensive talking film equipment, and to show talking films on less advantageous terms financially than in the days of silents. As a result, theatre owners on the whole are not doing too well, and this is affecting the industry generally."

Ties the Can on U. S. Films

"There seems litle doubt that there is a reaction in many territories against the average American film as the dialect, whether in speech or song, and whether understood or not by the hearers, seems to be proving unduly harsh for non-American audiences. There is undoubtedly a tendency towards making talking pictures with speech with an English rather than an American accent, and it is hoped that this tendency may lead ultimately to increased production in the United Kingdom. It is quite clear, at any rate, that foreign audiences will ultimately demand talking films in languages which they can understand, and it seems likely that Hollywood will not prove so satisfactory a centre for producing multilingual films as either London or some Continental centre. The United Kingdom is taking a leading part in the making of talking films in languages other than English," states the report.

Buy Back Theatre

South Bend, Ind.—Old stockholders of the Theatre Corp. of South Bend have purchased the property of the Palace here at a receivership sale, bidding $450,000 for the property. The property was sold by a trustee in bankruptcy. The organized bondholders hold about $872,000 of the $875,000 in bonds outstanding on the property and will offer the other bondholders an opportunity to participate in the new corporation.

Collyer in "Extravagance"

Hollywood—The leading feminine role in "Extravagance" has been awarded to June Collyer according to an announcement made by Phil Goldstone of Tiffany. Phil Rosen will direct the piece which is an original by A. P. Younger.

High and Low On Music Row

FOLLOWING in the footsteps of several other music publishers affiliated with producers, who have already started to publish popular songs, Red Star Music Co., a Fox subsidiary, has augmented its catalogue of picture songs with several "pop" tunes. The numbers are "Say It in a Nutshell," by Jimmy Hanley and Joe McCarthy; "I'll Find My Way to You Wherever You Are," by Grace Henry and Morris Hamilton; "The Hill-Billy Bride," a type of song which seems to click these days, written by J. Keirn Brennan and Maury Rubens, and "Shady Palms," composed by Murray Mencher and Charlie Tobias.

* * *

It may be the effect of the heat that we've been enjoying??? these past few weeks, but, whatever is responsible for prompting us, we are going to give vent to the urge, throw caution to the forewinds, and write the following quip: "Leave a Little Smile" "When Love Comes in the Moonlight" and you'll be on the "Highway to Heaven."

* * *

Despite the fact that "Watson and his famous needle" may not be at hand for the explanation of the cryptic sentence, one should possess enough power of perception to deduct that the sentence merely is an amalgamation of three song titles. Now we'll explain. The aforementioned songs are the latest addition to the DeSylva, Brown & Henderson catalogue, written by Joe Burke and Al Dubin for the Warner production, "Oh, Sailor, Behave." We're as glad as you are that this suspense is all over, all over now.

* * *

Margaret Breen, who played opposite Buddy Rogers in his recently-completed picture, "Heads Up," has her photograph gracing the latest edition of the song, "Be Carcful With Those Eyes," written by Harry Woods and published by Gene Austin, Inc. Marty Bloom insists that this tune will lead the best sellers in another fortnight.

* * *

Although "Dancing With Tears in My Eyes," a Witmark publication is now occupying "top hole" among the best sellers, "You Brought a New Kind of Love to Me," written by Sammy Fain, Irving Kahal and Pierre Norman for the Paramount production, "The Big Pond," is beginning to assume a threatening attitude and bids fair to displace "Tears." Famous Music Co. is the publisher of "New Kind of Love."

* * *

Went by Saporta's song shop on the Main Stem, intending to find shelter from Old Sol, albeit stopping to hear "Venetia," written by Harry D. Kerr and J. S. Zamecnik, writers of the famous "Neapolitan Nights." Looks like Sam Fox, the publisher, should be in a position to ply the well-known rake among the shekels.

* * *

With the acquisition by Radio Music Corp. of Davis, Coots & Engel, things look pretty bright for "I Still Get a Thrill," "In My Heart It's You," "Everything's O. K. with Me" and "Good Evenin'," the four songs that have just been added to the Davis, Coots & Engel list.

* * *

Bibo-Lang are getting ready for some real action on "Too Good to Be True" and "True Love," both written by Jesse Greer and Ray Klages for the Chesterfield vehicle, "The Jazz Cinderella." Charlie Lang is all het up over the possibilities of "Gee, But I'm Lonesome Tonight," a sob ballad written by Mickey Guy.

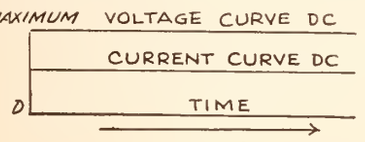
PINCUS.

THE Projectionists' Round Table

By John F. Rider

Various Forms of Voltage and Current—One can very readily appreciate that if any one form of voltage is induced across two points of a conductor or a circuit, the current which shall flow through that conductor or circuit will have the same form as the voltage. This does not necessarily mean that any change in voltage will be accompanied by a simultaneous change in current, but it does mean that if the voltage is spoken of as D.C., the current in that circuit will likewise be D.C.

The voltage available from a battery is steady and constant at one value and when represented appears somewhat like in Figure 38, and if that voltage is connected across a resistance as in Figure 38A, the current will also be a straight line of a value governed by the resistance of the circuit. However, all D.C. voltages are not necessarily constant. Another form of D.C. voltage is possible. This is known as pulsating D.C., the first term affording an idea of the fact that the voltage is not steady and constant and the second part of the complete term denoting that the direction of the flow is always the same, the variation being solely in the magnitude of the voltage. This is shown in Figure 39. If such a source of voltage were connected to a resistance as in Figure 38A, the current in the circuit would vary somewhat in the fashion shown by curve B in Figure 39, the magnetitude of current again being determined by the voltage and the resistance in the circuit.



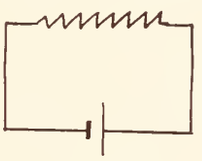


FIG.38

Pulsating D.C. is seldom found in conventional circuits, although one part of a sound system the eliminator employed to provide D.C. operating voltages to the amplifier tubes involves pulsating D.C. in one part of the complete circuit. This form of voltage and current is then smoothed output, a subject which will receive further attention when we reach the subject of eliminators. The general expression D.C. sometimes mentioned as continuous is understood to mean a steady and unvarying current always flowing in one direction, and all further reference to D.C. shall signify the aforementioned.

Operating Potentials in Sound Systems

It is true that D.C. voltages are employed as the major operating potentials in all sound systems, but it is likewise true that another form of potentian plays a tremendously important role. This form of potential is known as A.C., the two letters designating alternating current and as such alternating potential. The significance of the word alternating is to distinguish the direction of the current flow from that existing when the current and the voltage are designated as direct. The application of the term alternating signifies that the direction of the current flow alternates, first in one direction and then in another. The two letters A.C. are in common use to designate potential and current which alternate their direction of flow and action. Of course, references to alternating current signifies that alternating voltage usually referred to as A.C. voltage is also present in that circuit and reference to A.C. voltage signifies that A.C. current is also present in that circuit. One is apt to consider the expression A.C. current as somewhat peculiar because when not abbreviated it really is alternating current current, but common usage of the abbreviation has resulted in its general acceptance.

FIG. 38A

A.C., as we stated, plays a paramount role in sound systems. First and foremost is the fact that the electrical equivalents of the sound passed through the amplifier and that recorded upon the film or disc are of A.C. character. Hence, in order to comprehend the action of these sounds when converted into electrical form and when passing through the parts of a sound system it is necessary to study the principles underlying the generation and action of alternating currents.

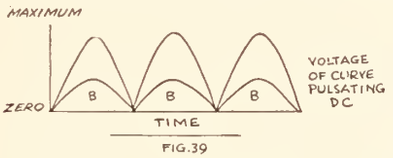

FIG.39

Supplementary to the above, A.C. power mains furnish the original source of the operated potentials, the D.C. being secured by a process of rectification of the A.C. currents, an action which shall constitute a large portion of material contained in this course.

Advantages of A.C.

The use of A.C., or rather A.C., affords very definite advantages not available with D.C. forms of potential. This is manifest by the wholesale use of A.C. for power and lighting the world over. One of its major advantages is more economical transmission, another of equal importance is its greater versatility and a third is the economical production of generating equipment. All of this is possible because of the character of A.C.

Representation of A.C.—The general representation of A.C. voltage or current differs from continuous D.C. or pulsating D.C. and an idea of the form may be gleaned from the illustration shown in Figure 40. Here we find a symmetric wavy line extending both sides of a zero, line indicating that the voltage or current is at any one value for but an instant and that it continually varies between zero and a maximum, this variation being at a definite rate with respect to time. The zero line is the point of zero potential and the curve above the zero line represents current flow or voltage in one direction and the curve below the zero line represents current flow or voltage in the opposite direction.

Why this condition exists shall be shown soon, although an idea can be gleaned from the loop located in a parallel magnetic field as illustrated in Figure 36, illustrated in lesson 11. The reason for the shape of the curves becomes evident when one considers the generation of the voltage which, in turn, causes the flow of current through the external circuit. An examination of the A.C. voltage curve shows that a maximum is reached during each reversal of direction. The plus and minus signs, above and below the zero line respectively are arbitrarily employed to differentiate between the two directions of flow. The plus sign signifies current or voltage above the zero line and the minus sign signifies current and voltage below the zero line.

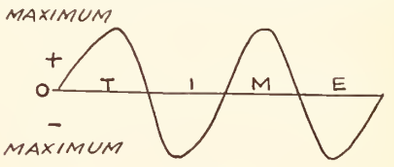

FIG. 40

One of the laws of electricity states:

That if a coil of wire is revolved at a constant rate in a parallel magnetic field of uniform intensity, a sine wave of alternating voltage will be generated in the loop.

Current Flows

We are by this time familiar with what is meant by a loop or coil of wire and also by the uniform and parallel magnetic field between two poles of a magnet, be it a permanent magnet or an electromagnet. Let us now consider the generation of this wave of voltage. Some of these facts have already been mentioned in connection with the generation of D.C., but we deem it of sufficient importance to neglect the statement made in the chapter devoted to the D.C. generator and repeat the direction and action of the voltage and current in such a loop located and moving as stated.

Repetition of the basic reason for the current flow is unnecessary. Our primary interest is the direction of the current flow with respect to time and the magnitude of the wave. The device which generates in A.C. emf is known, in order to distinguish between it and the D.C. generator, as an alternator. Let us imagine a loop of wire abcd located between the pole pieces of a magnet and so arranged that an external circuit may be connected to an open portion in the bc side of the loop as shown in Figure 41. Contact to the ab and the cd sides of the loops is made by means of two slip rings *SR*1 and *SR*2. These are so arranged that no matter what the position of the loop sides ab and cd, *SR*1 always makes contact with the ab side and slip ring *SR*2 always makes contact with the side cd. Two brushes *B*1 and *B*2 are in contact with their respective slip rings *SR*1 and

(Continued on page 44)

This Is Lesson 12 in The Rider Series on Sound Projection

THE

Projectionists' Round Table

By John F. Rider

(Continued from page 43)

SR2, so that no matter what the position of the coil sides, the connections to the circuit remain unchanged.

If you recall this arrangement is different than that employed in the D.C. generator where the circuit is alternately connected to the coil sides. Hence commutation is not used in an alternator. Instead slip rings or collector rings, as they are frequently referred to are employed. The coil is assumed to be located within the uniform parallel magnetic field between the N and the S poles of the magnet. This coil is mechanically revolved around its horizontal axis in a counter clockwise direction. The dotted arrows show the direction of the flux btween the pole pieces. The external circuit consist of a resistance R and the arrows associated wth the external circuit indicate the direction of current flow during the time that the coil is revolving in the field.

As the ab side of the coil moves down past the N pole, current flows out of the ab side through the slip ring *SR*1, through the brush *B*1 into the external circuit as shown by the single arrow; follows through the resistance, into brush B2, through slip ring SR2 and into the coil side cd through the end c. When the coil side is at the midpoint of the N pole, in its down motion the emf induced and the current are maximum in the external circuit.

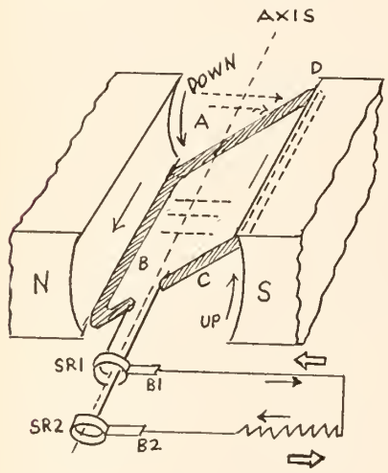

FIG. 41

As it passes from the midpoint of the N pole the number of flux lines cut by the moving coil are reduced and the voltage induced decreases with its corresponding effect upon the current in the circuit. The *SR*1 and the *B*1 contacts, however, remain as before and the direction of current flow likewise remains as before, but the voltage is decreasing. When the coil side ab is moving down the coil side cd is moving up and at a certain point the coil side ab is at the bottom of its motion and the coil side cd is at the top of its motion. In other words, the coil sides ad and what would normally be cd are perpendicular to the horizontal axis of the loop. The relative positions of the coil sides are shown in Figure 41A. Reference to the coil sides ab and cd being in the midpoint of the pole pieces N and S is shown by the dotted circles and reference to the position of the coil sides ad and bc being perpendicular to the horizontal axis shows the position of the coil sides ab and cd with respect to the pole pieces, by means of the solid circles.

At this point the voltage induced is zero with its corresponding effect upon the current through the resistance R. As the coil side cd moves to the position previously occupied by ab and the coil side ab moves to the position previously occupied by cd, the voltage induced is increasing but in such direction that the current leaves the coil at the c point, passes through SR2 into the external circuit via B2 and flows through the resistance R in the direction indicated by the double line arrow, flows through the resistance R, follows through *B*1 to *SR*1 and then enters the coil at the point b. Thus is evident a complete reversal of current and voltage.

Production of Sine Wave of Voltage

Suppose that we attempt to consider the actual relation between the magnitude or voltage induced, the relation between the coil sides and the formation of the wave form as shown in Figure 40. Picture two pole ends N and S in Figure 41 as represented in Figure 42. The two coils sides are shown as solid circles ab and cd. The black dot midway between the two coil sides is assumed to be the axis; the coil sides revolving in a counter clockwise manner. The position of the coil sides is now such that the voltage induced is zero, since they are parallel to the flux sides.

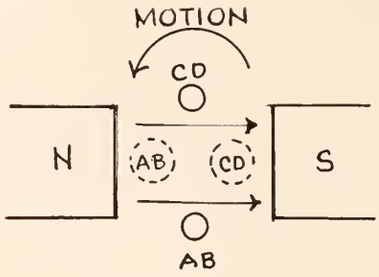

FIG. 41A

We represent this state of zero voltage by marking off a point upon the zero line. The coil when revolving described an arc of 360 degrees, that is, the sides ab and cd complete a whole revolution. During this revolution they naturally pass through arcs of varied degree, just as in Figure 41A, the side ab shown in a solid circle has moved 90 degrees from the position indicated by the dotted line circle. The same is true in the case of the side cd moving from the position indicated by the dotted lines to that indicated by the solid line. We can, therefore, mark off on the zero line adjacent, a number of divisions representative of the angular motion of one of the coil sides and follow the current flow and amplitude. Suppose that we consider the side cd and mark off each 45 degrees of motion on the part of this side. That means eight divisions of 45 degrees each. Thus, if the coil side cd moves 45 degrees to the new position e it has completed an arc of 45 degrees and we can say that the point e on the zero line represents an angular displacement of 45 degrees. Starting from the position XOX^1, starting within a certain period of time, the coil side cd has completed the angle fOX^1. The time required to complete this angle is, of course, dependent upon the speed at which the coil is revolving. Naturally, the coil side ab is moving down when the side cd is moving up, but we omit side ab in order to augment the ease of comprehension. This coil then sweeps through the angle ϕ shown in Figure 42.

Now, it is possible to continue this discussion without reference to what follows, but we believe that some of the men who have selected projection as a vocation are interested in the actual development of asine wave of voltage. With that in mind we shall spend a little time upon that subject and a bit of higher mathematics, at least a bit of trigonometry. Mind you, it is not necessary for the practical interpretation of the subject, but it facilitates understanding of certain quantities present in alternating current problems. Instead of simply quoting the values in later text, the present data when combined with what is to follow will explain the presence of the quantity.

The Radian

In the measurement of angles there are in use three units, the right angle, the degree and the radian. Our interest at the time does not lie in the right angle, hence we omit further reference. The degree is a unit for measuring angles or arcs and may be defined as the angle formed by dividing a right angle into 90 equal parts. When spoken of as related to arc it is equal to 1/360th of a circumference. In other words, a circumference is an arc of 360 degrees. Now the number of degrees in an arc is equal to the number of degrees in an angle when the vertex of the angle is at the center of the circle and the radii of the circle form the side of the angle. Thus in Figure 43, the point O is the vertex of the angle formed by the radii r and r^1 and the angle ϕ formed by the sides r and r^1 is equal to the number of the degrees in the arc included between the two sides where they junction with the circumference; in other words within the space m and n upon the circumference.

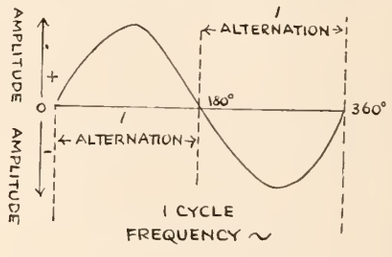

FIG. 44

The radian is the unit of circular measure of angles and is defined as angle which at the centre of a circle is measured by an arc equal in length to the radius of a circle. We know that the diameter of a circle is equal to 2r or two times the radius. We further know that the circumference of a circle is where pi is designated by the small Greek letter π. If the diameter "d" is equal to 2r or twice the radius then the circumference of a circle is equal to

$$3.1416 \times \text{diameter} = \text{pi} \times \text{diameter} \quad \ldots (31)$$

$$2\pi \times r = 6.283 \times r = 2 \text{ pi times the radius} \quad (32)$$ and there are 2π arc lengths equal to the radius in a circumference; 2π radians are measured by the circumference of a circle or 2π radians are in a complete revolution of 360 degrees and 2π

(Continued on page 48)

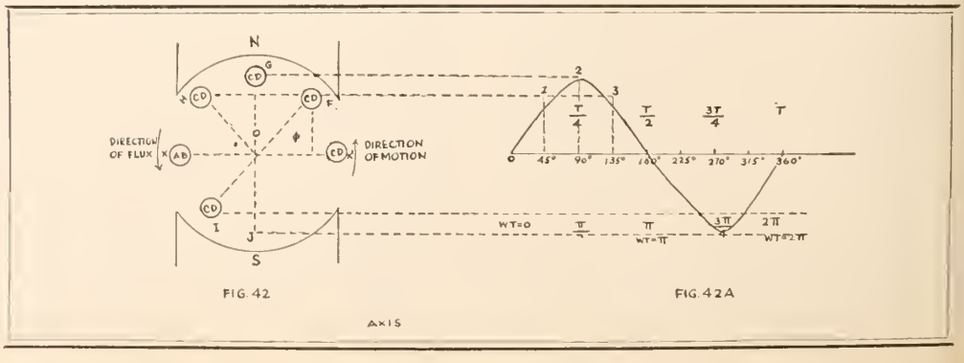

FIG. 42 FIG. 42A

Briefly Told News

Transferred to Canada

Montreal—Perry Spencer, inspector of theatres, has been transferred to Canada by Paramount-Publix for the purpose of making a tour of Famous Players Canadian Corp. theatres. For some years Spencer had been with Paramount and Warners but he is a native Canadian and served with the Canadian forces during the war. His first stop, after supervising changes at the Eastman, Rochester, was at Montreal.

Baby Coogan Debuting?

Hollywood—Robert Coogan, age three, and brother of Jackie Coogan, is the choice of Victor Schertzinger for the role of "Skippy," a talker which Schertzinger will direct, based upon the Percy Crosby cartoons. Whether or not the younger Coogan will get the part has not been decided. Jackie is at present working on his first talker, "Tom Sawyer," for Paramount.

Next Crawford Set

Hollywood—Immediately following her current starring production "The Great Day", Joan Crawford will begin work in "Dance, Fool, Dance", for M-G-M under direction of Harry Beaumont. "Dance, Fool, Dance" is another sequel to "Dancing Daughters" and "Our Modern Maidens".

Cast by RKO

Hollywood—Lita Chevret has been assigned by RKO to an important role in "The Losing Game," which Lowell Sherman is directing for RKO. Sherman also has the leading role in the picture which has Hugh Trevor, Marian Nixon and Leon Janney in supporting parts.

Iowa Managers Changed

Council Bluffs, Ia.—Robert K. Fulton, manager of the Broadway (Publix), has been replaced by Don Allen, formerly assistant manager of the Paramount, Des Moines. Fulton was sent to the theatre managers' training school.

Gets Long Beach House

Hollywood—The Strand, one of the independent houses in Long Beach has been taken over by the Lazarus-Vinnicof circuit and will be operated on a talking picture and vaudeville stage policy.

M-G-M Signs Wodehouse

Hollywood—P. G. Wodehouse, English humorist, has been signed by M-G-M on a new term contract. His handling of the dialogue in "Those Three French Girls" is responsible for the new agreement.

Pretty Bad

Hollywood—Mickey Neilan says that a certain Hollywood studio "has just made a picture that is so bad they had to film retakes to put it on the shelf."

Sad Scene at Talkie Studio

Departure of the strong, silent men
—Life

Rube Wolf to M. C.

Hollywood—Rube Wolf, well known on the Pacific coast as a master-of-ceremonies, is slated for that spot in Grauman's Chinese following the run of "Hell's Angels" according to present plans. Wolf will be featured with a special Fanchon and Marco stage show. Weekly change of stage shows is probable but not certain. Picture to follow the air special is said to be "The Big Trail" which is still in production at Fox.

South Bend Sale Slated

South Bend, Ind.—Sale of the equity of the Palace Theatre Corp. here, subject to outstanding bond issues and mortgages, is expected to be made shortly, according to attorneys for the St. Joseph Loan & Trust Co., trustee in bankruptcy. The sale, it was explained, is a formality necessary in clearing the title in preparation for the actual sale of the property, for which bids will be taken. The outstanding obligations are said to approximate $900,000.

Dies at Michigan City

South Bend, Ind.—Edward Szamecki, 36, owner of the White Eagle here for the last 20 years, died recently in Michigan City. He had been ill seven months of heart disease. The body was taken to his residence. He was born in this city and always had lived here. The widow survives, together with three children.

Berger to Direct Powell

Hollywood—William Powell's new Paramount talker, "New Morals," will be directed by Ludwig Berger, following the latter's present assignment on Maurice Chevalier's "Playboy of Paris." and the French version of the latter, "Le Petit Cafe."

Rotarians Elect Franklin

Ottawa — Joe Franklin, manager of Keith's, is now the watch dog of the Ottawa Rotary Club treasury, having been appointed chairman of the club's finance committee for the next 12 months. Franklin has been an officer of local Rotary for years.

New Educational Branch

Cleveland — Educational will erect exchange building to be located at the corner of Payne Ave. and East 23d St. When all the new exchange buildings now under construction and contracted for are completed, Fox, United Artists, Warner Brothers, Paramount, RKO, Universal, Pathe and Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer will each have its own individual structure. All are within two city blocks apart.

Fete Film Veteran

Indianapolis—Mrs. Maggie Breyer, retired screen and stage actress, was the honor guest at a reunion held in a local park recently when she observed her eighty-sixth birthday. During the heyday of the Denman Thompson stage productions, she gained fame as Matilda in "The Old Homestead." She appeared also in several of the early motion pictures. She is aunt of the wife of a candidate for criminal judge. Her son, Evon Breyer, also is an actor.

Bancroft in "Typhoon Bill"

Hollywood—"Typhoon Bill" has been selected by Paramount as the release title for George Bancroft's latest talker. Rowland V. Lee is directing and it is planned to make this picture one of the specials for the coming year. Frances Dee is playing opposite Bancroft and many of the scenes are being taken off the Mexican coast.

Meeks with Warners

Milwaukee—William T. Meeks has succeeded Walter Johnson as manager of Warner Bros.' Juneau here. Meeks formerly operated his own theatre, the Murray, a local neighborhood house, which has since been taken over by Herman Schmidt.

More Scenics from Canada

Ottawa—Canada government will release shortly a special scenic, all talker, made by Frank Badgley, director of the Canadian M. P. Bureau, in Algonquin Park and adjacent waters of the northwoods.

Sherman Doubling Up

Hollywood—Lowell Sherman's first assignment under his new RKO term contract will be "The Losing Game." He will have the featured role in this talker and will also direct.

Lyon in "Ex-Mistress"

Hollywood—Ben Lyon will play opposite Mary Nolan in "Ex-Mistress" which Warners will make from the book by the same name. Miss Nolan was borrowed from Universal for the role. Roy Del Ruth will direct.

Oh, Yeah!

Sue Carol and Carl Laemmle, Jr., were both born in Chicago—in the same section, on the same street—and in the same house!

ANTHONY ASQUITH, who should know better, has said that "Charlie Chaplin has elevated the custard pie to the rank and dignity of an aesthetic symbol." He may have elevated it to be a symbol, but not an aesthetic one. If it is a symbol at all, it is a symbol of man's habit of abandoning the help and forces by which he rose. For if I remember rightly, it is now a good many years since Charlie has thrown a custard pie or even received one thrown.

It is therefore the custard pie that has elevated Charlie Chaplin to the rank and dignity of a symbol—or even to the rank and dignity of a custard pie.

For Chaplin is the symbol today of all that was best in a now lost and almost forgotten art, the art of the silent movie, an art that had definitely taken shape as a distinct medium of expression in pantomime, an art that was coming more and more to dispense with the limitation of words in the exhibition of human emotions and reactions to reality; things that can not be adequately expressed in words.

That art has been abandoned for a series of pictures that need explanation to a race that appears to be losing the capacity to think or reason for itself, and the explanation is in words. Very bum words generally.

Chaplin has remained faithful to the pantomimic art and will continue to produce it.—Butterfield in Vancouver Province.

* * *

"Ingagi," the weird film concoction recently exposed as being largely a fake, doubtless will suffer some what as a result of the exposure at the box offices of the theatres where it will be shown despite the organized producers' ban, but even so its makers will have realized tremendous profit.—Baltimore Sun.

* * *

No Ideas in Hollywood?

Mr. Louis Bromfield, the author who has been contracted to write a story for Ronald Colman, says it is just no use. He can't write pieces in Hollywood. In search of a nice dull, quiet place he is headed for Paris. Kinda tough on our summer tourists who are going there for a gay time.

No one can really write in Hollywood. They can "adapt" better there than anywhere else. But they are too far from realities to write of life.

In Hollywood all life is camouflaged. It is a world of imitations; imitation battles, imitation landscapes, imitation complexions, imitation marriages.

The fact that the eager producers are paying all Mr. Bromfield's expenses to Paris in the hope that he may collide with an idea indicates the desperate shortage of screen stories.—Los Angeles Times.

* * *

The census officials were the only ones who knew that the small towns of the country were disappearing. The rest of us had been reading their chamber of commerce literature.—The Thomas E. Pickerill Service.

* * *

It is to be assumed that only the best of the Soviet pictures are exported abroad. But whatever those kept for home consumption may be, no country has yet equalled the Soviet record on the picture screens of America as set during the past season in that extraordinary series of pictures: "Arsenal," "New Babylon," "A Fragment of an Empire," "China Express," "Old and New," and "Turksib," to which now we have to add "Cain and Artem". Without claiming for all of them the exalted name of masterpiece, it must be admitted that their general level of excellence is something altogether unprecedented in the history of the cinema. Whether one approves or not the main line of development in the Soviet cinema, Moscow's leadership today is indisputable, as it is certainly highly welcome.—The Nation.

Fo' de Land's Sake

Out Hollywood way they're still telling the yarn about Stepin Fetchit, the colored lad who scored in "Hearts of Dixie," and then contracted a severe case of lofty chapeaux. It happened between scenes.

'Stepin," observed a white actor, "you're getting stout."

The comedian nodded.

"Ah knows dat," he responded, "an ah doan't knows whut to do about it."

"Well," said the actor helpfully, "why don't you go on that 18-day diet?"

The colored man shook his head scornfully—

"Whut should ah do dat for?" he returned. "Ain't nuthin' on dere dat I like!"

THERE are plenty of things wrong with the movies. Most certainly they have not been "cleaned up" as Will Hays held out hopes that they would be. Yet Mr. Hays and the movies themselves have not been entirely to blame for that. Lack of support for better movies and big box-office returns for the daring, jazzy type have been a factor. But censorship is not the answer—it never is the answer. And when it gives every promise of being a censorship of opinions, of the ideas that are to be allowed to enter people's minds, it becomes a downright menace.—Milwaukee Journal.

* * *

An essayist declares that there is no bigger nuisance than the man who arrives late at a theatre. Managers maintain, however, that he is infinitely preferable to the man who stays away altogether.—The Humorist, London.

* * *

The damage suit brought by the widow of H. C. Witwer against Harold Lloyd, asserting "The Freshman" was stolen from a Witwer story, is a tough problem for the courts.

There are more possibilities of terrible injustice—on both sides—in plagiarism suits than any other suits at law. It is absolutely impossible to follow the life story of an idea. Generally speaking, all ideas are borrowed. All murder mystery stories are built upon the models of Edgar Allan Poe's "Gold Bug" and "The Murders in the Rue Morgue." There never was but one western story. Told endlessly. —Los Angeles Times.

* * *

Fountain Inn will have a new talkie next week. In the old days of "silent drama," the smaller picture houses bought punk pictures made to fit their purses; but the talkie hasn't yet begun to produce cheap stuff for the sticks, and the little fellow offers as much as the big one if he has the right sound equipment.—Fountain Inn (S. C.) Gazette.

THERE is no doubt that when Latin-American protests become sufficiently numerous the box-office instinct at Hollywood will respond. The traditional "greaser" villain and his female counterpart will follow into limbo the Irish, Jewish and German comic characters whom the universality of the movie has doomed.

To the credit of the theatre screen should be remembered this contribution to human brotherhood. Creating for an audience of countless millions may not be conducive to high art, but it enforces respect for racial and national feelings, even if the motive be materialistic. The esthete may deplore the movie's world of sugar and sentiment, but for the promotion of peace among the nations it may be desirable that there shall be no wicked or absurdly comic human beings anywhere. All the world's male population is handsome and valiant, and all the women are beautiful and pure.—N. Y. Times.

* * *

Television as the screen's next venture, studio wise ones say knowingly, is just around the corner—but which corner few presume to say.—Baltimore Sun.

* * *

There come regularly to the editorial offices of this newspaper and to those of many other publications, daily and weekly contributions marked in huge letters, "NEWS." Do not confuse the subject of this discussion with the regular contributions of the legitimate studio publicists and the few reputable free-lance press agents.

For these inane, badly written, stupidly phrased and ignorantly punctuated screeds bear no mark of the newspaper experience that won most of the reputable publicists their positions. They are the product of half-per cent chiselers, apple-saucing moochers, who snatch coffee and cake money from unwise professionals in exchange for their dubious "services."

Most of these petit larceny pin-money grabbers are scarcely able to operate the one tool of the writing craft, a typewriter. Yet by dint of sheer crust and the gullibility of many professionals, they manage to hang along the fringe of the industry, milking one or another artist of sometimes small change, and occasionally finding the chance for a bigger touch.

They are heartily disliked, both as to character and activity, by the reputable studio publicists and free-lancers. And they bring their clients little benefit in exchange for their hire.

Newspaper editors and dramatic critics should scan their droolings carefully. Artists should consider well before promising to pay fees, even on a chicken-feed basis, to the chiselers. And the reputable press representatives in Hollywood should forget some of their petty differences and personal grievances and get together to wipe out a species of cheap racketeering that is a blight on their profession. —Inside Facts, Los Angeles.

* * *

Will Hays is still insisting that movies will be the only textbooks of the future.

That won't be so bad, but it would be tough if they became the only entertainment.—N. Y. American.

that — Quips Lifted and Sifted

"I GOT in the movies on a fluke and it's a fluke that I'm a star. If this racket should end tomorrow the movies wouldn't owe me a thing. I'm satisfied."

"Listen, get a load of this. Here I am a star, with my first starring picture on Broadway, and I'm broke. Yeh, I mean it. I haven't got a nickel. So what do I do? The other day I went over to the studio and asked for $1,000. 'I'm broke,' I said to them. 'You're kidding,' said they. 'No, I mean it.' 'Gwan, you only want to throw away a thousand bucks on something,' they said. 'Listen,' I said, 'here I am, a star, and I haven't even got carfare to get over to the studio in the morning. And I go to pay my hotel bill. If you want to shoot the picture over at the hotel it's jake with me.' So I got the money."—Jack Oakie in N. Y. Telegram.

* * *

It is horrible to think of the British Empire receiving its education from the place called Hollywood.—Sir James Parr, High Commissioner for New Zealand.—Life.

* * *

Bill Haines and Polly Moran are honestly embarrassed that their joke has been taken seriously by the public. It began at a time when a new engagement almost every day was announced in Hollywood. Everyone was discussing the latest on the set one day when Bill said, "Come on, Polly, let's you and me become engaged and cut in on some of this free publicity!" No one loves a joke better than Polly, so they both acted up for the amusement of their friends. Then it got into the papers, and now, because the "engagement" has gone on for so long they are both getting letters from their fans asking in all seriousness, apparently, when they are going to get spliced.

Both Bill and Polly would like everyone to understand that it was all a joke and that they haven't and never have had the slightest intention of getting married.—Screenland.

* * *

BULL-ETIN

(Interview)

"The theatre is the great mother of all arts, the breeding ground of music, literature, painting and the dance."—George Fawcett, actor.—Cook in N. Y. American.

* * *

Clara Bow's latest movie is called "True to the Navy." I read all the advertisements and all the newspaper notices and gathered that Miss Bow is cast as a waitress in love with a gob; that she ends up by being true to the boy; and that she now sings as well as talks. Miss Bow is rapidly adding to her accomplishments, and I have no doubt but that in time she will be able to ride a bicycle without using the handlebars, juggle three oranges at once and hang by her toes from the parallel bars. However, she'll have to be more than versatile to be anything but obnoxious to me, and while "True to the Navy" may be a masterpiece, you'll have to find out for yourselves.—Judge.

* * *

A motion picture editor reports that there was the usual crowd of admirers choking the pavements in front of a theatre in Hollywood—watching two popular screen stars waiting for their cars.

"It's a shame," mumbled an old fogy in the crowd, "the way people stand around and stare at those acresses. It sure is a pity."

"Save your pity," interrupted a Has-Been. "They'll need it more when there ISN'T a crowd to stare."—Winchell in N. Y. Mirror.

An Old Trouper

Hollywood—This is the only spot in the wide world where animals are made to behave exactly as they should. Take the case of the monkey who interrupts a love scene between Betty Compson and "Archibald" in "Inside the Lines."

"Archie" is making a romantic speech that would do justice to Romeo's old line, and, naturally, is quite annoyed at the monkey's intrusion. Turning his head slowly, he asks in a gruffled voice: "I say, won't you run along, young fellow!" And the obliging monkey does just that.

IT is sometimes a difficult thing to change your opinion of a motion picture actor because of one performance, but we are inclined to do it in this case. Buddy Rogers, in our opinion, was one of the screen's most consistently annoying stars until "Safety in Numbers" appeared. This, as we have remarked before in this column, was due in a great measure to the sappy, unbelievable things he was made to do and say in order to live up to the awful pet name bestowed on him by some well-meaning press agent—"America's Boy Friend." As a matter of fact, Buddy is a darned nice boy with a natural diffidence that is a contradiction of the parts he has been made to portray.—Life.

* * *

Although Irving Berlin has received practically all of the credit so far for writing "Reaching for the Moon," the real man behind the pen is William Anthony McGuire.—N. Y. News.

* * *

Representatives of all groups of theatregoers have seen in the talkies a source of fresh stimulus for the stage. Those who have sighed over the decline of the drama prophesied that the addition of dialogue to the movies would make the vast movie audience clamor for real actors on a three-dimensional stage. Regular patrons of the silent film went over in a body to the talkies when they were a novelty, and the majority now demand vocal shadows. Every city in the land either has or is soon to have its talking pictures. Yet it is curious that predictions of renewed interest in flesh-and-blood entertainers have become realized so quickly, and in a way which apparently no one foresaw. —N. Y. Times.

* * *

John Gilbert wanted very much to play the title role in "Billy, The Kid," but for some reason or other the studio saw fit to give the part to Johnny Mack Brown.

No longer are the studios under the sway of the star reign. With the advent of the talkies, stars, no matter how starry, are just actors to their home teams.—Motion Picture Classic.

TITLE CHANGING is one of the most foolish of all film practices!

Ladies and gentlemen of the critical pen are showing—and rightly, I think—increasing dissatisfaction with two favorite Hollywood indoor pastimes: one, the changing of titles of Broadway successes and "best sellers" when brought to the screen; the other, the tampering with the story structures of well known novels and plays.

The demands of the box office are presumed to justify both. * * *

Title changing, it seems to me, is a foolish practice, whether it is employed by a Hollywood picture maker or a book publisher. * * * Particularly so where the play or story is well known.

Hollywood's mania for sex appeal titles might be cause for laughter were it not for the fact that it reflects directly upon American civilization. The world and its people, depending upon Hollywood for its entertainment and interpreting American life, manners, and morals through that entertainment, may be pardoned for drawing the conclusion that we are victims of a sex complex, as dangerous as Kultur in its heyday.

The Hon. Will Hays, with the earnestness of a Crusader of old, declares that the cinema must be clean and stay clean, and to establish his good faith, directs that certain plays and books, when brought to the screen, shall be altered in plot, in characters and in title. * * *

More than a casual study of press sheets convince me that the advertising departments of the producing companies may be indicted for the title changing evil. Certainly, "The Bride of the Regiment" permitted more torrid copy than "Lady in Ermine." And the boys in First National's department were quick to take advantage of the fact, witness those classic phrases, "Sweetheart to a thousand warriors. Soul-mate to but one. Teasing, tempting, tricking a whole army. Disgracing the proud name of centuries for one fervid moment with her condemned husband."

That this was applesauce you know if you saw the picture. * * *

To be sure, the advertising boys do not always require the stimulus of a new sex appeal tile to do their stuff. There was, for instance, Clara Bow's "True to the Navy." The Paramount copy writers tore loose to coin "She loved her sailor sweetheart and was true to all his friends," "See and hear the new Bow lines," "Hot hair Clara, the answer to the Navy's prayer."

All of which is made doubly interesting by reason of the Hays canons, and the industry's solemn assurance that even ivory soap's purity is dwarfed by that of Hollywood. Just how sincere some of the producers are in their protestations you may determine by glancing over the elaborate seasonal announcement inserts appearing in the trade papers. It is enlightening—oh, very!—to thumb over the illustrations. * * *

Only M-G-M alone seems wholly to have resisted the temptation to give the inserts a De Maupassant complexion. Fox is at the opposite extreme.—Bahn, Syracuse Herald.

* * *

Bert Wheeler, RKO comedian, passed by a paving crew at work on La Brea Ave., near the Chaplin studio.

"Well, well," he said. "Just the hardening of another Hollywood artery. —Los Angeles Herald.

* * *

Because it believes, apparently, that the public doesn't like to chew too heartily on movie fare, the cinema for many years past has dished out soft, easily swallowed matter of more but usually less consequence. That is one reason why "All Quiet on the Western Front" was such a vigorous punch between the eyes. It set out with no childish notion to thrill; it shocked. That is exactly what the film should have done. It was meant to and did.—Milwaukee Journal.

THE Projectionists' Round Table
By John F. Rider

(Continued from page 44)

radians are equal to 360 degrees. Such being the case

π radians = 180 degrees .....(33)

and

1 radian = 180 degrees/π .....(34)
= 180 degrees/3.1416
= 57.26 degrees.

Referring once more to Figure 42, the loop moves through the angle ϕ at the point O with a certain angular velocity, usually designated as ω, the small Greek letter Omega. Now, this angle ω, is measured in radians swept through in one second, the period of time, one second being standard in electrical circuit calculations. Thus, we introduce the time element, t. Then the magnitude of the angle ϕ swept through in the time t, will be $t \times \omega$. From this where

$\phi = \omega t$. .....(35)

ϕ = radians

We made the statement that there are 2π radians in one revolution, and the time of one revolution, the periodic time T in terms of angular velocity would be

$$T = \frac{2\pi}{\omega} = \frac{6.283}{\omega} \quad \text{.....(36)}$$

where T = seconds

Now the coil revolves at a certain speed, or completes a number of revolutions in one second and the frequency f, or the number of revolutions per second is therefore equal to one second divided by the time required to complete one revolution or

$$f = \frac{1}{T} \quad \text{.....(37)}$$

where f is the number of revolutions per second.

Suppose that the periodic time T of one revolution is 1/60th of a second, then

$$f = \frac{1}{1/60}$$

f = 60 revolutions per second.

The frequency is referred to as a number of cycles per second. A complete revolution is a complete cycle and if we have 60 revolutions per second, the loop completes 60 cycles per second and the frequency of revolution of that loop is 60 cycles. Further reference to cycles will follow in connection with another subject. However, at this time we wish to add that if the speed of revolution is increased so that 120 complete revolutions are completed in one second, the frequency is said to be 120 cycles. The "per second" term is understood when the term "cycles" is used.

If we now substitute into equation 37 the value of T as shown in equation 36, the frequency f becomes

$$f = \frac{\omega}{2\pi} \quad \text{.....(38)}$$

and the angular velocity

$\omega = 2\pi f$ .....(39)

This quantity 2 pi times f appears in many equations associate with A.C. circuits and time will be well spent if the reader will make an effort to understand its derivation.

According to the above we can divide the reference line in Figure 42A into degrees and radians and time representing the motion of the loop during the time that its cycle is completed. Referring to the T designation, the coil sweeps through 90 degrees in one quarter of the time required for a complete revolution or $T/4$. The coil sweeps through 180 degrees in one half the periodic time of a single cycle or $T/2$. The coil sweeps through 270 degrees in three quarters of the periodic time of one cycle or $3T/4$ and 360 degrees is completed in the periodic time of one cycle. In turn 90 degrees is equal to pi/2, 180 degrees is equal to pi, 270 degrees is equal to 3pi/4 and 360 degrees is equal to 2pi radians.

Now the loop shown in Figure 42 sweeps through the angle ϕ or eOX^1 and the instantaneous value of voltage developed in the loop is equal to which means that the instantaneous value of voltage generater when loop cd is at the point f, is directly proportional to the sine of the angle it is making with the initial position at that instant. We have taken the liberty to omit certain computations but by previously quoted laws we know that the maximum voltage would be secured when coils side cd reaches position g. Hence at the point f, in the circle described by cd as it completes a revolution, the voltage bears a definite relation to the maximum. Referring again to the point f, a vertical projection from the point f, the position of cd when it completes its arc of 45 degrees shows the relation between maximum voltage and the sine of the angle completed or the relation between the instantaneous value of voltage and the maximum voltage. If we project the point f out upon the reference line for an arc of 45 degrees we have the point 1 in Figure 42A. When the coil side cd moves to point g the vertical projection is equal to the radius r since the angle is 90 degrees and the sine of 90 degrees is 1.

$$e = Em \sin \phi$$

If we continue to project the perpendiculars to the various angles for various positions of the coil side cd, we complete one half of a cycle by the time we reach the point X or the coils side has traveled an arc of 180 degrees as shown. However, as the coil side moves past point g, it cuts fewer flux lines and the induced voltage decreases, in the proportion that it increased and while the direction of current flow remains the same as is shown in Figure 42A, the amplitude decreases. When cd is at point X the voltage is zero. As it moves to point i, the coils sides have changed positions with respect to their original positions at the poles and the current through the side cd is now in the opposite direction as shown.

The variation in the instantaneous values is sinusoidal and the wave is known as a sine wave.

Suppose that Em the maximum voltage at the time cd is at point g is 100 volts, then the voltage at f, when cd has passed through an arc of 45 degrees is

$$e = 100 \times \sin 45°$$

and since

$\sin 45° = .707$
$e = 100 \times .707$
$= 70.7$ volts

(The relation between angles and their sides in table form is given in any standard text book on mathematics.)

Let us now consider the sine wave shown in Figure 44. If the reader so desires he can forget the actual calculation contained in the preceding paragraphs and simply remember the statement relative to the generation of a sine wave by a coil of wire revolving in a constant rate in a magnetic field of uniform intensity. He should also remember the reason for the use of the term sine wave and the condition under which it may be used: namely, when the values of instantaneous voltage vary as the sine of the angle, a single turn loop revolving; at constant velocity, is making with the initial position at that instant.

If we study a complete cycle of voltage or current as illustrated in Figure 44, we note first, that it consists of two alternations of 180 degrees each. An alternation is therefore one half of a cycle, and if the cycle bears a definite relation to time, such as 1/60th of a second or 1/120th of a second, the periodicity of an alternation will be one half of the periodicity of a cycle. Thus for a 60 cycle frequency, the periodicity of an alternation is 1/120th of a second and for a 120 cycle wave, the periodicity of an alternation is 1/240th of a second. This applies equally to voltage and current. Reference to 60 cycle voltage means a frequency of 60 cycles per second. Reference to 60 cycle current means the same.

The illustration shown is known as the wave form of voltage or current depending upon whether voltage or current is being discussed. The height of the wave represents the amplitude and this term is applicable to voltage or current. The point of greatest amplitude indicates maximum or peak voltage or the maximum or peak current. If the amplitude is designated in numerical values of voltage or current, the maximum or peak values would bear numerical designations specifying quantity. When quoting frequency it is customary to use the symbol, a wavy line similar to a cycle as shown in Figure 44.

Detroit Theatre Promoter Gets 1 to 7 Year Term

Anderson, Ind.—Harry Goldberg, 26, charged with complicity in a plot to mulct Harry Muller, local showman, of $25,000, was given an indeterminate sentence of from one to seven years upon pleading guilty. He was arrested as a fugitive from justice at Beaumont, Tex., because he failed to appear for trial here. Bail was forfeited.

Bombers' Appeal Denied

Michigan City, Ind.—Harry L. Ames and Marwood Williams, who are serving one to three year sentences in the Indiana state prison for participating in the bombing of the State at Hammond, Ind., two years ago, have been denied their freedom. Judge Harry L. Crumpacker in Superior Court at Laporte, Ind., decided against habeas corpus proceedings filed on the basis that the Indiana indeterminate sentence law had been held illegal and void.

2 British Roadshows

Montreal—Two British film productions are to be presented in Canada as roadshows starting August 16 with two performances daily and seats reserved. One is "Atlantic," released in the Dominion by Regal Films, Ltd., which has been booked by His Majesty's here, former legitimate house, following five weeks of "All Quiet on the Western Front." "Splinters," a British war picture made in England by Paramount, also follows the Universal film at the Royal Alexandria, Toronto, for an indefinite run.

Buy 3rd London Ont., House

London, Ont.—Purchase of the Palace, 875 seats, as its third house here, has been completed by Famous Players Canadian. Sam Marks has been manager of the Palace which was owned by the Independent Amusement Co., Toronto. R. S. Roddick, who manages the Capitol here, is to have charge of the Palace. Famous Sept. 1 will reopen the Grand here .

Remodeling at Nebraska City

Nebraska City, Neb.—The old Overland here will be entirely remodeled at a cost of $50,000 by the Booth Brothers Amusement Co., operators. Western Electric equipment will be installed.

Building at Victoria, Tex.

Victoria, Tex.—Frels Theatres, Inc., have let a contract for a new house in the business section here. Construction work will start in a few weeks.

Opinions On Pictures

Moby Dick

(Warners—All Talker)

Stirring

(Reviewed by Bill Crouch)

BARRYMORE again rides the waves in search of Moby Dick. This time the hardy seaman brings his former silent picture success, "The Sea Beast," to the screen in audible form and with good results. Barrymore as the adventurous Ahab is more dynamic than before, due to the use of his voice, and gives a striking portrayal of the apparently half-crazed whaler.

With the Barrymore name and being a remake of a popular silent film, this one should do plenty of business at the box-office. Will hold up under heavy exploitation.

Plenty of action make this talker appealing. Not just a talking picture, but an action picture which should draw. Barrymore is at home in the role of the roving whaler and carries a heavy part with much success. The two encounters with "Moby Dick," the killer whale, are intensely dramatic and crammed with action. As one member of the audience remarked, "They've got a better whale this time."

Barrymore is the sailor who has a sweetheart in every port and when the whaling vessel puts in at the home port he is greeted by many admiring women, among whom is Joan Bennett, a new arrival in the village, who has never met Barrymore. Lloyd Hughes, Barrymore's brother, is much in love with Miss Bennett. He is the puritanical type and much unlike the adventurous John. When John meets the girl she falls in love with him and he with her. They see each other often and just before the boat starts on another voyage John decides that the girl loves Hughes and bids her goodbye. She rushes to the boat after telling Hughes she is in love with John and just as the ship is ready to sail she tells Barrymore that she loves him and will wait for his return in three years.

On this voyage the first encounter with "Moby Dick" is made. In the fracas Barrymore's leg is bitten by the killer and amputation with a hot iron is necessary. The scenes of this emergency operation are graphically portrayed and will perhaps meet with much shuddering upon the part of the women. The scene, however, is extremely well acted. Upon returning home, Barrymore refuses to leave the ship as he is afraid of what Joan will think. She goes aboard the vessel after all have left and finds him there—a cripple. The shock of the accident causes Joan to run away and Barrymore, thinking she has deserted him, goes on a bender.

Hughes goes to tell Barrymore, for Joan, that she still loves him and wants to see him, but Hughes twists the story and says Joan is going to marry him. Barrymore buys a ship in which to hunt the killer whale, and avenge his loss. Coming into the home port for supplies, the crew deserts and Barrymore is forced to shanghai a crew from the brothels and saloons. On account of being crippled, he remains away from the crew and has the mate run the ship. In a terrific storm he takes the helm and when the crew decides to mutiny he halts them by a daring display of bravery. It is then that he finds his brother is one of the shanghaied crew and in a rough and tumble fight between them, Hughes falls and is killed. Following the storm the killer whale is sighted and Barrymore, seething with revenge, goes after it. The whale, harpooned, drags Barrymore from the boat and he manages to get on the mammal's back and kill it. This victory won, Barrymore returns home and finds Miss Bennett waiting for him.

The story is capably told and Director Lloyd Bacon has given special attention to its motivation, keeping it at a fast tempo at all times and giving special emphasis to the action shots, which are most thrilling. The killing of the whale forms a terrific climax and, though very bloody, is most realistic.

Barrymore is outstanding in the role of Ahab. Miss Bennett gives a pleasing portrayal as his sweetheart. Lloyd Hughes as the weakling brother is convincing, while May Boley and Walter Long are also well cast.

Musical shorts and laugh comedies will go well.

Produced and distributed by Warners. Directed by Lloyd Bacon. From the novel by Herman Melville. Screen adaptation by J. Grubb Alexander. Cameraman, Robert Kurrle. Running time, 76 minutes. Release date, Sept. 20. Length, approximately 7,220 ft.

THE CAST

Ahab	John Barrymore
Faith	Joan Bennett
Derek	Lloyd Hughes
"Whale Oil" Rosie	May Boley
Stubbs	Walter Long
Starbuck	Tom O'Brien
Elijah	Nigel De Brulier
Blacksmith	William Walling
Old Maid	Virginia Sale
Queequeg	Nobel Johnson

In the Good Old Days

Seldom do the screens of the country reflect the image of a comedy artist as spontaneous as that old pantomime artist of the earlier days, Charles Chaplin, who provoked more hilarity over a longer period probably than any other celluloid comic in the history of the business. Even at this late date, Chaplin's stuff of ten and fifteen years ago finds a spot on the double feature bill of scores of theatres. His "Shoulder Arms," "Easy Street,' "The Kid," "Dog's Life," "Pay Day" and others can be seen almost any day sandwiched in between Westerns and newsreels on the program of daily-change neighborhood houses. And they usually click.

Now Charlie's "Carmen" makes its reappearance in a new form after nearly 15 years. This reissue was caught in a New York neighborhood house where the audience howled with delight. And this despite the absence of dialogue.

The "new" reissue has been brushed up in nifty manner, synchronized with peppy jazz music, and released with a new print and new titles inserted. The latter, incidentally, gives the reissue a brand new twist, constantly kiddink the comedy.

A treat for neighborhood audiences.

CUNNINGHAM

Anybody's Woman

(Paramount—All Talker)

Worthwhile

(Reviewed by Bill Crouch)

BASED upon a story by Gouverneur Morris, this talker has much to commend it. The acting, directing and story treatment have been placed in capable hands and, as a result, one finds a picture that portrays a rather difficult subject in a sensible manner.

Ruth Chatterton and Clive Brook share the acting honors and team well together. The direction by Dorothy Arzner gives the piece a lightness that is of great help in the telling of the story. It is this clever direction that gives the characters a sympahetic appeal.

The story opens with Brook in the throes of a prolonged bender. His wife has just obtained a divorce and he is drowning his misery in the flowing bowl. A pick-up acquaintance, Tom Patricola, has brought Brook to his room in a hotel following a night at a speakeasy. Across the court the men notice Miss Chatterton and Cecil Cunningham, two women of the world, who are discussing their experiences. Brook has them invited over and after more liquor the party breaks up with Chatterton marrying Brook.

The next day Brook sobers up and finds that he, a rich and respectable lawyer is married to a common woman. Despite the publicity he sticks by her and Chatterton, having a chance to make good, does her best. However, when Brook invites a few friends to a party Chatterton is compelled by some of Brook's "friends" to drink too much and gives way to denunciation of them. She then gives Brook a divorce and plans to marry Paul Lukas, who, while very rich, is not one of the social elite. She is all ready to go through with the ceremony when Brook finds her and reveals he loves her. They are united and clinch for the fadeout.

Juliette Compton as the first wife, plays a small role well. Lukas, who played a heavy, did so well. As is not ordinarily the case, Lukas was upright in all his endeavors to win the hand of Chatterton, an unusual touch. Scenes where the servants quit, as they do not want to work for a woman of Chatterton's reputation, and the drunk scenes by both Brook and Chatterton are very well played. The camera work is above average and most effective. More comedy would help out in some spots as many of the scenes are pretty heavy.

This one is sure to go well in class houses and will stand up in the week runs and split-week houses. Not so good for kid trade, but will appeal to the adults and especially women.

Musical shorts and cartoons will go well here.

Produced and distributed by Paramount-Publix. Directed by Dorothy Arzner. From the story by Gouverneur Morris. Screen play by Zoe Akin. Photographed by Charles Lang. Running time 80 minutes. Length, 7,243 ft. Release date, Aug. 30. Film editor, J. Loring.

THE CAST

Pansy Gray	Ruth Chatterton
Neil Dunlap	Clive Brook
Gustave Saxon	Paul Lucas
Grant Crosby	Huntley Gordon
Katherine Malcom	Virginia Hammond
Eddie Calcio	Tom Patricola
Ellen	Juliette Compton
Dot	Cecil Cunningham
Walter Harvey	Charles Gerrard
Mr. Tanner	Harvey Clark
Butler	Sidney Bracey

Love in the Rough

(M-G-M—All Talker)

Flops

Reviewed by Don Ashbaugh

MOVE in a new chair, front, center, in the star row for Robert Montgomery. And then, if you can, forget the picture was made. Montgomery does his best to pull the undecided vehicle over the hill, but he has only J. C. Nugent to help him.

The picture evidently started out to be a musical comedy built around golf. Benny Rubin fills up much of the early part of the film with antiquated gags, many of which dated back to the beginning of vaudeville. Dorothy Jordan plays the girl without any particular brilliance. She was probably brought to Hollywood to do musical comedy leads during the heydey of film-musicals. Her song numbers and dancing slowed up the action in this golf farce. Miss Jordan, as a matter of fact, fails utterly to impress. Her dancing is only ordinary, her singing voice is not pleasing, and she is only sufficiently attractive as an object of romantic interest for the hero.

The story opens in a department store where Montgomery is the shipping clerk and Rubin his assistant. After what seems an age of vase breaking, both are fired—until the boss finds out that Montgomery is the municipal golf champion. He takes both the champion and Rubin back and presents them with a two weeks' sojourn at his exclusive country club, hoping in this way to improve his own game.

The picture here goes off into another Benny

Opinions on Pictures

Rubin tangent. After this detour there is a song and dance interlude, in which all the girls and boys join on the club patio. Miss Jordan gives a typical revue number and there is an old fashioned farce scene in which Montgomery stands in his window sans trousers.

The heroine is the daughter of a millionaire and, of course, it is rumored about that Montgomery is the president of a shipping company. The pair elope and then Montgomery decides to reveal all. The next day he is to play the club champion in the finals of the annual tournament.

Things go badly until the irate father-in-law finds his son-in-law is a golf champion. He rushes forth to cheer the boy to victory and there is a "touch-down in the last moment of play"—only in this case it is the sinking of a stymied putt.

The production is decidedly spotty and lacks smoothness of continuity. Cutting will improve it. Montgomery's growing popularity, and golf as the theme may put it across as fair program material. There is one good song, "Go Home and Tell Your Mother."

Those who see it will be disappointed that M-G-M wasted such an excellent young craftsman as Montgomery in such an ordinary picture.

Will require strong dramatic shorts, cartoons and scenics to balance.

From the play "Spring Fever," by Vincent Lawrence. Adaptation by Sarah Y. Mason. Dialogue by Joe Farnham and Robert E. Hopkins. Edited by Basil Wrangell. Photographed by Henry Sharp. Directed by Charles F. Reisner. Length, 7875 feet. Running time, 85 minutes. Release date, Sept. 6.

THE CAST

Kelly ..... Robert Montgomery
Marilyn ..... Dorothy Jordan
Benny ..... Benny Rubin
Waters ..... J. C. Nugent
Virgie ..... Dorothy McNulty
Tewksbury ..... Tyrell Davis
Gardener ..... Harry Burns
Johnson ..... Allan Lane
Martha ..... Catherine Moylan
Williams ..... Edwards Davis
Proprietor ..... Rosco Ates
Brown ..... Clarence H. Wilson

Ladies Must Play

(Columbia—Talker)

Deserves a Play

(Reviewed by J. P. Cunningham)

TO Director Raymond Cannon go words of commendation for successfully moulding a mighty feeble story into a nice light comedy, well suited to the summer tastes of daily change houses. Cannon accomplished this feat—and it is nothing short of a feat when you consider how easy it would have been to mess up things—by sensible, light-hearted treatment. Not for one moment are you expected to take it seriously. Tell 'em that "it's all in fun" and they will have a keener appreciation for the comedy situations which are depended upon for entertainment qualities.

We believe that some one pulled a boner in giving a heavy plug to the "sophisticated society" angle in display paper and posters. While it is true that the action is centered in and about Newport circles, there is very little to be branded "sophisticated," chiefly because of the kidding tone predominating. It is advisable, therefore, to avoid this mistake in your billing.

In the first two to two-and-a-half reels, action is quite slow, but from that point on travels at a fairly rapid gait. Recording, tography and outdoor settings are all splendid.

The cast is good, to a man, with top honors about evenly divided between Dorothy Sebastian and Neil Hamilton, ably supported by Natalie Moorhead, John Holland, Harry Stubbs, Shirley Palmer and Pauline Neff.

Hamilton, a successful broker, loses everything in the market, and makes a deal with Dorothy, his pretty steno, to act as love broker in the latter's mad dash to capture a guy "up in the money." This brings the pair to Hamilton's ritzy circle at Newport, where Neil's friends go for Dot in a big way. In the meantime, of course, a little romance business develops between the "partners" which clinches their future just as Dorothy is about to be carried away by a big gun man who hunts elephants in Africa, or thereabouts.

Book a dramatic playlet and a snappy cartoon with this.

Produced by Harry Cohn. Distributed by Columbia Pictures. Directed by Raymond Cannon. Photography by Joseph Walker. Author, Paul Fox. Dialogue by Jo Swerling. Dialogue director, Lucile Gleason. Film editor, Gene Milford. Length 5,978 ft. Running time, 65 minutes. Release date August 1.

THE CAST

Norma ..... Dorothy Sebastian
Anthony Gregg ..... Neil Hamilton
Connie ..... Natalie Moorhead
Geoffrey ..... John Holland
Stormfield Button ..... Harry Stubbs
Marie ..... Shirley Palmer
Mrs. Wheeler ..... Pauline Neff

One Embarrassing Night

(M-G-M—All Talker)

Clever Farce

(Reviewed by Charles F. Hynes)

IT is so seldom that we get a good British picture that one like this is a real pleasure. It is light farce, but done very cleverly, both as to lines and to acting. While it undoubtedly will have difficulty in getting over in the degree that it deserves, due to a lack of selling angles, it is a good picture nevertheless, which will please because of its laughs and clever handling. The acting, too, is first rate and the subtleties amusing. Few farces produced in this country have topped it. It didn't get a regular Broadway showing, but that's no detraction, as the picture is much better than some of the so-called farces that have garnered a week's run.

This was produced under the title of "Rookery Nook," but for asserted box-office reasons this has been changed. The title is not so forte and gives no hint as to the pleasing qualities of the picture. At Loew's 175th St., a matinee audience applauded it.

The story is that of a young Englishman taking a rest cure, with his nosey sister-in-law horning in on the affair. His cousin comes along to keep him company and the first night he finds a young and beautiful girl, clad in pajamas, esconced in the household. A cruel stepfather had turned her out and the young man hasn't the heart to refuse her refuge. And plenty of complications follow.

The cast is uniformly good with Ralph Lynn and Tom Walls walking away with the honors. Walls also directed and did a good job of it. None of the players are familiar to American patrons.

Musical shorts with this.

Produced by British and Dominion Films. Distributed by M-G-M. From the play, "Rookery Nook," by Ben Travers. Directed by Tom Walls. Dialogue by Ben Travers. Edited by P. MacLean Rogers. Footage, 7,000 feet. Release date, Aug. 1, 1930. Running time, 65 minutes.

THE CAST

Gerald Popkiss ..... Ralph Lynn
Clive Popkiss ..... Tom Walls
Rhoda Marley ..... Winifred Shotter
Mrs. Leverett ..... Mary Brough
Harold Twine ..... Robertson Hare
Mrs. Twine ..... Ethel Coleridge
Mr. Putz ..... Griffith Humphreys
Poppy Dickey ..... Doreen Bendix
Clara Popkiss ..... Margot Grahame

In the Stable, Dick?

Hollywood—Richard Barthelmess was recently asked by a fan-paper scribbler what he admired most in the opposite sex. Pipe Dick's reply:

"I always look first at a woman's feet, ankles and hands. In a woman, the face is the least important feature of all.

"I admire the woman who is at home not only in the parlor, but in the stable as well.

"The siren who is always a siren is no siren at all.

"Money certainly helps men where women are concerned.

"Women who can wear clothes should have them.

"Women do not want the cave-man type. Women want romance in the lover.

"I do not believe, really, that men idealize women any longer.

"Companionship is more important to a man than physical attraction. The latter is cheap, the former rare.

"Home is more important to a man than to a woman.

"Men are happier people than women are."

Film Exports for 6 Months Increase 23,000,000 Feet

Washington—Sound and silent films exported during the first six months of 1930 totaled 144,932,674 feet, valued at $4,127,172, compared with 121,810,453 feet, valued at $3,331,022, in the same period last year, according to the M. P. Section of the Dept. of Commerce. The more than 23,000,000 feet increase was absorbed chiefly by the United Kingdom and France.

Lustig Publishes Another Book

David Lustig, publicity and exploitation director of Manhattan Playhouses, New York circuit, has just had published his fifteenth book. It is "Vaudeville Hypnotism," and he now is writing a series of talker scenarios written around experiences of Dunninger, hypnotist, who has exposed a number of spiritual mediums. Among Lustig's other books are "Vaudeville Ventriloquism," "Vaudeville Magic," "Dunninger's Master Methods of Hypnotism" and "Vaudeville Mind Reading."

Ingram Retires

Rex Ingram, director of "The Four Horsemen" and a long series of other pictures for M-G-M, has retired from active production, according to an Associated Press dispatch from St. Augustine Du Var in France. Ingram's studio on the French Riviera is now outdated by talkers and would require a fortune to remodel, the dispatch intimates.

Sues for $125,000

Hollywood—Multicolor Films, Inc., damaged him to the extent of $125,000, claims Harold Ryerson in an action filed in the Superior Court against the company and its president, William J. Worthington.

Ryerson alleges he was dismissed April 21 despite the claim that his contract had two more years to run.

Sunday Shows Win

Moberly, Mo.—Sunday shows have been legalized by the city council here, overriding protests of local ministers. The vote was 5 to 3.

Short Subjects

Parlez Vous

(Universal—Talker)

Outstanding

IF all of Universal's shorts subjects are going to be like this one, they will have plenty of box-office attraction. Cleverly directed and ably cast, this comedy "clicks" because the gags are natural and not forced. Slim Summerville, Eddie Gribbon, Stanley Blystone and Pauline Garon are the featured members of the cast and give great performances. The story has a war background with the bugler (Summerville) playing pranks on the top sergeant and captain. Pretentious sets give the short considerable production value. Al Ray directed and Ed Kaufman supervised. Running time, 20 minutes.

Good on any bill.

Mickey's Musketeers

(Darmour—RKO)

Okay

YOUNGSTERS will go for this comedy in a big way, but the adults will not find it particularly inviting. Mickey McGuire and his gang go for an outing and the preparations for the event and the boat race following form the basis for the action. Al Herman has directed and does his best with a weak story outline. Gags are nothing unusual, but this will appeal to the kids. Running time, 20 minutes.

Use this one with a junior matinee for best results.

Fiddlesticks

(M-G-M—Sound Cartoon)

Same Old Stuff

AND Fiddlesticks to you, Mr. Producer, for being so much like the rest of the cartoonists who have no more sense of originality than cartoon characters have life.

This one, while expertly produced and set to music, has the same line-up of stuff as every other cartoon (with but few exceptions) in the current season's group. There's too much sameness in all of them. New ideas are needed, and needed badly. Running time, 7 minutes.

Will get by on a bill needing a light touch.

Jailhouse Blues

(Columbia—Talker)

Fair—No More

MAMIE SMITH, that "big black mammy" of vaudeville fame, is the center of an alleged vaudeville sketch in a colored jail house, where two male supporters give incidental musical support to Mamie's rendition of two light songs. The chatter is undistinguished. Too much stock is put into Miss Smith's song "personality," which fails to click chiefly because of the over-abundance of this style of vaude skits in talker shorts. Running time, about 11 minutes.

Use this short where the feature is sufficiently strong to carry the entire bill.

Pirates

(M-G-M—Musical)

A Revue Pip

A MINIATURE musical comedy in color, packing almost as strong a punch as many of the musicals which were padded into feature form when Hollywood burst forth with a stage number almost weekly.

Tuneful melodies, Arthur Lange's orchestra, songs and dances are all of the best. Color is average, with plenty of Technicolor orange. The performers, song and dance teams, and ensemble give Benny Rubin splendid support. Running time, 18 minutes.

Book this one with a dramatic feature, but be sure there is no other musical revue stuff on your bill.

Dude Ranching

(Pathe—Sound)

Entertaining

THERE'S no particular punch to this Grantland Rice Sportlight, but audiences in general will be interested in the activities of guests on a dude ranch. The scenic backgrounds are good, and it's a relief not to see a stereotyped villain lurking in the vicinity. There are plenty of girls in it and in one scene they appear in the latest style of bathing suits. Running time, 9 minutes.

Okay with any type of bill.

Teacher's Pet

(M-G-M—Talker)

Our Gang Clicks Again

HAL ROACH has turned out in "Teacher's Pet," a two-reel comedy which is well above the average short in entertainment value, and on a par with the Gang's best. Chubby, Farina and Jackie walk away with acting honors, with pretty June Marlowe, who is in the reel for "color," taking second place. Plenty of laughs. A great subject for kids—young and old. Running time, 20 minutes.

There are enough laughs in this one for a whole bill. Use it with a dramatic feature.

What Price George

(M-G-M—Songs)

Nothing to Rave About

GEORGE PRICE in song and chatter of the most ordinary type, entertainment value of which is not enhanced one iota by tinny orchestra accompaniment. Just a slow-moving vaude turn. Running time, about 9 minutes.

Slip this one on a bill with good short support. Do not play it with a musical feature.

Dollar Dizzy

(M-G-M—Talker)

Has Its Moments

EXPERT direction handling of this one gives to ordinary story material a touch of lightness. Charley Chase works hard to maintain action. He is hampered in this respect by too much footage, a great deal of which is unnecessarily taken up with one gag. Running time, 26 minutes.

Okay for the comedy spot on your bill, running with a heavy feature, but be sure the latter is a clicker.

Venetian Nights

(Pathe—Sound)

Fair

NO. 9 of the Vagabond Adventure series, with Tom Terriss giving a synchronized talk while he depicts the nooks and crannies of the City of Canals. Not as punchy as the others in this series, but will appeal generally. Running time, 9 minutes.

Spot it in any place.

Mickey's Merry Men

(Darmour-RKO—Talker)

Kid Stuff

FOR kid matinees and houses with plenty of child patronage this comedy is okay. Taken from the characters of Fontaine Fox's cartoons, the gang has all sorts of adventures in exploring. Indians, bears and other wild things offer chances for many chase sequences and some good comedy. Mickey McGuire is the central character and Stinky Davis plays the heavy role. Al Herman directed this short. Running time, 20 minutes.

Good for kid lure.

Back to Silents

Cleveland—The Gaiety, the Lefkowich chain house playing all day and all night, has reverted to a silent policy.

Audio Review, No. 33

(Pathe—Sound)

Mediocre

THIS issue might have been dedicated to the old fogies at home; it contains nothing that would give the younger generation a kick. The barber shop quartette, led by a lisping tenor and garbed in costumes of the Gay Nineties, sings "Only a Bird in a Gilded Cage." Very sad. Then the audience is initiated into the mysteries of the Scotch game of bowls with some atrocious puns thrown in for good measure. Finally there are some shots on the new Infra-D film of the Sphinx and pyramids, but they're not worth writing home about. Running time, 10 minutes.

Needs strong support.

Some Babies

(Pathe—Talker)

Not So Funny

THE cast in this short, consisting of Little Billy, Bob Carney, Richard Carle, Ruth Hiatt and John Hyams, works hard, but doesn't click many laughs because of the poor story. It's all about a hungry vaudeville actor who enters his midget partner in a baby show to meet a pretty girl. The latter's rich uncle, whose physician prescribes belly laughs instead of medicine, then hires the pair to amuse him. He was easily amused. Directed by Wallace Fox. Running time, 20 minutes.

Will get by on a strong bill.

Paramount Takes on 14 Writers for New Season

Hollywood—Fourteen playwrights and four novelists have been added to the Paramount writing staff to assist in preparing talkers for next season's schedule. The playwrights under contract are: Zoe Akins, Martin Brown, Bartlett Cormack, Salisbury Field, Marie Baumer, Maurice Hanline, Vincent Lawrence, Henry Myers, William H. Post, Daniel N. Rubin, Austin Strong, Sam Spewack, John V. A. Weaver, and Lejos Zilahy. The novelists are Charles Francis Coe, William Slavens McNutt, Edward E. Paramore, Jr., and Viola Brothers Shore.

Juniors in "Renegade"

Hollywood—Two members of the "second generation," Noah Beery, Jr., and Fred Kohler, Jr., are playing in "The Renegade," which Fox is making with Warner Baxter.

MAIL ORDER BARGAINS

FACTORY TO YOU—CUT OUT THE MIDDLEMAN—BRAND NEW MERCHANDISE

Sound-on-Film Heads, $198.50; Photocells, $14.95; GE Exciter Lamp, 98c; Optical Systems, $29.50; Head Amplifiers, $29.60; ¼ h.p. Synchronous Motors, $29.50; Rochester Built Turntables, $69.50; Samson 250 push-pull amplifier, $54.45; Audak Tuned Pickups, $33.95; Standard Audak, $17.95; Speedometers, $9.95; Wright-DeCoster Horns, $17.64; Units, $29.40; R.C.A. Units, $29.40; Jensen Speakers, $17.80; Exponential Horns, $48.80; Giant Exponential Units, $46.35; Junior Units, $21.95; Constant Faders, $13.90; Sound Mixers, $19.50; W. E. Approved Sound Screens, $49.00; R.C.A. Licensed Tubes, 50% off; Acoustical Felt, 29½c sq. yd.; Theatre Carpet, $1.19 per yd.; Bargains, Demonstrators, Rebuilt Booth Equipment. Write us your needs.

Service-on-Sound Corp., Dept. MP, Suite 603, 1600 Broadway, New York City, N. Y.

Chi Swelters in Heat; "Arizona Kid" Low, 65%

Chicago—Only four Loop spots went above the 100% rating. Heat and a preponderance of average programmers get the blame.

"Common Clay" (Fox) showed the greatest strength, perhaps, when it did $24,500 in its second week at the Roosevelt. The picture, playing to "adults only," had them waiting to get in on frequent occasions during the week. "Dawn Patrol" (F. N.) was winding up its second week at a fair pace, indicating that it would do $28,000 (100%) for the period. This is close to the line for the house, as they leave here at around $25,000. "Animal Crackers" (Para.) is already set to replace here.

The Woods gathered in $14,300 (125%) with "Rain or Shine" (Col.) in its first week. Another seven days finishes this one. The Castle got $3,900 (134%) for the second week of "Sea Bat" (M.G.M.). "Cock o' the Walk" (Sono Art-World Wide) replaced and was off to a good start. "Raffles" (U. A.) dropped abruptly in its second week at United Artists. The picture dove ten grand under its first week to $17,200 (80%), and "Holiday" (Pathe), which was not expected to get its turn for another week, at least, was sent in. Other spots were only fair, with the exception of the Oriental, which went close to the red line with "Love Among the Millionaires" (Para.) getting only $31,500 (70%).

Weather: hot; cloudy to clear.

Estimated takings:

"SEA BAT" (M.G.M.)

CASTLE—(300), 60c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Univ. newsreel, "Cock o' the walk" (Sono Art-World Wide) replaced. Gross: $3,900. Rating, 134%.

"MAN FROM WYOMING" (Paramount)

CHICAGO—(3,940), 35c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Stage show, orchestra, comedy, newsreel, novelty short. Gross: $38,500. Rating: 79%.

DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)

MCVICKERS—(2,284), 35c-85c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Comedy, newsreel. May get a third week, but "Animal Crackers" (Para.) is set to go in, in case. Gross: $28,000. Rating: 100%.

"ARIZONA KID" (Fox) (2nd Loop run)

MONROE—(962), 25c-40c, 7 days. Other attractions: 30 minutes of newsreel, comedy. Gross: $3,200. Rating: 65%.

"LOVE AMONG MILLIONAIRES" (Paramount)

ORIENTAL—(3,900), 35c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Stage show, organ, comedy, newsreel, novelty short. Bad for this house. Gross: $31,500. Rating: 70%.

"UNHOLY THREE" (M.G.M.) (2nd time in Loop)

ORPHEUM—(762), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: 3 Vitaphone acts, newsreel. Gross: $6,000. Rating: 75%.

"NIGHT WORK" (Pathe)

PALACE—(2,509), 35c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: 5 acts vaude, newsreel, comedy. Gross: $18,000. Rating: 75%

"COMMON CLAY" (Fox)

ROOSEVELT—(1,591), 35c-85c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Comedy, newsreel, musical short. Showing nice strength, occasional holdouts during week. one more week. Gross: $14,300. Rating: 125%.

Playing on a "pink" permit. Gross: $24,500. Rating: 120%.

"INSIDE THE LINES" (Radio)

STATE-LAKE—(2,776), 35c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: 5 acts vaude, headed by Blossom Seeley, cartoon, newsreel. Gross: $23,800. Rating: 90%.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

UNITED ARTISTS—(1,700), 35c-85c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Comedy, newsreel, musical short. Sagged badly at close. Replaced by "Holiday" Gross: $17,200. Rating: 80%.

"RAIN OR SHINE" (Col.)

WOODS—(1,166), 35c-75c, 1st week. Other attractions: Cartoon, newsreel, novelty short. Good for last of August.

Wabash Ave.—South

JACK LYNCH (V. T.'s brother) went up the aisle with Mercedes Orr of Chicago last week. Jack is managing the Manor, one of the Lynch houses.

* * *

Eddie Grossman, shipped to New York a week ago, is expected to remain there for several weeks.

* * *

Coston's office—now Warner Bros. theatre department locally—moves to the fourth floor of the new Warner exchange building this month.

* * *

Shubert's Garrick likes pictures. Originally intended to revert back to legit after a brief flyer in film the house has made consistently good records with every booking "What Men Want" (Univ.) goes into the house this week, and though the management emphatically states that legit will follow it, the same management has said the same thing before.

* * *

Irving Mack dropping in for week end visits with the family at Tomahawk, Wis.

* * *

Murray Bradshaw, manager of Floyd Brockell's Tivoli, Downers Grove, Ill., recovered from a lengthy illness and back on the job.

* * *

What father-in-law of a local circuit official got the gate when he went to one of the circuit's houses and tried to sell the manager a new trailer service?

* * *

Harry Neil, film row fashion plate, and a swell guy anyhow, called to Warner's home office, where, it is expected, he will be told the good news. Neil, in case you didn't know, is ripe for a promotion.

* * *

Jack Goldhar, U. A. Detroit sales manager, in town to close the deal with Floyd Brockell for U. A. product in Detroit Publix houses.

* * *

Jack Holt, here for a day en route to Lakehurst, N. J., where Columbia will make "Dirigible," was made a major of aeronautics by local officialdom, and knocked 'em out of their chairs when he was introduced from the ring at the Mastro-La Barba fight at the Stadium.

* * *

Harry Lorch, back from the sales deals with the circuit representatives in New York, shipped to Milwaukee on business almost immediately.

KANE

High and Low Seek Entertainment in Unique Theatre

Chicago—The New Dearborn, Harry Balaban's neat little house near North State Parkway and Division St., nightly offers one of the most interesting audiences of any theatre in the city. Situated in the back yard of Chicago's Gold Coast, and on the north fringe of Towertown, Chi's pseudo-Bohemian quarter, as well as on the east boundary of Little Italy, this crazy, scrambled drawing populace supplies audiences not easily found elsewhere.

It is not an uncommon sight to view a merchant prince and his empress alight from the Rolls assisted by a uniformed footman and chauffeur, enter the theatre behind a dusky-skinned alcohol cooker from Sedgewick street. Nor does the cashier look twice when last year's debutante, escorted by the manager of his father's brokerage office, slinks past in the wake of a long-haired poet with his short-haired girl friend who conceives interior decorations in a nearby Rush street studio.

Inside, the incongruous democracy is emphasized. Sprawled at ease or stiffly erect, blue denim is a shadow beside immaculate dress shirts. Garlic struggles for dominance over Parisian Narcisse, studio gin over Gold Coast bacardi; Little Italy's wine over the Clark street beer. Diamonds and luminous pendants sparkle on imitation gold earrings. Cloth of gold and silver rubs shoulders with cotton shawls, and mud-spattered, bare feet swing alongside of satin slippers and snake skin boots.

The daughter of a railroad president with a chauffeur waiting outside to drive her to a Lake Shore Drive pent house one block away sighs at celluloid kisses in chorus with the daughter of an olive oil merchant who hasn't carfare back to Oak and Wells.

Lindy and Byrd Are New Theatre Names

Chicago—Local theatre business is getting air-minded. Essaness announces the opening of the Byrd (formerly the Madison Square), named for the southern air force commander. Simansky & Miller and Siegel announce the opening of the Lindy (formerly the Americus), named for the trans-Atlantic colonel.

Both houses will open the week of the National Air Races, to be held here the

There's Optimism In Chicago with Summer Ending

Chicago—The film business in this section apparently struck its lowest ebb this week and is now veering toward improvement in spite of conflicting attitudes and reports among both exhibitor and distributor groups. The pessimists insist no basic improvement can be expected before cool weather sets in, while the optimists are already smiling as they flash contracts or announce theatre reopenings.

The small neighborhood houses which have been closed for the past six weeks, and those which have been on a week-end schedule, are being cleaned up, re-furnished and newly equipped preparatory to an early opening. Essaness Theatres will open three on August 29. B. & K. opened its newly acquired Biltmore last week. Simansky & Miller and Siegel re-open the Lindy (Americus) at the end of the month. The Gem, South State Street spot, and the Adams, Loop "tabloid talkie" house, are being renovated in preparation for early openings. Bland Bros. will spend $150,000 remodelling the Oak theatre prior to a Fall opening. The "open for business" sign will be tacked on at least 20 additional neighborhoods by September 1, according to report.

The most cheering sight of all, however, is the apparent change in the average exhibitor's outlook during the past few days. Scowls are changing to smiles, and the dire predictions of a few weeks ago are becoming optimistic forecasts. The end of the hot spell is in sight and, after all, the bulk of the rapping here resolves itself into summer complaint.

The dark side of the picture, evidences of which can be found at any season, confines itself for the most part to isolated grievances and anecdotes.

One country salesman, back from a tour of Iowa and Nebraska with dire and tragic accounts of crop failures, the economic factor on which all branches of commerce in the states hinges, was almost tearful over existing and prospective conditions in the provinces.

"Theatres are closed everywhere," he said. "In some Nebraska towns I had to wake the ticket sellers out of a sound sleep in order to ask where the manager could be found. The owners go home at night without even bothering to lock the doors of their theatres. Old residents have forgotten where the places are."

The dullness of the present situation, too, has its influence on the quality and quantity of available news material, a Motion Picture News reporter learned this week when offered a "hot" story at a local exchange. Pencil poised, he waited for his informant to "spill it."

"I sold a picture today," the exchangeman stated proudly, and then waited for the reporter's exclamation of surprise.

To the Pure—

Chicago—Paradox: The virgin-minded censor board at Evanston, W.C.T.U. settlement on the north shore, okayed "Hell Harbor." Oak Park and Lake Forest censor boards barred it.

Plugging the Roxy

Chicago—All Fox theatres here, it is understood, have received instructions to order and run trailers urging local residents to "visit the Roxy when in New York." Instructions or not, the seven Fox houses are now running the trailers.

Paramount Sets Two In R-K-O Loop Houses

Chicago—The two R-K-O Loop vaude-film houses are playing Paramount pictures this week—an unusual occurrence here. The Palace takes "Grumpy," while the State-Lake is advertising "Queen High." In the outskirts, the Fox Sheridan is playing Universal's "All Quiet on the Western Front."

The Castle, 300-seat Loop indie, took "Cock o' the Walk" (Sono Art-World Wide) which, being a departure from the customary melodramatic bookings of this house, caused Hazel Flynn ("Rob Reel" of the Evening American) to reminisce. "It is the standard sophisticated type of picture," says Hazel, "that the cozy, little Castle used to play before the B. & K. palaces reared their steel framework on State Street. It is the same sort of picture which the Chicago theatre now plays, and reminds us of the time when the Castle presented the best Loop openings."

Bland Bros. Remodeling Oak at Cost of $150,000

Chicago—Bland Bros. will spend $150,000 remodeling the Oak theatre, according to announcement. The changes, made necessary by the widening of Western Ave., on which the house is situated, contemplate virtual reconstruction of the building, one of the oldest in the city.

Plans prepared by David S. Klafer, architect, call for a new facade of modernistic design and Spanish motif, as well as complete rehabilitation of the interior. The balcony will be rebuilt and a new mezzanine foyer, with marble stairway, installed. New equipment will include an electric ventilation plant. Re-opening is scheduled for early Fall.

Reopen Three Houses

Chicago—Three Essaness houses will repone August 29 with new names and atmosphere. The Byrd, formerly Lubliner & Trinz's Madison Square, has been completely remodelled and refurnished. New sound equipment and acoustical treatment have gone into the house. Two others, which have been closed for renovating, will be reopened the same date. They are the Oak Park, which will reopen under the name of the Lamar, and the Pershing, which has been re-named the Davis by Essaness.

B. & H. Handles Ufa Films

Chicago—More than 120 educational 16 mm. films from the famous Ufa Studios have been added to the Filmo library of the Bell & Howell Co. Fifty-two have sound-on-disc accompaniment in the form of lectures by American educators.

Summer Darkens 31 Theatres in Chi Territory

Chicago—The second chapter of the summer history of film business in the midwest was written this week when the Chicago Film Board of Trade made public its report of theatre changes during July. The report lists 31 closings in the Chicago and Illinois territory during the month. Of this number eight were in the metropolitan area. The report also discloses 25 changes in theatre ownership during the period, 12 of which were in the metropolitan area.

Chicago closings included the following: Adams, Centre, Francis, Garfield, Olympia and Parkside; Grant and Morton Park in Cicero.

The following figured in the out of town closings: Bijou at Abingdon; Arcola, Arcola; Pastime, Blue Mound; Opera House, Bowen; Princess, Colchester; Kendall, Farmer City; Pastime, Fulton; Colonial (Publix-G. S.), Galesburg; Orpheum, Georgetown; Scenic, Lexington; Eagle, Livingston; Thomas, Manlius; Community, Metamora; Opera House, Paw Paw; Gem, Grand and Imperial, Peoria; Family and Star, Quincy; Rialto, Rankin; Empire, Toulon; Electric, Windsor; Grand, Lowell, Ind.

Changes in ownership in city theatres were: Alma, from Phil Christos to Tom Christos; Community (formerly Hillside) from J. Chrissis to Charles Heilig; Criterion, from P. Sittner to E. H. Macoy; Punch & Judy (formerly Central Playhouse—legitimate), from Chicago Musical College to Cinema Art Guild, Inc.; State, from G. Paul to N. Joseph for F. H. Salkin Estate; Arlington, Arlington Heights, from O. G. Heimann to G. F. Strandt and D. G. Miller; Twin City, East Chicago, Ind., from E. Zaleski to I. Turon; Gary, Gary, Ind.; from Indiana-Ohio Theatre Co. to Kane & Gilligan; Lyons, Lyons, Ill., from J. Hirshberg to Henry Bambara; Alamo, Plainfield, Ill., from J. Gould to E. O. Baker; Villard, Villa Park, Ill., from F. B. Swanson to Arthur Fox; Paramount (formerly Grand), Wheaton, Ill., from A. Dernbach to Publix-Great States.

Out of town changes: Romance, Blandinsville, Ill., from R. E. Grigsby to R. W. Metcalfe; Rialto, Bremen, Ind., (formerly the Playhouse) to Acme Theatre Corp.; Rose, Byron, Ill., from E. A. and H. McLaughlin to F. B. Spoor; Virginia, Champaign, Ill.; from Stoolman-Pyle Corp. to Champaign Orpheum Co.; Lincoln, Danville, Ill., from Gumbiner & Ford to Publix-Great States; Pastime, Fulton, Ill., to Theodore W. Briegel; Princess, Le Roy, Ill., from C. T. Hutchinson to Felix Greenberg; Royal, Marengo, Ill., from Mrs. R. Anderson to Charles House; Garden, Peoria, Ill., from Harry A. Frankel, Receiver, to Southside Amusement Co.; State (formerly Orpheum), Princeton, Ill., from A. M. Jeffries to D. J. Vought; Idle Hour, Rossville, Ill., from H. D. Travis to E. C. Smith; Vivo, Warsaw, Ill., (formerly Dreamland) from M. L. Weiser to Stuart Walters; Watseka (new theatre), Watseka, Ill., E. E. Rietz and H. E. Hoag, operators.

Photos Fade

Chicago—What exchange whose home office recently witnessed some important changes in authority is taking down the photographs of the old regime and ordering frames for the new?

Seattle Censor Power Declared Broadest in U. S.

Seattle—Seattle's Board of Theatre Censors, reduced in number from nine to five members by recent appointment of Mayor Frank Edwards, may be smaller in size but is certainly larger in scope of its activity—in fact, it is said that the new ordinance passed recently by the Seattle city council and signed by the Mayor this week gives the board the fullest censoring powers of any such group in the United States.

Not only will the board hereafter pass upon the question of morality and decency in film and stage entertainment that reaches local theatres, but it has been authorized to see that proper ventilation and sanitation methods are employed in Seattle houses, and that legitimate and modest advertising procedure is followed.

Dave Himelhoch, manager of the Fox Coliseum theatre and president of the Censor Board, declared that an immediate campaign is to begin against all theatres that advertise falsely on billboards or in lobby displays, or that use obscene and salacious posters or copy, or over-emphasize the sex angles in their attractions.

Holding Up

Altoona, Pa.—Film business has held up well at the Mishler and the stock policy of the Park has clicked this summer. This despite hot weather and labor depression.

Merrill Theatre In Milwaukee Is Dropped by Fox

Milwaukee—With the Fox lease on the Merrill, local first run house, expiring Sept. 1, it is expected that the theatre will stage its last show late this month. What steps the circuit will take to replace this theatre, if any, are problematical.

It has been rumored that it would remodel the Miller, second run downtown Fox house, and convert it into a first run theatre. It is known that the circuit plans the erection of a new first run theatre here, plans for which were announced a year ago, but concerning which no more definite information has been obtainable.

The Uihlein interests have not as yet given up their intentions of erecting a new theatre building at Sixth St. and Wisconsin Ave., but have not yet come to any definite agreement with the city concerning the price of a portion of the property.

This site is located diagonally across the street from Fox's Wisconsin, the circuit's present key house, and it has been reported that Fox is to lease the new theatre building when completed. With the closing of the Merrill, Fox has only two first run downtown houses here, the Wisconsin and the Strand.

R-K-O Promotes Edwards San Diego Resident Chief

San Diego, Cal.—Jack Edwards, former publicity, advertising and exploitation director for the R-K-O Orpheum here, has been appointed resident manager, succeeding W. C. Welch, who has been transferred to manage the R-K-O Orpheum at Oakland. Edwards was formely in charge of publicity for the R-K-O in Salt Lake City.

Australians Try To Solve High Rentals, Slump

Sydney, Australia—About 50 independent operators of Sydney suburbs met during the week to discuss the rental problem and to "find ways and means to avoid impending disaster to the industry."

They held their confab in secret. Why, nobody knows. It has since been learned, however, that more than half of those present admitted that their business had been a losing proposition for many months, that they were mortgaged up to the hilt and had little chance of squaring accounts until business brightened. The opinion was strong that distributors "are not handing the showman a fair deal."

The suggestion advanced that as the exchanges assess their rentals at about 30 per cent, all exhibitors should turn that amount over to the eight distributors and let them square up between themselves. No finality was reached on the point.

Equipment firms also enter into the affair. It is no secret that local offices of American companies are not receiving anything like amounts stipulated in their contracts, but in no instance have they removed any installation because of a showman's inability to pay. Unless the gear people bide their time with many of their buyers they must approach the distributor and ask for either a reduction in rentals, making it possible for the showman to meet equipment commitments, or else place their claims for a share of borrowed money. Meanwhile the exhibitors have requested the M.P.D.A. to appoint a representative to sit on a tribunal consisting of a distributor, exhibitor and independent member.

Although in exhibitor circles it is thought such a tribunal might achieve something, it is considered improbable elsewhere.

Fred Meyer Renews His Contract with Laemmle

Fred S. Meyer, veteran managing director of Universal's Alhambra, Milwaukee, has renewed his contract for one year with Carl Laemmle. Meyer was one of Universal's first employes in the Middle West.

BUSINESS MEN stay at the

NEW YORKER

The New Yorker has 2500 rooms, every one with radio, tub and shower bath, Servidor and circulating ice water. There are four popular-priced restaurants, including Coffee Shop. Rates from $3.50 a day. 85% of the rooms are $5, or less.

Manhattan's Largest and Tallest Hotel
34th Street at 8th Avenue, New York City
RALPH HITZ · Managing Director

CLASSIFIED ADS.

Equipment

THEATRE LOBBY FRAMES—Manufacturer to you; low cost. Gem Frame Company, 2805 Brighton, Kansas City, Mo.

Movie Star Rotogravures

Just Out. 25c Sellers. Ready for Framing

Actual Size 2½"x3¼" and 11x14"

Up to 1,000.....5c Each
1,000 or Over.....4c Each

Nancy Carroll, Janet Gaynor, Charles Farrell, Greta Garbo, John Barrymore, Maurice Chevalier, Dolores Costello, Bebe Daniels, Conrad Nagel, John Boles, Marilyn Miller, Clara Bow, Ronald Colman, Wm. Haines, Ramon Novarro, John Gilbert, Buddy Rogers, Rudy Vallee, Richard Dix, Richard Barthelmess, Mary Brian, Alice White, Joan Crawford, Norma Shearer.

Write for Set of "FREE SAMPLES"
One-Fourth Deposit on C. O. D. Orders.
M. E. MOSS (B) PUB. CO., Hartford, Conn.

UNIFORMS FOR HOUSE ATTACHES COSTUMES FOR STAGE PRESENTATIONS BROOKS 1437 B'way New York

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

CHARLES E. LEWIS
Chairman and Editor

A National Association of Showmen Meeting in
MOTION PICTURE NEWS
Every Week—for Mutual Benefit and Progress

CONDUCTED BY AN EXHIBITOR FOR EXHIBITORS

Showmen and Their Ancestors

HAS showmanship progressed with the years? Have showmen progressed in their methods? Which of the two excelled at their trade: The showman of yesterday or the showman of today?

Which constitutes a great way to start an argument. And being more or less of a specialist in such things we don't mind starting this one at all.

Harping back to the days when P. T. Barnum advanced that now famous theory "that a sucker was born every minute, and a couple of smart guys to take him, we understand that they managed theatres a lot differently than they do today.

Our own memory only permits us to go back for about a score of years, but sufficient to emphasize that there have been many changes, both in the management of theatres and the way they sell their shows.

Our recollection of a theatre manager was a chap along about 35 years or, maybe, a little older. He had all of the crust of a royal personage. If one had the audacity to ask "for the manager," he could feel highly honored if that important being consented or condescended to see him.

Selling the attraction in those days seemed to consist of some three, six and twenty four sheet posters. The headliners in big type and the others in smaller. The local papers carried an ad, about two columns by six inches, with similar layout.

As for exploitation. I don't believe they knew what it was all about. Ballyhoo was understood thoroughly by the "nickelodeons" because barkers were quite the rage in those days, but the, so-called, better class of theatres laid off it entirely.

Today? Well, you must admit that theatre management and exploitation has taken on most unusual angles. Yes, we said unusual, because some of the things being done under the guise of exploitation and theatre management would make poor old P. T. turn and quiver in his grave.

Ballyhoo and stunts are something 'way overdone. Ambitious showmen, eager to bask in the sunshine of their many bosses' favor, go, oftimes, to extremes. They are too inclined to take a suggestion and run it ragged. Their eye is focussed too keenly on that coveted "district manager" job, which all too seldom materializes.

But showmanship HAS progressed with the years. And showmen have progressed in their methods.

Because, despite the handicap of peculiar chain tactics, there still exist enough men to temper the foolish with the sensible. It's a great life, after all, sez we.

"Chick."

Table of Contents

¶ "Showmanship in Java"—By Th. Van Der Ie
¶ M. Hance Secured Coast Guard Service
¶ Lea Duhamel Joins
¶ Hendricks Has Community Spirit
¶ "Lobby Laffs," by Dick Kirschbaum
¶ Hendry's "Ace" Stunt
¶ "Firing!"
¶ Paul Kunze Tells About Work
¶ Teddy McDonald Helped Out
¶ "The Showman's Calendar"
¶ Gettier Beat Golf Course
¶ "Another Trailer Angle"—By A. C. Raleigh
¶ Looking Over the Field With "Chick"
¶ Bair Passes One Along
¶ Bovim Staged Double Wedding
¶ Krier Turns House Over to Staff
¶ Jack O'Connell Offers Free Parking
¶ "Warming Up a Cold Spot"
¶ Solomon Had a Good One
¶ Mumford Sends Us a Card
¶ Thames, Jr., Introduces Another
¶ Earle Holden Staged a Parade
¶ R. C. Rogers Brought In Business
¶ Meet Miss Janis!
¶ Odlum Gave Away $10,000
¶ "Ten Cent Specials"
¶ Fulton Cashed In On Exposition
¶ "The Fable of the Hero Who Hark-ened"—By C. Neema
¶ Paul Binstock Is Back!
¶ "The Dancing Curtain!"
¶ Delis' Cowboy Ballyhoo
¶ Lamm Served Ice Cream to Kids
¶ Dixon Williams, Jr., and His Tie-ups
¶ Smart Concealed Names in Ads
¶ Latta Procured Aviation Display
¶ George Laby Is Very Active
¶ Willis Had Them Laughing
¶ Lovett Founded a "Cuckoo Club"
¶ More of McGeachie's Advertising
¶ Stern and Robinson Still Out Front
¶ Barron's Special Week Clicked

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

"Here's How We Do It In Java," Says Mgr. Th. Van Der Ie

Here's another response to our query, "What are the methods of theatre operation in foreign countries?" Through the kindness of Th. Van Der Ie we are enabled to pass along this brief account of operation and house policy as observed by Mr. Van Der Ie at his theatre, the Centrale Bioscope, in Meester-Cornelis, Java, Dutch East Indies.

In his letter, he states:

The way of operating a theatre in the Dutch colonies is quite different to that of a New York theatre. After my patrons have purchased their tickets and have entered the theatre, I just let them have their own way. Don't trouble them with showing them their seats, they don't appreciate it and like to look for their own chairs.

We have usually 5 classes, viz: Balcony Loge, 1st, 2nd and 3rd class, of which the admissions are respectively f.2, f.1.50, f.1, f.0.60, and f.0.25, you can easily transfer this to dollars, as 1 dollar = f.2.50.

All the theatres in these colonies without exception are giving 2 shows per night, viz: from 7 till 9 o'clock and from a quarter to 10 till 12 o'clock.

One programme usually consists of a news reel, a comedy and a feature, altogether 8 or 10 reels, while during the interval, I am projecting about 40 slides for reclame of articles of import companies, the cost f.10. per slide per month, which means an income to me of f.400. and besides that I am hiring also the inside walls of the theatre for advertising purposes which gives also about f.400. a month, the painting of the walls for advertising must of course be nicely done, the colors must harmonize with the colors of the theatre. With this amount I pay the theatre rent, in other words I get the theatre practically free of rent.

The manager of a theatre down here is something like a monarch. He fires and engages his employees when and where he wants. He increases and decreases their salaries at his own sweet will. They dare not open their mouths and there are no bonds or clubs or something like that here. I have always treated my employees fair, and want them to do their duty.

We want to thank him for passing this story along to us and we are sure that the Club members wish him success.

M. Hance Secured Coast Guard Aid To Plug Picture

With a Coast Guard station right near him, it was a pretty sure thing that Monte Hance would make use of it in order to plug any marine picture he should happen to be playing at the Saenger Theatre in Biloxi, Miss. So when he played "True to the Navy," he invited the Coast Guard to attend the show.

The invitation to the Coast Guard was accepted by their parading from their headquarters to the theatre. Leading the coast guard was the 'boat on wheels' that had been used for several days in advance as a ballyhoo. The boat was borrowed and was complete in practically every detail including flag on front, cabin, rudder, etc. The name of the star and title of picture was imprinted on hood, front and read bumpers, fenders, side dash and body.

A life preserver cut-out with the head of Clara Bow was in center together with title of picture; playdates and sales copy was attached to fenders on rear—covering rear wheels. Boys dressed as sailors drove the car around town ringing a regulation boat bell and blowing a fog horn. This ballyhoo was used in advance and during run of picture.

The parade stimulated interest considerably in the film and served to give Hance some valuable publicity.

Just to show you how versatile a showman he is, we want to tell you how he changed an unused Lucky Strike sign to sell Al Jolson in "Mammy."

The Lucky Strike sign that had the fat lady when the light flashed was converted into a very nice display by repainting with sales copy and inserting new tissue paper with a black and white Mammy picture of Jolson. When the light was off, it merely showed a white background but on the flash of the light, Jolson appeared on the panel. This was very effective and is merely another knockout display made from advertisements put out by other companies and converted to suit the theatres' needs.

This stunt was very effective and many people commented upon it; but our only comment is that it is just another example of what a wide-awake showman can do when he sets out to sell his theatre in any town. Listen, Monte, when you are turning out work like the above, you ought to pass it along so that your fellow managers can see what you are doing.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

THIS WEEK!

NEXT WEEK!

EVERY WEEK!

A Wealth of Valuable Information for the Live-Wire Manager and Exhibitor!

EXPLOITATION IDEAS! BALLYHOO STUNTS! THEATRE OPERATION TIPS!

"The Original Idea Exchange of the Motion Picture Industry"

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Miss Lea Duhamel Of Providence R. I. Enrolls In Club

The Club adds another lady member to its rolls. This time it is Lea Duhamel, publicity director of the Paramount Theatre in Providence, R. I., who is proposed for membership by "Bunny" Bryan.

Miss Duhamel has been in the show business for a number of years and enjoys the distinction of being the only woman press agent in New England and is the second woman to be engaged in a publicity capacity by the Publix Circuit, the other position being held by Miss Madeline Woods in the middle west.

She was an executive of the Keith-Albee interests in Rhode Island for many years with headquarters at the Albee in Providence. She resigned from the Radio-Keith-Orpheum Corporation to accept her present position. Her work is familiar to almost everyone in Rhode Island, especially Providence, as she has long been active in the affairs of the various women's clubs.

We are very glad to welcome this capable show-woman into the Managers' Round Table Club, and we also want to state that if her work, with Bryan, for the opening of the Paramount Theatre is any indication of what her future work will be, some of our "ace" showmen had better keep a firm grip on their laurels. Don't keep us in the dark concerning your work, Miss Duhamel, but keep us posted.

William Hendricks Thinks Community Spirit Valuable

Community spirit, long an important factor in the life of every showman, is seen daily in the work turned out by William L. Hendricks, manager of the Capitol Theatre in Steubenville, Ohio. Whenever the occasion arises, Hendricks will be found right on hand doing all that he can to boost the good-will stock of his theatre. He has run benefit shows, charity shows, kiddie parties and many other forms of good-will builders.

In appreciation, the town has always expressed a willingness to co-operate with him in every way possible, and they are more than appreciative of his efforts. All of this tends to spur Hendricks on toward other angles and we believe his latest to be of considerable importance, since it concerns a young organization, the Boy Scouts.

A short time ago Hendricks decided that the house needed some free publicity. Accordingly, he hustled out and invited the local Boy Scouts to run his theatre for a day. The boys' jubilation knew no bounds. Twenty-five scouts were selected to fill various offices about the theatre. Two or three worked in the booth with the operators, others sold tickets, others acted as stage managers and ushers, and the brightest boy of the lot was promoted to manager.

The plan was a knockout from the start. The local newspaper was solidly behind it and they came through with plenty of publicity. All of the scouts' friends and relatives were on hand for the special day and Hendricks derived benefit in the form of additional business and good-will. His plan was complete in every detail and we think that if your town is large enough a stunt of this sort would go very well for you. Think it over and if it fits in with local conditions—use it.

At this time, though we are a little late, but since we are discussing community spirit and good-will building, we'd like to relate how Hendricks secured the commendation of the Grand Marshal of the Memorial Day Committee.

Since the committee held a yearly parade on Memorial Day, Hendricks decided to build a reviewing stand in front of his theatre for the convenience of the Mayor and the city officials who were to review the parade. At the same time, he arranged to broadcast the event. His plan was carried out and the result of it was seen in the letter sent him by the committee thanking him for his part in the affair. And when showmen receive letters like that, it is a pretty sure thing that they are not going to be refused any co-operation they may want in the town. Right, Bill?

"LOBBY LAFFS"

By Dick Kirschbaum

"Dog Days" Daze

Mark This One On Your Things To Be Done Now Calendar

Want a "natural good-will builder"? Here it is in the form of a post card sent out to the boys and girls of Salt Lake City, Utah, on his mailing list, by Ray Hendry, manager of the Capitol Theatre.

Study the cut closely and you can see the appropriate copy used on back of the post card. Should you desire to use this in any other manner there's plenty of ways in which it can be pressed into service. You might distribute it to members of your kiddie club; or designate a special day on which to

TAKE YOUR MOTHER :: YOUR GUEST FREE

CAPITOL THEATRE—One of the Publix Theatres, Salt Lake

1 THESE ARE HAPPY DAYS—Vacation Days for all the Boys and Girls in Salt Lake! You go to the shows, and play and have a good time!

2 But what about Mother?

3 Why not include her in the fun?

4 Here's the way you can do it? When you go to the Capitol Theatre, the cashier will punch a number in rotation on this card. On the sixth and twelfth visits to the Capitol, bring Mother along. She will be admitted FREE as your guest She can enjoy a Publix program, too!

5

6 Save this card , keep it carefully , it's your Pass for your Mother for two visits to the Capitol.

7

8

9

10

11

12

Mother Guest Today

, The Coolest Spot In The Intermountain West ,
, Plus Perfect Publix Shows at the Capitol Theatre ,

Mother Guest Today

give the cards to all children present. At any rate, we are passing along this stunt because we feel that it will be met with open arms.

When it was used in Hendry's city, it not only worked up interest among the kiddies but the mothers were equally enthused over the plan and expressed their appreciation of Hendry's thoughtfulness. We'd like to hear more about this showman's work and we hope he will favor us with some future examples because we know he is turning out some "ace" showmanship around his district.

ALWAYS WEAR YOUR CLUB PIN

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

"FIRING"

(A few paragraphs from "The Last Word," Fox Theatres Circuit Organ)

Regardless of rumors that you may have heard as to why this or that man has been discharged, we want to tell you here frankly and truthfully that you can forget all gossip and take our word for it as a fellow employee that EVERY MAN WHO HAS LOST HIS JOB under the new regime has been cut off the payroll because he has REFUSED TO TAKE RESPONSIBILITY.

* * *

Every manager and every department head must immediately become the boss of his own job or he will bring about his own dismissal.

* * *

The executives of this corporation want to run it with a body of men who ARE men. They would rather have you make honest mistakes than to "get by" shifting responsibility to others.

* * *

The house manager who doesn't have complete control of everything in his theatre is heading straight for trouble. That means that you can shift nothing in the way of your own responsibility to your staff. It means that you cannot hide behind orders from your Division Manager or from the Executives in the home office.

* * *

. . . The key man in this organization is the theatre manager. He is his own boss. In dealing with division managers and home office executives his relations are those of one executive dealing with another. Division managers and home office executives merely represent the management. They are not responsible for your duties.

Paul Kunze Gives Us The Low-Down On His Activities

It is very seldom that we reprint a member's letter in its entirety, but since Paul W. Kunze, manager of the State Theatre in Stoughton, Mass., is so active a member and known to a great many of the Club, we thought you'd like to hear him tell, in his own words, what he is doing to keep them lined up in front of his house.

"One of our recent gags," he states, "was a Chevrolet Night similar in operation to the Radio Lucky Name contest. Was fortunate in promoting a Chevrolet Car and 50% of advertising costs from local dealer and the thing went over tremendous, bigger than anything we have staged here. Interest in the entire two weeks' campaign during which coupons were given out was marvelous and the night of the drawing was a turn-away. The build up included a street ballyhoo by the dealer and also a brand new car parade on the big night with ten new cars, banners, red flares, etc.

"A 'Mammy Singers' contest went over fairly well in connection with 'Mammy.' All the local imitators of Jolson were recruited to compete on the stage on the opening night of the picture for a large silver loving cup supposedly from Jolson himself. Fifteen entrants competed and in addition to the big advertising for the picture the thing developed into a good stage show with a lot of laughs and some really good singers. Local paper went for the idea and published pictures, a photographer was interested and a few merchants donated additional prizes. O. K. and gave us a big opening for the picture, cost only cup.

"Through a tie-up with a group of local merchants we obtained several gifts which were given away in conjunction with a 'Misspelled Word' proposition. We distributed a card that contained the week's program. Each person entering received a card; but only one card contained the misspelled word. The person locating the word was presented with a gift. On the bottom of the card we printed a number, with a note informing the reader that if the card number corresponded with any number in the list of Lucky Numbers, published in the local newspapers he or she would be entitled to free tickets to the show.

"Some time ago we arranged a permanent wave contest with a local beauty parlor, who in turn submitted the layout to a trade magazine and they liked it so well it was written up with all exhibits and suggested for use by all their clients.

"Have always believed in the idea of extensive cleaning, painting and renovating during the quieter months and this summer is no exception. Lobby, marquee and upright signs have just been all done over as well as theatre floors, in fact everything from cellar to ceiling is being given some attention to brighten things up and change the general appearance in preparation for the Fall season. Our lobby now is most inviting with a generous supply of artificial plants, flowers, natural green bulbs for cool effect with display frames arranged and painted in keeping with the season. Entire service staff wear white flannels and sporty looking blazer coats.

"Must tell you of the developments and success of the State Theatre Kiddies Club, the activities of which have reached astonishing proportions. The thing has built up so that we are using entertainers on the stage every Saturday, selected right out of the membership. They sing, dance or entertain in any way and receive prizes. We have no trouble at all getting ten or twelve entertainers each week. This is not only great training for the kids but gets the adults and builds up plenty of good will and interest. We have an ice cream tie-up locally that supplies every youngster on Saturday with a 5-cent box; have no trouble securing candy and good prizes for winners of stage games, doughnut-eating contests, pin the tail on the donkey, and many others. A special club song and cheer has been written and each meeting opens and closes with its singing, in addition to other popular songs sung by the members. We use a master of ceremonies to conduct meetings, who is assisted by 'Big Sister,' a young lady in charge of club and who drills the kids, trains especially talented ones and puts on little plays in which members partake. We devote 45 minutes to club activities at the close of Saturday matinee (so those who do not wish to remain need not do so). I could go on for two pages about the club as I have plenty of enthusiasm for it and believe that any manager who passes up this valuable business and good-will builder is passing up a real money proposition.

"There is no end to the possibilities of exploiting a Kiddies Club. For example, we are making arrangements to broadcast the best entertainers from among the members. Newspapers go big for accounts of the meetings to build up circulation through the kiddies. Our organist, who hasn't much to do, has a group of children who are given free piano lessons, each one a half hour weekly. Lessons are given in foyer, absolutely free, and we have chosen youngsters with possibilities who are not able to afford piano lessons. Adults appreciate and talk and comment very favorably for good-will purposes. Incidentally, the 'Big Sister' who has charge of our Club is none other than Mrs. Paul W. Kunze, who has Kindergarten training and to whom most of the credit for the success of the Club is due. Membership has gradually increased from 300 to 900 with new ones coming in each week, and including nearby towns, from where the youngsters either walk or 'Thumb' rides every Saturday.

"Among the gags used here successfully and taken from your columns are the Ladies Guest Matinee idea, Congratulations on Graduation and the 'Buy in Stoughton' Week campaign which we presented to Chamber of Commerce and are staging during the middle of August with full co-operation from them and also sharing of the expense. Incidentally, I have typewritten copies of the entire plan in detail which I will be pleased to send you, or any other member of the Round Table if anyone is interested. Am sure the theatre will make money on night when all merchandise is given away and the plan does not cost anyone much money."

We want to thank Paul for sending these ideas to us and like to state that if you feel that you want to run a "Buy in Your Own Town" Week, you take advantage of his offer and write him for the complete plans he so kindly proffers.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Teddy McDonald Lent Helping Hand To Unfortunate Kid

Whoever makes the statement that showmen are not kind hearted had better not do it in William Brown's presence. Brown is the manager of the Rivoli Theatre in West Haven, Conn., and he forwards us an account of an act of kindness on the part of Teddy McDonald, publicity director of the house, that was certainly a charitable deed.

Not so long ago a young boy walked into the publicity man's office in the theatre and with tears in his eyes asked him to assist in picking up his brother's lost eye. Amazed at the unusual request, McDonald hastened out to the lobby and was shocked to find that a young boy, who, having lost the sight of one of his eyes, necessitating a glass one, had dropped the counterfeit on the floor, where it had been instantly shattered. The boy was sobbing so much that his body twitched convulsively and it took hard work on McDonald's part to get him to talk.

When he found out that the lad was poor and unable to secure another eye, McDonald drew the necessary twelve dollars from his pocket and handed it to the kid. The money was sufficient to purchase another eye and the happy kid, the bills tucked away, went into the theatre as the publicity man's guest and witnessed the show with his one good eye.

We, too, want to compliment Teddy for his act of charity and we are sure that the rest of the Club joins with us in the expression of our sentiments. How about a picture and some dope on yourself, Teddy, so that we can introduce you to your fellow members?

Millard F. Gettier Placed 24 Sheet On Midget Golf Course

With Tom Thumb Golf courses being constructed with alarming rapidity, showmen all over the country have had to wrack the old bean and dope out ways and means to keep up with the trend of the times, before competition got too hot to hold them. Past issues of the Club pages have contained many helpful suggestions to showmen on how to combat the competition which these courses are offering. We have another slant now that is forwarded to us by Millard F. Gettier, City Manager of the Fox Theatres in Sheridan, Wyoming, and we are passing it along in the event that it will help you if you are confronted with a miniature golf course, and happen to be looking for a way to keep business going the way it should.

With three courses in his town, it was up to Gettier to do some quick thinking. He decided that the best thing he could do, in this particular case, was to erect a twenty-four sheet board right on the golf course. Look at the photo closely and you'll see what an asset it was. As more people stood around watching the players than playing, it was easy to notice that the board was going to come in for a big play. And the best part of the gag was the fact that in the evening Gettier got the benefit of the huge flood lights which illuminated the course.

Here's an angle that may be of help to you, too. Sit down and dope out its advantages or disadvantages to your situation and we think that you will hit upon a couple of business-building ideas. We want to thank Gettier for passing this timely suggestion along to us and we hope to hear from him again.

"The Showman's Calendar"

AN EXCLUSIVE CLUB FEATURE

Check up on these dates each week and see how you can turn them into "money dates" for your theatre.

AUGUST

Aug. 23rd	First Steamer to Cross Atlantic Launched (1818).
Aug. 31st	Birthday of Queen Wilhelmina (D. E. I.).

SEPTEMBER

Sept. 1st	Labor Day
Sept. 4th	Hendrick Hudson Sails up Hudson.
Sept. 6th	Pres. McKinley Assassinated — 1901—Lafayette Day.
Sept. 9th	Admission Day (Colorado, California).
Sept. 10th	Perry's Victory on Lake Erie—1813.
Sept. 12th	Defender's Day (Maryland) — Pershing begins successful drive on St. Mihiel salient—1918.
Sept. 13th	U. S. Troops take St. Mihiel—1918.
Sept. 20th	Regatta Day (Hawaii).
Sept. 22nd	Nathan Hale Executed
Sept. 23rd	Jewish New Year
	First Day of Autumn
Sept. 30th	Unconditional Surrender of Bulgaria.

Can you tie any of the above events into your theatre's activities?

And don't overlook the many local events that are constantly turning up right in your own town, county or state.

Keep an eye on "The Showman's Calendar" for an advance tip on future holidays and events.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

ANOTHER TRAILER ANGLE

By A. C. RALEIGH

Manager Fox West Coast Theatres, Olympia, Wash.

The question of trailers is one that needs some sort of supervision or attention. I frequently have patrons tell me that they liked the trailer better than the picture. One of these pictures happened to be "Glorifying the American Girl." In my present picture, "Roadhouse Nights," the press books and all advertising lauded Jimmy Durante as the new screen comic. In the picture he sings two songs and in the trailer he sings practically all of the same two songs—so people had already seen what I was hollering my head off to have them come and see.

I believe that trailers could be made up to excite the interest without showing your whole hand. In other words, it is like playing stud poker and exposing the hole card. I believe the Warner Brothers have to date evolved the best solution for trailers. As you know, their trailers give a little sort of story and introduce the cast, and use various methods of getting your interest in the picture without "spilling the beans."

In other trailers we have a lot of camera tricks and stuff that means nothing and is merely confusing; so I believe that the very best trailer should excite interest—in the story, in the cast, in the director, if necessary, and leave something to the imagination. A few scenes might be shown but I do not believe they should show all the punch scenes. These could be better described by some one of the cast in a way that would sell it without showing it. This is not an extreme and unusual idea because we are doing exactly the same thing daily in our other advertising and incidentally manage to sell the picture. Trailers should have sound, of course, and I believe should be more intimate than revealing.

The ideal place for trailers on a program is immediately ahead of the feature, and all other subjects such as scrip and house talks should come earlier in the program. Also, in the smaller theatres, at least, it is best to put the time the picture, advertised in the trailer, will be shown at the end of the trailer and not at the start.

The cost of trailers is very high, and for this reason the theatre should be entitled to a special trailer made as a trailer and not merely scenes put together from the picture. This may cost the studios more, but would certainly be worth it in increased patronage, as trailers should not give one the whole picture in tabloid form.

Bair Passes Along Account Of Stunt For Baby Courses

The latest showman to enter into enemy territory and secure publicity for his house is E. E. Bair, manager of the State Theatre in East Liverpool, Ohio, who persuaded the operators of a local Tom Thumb golf course to permit him to place placards about the course.

These cards were attractively made up in red and black on white stock. They were tacked at the most difficult holes on the course. The copy on the cards read: "If You Make This Hole In One You Will Receive a Free Ticket to See Norma Shearer in 'Let Us Be Gay.' (Theatre-Play Dates)." It is interesting to note that the players doubled their putting efforts in their eagerness to try and cop one of the coveted passes. The golf course operators were well pleased at the tie-up and promised any further co-operation that might be requested.

If you have been annoyed by these baby golf courses, here's another idea that you can put into use. We want to thank "E. E." for passing this along to us and we know that as he is a real live-wire showman he'll be grabbing off a flock of publicity from his house at little or no expense.

Double Wedding On Loew Stage Was Engineered By Bovim

When a showman can attract the largest crowd in the theatre's history to his house, he must certainly know his showmanship. So we have to hand a couple of mythical medals of honor to Russell A. Bovim of Loew's Theatre in Canton, Ohio, for the marvelous way he planned and executed a recent double wedding on his stage.

Every merchant of note in the city co-operated to make the affair a success. To the brides and grooms to be they contributed clothing, jewelry, transportation and, in fact, everything that a young couple needs when they embark on the sea of matrimony. The newspapers also co-operated and every day Bovim was the recipient of a story relative to the doings of the couples. If the brides went to shop for their wedding outfits, the papers carried the story and of course this pleased the local dealers, who were in on the plan—to say nothing of the free publicity for the theatre.

Of course, since Bovim is well versed in showmanship and good-will getting, it was only natural that he would run a co-operative advertising page in the local newspapers. And what a corker he turned out! In conjunction with this story we are showing you the two-page spread that the local merchants paid for and you will notice that plenty of space is devoted to the theatre's attraction and the stage wedding. The novelty of the lay-out made quite a hit with the local dealers and they more than expressed their appreciation. We would like to say that it wouldn't hurt to file away this newspaper lay-out as you can never tell when the opportunity will arise for you to use it.

On the night of the wedding the house was jammed. Every inch of available space was taken up. The theatre was converted into the replica of a church and all the dignity of a church wedding attended the nuptial service.

The large crowd remained hushed during the reading of the marriage service. The back of the stage was hung with a black velvet curtain with a large stained glass window in the rear of the improvised altar. The altar was banked with flowers and palms and flowers decorated the entire stage.

At the appointed hour, George Mader, at the theatre organ, played the Bridal Chorus from Lohengrin, heralding the entrance of the bridal party. Flower girls from the Clair Rae Studio, a local dancing school, preceded the bridal couples down the aisleway. The two rings were carried on a satin cushion by one of the young dancing pupils. Rev. O. P. Foust, pastor of the Lowell Reformed Church, performed the wedding ceremony after Little Jack Little, master of ceremonies, introduced the bridal couples to the audience.

As we stated in the opening paragraph, the affair was a huge success. We want to thank Russell for passing along this account of his work, as we know that there's bound to be some showmen who will take advantage of the tips it contains, and use them in their campaigns for "Bigger and Better Box-office."

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

LOOKING OVER THE FIELD WITH "CHICK"

Open Up the Golden Gate

Harkening to the promise of good old Eddie Hitchcock, back in New York, we immediately phoned Mory Foildaire (if the name is spelt wrong, blame Eddie) and then we started to look over the houses. Plenty of activity in this here town as far as appearances go around the theatres, but it was a tough day to select for visiting, especially in those houses with stage shows, because it was change-day, and in our language that means headaches. Over at the big 5,000-seat (according to an ambitious usher) Fox house the stage show was just going on and I'll bet that the manager of that house had HIS hands full seeing that the kinks and wrinkles were out before the show went on again that day. But it sure reminded us of the good old vaudeville (pardon, varieties) days when we sat and squirmed through the first matinee. Hi-Ho, at least we have that to be thankful for—it's over for a while—just the same we had a lot of fun in those years before squawkies, straightening out the bill and getting a ragged show to run like a bill of good vaudeville, (pardon, varieties).

Beautiful house, that Fox, and run (pardon the repetition) just like all the Fox West Coast houses we've visited. Seems to me that Harold Franklin ought to start a school for beginners and rotate a flock of youngsters around the circuit for about a week in each of the houses. Might take a long time for the students to graduate, but one thing is certain, they WOULD know how a theatre should be run when they got finished.

The RKO Golden Gate looked to me like a peach of a house, but why they tolerate such crummy looking hash in the lobbies and fronts must remain one of the mysteries of this trip. Then over at the California Theatre, they have a series of display signs, measuring about twenty feet long by four wide. These announced to the cash customers the fact that Ronald was Raffelling for the talkies. From a distance it made the house look rather midwayish, if you know what I mean, but after you got close it was not bad at all. Nice enough looking front and business, while I was standing around, was mighty brisk. The Paramount (where Foildaire hangs out) radiated that now famous Publix service, and I rather liked the way they handled the patrons there. Also, they can well be proud of their sound reproduction, if what I heard was an example of the way their equipment acts all the time.

Everything's a Secret

Chatted merrily with some of the boys, and once again the tocsin rang out its sweet call. "Listen, Chick, I'd rather you didn't mention my name, you know how so and so is back in the home office." Etc., etc. Applesauce. Why can't a man express himself in a friendly conversation without constantly being afraid that Oofus or Goofus would get mad Some day, into the limelight of show business, a real executive, with honest-to-goodness ability, will inject the same good business tactics that have been responsible for the growth of the leading commercial industries. Then, when you want to talk to a manager in a theatre he won't be worrying about every word he says or what the home office will have to kick about. Here's hoping we live to see that day. It's a long way off right now, we're afraid.

The neighborhood, or rather the smaller downtown houses, are typical of the ones we know so well all over the country. They are miles behind in the way they dress their fronts and the way they handle the patrons. So whether you live in New York or in San Francisco, you won't notice much difference in these kinds of houses.

We would like to spend about two weeks in this city, on a trip where time is not so important or scarce. Then we would be able to have a real visit with most of the boys and get to know them better. Herman Boss of the Palmer, Kersken of the Fox, McLean of the El Capitan, Spier of the Warfield, Arch Bowles of the Fox West Coast, and then across the bay you will find, among others, Frank Newman at the Oakland Theatre, Pilegard of the Plaza, and good old Rosenberg at the Diamond. And how we could use another few days to spend with an old Club standby, Lloyd Townsend at the New Piedmont, too. M. G. Keller of the Golden State Circuit and so on right down the line.

Portland, Oregon, Next

After I was in this city about two hours I knew that I would be sorry to leave it. Did you ever get that feeling when you go somewhere or meet some people? Either you feel that you will like it or else you feel that you wish you were gone and on your way. That's the way Portland struck us. And why not? First crack out o' the box, we find Conrad Holmes, last heard of in Florida for Publix, now contentedly hanging his hat in the beautiful Paramount Theatre here. And before we even found out who was in the house, we created a respect for him by reason of the O. K. Week display that he had made up to tie in with the Oakie picture currently playing there. And then we were ushered into the manager's office and what's the first thing that I see, a membership certificate for the Round Table Club right in the most conspicuous part of the wall, so we quickly jumped to find out who the member was.

Holmes? Where had we heard of that man before. Couldn't place him for all our brain-digging, so we gave it up until Conrad came in himself and explained the riddle. And it was sure great to meet and talk to one of the real active members. Strange coincidence that he was just finished sending off a complete resume of his campaign on "Dawn Patrol," and I know that everyone of the other members will be glad to learn how Holmes put over this marvelous selling campaign. It's worth reading too. Look for it.

And visit number two brought us face to face with Floyd Maxwell, city manager of the Fox West Coast houses and another real showman in every sense of the word. Floyd knows his business and he knows his Portland, which comprises two important factors in any man's existence. That his work is clicking proves the formula a good one. If we accomplish nothing else in this city, we will feel satisfied that Maxwell has faithfully promised to keep the pages of the Club section humming with the way they are running their houses and selling their shows. And since that is what we are particularly anxious to tell you on these pages, looks like we all have something to look forward to. Right? I'll say so.

Before it slips our mind, we want to say that we are going to prepare a little special article dealing with the way Conrad Holmes made a cold, uninviting lobby into a warm and homelike place, at no cost to the theatre. Just another case of a man using the brains that God gave him. Showmanship? Well, in this kind of a situation a more appropriate word ought to be coined.

It's always nice to find a welcome when you're so far away from your own fireside, and we must not forget to thank friend Haskell, MPNews correspondent, for being on hand to greet us when we arrived at the hotel, and then for piloting us to meet some of the boys. It's a great time-saver and helps eliminate a lot of waste. Maybe I'll be able to reciprocate if he should come to New York some day in the future. I hope so anyway.

Summer Sundays Are Tough

When we first drove through the streets on Sunday late afternoon we were surprised to see so few people around the downtown section. But after being around for a little while we find that the warm summer Sundays are mighty limited in number, therefore the people take advantage of it to make various picnic trips and go to the pleasure resorts. Naturally, it murders the show business, but, after all, it's the kind of opposition that one must expect and the best thing to do is to take it with a smile.

As a matter of fact, bellyaching about business is not quite so acute as in other spots we've visited. The desire to "plug" predominates, and that's a good sign right off the reel. Showmen who spend most of their time thinking up excuses to tell the boss or the home office because business is bad, are generally the eggs who don't know the meaning of the word "plug." Real showmen are the boys who are always on the job and never let up for a moment in planning to fill their seats and keep the customers keyed up to come to theatre.

At any rate, one can detect a most optimistic undertone when talking to any one of the live-wire showmen in this town. And, for a welcome change, there are many real independents to be found in this part of the state. We had almost despaired of meeting any of that almost extinct race, but they not only exist here, they thrive in most cases. Which is a tonic, sez we. What sez you?

Radio Tie-Ups Popular

MET a chap named Harris who is with one of the well-known broadcasting stations in town here and he is a go-getter especially where theatre broadcasting is concerned.

They send a program out over the air from the lobby of the Rialto Theatre regularly. The gage receives a lot of word-of-mouth comment. Jimmy O'Connell, the manager, deserves a word or two of praise for the ace settings he has achieved in his lobby for the presentation of the broadcasting. It's a great idea and a few more like it would solve the Tom Thumb and other menaces prevalent today.

Inspections Important

FREQUENT house inspections, together with the members of the staff in charge of the different departments of the theatre, result in everyone taking special care to insure a good rating on such inspections.

Knowing the responsibility placed upon them, the various department heads such as electrician, stage manager, chief operator, chief porter, chief usher, chief doorman, head cashier, engineer, etc., take particular pains to keep their allotment of the house spick and span. Some of these houses are perfect models of cleanliness, inside and outside.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

PERSONALITIES

Under this heading we shall publish news paragraphs about managers and exhibitors all over the country. If you want to know where your brother showmen are located and when they move from place to place, keep in touch with this page all the time. Items for publication under this heading should be addressed to "Chick" Lewis and will appear the week following receipt.

R. L. FAIR will be resident manager of the Meralta Theatre in Downey, Cal. House was bought recently by Earl L. Halburg, with whom Fair has been associated for six years.

* * *

HARRY SILVER, manager of the Palace in Hamilton, Ohio, vacationing in Chicago, met a couple of stick-up men. Minus ninety bucks, but wiser.

* * *

MILLARD BLAETTNER, manager of R-K-O Colonial in Dayton, Ohio, has been switched to the Strand, succeeding Claude Miller. Danny McNatt of Keith's in Cincinnatti, steps into the Colonial.

* * *

ANDREW ROY steps out of the managing directorship of the Paramount in Syracuse, N. Y., and goes to Gary, Ind., on his promotion to city manager.

* * *

ROY REED remains as manager of the Strand Theatre in Long Beach, Calif., on ownership switch.

* * *

CHAS. W. FURNAS is manager of the re-opened Buzz Theatre in West Milton, Ohio.

* * *

RICHARD MOSS, manager of the Raymond Theatre is now at the Florence in Pasadena, Calif. Former house dark.

* * *

HENRY SOMMERS is new manager of the Albee in Cincinnatti, succeeding Cliff Boyd, who deserts show business. Mark Silvers of San Francisco steps into the Lyric managership vacated by Sommers.

* * *

O. G. FINLEY is managing the Victory in Tampa, Fla. House dark all summer, now re-opened. James T. Newman of the Strand takes over reigns at Finley's former house, the Franklin. Strand will be closed to permit adoption of policy by Victory.

* * *

HARVEY "DOC" ARLINGTON has resigned from his connection with the local Publix house in Muncie, Ind.

* * *

HAROLD WRIGHT will handle the new theatre in Hollister, California, which is to open shortly.

T. H. DUCKETT, JR., manager of the Vernon Theatre, Vernon, Texas, has resigned that post to accept a position with the Griffith Bros. Amusement Co. of Oklahoma City.

* * *

LLOYD ANTHONY is the manager of the newly decorated Pastime Theatre of Bearden, Arkansas.

* * *

MILLARD GREER, former operator of the Omar Theatre at Schuyler, Neb., has taken over the managerial reins of that house.

* * *

J. T. HUGHES, former manager of Publix Theatres at Ranger and Paris, Texas, has gone to Breckenridge to assume his duties as manager of the local Publix houses.

* * *

JOHN HASSETT has been promoted to the manager of the Maine Theatre in Portland, Maine.

* * *

PAUL SHAY is the managing director of the Paramount Theatre in Syracuse, N. Y.

* * *

GEORGE B. GORDON, former manager of the Portland Theatre in Portland, Maine, has returned to that theatre after an absence of two and a half years.

* * *

JULIAN HARVEY, veteran theatre man, has assumed the management of the National Theatre, San Jose, Cal.

* * *

CAROL F. WINCHESTER will become the new assistant manager of the Fox Theatre, Detroit, Mich.

* * *

W. CLYDE GARDNER is the assistant manager of the Warner Brothers Earle Theatre in Washington, D. C.

* * *

T. L. HEINRICH, manager of the Hippodrome Theatre in Lancaster, Ohio, has been transferred to take charge of the Ohio and Lyric Theatres in Piqua, Ohio.

* * *

BYRON FARLEY is the new manager of the Warner Brothers Troy Theatre, Troy, N. Y.

WILFRED TULLY will manage the Empire Theatre in New Bedford, Mass., when that house opens early in August.

* * *

VINCENT SMITH has been appointed manager of the Capitol Theatre in Springfield, Mass.

* * *

C. T. LAIDLAW, manager of the Liberty Theatre in Dayton, Washington, gave an interesting talk on sound equipment at a recent Kiwanis luncheon.

* * *

JESS DAY has been selected to manage the Orpheum Theatre in Des Moines.

* * *

PAUL GREY, former New York publicity man, and now a resident of Dayton, Ohio, has taken over operation of the Salem Theatre. Gray also plans the construction of a $75,000 house in the suburbs.

* * *

JACK EDWARDS, former publicity director for the Orpheum in San Diego, Cal., has been recently appointed to manager of the house succeeding W. C. Welch, who goes to Oakland.

* * *

HARRY G. REES is the new manager of the Strand Theatre in Greensburg, Pa.

* * *

IRVING DUNN will become the manager of the Rialto Theatre in Norwalk, Conn.

* * *

JOSEPH C. KELLY has been named as manager for the Warner Bros. New Park Theatre in Johnstown, Pa.

* * *

GEORGE E. FRENCH has taken up his duties as Assistant Manager of the Fox-Poli in Springfield, Mass.

* * *

GEORGE REISING is now at the Empress Theatre in Norwalk, Conn. succeeding Ray Weiss as Assistant Manager when the latter left to assume managership of the Regent.

* * *

C. H. PRESTON of New York takes over the managerial reigns of the Schade Theatre in Sandusky, Ohio, succeeding George J. Schade.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Usher Ran Theatre In Plan Introduced By Mgr. Paul Krier

In order to instill more harmony and co-operation among his employees, Paul Krier, manager of the Valencia Theatre in Walsenburg, Colo., decided to engineer a novel plan at theatre.

Krier's plan was to allow the employees to handle the theatre for a week at a time and his first volunteer was Peter Swagel, one of his ushers, the youngest on the staff, in fact, who, though only fifteen years old was first to respond to Krier's call.

He showed a natural aptitude towards managing by announcing, after a day in office, that he was going to give a free show to all of the newsboys in the town. He had been a newsboy himself before breaking into the theatre business, and he wanted his former contemporaries to share his success with him.

According to Krier, this new stunt is meeting with great success and it has also turned out to be a good business builder due to the word-of-mouth publicity that circulated around the town as the natives talked about the youth handling the theatre. Perhaps, you, too, would like to use a stunt of this sort and if so it would pay you to sit down and dope out the best ways to use the idea, taking into consideration your local conditions. We want to thank Paul for passing this along to us and we hope that he is going to continue his activity. Let's hear from you more often in the future Paul, so that we can be posted on your work. (Psst—The kid's wise —Note M. P. News and Club Certificate.)

Free Parking For Two Hours Is Latest O'Connell Stunt

The first showman in Toledo, Ohio, to install sound equipment and, in fact, one of the first in the country to present the "talking pictures," Jack O'Connell, Managing Director of the Vita-Temple Theatre, again steps to the front by inaugurating the first free parking space for theatre patrons in his city.

In order to keep right up with the rest of the big city showmen who were all featuring free parking, O'Connell tied-up with a garage a hundred feet away and arranged for free parking space. The garage consented to the plan he proposed and the next day O'Connell broke into the papers with his ad which created quite a sensation around the city.

To make sure that persons attending the theatre would not decide to walk about the city before returning for the car, he set a time limit of two hours, which, after all, is ample enough time. In fact, the time limit had to be set since the garage is located in one of the busiest sections of the town. As the prospective patrons to the theatre drove into the garage they were handed a claim check which they were supposed to present at the theatre box-office where it was stamped paid. Upon presentation of the check at the garage the car was given out.

With plenty of cars pulling into the garage, the success of O'Connell's stunt was seen and better business was assured.

WARMING UP A COLD SPOT!

Portland, Ore.

We learned a good lesson from Conrad Holmes up in Portland, Ore., when he showed us how he took an otherwise cold and uninviting long lobby and converted it into as pretty and warm an entrance as you would find in many a mile of travel—big cities not excepted.

The Paramount Theatre, which he manages, contains some beautiful furniture and art pieces, but, unfortunately, they were "hidden," as it were, up on a promenade on the third floor. Rarely seen or visited by the patrons.

After doping the situation out for a while, he moved many of the pieces down into the roomy entrance foyer and so arranged them as to give the place a warm and "homey" atmosphere. The effect is really beautiful and adds much to the attractiveness of the theatre. The first impression seems to stay with you even after you are seated in the theatre. Small pieces of statuary, big and expensive vases, all tastefully placed where they will help create an impression of congeniality. Concealed baby spots emphasize this or that piece. Altogether, boys, Holmes has made this entrance a thing of comfort and beauty. And make believe the women-folks don't stop to look over some of those antique pieces of furniture! I stood there ten minutes, and with only one or two exceptions, they either stopped to study the stuff or paused to look the whole thing over before they passed on into the auditorium. And don't forget that most of those ladies have probably been in the house dozens of times before. But still they can't seem to get enough of a look.

There are a thousand theatres in the country where equally as cold an entrance foyer or lobby could be made beautiful. All you need do is to study your own theatre and see what can be done to improve the appearance of the place all the way through, especially where the customers must pass on their way to see your show.

Think it over, you other high-powered showmen. Maybe this will serve as a good suggestion.

"Chick"

Prettiest Waitress Gag Was A Winner For "Sig" Solomon

As he has been pretty busy putting the Publix Houses across in Youngstown, Ohio, we feel that any account, no matter how small, of S. S. Solomon's work will be welcomed by his fellow-members in the Round Table Club, so we want to tell you a little about the contest he arranged among the waitresses of the city, in conjunction with his showing of "Love Among the Millionaires" to determine the most attractive waitress in Youngstown.

Each restaurant and confectionery store was permitted to enter one girl, who appeared on the stage of the State Theatre several evenings in advance of the engagement of the picture. Selections were made by applause of the audience, and naturally the girls had a lot of "rooters" in the audience.

With every girl acting as a "walking and talking" ad for the picture, and the newspapers picking up the story, it is small wonder that "S. S." clicked again. We hope that when he is less busy he will find time to sit down and send us a nice long story setting forth his recent activities because we know they are bound to contain many valuable points of interest. How about it, "S. S."? Can we count on it?

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Col. W. F. (Buffalo Bill) Cody

AND HE WAS A MASTER SHOWMAN, TOO!

POSTCARDS

LEON O. MUMFORD

FROM

DENVER, COLORADO

Flittered Cut-out Letters On Stage Commands Interest

A couple of unique stunts were engineered recently by J. F. Thames, Jr., manager of the Saenger Theatre in Vicksburg, Miss., to plug his showing of "The Cuckoos."

One of the stunts consisted of having flittered cut-out letters on the stage for four days preceding the engagement; the letters spelling out the title of picture. During the showing of the trailer on "Cuckoos," one of the ushers dressed in a "Cuckoo" outfit, played and danced around the flittered letters. This stunt helped to focus attention on the title of picture and to convey the impression as to the comical situations to be found in the picture.

For a lobby display, Thames painted a display board and inserted an old cuckoo clock on the top. Wires led from this clock and were pulled by a small boy behind the display which caused the clock to 'Cuckoo' at patrons as they entered and left the theatre. This stunt was used one week in advance and during the engagement.

Both gags went over successfully and did a lot towards helping receipts at the box-office. We would like to call your attention to the fact that the flittered letters angle would be a good thing for you to try in case you are looking for a little novelty. Whereas in the past, and even yet, showmen have placed twenty-four sheetboards on the stage, this angle seems also to be of value and we think that if it fits in with your local condition it would be a good angle for you to use on any film of merit you want to sell.

Street Parade Was Feature Of Holden's Recent Show Work

It "beats the band" the way Earle Holden, manager of the Fairfax Theatre in Miami, Fla., ties up with local band whenever he thinks that his feature attraction needs a lot of drum beating. And when he played "With Byrd at the South Pole" he decided to give it plenty of publicity.

As the photos will show, you can see how Earle tied up with the local Junior Chamber of Commerce, an organization of young men who are always boosting Miami. The boys had a band of their own and this was pressed into service to plug the picture. They paraded about the main streets of the town and carried banners announcing their destination. When they arrived at the theatre they were presented with a picture of Commander Byrd and this was the signal for the newspapers to pick up the story. They did. And the next day the Fairfax was represented in every paper in Miami.

This angle was not the only one that Earle used to merchandise the show. He tied up with one of the local papers and arranged to run a contest to decide what child in Miami possessed a dog as near alike as Igloo, the canine which accompanied Byrd on his trip to the South Pole. For the 10 nearest likenesses tickets were presented to the dog owners. Plenty of publicity was secured at no cost to the theatre and a good deal of comment was rife about the town.

In order to draw still more attention to the film, Earle erected a large locomotive bell in front of the theatre. The bell was rung five minutes before the starting of the performances and could be heard five blocks away. As this was the first time a thing of this sort had been done in Miami, especially on the Main Street, a great deal of word-of-mouth publicity resulted, all of which tended to increase Earle's box-office and, as usual, click for him.

Gold Rush Filled Coffers At Senate For R. C. Rogers

With almost every house in Detroit giving away a Ford car it was up to R. C. Rogers, manager of the Senate Theatre in the Michigan City to follow suit. He did; but it wasn't so hot, due to the fact that the cars were pretty expensive for his house to give away and every penny had to be watched to make sure that the idea would pay for itself. This gave Rogers very little opportunity to advertise. So he felt that something else had to be done.

Hitting upon a plan, since he felt that a good many persons would much rather have cash than an auto, he decided to give away two hundred dollars in gold. He started off his campaign with a trailer stating that the theatre was going to give away gold. This was followed up with 5,000 handbills and then closed with the giving away of a numbered coupon to every paid admission for ten days before the awards.

Three days before the money was given away, Rogers hired an actor, dressed him in a prospector's costume, which included boots, gun, etc., and sent him out to plug the stunt. A miniature covered wagon was built and as the prospector went about the streets he would pull the wagon along with him. The sides of it were lettered: "I'm on my way to the Senate Gold Rush." In addition to this 5,000 pay envelopes, which Rogers promoted from the local bank, were passed out. The envelopes contained a small card plugging the drawing.

The stunt went over great and though the house seats 1200 it was found necessary, on the night of the awards, to turn away about 350 people. We understand that it will be repeated again in two weeks and we know that if he adds any new angles to it, Rogers will pass it along to us. Right, "R. C."?

A Brooklyn Showwoman

It has been called to our attention recently that we sort of overlooked some live-wire showmanship being displayed over in Brooklyn, N. Y., by a woman. This showwoman, Miss Chelle Janis, the only lady manager on the Loew Circuit, has been turning out some great stuff at the Century Theatre. In the past the Century has never made a record for sensational business, so it came as a pleasant surprise to us to hear that Miss Janis has been turning in excellent records with surprising consistency.

The work that she is doing along the exploitation and publicity lines is the medium attributed to the success of the house. One of her latest gags was a "Dog Beauty Show," in which prices were given for the cutest, the ugliest, the biggest and the smartest dog in the neighborhood. This stunt was worked in connection with "Hot Dog," one of Metro's animal shorts; and what we'd like to point out now is the fact that Miss Janis was wide-awake enough to cash in on the shorts—thus proving our assertion that one and two reelers are money makers in any man's house and are more than deserving of any publicity you give them.

We hope to hear more of Miss Janis' work in the very near future and it would be indeed a pleasure to pass it along.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Ten Thousand Iron Men Given Away By George B. Odlum

When a showman promoted ten thousand dollars from a bank and gave it away to patrons of his theatre it was time for us to look into the matter; but when we started to investigate and found that G. B. Odlum, publicity director of the Capitol Theatre in Wheeling, W. Va., was behind the stunt we knew that there was a catch.

The whole plan though was run right, according to advertisements. This is how it happened. Odlum, working hard as usual, promoted the co-operation of one of the local banks and the bank agreed to furnish a check for one dollar to every patron purchasing a ticket, the check to be used for starting an account.

The check was negotiable only when used as a deposit to open a new savings account, combined with one dollar and carried on deposit for six months. The stunt went over very well and, in the cut we are showing you, you can see how Odlum cashed in on it by advertising, with cut-out letters atop the marque, that ten thousand dollars were to be given away. And if signs like that didn't have the same stopping effect as a danger sign then "G. B." doesn't know his business. And we can't say that, because he also pulled a good one for a theatre plug.

He made up a number of heralds in coupon style, each containing a letter such as: "C is for Cool Comfort," "A is for Admiration expressed by each patron for Capitol shows," and so on. The idea was to secure a complete set making up the name Capitol. Upon presentation of the set, the bearer was admitted to the theatre. This idea, too, also went over and since these two accounts are all that we have on hand of "G. B."' recent work we will have to sign off until he sends us in his next contribution. And we hope it will be soon.

Austin P. Drohan Puts Personal Endorsement On Show

One of the most effective forms of newspaper advertising which a showman can use is that of the "personal endorsement" in his ad. We have many times stressed the fact that if a showman has made a name for himself in his town, he will generally find, when he has a picture that he is sure will click with his patrons, one of his best moves is to run a personal endorsement of it. Knowing his town as he does, and feeling sure that they would take heed, Austin P. Drohan, manager of the Capitol Theatre in Chatham, Ontario, Canada, ran one in his local paper.

In order that you may see the type of copy that went into the make-up we are reprinting it. The endorsement appeared in a box in the regular ad and under the heading "Mr. Drohan's Personal Endorsation," read:

> "In view of the insistent public demand from all parts of the country, I consider myself fortunate indeed, in securing for this theatre, the splendid picture "Ladies of Leisure." With so many exceptionally fine pictures being produced and shown it is a matter of difficult discrimination to recommend one as a really outstanding performance. However, despite this fact, I have no hesitation whatever in heartily recommending this picture, as one of the finest and most entertaining that it has been my privilege to show in Chatham. It is a picture you should not miss; one that I am confident you will really enjoy."

and was signed by Drohan.

The angle clicked and the house, as a result, came in for increased business during the run of the film. We would like to stress the fact that this can be overworked, too, and it would be well for you to use it only when you have a picture or message of special import. We want to thank Mr. Drohan for sending this in to us and we hope to hear from him again, very soon.

TEN CENT "SPECIALS"

Just the thing for a box office booster. A short time ago, Joe Murdock of the Rowland Theatre in Wilkinsburg, Pa., pulled one. He advertised that between 1:00 and 1:30 P.M. admission to everybody would be ten cents, a big price slash. For hours before the house was opened they were lined up. Business was more than tripled in that half hour and the best part of the stunt was the fact that it showed an increase and not a decrease as most of the persons who attended the special show would not ordinarily have paid the regular price.

This stunt can be worked in many different ways. You can feature a Scotch matinee and offer bargain prices, two tickets for one admission—or you can work it with the dime straight admission. At any rate, if your local conditions will permit, give it a try and we think that it will help business a lot as well as boosting your local good-will stock.

Local Exposition Enabled Fulton To Secure Publicity

When you can grab off a place in a street parade being sponsored by a Chamber of Commerce you can then say that you rate pretty high with the local moguls who run your town; and R. K. Fulton, manager of the Broadway Theatre in Council Bluffs, Ia., is entitled to say it.

He got a great break recently when the Council Bluffs Chamber of Commerce planned to usher in their annual exposition with a street parade. The parade this year was devoted to showing the various stages of transportation right up to the present day. When Fulton heard this and realized that he was playing "Montana Moon" at the same time he hustled out and secured a covered wagon to enter in the parade. In one of the photos we are showing you can see the wagon, preceded by a twenty-four piece band and a motorcycle escort, going through the main street of the town; and from the crowds lining the sidewalk it was easy to deduce that nearly all of them would be present that night when the picture unreeled.

It was no soft job to crash this parade as it was not engineered for any sort of advertising medium but in view of the fact that Fulton had helped the Chamber many times and taken an active interest in the affair he was permitted to enter the ballyhoo.

The other photo shows the unusually attractive aeroplane display he arranged in his lobby as a plug for "Young Eagles."

Two miniature planes that had recently been acclaimed first and second winners of a contest conducted by a local department store seemed to claim more interest than anything else due to their being made by local boys.

Also included in the lobby display were artwork and cut-outs, and various types of aeroplane motors which had been loaned by the Omaha Airways Co.

In addition to the array of aeroplane effects in the lobby, pennants were strung up and down the front of the building and then to the canopy.

With these couple of accounts just part of the work he turns out, it is small wonder that he is talked about in all the towns around Council Bluffs.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Concealing Names In Want Ads Are Boost To Business

A very good way of securing publicity, and at the same time boosting up the theatre's good-will stock with the local newspaper, was used by Roy L. Smart, manager of the Broadhurst Theatre in High Point, N. C., on a recent campaign.

Through the tie-up, the theatre netted the following space: On Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays, approximately three inches on the front page. On Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays, 18 inches on some page other than the amusement page.

The paper used a four-inch display on the classified page and mentioned the name of theatre quite a number of times in the classified columns.

Each day the paper used in its classified columns a list of twenty names. The people whose names appeared received one ticket with the following restrictions: "The ticket is dated and is good only within three days after the name was published. It is not transferable and must be called for at the newspaper office in person by the one whose name appeared.

At the present time Smart is using simply the name between classified ads; this being in order to make them easy to find. Soon however, he expects to use each name in a separate little message of which the following is a sample: "REWARD! You will be rewarded by bargains if you read these ads. If you find your name you will be entitled to a complimentary ticket to one of those good Broadhurst shows. We have a ticket for A. B. Smith."

The newspaper was more than pleased with his plan, particularly since it helped their advertisers. We are glad to see that Roy is continuing his up-to-the-minute showmanship, and we know he will continue to be an active contributor to the Club pages.

Latta Secured A Corking Aviation Display For House

One of the reasons for C. J. Latta's success as a showman is the fact that no matter where he goes he can generally secure the co-operation of every local newspaper. His latest stunt was engineered with one of the New Haven sheets and enabled him to secure model airplane display for his mezzanine floor in the Roger Sherman Theatre.

The paper had been running a model airplane building contest in conjunction with a local organization, composed of young boys, called the "American Sky Cadets." The boys had entered model planes in the event and on the day of the judging Latta offered to entertain the Cadets at his house on the Saturday morning directly after the planes had been picked.

The newspaper readily consented to his plan and for three days they ran a special notice about it in their columns. In this manner Latta secured some valuable newspaper space absolutely free of charge. On the day of the contest the Cadets, carrying a banner labeled: "The American Sky Cadets, Going to See 'Young Man of Manhattan' at the Roger Sherman Theatre," marched to the house and posed in front of it for the photo we are showing with this story. The photo appeared later on in the newspaper and Latta managed in this way to get a follow-up.

When his regular patrons saw the beautiful display of model planes that he had arranged on the mezzanine they were very enthusiastic in their praise of it and the subsequent word-of-mouth comment which followed when they told their friends about it, in no small measure aided towards bringing up the box-office receipts. We want to thank Latta for passing this along to us and we know that the future holds lots more of his live-wire ideas in store for us.

Atmospheric Front And Artist In Lobby Helped George Laby

A couple of photos that do an awful lot of talking is the way we might describe the two pictures that accompany this story of the work which George Laby is doing at the Olympia Theatre in Boston, Mass., to bring in the business.

In the photo on the left you can note the way he plugs his cooling plant by means of a refrigeration lobby where the keynote is coolness and nothing else but. Study it carefully and perhaps you can find an angle or two in it that may help you in plugging your own cooling plant. We would also like to call your attention to the corking way he plugs his current picture by means of special set pieces which are placed over the box office. The big cut-out in the center is illuminated at night and the stars' names is conspicuously displayed. This medium has been found to be a very effective flash especially in view of the fact that many thousands of autos pass the spot daily.

The other photo shows the way he plugged his coming attraction "With Byrd at the South Pole" by means of a lobby sketch artist who drew pencil portraits of the patrons, free of charge. Laby got in his plug for the picture by mimeographing the lower half of the sheet on which the portrait was drawn with copy on the film. The portion of the lobby where the artist's work was very attractively made up. An elevated platform was erected with a proper scenic background, and special murals with copy and stills on the coming attractions placed on the wall.

We are glad to see that Laby is keeping up his corking show merchandising and let's hope that his activities will be broadcast from the Club pages in the future as often as they have in the past. Right, George?

Willis Had Town Laughing At His Novel Lobby Trick

Making use of a gag that will fit on any picture enabled C. R. Willis, manager of the Strand Theatre in Meridian, Miss., to create a good deal of interest in his coming picture.

A corner of the lobby was partitioned off with compoboard—lettered to explain nature of the contest. Small holes were cut through the compo board and these were covered with screen wire to prevent anyone using a stick to investigate; and besides, looking through the screen also tended to give it a more mysterious effect. Looking through these holes, one perceived what appears to be a water faucet suspended by a very fine wire (no pipe connection). Pouring from this faucet is a continuous stream of water. The sides and top were draped with black cloth and a blue flood light covered with blue gelatine which tended to give it a further mysterious effect. The stunt created plenty of attention and was known as "The Mystery Faucet."

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Lovett Founded A 'Cuckoo' Club With Himself As Chief

With a good many years of showmanship experience behind him, you can generally find J. Fred Lovett right on hand when it comes to thinking up gags to use in connection with campaigns on the film attractions at his house.

The latest stunt he perpetrated was on "The Cuckoos." In order to key up interest in the film he decided to inaugurate a "Cuckoo Club." Announcement to this effect was placed in the house organ in advance of play dates of the picture. Anyone who paid admission to the theatre was entitled to join the club. Membership cards which certified that "The bearer (name) was a member in good standing in 'The Cuckoos'" were issued. An angle that helped boost up membership was the fact that Lovett was to send out the list of members to Wheeler and Woolsey in Hollywood, and this aided membership considerably. The motto of the order was "Do not worry, smile and be happy as you go through life. And with no dues to pay—even the Scotchmen smiled. (Those who received membership on passes.)

As Fred is turning out some fine work at the Royal Theatre in Providence, Rhode Island, we feel that he is going to be represented on our pages many more times in the future, particularly so since his house organ proclaims the theatre "The Outstanding Community Theatre In The City." And to adhere to that standard, showmanship is necessary.

Two Examples Of W. P. McGeachie's Advertising Skill

"Just to keep the ball rolling," flashes W. P. McGeachie, manager of the Algoma Theatre in Saulte Ste. Marie, Canada, "here's a couple of more tie-up pages from my thriving metropolis." Well, when we receive any advertising matter from "W. P." we always stop to look it over closely to see what original touches he has injected into it and, as usual, we were not disappointed.

If you will study the cut closely, you will note the various ways he works the products of the local dealers into his copy. And the copy is very well written. No matter what the product is which the dealer is offering, as seen in the "Vagabond King" lay-out the copy fits it to a "t." As he was playing "Honey" right after the "Vagabond King," McGeachie decided to label the week "Music Week" and the two musical pictures served as the basis for the tie-up ad page.

Then when he had three comedy pictures scheduled it was an easy matter to tag it "Joy Week" and in this manner go to work and promote another full-page spread. In the ad you will notice the many plugs he gets in for the theme songs. Due to the smallness of the cut, we want to point out the clever way he introduced Marjorie White, who was to appear shortly in "The Golden Calf." In the ad under her name he put in parenthesis "The Toronto Star" and this served to pep up interest in the picture a little more than usual.

Stern And Robinson Continue To Keep In The Front Ranks

If it's cooling suggestions or front display ideas that you are looking for it will pay you to study these two photos showing some of the work turned out by Fleet Robinson and Harry Stern at the Capitol Theatre in Reading, Pa., where they operate.

The display front in the left photo was used on "Journey's End," and by promoting a bunch of cannon, machine guns, and cement bags, the "ace" atmospheric effect was achieved. Special beaver board art work was used to sell the films by means of catch lines and pictures.

The other photo shows a combination plug on the cooling plant and "Ingagi." Knowing these two showmen as we do, we knew that they would construct a front in keeping with the locale of the picture and their jungle scenes, for the film had all of Reading talking. We would like also to point out that another thing for you to center your attention on at the present time is the knockout cooling plant display that they are featuring on the top of the marquee.

Beaverboard cut-out of Eskimos, a giant beaverboard thermometer and fake icebergs served to give an effect that will take some searching to find the duplicate of it. The kids standing in front of the house are all waiting to get in the special show, at reduced prices, that was offered during the run of the current film. Incidentally we don't want to finish this story without mentioning that the catch lines "Cool as a Cave" seems to be as good a line as any to portray a picture of coolness and we know that Robinson and Stern won't mind if you decide to use it for your own house. Are we right?

"Take-A-Chance" Week Clicked Well For Bill Barron

Following the idea that Charlie Carroll of the Stanley Theatre in Jersey City pulled not so long ago, Bill Barron, manager of the Ritz Theatre in Elizabeth, was enabled to engineer successfully a "Take a Chance" week that went over to good b. o. biz.

To start with, the screen of the Ritz was adorned with world shots culled from film libraries showing all kinds of idiots taking all kinds of chances and this was used as the background upon which to play upon Elizabeth's sporting blood.

The lobby was filled with cut-outs of Lindbergh, Steve Brody and dozens of others who took a chance in their time and came to no grief. Barron sent his staff outside and prevailed upon the biggest ice cream parlors, sandwich emporiums, tea rooms, coffee shops and restaurants to set up "Take a Chance" offerings of all kinds.

Five local merchants were persuaded to take a co-operative page on the "Take a Chance" idea with a good splash for the Ritz show in the center. The Ritz advertising was in teaser form, whetting the appetites for the marvels and mysteries behind the question marks. For the sake of a ducat, five newsboys shouted "Take a Chance" all through the day on Elizabeth's principal corners.

The idea, being novel to Elizabeth, went over like a size forty-six suit on a Singer midget, and the publicity that Barron derived from the stunt was enough to gladden the heart of any showman. All this leads us to believe that Bill has been holding back on us and we want him to know that unless he keeps us posted on his work we'll have to send our secret service force out to see what he is doing. As we feel that you don't want us to do that, Bill, why not shoot some stuff into us.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

The Fable of the Hero Who Hearkened

By C. NEEMA

Once upon a time, in a fair sized city, there worked a very good showman. From morning to night he toiled to put his house across. No matter what kind of trash they handed him in his reel cans (and oh, what trash he used to get!) he never complained. Early in the morning and late at night, he sold the film.

Picking out the high spots in the weak celluloid he would play them up as honestly as possible. And, believe it or not, he actually sold the picture. Dissenting voices were never heard in his house. People either had a good word to say about his shows, or they didn't say anything.

One fine day the showman read an article labeled "Exploitation" that appeared in his circuit organ. As he read he began to muse in this manner:

What a fool I've been to work so hard. Look, even my bosses say I'm crazy. The big publicity chief says that tie-ups as tie-ups are worth nothing except to grab space with photos in the trade papers. Well, he must be right. Of course, I've received a lot of valuable ideas from the photos that grabbed space in the trade papers, but I guess that doesn't count. No—I've been a palooka. From now on I lay off and go after nothing but newspaper space.

Days, weeks and finally months went by. In all this time, the once alert manager landed his house in the papers five times. But business was bad. It had never been like this in the old days. No, sir. Then you couldn't go any place in town without seeing the name of the attraction at the theatre. Something must be wrong.

The showman thought and thought and as he pondered he began to wonder whether the publicity chief was right. But he was a loyal employee. He knew that the king could do no wrong. While he was still debating the question a knock was heard at the door.

"Come in," shouted our hero.

A messenger from the home office stepped into the room.

"A letter for you, Mr. Zilch, from the General Manager," he said, proffering an official envelope.

Our hero opened the missive and scanned the contents of the enclosed sheet of paper. Suddenly he let out a war whoop and commenced to break up the office furniture.

The messenger looked on in wide-eyed surprise which a moment later turned to fear. With a yell he fled from the office, reappearing in a few minutes with a couple of men.

Upon entering the room they found the manager slumped over the broken desk. In his hand he clutched the crumpled communication. The assistant manager picked it up and read aloud:

Dear Mr. Zilch:

Considering the fine record you made for yourself in the past, we were very much surprised to learn that in the past few months your business has been very poor.

Our publicity chief advises us that you have submitted but five newspaper stories as proof of your exploitation work the last three months, whereas at other times you have reported much more activity.

It is with sincere regret that we request your resignation from this company, to take effect one week from today.

GUSTAVE VIND, Gen'l Mgr.

The story is ended. No—just one more point. Years later anyone visiting a cemetery in the far West and coming upon this inscription engraved on a tomb stone:

"Joseph Zilch. He fooled himself on exploitation."

would, before leaving, question the doorman as to why so strange an epitaph should have been chosen. But they never knew; for like poor Joe Zilch, the doorman didn't know the answer.

Binstock Back At Astoria; and Here's What He's Doing

Not having heard from Paul Binstock in some time, we were wondering what had happened to him, when suddenly he bobbed up and informed us that he is now "back in harness" at the Astoria Grand Theatre, in Astoria, Long Island, where he divides his time handling the house and zone managing the Astoria theatres.

To set us right on his work immediately, Paul forwarded a couple of photos, which we are showing below, and that tell, more than words, that he is right there with the goods when it comes to tossing curves on the showman pellet. The photos show a tie-up he arranged in conjunction with his showing of "The Vagabond King" by securing a beautiful radio-victrola and using it in the lobby to plug the theme songs. The other gag was one of his well-known lobby stunts. He effected a tie-up with a safe company and they loaned him a safe for the lobby. He placed a cut-out of a burglar alongside of it for effect and, on top of the safe, a card carried copy inviting anyone who wished to try, to open the safe, with a pass being offered as an inducement.

Knowing Paul's neighborhood as we do, we have a hunch that a great many persons took advantage of the stunt, particularly due to its novelty, and we feel that his business must have been excellent on the film. At this time, we want to mention that he proposes his assistant, Leon Sternberger, for membership, and from what he has to say about him it looks to us as though he will be handling his own house shortly.

JESS MARLOWE says:

"I have been a constant reader of the MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB section, from which I derive a good bit of experience, putting over a good many stunts by taking several ideas on one or several pictures and putting them into one stunt, and they have always clicked for me. To me the MOTION PICTURE NEWS is not only interesting for the experience value, but the news value also; it gives me the happenings of the rest of the show world."

St. Petersburg, Florida.
Manager, Pheil Theatre,

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

Mounted Cowboy Served As Ballyhoo For G. Delis

Despite the heat, George Delis, manager of the Olympic Theatre in Steubenville, Ohio, manages to keep his house before the public's eye through the use of many and varied stunts.

When he played "For the Defense" he made up a novel herald in the form of a court summons and distributed it about the town as well as at the theatre. The heralds were made up in legal style and printed so that they could also be tacked up. They were handed out to autoists as well as being placed in parked cars. In addition to this stunt Delis also mailed out invitations to the members of the Steubenville Bar Association, inviting them to witness the film at the theatre. The stunts went over very well and as a result the picture came in for a lot of word-of-mouth publicity.

In the cut we are showing you can see how Delis plugged "The Border Legion" by means of an excellent street ballyhoo that caused widespread comment. He dressed a boy in cowboy outfit, complete from head to foot, and sent him about town, mounted on a horse, carrying a banner plugging the picture. The boy rode along the principal streets of the town attracting attention wherever he stopped, especially from the kids, who followed him for blocks. We would like to point out that this stunt can be used to good advantage on any Western and should prove a fine business builder for the Saturday matinee westerns in case you play them especially for the kids.

We are glad to note that Delis is continuing his well-known activity and we hope to hear from him again very soon. What do you say, George?

Free Ice Cream To Kids Helped Julius Lamm Get Business

"It's a hundred out here in the shade," says Julius Lamm, manager of the Fox Theatre in Sheboygan, Wisconsin, "but we're getting the kids in, just the same."

It has long been a point with Lamm to keep his kiddie business right up to the notch where it belongs. In order to keep the youngsters coming to the theatre he has pulled many novel stunts. His latest was effected through a tie-up with a local ice cream manufacturer from whom he promoted 600 cones and 10 gallons of ice cream for free distribution at the theatre. The ice cream company featured "Our Gang" in conjunction with their product, so when Julius had an "Our Gang" comedy booked in it was a natural tie-up and the company was more than glad to make it.

Tie-ups seem to be sort of second nature with him, for right after the ice cream stunt he contacted with a local travel agency and they agreed to award a four-day tour to some luck patron of the Fox. Tickets, paid for by a local dealer whose ad was carried on the back, were given away at the theatre with every admission. The stunt went over very well and helped boost the good-will stock of the Fox higher than usual, with plenty of publicity resulting.

To show you how he plugs his picture out front of the house, we'll tell you about the gag he engineered for "Midnight Mystery." He secured an old-time clock and used a skeleton as a pendulum. A picture of the star in the film was on the face of the clock, whose hands pointed to the midnight hour. A small sign on top of the clock read: "This is the time things start to happen in 'Midnight Mystery'—Starting Wednesday." As the gag had not been used before in Sheboygan, it drew considerable attention and doubtless helped business during the run of the film. We are glad to note that Julius is displaying his usual activity and we are sure that he is going to continue the active interest he is taking in the Club page. What do you say, Julius?

"THE DANCING CURTAIN"!

Billy Stillman, manager of the Ritz Theatre in Jersey City, has hit on a laugh-getter—the dancing curtain.

The stunt was a knockout when first tried on the kids and later introduced at the evening performance when adults were in attendance.

During the organ solo, which is given ten minutes before the daily matinee starting time, the organist played a red-hot jazz number, and during the last chorus the electrician backstage started the curtain dancing in time to the music. This created gales of laughter and the house resounded with the roars of the delighted kids. They were still laughing after the matinee.

Perhaps you'd like to try this one out at your house. There's no harm in giving it a play and if not overworked it will always prove to be productive of many laughs.

Dixon Williams Jr. Certainly Knows His Window Tie-ups

Dixon Williams, Jr., capitalized on several things that resulted in splendid publicity for "Hallelujah" playing at the Imperial Theatre, Charlotte, N. C.

Perhaps one of the best tie-ups was with the leading department store with their featuring a "Hallelujah" Cotton Goods Sale during the week of showing of picture. The store's window had a display of cotton goods dresses, an art board showing two stills from the picture and copy relative to the picture as well as mentioning the picture, theatre and playdates in their ads.

In return for sponsoring the "Hallelujah" sale of cotton goods, the theatre permitted the store to feature some of the material, dresses, etc., in the lounge room of the theatre. Some of these dresses were the same as those used at the Hotel Astor fashion show in New York and featured in Vanity Fair.

The Charlotte Observer through its editorial section gave "Hallelujah" mention on Tuesday during the run—following this with an excellent editorial on Thursday that was directed to the people in the rural districts and small towns.

FRANK BOUCHER Says;

". . . say a few words for the Club pages. I am sure it would be a great loss to any manager who could not find a few minutes to run over these pages. You are doing a great work for all of us and all I can say is, 'Keep it up'."

Warner Bros. Theatres,
Hagerstown, Md.

MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB

THE SMARTEST MOVE YOU WILL EVER MAKE—

JOIN NOW!!

Here's the Blank

Application For Membership In "MANAGERS' ROUND TABLE CLUB"

729 Seventh Ave., New York City

I hereby apply for membership in the Club.

Name .....

Theatre .....

Address .....

City .....

State .....

Position .....

Wm. A. Johnston Honorary Chairman — "Chick" Lewis Chairman

WHAT ARE YOU WAITING FOR?

And Still They Come!

HERBERT H. SCHWAHN manages the Majestic Theatre in Plymouth, Wis., and from what we have seen in the way of showmanship out around his state, he must be certainly stepping on the gas to keep in line with the rest of the live-wires. We'd like to hear from Mr. Schwahn concerning the way he sells his shows, and we hope he will favor us with an early account.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

WILLIAM E. BURTON is the manager of the Bexley Theatre in Dover, Ohio. Mr. Burton is a showman who is well qualified for the position he now holds, and we are sure that he will be an active member. As your first move, Bill, how about sending us in a photo of yourself, together with a little dope on your career?

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

GORDON HUNN is the assistant manager of the Lyceum Theatre in Duluth, Minn., and coming to the Club, proposed as he is by Morris Rosenthal, Duluth's Demon Showman, we feel that he must have a bright future before him, and we hope that he listens very carefully to Morris' instructions, for heeding them will mean a rise up the ladder. Keep us posted, Gordon, so that we can note how you are progressing.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

EDWARD FURNI is the manager of the Paramount Theatre, in St. Paul, Minn. Since he has been handling the house Mr. Furni has been displaying some corking work along the exploitation angle, and from what we understand business is going great. We hope that Mr. Furni will supply us with his formula and at the same time include his photograph.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

EDDIE KUEPPERS is the publicity director for the Paramount Theatre in St. Paul, Minn., which house you will note is handled by Ed. Furni. Mr. Kueppers figured prominently in a recent smash stunt on the Byrd film, and from that we have deduced that he is certainly a live-wire, and we are sure that in view of the fact, such ace work is being turned out he will want to be an active member.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

ED. KRAUS really needs no introduction as his activities around Fargo, North Dakota, where he handled the State Theatre, have shown him to be a showman of no mean merit. We would like to know something about Ed's personal history along the show line, and if he will include his photo along with the story, we can give him a regular introduction.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

SAM I. LEVIN manages the Paramount Theatre in Provo, Utah. He has been in the show game for some time, and, though located in a town where he is somewhat handicapped as to exploitation possibilities, he manages nevertheless to give an excellent account of himself. Keep up your fine work, Sam, and we'd like to have you drop us a line or two setting forth the ways and means you employ to bring business into your house.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

LEONARD MORLEY is managing the Palace Theatre in Peoria, Illinois, and from what we hear about the way he is belting them over the fence for box-office homers there's need for the S. R. O. slab to be dusted off. We hope that he will continue the active interest he is showing in the Club and shoot along some of his more recent work, so that we can pass it along on our pages.

JULES S. YURMAN is the Assistant Manager of the Manhattan Theatre in New York City. Being Barney Lazarus' assistant, it seems to us that Yurman is going to learn a lot about theatre operation, as his former line was publicity and advertising. And take it from us, Jules, Barney knows that line too. Let's hear from you often so that we can keep tabs on your work.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

C. E. CARDEN is the manager of the Kirby Theatre in Houston, Texas. In a city of such size as Houston, Mr. Carden should have many opportunities to put his house across and we are sure that he is taking advantage of all of them. In order that we may see how you are selling them "C. E.," why not drop us a line, giving us the dope and at the same time include your photo.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

LELSIE WILKES manages the Palace Theatre in Corsicana, Texas. According to some dope we have on hand, Mr. Wilkes is doing a fine job of it in his town and we are sure that if he contineus his showmanlike work that business will go still higher than the marks he has reached. Keep it up, Leslie, and let's have some accounts of it.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

L. P. WEAVER is the manager of the Rialto Theatre in Phoenix, Arizona. Mr. Weaver's recent exploitation activity has shown us that he certainly knows his stuff when it comes to selling the town. We would like to hear more of this showman's work and we hope he will favor us with some accounts of it so that we can shoot it along on our pages. What do you say, "L. P."?

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

MONTE HANCE manages the Saenger Theatre in Biloxi, Miss., for the Publix outfit. Displaying showmanship of the highest calibre is the way he keeps them coming into his house and we hope that Monte will furnish us with some accounts of it in order that we can let his fellow members and managers see what he is doing.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

HARRY L. KAUFMAN is the manager of the Empire Theatre in Purnell, Missouri. Eighteen years of age, he lays claim to being the youngest exhibitor in the country and if any of the Club can beat his record we'd like to hear about it. And by the way, Harry, how about sending us in some of your work so that we may see how old you are according to experience.

———Wear Your Club Pin! ! !———

HAROLD W. BAILEY manages the Capitol Theatre in Lawrence, Mass. As we have already seen what these New England showmen can do in the line of show-selling, we are sure that since Bailey has been in the game for some time he is anxious to keep right in step with the leaders.

Photos of Members!

THE Club is anxious to publish photographs of every member and would, therefore, appreciate receiving as many as possible for use in future issues of the Club columns. If you have not already done so, PLEASE send us your own photo at once. Thank you.

COMPLETE RELEASE CHART

Productions are listed according to the names of distributors in order that the exhibitor may have a short-cut toward such information as he may need, as well as information on pictures that are coming. Features which are finished or are in work, but to which release dates have not been assigned, are listed in "Coming Attractions." Running times are those supplied by the distributor. Where they vary in different cities or towns, the change is probably due to state or local censorship deletions.

AMKINO

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Cain and Artem	E. Gall-N. Simonov	June	6	72	02...78...June 14
Children of the New Day	Gilladova-Litkin	June	28	55	16
China Express	Special Cast	Mar.	8	56	31...65...Mar. 15
Demon of the Steppes	Saltykov-Podlesnaya	Jan.	18	68	00...75
Fragment of an Empira	Nikitin-Semenoca	Jan.	25	70	00...78...Feb. 1
Law of Sib-Taiga
Man from the Restaurant	Tchekhov-Malinovska	Jan.	4	60	00...67...Jan. 18
Old and New	Martha Lapkina	May	2	69	21...76...May 10
Pamir, Record of Expedition		July	12	60	00
Turksib	Educational	May	24	49	00...60...June 14

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Jimmy Higgins	A. Buchma
Living Corpse, The	V. Pudovkin
Raziem	M. A. Narokov
Soil	S. Svazhenko
Spring	Educational
Storm Over Asia	V. Inkizhinov	Aug.	1	71	52
Transport of Fire	G. Kuznotsov
Tunpas of Siberia	Educational

COLUMBIA

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
†§Around the Corner (A. T.)	Sidney-Murray	Apr.	26	63	56...71...May 3
*†§Call of the West (A. T.)	Revier-Matt Moore	May	10	65	00...72...May 31
*†§Guilty? (A. T.)	Holland-Valli	Mar.	3	63	71...71...Apr. 12
*†§Hell's Island (A.T.)	Sebastian-Holt-Graves	July	16	74	62...67...July 26
*†§Ladies of Leisure (A. T.)	Stanwyck-Graves-Sherman	Aer.	5	92	77...103...Apr. 19
*†§Lone Rider, The (A. T.)	Jones-Reynolds	June	9	54	32...59...July 12
*†§Melody Man, The (A. T.)	Collier, Jr.-Day-St. Polis	Jan.	25	63	88...71...Feb. 15
*†§Murdor on the Root (A. T.)	Revier-Livingston	Jan.	19	54	00...60...Feb. 1
*†§Porsonality (A. T.)	Starr-Arthur	Feb.	18	63	04...70...Mar. 1
*†§Prince of Diamonds (A.T.)	Ian Keith-Pringle	Mar.	26	63	83...71...May 17
*†§Royal Romance, A (A. T.)	Collier-Starke	Mar.	17	63	59...63...May 31
*†§Sisters (A. T.)	D'Day-D'Neil	June	15	82	84...70...June 28
*†§Soldiers and Women (A. T.)	Pringle-Withers	Apr.	30	66	71...70...May 17
*†§Temptation (A.T.)	Wilson-Gray-Percy	June	6	62	79...70...June 28
*†§Vengeance (A. T.)	Holt-Revier-Straage	Feb.	22	61	60...68...Mar. 1

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Africa Speaks (A. T.)
*†§Arizona (A.T.)
*†§Brothers (A.T.)
*†§Charley's Aunt (A.T.)
*†§Criminal Code, The (A.T.)
*†§Dirigible (A.T.)
*†§Fifty Fathoms Deep (A.T.)
*†§Flood, The (A.T.)
*†§For the Love of Lil (A.T.)
*†§Good Bad Girl (A.T.)
*†§Jazz Daughters (A.T.)
*†§Ladies Must Play (A.T.)					Aug. 16
*†§Last Parade, The (A.T.)
*†§Last of the Lone Wolf (A.T.)	Bert Lytell
*†§Lion and the Lamb, The (A.T.)
*†§Madonna of the Streets A. T.)
*†§Man From Hell's River (A.T.)
*†§Paris Nights (A. T.)	Barbara Stanwyck
†§Miracle Woman, The (A.T.)
*†§Rain or Shine (A. T.)	Joe Cook				July 26
*†§Road to Broadway, The
*†§Squealer, The (A. T.)
*†§Subway Express, The (A.T.)
*†§Sweethearts on Parade (A.T.)
*†§Tol'able David (A.T.)
*†§Woman Who Came Back, The (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†Alaska Knights	Krazy Kat Cartoon	May 22	1 reel	July 12
*†Autumn	Disney Cartoon	Feb. 13	1 reel
*†§Barnyard Concert	Mickey Mouse		1 reel	July 5
*†Cannibal Capers	Disney Cartoon	Mar. 13	1 reel
*†Cat's Meow, The	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Jan. 2	1 reel
*†§Continental Evening, A	Fay Marbe	Feb. 12	1 reel
*†Desert Sunk	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Mar. 27	1 reel
*†§Do It Now	Clark & Bergman	Jan. 29	1 reel
*†§Fiddlin' Around	Mickey Mouse		1 reel	June 21
*†§Firefighters	Mickey Mouse	June 11	1 reel
*†Galloping Fish	Disney Cartoon	May 8
*†§Hawaiians		Apr. 9	1 reel
*†Jazz Rhythm	Krazy Kat		1 reel	July 26
*†§Marionettes	Tony Sarg	Mar. 12	1 reel
*†Old Flame, An	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Apr. 24	1 reel
*†§Radia-Tors	Utica Jubilee Singers	Feb. 26	1 reel
*†Slow Beau	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Feb. 27	1 reel
*†§Spookeasy	Krazy Kat Kartoon	Jan. 30	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Spike Speaks	Frank Moulan	Mar. 26	1 reel	Mar. 1
*†§Stage Door Knights	Buddy Doyle	Apr. 23	1 reel
*†§Stage Door Pest	Boyce Combe	Jan. 15	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Summer	Silly Symphony	Jan. 16	1 reel	Feb. 1
*†§Talking Screen Snapshots	Released twice a month		1 reel

EDUCATIONAL

SOUND SHORTS

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Average Husband (A. T.)	Clyde-Moorhead	Sept. 7
*†§Bitter Friends (A. T.)	Lambert-McPhail	Apr. 27	1609	18
*†§Big Jewel Case, The (A.T.)	Lambert-Kelsey-Garvin	Feb. 23	1480	16	Feb. 22
*†§Bulls and Boars (A.T.)	Pollard-Clyde-Beebe	Mar. 2	1838	20	Feb. 22
*†§Bully Beef	Terry-toon	July 13	1 reel		July 12
*†§Camera Shy (A.T.)	Hamilton-Hiatt	Feb. 9	1480	16	Feb. 22
*†§Campus Crushes (A.T.)	Clyde-Beebe-Stuart	June 15	1929	21	June 28
*†Caviar	Terry-Toons	Feb. 23	659	7	Feb. 22
Chop Suey	Terry-Toon	Aug. 24
*†§Chumps, The (A.T.)	Beebe-Clyde	July 6	1888	21	July 12
*†§Codfish Balls	Terrytoon	June 15	578	6
*†§Dad Knows Best (A.T.)	Holmes-Bolton	Mar. 30	1840	20	Apr. 12
*†§Drumming It In (A.T.)	McKee-Smalley	Jan. 26	1600	18	Jan. 26
*†§Fat Wives for Thin (A.T.)	Beebe-Barraud-Clyde	May 25	1980	22	May 31
Flying Trip	Hodge Dodge	Sept. 7
*†§Follow the Swallow (A. T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	Apr. 27	1886	19	Apr. 28
*†§French Kisses (A.T.)	Collins-Boyd	June 15	1884	19
French Fried	Terry-Toon	Sept. 7
Freshman's Goat (A. T.)	Cooke-Shockley	Sept. 7
*†§Goodby Legs (A.T.)	Pollard-Stuart	July 27	1961	22	July 12
*†§Good Morning, Sheriff (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	May 25	1735	19	June 14
*†§Hail the Princess (A.T.)	Boley-Collins	May 11	1573	17
*†Hawaiian Pineapples	Terrytoon	1 reel	602	7	May 24
*†§He Trumped Her Ace (A.T.)	Burke-Beebe	Mar. 23	1895	21	Apr. 12
*†§Hello Television	Clyde-Christy	Aug. 17	1844	20
His Error (A.T.)	Barnes-Collins	Sept. 14	1750	20
*†§Honeymoon Zeppelin (A. T.)	Beebe-Pollard	Apr. 13	1978	22	Aer. 28
*†§Honk Your Horn (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	June 29	1718	19	June 28
*†§Hot and How (A.T.)	Goodwin-Crane	Jan. 12	1528	17	Jan. 11
*†Hot Turkey	Terry-Toon	May 4	604	7
*†§How's My Baby (A.T.)	Barnes-Collins-McPhail	June 22	1667	19
*†§Hungarian Goulash	Terry-Toons	June 29	515	6
*†Indian Pudding	Terry-Toon	Apr. 6	576	6	Apr. 26
Johnny's Week End (A.T.)	Johnny Hines	Sept. 14
*†§Kangaroo Steak	Terry-Toon	July 27	1 reel
*†§Match Play (A.T.)	Hagen-Diegel	Mar. 18	2002	22	Feb. 22
*†§Monkey Meat	Terry-Toon	Aug. 10	548	6
*Museum of Art, A	Hodge-Podge	Feb.	1 reel
*†§Oh Darling (A.T.)	Dover-McPhail-Peek	Feb. 16	1565	17	Feb. 1
*†§Peace and Harmony (A.T.)	Lambert-Collins-McPhail	May 18	1660	18	May 10
*†§Polished Ivory (A.T.)	Lloyd Hamilton	Mar. 16	1642	18	Mar. 29
*†Pretzels	Terry-Toons	Mar. 9	623	6	Apr. 5
*†§Prize Puppies	Lloyd Hamilton	Aug. 3	1724	19
*†§Radio Kisses (A.T.)	Beebe-Duryea-Carewe	May 4	1891	21	June 14
*†Roman Punch	Terry-Toon	Apr. 20	560	6	Apr. 26
*†§Scotch (A.T.)	Clyde-Bevan-McPhail	Jan. 19	1961	22	Jan. 4
Si, Si, Senoré (A.T.)	Tom Patricola	Sept. 21
*†Spanish Onions	Terry-Toon	Mar. 23	637	7
*†§Sugar Plum Paps (A.T.)	Clyde-Gribbons	Feb. 16	1932	21	Feb. 1
*†§Swiss Cheese	Terry-Toon	June 1	547	6
*†§Trouble For Two (A.T.)	Raymond McKee	Mar. 9	1527	17	Mar. 29
Vacation Loves (A. T.)	Clyde-Betty Boyd	Sept. 28	1904	21
*†§Western Knights (A.T.)	Lambert-St. John-McPhail	Apr. 20	1661	20	Apr. 5

FIRST NATIONAL

(Available sound-on-disc only)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Back Pay (A.T.)	Corinno Griffith	June 1	5672	53	June 7
*†§Bride of the Regiment (A.T.)	Sepal-Pidgeon	June 22	7418	82	May 24
*†§Broken Dishes	Young-Withers	Dec. 1	Not Set		Aug. 9
*†§Dawn Patrol, The (A.T.)	Barthelmess-Fairbanks, Jr.	Aug. 10	not set		July 19
*†§Flirting Widow (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill	May 11	6664	74	June 7
*†§Furies (A.T.)	Warner-Wilson	Mar. 18	8608	73	Apr. 28
*†§In the Next Room (A.T.)	Jack Mulhall	Jan. 26	6336	70	Apr. 12
*†§Lilies of Field (A.T.)	Corinne Griffith	Jan. 5	5979	67	Dec. 21
*†§Loose Ankles (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr.-Young	Feb. 2	6190	68	Mar. 8
*†§Murder Will Out (A.T.)	Mulhall-Lee	Apr. 6	6200	69	Apr. 19
*†§No, No, Nanette (A. T.)	Claire-Gray	Feb. 18	9108	101	Jan. 11
*†§Notorious Affair, A (A. T.)	Billie Dove	May 4	6218	69	May 3
*†§Numbered Men (A.T.)	Nagel-Claire	Aug. 3		72	June 7
*†§Other Tomorrow (A.T.)	Billie Dove	Feb. 9	5800	64	Jan. 4
*†§Playing Around (A.T.)	White-Morris	Jan. 19	6003	68	Apr. 5
*†§Road to Paradise, The (A.T.)	Young-Mulhall	July 20	6935	86	July 5
*†§Sally (A.T.)	Marilyn Miller	Jan. 12	9277	103	Dec. 28
†§Show Girl in Hollywood (A.T.)	White-Mulhall	Apr. 20	7213	80	May 3
*†§Son of the Gods (A.T.)	Rich. Barthelmess	Mar. 9	8344	92	Feb. 8
*†§Song of the Flame (A.T.)	Gray-Claire	May 25	6501	72	May 3
*†§Spring Is Here (A.T.)	Claire-Gray	Apr. 13	6386	71	Apr. 26
*†§Strictly Modern (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill	Mar. 2	6632	63	May 10
*†§Sweethearts and Wives (A.T.)	Billie Dove	June 15	7000	77	June 7
*†§Sweet Mama (A.T.)	Alice White	July 6	6012	55	July 19
*†Top Speed (A.T.)	Brown-Claire-Whiting	Aug. 24			June 21
*†§Way of All Men, The (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr.-Revier	Sept. 7	6032	70	July 26

Coming Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Adios (A. T.)	Richard Barthelmess
*†§Bad Man, The (A.T.)	Huston-Revier	Oct. 5
*†§Bright Lights (A.T.)	Dorothy Mackaill	Sept. 14		July 5
*†§Captain Blood (A.T.)	James Rennie
*†§College Lovers (A.T.)	Whiting-Nixon
*†§Deee Purple (A.T.)
*†§Father's Son (A.T.)	Jonney-Stone-Rich
*†§Girl of Golden West (A.T.)	Harding-Rennie			75...June 21
*†§Going Wild (A.T.)	Joe E. Brown
*†§Gorilla, The (A.T.)	Joe Frisco	Nov. 16
*†§Heart of the North (A.T.)	Loretta Young
*†§Honor of the Family, The (A.T.)	Walter Huston
*†§Hot Heiress, The (A. T.)	Lyon-Munson
*†§Kismet (A.T.)	Otis Skinner
*†§Lady Who Dared, The (A.T.)	Billie Dove	Nov. 20
*†§Little Caesar (A.T.)	Edw. G. Robinson
*†§Man in the Sky (A.T.)	Irene Delroy-Jack Whiting
*†§Mother's Cry (A. T.)	Peterson-Manners
*†§One Night at Susie's (A.T.)	Dove-Fairbanks, Jr.	Sept. 28
*†§Queen of Main Street (A.T.)	Lee-Lyon
*†§Reckless Hour (A.T.)
*†§Right of Way, The (A.T.)	Nagel-Young	Oct. 19
*†§Scarlet Pages (A.T.)	Ferguson-Nixon	Sept. 21
*†§Sunny (A.T.)	Marilyn Miller
*†§Toast of the Legion A.(T.)	Claire-Pidgeon	Nov. 9
†§Truth About Youth (A.T.)	Young-Tearle
*†§Widow from Chicago (A.T.)	Alice White
*†§Woman Hungry (A.T.)	Lee-Kohler-Blackmer

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.*

FOX FILMS

(After August all releases sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Are You There? (A.T.)	Lillie-Garrick	Dec.	14
*†§Arizona Kid, The (A.T.)	Baxter-Maris	Apr.	27....7450	83	May 17
*†§Big Party, The (A.T.)	Lee-Carol-Albertson	Feb.	23....6482	72	Mar. 1
*†§Born Reckless (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe	May	11....7400	82	May 19
§†*Cameo Kirby (A.T.)	Terris-Murray	Jan.	12....6120	68	Dec. 7
*†§Cheer Up and Smile	Lee-Lake-Baclanova	June	22....5600	62	Aug. 2
*†§City Girl (P.T.)	Farrell-Duncan	Feb.	16....6171	69	Aug. 19
*†§Common Clay (A.T.)	Bennett-Ayres-Marshall	Aug.	17....7961	88	June 21
*†§Crazy That Way (A. T.)	Bennett-MacKenna	Mar.	30....5828	64	Mar. 29
*†§Double Cross Roads (A. T.)	Ames-Lee	Apr.	20....5800	64	Mar. 29
*†§Fox Movietone Follies of 1930 (A.T.)	Special Cast	May	4....7422	64	May 10
*†§Good Intentions (A.T.)	Lowe-Churchill	June	29....6340	70	June 14
*†§Golden Call (A.T.)	Carol-Mulhall-Brendel	Mar.	16....6552	73	Feb. 22
*†§Happy Days (A.T.)	Special cast	Mar.	2....7526	84	Jan. 18
*†§Harmony at Home (A.T.)	Collier, Sr.-Churchill	Jan.	19....6395	70	Dec. 14
*†§High Society Blues (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell	Mar.	12....6750	75	Mar. 1
*†§Last of the Duanes (A.T.)	D'Brien-Loy-Browne	Aug.	31....5500		July 12
*†§Let's Go Places (A.T.)	Wagstaff-Lane	Feb.	2....6745	72	Jan. 18
*†§Lone Star Ranger (A.T.)	George O'Brien	Jan.	5....5940	66	Jan. 25
*†§Men Without Woman (A. T.)	McKenna-MacDonald	Feb.	9....7246	81	Jan. 4
*†§Not Damaged (A.T.)	Moran-Byron-Ames	May	25....6500	72	June 14
*†§One Mad Kiss (A.T.)	Jean Jose Mojica	July	13....5566	64	July 14
*†§On the Level (A.T.)	Victor McLaglen	May	18....5600	62	July 26
*†§On Your Back (A.T.)	Rich-Warner-Hackett	Sept.	14....6600	70	July 26
*†§Sky Hawk (A.T.)	Garrick-Chandler	Jan.	26....6925	76	Dec. 14
*†§So This is London (A.T.)	Will Rogers	June	8....8300	92	May 31
*†§Song D' My Heart (A.T.)	John McCormack	Sept.	7....8243	92	Mar. 15
*†§Such Men Are Dangerous (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Mask of Love" in Feb. 1, 1930, issue)	Baxter-Dwen	Mar.	9....7586	82	Feb. 1
*†§Temple Tower (A.T.)	MacKenna-Day	Apr.	13....5200	58	May 17
*†§3 Sistars (A.T.)	Drasser-Patricole	Apr.	6....6442	71	Apr. 26
*†§Wild Company (A.T.)	Albertson-Warner-Lynn	July	6....7200	80	July 19
*†§Women Everywhere (A.T.)	Murray-Dorsay-Kellard	June	1....7500	83	June 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§A Devil With Women	Victor McLaglen-Maris
*†§Alone With You (A.T.)	Gaynor-Garrick
*†§Barcelona (A.T.)	Gaynor-Bogart
*†§Big Trail, The (A.T.)	Wayne-Churchill-Marshall
*†§Blondie (A.T.)	Moran-Bogart-Ames
*†§Cisco Kid, The (A. T.)	Lewe-Baxter
*†§Connecticut Yankee, A (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§Fair Warning (A.T.)	O'Brien-Huntington	Nov.	23
*†§F. O. B. Detroit
*†§Girls Demand Excitement (A.T.)	Brendel-White-Compton
*†§Going Nowhere (A.T.)	Brendel-White-Tracy
*†§Heart Breaker, The (A.T.)	Michael Bartlett
*†§Her Kind of Man (A.T.)	Murray-Huntington
*†§Hot Numbers (A.T.)	Corcoran-Byron Collier, Sr.
*†§Just Imagine (A.T.)	Brendel-O'Sullivan	Nov.	2
*†§Lightnin'	Will Rogers	Nov.	9
*†§Liliom (tentative title)	Farrell-Taylor
*†§Luxury (A.T.)	Warner-Luce			Dec. 28
*†§Man Trouble	Sills-Mackaill	Aug.	24....1800
*†§Man Who Came Back, The (A.T.)	Farrell-Huntington
*†§Men on Call (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe	Dec.	21
*†§Movietone Follies of 1931 (A.T.)	Special Cast
*†§Network (A.T.)	Sills
*†§No Favors Asked (A.T.)	Wayne-Lee-Francis
*†§Oh, For a Man! (A.T.)	Gaynor-Farrell
*†§One Night in Paris (A.T.)	Gaynor-MacKenna
*†§On the Make (A.T.)	McLaglen-Dorsay	Not Set	Not Set	July 26
*†§Painted Woman, The (A.T.)	McLaglen-Dorsay
*†§Play Called Life (A.T.)	Moran-Holmes	May	30
*†§Princess and the Plumber, The (A.T.)	Farrell-O'Sullivan
*†§Renegades	Baxter-Beery-Loy	Nov.	16
*†§Scotland Yard (A.T.)	Edmund Lowe
*†§Sea Wolf (A. T.)	Sills-Keith-Hackett	Sept.	28
*†§See America First (A.T.)	Will Rogers
*†§She's My Girl (A.T.)	Farrell-Comoton
*†§She Wears the Pants (A.T.)	Dorsay-MacKenna
*†§Soup to Nuts (A.T.)	Healy-Winnier-Smith	Oct.	5
*†§Spider, The (A.T.)	Baxter-Churchill
*†§This Modern World (A.T.)	Baxter-Alcaniz
*†Tonight and You (A.T.)	J. Harold Murray-Moran	Oct.	19
*†§Uo the River (A.T.)	Luce-Bogart-Tracy	Dec.	7
*†§Woman Control (A.T.)	Murray-Maris-Luce
*†§Women of All Nations (A.T.)	McLaglen-Lowe
*†§Wyoming Wonder (A.T.)	Wayne-Clarke-Compton
*†§Young Sinners (A.T.)	Moran-Albertsen

INTERNATIONAL PHOTOPLAY DISTRIBUTORS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Length Reels	Mins.	Reviewed
*†After the Verdict	Olga Tschechowa	Jan. 1	7	76
*†§Crimson Circle, The	Stewart Rome	Feb. 1	7	79	Jan. 11
*†§Dark Red Roses (A.T.)	Rome-Doble	Mar. 1	8	67	Mar. 8

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Length Reels	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Acl-Dental Treatment		2	17
*†§Abbie Mitchell & Sizzle & Blake	Seng Program	1	8
*†Allez-Op	Marionettes	1	8
*†§Clyde Doerr & Saxephone Sextet	Jazz Program	1	8
*†§Feed the Brute (A.T.)	Animal Novelty	1	8
*†§Hoak (A.T.)	Frawley & Smith	1	9
*†§Justice (A.T.)	Special Cast	2	17
*†§Little Journeys in Songland	Song Series	1	8
*†§Miser, The (A.T.)	Bransby Williams	1	8
*†§Mr. Smith Wakes Up (A.T.)	Marriott-Gott	2	16
*†§Night in Dixie, A (A.T.)	Mitchell-Hudgins	2	15
*†§Nora Blaney No. 1	Song Program	1	9
*†§Nora Blaney No. 2	Song Program	1	9
*†§Operette	Marionettes	1	9
*†§Radio Franks & 4 Bachelors	Song Program	1	8
*†§Teddy Brown & His Band	Jazz Program	1	9
*†§Unwritten Law, The (A.T.)	Rosalind Fuller	Feb. 1	3	30
*†§When the Clock Struck Twelve (A.T.)	Niles Welch		2	16

METRO-GOLDWYN-MAYER

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Anna Christie (A.T.)	Greta Garbo	Feb.	21....6700	74	Dec. 21
*†§Big House, The (A.T.)	Beery-Morris-Hyams	June	21....7901	88	June 28
*†§Big Shot, Tha (A.T.)	Keaton-Ellers	Aug.	30	75	July 26
*†§Caught Short (A.T.)	Basil Rathbone	Jan.	3....7961	88	Nov. 16
*†§Bishop Murder Case (A.T.)	Dressler-Moran-Pege	May	10....6873	75	May 10
*†§Chasing Rainbows (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Road Show" in Nov. 2, 1929, issue)	Love-King	Jan.	10....8100	80	Nov. 2
*†§Children of Pleasure (A. T.)	Gray-Rubin-Johnson	Apr.	12....6400	72	Aug. 9
*†§Devil-May-Care (A.T.)	Ramon Novarro	Feb.	7....8782	98	Dec. 28
*†§Divorcee, The (A.T.)	Shearer-Morris	Apr.	26....7533	84	Apr. 19
*†§Free and Easy (A.T.)	Buster Keaton	Mar.	22....8413	93	Feb. 22
*†§Floradore Girl, The (A.T.)	Davies-Gray	May	31....7260	81	June 7
*†§Girl Said No, The (A.T.)	Haines-Hyams	Mar.	15....8382	93	Feb. 1
*†§Good News (A.T.)	Special Cast	Not Set	8100	80	Apr. 12
*†§In Gay Madrid (A.T.)	Ramon Novarro	May	17....7654	85	June 7
*†§Lady of Scandal (A.T.)	Chatterton-Forbes-Rathbone	May	24....8858	68	May 31
*†§Lady to Love (A.T.)	Vilma Banky	Mar.	8....8142	90	Feb. 6
*†§Let Us Be Gay (A.T.)	Shearer-La Roque	Aug.	9	70	May 3
*†§Lord Byron of B'way (A.T.)	Terry-Kaley-Edwards	Jan.	28....7200	80	Jan. 25
*†§Montana Moon (A.T.)	Joan Crawford	Mar.	29....7917	88	Feb. 8
*†§Not So Dumb (A.T.) (Reviewed under title of "Dulcy" in Nov. 2, 1929, issue	Davies-Nugent	Jan.	17....7650	85	Nov. 2
*†§Our Blushing Brides (A.T.)	Crawford-Page-Sebastian	July	11....9138	102	July 19
*†§Redemption (A.T.)	Gilbert-Nagel-Adoree	Apr.	5....6019	67	May 10
*†§Rogue Song, The (A.T.)	Lawrence Tibbett	May	10....9372	104	Feb. 1
*†§Romance	Greta Garbo	July	26		Aug. 2
*†§Sea Bat, The (A.T.)	Bickford-Miljan-Torres	June	7....6570	73	May 3
*†§Ship From Shanghai, The (A.T.)	Nagel-Johnson-Wolheim	Jan.	31....6225	69	Jan. 18
*†§Singer of Seville, The (A.T.)	Novarro-Jerdan-Aderee	Aug.	24....9179	100	July 12
*†§Sins of the Children (A.T.) Reviewed under the title of "Richest Man" in the World in July 5 issue	Mann-Nugent	June	27....7775	86	July 5
*†§Strictly Unconventional (A.T.) Reviewed under the title of "The Circle" in Feb. 22, 1929, issue	Stone-Cavenagh-Dwen	May	3....4970	55	Feb. 22
*†§This Mad World (A.T.)	Rathbone-Johnson	Apr.	19....8100	68	Apr. 19
*†§They Learned About Women (A.T.)	Van and Schenck	Jan.	31....8773	97	Dec. 14
*†§Unholy 3, The	Chaney-Lee-Linow	Aug.	2	70	May 24
*†§Woman Racket (A.T.)	Meore-Sweet	Jan.	24....6387	71	Dec. 14

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Ballyhoo (A.T.)
*†§Battle of the Ladies (A. T.)
*†§Billy the Kid (A.T.)	John Mack Brown
*†§Bugle Sounds, The (A.T.)	Lon Caney
*†§Call of the Flesh	Novarro
*†§Crisis, The (A.T.)
*†§Dance, Fools, Dance (A.T.)
*†§Dark Star, The (A.T.)	Marie Dressler
*†§Daybreak (A.T.)	Ramon Novarro
*†§Dixie (A.T.)
*†§Doing That Thing (A.T.)
*†§Doughboy	Buster Keaton
*†§Five D'Clock Girl, The (A.T.)	Marion Davies
*†§Great Day, The (A.T.)	Joan Crawford
*†§Great Meadow, The (A.T.)
*†§Her Fortune (A.T.)	Joan Crawford
*†§Jenny Lind (A.T.)	Grace Moore
*†§Like Kelly Can (A.T.)	Montgomery-Jardon
*†§Madame Satan (A.T.)	Reginald Denny
*†§March of Time (Tent.)	Weber & Fields
*†§Merry Widow, The (A.T.)
*†§Monsieur Le Fox (A.T.)	Barbara Leonard
*†§Naughty Marietta (A.T.)
*†§New Moon, The (A.T.)	Tibbett-Moore
*†§One Embarrassing Night				Aug. 16
*†§Passion Flower, The (A.T.)	Bickford-Hyams
*†§Prisoner of Zenda	Novarro
*†§Razzle-Dazzle (A.T.)	Dressler-Moran
*†§Red Dust (A.T.)	Greta Garbo
*†§Remote Control (A.T.)	Haines-Doran
*†§Revue of Revues (A.T.)	King-Love-Haines-Crawford
*†§Rosalie (A.T.)	Marion Davies
*†§Song of India (A.T.)
*†§Tampico (A.T.)
*†§Those Three French Girls (A.T.)
*†§Trader Horn (A.T.)	Harry Carey
*†§War Babies (A.T.)	Buster Keaton
*†§War Nurse (A.T.)
*†§Way for a Sailor (A.T.)	John Gilbert
*†§Way Out West (A.T.)	Haines-Hyams
*†§World's Illusion, The (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§All Teed Up	Charley Chase	Apr.	19....1895	Mar. 20
*†§Baby Follies (A. T.)	Revue	Apr.	12
*†§Bear Shooters	Our Gang	May	17....1881	Feb. 15
*†§Below Zero (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	Apr.	26....1869
*†§Big Kick, The	Harry Langdon	Mar.	29....1827	Jan. 25
*†§Biltmore Trio		Jan.	25....853
*†§Blotto	Laurel-Hardy	Feb.	8....2854	Feb. 15
*†§Brats	Laurel-Hardy	Apr.	27....1928	Apr. 5
*†§Clock Shop, The	Revue	May	10...2 reels
*†§College Hounds	Dogs		2 reels	Mar. 29
*†§College Remees	Biltmore Trio	Jan.	25....853
*†§Doerr, Clyde		Jan.	18....572
*†§Fast Work (A. T.)	Charlie Chase	June	28....1866	May 24
*†§Fifty Million Husbands	Charlie Chase	May	24....1848	Mar. 29
*†§Fighting Person	Langdon	Feb.	22....1877	Dec. 14
*†§First Seven Years, The	Our Gang	Mar.	1....1843	Apr. 5
*†Flower Garden	Revue	Jan.	18
*†§Gems of M-G-M (A.T.)
*†§Haywire (A.T.)	Laurel-Hardy	May	29....1775	June 7
*†§Head Guv, The	Harry Langdon	Jan.	11....1878
*†§Hog Wild (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	May	31....1775
*†§Hot Dog	Dogs		2 reels	Feb. 15
*†§Kiddies Revue (A. T.)		Mar.	15
*†§King, The	Harry Langdon	June	14....1787
*†§Laurel & Hardy Murder Case	Laurel-Hardy		2 reels	Aug. 2
*†§Manhattan Serenade (A. T.)	Hackett-Doran
*†§Night Owls (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy	Jan.	4....1895	Dec. 14
*†§Old Man Trouble (A. T.)	Davidson-Nichels		2 reels
*†§Real McCoy (A. T.)	Chase	Feb.	1....1899	Dec. 14
*†§Shivering Shakespeare	Our Gang	Jan.	25....1870
*†§Shrimp, The	Harry Langdon	May	3....1738	Feb. 15
*†§Song Writer's Revue, The (A.T.)
*†§Tough Winter, A	Our Gang	June	21....1880	Mar. 29
*†§Van & Schenck		Jan.	11....799
*†§Vodeville (A. T.)	Laurel-Hardy		2 reels
*†§When the Wind Blews	Our Gang	Apr.	5....1795
*†§Whispering Whoopee		Mar.	8....1907	Mar. 29

PARAMOUNT

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel.	Length Date	Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Anybody's War (A.T.)	Moran & Mack	Aug.	2	6750	75	Apr. 5
*†§Applesauce (A.T.)	Helen Morgan	Jan.	4	7060	78	Oct. 12
*†§Behind the Make-Up (A.T.)	Skelly-Wray-Powell	Jan.	11	6364	71	Dec. 28
*†§Benson Murder Case Tha (A.T.)	Powell-Paliette-Calvert	Apr.	12	5794	65	Apr. 19
*†§Big Pond, Tha (A.T.)	Chevalier-Colbert	May	3	6064	78	May 17
*†§Border Legion, The (A.T.)	Arlen-Wray-Holt	June	28	6068	68	July 5
*†§Burning Up (A.T.)	Arlen-Brlea	Feb.	1	5251	58	Feb. 15
†§Civilian Clothes (A.T.)	Cooper-Collyer	July	12
*†§Dangerous Nan McGrew (A.T.)	Helen Kane	July	5	6571	71	June 28
*†§Dangerous Paradise (A.T.)	Carroll-Arlen	Feb.	22	5244	56	Feb. 22
*†§Devil's Holiday, The (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll	May	24	6743	75	May 17
*†§Follow Thru (A.T.)	Rogers-Carroll	July	26	Not set		May 24
*†§For the Defense (A.T.)	William Powell	July	28	6670	63	July 12
*†§Grumpy (A. T.)	Cyril Mauda	Aug.	23	5949	66	July 12
*†§Honey (A.T.)	Nancy Carroll	Mar.	29	6701	74	Feb. 22

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.*

*†§Kibitzer (A.T.) (D.)	Green-Brian-Hamilton	Jan.	11	7273	81	Aug.	31
*†§Ladies Love Brutes (A.T.)	George Bancroft	Apr.	26	7177	70	Apr.	19
*†§Laughing Lady	Chatterton-Brook	Dec.	28
*†§Let's Go Native (A.T.)	MacDonald-Oakie	Aug.	16	6560	65	May	31
*†§Light of Western Stars (A.T.)	Arlen-Brian-Green	Apr.	19	6312	70	May	31
*†§Love Among the Millionaires (A.T.)	Bow-Smith	July	19	6190	71	July	12
*†§Love Parade (A.T.) (D)	Chevalier-MacDonald	Jan.	18	10061	111	Dec.	19
†§Man From Wyoming (A.T.)	Cooper-Collier	July	12	6120	68	July	12
*†§Manslaughter (A. T.)	Colbert-March	Aug.	9			July	26
*†§Men Are Like That (A.T.)	Hal Skelly	Mar.	22	5580	61	Nov.	23
*†§Monte Carlo		Not Set		7650	85	Aug.	9
*†§Only the Brave (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	Mar.	8	6024	67	Mar.	15
*†§Paramount on Parade (A.T.)	Special Cast	Apr.	26	9125	90	Apr.	5
*†§Return of Fu Manehu (A.T.)	Dland-Arthur	May	17	6586	73	May	10
*†§Roadhouse Nights (A.T.)	Morgan-Ruggles	Feb.	15	6780	74	Dec.	28
Reviewed as "River Inn" In Dec. 28, 1929 Issue
*†§Safety In Numbers (A.T.)	Charles Rogers	June	7	7074	79	June	7
*†§Sap From Syracuse (A.T.)	Jack Oakie	July	26	6018	68	Aug.	2
*†§Sarah and Son (A.T.)	Ruth Chatterton	Mar.	22	6868	77	Mar.	22
*†§Seven Days' Leave (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	Jan.	25	6100	68	Nov.	23
Reviewed under the title of "Medal" In Nov. 23, 1929 Issue
*†§Shadow of the Law (A.T.)	Powell-Schilling	June	14	6392	68	June	7
*†§Silent Enemy, The	Indian Cast	Aug.	2	8080	88	May	17
*†§Slightly Scarlet (A.T.)	Evelyn Brent	Feb.	22	6402	71	Jan.	25
*†§Social Lion, The (A.T.)	Dakie-Brian	June	7	5403	60	June	21
*†§Street of Chance (A.T.)	Wm. Powell	Feb.	8	7023	90	Dec.	28
*†§Texan, The (A.T.)	Gary Cooper	May	10	7142	68	May	17
*†§True to the Navy (A.T.)	Clara Bow	May	31	6396	71	May	17
*†§Vagabond King, The (A.T.)	King-MacDonald-Oland	Apr.	19	9412	105	Jan.	11
*With Byrd at the South Pole		June	28	7411	82	June	28
*†§Young Eagles (A.T.)	Charles Rogers	Apr.	5	6405	71	Mar.	22
*†§Young Man of Manhattan (A.T.)	Colbert-Ruggles	May	17	7621	85	Apr.	26

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Animal Crackers (A .T.)	Marx Brothers
*†§Anybody's Women				Aug. 16
*†§Better Wife, The (A. T.)	Chatterton-Brook	Aug.	30
*†§Dancing Mothers (A. T.)
*†§Feet First (A. T.)	Harold Lloyd
*†§Fighting Caravan, The (A.T.)	Huston-Francis
*†§Heads Up (A. T.)	Rogers-Kane
*†§Her Wedding Night	Clara Bow
*†§Honeymoon Lane (A. T.)	Eddie Dowling
*†§Huckleberry Finn (A. T.)	Junior Durkin
*†§Kid Boots (A. T.)	Jack Oakie
*†§Laughter (A. T.)	Nancy Carroll
*†§Leave It to Laster (A.T.)
*†§Little Cafe	Maurice Chevalier
*†§Manhattan Mary	Ed Wynn
*†§Merton of tha Talkies (A.T.)	Jack Oakie
*†§Mollnoff (A.T.)	Charles Rogers
*†§Morocco (A. T.)	Cooper-Dietrich
*†§Monte Calro	MacDonald-Buchman
*†§New Morals (A. T.)	Wm. Powell
*†§Queen High (A. T.)	Ruggles-Rogers-Morgan	Aug.	23	July 26
*†§Right to Love, The (A.T.)	Ruth Chatterton
*†§Rodeo Romance (A. T.)	Arlen-Carroll
*†§Rose of the Ranehe (A. T.)	Gary Cooper
*†§Royal Family, The (A. T.)	Frederic March
*†§Scarab Murder Case (A. T.)	William Powell
*†§Sea God, The (A. T.)	Arlen-Wray
*†§Skippy (A. T.)
*†§Speller, The (A. T.)	Gary Cooper
*†§The Playboy of Paris
*†§The Virtuous Sin
*†§Tom Sawyer (A. T.)	Jackie Coogan
*†§Typhoon Bill	George Bancroft

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
†§Accidents Will Happen (A.T.)	Smith and Dale	Aug.	2 reels
*†§Actions Speak Louder Than Words	Wm. & Joe Maadel	May	8	1 reel
*†§Artist's Reverie, The (A.T.)	Ash-Washington		1 reel	June 14
*†§At Home (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell		1 reel
*†§Ballet Class, The (A.T.)	De Mille-Albertieri	May	31	1 reel
*†§Barnacle Bill, the Sailor (A.T.)	Talkartoon		1 reel	Aug. 2
*†§Bearded Lady (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Mar.	1	1794
*†§Bedelia	Screen Song	Jan.	4	604
*†§Belle of the Night		Feb.	15	2 reels
*†Chinatown Fantasy, A	Miller-Dova	July	5	1 reel May 24
*†§Chords of Memory		May	10	1 reel
*†§Cockeyed News (A. T.)	Eddie Cantor
*†§Come Take a Trip in My Airship	Screen Song	May	24	1 reel
*†§Confounded Interest (A.T.)	Haymond & Caverly
*†§Dance, You Singers (A.T.)	Puck & White
*†§Deep "C" Melodies	Frances Williams	Jan.	25	901
*†§Desparate Sam	Bert Green	Mar.	29	1832
*†§Dizzy Dishes (A.T.)	Talkartoon	Aug.	9	1 reel
*†§Don't Believe It (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb.	8	1872 Mar. 22
*†§Down With Husbands	Arthur-Roach	Mar.	8	1660 Mar. 22
*†§Dresden Dolls (A. T.)	Gamby	July	26	1 reel
*†§Duke of Dublin (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb.	1	1850
*†§Family Next Door, The	Charles Ruggles	Jan.	11	1381 Feb. 15
*†§Fatal Card, Tha (A.T.)	W. & E. Howard
*†§Feelin' Blue (A.T.)	Ash-Washington		1 reel
*†§Firebugs	Talkartoon	May	10	704 Apr. 19
*†§Fit to Be Tied (A.T.)	Burns & Allen	Aug.	2	1 reel
*†§For Love or Money (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Jan.	4	1870
*†§Food for Thought (A.T.)	Allen & Canfield		1 reel
*†§Getting a Break	Block & Sully	May	17	1 reel June 28
*†§Getting a Ticket	Eddie Cantor	Mar.	22	948 Feb. 15
*†§Glow Worm, The (A.T.)	Screen Song	Aug.	23	564 July 19
*†§Grand Uproar (A.T.)	Talkartoon		1 reel
*†§Helping Hand, The (A.T.)	Solly Ward		1 reel
*†§He Was Her Man (A.T.)	Gilda Gray		2 reels
*†§His Honor, the Mayor	Christie Comedy	Mar.	22	1665 July 5
*†§Hot Doo	Talkartoon	Mar.	29	1 reel
*†§Hot Time in the Old Town Tonight, A (A.T.)	Screen Song	Aug.	2	1 reel July 5
*†§I Came First	Herman Timberg	Apr.	12	814
*†§I'm a Wild Woman (A.T.)	Boydell-Ash		1 reel
*†§I'm Afraid to Come Hame in the Dark	Screen Song	Feb.	1	651 Jan. 25
*†§I'm Forever Blowing Bubbles	Screen Song	Mar.	15	1 reel
*†§In the Good Old Summertime (A.T.)	Screen Song	June	7	1 reel
*†§In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree	Screen Song	Jan.	18	752
*†§Insurance	Eddie Cantor		1 reel	June 28
*†§Introduction of Mrs. Gibbs (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell
*†§Jazz Preferred (A.T.)	Zelaya		1 reel	July 5
*†§Kandy Kabaret (A.T.)	Children's Ballet		1 reel	June 28
*†§La Paloma	Screen Song	Apr.	12	574
*†§La Schnapps, Inc. (A.T.)	Smith & Dale
*†§Lady, You Slay Me (A.T.)	Perkins-Hilliot		1 reel
*†§Let Me Explain (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Jan.	4	1870
*†§Lovers' Lane (A.T.)	Arthur & Morton Havel
*†§Many Moons (A.T.)	Bruce Novelty	Aug.	9	1 reel
*†§Meek Mr. Meek, The (A.T.)	Jimmy Barry		1 reel
*†§Million Me's, A	Lee Morse	Apr.	26	964 Jan. 25
*†§Moon Bride's Wedding, The	U. S. Indian Band	Feb.	22	967
*†§Mountain Melodies		Jan.	11	994
*†§My Gal Sal (A.T.)	Screen Song		1 reel
*†§Neighborly Neighbors (A.T.)	Lulu McConnell	Aug.	16	2 reels
*†§New Rhythm	Azplazer & Band			July 26
*†§Die Man Whoopee (A.T.)	Art Frank		1 reel	July 26
*†§Paramount Acts			1 reel
*†§Paramount Comedies			2 reels
*†§Paramount Pictorials
*†§Paramount Sereen Songs			1 reel
*†§Paramount Sound News			1 reel
*†§Paramount Talkartoons			1 reel
*†§Prisoner's Song, The	Screen Song	Mar.	1	738
*†§Radio Riot	Talkartoon	Feb.	15	737 Feb. 15
*†§Resolutions (A.T.)	Billy House	Aug.	30	2 reels
*†§Rube, The	Jimmy Barry	June	21	1 reel
*†§Salt Water Ballads		Mar.	8	987
*†§Scrappily Married (A. T.)	Christie Comedy	Feb.	22	1634 Jan. 18
*†§Schipa, Tito		May	24	1 reel
*†§So This Is Paris Green	Fazenda	Jan.	18	1747 Jan. 25
*†§Story Book Parade, The (A.T.)	Children's Ballet		1 reel
*†§Stronger Sex, The (A.T.)	Christie Comedy	Mar.	15	1760
*†§Sunset Hunter, The		June	24	1 reel
*†§Tide Rises, The		June	14	1 reel
*†§Toys	Drmonde Sisters	June	28	1 reel
*†§Twentieth Amendment, The (A.T.)			2 reels
*†§Voices of Lonely Men		Apr.	19	1 reel
*†§Wanderlust	Bruce Scenie	Apr.	5	1 reel Feb. 15
*†§Wee Bit O' Scoteh		Feb.	8	1022
*†§Wise Flies (A.T.)	Talkarton	July	19	1 reel
*†§Yes, We Have No Bananas	Screen Song	Apr.	26	1 reel May 24

PATHE

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Beyond Victory (A.T.) (F.)	Boyd-Twelvetrees-Gleason-Scott
*†§Crashing Through (A.T.) (F.)	William Boyd
*†§Grand Parade, The (A.T.) (F.)	Twelvetrees-Scott	Feb. 2	7607	84	Nov. 15
*†§Her Man (A.T.) (F.)	Twelvetrees-Rambeau-Cortez-Holmes-Gleason
*†§His First Command (A.T.) (F.)	Boyd-Sebastian	Jan. 19	5850	65
*†§Holiday (A.T.) (F.)	Harding-Astor-Horton-Ames-Hopper		8870	97
*†§Night Work (A.T.) (F.)	Eddie Quillan
*†§Officer D'Brien (A.T.) (F.)	Boyd-Sebastian	Feb. 15	6740	73	Nov. 30
*†§Painted Desert (A.T.) (F.)	Boyd-Burgess
*†§Pardon My Gun (A.T.) (F.)	Starr-Duryea	June 29	5654	63	July 5
*†§Rich People (A.T.) (F.)	Constance Bennett	Jan. 5	7074	78
*†§Swing High (A.T.) (F.)	Twelvetrees-Scott	June 18	7500	75	May 3

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Adam and Eve (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§All the Way (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§Greater Love, The (A.T.)	Ann Harding
*†§In Deep (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§I Take This Woman (A.T.)	Harry Bannister
*†§Last Frontier, The (A .T.)	William Boyd
*†§Lazy Lady (A.T.)	Constance Bennett
*†§Looking for Trouble (A.T.)	Eddie Quillan
*†§North of the Yukon (A.T.)	William Boyd
*†§Price of a Party, The (A.T.)	Helen Twelvetrees
*†§Rawhide (A.T.)	William Boyd
*†§Romance Harbor (A.T.)
*†§Rebound
*†§Siren Song, The (A.T.)	Mary Lewis
*†§Taking the Rap (A.T.)	Robert Armstrong
*†§This Marriage Business (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

(Note: Pathe does not list running time on Shorts. The approximate running time of reels in the important series, however, follow:

2 reel comedies	26 min.
Pathe Sound News	10 min.
Pathe Silent News	10 min.
Pathe Audio Review	11 min.
Pathe Review	11 min.
Aesop's Fables	6 min.
Grantland Rice Sportlights	10 min.
Talking Topics of the Day	7 min.

• • •

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§America or Bust	Daphne Pollard	July	27	2 reels
*†§Beauties, The	Hiatt-Kaley	June	29	2 reels
*†§Big Hearted	Harry Gribbon	June	22	2 reels
*†§Boss's Orders, The	Morgan-McPhail	Aug.	31	2 reels
*†§Bugville Romance, A	Aesop Fable	June	8	1 reel
*†§Campus Favorites	Sportlight	June	29	1 reel
*†§Carnival Revue	Hiatt-Hughes	Aug.	3	2 reels
*†§Chasing Rainbows	Sportlight	Aug.	10	1 reel
*†§Champion Makers	Sportlight	June	15	1 reel
*†§Clark's First Car		Oct.	5	2 reels
*†§Drums of Fear	Vagabond Adventure Series	June	29	1 reel
*†§Give Me Action	Manning-Holman	Sept.	28	2 reels Aug. 9
*†§Glacier's Secret, The	Vagabond Adventure Series	June	1	1 reel
*†§Hearts and Hoofs	Rice-Keefe	Sept.	7	2 reels
*†§Hold the Baby	Agnew-Crane-McPhail	Aug.	17	2 reels
*†§Hot Tamale	Aesop Fables	Aug.	3	1 reel Aug. 9
*†§Hooked	Sportlight	May	18	1 reel
*†§Jungle Jazz	Aesop Fable	July	6	1 reel
*†§Lair of Chang-How, The	Vagabond Adventure Series	June	15	1 reel Aug. 9
*†§Let 'Er Buck	Sportlight	July	27	1 reel
*†§Live and Learn	McPhail-Deering	June	15	2 reels
*†§Love That Kills	Vagabond Adventure Series	Aug.	10	1 reel
*†§Mandalay	Song Sketch	Jan.	5	1 reel
*†§Mind Your Business	Agnew-Gulliver	July	20	2 reels
*†§Musical Beauty Shop	All Star	June	1	2 reels
*†§New Waiter, The	All Star	June	8	2 reels
*†§Night Clerk, The		Sept.	14	2 reels
*†§Night in a Dormitory, A	Ginger Rogers	Jan.	5	2 reels
*†§Noah Knew His Ark	Fable	May	25	1 reel
*†§Ranch House Blues	Harris-Douglas	July	13	2 reels
*†§Red Heads, The	Nat Carr	May	18	2 reels
*†§Romeo Robin, A	Aesop Fable	June	22	1 reel
*†§Sacred Fires	Vagabond Adventure Series	July	27	1 reel
*†§Snow Time	Aesop Fable	July	20	1 reel
*†§Some Babies	Carle-Hiatt-Little Billy	Sept.	21	2 reels
*†§Somewhere Out	Sportlight	July	13	1 reel
*†§Sporting Brothers	Sportlight	June	1	1 reel
*†§Streets of Mystery	Vagabond Adventure Series	May	18	1 reel
*†§Swell People	Gribbon-Manning	Aug.	21	2 reels
*†§Temples of Silence	Vagabond Adventure Series	July	13	1 reel
*†§Trying Them Out	All Star	May	25	2 reels
*†§Two Fresh Eggs	St. John-Aubrey	July	6	2 reels
*†§Two Plus Fours	Nat Carr	Aug.	10	2 reels

ALL ALL-TALKING ON FILM AND DISC.

*†§Lair of Chang-How (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series		2 reels	June 7
*†§Love's Memories (A.T.)	Song Sketch	Feb. 16	1 reel
*†§Mind Your Own Business (A. T.)			2 reels	July 12
†§Musical Beauty Shop (A.T.)			2 reels	June 7
†§Noah Knew His Ark (A.T.)			1 reel	June 7
*†§On the Air (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Jan. 12	1 reel	Jan. 11
*†§Dom Pah Pah (A.T.)	Aesop Fable	May 11	1 reel	June 7
*†§Pathe Audio Review (A.T.)	Released Every Week		1 reel
*†§Pathe Sound News	Released Twice Every Week		1 reel
*†§Perfect Match, The (A.T.)	Butler Mayo	Apr. 6	2 reels	Apr. 5
*†§Pick 'Em Young (A.T.)	Agnew-Geraghty	May 4	2 reels	May 10
*§†Ranchhouse Blues (A.T.)		May 17
*†§Red Heads (A.T.)	Nat Carr		2 reels	May 24
*†§Rich Uncles (A.T.)	Richard Carle	May 11	1 reel	May 3

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

*†§Ride 'Em Cowboy	White-Carney	April	13	2 reels	Apr.	5
*†§Romeo Robin, A				1 reel	June	28
*†§Royal Flush, A (A.T.)				2 reels
*†§Rubeville Night Club (A.T.)	H. B. Watson	Jan.	26	2 reels	Nov.	18
*†§Sacred Fires (A.T.)	Vagabond Adv. Series
*†§Ship Ahey (A.T.)	Aesop Feble	Jan.	5	2 reels	Jan.	11
*†§Singing Saps (A.T.)	Aesops Fables	Feb.	2	1 reel	Feb.	8
*†§Sixteen Sweeties (A.T.)	White-McNaughten	Apr.	20	2 reels	Apr.	19
*†§Sky Skipoers (A.T.)	Aesop Febles	Feb.	16	1 reel	Feb.	15
*†§Snow Time	Aesop Fable			1 reel	July	26
*†§Songs of Mother	Song Sketch	Feb.	2	1 reel	May	10
*†§Spills and Thrills (A.T.)	Sportlight	Apr.	6	1 reel	Apr.	12
*†§Splashing Through (A.T.)	Sportlight	Feb.	23	1 reel	Feb.	15
*§†Sporting Brothers (A.T.)				1 reel	June	7
*†§Streets of Mystery (A.T.)	Vagabond Adventure Series	June	2	1 reel	May	3
*†§Swell People (A.T.)	Marcia Manning				July	19
*†§Temple of Silence (A.T.)	Vagabond Ad. Series			1 reel	July	19
*†§Tight Squeeze (A.T.)	LeMaire	Feb.	2	2 reels	Nov.	23
*†§Trumpeteer, The (A.T.)	Song Sketch	Jan.	19	1 reel
*†§Trying Them Out (A.T.)				2 reels	June	7
*†§Two Fresh Eggs (A.T.)	St. John-Aubrey			2 reels	July	5
*†§Two Plus Fours	Carr-Hill			2 reels	July	26
*†§Voice of the Sea (A.T.)	Song Sketch	May	4	1 reel	May	3
*†§Western Whoopee (A.T.)	Aesop Fables	Apr.	13	1 reel	Apr.	19
*†§What, Ne Beliz! (A.T.)	Topics of the Day	Mar.	9	1 reel

RKO

FEATURES

Title	Star	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Alias French Gertie (A.T.)	Daniels-Lyon	Apr. 20	6202	65	Apr. 19
*†§Beau Bandit (A.D.)	La Rocque-Kenyon	Mar. 2	6169	69	June 21
*†§Case of Sergeant Grischo	Morris-Compson-Hersholt	Feb. 23	8191	92	Mar. 8
*†§Cuckoos, The (A.T.)	Wheeler-Woolsey	May 4	8100	90	Apr. 5
*†§Fall Guy, The (A.T.)	Mullhall-Clarke-Sparks	June 15	6175	65	May 31
*†§Framed (A.T.)	Brent-Toomey	Mar. 16	6136	68	Feb. 15
*†§Girl of Port (A.T.)	O'Neil-Sharlend	Feb. 2	6174	69	Jan. 4
*†§He Knew Women (A.T.)	Sherman-Joyce	May 18	6319	70	Apr. 26
*†§Hit the Deck (A.T.)	Oakie-Walker	Feb. 2	9327	85	Dec. 21
*†§Inside the Lines (A.T.)	Compson-Forbes	July 20			July 12
*†§Love Comes Along (A.T.)	Daniels-Hughes	Jan. 5	7038	78	Dec. 21
*†§Lovin' the Ladies	Richerd Dix	Apr. 6	6138	68	Feb. 22
*†§Midnight Mystery, The (A.T.)	Compson-Sherman	June 1	6463	72	May 31
*†§Runaway Bride, The (A.T.)	Astor-Hughes	May 24	6234	69	May 24
*†§Second Wife (A.T.)	Nagel-Lee	Feb. 9	6058	60	Feb. 15
*†§Seven Keys to Baldpate (A.T.)	Dix-Seegar	Jan. 12	6579	70	Jan. 4
*†§She's My Weakness (A.T.)	Carol-Lake-Bunce	Aug. 24	not set		June 28
*†§Shooting Straight (A.T.)	Dix-Lawlor	July 20	5800	65	July 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Babes in Toyland (A.T.)	Special Cast
*†§Bunker Bean (A. T.)
*†§Check and Double Check (A.T.)	Amos 'n' Andy
*†§Cimarron (A.T.)	Richard Dix
*†§Conspiracy, The (A.T.)	Love-Trevor-Sparks
*†§Danger Lights	Wolheim-Armstrong-Arthur
*†§Dixiana	Bebe Daniels	Aug. 30	Not set		July 26
*†§Escape (A. T.)
*†§Half Shot at Sunrise (A. T.)	Wheeler-Woolsey
*†§Heart of the Rockies (A. T.)	Marshell-Daniels
*†§High River
*†§Hunted
*†§Iron Trail, The (A. T.)
*†§Ladies of the Past	Betty Comoson
*†§Lawful Larceny (A. T.)	Daniels-Thompson	Aug. 17	6379	67	July 19
*†§Leathernecking (A. T.)	Foy, Jr.-Rubin
*†§Losing Game	Lowell Sherman
Love in the Rough					Aug. 16
*†§Old Accordion Man, The (A. T.)	Joseph Cawthorn
*†§Perfect Alibi, The (A. T.)
*†§Sensation (A.T.)
*†§She's My Weakness (A.T.)	Lake-Carroll
*†§Silver Horde (A. T.)	Brent-Wolheim
*†§Upperworld (A.T.)

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Age of Innocence, The (A.T.) (F)	Paula Trueman	Jan.	5	1 reel
*†§Before Breakfast (A.T.) (F)		Mar.	9	2 reels
*†§Bobbed Wire (A. T.)	Dane-Arthur
*†§Bridegroom, The (A.T.) (F)	Marc Connelly	Feb.	2	1 reel
*†§Broken Wedding Bells (A.T.)	Dane-Arthur				June 21
*†§Campus Sweethearts (A. T.) (F&D)		Mar.	9	2 reels
*†§Cash and Marry (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke-Sargeat	Mar.	16	2 reels
*†§Dear Slayer (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Mar.	2	2 reels	Feb. 22
*†§Eventually But Not Now (A. T.) (F&D)	Vaughn-Cooke..	Apr.	13	2 reels	Apr. 19
*†§Fair Deceiver, The (A. T.) (F&D)		Jen.	6	1 reel
*†§General Ginsburg (A.T.) (F)	Nat Carr	Apr.	13	2 reels
*†§Golf Specialist, The	W. C. Fields			2 reels	July 5
*†§Good Time Kenneth	Marc Connelly			1 reel	Aug. 9
*†§Gunboat Ginsburg (A.T.) (F)	Nat Carr	Jan.	12	2 reels	Nov. 9
*†§Guest, The (A. T.) (F&D)	Marc Connelly	May	25	1 reel
*†§Hot Bridge (A. T.) (F&D)		May	11	2 reels
*†§Humanettes	Benny Rubin			1 reel	July 5
*†§Jazz (A.T.) (F)	Duke Ellington & Orchestra	Feb.	9	1 reel
*†§Land of the Sky Blue Daughters	Vaughn-Cooke	Mar.	30	2 reels
*†§Lost and Foundered (A. T.) (F&D)	Vaughn-Cooke ..	Jan.	19	2 reels
*†§Magnate, The (A. T.) (F&D)	Marc Connelly	Mar.	30	1 reel
*†§Men Without Skirts (A.T.)	Dane-Arthur			2 reels	July 5
*†§Mickey's Champs (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Feb.	2	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Luck (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Mar.	30	2 reels	Apr. 12
*†§Mickey's Master Mind (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Mar.	2	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Merry Men (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	July	20	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Strategy (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Jan.	5	2 reels
*†§Mickey's Winners (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Aug.	17	2 reels
*†§Mickey the Romeo (A. T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	June	22	2 reels
*†§Mickey the Whirlwind (A.T.) (F&D)	Mickey Yule	Apr.	27	2 reels
*†§Mickey the Warrior	Mickey Yule	May	25	2 reels
*†§Museum, The	Toby the Pup			1 reel	May 24
*†§Musical Moments (A. T.)	Felix Fernando Orch			1 reel	June 14
*†§Off to Peoria (A.T.)	Nick & Tony	July	13	2 reels	June 14
*†§Old Bill's Christmas (A.T.)		Feb.	9	2 reels	Dec. 14
*†§Old Vamos for New (A. T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Feb.	2	2 reels	Jan. 25
*†§Palooka Flying School (A.T.)		June	22	1 reel
*†§Peep on the Deep, A	Clark & McCulleugh			2 reels	July 5
*†§Setting Son, The (A.T.)	Vaughn-Cooke	Feb.	16	2 reels	Feb. 8
*†§Sleeping Cuties (A.T.)	Alberta Veughn	Jen.	5	2 reels	Dec. 21
*†§Song and the Sergeant, The (A.T.)		May	11	2 reels
*†§Strenge Interview, The (A.T.) (F)	Sherwin-Knowles	Mar.	2	1 reel
*†§While Auto Waits (A.T.) (F)		Jan.	12
*†§Who's Got the Body (A.T.)	Nick & Tony	Aug.	3	2 reels	May 24

SONO-ART-WORLD WIDE

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Big Fight The (A.T.)	Williems-Lane	Sept.	5850	65	Apr. 19
*†§Blaze O'Glory	Eddie Dowling-B. Compson	Jan.	8800	90
*†§Cock D' the Walk (A.T.)	J. Schildkraut-Loy	May	7200	80	Apr. 19
*†§Dude Wrangler, The (A.T.)	Durvea-Basquette	June	6200	68	May 24
*†§Great Gabbo	E. Von Stroheim-B. Compson	Jan.	9950	100
*†§Hello Sister (A. T.)	L. Hughes-Borden	Feb.	9500	100	Apr. 5
*†§Once a Gentleman (A.T.)	Horton-Wilson	Sept.
*†§Reno (A.T.)	Roland-Thomson-Love	Sept.
*†§Talk of Hollywood	Nat Carr-Fay Marbé	Mar.	6586	72
*†§Up The Congo	Travel Lecture	Feb.	5800	62
*†§What a Man (A.T.)	Denny-Segar	Apr.	7000	79	Mar. 29

STATE RIGHTS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Dist'r	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Aoress the World (A.D.)	Martin Johnson	Talk. Pic. Epics	Not set	8860	98	Jan. 25
*†§After the Verdict (A.T.)	Tschechowa-Ward	Int. Photoplay	Jan. 1	8900	73	June 21
Asphalt	Froelich-Amann	Allied Film	Mar. 15	8 reels	85	May 10
*†§Because I Love You	Mady Christians	Amer. Gen. Film	Jan. 24	9000	100	Feb. 8
*†§Beyond the Rio Grande (A.T.)	Jack Perrin	Big 4	Apr. 15	5400	60	June 7
*†§Bottom of the World		Talk. Pic Epics	Sept. 1	8800	42
*†§Bride 68 (P.T.)	Veidt-Brink	Amer. Angle	Apr. 6		100	Apr. 19
*†§Bright Eyes	Belfour-Trevor	New Era	July 10	6800	76	July 5
*†§Burning Heart, The	Christians-Froelich	Herold Auten	May 10	8372	88	May 24
*†§Call of Circus (A.T.) (D.F.)	Bushman Clayton	Burr	Jan. 15	5466	61	Jan. 18
*Canyon of Missing Men	Tom Tyler	Syndicate	June 1	4742	50	Aug. 2
Caught in Berlin Underworld	Fritz Kortner					Feb. 15
Chess Player, The	Jehanne-Blanchard	Unusual Plct.
*†Civilization	Hickman-Markey	Amer. Trad. Assn.
*†§Clancy in Wall Street (A.T.)	Murrey-Littlefield	Aristocrat	Mar. 15	7127		Mar. 1
*†§Code of the West	Bob Custer	Syndicate			57
*†§Co-Optimists	Special cast	New Era	Feb. 8			Feb. 22
*†§Danger Man, The (P.T.)	Chas. Hutchinson	Cosmos	May 20	6516	82	May 24
*†§Darkened Skies (A.T.)	Brentwood-MacDonald	Biltmore Prod.	Jen.	5400	60	Dec. 14
Docks of Hamburg	Jugo-Fritsch	Ufa.
*†§Drifters		Harold Auten			40	July 5
*†§Escaped from Dertmoor	Baring-Henning	Harold Auten	Apr. 11	7529	70	Apr. 19
Farmer's Wife	Thomas-Hall-Davis	Allied	Jan. 4	6845	76	Jen. 18
*†§Firebrand Jordan	Lane Chandler	Big 4	June 23	5400	60	July 26
Figaro		Franco-American	Not Set.	6360	71	Dec. 7
*†Heart's Melody (A. T.) (F & D)	Fritsch-Parlo	Ufa Film
Her Unborn Child (F & D)	Speciel Cast	Windsor	Jan. 10	7609	85	Jan. 18
Hunted Men	Bob Steele	Syndicate	Apr.	4853
*†§Immortal Vagabond (A.T.)	Haid-Froelich	Ufa Film
In the South Seas with Mr. and Mrs. Pinchot		Talk. Pict. Epics	Sept. 1	5538		May 31
*†Ingagi	Africen Hunt	Congo Plct. Ltd.	Apr. 13	7776	86	Apr. 26
Jade Casket, The	French Cast	Cosmos		5800	64
*†§Juno and the Paycock (A.T.)	Sara Allgood	Harold Auten	June 27.	9100		July 5
*†§Ladies in Love (A.T.)	Day-Walker	Chesterfield	May 17	6095	69	May 3
*†§Last Dence, The (A.T.)	Reynolds-Robards	Audible	Mar. 8	5825	65	Mar. 29
*Lone Horseman	Tom Tyler	Syndicate	Nov. 1, '29	4730	53	Aug. 2
*†§Lost Gods (A.T.)		Talk Plc. Epics	Sept. 1	4800	53	July 12
Lost Patrol		Pro Patria	Not Set.	5100	57	Dec. 21
*†§Love at First Sight (A.T.)	Keener-Foster	Chesterfield	Feb. 15	6039	68	Feb. 1
Mystery at the Villa Rose	Trevor-Baring	Harold Auten	May 31	9000	100 mins.
*†§Myteries of Nature		Ufa			71
*†§Overland Bound (A.T.)	Perrin-Ray	Haytone	Apr. 15	5040	56	Mar. 29
*†§Parting of the Trails	Bob Custer	Syndicate	Mar. 1	4700	52	Mar. 29
Passion Song, The	Dimsted-N. Beery	Excellent		4700	52
Peacock Fan The	Dorothy Dwen	Chesterfield		5080	56
Poor Millionaire	Talmadge-Howard	Biltmore	Apr. 7	5400	60
Porl	Special Cast	Ufa Films		5200	58	May 17
*†§Rampant Age (A.T.) (D.F.)	Murray-Kennedy	Continental	Jan. 15	6743	64	Jan. 18
*†§Ridin' Law	Perrin-Canutt	Big 4	May	5600	62	July 5
*†§Romance of West	Jack Perrin	Jack Trop	June 15	5494	61	Aug. 2
Sea Fury	Mildred Harris	Tom White	Not Set	5200	58	Dec. 7
*†Slums of Tokio	Japanese Cast	Moviegraphs
Smoke Bellew	Conway Tearle	First Division		6605	73
South of Panama	Carmelita Geraghty	Chesterfield		6300	70
Stampede	Native Cast	Harold Auten	Apr. 26	7540	80	May 3
Strange Case of District Attorney "M"		Unusual Photoplay	Mar.	6800		Mar. 22
*†§Take the Heir (A.D.)	Edward Horton	Big 4	Jne. 15	5700	63	Jan. 25
Three Dutcasts, The	Yakima Canutt	Waca	Mar. 7	5 reels		Dct. 19
Thunder God	Cornelius Keefe	Crescent		5917	66
Western Honor	Bob Steele	Syndicate	Mar.	4849	50	May 17
*†§West of Rockies (A.T.) (D)	Art Mix	World Art	Jen. 18	6100	68
*†§White Cargo (A.T.)	Special Cast	Harold Auten				Mar. 1
*†§White Devil (P.T.) (F & D)	Mosjukin-Dagover	UFA Films
Why Cry at Partine	Halm-Gralla	International		7000	78	Feb. 22
*†§Woman Who Was Forgotten (A.D.)	Belle Bennett	State Cineme	Jan. 1	7560	85	Jan. 25
Wonderful Lies of Nina Petrowna	Helm-Ward	Allied Films	May 80	8 reels	80	June 14
Worldly Goods	Kirkwood-Kennedy	Continental	Aug. 1	6065	65	Aug. 2
*†§Would You Believe it?	Walter Forde	Big 4	Mar. 15	6 reels	60
*†§Yiddish Mama, The (A.T.)	Mae Simon	Judea Films		4000

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Ape, The (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Bar L Ranch	Bill, Jr.-Wales	Big 4
*†§Body, Soul and Dress
†§Burned Evidence (F)		Continental
Buying a Wife	Special Cast	Aff. Europeen	7 reels
*†§Clown, The (F)		Continental
*§†Comeback, The (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Dancing Fathers (A.T.)
*†§Dangerous Trails
*†§Davy Jones Locker (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Divorce Question, The (A.T.)		Majestic
Duty to be Silent	Marla Albana	Aff. Europeen	6 reels
*†§East Lynne (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§East of Asia (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Everybody's Girl (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
Exodus to the New World, The	Lyon-Prevost	Pioneer
Full Dressed Thieves	Nils Asther	Aff. Europeen	7 reels
German Underworld	Speciel Cast	Aff. Europeen	7 reels
Great Unknown, The	John Loder	Aff. Europeen	6 reels
*§†Hall the Woman (A.T.)		Majestic
Her Viennese Lover	Asther-Nolan	Aff. Europeen	6 reels
*†§In Oklahoma (A.T.)
*†§Lady of the Lake, The	Percy Marmont	FitzPatrick
*†§Life For Sale, A (F)		Continental
Milak of the Snowlands	Speciel Cast	Allied
*†§Midnight Alarm, The (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Mother's Millions (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.
*†§Night Hawk, The		Big 4	Aug. 15
Our Daily Bread	Mary Nolan	Aff. Europeen	7 reels
*†§Price Mark, The (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Red Kisses (A.T.)
*†§Romantic Scoundrel, The (A.T.)
*†§Second Honeymeon, The (F)		Continental
*†§Sentimental Satan (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Smart Women (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Thou Shalt Not Squeal (A.T.)
*†§Today (A.T.)	Nagel-Owen	Majestic
*†§Trap, The (A.T.)		Majestic
*†§Unforbidden Sin, The (F)		Continental
Unholy Love	Wegener-Petrevitch	Aff. Europeen
When Duty Calls	Soecial Cast	Allied	6714 feet
Wild Men of Kalihari	Denver African Exp.	Talk. Pict. Epics
*†§Worst Woman in Paris (A.T.)		Liberty Prod.

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Distributor	Length	Reviewed
*†§Across the World		Talk. Pictures Epics	2 reels (serial)	Aug. 9
*†§Anywhere By Air		Visuegraph	3 reels	May 17
*†§At the Photographers (A.T.) (F)	Harry Delf	Elbee	2 reels
*†Beethoven		Fitzpatrick	1 reel	Apr. 19
*†Barn Dance	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
Besides the Western Sea		Castle Film	1 reel
*†§Blind Youth (A. T.)	Lou Tellegen	Capital	2 reels

Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.*

*†§Bring On the Bride (A.T.)		Elbee	2 reels	Nov.	8
*†§Broken Doll, The (A.T.)	Sadie Banks	Judea Films	1 reel
*†Chain Gang, The	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†Conquest of the Cascades	Educational	Gen. Electric Co.		Apr.	19
*†§Down Hawaii Way	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
*†§Egypt, Land of Pyramids		FitzPatrick	1 reel	June	21
*†§Fourth of July		Fitzpatrick
*†§Friend Husband (A.T.)		Burr	2 reels
*†Galloping Gaucho	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	Feb. 1	1 reel
*†§Gateway to India	Travelogue	Fitzpatrick
*†Jungle Rythm	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel	Jan.	11
*†Just Mickey	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*§†Kiddie Cabaret		Mayfair	2 reels	Apr.	26
*†Kids and Pets	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
Lincoln's Birthday		FitzPatrick	Feb. 12	350 feet
*Liszt, Franz	Music Master Series	Fitz Patrick	1 reel	Apr.	5
*†§Mai-Ko Mashma-Lou (A.T.)	Harry Feld	Judea Films
*†§Mawas (P.T.)		Capital Prod.	3½ reels	June	7
*†§Meet the Family (A.T.) (F)	Harry Delt	Elbee	2 reels
*†Mickey's Concert	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†§Monkey Squawks (A.T.)		Burr
*†§Oh Doctor (A.T.)	Special Cast	Judea Films	1800
*†Plane Crazy	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	Jan. 1	reel
*†Plow Boy	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†§Shoemaker's Romance (A.T.)	Special Cast	Judea Films	1900
*†§Should I	Charles Lawmer	Advance Trailer		May	17
*†§Signed, Sealed & Delivered (A.T.)		Burr
*†§Sixty Minutes From Broadway	Color Novelty	Castle	1 reel
*†§Style and Class (A.T.)	Marty Barratz	Judea Films	2000
*†§Summer Harmonies	Song Cartoon	Biophone	1 reel	Oct.	5
*†Tee Time	Felix the Cat	Copley Films	1 reel	Apr.	5
*Thought for Mother's Day	Fitzpatrick		1 reel	May	10
Weshington's Birthday		Fitz Patrick	Feb. 22	350 feet
*†§When My Dreams Come True	Gene & Glenn	Advance Trailer	1 reel	Apr.	5
*†When the cat's Away	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel
*†Wild Waves	Mickey Mouse Cartoon	Celebrity Prod.	1 reel	Jan.	11

TIFFANY

FEATURES

(Available sound-on-film and sound-on-disc)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Border Romance (A. T.)	Armide-Terry	May 18	5974	65	May 31
*†§High Treason (A.T.)	Hume-Thomas	Mar. 25	6210	69	June 7
*†§Hot Curves (A.T.)	Rubin-Lease-Day	June 15	7893	88	July 12
*†§Journey's End (A.T.)	Colin Clive	May 23	11418	130	Apr. 12
*†§Just Like Heaven (A. T.)		July 14
*†§Kathleen Mavourneen (A.T.)	O'Neil-Delaney	June 20	5169	56	Aug. 2
*†§Memba (A.T.)	Hersholt-Boardman-Forbes	Mar. 10	6183	69	Mar.
*†§Medicine Man, The (A.T.)	Benny-Bronson	June 15	8211	69	June 21
*†§Near Rainbow's End (A.T.)	Steele-Lorraine	June 10	5916	58	July 5
*†§Party Girl (A.T.)	Doug Fairbanks, Jr.	Jan. 1	6750	75	Dec. 21
Reviewed as "Dangerous Business" issue Dec. 21, 1929
*†§Peacock Alley (A.T.)	Mae Murray	Jan. 10	6060	67	Feb. 8
*†§Sunny Skies	Benny Rubin	May 12	6994	78	May 24
*†§Swellhead (A. T.)	Gleason-Shilling-Walker	Mar. 20	7040	78	Apr. 26
*†§Troopers Three (A.T.)	Lease-Gulliver	Feb. 15	7239	80	Feb. 22
*†§Wings of Adventure	Rex Lease	June 30	5050	70	Aug. 9

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Borrowed Wives
*†§Enchanting Melody (A.T.)
*†§Extravagance	June Collyer
*†§Headin' North (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Lasca
*†§Land of Missing Men (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Left Over Ladies
*†§Luxury Girl
*†§Oklahoma Cyclone (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§Paradise Island (A.T.)	Harlan-Day	not set		July 5
*†§Ridin' Feol, The (A.T.)	Bob Steele
*†§Sunrise Trail, The (A.T.)	Trem Carr
*†§The Thoroughbred	Garon-Barry
*†§Third Alarm, The (A.T.)
*†§Tarrant, The
*†§Under Montana Skies	Harlan-Gulliver
*†§Wages of Adventure	Armida
*†§Why Marry (A.T.)	Hunter-Reynolds

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Cossack's Bride, The	Color Symphony		1 reel	Feb. 22
*†§Enchanted Forest, The (A.T.)			1 reel	May 31
*†§In Old Madrid	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Jungle Drums	Colortone		2 reels	Dec. 28
*†§Melodie	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§On the Plantation	Forbes Randolph Singers		2 reels	May 10
*†§Station S-T-A-R			1 reel	Dec. 7
*†§Songs My Mother Taught Me	Color Symphony		1 reel
*†§Voice of Hollywood	Station S-T-A-R Series		1 reel

UNITED ARTISTS

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Bad One, The (A. T.)	Del Rio-Lowe	May 3	6673	74	Mar. 22
*†§Be Yourself (A.T.) (F)	Fannie Brice	Feb. 8	5977	77	Feb. 1
*†§Hell Harbor (A.T.)	Velez-Hersholt	Mar. 22	8354	84	Mar. 8
*†§Lummox (A. T.) (F)	Westover-Lyon	Jan. 18	7533	84	Feb. 15
*†§One Romantic Night A. T.)	Glsh-Nagel-La Rocque	Apr. 12	6592	72	Mar. 29
*†§Puttin' on the Ritz (A.T.)	Harry Richman	Mar. 1	8225	88	Feb. 22
†§Raffles (A. T.)	Ronald Colman	July 26	6509	70	Aug. 2

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
*†§Abraham Lincoln (A. T.)	Walter Huston	Sept. 28
*†§Bat Whispers, The (A.T.)	Chester Morris	Dec. 20
*†§City Lights (F)	Charlie Chaplin
*†§Du Barry, Woman of Passion (A. T.)	Norma Talmadge	Nov. 8
*§†Lilli (A.T.)	Evelyn Laye
*†§Eyes of the World (A.T.)	Merkel-Holland	Oct. 18
*†§Forever Yours (A.T.)	Mary Pickford	Nov. 29
*†Hell's Angels (F)	Lyon-Hall-Harlow				June 7
*†§Lottery Bride, The (A.T.)	MacDonald-Garrick	Aug. 16
*†§Reaching for the Moon (A.T.)	Bebe Daniels
*†§Smilin' Through (A.T.)	Joan Bennett
*†§Sons O' Guns (A.T.)	Al Jolson
*†§What a Widow (A.T.)	Gloria Swanson
†§Whoopee (A. T.)	Eddie Cantor	Sept. 7	8550	95	July 12

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Glorious Vamp	Bobby Watson	Jan. 25	952	Jan. 25
*†§Second Hungarian Rhapsody		May 24		July 19
*§†Wizard's Apprentice		Apr. 20	840

UNIVERSAL

FEATURES

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
Big Timber (Re-Issue)	William Desmond	Mar. 30	4388
*†§Burning Trail (Relssue)	Wm. Desmond	July 29	4223
*†§Captain of the Guard (A.T.)	La Plante-Boles	Apr. 20	7519	76	Apr. 5
*†§Climax, The (A. T.)	Crawford-Hersholt	Jan. 26	5846	65	Mar. 29
*†§Cohens and the Kellys in Scotland	Sidney-Murray	Mar. 17	7600	82	Mar. 15
*†§Concentratin' Kid (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson
*†§Czar of Broadway (A.T.)	Wray-Compson-Harron	May 25	7314	81	Apr. 26
*†§Dames Ahoy (A.T.)	Glenn Tryon	Feb. 9	5773	68	Feb. 8
*†§Devil's Pit, The	Special Cast	Mar. 9	6268	69
Reviewed under title of "Under the Southern Cross"		In April 27, 1929 Issue
*†§Embarrassing Moments (A.T.)	Reginald Denny	Feb. 2	5230	58	June 29
*†§Fighting Legion, The	Ken Maynard	Apr. 6	6763	75	Dec. 21
Flying Hoofs	Jack Hexie	Feb. 2	3852	43
*§†Hell's Heroes	Bickford-Hatton	Jan. 5	6148	70	Dec. 21
*†§Hide-Out (A. T.)	Murray-Crawford	Mar. 30	5299	50	Apr. 19
*†Lucky Larkin	Ken Maynard	Mar. 2	5785	64	Mar. 22
*†§Mounted Stranger, The	Hoot Gibson	Feb. 16	5784	64	Feb. 15
*†§Mountain Justice	Ken Maynard	May 4	6748	75	Mar. 22
*†§Night Ride	Robinson-Kent	Jan. 12	5609	62	Dec. 28
*†§Parade of the West	Ken Maynard	Jan. 19	5900	65	Feb. 1
*†§Roaring Ranch (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	Apr. 27	6094	67	May 24
*†§Song of the Caballero	Ken Maynard	June 29	6524	73	July 12
*†§Sons of the Saddle	Ken Maynard	Aug. 3
*†§Spurs (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	Aug. 24
*†§Storm, The (A. T.)	Special Cast	Aug. 18	7222
*†§Trailing Trouble	Hoot Gibson	Mar. 23	5198	67	Mar. 29
*†§Trigger Tricks (A.T.)	Hoot Gibson	June 1	5462	57	June 21
*†§Undertow	Nolan-Ellis-Brown	Feb. 23	5025	56	Jan. 4
*†§What Men Want	All Star	July 13	6041	67
*†White Hell of Pitz Palu	Special Cast	June 1	7727	80	May 10
White Outlaw, The (Relssue)	Jack Hoxie	May 25	4541
*†§Young Desire (A.T.)	Mary Nolan	June 8	6529	73	July 12

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§All Quiet on Westara Front (A. T.)	Wolheim-Ayres-Wray			Apr. 26
*†§Boudoir Diplomat (A.T.)
*†§Cohens & Kelleys in Ireland (A.T.)
*†§East is West (A.T.)	Lupe Velez
*§†Hunchback of Notre Dame (A.T.)
*†§King of Jazz, The (A.T.)	Whiteman's Band & Special Cast		8724	97	Apr. 5
*†§Lady Surrenders, The (A.T.)
*†§Little Accident (A.T.)	Fairbanks, Jr., Page	Sept. 1			July 12
*§†Merry-Go-Round (A.T.)	Loff-Boles
*†§Oregon Trail (A.T.)
*†§Ourang
*§†Outside the Law (A.T.)	Nolan-Robinson
*†§Resurrection (A.T.)	Boles-Velez
†§Saint Johnson (A.T.)	Ayres-Wray
†§Strictly Dishonorable (A.T.)	John Boles
*†§Virgin of Stembeul (A.T.)

SHORT SUBJECTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
Alias the Bandit	Bobbie Nelson	May 17	2 reels	Apr. 19
All Wet	Sid Saylor		2 reels	May 24
Anthony & Cleopatra (relssue)		May 26	1 reel
Badge of Bravery	Fed Cartoon	Feb. 8	2 reels	Jan. 11
Bashful Whirlwind (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 30	2 reels
Battling Kid, The	Bobbie Nelson	June 14	2 reels	May 24
Beauty Parade, The	Arthur Lake	July 2	2 reels	June 7
Benjamin Franklin (Relssue)		June 23	1 reel
Boundary Line, The (Reissue)	Fred Humes	July 5	2 reels
Close Call (Reissue)	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 2	2 reels
Columbus & Isabella (relssue)		June 9	1 reel
Crooked Trails	Ted Carson	May 3	2 reels	Mar. 29
Crimson Courage	Ted Carson	Mar. 8	2 reels	Feb. 1
Danger Claim, The	Bobbie Nelson	Mar. 22	2 reels	Feb. 15
Fighting Terror (Relssue)	Billie Sullivan	July 19
French Leave	Sid Saylor	Mar. 19	2 reels	Mar. 8
Follow Me	Arthur Lake	Apr. 30	2 reels	Apr. 5
Foul Ball	Sid Saylor	Apr. 16	2 reels
Getting the Air	Arthur Lake	Mar. 5	2 reels	Feb. 1
Her Bashful Beau	Arthur Lake	June 11	2 reels	May 24
His Girl's Wedding	Arthur Lake	July 23	2 reels	June 28
Kounty Fair	Oswald Cartoon	Jan. 6	1 reel	Dec. 7
Last Stand	Bobbie Nelson	Jan. 25	2 reels	Dec. 21
Law in the Saddle	Ted Carson	Apr. 5	2 reels	Mar. 1
Lightning Rider, The	Ted Carson	Aug. 23	2 reels	July 19
Lightning Express (Serial)	Chandler-Lorraine	June 2	10 episodes
Make It Sneppy	Sid Saylor	Feb. 12	2 reels	Jan. 18
Man Hunter, The	Ted Carson	July 28	2 reels	July 5
Matter of Pelley	Edwards	Jan. 13	1 reel
Milky Way (Relssue)	Charlie Puffy	Mar. 10	1 reel
Omar Khayam (Relssue)		July 14	1 reel
One Wet Night	Reach-Edwards	Feb. 24	1 reel
†§Parlez-vous	Summerville	Sept. 10	2 reels
Paul Revere (Relssue)		Aug. 18	1 reel
Plane Crazy	Sid Saylor	July 9	2 reels	June 7
Peekaboo	Arthur Lake	May 21	2 reels	Apr. 26
Pony Express Kid, The	Edmund Cobb	Aug. 9	2 reels	July 19
Post of Honor	Bobbie Nelson	Feb. 22	2 reels	Jan. 18
Prehistoric Man (Relssue)		Aug. 11	1 reel
Pronto Kid, The (Relssue)	Edmund Cobb	Apr. 12	2 reels
Queen of Roundup (Relssue)	Josie Sedgwick	Mar 1	2 reels
Red Coat's Romance	Ted Carson	June 28	2 reels
Restless Rest (Re-Issue)	Neely Edwards	Mar. 24	1 reel
Ropin' Venus	Josie Sedowick	Jan. 18	2 reels
Seeing Red (Relssue)	Billy Sullivan	Aug. 16	2 reels
Should Poker Players Marry?		June 30	1 reel
Sid's Long Count	Sid Saylor	May 28	2 reels	Apr. 28
Sitting Pretty	Arthur Lake	Jan. 15	2 reels	Dec. 21
Six Gun Justice	Bobbie Nelson	Apr. 19	2 reels	Mar. 15
Some Show	Arthur Lake	Apr. 2	2 reels	Mar. 1
Step Right Up	Sid Saylor	May 7	2 reels	Apr. 19
Son of Courage	Bobbie Nelson	July 12	2 reels	June 21
Storm King (Re-Issue)	Edmund Cobb	Feb. 15	2 reels
Speak Easy (Relssue)	Charlie Puffy	Apr. 7	1 reel
Trail of the Pack	Ted Carson	Jan. 7	2 reels	Dec. 7
Under the White Robe (Re-Issue)	Neely Edwards	May 12	1 reel
Way of the West (Relssue)	Neely Edwards	Feb. 1	2 reels
Why Walt	Slim Summerville	Feb. 10	1 reel
Whip Hand, The (Relssue)	Billy Sullivan	Mar. 15	2 reels
Wild West Wallop (Relssue)	Edmund Cobb	May 24	2 reels
William Tell		Jan. 27	1 reel
Wolf's Fangs	Ted Carson	May 31	2 reels	May 18

SOUND SHORTS

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
*†§Arabian Daze		Mar. 3	2 reels
*†§Big Circus, The (Serial)	Bushman, Jr.-Vaughan
*†§Bewery Bimboes	Oswald Cartoon	Mar. 17	1 reel	Apr. 5
*†§Broadway Follies	Oswald Cartoon	Mar. 3	1 reel	Feb. 15
*†§Brother for Sale (A. T.)	Sunny Jim	June 25	2 reels	Dec. 21
*†§Chinese Blues (A.T.)	Sporting Youth	Mar. 31	2 reels	Mar. 29
*†Christmas Cheer (A. T.)	Sunny Jim	Feb. 3	2 reels	Dec. 14
*†Chile Con Carmee	Oswald Cartoon	Feb. 3	1 reel	Jan. 11
*†§Cold Feet	Oswald Cartoon	Aug. 18	1 reel
*†§Fanny the Mule Cartoons		Sept. 11	1 reel

*Means synchronized score. †Means sound effects. §Means voice (including dialogue and incidental songs). A.T. after title means All-Talker. P.T. means Part-Talker. D means disc. F means sound-on-film.

*†§Fellow Students	Sid Saylor	Apr.	9	2 reels	Mar.	8
†§Footlight Follies (A.T.)	Sporting Youth	Feb.	3	2 reels
*†§Halowe'en	Sporting Youth	Apr.	14	2 reels	Apr.	6
*†§Hash Shop	Oswald Cartoon	Apr.	14	1 reel	Apr.	12
*†§Hell's Heels	Oswald Cartoon	June	2	1 reel	June	7
†Henpecked	Oswald Cartoon	Aug.	11	1 reel
*†§His Bachelor Daddy	Sunny Jim	May	14	2 reels	Apr.	19
*†§Hot for Hollywood	Oswald Cartoon	May	19	1 reel	May	24
*Hurdy Gurdy	Oswald Cartoon	Jan.	20	1 reel	Nov.	30
*†§Indians Are Coming (A.T.)	McCoy-Roy	Oct.	10	12 Episodes
*†§Jade Box, The	Lorraine-Perrin	Mar.	24	10 episodes	Feb.	22
*†§Kisses and Curses	Oswald Cartoon	Feb.	17	1 reel	Jan.	25
*†§Leather Pushers Series				2 reels
*†§Lightning Express, The (Serial)	Lorraine-Chandler	June	2	10 episodes	April	12
*†§Live Ghosts (F & D)	Ann Christy	Jan.	20	2 reels	Jan.	11
*†§Mush Again	Sunny Jim	Apr.	23	2 reels	Mar.	29
*†§My Pal Paul	Oswald Cartoon	June	18	1 reel	June	28
*†§Neighbors	Sunny Jim	Mar.	26	2 reels	Mar.	1
*†§Not So Quiet	Oswald Cartoon	July	7	1 reel	July	26
*†§Oswald Cartoons				1 reel
*†§Outdoor Sports	Sid Saylor			2 reels	Dec.	14
*†Prison Panic	Oswald Cartoon	Apr.	28	1 reel	May	10
*†§Royal Fourflush	Sporting Youth	Feb.	17	2 reels	Jan.	25
*†§Schoolmates	Sporting Youth	Apr.	28	2 reels	Apr.	26
*†§Seeing Stars	Sporting Youth	Mar.	17	2 reels	Mar.	8
*†§She's a He (A.T.)	Sunny Jim			2 reels	May	10
*†§Sister's Pest	Sunny Jim	Feb.	26	2 reels	Jan.	25
*†Snappy Salesmen	Oswald Cartoon	Aug.	18	1 reel
*†§Spooks	Oswald Cartoon	July	21	1 reel
*†§Steeplechase (A. T.)	Sporting Youth	Jan.	6	2 reels	Dec	14
*†§Stop That Noise	Sunny Jim	July	18	2 reels	June	14
*†§Strange As It Seems Novelties		Sept.		1 reel
*†§Talking Newsreel				1 reel
†Tarzan the Tiger (Serial)	Frank Merrill	Dec.	9	10 episodes
*†§Terry of the Times (Serial)	Howes-Thompson	Aug.	11	10 episodes	June	21
*†§Traffic Troubles		Mar.	12	2 reels	Feb.	15
*†§Tramping Tramps	Oswald Cartoon	Mar.	31	1 reel	Mar.	29
*†§Up and Downstairs		Jan.	25	2 reels
*†§Vernan's Aunt	Dent-Archar	Feb.	19	2 reels	Feb.	1

WARNER BROTHERS

(Available sound-on-disc only)

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length Feet	Mins.	Reviewed
†§Courage (A.T.)	Bennett-Nixon	June 7	6830	74	May 31
*†§Dumbells in Ermine (A. T.)	Armstrong-Gleason-Kent	May 10	6300	70	June 7
*†§Evidence (A.T.)	Pauline Frederick	Jan. 25	7152	79	Oct. 19
*†§General Crack (A. T.)	John Barrymore	Jan. 25	9809	109	Nov. 16
*†§Golden Dawn (A. T.)	Woolf-Segal	June 14	7447	83	June 21
*†§Green Goddess, The (A. T.)	George Arliss	Mar. 8	6653	74	Feb. 22
*†§Hold Everything (A. T.)	Lightner-Brown-O'Neill	May 1	7513	84	Apr. 12
*†§Isle of Escape (A. T.)	Blue-Loy	Mar. 1	5814	85	Apr. 5
*†§Mammy (A. T.)	Al Jolson	May 31	7570	84	Mar. 29
†§Man from Blankley's, The (A.T.)	John Barrymore	May 24	6167	68	Apr. 12
*†§Man Hunter (A. T.)	Rin-Tin-Tin	May 3	4383	49	Apr. 12
*†§Oh! Sailor, Behave (A.T.)	Delroy-King	Aug. 16	5850	65	July 12
*†§On the Border	Rin-Tin-Tin	Mar. 15	4410	49	Feb. 8
*†§Rough Waters (A. T.)	Rin-Tin-Tin	June 7	4280	68	July 26
*†§Royal Box (A.T.) (German)	Moissi-Horn		8000	89	Dec. 28
*†§Second Choice (A. T.)	Dolores Costello	Jan. 4	8150	91	Jan. 11
*†§Second Floor Mystery (A. T.)	Withers-Young	Apr. 26	5268	59	May 10
*†§She Couldn't Say No	Lightner-Merris	Feb. 15	6413	71	Feb. 22
*†§Song of the West (A. T.)	Boles-Segal	Mar. 15	7185	80	Mar. 8
*†§Those Who Dance (A. T.)	Monte Blue	Apr. 19	6878	78	July 12
*†§Under a Texas Moon (A. T.)	Fay-Torres-Ley-Beery	Apr. 1	7498	83	Apr. 12
*†§Wide Open (A. T.)	E. E. Horton	Feb. 1	6341	71	Mar. 29

Coming Feature Attractions

Title	Star	Rel. Date	Length	Reviewed
Bad Women §	Oell-Boley-Gordon
Barber John's Boy	Holmes-Mitchell
Big Boy	Al Jolson	Aug. 30
Both Were Young
Captain Applejack	John Halliday
Children of Dreams
Dancing Sweeties	Withers-Carol	July 19
Adam and Evening
Divorce Among Friends	Hall-Delroy
Egg Crate Wallop	Withers-Nixon
Fifty Million Frenchmen	Olsen & Johnson
Gay Caballero
Doorway to Hell	Ayres-Matthews
Ex-Mistress	Nolan-Hamilton
Life of the Party	Winnie Lightner
Matrimonial Bed	Frank Fay	Aug. 2
Maybe Its' Love	Brown-Bennett	Sept. 13
Maytime
Moby Dick	John Barrymore	Sept. 20		Aug. 16
Office Wife	Makaill-Stone	Aug. 23
Old English	George Arliss
Outward Bound	Howard-Mercer
Penny Arcade	Withers-Knapp
Red Hot Sinners	Winnie Lightner
Recaptured Love	Bennett-Hallday	July 8
River's End	Bickford-Knapp
Sit Tight	Lichtner-Brown
A Soldier's Plaything	Loder-Lyon-Langdon	Sept. 6
Steel Highway	Withers-Aster
Sweet Kitty Bellairs	Claudia Dell
Three Faces East	Bennett-von Stroheim	July 26
Viennese Nights	Gray-Segal-Hersholt	Sept. 20

VITAPHONE VARIETIES (D)

Title	Star	Length	Reviewed
Absent Minded	Perkins-Ford	882 10	Apr. 12
Aida, Frances	Songs	523 6	Feb. 8
And Wife	Elliott-Davis	971 11	Apr. 12
At Home	The Potters	1435 16	Mar. 15
At Your Service	Landis-Halligan-Blackwood	633 7
Battery of Sonos, A	Hoyt-Coots-Quintelle	710 8	May 10
Believe It or Not	Robert L. Ripley	2 reels	May 24
Benefit, The	Joe Frisco	928 10	Feb. 8
Bernie, Ben	Orchestra	771 9	Apr. 19
Big Money	The Potters	1141 12	May 24
Bigger and Better	Watsons		Aug. 9
Body Slam, The	Lambert-Ledoux-Irving	1 reel	July 19
Bridal Night	Arthur-Merriam
Broadway's Like That	Ruth Etting	865 10	Mar. 8
Bubble Party, The	Geo. Sweet	629 7
Bubbles	Vitaphone Kiddies	688 8
Cave Club, The	Leach, Merman-Pierlot	793 9
Celeste Aida	Giovanni Martinelli	9	June 21
Cheer Leader, The	Tom Douglas	826 9
Christmas Knight	Washburn-Eddy-Middleton	696 8
Collegiate Model, The	Ona Munson	2 reels	May 10
Congo Jazz	Loney Tunes No. 2
Contrary Mary	Bobby Watson	839 9	June 7
Cry Baby	Mary Louise Treen
Danger	Litel-Campeau-Merriam	744 8	May 24
Desert Thrills	Edwin Bartlett	725 8	July 26
Devil's Parade, The	Sidney Toler	888 10	June 14
Done In Oil	The Potters	1539 17	June 14
Ducking Duty	Conklin-Morgan	493 5
Duel, The	Fields-Teasdale
Eternal Triangle, The	Rich-Standing-Kaliz
Evolution	Progress of Motion Pictures	10	June 21
Evolution of the Dance		1071 12	Feb. 22
Faust	Duet 1st Act	2	Nov. 20
Feminine Types	Jean Barrios
Fight, The	Norman Brokenshire	1 reel	May 10
Find the Woman	Hugh O'Connell	817 9
Five Minutes From the Station	Overman-Churchill-Sidney
Footnotes	Page Sisters & Oscar Grogan	519 6	Apr. 19
For Sale	Gregory Rotoff	523 6	June 14
Fore	Ford-Lane
Frame, The	Boyd-Middleton	934 10
Getting a Raise	The Potters	1136 13	May 10
†§Ginsberg of Newberg	Eddie Lambert	2 reels	Aug. 2
Glee Quartette, The	Jack Buchanan	552 6	Feb. 15
Going Places	Shaw & Lee	660	June 7
Grand Uproar	Jim McWilliams	702 8	May 31
Gym Jams	Lew Mayer	635 7	Apr. 19
Head Man, The	O'Connell-Kelly	796 9	Apr. 19
Heart Breaker, The	Eddie Foy, Jr.	1315 15
Heidt and His Californians			June 7
Her Relatives	Neely Edward
Holland		733 8	June 14
Holiday in Storyland, A	Vitaphone Kiddies	799 9
Idle Chatter	Lou Holtz	908 10	Apr. 19
Ill Wind, An	Hibbard-Lerch-Graham	2 reels	June 14
Japanese Bowl, The		694 8	June 14
Jazz Rehearsal	Kane-Edwards	1 reel	May 10
Keeping Company	Eddie Buzzell	1746 19	May 10
Letters	Pauline Garon	800 9
Let's Elope	Betty & Jerry Browne	645 9	June 14
Lobo, Dog of Dogs	Lobo	590 7	Mar. 8
Lonely Gigio	Lotti Loder	922 9
Lost and Found	Demarest-Bond (This act not yet released)
Love Boat, The	Herman Timberg	754 8	Mar. 1
Married	Flint-Ridges-Foran
Master Sweeper, The	Chester Conklin	904 10	Mar. 8
Matinee Idle	Henry Hull	685 8	June 14
McLallen, Jack		1 reel	June 7
Military Post, The	Roberto Guzman	570 6	Mar. 15
Money, Money, Money	Mason-Keeler	876 10
Naggers at Breakfast, The	Mr. & Mrs. Jack Norworth	845 9	June 14
Nay, Nay, Nero	Cameron-Watson
New Racket, The		1 reel	Mar. 15
Nile Green	Broderick-Crawford	740 8	June 7
No-Account, The	Hardie-Hutchinson	777 9
Offee Steps		874 10	May 31
On the Rancho	Will & Gladys Ahern	600 7	Mar. 15
Only tha Girl	Wattlas-Marsh	580 6
Operation, The	Edgar Bergen	835 9	Feb. 8
*†Out for Game	Lucien Littlefield	2 reels	Aug. 2
Pagliacci	John Charles Thomas
Pa Gets a Vacation	The Potters	1243 14
Paper Hanging	Johnny Arthur	1 reel	May 31
Paolo, Paquita & Chiquita		832 9
Pay Off, The	H. B. Walthall	1076 12	Mar. 8
People Versus, The	Campeau-O'Malley	548 8	Apr. 12
Perfect Understanding, A	May-Oaks	537 6
Play Boy, The	Fox-Curtis	2 reels
Poor Aubrey	Franklin Pangborn	2 reels	May 10
Poor Fish, The	Cavanaugh-Ridges-Schafer
Reno or Bust	Pangborn-Elliott	1150 13	June 7
Road Knights		9	Aug. 9
Rhythms	Reisman Band	15	Aug. 9
Royal Fourflusher, The	Eddie Buzzell	1556 17	June 14
Russian Rhapsody, A	Kuznetzoff & Nicolina	704 8
Seymour, Ann	Songs
Shakespeare Was Right
She Who Gets Slapped	Tom Dugan		June 7
Sinkin' in the Bathtub	Looney Tunes No. 1	1 reel	May 10
Slick As Ever	H. J. Coniey	2 reels	June 7
Song Paintings	Ann Seymour	1 reel	June 7
Song Plugger, The	Joe Frisco	1390 16	June 7
Sound Effects	Buddy Traps	653 7	May 10
South Sea Pearl	Gaston Glass	2 reels	May 10
Stand Up, The	Watson-Cameron-Mack	685 8	June 14
Still Alarm, The	Webb-Allen	1 reel	June 7
Strong and Willing	Trixie Friganza
Strong Arm, The	Harrington-O'Neil
Surprise	Dugan-Leonard	1038 12
Suspicion	Lyons-Earle-Moore
System	Clements-Knapp
Taking Ways	Codee & Orth	2 reels	May 10
Talking It Over	Jack Osterman	739 8
Taxi Talks	Tracy-Alexander	1346 15	June 14
Temple Belles	Green-Blackman	1346 15	June 14
Tenement Tangle, A	Ryan & Lee	756 9	June 14
23 Skiddo	Lew Fields	854 10	June 14
Two of a Kind	Lytell-Fant	1 reel	June 7
Two Rounds of Love	Rennie-Dixon
Varsity Show, The	Olive Shea
Vengeance	Richmond-Moorhead	819 9	Feb. 8
Websterian Students	Ryan-Lee	801 9	Apr. 19
Wedding of Jack and Jill, The	Vitaphone Kiddies	701 8	June 7
Wedding Belles	Howard-Newton	485 5
What a Life		955 11	June 14
Who Pays?	Murray-Dakland	942 10	Mar. 15
Window Cleaners	Brlee-Edwards	637 7	Apr. 19
Work, Milton C.
Yamekraw		857 9	Apr. 26

YOU'LL FIND IT FIRST IN

MOTION PICTURE NEWS

What are Sound and Color Worth?

. . . NATURALLY they are worth anything you can afford to pay for them. Here is a series of special tinted films that lend charming color, and give strikingly faithful sound, at the cost of black-and-white. "Eastman Sonochrome Tinted Positive Films" is the name. They supply the two prime features of the modern motion picture without any penalty of price.

EASTMAN KODAK COMPANY
ROCHESTER, NEW YORK

J. E. Brulatour, Inc., Distributors
New York Chicago Hollywood

EVERY WEEK AND EVERY PICTURE ESTABLISH MORE FIRMLY FOX SUPREMACY

COMMON CLAY

with CONSTANCE BENNETT
LEW AYRES

TULLY MARSHALL, MATTY KEMP, BERYL MERCER

Directed by VICTOR FLEMING
From the Harvard prize play by Cleves Kinkead

Held over for 3rd week at Roxy. Business building every day because of word of mouth advertising. First 4 days of 2nd week beat first 4 opening days by $5,280.

AUGUST 17

MAN TROUBLE

with

DOROTHY MACKAILL, MILTON SILLS
KENNETH MacKENNA, SHARON LYNN
ROSCOE KARNS

Story by Ben Ames Williams
Directed by BERTHOLD VIERTEL

See Milton Sills in a new kind of a role, bigger than he has ever had. And Dorothy Mackaill the beoutiful, great-to-see and great-to-heor as she sings songs you'll remember. A romance that's a spine tingler and heart toucher combined.

AUGUST 24

FOX

ZANE GREY'S GRAND STORY
LAST OF THE DUANES

with the Big Shot of Western stars
GEORGE O'BRIEN

and LUCILE BROWNE, talent from the stage
MYRNA LOY, the orchid of the screen
WALTER McGRAIL, popular leading man

Directed by ALFRED WERKER

Caviar to kids and all others who love to pile thrill on thrill... Rattle of shots...Thunder of hoofs...O'Brien rides like o Cossock, ond can pack a lot of petting into his good right arm. You'll gosp ot the terrific folls of horses and men...44 colibre in every woy.

AUGUST 31

AUGUST 23, 1930

Motion Picture NEWS

Reg. U. S. Patent Office

ANOTHER PRIZE for LEO!

THE SCORE:
M-G-M
5

NEAREST COMPETITORS:
3, 2, 2, 2, 2, 1, 1.

VARIETY
BOX-OFFICE SCORE

"In the group of 18 'smashes' as accepted by box-office reports over the year, Metro leads with 5 pictures. Smashes are considered on a basis of extraordinary business done over the entire country. Such pictures as commonly merit holdovers and play to standees."

5 OUT OF 18 SMASHES:

ANNA CHRISTIE
CAUGHT SHORT
DIVORCEE
HOLLYWOOD REVUE
OUR MODERN MAIDENS

AND THESE WILL BE IN Variety's NEXT B. O. REPORT:

THE BIG HOUSE
LET US BE GAY
ROMANCE
OUR BLUSHING BRIDES
WAY OUT WEST

VOL. XLII. NO. 8

Entered as second-class matter April 23, 1926, at the Post Office at New York, N. Y., under act of March 3, 1879

Price 20 Cents

Published Weekly $3.00 a Year

Copyright, 1930, by Motion Picture News, Inc.

Los Angeles New York Chicago

BIG 4

announces

6 MORE WESTERNS COMING!

ALL TALKING - ALL STAR!

ALL ACTION!

SOUND ON FILM AND DISC PRINTS

IN ADDITION TO THESE NOW READY

BOOK ALL TWELVE NOW!

MORE GOOD NEWS COMING!

"BEYOND the RIO GRANDE"
with
JACK PERRIN
BUFFALO BILL, JR.
FRANKLYN FARNUM
DIRECTED BY HARRY WEBB

"FIREBRAND JORDAN"
with
LANE CHANDLER
YAKIMA CANUTT
SHELDON LEWIS
DIRECTED BY ALVIN J. NEITZ

"CANYON HAWKS"
with
YAKIMA CANUTT
BUZZ BARTON
WALLY WALES
DIRECTED BY ALVIN J. NEITZ

"RIDIN' LAW"
with
JACK PERRIN
YAKIMA CANUTT
ROBERT WALKER
DIRECTED BY HARRY WEBB

"BAR L RANCH"
with
BUFFALO BILL, JR.
YAKIMA CANUTT
WALLY WALES
DIRECTED BY HARRY WEBB

"TRAILS of DANGER"
with
WALLY WALES
VIRGINIA BROWN FAIRE
JACK PERRIN
DIRECTED BY ALVIN J. NEITZ

BOOK ALL SIX NOW . . . AT

FIRST GRAPHIC EXCHANGE
Buffalo, N. Y.
FIRST GRAPHIC EXCHANGE
Albany, N. Y.
ARTHUR C. BROMBERG ATTRACTIONS
Atlanta, Ga.
ARTHUR C. BROMBERG ATTRACTIONS
Charlotte, N. C.
ARTHUR C. BROMBERG ATTRACTIONS
New Orleans, La.
ARTHUR C. BROMBERG ATTRACTIONS
Tampa, Florida
ARTHUR C. BROMBERG ATTRACTIONS
Birmingham, Ala.
WORLD-ART PICTURES OF N. E., INC.
Boston, Mass.
SECURITY PICTURES
Chicago, Ill.
SECURITY PICTURES
Indianapolis, Ind.
FISCHER FILM EXCHANGE CO.
Cleveland, Ohio
FISCHER FILM EXCHANGE CO.
Cincinnati, Ohio
ALLIED FILM EXCHANGE, INC.
Dallas, Texas
ALLIED FILM EXCHANGE, INC.
Oklahoma City, Okla.
SHEFFIELD EXCHANGE SYSTEM
Denver, Colo.
SHEFFIELD EXCHANGE SYSTEM
2418 Second Avenue
Seattle, Wash.
SHEFFIELD EXCHANGE SYSTEM
462 Glisan Street
Portland, Ore.
SHEFFIELD EXCHANGE SYSTEM
Salt Lake City, Utah
EXCELLENT PICTURES CORP.
Detroit, Mich.
MIDWEST FILM DISTRIBUTORS, INC
Kansas City, Mo.
CONTINENTAL REPRODUCER CO.
102 Ninth St.,
Milwaukee, Wis.
HOME STATE FILM EXCHANGE, INC.
Little Rock, Ark.
CELEBRATED FILM EXCHANGE
Minneapolis, Minn.
CAPITAL FILM EXCHANGE, INC.
New York City
CAPITOL PICTURES CORP.
Omaha, Nebr.
GOLD MEDAL FILM CO.
Philadelphia, Pa.
GOLD MEDAL FILM CO.
Washington, D. C.
COLUMBIA FILM SERVICE, INC.
Pittsburgh, Pa.
PROGRESSIVE PICTURES, INC.
St. Louis, Mo.
CO-OPERATIVE FILM EXCHANGE
San Francisco, Calif.
CO-OPERATIVE FILM EXCHANGE
Los Angeles, Calif.

BIG 4 FILM CORPORATION 130 W. 46th ST., NEW YORK CIT

John R. Freuler, President

TURNING SHORTS FROM A PROBLEM INTO A PLEASURE!

¶ Paramount's entrance into the sound shorts field, with its mighty production organization and high standard of quality. Paramount's showmanlike action in conducting a nation-wide survey of theaters to find out what kind and what numbers of shorts were wanted, and then basing its 1930-31 program on the results. Have turned shorts from a problem into a pleasure for every exhibitor booking Paramount Shorts for the new season. ¶ PARAMOUNT SOUND NEWS is the one news reel geared up to modern times. 104 PARAMOUNT ACTS give you the world's greatest headliners in single-reel form. 26 PARAMOUNT COMEDIES, each two reels, are made with the same methods and largely with the same stars that have made Paramount supreme in the feature comedy field. They're aimed at belly laughs and hit the mark. 18 PARAMOUNT SCREEN SONGS and 18 PARAMOUNT TALKARTOONS, produced by Max Fleischer, are admitted the most popular single-reel novelties on the market. 12 PARAMOUNT PICTORIALS are a brand new contribution to the gayety of sound shorts that will click from the jump-off. ¶ If you're still worrying around with inferior shorts, you're foolish. Join the wise boys and book PARAMOUNT SHORTS.

PARAMOUNT GREATER Paramount NEW SHOW WORLD Pictures SHORTS

CONTRACTS FLY BEF

Radio Show Machine Wins First-Line Trenches and Moves on to Victory in Battle of Contracts Now Raging on All Exhibition Fronts . . . Booking Records Crash . . . Sales Figures Soar . . Before the New Titan Attractions Headed by the Fabulous

AMOS 'N' ANDY

BLAST DEPRESSION V

RE MARCH OF TITAN

34 MAJOR SHOWS . . . EACH BUILT SHREWDLY AND POWERFULLY BY BOX-OFFICE SHARP-SHOOTERS . . . BLAZE A TRAIL TO LEADERSHIP FOR THE RADIO TITAN.

TH RADIO SMASHES

Quote:

"

● ILLUSTRATIONS on this page are reproductions from the Motion Picture News. Several of them come from the pages of NOW while the other is a page of suggestions that might benefit you. Whitbeck in his Dead Line explains the value of this department in the Motion Picture News.

The Dead Line

● A SCHOOL of showmanship.

That's the Manager's Round Table Club in the Motion Picture News . .

With Charles "Chick" Lewis as the faculty.

I have in mind, particularly, the anniversary issue of May 17 . . . the showman who can read this issue and fail to come out of it without a half dozen damn good ideas . . just isn't a showman and . . never will be one.

Chick Lewis talks about "friendship and fraternity" . . . I'm forgetting that part and . . at the same time . . I'm forgetting the sour stomach attitude that some men take when they say the contributors to the Round Table are only seeking a chance to three-sheet themselves — I'm just claiming that the man who sends in his good stunts is helping show business and, God knows, right now . . show business needs everybody's help.

Quit hiding behind the modesty bush and come out in the open with your ideas of salesmanship, exploitation, showmanship and publicity . . men who are engaged in the same business with you need it and the industry needs it.

The Round Table is an exchange of ideas . . fighting no one man's battles but every man's. The Round Table has one avowed purpose and that is . . to help show business.

The Round Table asks for no favors . . and gives none. They are interested in just one thing . . . will a stunt sell tickets? If it will . . then the telling of that stunt gets a place on the pages of the Motion Picture News.

The Round Table is progressive . . in editorial and the doctrine they preach. They encourage you to get out of the rut of old-fashioned sameness and repetition and then . . what is better still . . they show you how to do it . . by story and illustration.

The Round Table is keeping up . . even a little ahead — of the trend of the time in show business. It is giving you . . completely and quickly new ideas while they are new and old ideas dressed in 1930 style and standard.

Another good thing . . . the Round Table encourages controversy . . and discussion . . over advertising methods and in all of it . . they are fair. They attempt to establish no standard of what is wrong or what is right . . they give each man who is willing to talk, publicly, a right to express his opinion and they will give the other fellow a chance to answer.

Discussion . . whether it is friendly or not . . never hurt any business . . . and right now — a discussion of the method of theatre advertising . . and management . . is most certainly worth while and needed.

Get a copy of the Motion Picture News, if you are not already a subscriber, and read the Round Table. Note how many phases of showmanship this department covers — kid shows, exploitation, the type of showmanship in Africa and China . . . prestige and local good will building, lobby posters and art work, marquee decoration, limerick contests, showman's calender of holidays and celebrations, ballyhoo, display advertising, publicity writing, co-operative merchant advertising, stage weddings, showmanship talks, stunts, gags and a dozen other subjects that you need in the every day routine of your work.

Read the Manager's Round Table Club . . take advantage of the many possibilities it holds for you — then play ball with Chick Lewis and send him your best stunt of the week . . . give and take . . . it will help you and make the department even more interesting.

Your contribution to the Round Table will give added glory to Fox West Coast Theatres . . it will demonstrate to the rest of the show world that our managers and publicity men are on the job . . that they are wide awake and progressive and that they are not afraid to give some one else the benefit of their experience.

Stop hiding behind the modesty bush . . get out and shout—shout loudly and lustily about a stunt that you are proud of. There are managers . . and circuits . . who hide the work they do from the show world. Why be afraid . . why not put our shoulder to the wheel of progress?

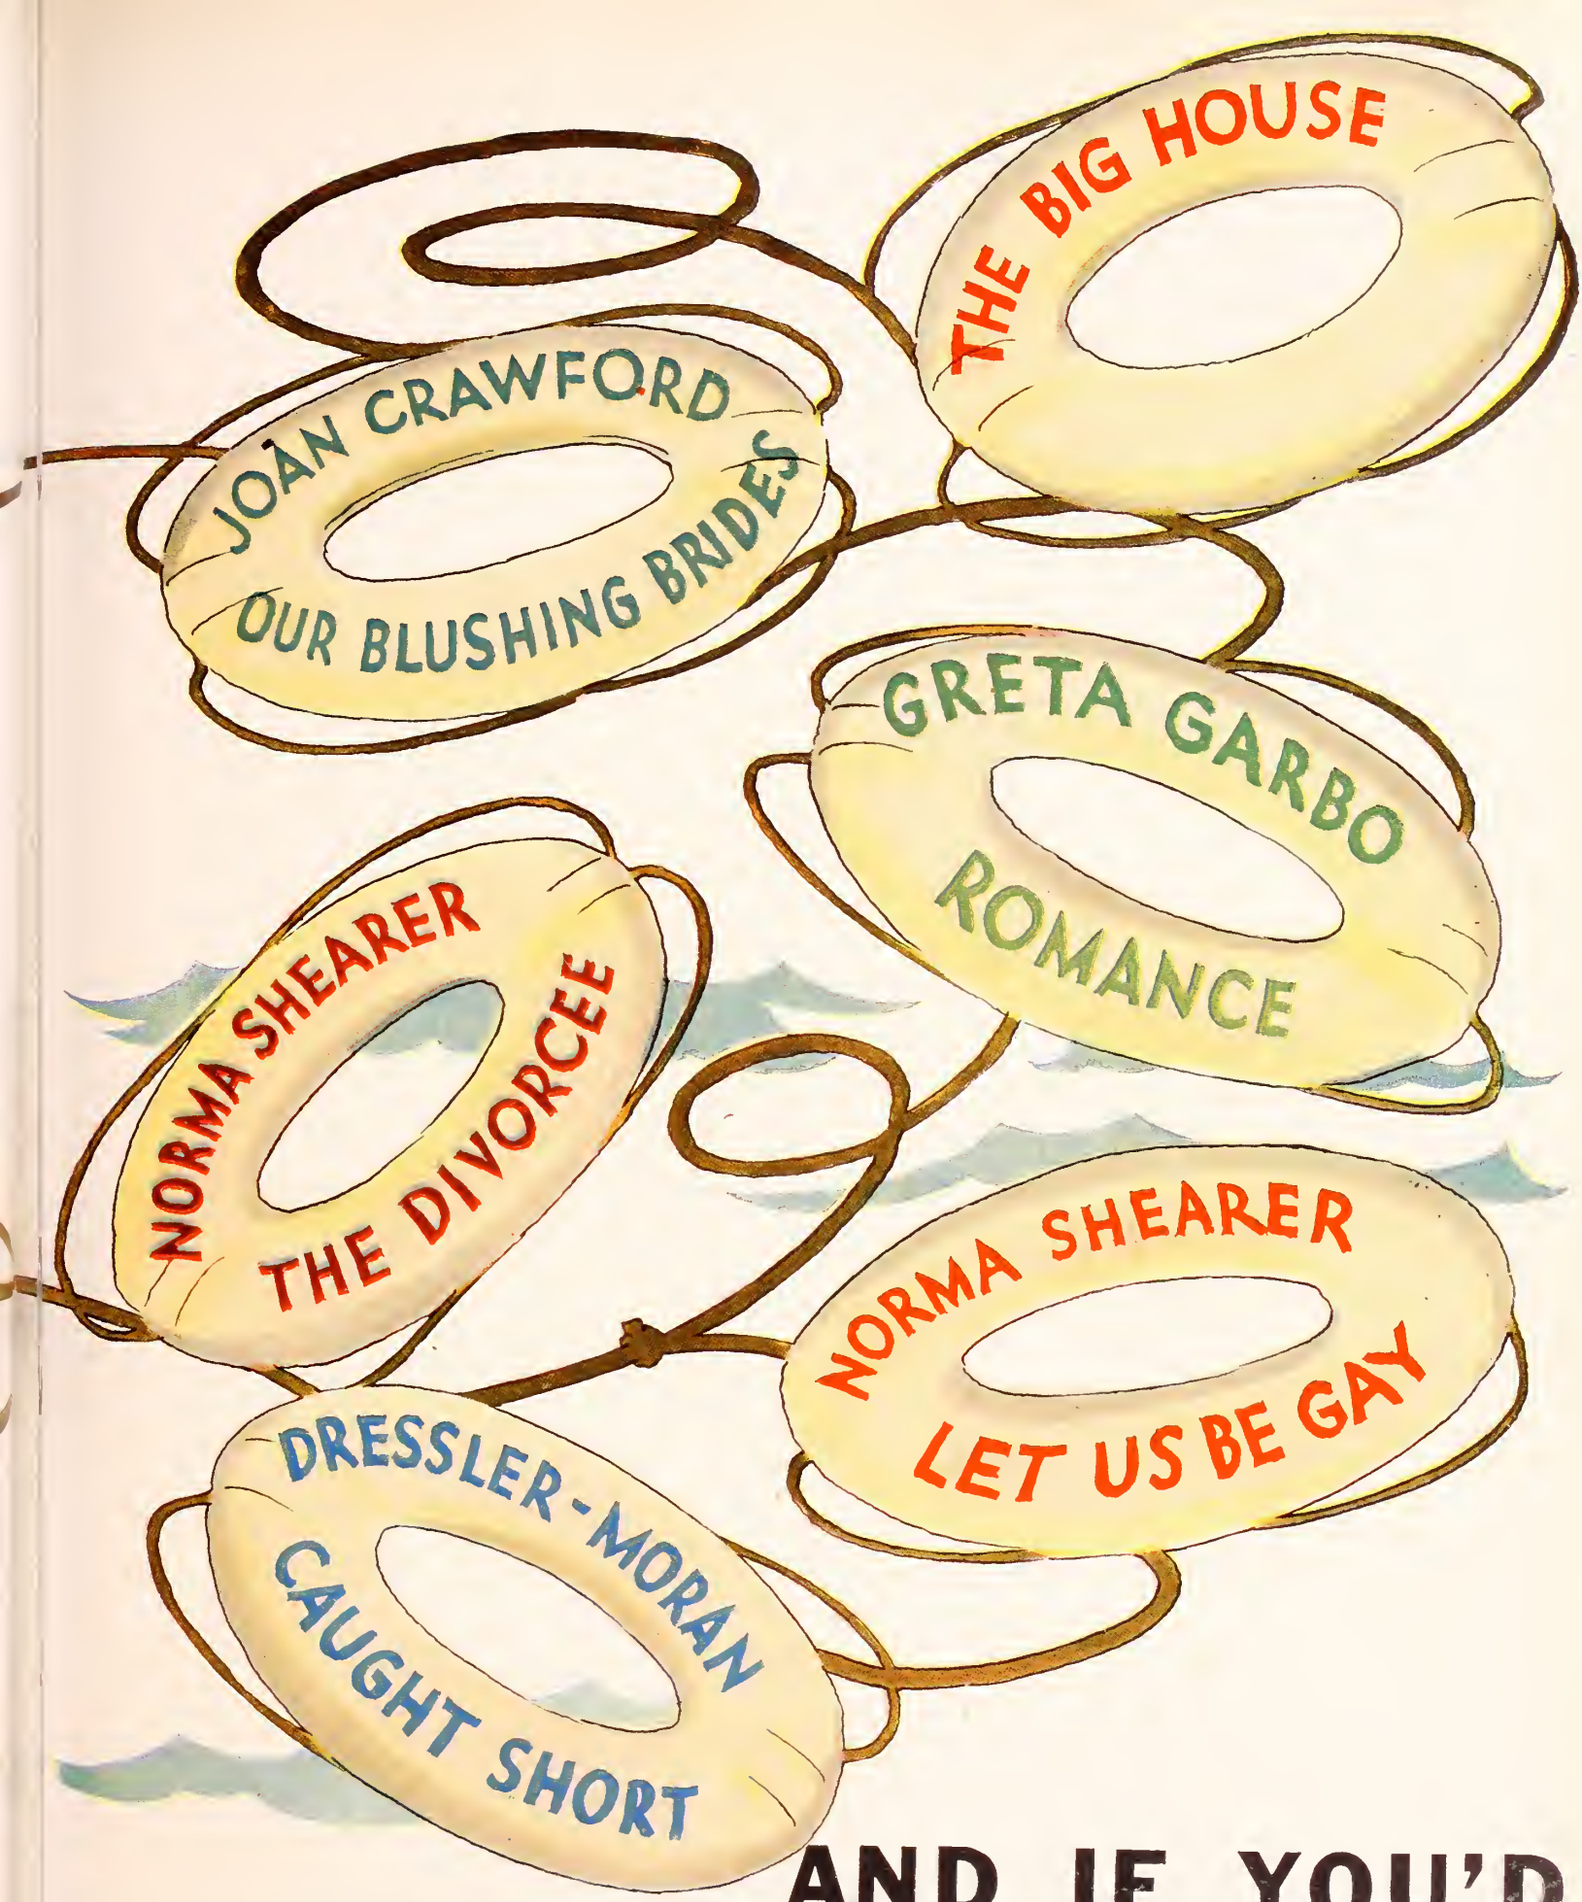
Come thru' with the Manager's Round Table . . give yourself a boost . . help the other fellow . . and help—show business.

(Reprinted from NOW, House Organ of Fox West Coast Theatres)

"

"F. W." is Frank Whitbeck, Director Advertising and Publicity, Fox West Coast Theatres

Unquote



"YOU'RE A LIFE SAVER, LEO!"

MANY A THEATRE WOULD BE SUNK RIGHT NOW WITHOUT—

TO THE RESCUE!

AND IF YOU'D LIKE THE SAME SECURITY NEXT YEAR—

YOUR LUCKY STAR

52 "LUCKY STAR" Productions

MARION DAVIES (3)
NORMA SHEARER (2)
JOAN CRAWFORD (4)
GRETA GARBO (3)
JOHN GILBERT (2)
WILLIAM HAINES (4)
RAMON NOVARRO (3)
LON CHANEY (1)
LAWRENCE TIBBETT (2)
BUSTER KEATON (2)
COSMOPOLITAN (4)
(GRACE MOORE)
DRESSLER & MORAN (2)

SPECIALS:
GOOD NEWS
MERRY WIDOW
NAUGHTY MARIETTA
BILLY THE KID
TRADER HORN
MADAM SATAN (Cecil DeMille)
LOVE IN THE ROUGH
TAMPICO
THE CRISIS
MARCH OF TIME
PASSION FLOWER
MONSIEUR LE FOX
DARK STAR
WAR NURSE
THOSE THREE FRENCH GIRLS
BALLYHOO
WORLD'S ILLUSION
DANCE FOOLS DANCE
THE GREAT MEADOW
DIXIE, THE DARK HORSE

SHORT SUBJECTS

6 M-G-M DOGVILLE COMEDIES
HAL ROACH COMEDIES
6 LAUREL & HARDY COMEDIES
8 CHARLEY CHASE COMEDIES
8 OUR GANG COMEDIES
8 "BOY FRIENDS" COMEDIES
NOVELTY GROUP (4)
BURTON HOLMES (12)
FLIP THE FROG (12 CARTOON)
HEARST METROTONE NEWS (104)
M-G-M COLORTONE REVUES (8)

1930-31

M-G-M

GRAB IT!

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS!

HERE'S THE PROOF that Universal has the only newsreel that is a bigger box-office attraction than the feature.

Read what H. F. Beaumont and Lewis P. Newhafer, proprietors of the Colony Theatre, Chicago, say:

"Universal newsreel with Graham McNamee spells money to the exhibitor in capital letters. We get calls every day to ask if the newsreel with McNamee is being shown. On one day alone we had thirty-one calls about the newsreel against eight asking what the feature would be. So there is no doubt about this as a real box-office attraction."

Presented by
CARL LAEMMLE
and Produced under the supervision of
Sam B. Jacobson

Build up patronage with

GRAHAM McNAMEE

The National Broadcasting Company Ace
as the Talking Reporter of—

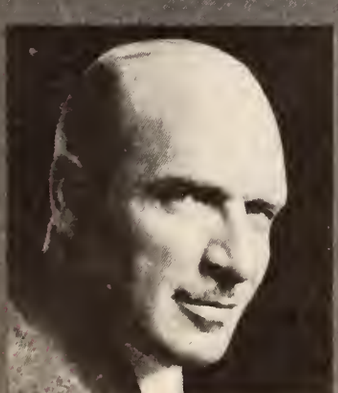
UNIVERSAL TALKING NEWSREEL

SIX BIG

to start off COLUMBIA'S

FRANK CAPRA for

DIRIGIBLE



With JACK HOLT and RALPH GRAVES . . . From Lieut. Commander Frank Wead's great story. Mr. Capra gave you "Submarine," "Flight," "Ladies of Leisure," "Rain or Shine," and many other box-office successes.

HOWARD HAWKS for

THE CRIMINAL CODE

From the sensational New York stage hit by Martin Flavin . . . and winner of the Theatre Club Trophy as the best play of the year. Mr. Hawks wielded the megaphone on "The Dawn Patrol," "Air Circus," and numerous other big attractions.

JOHN BLYSTONE for

TOL'ABLE DAVID

Joseph Hergesheimer's immortal screen classic brought to the screen as a talking picture, by public demand. Mr. Blystone is the director of "So This is London" and many other money pictures.

COLUMBIA

DIRECTORS

SUPERIOR TWENTY

VICTOR FLEMING for

ARIZONA

Written for the screen by Jules Furthman from Augustus Thomas' greatest outdoor play. To be produced on an epic scale. Mr. Fleming directed "The Virginian," "Common Clay," and other big-time productions.

JOHN ROBERTSON for

MADONNA OF THE STREETS

An adaption of the famous novel, "The Ragged Messenger," by W. B. Maxwell. To be produced up to the full possibilities of a great title and a great story. Mr. Robertson directed Mary Pickford and Richard Barthelmess in some of their biggest productions.

LIONEL BARRYMORE for

BARBARA STANWYCK'S

1st NEW-SEASON GIANT

The greatest star find of years to be presented in a powerful drama destined to touch new high grosses. Title soon to be announced. Mr. Barrymore directed "The Rogue Song," "Madame X" and many other seat-sellers.

PICTURES

COLUMBIA PICTURES

So This is London!

The world's greatest city is not slow in developing a great American institution — The Newsreel Theatre

BRITISH MOVIETONE NEWS

{ Distributed by Fox Film Company, Ltd. }

GIVES ENGLAND A NEW THRILL

with the

Distinguished audience filled London's new theatre on Shaftsbury Avenue at opening performance Monday, August 18, and welcomed newest achievement in screen journalism.

•

British Movietone News is the brightest symposium of topical events yet gathered for the screen. — London Daily Mail

London Newsreel Theatre certainly should find favor with public. —London Daily Telegraph

The novel enterprise certainly lives up to its slogan "round the world in fifty minutes". — London Daily Mirror

The experiment has every appearance of success. — London Times

NEXT!! on the "BIG HIT" Pathé Schedule

BEYOND VICTORY

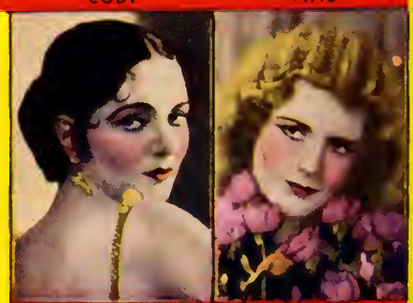
Another Showman's Picture from Pathé

Something "different" differently done—Dramatizing men's thoughts of women in moments of danger—Visualizing the vagaries of women in their adoration of men. Surprises on the brink of suspense—Laughs in the midst of thrills.

A production of wide dramatic scope and unusual showmanship elements to promote big box office business.

PATHÉ

BEYOND



WILLIAM BOYD | HELEN TWELVETREES | JAMES GLEASON | FRED SCOTT | RUSSELL GLEASON | LEW CODY | ZASU PITTS

Played by a Great Cast of Twenty-Five Dramatic and Comedy Stars headed by Pathé's popular artists featuring:

WILLIAM BOYD — FRED SCOTT — ZASU PITTS
HELEN TWELVETREES — RUSSELL GLEASON — DOROTHY BURGESS
JAMES GLEASON — LEW CODY — JUNE COLLYER

Adapted for screen presentation by: Garrett Fort, James Gleason, James Seymour, Lynn Riggs, Thomas Lennon and Mauri Grashin, from the story by Hope Bennett

DOROTHY BURGESS | JUNE COLLYER

A SUPER ATTRACTION

Founded on Basic Human Emotions

MAN'S PRIMAL DEMAND FOR LOVE—
WOMAN'S CRAVING FOR AFFECTION—
JEALOUSY THE SYMBOL OF PASSION
AND THE ENEMY OF HAPPINESS.

"BEYOND VICTORY" IS THE TRIUMPHAL
SURRENDER TO HUMAN DESIRES

Produced by
E. B. DERR

Directed by
JOHN ROBERTSON

PATHÉ

PATHE

PRODUCTIONS WITH POPULAR APPEAL!

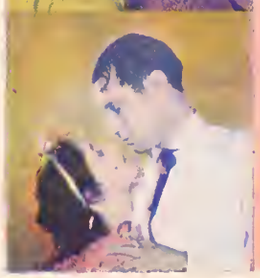
Novelty and Variety—the secret of showmanship—are found in Pathé productions.

On the "BIG HIT" Schedule for 1930-31

Five Features Completed—Five in work and ten in active preparation for production.

HOLIDAY

A Joyous Record Breaker. Featuring Ann Harding, Mary Astor, Edward Everett Horton, Robert Ames and Hedda Hopper. Directed by EDWARD H. GRIFFITH Produced by E. B. DERR.



HER MAN

A tale of tigerish love in pleasure-mad Havana. Featuring Helen Twelvetrees, Marjorie Rambeau, Ricardo Cortez, Phillips Holmes, James Gleason, and Franklin Pangborn.

NIGHT WORK

Laughs and more laughs of the kind that the world demands and gladly pays for starring Eddie Quillan.

SWING HIGH

The glitter, thrills and riotous merriment of Circus and Carnival life with an all-star cast of sixteen.

Origin U. S. A.

VOLUME XLII
NUMBER 8

Motion Picture News

NEW YORK CITY
AUGUST 23, 1930

Indignant Producers Swatting Abuse of Buying Power; Fostering New First Runs

Forgotten?

The production code of ethics was to have been reflected in pictures released after July 1, but the trailer announcement of "The Matrimonial Bed" lays emphasis on this: the "farce that made Paris gasp and blush." The picture, the trailer asserts, is "a bit risque." Incidentally, it would be pretty hard for any one to miss the lip-movement epithet of William Haines in "Way Out West."

British Renters Growing Uneasy Over Dishonesty

London—The honor of Johnny Bull's theatre owners is at stake! English distributors are looking for the "nigger in the wood pile," while the exhibitors may be expected to appoint their seconds almost momentarily in an attempt to dislodge charges of crookedness and doctored books governing percentage bookings of recent feature releases.

There is evidence everywhere of growing unrest among the distributors concerning the accuracy—or inaccuracy—of certain return sheets. An air of suspicion has been created and Sherlock Holmes put to work on the case with his best pair of microscopic lenses. If the culprits are discovered distributors threaten a firing squad.

42 Features on Tiffany 1930-31 List; 62 Shorts

Forty-two features and 62 short subjects will be released during the 1930-31 season by Tiffany, states Grant L. Cooke, company vice-president.

There will be 26 pictures designated as specials, among them the James Cruze productions, 12 westerns and six melodramas. Bob Steele and Rex Lease are to be starred in a series of six westerns each. A number of Gene Stratton Porter stories are included in the line-up. Titles and story material now is being lined up.

In the short-subject line-up are 6 two-reel chimpanzee comedies; 6 Color Symphonies.

(Continued on page 26)

Independent Houses, Once Out In the Cold, Due to Get "The Breaks"

Real competition is developing in the first run field, due to alleged abuse of their buying power on the part of big circuits. Publix, particularly, is reported to be threatened with competition in a number of spots, due to the new situation. Warners, too, are facing an onslaught by independents, particularly in Philadelphia, where Paramount is selling to opposition.

New first runs are being created all over the United States and buying power divided among more factors, particularly in towns where Publix operates, as a direct result of failure of several producing companies to get together on flat rental and percentage deals with Publix.

Reported dissatisfaction on the part of sales managers with deals offered by Publix is leading to a policy of selling away from the Katz organization and the closing of contracts with independents operating in competition to the Paramount theatre ally.

At least three major lines of product are, as a consequence, being offered and bought by independents, giving them first call on a class of product which has been denied them in toto for the past several years.

While to date the deals of this calibre so far closed are limited in number, indications are that the total will be swelled considerably, provided the distributors at odds with Publix stick to their attitude of selling their product to the exhibitor who will pay the tariff regardless of affiliation.

The "Bolshevik Trio"

Warners, First National and United Artists are the three "bolsheviks," despite the existence of franchises with the Publix group. In the case of these distributors, the franchise arrangement covers only the number of theatres in the Publix string at the time the contract was signed. The splurge in theatre acquisition and, in minor proportion, construction, in the last 18 months has developed situations in many new towns where time is open and where individual deals must now be made for 1930-1931 product.

In some instances, Publix will close with Warners, First National and U. A. In others, it is probable this product will go to the independent exhibitor operating against Publix. First National, for instance, has been active in the Southwest, having sold away from Publix in Waco, Tyler and Little Rock at prices which are said to be from 30 to 100 per cent over the Publix buy of last year.

Distributors have always sold away from chains in scattered instances, but the present drift, in the opinion of those who know selling, has rarely, if ever, been so definite.

Plan Prosperity Week

Paramount Publix will celebrate a national "prosperity week," from October 5 to 11. Company houses and independents are to be invited to join in the observance, in which all branches of the company will participate and co-operation of business and civic leaders will be sought in an attempt to put over the campaign on an elaborate scale in all spots throughout the country.

Schulberg Seen Victorious in Wanger Rivalry

The odds in the Schulberg-Wanger squabble, long rampant on the inside at Paramount, are seen veering toward the former in official word from Jesse L. Lasky that Schulberg is now managing director of production with "active charge" at studios East and West.

Walter Wanger, long bearing the title of general manager of production, continues to carry the monicker, but, according to announcement, "has been directed charged with responsibility of coordinating the activities of the company's various studios." He has been producing the 18 pictures set up as the Paramount quota in the East, but presumably Shulberg will take them over in addition to his extensive duties in Hollywood.

The differences between Schulberg and Wanger developed several years ago and are understood to revolve around exercise of authority over the Hollywood studio, which is Schulberg's domain, by Wanger from New York.

Schulberg is understood to have been anything but pleased about it. That he apparently won his point is believed by those in the know to be borne out by Wanger's infrequent visits to Hollywood, despite the fact that he has always carried with him the title of general manager of production.

Helen's Hobbies Hog Headlines

Chicago—Helen (Boop-a-Doop) Kane established some sort of long distance record locally for space chiselling during her

(Continued on page 26)

Motion Picture News

Vol. XLII NEW YORK CITY, AUGUST 23, 1930 No. 8

THE GIANTS ARE THROWING BRICKBATS

"WE'RE back in the picture business again."

So spoke a sales manager the other day and this is why:

Rising rapidly and in increasing number throughout the country is an entirely new crop of first runs. Warners, First National and United Artists, disgruntled over the price treatment meted out by the film buyers at Publix, are selling away from the nation's biggest chain and to the lowly, oft-despised and ignored independent.

Sounds funny, is, and yet carries a significance and a hope for the future that must be counted in the reckoning of what tomorrow will bring.

Maybe It's the Millenium

IT means that the lone-hand operator, surrounded by chain competition, has for the first time in years an opportunity to buy and book at least three major lines of product first run.

It means that what have been second runs may now become first runs. It should and does give the worried independent a look-in on his proper share of business with the chain advantages of bulk buying and extended protection knocked galley west.

It means adjusting the balance of power in many towns to give the independent a real fighting chance to meet his nemesis, the circuit, with weapons of nearly equal deadliness.

Competition With a Bang

AND when we say circuits, we mean exactly that. In the Philadelphia sector, Paramount is selling away from Warners. Another opportunity for the independents. In RKO towns, Paramount may be expected to follow the same procedure.

Right down the line, the set-up applies for all independents and practically all distributors. In other words, competition is returning and that's what the sales manager meant when he said we're back in the picture business.

It means that the buying power of the trade will be wrested from the hands of the few and thrown into the laps of the many. A fine, healthful and encouraging sign that this business will not allow itself to be bottled up.

HE is one of three highly important officials who makes his company go 'round. His organization is a producer, a distributor and—significant for the point that follows—a heavy theatre owner. What is even more rare, a successful one.

"You editorialized recently about big circuits in small towns. I want you to know with what complete accuracy you analyzed the situation," he writes. "You, of course, know how heavily we are interested in theatre operation. Yet it is an indisputable fact that chains, centralizing their base operations in New York or any other big city cannot successfully manage small houses."

The Nut Has a Kernel

"THE kernel of the nut is unquestionably the attention, the care and the exercise of contact and goodwill which the individual manager has built up over the years. Aloof, mechanized operation by circuit heads who don't know the towns in which they function is the reason why the small town situation is one which I think the national circuits will never learn to master. It isn't in the cards."

This executive has no objection to the quotes, but he balks at the use of his name. Therefore the omission. But he is no second-rater, no novice at the picture business. His years of experience qualify him to talk with authority.

No S.R.O. At This Theatre

WE dropped in at a 2,000 seat house near New York the other day to catch a picture. We were amazed by the unsightly appearance of the front and lobby.

The attendants were sloppy folks. We groped our way, unaided, to a seat in the aisle, thankful for this break, but the break was in the seat.

But the manager of this house is a great fellow. The people swear by him and at his theatre. He spends a lot of time away from his job delivering speeches before the Kiwanis and Rotary clubs and other organizations. He gets a load of publicity for himself and sends the clippings into the home office of the chain where, no doubt, they consider him a great gun.

But, there's never a line in front of his house.

KANN.

Distributors Ready with Contract, But Allied Ready To Kick Over Traces

Two Marys Now

Hollywood—With the marriage of Jack Pickford there are two Mary Pickfords now. Jack's wife is the former Mary Mulhern, Follies star. James Kirkwood was best man at the wedding.

B. & K. Passes up "Grumpy," Then RKO Cleans Up

Chicago—Publix-B. & K. bookers, it appears, slipped up on "Grumpy," Paramount picture. The circuit passed the production with the result that it was snapped up by RKO and sent into the Palace. The picture drew raves from the critics and, with word-of-mouth advertising helping things along in a big way, the Palace grossed $24,500, its largest figure since the house switched to vaudefilm policy early this summer.

The performance was so impressive to the local RKO office that, following its week at the Palace, "Grumpy" was sent over to the circuit's other Loop vaudefilm spot, the State-Lake, for a second Loop week. First time these RKO houses have liked a picture that well. "Grumpy" is given full credit for the draw as no outstanding name figured on the vaude bill during the picture's week at the Palace.

Deny Fox W. C. Will Take Over Publix Houses

Seattle—Emphatic denials of the recently reported deal between Paramount Publix and Fox, whereby the Pacific Coast houses operated at present by the former company would be taken over by Fox West Coast, were issued here this week by District Manager Edward A. Smith of the Publix organization.

Smith spent several days in Seattle in conference with Robert Blair, Northwest theatre manager; A. W. Baker, manager of the Paramount theatre; and Star Duell, manager of the Metropolitan. It is also understood that there were other conferences between these Paramount executives and local Fox West Coast heads, but then "Greater Talkie Season," beginning next week, may have been the subject of discussion.

Gus Frohman Dies

Gustave Frohman, 76, brother of Daniel Frohman and a veteran in the legitimate field, died this week in New York.

Hess Draft Made Public Today by NEWS—Still Differences

Distributors are all set on their draft of a proposed new standard licensing agreement, full text of which is published today exclusively by Motion Picture News. The long and short form draft of distributors' proposed contract appear on page 39.

While distributors are in agreement on the form of agreement they are willing shall be put in force, Motion Picture News learns exclusively that Allied States Association is prepared to give battle on a number of controversial points, and that the distributor draft as proposed is not satisfactory to the Allied group.

The new contract proposals were virtually completed at the 5-5-5 conferences of the Hays organization, the M. P. T. O. A,. and Allied, which wound up its sessions early in July at Atlantic City. Several of the clauses were left in abeyance at the conferences, after which Gabriel L. Hess of the Hays office and Abram F. Myers of Allied were to agree upon wording of the proposed agreement.

At their recent meeting at Spring Park, Minn., Allied leaders hinted they might refuse to ratify the proposed contract due to their objections against zoning proposals.

All Hunky-Dory Now in Fox-Janet Gaynor Jam

Hollywood.—The Gaynor-Fox rift is completely patched up. As reported exclusively in Motion Picture News last week, Miss Gaynor is to be co-starred with Charles Farrell. Their first picture is to be a talker remake of "The Man Who Came Back." William K. Howard will direct and rehearsals will get under way September 1st.

For a second vehicle it is probable that George Gershwin will write an original musical.

Para. Changes "Frog's" Story and Rumpus Starts

Paris—Paramount's refusal to delete the credit for scenario from "A Woman Has Lied" may result in a law suit. Leopold Marchand, who charges that the company did not follow his screen yarn in the French-made production, does not want his name linked with the production and threatens suit to have it removed.

"Rulers" Named

Adolph Zukor, Harry M. Warner, William Randolph Hearst and others are named among the "59 rulers of the United States" named by James W. Gerard, former ambassador to Germany.

Text in the "News"

Complete text of Gabriel L. Hess' draft of the standard licensing agreement as approved by distributors appears in this issue, beginning on page 39. The contract has been drafted in "long" and "short" forms.

Distributors to Stay in Germany; Hays Names Aide

Berlin—American distributors will not abandon the German market, it is emphasized by appointment of Fayette W. Allport, attache of the American embassy at Paris, as representative of Will H. Hays. Allport will negotiate a new agreement in Germany covering importation of American films.

There recently have been reports here that American distributors would abandon the German market because, it was asserted, profitable operation would be impossible under proposed quota restrictions.

Fairbanks Awaits Chaplin Picture Bow; Cans Crew

Hollywood — Douglas Fairbanks has given one month's notice to the remnant of his production staff and office help, with the exception of a few employees who handle the business and finances of the film star.

Most of Fairbank's production crew was dismissed a month ago, with a few who had been with Doug for many years carried on the payroll. Latest decision cuts the old guard off the overhead.

It is the report Fairbanks will not produce another picture on his own until after Charles Chaplin's silent production, "City Lights," is released generally around the first of the year. Fairbanks cannot decide whether to make his next with dialogue or silent, and wants to wait for the reaction before spending his money on a picture.

In the meantime, Fairbanks will star in "Reaching for the Moon" for Joseph M. Schenck, and this production carries both dialogue and music.

Moorhead-Crosland Romance

Hollywood—As soon as "Children of Dreams" is completed, Natalie Moorhead will become the bride of Director Alan Crosland. Crosland is at present working on the Warner picture. Both have been married before. Miss Moorhead was divorced in Reno and Crosland in Paris.

The Insiders' Outlook

WHAT did the president of one big company say to the president of another large company the other day? This Insider knows, but won't tell.

The remarks directed by the party of the first part to the party of the second were neither pleasant nor casual. As a matter of fact they savored muchly of threat. All of this may seem unimportant, but it remains for coming events to demonstrate just how much a few words dropped in the heat of argument may precipitate.

By way of forecast, this reporter feels it incumbent upon him to point out one of the things that may come of it. For instance:

If you hear of two big companies dropping pretense and indulging in something closely akin to open warfare, attribute the reason to the heated words mentioned at the outset here and a long series of differences which have been making the parties of both parts plenty annoyed.

The mogul who did the threatening is a big man. But the chap who was threatened is no slouch. As a matter of fact, he is one of the industry's biggest; an executive who commands his particular company and an individual who, over the years, has demonstrated to all and sundry that in maneuvers, actual and political, he is what is sometimes described as a darb.

* * *

They Get That Way

This is the incident of a preview in Hollywood that almost turned one of the major studios completely on its ear, nearly resulted in the discharge of a number of people and threatened—whether you believe it or not—to stop the wheels of production until the irate executive and principal figure in this delicious story cooled down.

For some reason or other this particular picture was scheduled for preview without the studio crowd being advised. But they learned about it and when this production figure—big name, too—arrived, he found all of the principals of the cast on hand to see what the public thought of their efforts.

Whereupon the dubious hero of this tale simply burned up. He called the manager. He wanted to buy out the house and call off the preview. The manager, business being what it is, had no objections to selling the house, but was afraid his audiences would turn peeved if the announced preview didn't go through on schedule.

And so the picture was shown; the divinely-endowed production genius gnawed his knuckles, tore his hair and vented his spleen all over the lot the next day and the next.

Why, you ask? Who knows, except that it is the way of Hollywood and some of its woodenheads.

* * *

Behind Cupped Hands

Up and down the street a lot of whispered gossip is holding forth. It concerns the present operating personnel of a certain organization and rumored changes.

The fellows whose heads are being severed from their business bodies by this chatter have gone to the trouble to trace the stories through to their very beginnings. So thorough has the search been that dates, places and, of course, names of individuals have not only been obtained, but carefully noted and deposited where prying hands can't get at them.

If the malice doesn't stop making the rounds, something quite serious—let's say a suit for slander—may be filed. Or if it isn't actually filed, threatened. The innocents who are being victimized probably wouldn't go through with the legal retaliation, but then they don't feel that's necessary, the color of the rumor-monger's courage being what it is.

* * *

Rallying for Uncle Carl

There has been some talk in the public prints that the Nobel prize for peace should go to Carl Laemmle for the anti-war propaganda elements in "All Quiet." At any rate, it was in a recent issue of Photoplay that Jimmy Quirk intimated—and rather strongly at that—that the idea might have had its origin in the mind of an individual earning his livelihood from Universal.

Laemmle has taken no official cognizance of the rap so far as this Insider is aware. But those close to him are burning up at the Quirk implication and don't care how many in the industry learn that they feel the way they do about it.

As one spokesman put it:

"The truth is that Uncle Carl had nothing to do with the suggestion, directly or indirectly, nor has he any idea where it started.

"It's merely a piece of unfair, unwarranted and untrue gossip."

* * *

Running the Show

There's a group of executives at the helm of a certain producing and distributing company in this town who find it extremely difficult to forget that they are no longer in the class of pen pushers.

These gentlemen spend heavy dough on salary checks for their department heads, but insistance of the big guns in messing around with picayune details which should be left to lieutenants has made for a weakened morale in the ranks, a condition a little short of unbearable.

The low level to which the high powers stoop in their desire to run the whole show is laughable. Any day now they are expected to teach the porter how to handle his broom.

And the tragedy of it all is that practically the entire trade is conscious of what's going on except the principals themselves? What price ostrich now?

THE INSIDERS

A Tie That Bound

An interesting insight into the Tiffany-Allied States Association franchise deal, and one which probably never will be forgotten by Abram F. Myers, was the way Tiffany came through in binding the deal.

The original gag was for Tiffany to give a reproducing outfit with each franchise, but this plan was discarded as unfeasible. Later, RCA was brought into the negotiations and wanted an exclusive on the deal. This plan was blocked, the leaders of the exhibitor unit finally deciding that two companies were more desirable than one.

When time came for cold turkey talk, Oscar Hanson, Tiffany's sales manager, handed Myers a check for $20,000. There hadn't been a scratch of the pen up until that time and the Allied leader certainly was stopped cold. All that Tiffany asked on its 20 grand advance was that the exhibitor leaders meet with his company's chief to iron out details of the deal.

Published weekly by Motion Picture News, Inc. Founded in September, 1913. Publication, Editorial and General Offices: 729 Seventh Avenue, New York City, William A. Johnson, President and Publisher; E. J. Hudson, Vice-President; Maurice Kann, Editor; Charles F. Hynes, Managing Editor; James P. Cunningham, News Editor; Raymond E. Gallagher, Advertising Manager; Los Angeles Office; Hotel Roosevelt, Hollywood; Walter R. Greene, Western Representative. Chicago Office: 910 So. Michigan Avenue, Harry E. Holquist, Central West Representative. Subscription Prices: $3.00 per year in United States, Mexico and all U. S. Possessions. Canada, $5.00. Foreign, $10.00. Copyright 1930, by Motion Picture News, Inc., United States and Great Britain. Title registered in United States Patent Office and foreign countries. Entered as second class matter at the Post Office, New York, April 22, 1926, under Act of March 3, 1879.

Quashing of Indictments Looms as U. S. "Freeze-Out" Trial Starts on Coast

Free Shows Flourish In West

Omaha—Although prohibited by most forms of contract, free shows are reported flourishing in Middle West towns. Contracts carry a clause specifying that minimum admission of ten cents must be charged for adults.

Free shows are operating in Bennett, Wolbach, Hardy, Kenesaw, Comstock, Platte Center, Carleton, College View, and Snyder in Nebraska; Dallas Center, Ia.; Lake City, S. D.; Wausau and Williams Bay, Wis.; Walcott and Fingle, N. D.; Danvers, Halloway and Clara City, Minn.

Hoyts-U.T. Pact In Australia to Lower Rentals?

Sydney—Now that the season is drawing to a close and new blanket contracts will soon be signed by major theatre circuits, keen interest is being manifest in the activities of the two biggest chains here, Union Theatres and Hoyts.

Twelve months ago a working agreement was entered into by these concerns and at that time distributors realized that the move would operate against them in 1930-31. Confabs between Stuart F. Doyle, U. T. chief, and Frank Thring and George F. Griffith of Hoyts, which have taken place in the last few days, are expected to produce the first concrete results of the agreement, and the question is agitating the trade as to where contracts will be placed.

It seems obvious that in view of the financial depression that has engulfed Australia and the prevailing decreases in picture patronage, the circuits will barter for much lower rentals than those agreed upon last year, which then were shot up by the tactics necessarily adopted by Hoyts and U. T.

Cut-throat business eliminated, henceforth it is doubtful if 1930 rentals will ever be equalled.

The only other circuit here which could possibly hope to compete against the buying strength of the two important chains is the Fuller group. But although Fuller has controlling interests in 60 odd houses, his city holdings are not regarded as worth as much to distributors as those belonging to Hoyts and U. T. And, realizing this, the latter threatened to boycot Fuller in the cities some months ago by advising the renting houses that any picture sold to Fuller for city release would be excluded from any house on the Hoyts and U. T. circuit.

Universal Leases Two More British Houses

London—James V. Bryson, Universal's Great Britain chief, has leased two theatres, located at Sheffield and Birmingham, in which wide screens will be immediately installed. Universal recently renewed its lease on the Dominion, where "Phantom of the Opera" is on an indefinite run.

Paramount Deal For Australian Chain Rumored

Sydney—Paramount is reported negotiating for a 51% interest in Union Theatres, Ltd., one of Australia's two leading circuits. The report cannot be confirmed here, but is being discussed openly in the trade.

The deal is declared to give Paramount 51% and, therefore, a controlling interest.

At Paramount headquarters it is stated that reports involving purchase of a 51% interest in Union Theatres, Ltd., are without foundation.

Union Theatres controls about 80 houses in Australia. Until a working agreement was made about 8 months ago, rivalry for domination of the Island continent was jockeyed back and forth between Union and Hoyts. In an effort to eliminate the ruthless and, what those familiar with the Australia market describe as ruinous competition, a deal was worked out as a result of which both chains determined to split the product of American distributors and thereby reduce operating cost. The Hoyts circuit includes about 103 theatres. It is understood that if Paramount should make a deal with Union Theatres the Hoyts chain would not be involved.

Efforts to reach Millard Johnson, New York representative for Union Theatres, for a statement proved unavailing.

Grainger to Coast

James R. Grainger, vice-president in charge of sales for Fox, left for California Thursday night. Usual August trip to discuss production with Winfield Sheehan.

Houses Merge?

Atlanta—There probably will be a merry battle starting Saturday when Loew's takes over the Fox here, also operating Loew's Grand under a partnership arrangement. Fox and M-G-M product will be used. This is regarded here as possible forerunner of the merger of Fox and Loew houses.

The Capitol is reverting to Universal, which will use First National, Warner and RKO product.

Government Case Now Weaker, Is View; Pettijohn Flies to Los Angeles

Hollywood—Whether the long-drawn out and now-famous conspiracy case brought by the government against Fox West Coast Theatres and ten distributors will be dismissed or the prosecution carried out was expected to be indicated at trial of the action, which was resumed Thursday morning.

Chance for dismissal was seen furthered by action of the theatre firm's attorneys in presenting a consent decree and asking that the case to be settled out of court. Whether or not this permission will be granted by the government is highly problematical.

Federal Judge Cosgrave Tuesday granted a postponement requested by government officials, who have succeeded in obtaining a number of postponements since the indictments were returned more than 18 months ago.

The feeling here is that the case against the defendants is growing weaker with each postponement, and that there is a good chance that the indictments will be quashed. Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast, has asserted that his company welcomes opportunity to go to bat on the question of the legality of clearance.

Indicted in January, 1929

Two special prosecutors are here to assist Acting U. S. Attorney Gallagher to try the case for the Dept. of Justice. They are John Harlem Amen, who assisted in presenting the evidence to the grand jury which resulted in the indictment, and Albert J. Law.

Alleged agreements between the theatre company and its affiliations and the ten distributors led to their indictment in January of last year. The government contends that these alleged agreements for priority had the effect of freezing out independent exhibitors. The distributors, it is charged, refused contracts to any exhibitor who would not conform to the schedule agreed upon between the defendants.

Pettijohn at Hearing

Charles C. Pettijohn, general counsel of the Film Board of Trade, who has been active in formulating plans for new zoning throughout the United States, arrived here unexpectedly Monday night. He made the trip from New York via aeroplane, reaching a sudden decision to attend the trial late last week. Joe Goldberg, now general sales manager for Columbia Pictures, is also here from New York to testify. He enters into the picture by virtue of his former position as film booker for West Coast Theatres, which is one of the companies under federal indictment.

Harry C. Arthur, now operating executive of the eastern division of Fox Theatres, and former division manager of Fox West Coast in southern California, is another New Yorker who is here on government subpoena.

Paramount Reported Seeking First Run Houses in Philly Due to Warner Split

Cutting Ducats

Toronto—Under Paramount Publix supervision, managers of Famous Players theatres in the Dominion have been instructed to cut down on pass privileges and intimation has been given newspapermen and others that they must have passes before they walk in.

Weather Takes It On the Chin As B.-O.'s Grin

Old Man Weather is the bugaboo of show business, rather than hard times, over which so much capital has been made by pessimists. In proof of this, the cool weather and rain of the last week in various sections of the nation produced a box office intake which proved record-breaking in many instances.

Standout business followed the advent of cooler weather and, with the start of the new season, indications are that show business will return to the peak.

Cooler weather was general over the eastern states and its influence on theatre business was felt particularly in the inland centers. In upper New York state, theatres of Albany, Troy and Schenectady responded immediately to the weather change. Numerous houses reported their first holdouts since spring, resulting in evidences of optimism among theatre managers who have been singing the blues for many weeks. Predictions of a heavy fall and winter business were general.

On Broadway increased grosses were noticeable at most houses. Week-end business in particular came near setting an all-time summer record. The Paramount played to capacity over the week-end. Numerous other houses reported that holdouts were general during the past seven days.

Long delayed rainfall in the Mid-west nourished box offices as well as crops. Theatre grosses in Iowa spurted to new summer highs over a widespread area and brought about announcements of earlier re-openings of theatres which closed toward the end of June.

The week's box-office spurts also sounded the death knell of the "bargain" type of showmanship, effective throughout the country in past weeks. Double featuring was being closed down for standard programs and admission scales were going back to their regular levels in all sections, with indications that the switch-back would be complete by Sept. 1.

Arliss Film Premiered

George Arliss in "Old English" had its premiere at the Warner Theatre in New York Thursday night.

Frozen Out of Downtown Belt, Publix Eyes Erlanger and Keith Theatres

Philadelphia—The reported Paramount-Warner split has sent stories flying up and down Film Row here as to the possibility of Paramount establishing one or two first run theatres in the downtown belt. With the exception of the Fox, the first run situation in Philadelphia is practically 100 per cent Warner, so for Paramount to get a downtown "break" it must establish its own theatres.

Two legitimate theatres are prominently mentioned as Paramount possibilities. One is the Erlanger, a 1900 seater which was leased last year by RKO. RKO did not renew this summer and the original plan was to have the theatre return to the legitimate field with Hammerstein's "Sweet Adeline" opening late in September. It is within the section of the downtown belt where six large first run houses are already established, so the Paramount rumor appears to have grounds.

The other theatre is the Keith-Chestnut Street Theatre, of the Shubert string. The house, one-time headquarters for Keith vaudeville, has on occasion played pictures, but not within the last three years. It is not wired, but the location is good and its 2,000 seating capacity puts it within the range of picture possibility.

Concert Complex May Make Prima Donna of Roget

Just to prove it's an old Bronx custom, the "bolshevik" element (whatever that is) in the AMPA is reported to be planning an opposition slate to the one picked by its nominating committee. And if that is done, so MOTION PICTURE NEWS has been informed, Michael "Six Syllable" Simmons, Sono Art-World Wide concert bug, promises to be a real prima donna and walk out bag and baggage on the nomination.

"Prexy"?

Not that it matters particularly, because with "Six Syllable" in the chair members probably will go through his regime without knowing what he is driving or driving at, but there promises to be some excitement and, mayhap, indignation. All of which would be a little disconcerting, for Old Thesaurus' inaugural address already is in type.

Believe It or Not

Hollywood—Those press agents are at it again.

The Warner Hollywood now has reposing in its vaults $200,000 worth of protection in the form of an insurance policy in the event any of its patrons laugh themselves to death while within the official and geographical confines of the theatre.

Nat Saland Wins First Round in Patents Battle

Wilmington—H. J. Yates and his Cinema Patents went down for the count in the first round of a stiff tilt with Nat Saland's Craft Film Laboratories, when Judge Nields, in U. S. District Court, refused to grant Cinema a temporary injunction to restrain Saland's lab from alleged patent infringement and operation of plants.

During examination of testimony and witnesses prior to the hearing, counsel for Cinema, it is understood, amended their complaint, giving the case an entirely different color from the original plea, which charged absolute infringement of patents completely controlled by Cinema. The revised plea involved only a substitution problem.

Judge Nields ordered the case to trial in the fall.

Cinema Suit Against Warners Filed in East

Long-awaited action against Warner Bros. by Cinema Patents has been filed in Federal Court at Brooklyn, where Cinema asks an injunction against the Warner laboratory, charging patent infringement.

Patrons in Panic As Cooling Tank Explodes

Leavenworth, Kans. — Seven hundred patrons at the Orpheum here were thrown into a panic when a carbon dioxide tank used in the cooling system became overcharged and exploded.

Joseph Eisch, violinist, may die as a result of injuries sustained. The house is owned by the Dubinskys of Kansas City.

The Sky's the Limit

Chicago—United Artists' promoters are trying to work in a tie-up with the National Air Races for the "Hell's Angels" opening here at the end of the month. Planes have been lined up for some over-the-Loop flying. The search is now on for a fast talker to get Mrs. Lindbergh's boy, Charlie, to stand on the stage at the United Artists and repeat the words "This is the finest show I have ever seen" seven times.

Allied States Drive to be Focused on Lightman Zone as M. P. T. O. A. Meets

And After That, What?

Hollywood—This town is still trying to find out where Vic McLaglen got the "brilliant" idea which prompted him to attempt to enlist 49 men over 40 years of age in a brand new type of endurance gambling contest.

Vic's gag is to have each of the group lay one thousand dollars on the line, the total to be placed in trust and the last living contributor will get the fifty grand. Vic, however, failed to inform the town's gentry that a guy past 90 usually has little use for that much dough.

M-G-M Launches "Realife" Wide Film Process

Hollywood—M-G-M is ready to step out with a wide film process of its own known as "Realife." Louis B. Mayer told a Motion Picture News reporter that the system gives a three dimensionial effect through greater depth in focus.

The process, he declared, can be used on standard projectors by adding the "Realife" attachment which will be marketed at a low, but undefined, price. Standard film is used.

"Billy the Kid" will be the first M-G-M picture to reach the field in "Realife." Mayer is secretive about the optical principles involved, but says the system has been in work for over a year.

Apparently, the M-G-M—Fox affiliation and Harley Clarke's large investment in Grandeur is having no bearing on the former company's activities in wide film.

Plum to Irene Dunn

Hollywood—After a search of several months, Wesley Ruggles has found the girl to play the leading feminine role in "Cimarron." Irene Dunn gets the part for which over 75 different women were given tests. The role calls for an actress able to play a girl of 18 to a woman of 70. Richard Dix has the title role.

Doug, Jr., to Star

Hollywood—His work in "Dawn Patrol" is responsible for First National's decision to make Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., a star in his next picture, which will be an air story. John Monk Saunders has written a sequel to "Dawn Patrol" and Howard Hawks is slated to direct.

Bebe Daniels Loses Dad

Hollywood—Melville E. Daniels, age 65 and father of Bebe, is dead at Grand Rapids, Mich., as a result of a siege of pneumonia contracted last winter.

Organizers to Invade Tri-State Region in November with Myers Directing

Chicago—While M. A. Lightman, M. P. T. O. A. president, is officiating at the meeting of that organization in Philadelphia Nov. 10 to 12, he may be faced with a back-home fight to hold his own regional group, exhibitors of Tennessee, Alabama and Mississippi, in line. For the membership drive of Allied States Association will be getting into swing at that time, and probably will reach tri-state territory early in November.

The drive to extend Allied units to every key city in the United States was decided upon at the recent meeting near Minneapolis of Allied leaders. It is now being whipped into shape by Abram F. Myers, president, who was delayed somewhat in putting it into force owing to his appearance at the American Bar Association meeting here.

However, Motion Picture News exclusively learns, the groundwork has been laid for the proposed campaign. Myers has been conferring with a number of representatives and is lining up organizers in various sections.

The organization of a new unit in Iowa is regarded as an Allied victory, for the new group which has taken the name of Allied Theatre Owners of Iowa is expected to affiliate with the national group.

Allied recently made a cash settlement with Tiffany, in lieu of production of a picture for the exhibitor unit under a profit-sharing arrangement. This money, payment of which is said to have caused considerable anxiety among distributors, is regarded as fortifying Allied for the financing of its membership drive. A number of efforts were allegedly made by distributors to halt the cash settlement.

Worried?

Des Moines.—There is reported to be much ado here over the MOTION PICTURE NEWS story that the new Iowa organization will be affiliated with Allied States Association. Apparently, the NEWS tipped off something on the new organization, as respects its proposed affiliation with the Allied group.

It seems that the plan was to make a flash with the new organization of independent exhibitors and then to proffer an Allied affiliation under the best terms possible. The leaders of the new movement, it is declared, have been in constant touch with Allied organizers.

Al Steffes of Minneapolis was invited to the organization meeting here, but was unable to be on hand. However, he has been asked to come here to address the new unit, presumably for the purpose of inducing members to affiliate with Allied. The new association even had adopted the Allied name.

See Paramount Plot

Minneapolis—Distributors here are declared to translate the zoning proposals as an effort by Paramount to stop sale of other product until its own is set. The Northwest exhibitor unit contends the demands constitute illegal price fixing in regulating admissions. Court fight on the issue is promised. The organization is urging members to refuse to pay score charges and demand 50 per cent reduction of rentals. Members are being urged to deal with distributors who refuse protection demands of Publix.

Chicago Museum Seeking Ancient Equipment Relics

Chicago—Appeal for examples of early motion picture equipment of all types is being made by the Museum of Science and Industry of Chicago, in which one of the most complete historical exhibits of the picture industry will be housed. It is the purpose of the museum to trace the evolution of the motion picture from its primitive beginnings to the present day.

Equipment relics of the past will be welcomed by John A. Maloney, assistant director of the museum, with offices at 300 West Adams Street, Chicago. The Museum of Science and Industry is the result of an endowment of $3,000,000 by Julius Rosenwald, Chicago philanthropist, and a $5,000,000 bond issue of the South Park Commissioners of Chicago for the reconstruction of the old Fine Arts building in Jackson Park, which will permanently house the technical collections of the museum.

M.P.T.O.A. Officials Map Plans for Philly Powwow

M. A. Lightman is in New York discussing M. P. T. O. A. convention plans with M. E. Comerford, Jan Emanuel, M. J. O'Toole and Frank C. Walker.

Lawrence Sails

Ludwig ("Laudy") Lawrence, general representative for Loew's and M-G-M in Paris, sailed for Europe early Thursday morning on the Bremen. In his two weeks' stay in America he flew to the Coast and back again and mapped plans for foreign talkers with Arthur M. Loew.

Tiffany Worker Hurt

Mildred MacDonald, secretary to Oscar Hanson, Tiffany sales manager, is recovering from an injured knee suffered in an automobile accident.

Mark Ross Wins $15,000 Suit vs. Windsor Firm

Minneapolis—Mark Ross won his suit for return of his $15,000 deposit on "Her Unborn Child" from Windsor Pictures when District Judge Montgomery overruled the demurrer of the defendants. This upholds the contract, said to specify that Ross was to hold 55% of gross rentals until his deposit was returned. He had collected $7,200 and the balance must be returned by Windsor, it is said.

Ross claimed the contract was abrogated when Windsor refused to become party to suit against Publix for alleged violation of the copyright act and other obligations, for which he asked $5,300. Windsor has appealed and Ross is asking an early trial, contending the company was formed to distribute only the one picture and that the life of its earning power will expire in January. It is understood that an out-of-court settlement is being sought, with Ross to retain distribution rights and given funds held in escrow.

Derr to Hold Third of Sales Meetings on Coast

Soon after reaching the Coast, E. B. Derr is to hold the third of a series of sales meetings at Chicago. The Pathe president held a meeting during his stay in New York, and this week held a meeting at Chicago. P. J. Scollard, executive vice-president, and E. J. O'Leary, new sales manager, accompanied him.

Forty-Two on Tiffany's 1930-31 Feature Schedule

(Continued from page 19)

6 one-reel Multicolor Rolling Stone subjects, 26 Voice of Hollywood subjects, 6 two-reel H. C. Witwer subjects with Paul Hurst and Perl Kenton, 6 one-reel Musical Fantasies and 6 Forbes Randolph jubilee singers.

Brother and Sister Sign, But Neither One Knows It

Hollywood—Warners have signed Eddie Morgan and Marilyn Miller, brother and sister, under term contracts. Neither one knew that the other had been signed until they were taken to court to have the contracts okayed, as both are under age.

Technicolor Works Both Plants on 24-Hour Basis

With six new color films soon to be placed in production, Technicolor has its printing laboratories at Boston and Hollywood operating on 24-hour schedules.

Kohler, Rennie in "Blood"

Hollywood—First National is set to make a talker of "Captain Blood" with two heavies assigned to the leads, Fred Kohler and James Rennie. Frank Lloyd will direct.

Outlines Cruze Plans

Samuel Zierler

Zierler Plans 10 Cruze Films On Tiffany Pact

Ten pictures a year will be made by James Cruze Prod. for release through Tiffany, under the terms of the contract just signed with that company, according to Samuel Zierler, president of the Cruze firm. Zierler left New York for the Coast Wednesday after completing details of the new releasing arrangement.

Cruze is to personally direct four pictures a year under the contract and will maintain close supervision over the remaining six, according to Zierler.

Zierler says that Cruze is "all washed up" on his contract with Sono Art-World Wide. Previously it had been reported that Cruze had two more pictures to make for that firm.

Brown Outlining New Season Tiffany List

Hollywood—Product of Tiffany for the 1930-31 season will be outlined here Friday at the regional convention being held at the Hotel Roosevelt by A. E. (Manny) Brown, western sales manager. James Cruze, recently signed to make ten pictures a year for Tiffany, is attending the sessions.

Lukas Replaces Powell

Hollywood—Paul Lukas has been selected by Paramount for the featured role in "A Lady's Man," which was formerly slated for William Powell. The role is on the "gigolo" order and Paramount thought it best not to risk Powell in such a spot.

Marin, McGuiness Out in Shake-up At Fox Studios

Hollywood—Two associate producers, two directors and four writers have departed from the Fox lot as the result of a shake-up. Under the new line-up Al Rockett is the only supervisor left.

Among those who are eliminated by the drastic cut in the studio staff are Ned Marin and James K. McGuiness, associate producers; Director A. F. Erickson, Patterson McNutt, dialogue director, and John Farrow, Lynn Starling, James Warner Bellah and Henry Johnson, writers.

It is understood that the Fox plan is to have fewer executives on pictures hereafter and further slashing of the staff is expected. Alexander Korda, also reported out, has just been assigned to direct a new picture.

Helen's Hobbies Hog Headlines

(Continued from page 19)

week at the Oriental. It took the kid three days to explain to reporters that it was "Boop, boop-a-doop" and not "Pooh, pooh, padoo." Most of the explaining was done in negligee at the Drake. On the fourth day Helen made public a secret diet, and for the last three she tried to make clear what that $40,000 was that M. J. Posner of New York placed to her account.

Don Clarke's Story to Be First Rogers Film

Hollywood—Rogers Prod., Ltd., recently formed by Charles R. Rogers to make pictures independently for RKO release, will make "Millie," by Don Clarke of M-G-M's publicity staff, New York, as its initial picture. Production will be at Universal. Clarke's book is to be published in September.

Simultaneous Run Like "Angels" for "Whoopee"

Hollywood—It is reported that the Hollywood premiere of "Whoopee" will find the filmusical opening in two houses simultaneously. Sam Goldwyn is said to favor the plan of Howard Hughes who so opened "Hell's Angels" in New York. The picture is slated for the United Artists at present. What other house would be used is not definite.

Falling Canopy Hurts 23 at Sheboygan, Wis.

Sheboygan, Wis.—Twenty-three persons were injured, three of them seriously, when the canopy of the Fox theatre here collapsed. The injured had been waiting for an American Legion parade when the accident occurred.

Philly Tourney Set

Philadelphia—Distributors and exhibitors here will tee off Sept. 17 for the annual golf tournament sponsored by "The Exhibitor."

Distributors Renege on Own Cleveland Zoning Plan Accepted by Exhibitors

Faux Pas

Hollywood — Phil Whitman, Darmour-RKO director, went on a fishing trip this week. He was graphically describing with appropriate gestures the struggle he had with a 12-pound trout to his wife when she pointed out that he had left his fish pole at home. (Credit his P. A. with this one.)

Zoning Dropped In Pacific N. W. Due to Deadlock

Seattle—No zoning in the Pacific Northwest territory. That was the outcome this week of conferences on the subject that have been going on under the direction of Allied Amusements of the Northwest for several weeks.

Out of a committee of ten Washington state exhibitors, representing both chain and independent operators of large and small city and suburban theatres, it is understood that the final vote on the proposed zoning plan submitted a month ago was three for adoption and seven against.

With a deadlock certain, Leroy V. Johnson, president of Allied, suggested abandonment of the plan after several hours of debate, and the idea was readily accepted. A counter suggestion to consider a modified plan met with no better reception.

Protection Is Burning Issue In Minneapolis

Minneapolis—Plenty of excitement is in the offing over the protection issue, which threatens to be a burning one in this territory.

Exhibitors contend that Publix is forcing the protection issue and assert that it is an "insulting challenge" to independents and the public.

A special session of the Northwest exhibitor unit is to be held to discuss the protection issue, and meanwhile an aggressive defense is being mapped out by independents.

Independent exhibitors are preparing to boycott Paramount product in retaliation for protection demands attributed to Publix.

An interesting sidelight on the situation is that some distributors are reported in sympathy with exhibitor views in the battle over protection.

Protection Issue Believed To Be Closed in Ohio Due To Repudiation

Cleveland—Although unanimously accepted by exhibitors, the zoning plan drafted and submitted for this territory by distributors has been repudiated by them.

All of the exhibitors had signed a statement accepting the proposed zoning plan without alterations or exceptions following a series of meetings at which a number of provisions were hotly contested.

Failure of distributors to accept their own plan apparently was based on the section providing that a picture which did not get a first run automatically would be available for subsequents 60 days after its availability date.

Exhibitors feel that the subject of zoning is closed in Ohio, but agree to meet further with the distributors' committee if the latter desires. Members of the committee are Martin Smith, Toledo, chairman; John Damm, Wadsworth; John Pekras, Elyria; Harry Smoots, Mount Vernon; H. D. Shressler, Shelby; A. J. Paul, Galion; Jule Schwartz, Painesville; C. M. Young and B. Green, Napoleon; Dan Drobbins, Warren; M. B. Horwitz, Cayuga Falls; L. F. Heick, Martin's Ferry; Henry Bieberson, Delaware; Caldwell Brown, Zanesville; Joe Trunk, Youngstown, and P. J. Wood, Columbus, business manager of the Ohio exhibitor association.

Government Control Is Forecast Over Zoning

Madelia, Minn.—Twenty-one days' protection over the Star here is declared to be sought by Publix for its Fairmount house. Miss Isabel Getter, owner of the local house, says she believes that "Publix and the motion picture industry will get protection—the protection to be government control."

A New Bet

Una Merkel, charming girl actress who appears in pictures for the first time in "Eyes of the World," an Inspiration production, should win plenty of followers among film fans with her initial vehicle. Cast in a role which she enacts to perfection, that of an innocent, sincere girl arriving at womanhood without any suggestion of sophistication, her performance is outstanding in a capable cast which has been drawn entirely from the ranks of experienced stage performers.

Miss Merkel is the least professional-appearing actress to come to pictures in many years. Her introduction to the public was in the Jed Harris stage production, "Coquette," in which her charm was evident even in a minor part and alongside Helen Hayes.

KANE

Houses Reopening

Philadelphia — Independent dark houses here are being reopened in what is regarded as a confident outlook for the future. Clearing of the protection situation and adjustments on sound film rentals are ascribed as causes. The Cedar, Star, Iris and Lafayette are houses reported to be reopening.

Two Clauses in K. C. Zone Plan Under Dispute

Kansas City—Word was received here Wednesday from New York that the zoning plan recently drawn up by the Motion Picture Theatres Association of Kansas and western Missouri has been approved by the distributors with the exception of two clauses, the nature of which was not disclosed. A meeting of the zoning committee is to be called next week to make amendments and changes to conform with the wishes of the distributors, it is said.

The plan is expected to be ready for publication next week. Independent exhibitors here are being solicited by the association to join it, but a meeting of Kansas City independents held Tuesday, called for the purpose of discussing the question of becoming members, brought out only eight of the 23 independents in town. Another meeting is scheduled for next week. Chain houses are represented 100% in the association, while less than five local exhibitors are members.

New Iowa Body Planning Halt on All Protection

Des Moines—Independent exhibitors of Iowa, who have formed Allied Theatres Owners of Iowa, with Tom Arthur as president, are against any protection. They now are making a study of the legal phases of protection in the hope of starting court action against extended clearance. In addition, they intend to swing their business to distributors who "give and grant no protection."

Protection given the chains is "unfair, illegal and a restraint against our trade," a resolution adopted declares. Only independents are eligible to membership in the new association. Meanwhile, the M. P. T. O. of Iowa has not disbanded, so there are two exhibitor units in the state.

Exhibitors in France Organize Against Renters

Paris—Theatre owners are hot under the collar over what they term unreasonable demands from distributors and sound equipment manufacturers, who are charged with marking prices of film and reproducing devices at levels too high to reach.

At Bordeaux, exhibitors have banded together to fight for continuance of silent production on the same heavy scale as in the days before talkers. They claim that audiences, in the near future, will demand mixed programs—sound and silent—and the novelty is already beginning to wear off.

Because of poor business, they seek the same rentals for sound films that are charged for silents, and want the clause providing for a fee when pictures are rented on percentage eliminated from contracts.

Nothing justifies the claim of music publishers for music payments, it is said, because in the majority of houses the average talker has not produced more business that could be obtained with a good silent.

Mintz Changes Name of N. Y. Studios to Cameo

M. J. Mintz has changed name of his studios in New York to Cameo Broadcasting and Recording Studios. They formerly were known as Affiliated Sound Recordings, Inc. The firm is active in a number of fields, in addition to its film work, which embraces everything from the preparation or compilation of original scores to the actual recording.

Gunmen Nick Anderson

Chicago—Thugs waylaid Bob Anderson, manager of the Manor, as he was returning to his home late Sunday night, forced him to return to the theatre and escaped with $1,400, the week-end receipts.

Fearful that Anderson might change the combination of the safe so that it could not be opened, the robbers forced him to give them the dial numbers, then opened the safe themselves.

At Last!

For years, while watching westerns, we've cursed (inaudibly, of course) while the heroine stood by, wringing her hands in anguish, as the villain pulverized the hero. In some cases she could have mopped up the floor with both. Around us, persons would ask, "Why doesn't she sock that egg?"

Well, dear readers, it's been done. A sacred tradition of the industry has been upset.

In "Bar L Ranch," a Big Four western, Betty Baker, the heroine, leaps into the fray when Buffalo Bill, Jr., is taking them on the chin and swats the bad hombre.

Our faith in Hollywood has been restored.

HAGE

Good Campaign Stuff

The Hollywood opening of "Hell's Angels" is featured in a novel trailer advertising the picture. Sam Hardy is presented as master of ceremonies, introducing a number of stars at the premiere. The way Hollywood was lit up for the event, as well as the milling crowds, police escorts and lavish decorations, furnish an interesting insight into Hollywood first nights. Any theatre which is to play "Hell's Angels" should find this trailer valuable.

Einfeld Lands National Tieups; Drafts Aviators

With nary a fuss, Charlie Einfeld, advertising and publicity factotum for First National, has been putting across several national tie-ups for his company's products. One of the unique stunts worked out in conjunction with Lewis Churbuck practically drafts the entire Curtiss-Wright Flying Service for the exploitation of "Dawn Patrol."

S. Charles Einfeld

The gag will work out in the following manner: The aviation company will publish 10,000,000 circulars for distribution throughout the country and also promises to supply exhibitors with aeroplanes from its 36 base stations throughout the country for actual sky maneuvres or displays over the marquees.

Wind tunnel machines designed to teach air enthusiasts the principals of flying without leaving the ground are also pledged to exhibitors for use in their lobbies. The whole works without charge to the exhibitor.

Goes Idea One Better

The other day a representative of the A. S. Beck Corporation, which operates 95 shoe stores throughout the country, walked into Einfeld's office to obtain endorsements of First National players for Beck footwear. But the shoe company makes a moderate-priced shoe and picture stars being who and what they are, are supposed to wear expensive shoes. So Einfeld developed the idea of having the Beck organization copy the costly models used by the studio crowd on the coast for sale to the public at the low figure. The Beck representative grabbed the idea, with the result that the First National roster clear down the line is to be featured in national newspaper advertising and tied in with the players in all of the Beck stores throughout the country.

Another fast one put over by Einfeld was a 72-station radio tie-up on Wednesday evening with Columbia Broadcasting which, incidentally, is 60% owned by Paramount, as a result of which a half hour was devoted exclusively to music numbers from "Top Speed."

Chi Exchanges Yielding to New Booking Circuits

Chicago—The proposed policy of exchanges to refuse to deal with the buying circuits that are springing up here like miniature golf courses has been abandoned and contracts are now being signed.

The flop of the policy followed refusal of members of the booking circuits to deal with the exchanges on an individual basis, despite the fact that at least two exchanges were prepared to offer prices which would compare favorably with those obtainable through buying combines.

RKO Postpones "Babes" Due to Musical Wane

Hollywood—Evidence that producers feel musicals have run their course is borne out by decisions of RKO to postpone indefinitely "Babes in Toyland," which was originally slated to be one of the highlights of the company's new program. Irene Dunn, who was to play the lead, has been switched to "Cimarron."

Budd Rogers Closes 5 Sono Art Product Deals

Budd Rogers, director of sales of Sono Art-World Wide, has closed deals on the company's product with the Cooperative Booking Organization in Toronto, the Famous Players Canadian Corp., for first runs in St. John, Newfoundland, with Publix in Duluth, Minn., and Consolidated Amusement Co. at Honolulu.

Western Electric July Replacements Total 137

Western Electric replaced 137 sound reproducers of manufacture other than its own in American theatres in July, according to C. W. Bunn, general sales manager of Electrical Research Products.

Bebe and Ben Together

Hollywood—Marking their first appearance in a film together, Bebe Daniels and Ben Lyon are to be co-starred in "Ex-Mistress" by Warners.

Flag Pole Sitter Draws

Indianapolis—If women just naturally will sit on flag poles for glory's sake, there is no reason why the theatre should not benefit by it a little, according to the management of the Orpheum, Terre Haute. And the large audiences that attended the theatre just to catch a glimpse and hear a few words spoken by Betty Fox, who the week before accomplished the feat of remaining atop a 50-foot flag pole on the Terre Haute House for more than 100 consecutive hours, testified to the wisdom of the management.

Paramount Backs Water on Legitimate Ban in Canada; Kicks Stir Dominion

This Wit Says—

That in view of Janet Gaynor's return to Fox for a co-starring role in "The Man Who Came Back," perhaps the picture should be released as "The Girl Who Came Back."

Band and Flesh Shows Ousted in Baltimore Loew's

Baltimore—Flesh shows and musicians in the pit have been discontinued at Loew's Century here, under the policy adopted in a number of Loew houses.

This means that 17 more musicians in Baltimore are out of work. During the week beginning August 11 Waring's Pennsylvanians appeared at the Century and the regular theatre orchestra was not required to do anything, although paid for full time. It is claimed the musicians' union would not allow anything to be deducted for this.

New contracts have not been signed and the differences seems to be, although neither side appears to have anything to say, that the union officials desire the same conditions to exist in contracts as formerly, whereas the theatre wants to employ the men with a two-week cancellation clause. It is understood the union is holding out for a twelve month contract with the present rate prevailing. The theatre has offered a twelve month contract at the minimum rate if they will waive all extra charges for overtime, etc.

It is estimated that the stage shows and the orchestra, which have been on the program at the Century, have been costing about $10,000 a week and that the theatre would have to lose about 30,000 patrons during a week to match that amount. This is not thought to be possible. On the opening day of the change Greta Garbo in "Romance" was the attraction and it was one of the biggest openings in the history of the house, despite the lack of stage unit and orchestra.

The Greater Baltimore Revue, which was planned to be given at the Century with all Baltimore talent, has been postponed and letters have been sent out to the 2,000 applications received announcing that it cannot be carried out as planned due to the change of policy.

The reason given the public on the screen is that due to the length of the "tremendous feature attractions" booked at the Century, it is impossible to present the stage acts and the overture on the programs.

Gibson in the Air

Hollywood—Hoot Gibson will enter his racing plane in the Chicago air meet the end of this month. Gibson will also pilot the plane, which has a cruising speed of 180 miles per hour.

Circuit Rescinds Order Ousting Shows When the Press Starts Hot Crusade

Toronto—Apparent breakers ahead have caused Famous Players in Canada to back water on the legitimate ban as far as its houses are concerned. The situation remains muddled, but the fact that Paramount is treading gingerly in the Dominion and does not court adverse publicity bursts, such as followed the first edict, is obvious.

J. J. Fitzgibbon, new director of operations, denied the ban in a hurried wire to the Montreal Star when that journal started to criticize the chain for the order. Hector Charlesworth, dean of Canadian critics and editor of Saturday Night, national weekly, was the recipient of a visit from Arthur Cohen, manager of Famous, and a heart-to-heart talk is reported to have followed.

Charlesworth threw a "Wounds of the Theatre" headline on his front page and suggested that municipalities where the ban was going into force might legitimately consider revoking the licenses of Famous houses in their midst since the theatre could not be considered in the class of ordinary business and the citizens could find good legal support for such a stand.

This suggestion sounded anything but hot to the Famous executives. As the critic was giving chapter and verse for his criticisms and naming British legit managers who had been told not to come back, Cohen did not attempt to deny the order. Fitzgibbon insisted to Montreal that there was no such veto. Cohen merely hinted that the severity of the ban would be toned down and shows allowed in.

"Crusade" Was Threatened

Charlesworth was all ready to make the matter into a crusade. He has a huge Canadian following and others would have joined. Famous soon saw that the situation, as outlined a few weeks ago in Motion Picture News, could produce a high-powered kick-back. Hence, the current shyness. But despite the announced renunciation, the legits are not being booked and Famous' Trans-Canada Bookings, Ltd., is inactive.

No worse time could have been picked to pull this one—right on the heels of the patriotic squawk about the sale to Paramount Publix, independents' demand for investigation under the Combines Act and British Empire agitation for home-grown amusements.

Even with a withdrawal of the order, public sentiment has been stirred and there is danger of repeats of newspaper attacks at the slightest opportunity, as well as additional reverberations of this affair.

Lever in Rochester

Rochester—Publix has named Al Lever, manager of the Eastman 3,200-seat downtown house, to succeed Robert M. Sloat, who died recently at Cumberland, Md. Lever will take over the Eastman immediately.

Good News

Hollywood—The theme song is dead, in the opinion of Hugo Riesenfeld. He says it is being replaced by "hit" songs or numbers which have definite relationship to pictures' action.

Stage Shows in Comeback at W. C. Publix Theatres

Hollywood—Stage shows will do a comeback in Coast Paramount theatres, starting Aug. 28, when the first show opens at the Paramount here. Presentations will be made up of dancers and props from the company's local studio. Harry Gourfain is producing director for the theatre and Busby Berkley will handle direction from the studio end.

A chorus of 38 girls and 16 boys will be used in the opening show. The personnel is composed of dancers under contract at the studio and an augmented stage band of 30, with Jules Buffano as conductor.

The shows will have four weeks' time, being routed from the studio to Paramount houses here and at San Francisco, Seattle and Portland.

Stage Shows Go Into 5 Canadian Publix Theatres

Toronto—Flesh shows and orchestras return to Canadian theatres Sept. 5, with introduction of Public units at the Imperial, formerly the Pantages, and at the Palace, Montreal. Ottawa, Hamilton and London will have stage shows a month later.

Jack Arthur, director of music and presentations for Canadian Famous Players, will supervise the stage shows. The Uptown here is the only company theatre in Canada which has had stage shows during the last two years.

More Stage Shows Are Planned for Cincinnati

Cincinnati—RKO is to increase its policy of flesh-and-blood entertainment in some of the local houses by or before the end of the year, according to reports which, although not officially confirmed, seem to be borne out by present activities. Dressing rooms at the Palace, former vaudeville house, are being remodelel and refinished, while new back-stage equipment is said to have been ordered for the Lyric. Stage acts are scheduled for both houses.

Chicago Showmen Yawn at "Menace" of Tom Thumbs; Dubs Pay $70,000 Weekly

Only 140 Pee Wee Courses in Windy City; Fad on Wane, Is Belief

Chicago—This city's 140 miniature golf courses have an estimated patronage of nearly 200,000 persons weekly, yet there is not a single instance on record here where a circuit or independent theatre operator has made any attempt whatever to meet this new and ominous competition. It is ominous because Chicago, last major city in the country to see the influx of the courses, has not yet witnessed their maximum development. Nor will it, perhaps, for another season.

By mid-summer of 1931, it is generally agreed here, the miniature courses in Chicago will have attained their peak. What that peak will be, or how it will be met or countered, no Chicago exhibitor today has any very definite idea. His attitude at present is one of indifference, not yet having felt the brunt of this form of competition. "Let them alone," appears to be the Chicago exhibitor's attitude. "Their competition is not serious yet and another year may see the end of the fad." That is as far as he goes—today.

Affect Only Neighborhoods

Challenged on the soundness of this viewpoint recently, the head of a theatre circuit here replied: "We have no reason, as yet, to consider miniature golf as a serious competition. Directly, they affect only our neighborhood theatres, and those to no serious extent. Their daytime patronage is negligible, far less than that of amusement parks, bathing beaches, legitimate golf courses and a dozen other forms of recreation and amusement. The greatest force of their competition is felt at night and even then in no serious measure. Many of the patrons of the courses nearest our outlying theatres are furnished by our theatre patronage. That is admitted. But that fact does not result in any injury to our business. The courses are patronized by theatre-goers either on their way to the theatre, or after a performance. A round or two at either time suffices most miniature golf players. A negligible number spend an entire evening on the courses. It is sandwiched in as a part of an evening's entertainment in which theatre-going is the first consideration. There are some instances where increases in business at our outlying theatres are directly attributable to the miniature courses. Persons tiring either of playing or watching the players, who perhaps had no intention of doing so, drift into the theatres before the evening is over."

This attitude may be justified at present, but, as has been said, the city has not yet seen the maximum development of the miniature game's possibilities. The first course was opened in this city only last April. Its popularity was immediately manifested, with the result that, in the four months following, 140 courses were opened in various sections of the city and in outlying suburbs. Metropolitan Golf Courses, Inc., is the sole "chain" course operator. This concern has 65 units throughout the city and suburbs. In addition there are 75 independently operated layouts.

Average Attendance 200

The Tom Thumb Sales Corp., which sells the materials used in practically every course established here, placed the average daily attendance of each course at 200. Many of the favorably located city courses draw as many as 1,000 when the weather and other conditions are ideal. On the other hand, extreme heat, of which there has been plenty in this area during July and August, cuts the attendance appreciably. Rain, naturally, does the same. Moreover, the outlying courses get very small patronage during the daytime and many of them, affected by local ordinances, are forced to close at midnight and remain closed on Sundays. For these reasons, representatives of the Tom Thumb Sales Corp. believe that the 200 average daily attendance is a fair estimate when figured for a seven-day week. This places the weekly attendance at close to 200,000 persons for the 140 courses. The average admission price is 35 cents, which makes the weekly revenue on Cook county miniature courses approximately $70,000, or about $10,000 better than a good week at the Chicago theatre.

The existence of a miniature course in any theatre building here is unknown, nor has any theatre organization here announced plans for installation of the courses in its properties this winter. The Indoor Golf Courses of America, Inc., a subsidiary of the Tom Thumb Sales Corp., has made plans for establishing indoor courses for winter play here. Most of these will be in more or less favorably located office buildings in the downtown district. Few, if any, will be placed in the neighborhoods, or in theatres. The sole theatre lease this concern now holds is for the Orpheum, at Gary, Ind., where an indoor course will go in this fall. Not more than 15 or 20 indoor courses are planned for Chicago this winter, representatives of the company stated.

Two Chicago exhibitors are known to operate miniature golf courses, but neither was undertaken as a combative or protective venture, they said. Both were owners of vacant property and installed the courses purely for their business possibilities. Neither owns theatres in the vicinity of his miniature golf course.

Peak Next Summer

The consensus of opinion among exhibitors here is that the pee wee golf game will attain its popularity peak here next summer and that its decline will be rapid thereafter. They base their predictions on the falling off in attendance already noticeable at courses which have been longest in existence and in neighborhoods where the influx of the baby links has been in such volume that the receipts of most of them are decidedly unimpressive. Good golfers, they point out, contend that playing the miniature courses puts them off their regular game. It impairs their timing of shots and putting judgment, and this has served to keep players of the regular game off the courses. The dubs and initiates find all the courses pretty much alike and a few months of consistent patronage, it is said, suffice to weary these of the game.

Driving ranges, which one year ago were exceptionally numerous on the outskirts of the city, have waned amazingly in this section during the current season. It is estimated that fewer than ten driving ranges are in operation within the city limits. In the metropolitan area there are approximately 100 in operation. Many of these are unlighted at night and receive only an occasional idler for daytime patronage. Most of them are deserted by 9 or 9:30 at night, and exhibitors here do not consider them to be any greater competition than that afforded by launch owners who run an occasional moonlight excursion on Lake Michigan during the hot season.

State Wins vs. Golf

Boston—First round in the fight to throttle miniature golf in this state was won by the authorities when Attorney-General Warner, at the request of State Commissioner of Public Safety Poole, ruled that miniature courses, if operated on Sunday, must be licensed under the state entertainment law, which provides that places may be operated on the Sabbath from 1 p.m. to 11 p.m. Operation of golf courses outside of those hours is illegal, it was stated.

Tough Competition

Albany—Night baseball here is attracting large crowds and is hitting picture business. Night crowds have run as high as 9,000 and managers of theatres are complaining that the games are making inroads in their box-office receipts. These games, together with the Tom Thumb golf courses scattered throughout the city, and with a new one arriving almost every day, have made it tough for the theatres.

Maybe 'Twas the Scotch

Phil Baker would have you believe that four midget golf courses were seen floating down Broadway during the height of New York's heavy rain storm the other day.

Right after the storm, says Phil, he spied Sophie Tucker and Paul Whiteman playing a foursome on the miniature links near New York's Roxy.

Goof Golf Competition? "Bosh!" Says Franklin; Sees Fad Aiding Business

Head Hunting Horrors

Faced by the terrific task of writing headlines on miniature golf stories without constantly repeating "Tom Thumb," a member of the Empey News staff asked his colleagues for help. And here's what he got, among others: Goof Golf, Petite Putters, Tiny Links, Shrimp Golf, Pee Wee Courses, Golf with an Inferiority Complex, Demi-Tasse Golf, Pygmy Plots, Nine-Holers, Dub Dabbling, Baby Golf, Wart Whackers, Atomic Golf, and lots of others. Then he swooned.

Fate of 1st Fox Indoor Course To Guide Policy

Exactly how far Fox Theatres (Eastern) will dip into the "shrimp" golf racket hinges around the success, or failure, of the first indoor course to be built by the circuit in the Kew Gardens theatre in the Long Island suburb of that name.

Despite the "paper" which was handed out for the official baptism on Monday night, the cash intake totaled about $300. At present the course opens at 11 in the morning and closes about 1 a.m. the following morning. If late owls continue to patronize it, the course will be kept open until dawn. But Fox executives consider this probability to be remote.

The circuit claims that this is the first miniature golf layout of its kind in the country. The seats on the main theatre floor were removed to permit the necessary landscaping. The balcony was kept intact and has been diverted into a 'spectators' gallery accommodating more than 350. Refreshments are served with arrangements to take care of 150 people at one time. Interior illumination was secured by a series of high powered reflectors and in order to create an outdoor atmosphere the theatre ventilating system is being worked overtime.

The main lobby has two regulation size ping pong tables free for the use of the golf players. Wicker furniture is in the lobby and a couple of colored lawn umbrellas are planted strategically for atmospheric affect. The golf gag has been carried out to the limit. So much so, that John A. Winters, a professional on the regulation links, as well as the pee wee links, is on deck at all times to assist the players.

Chicago Council Orders Snap-Up Seats in Theatres

Chicago — Chicago exhibitors, unaware that the city council had been glancing in their direction of late, read of the passing of an amendment to the city building code specifying that all theatres must either be equipped with snap-up seats, or, in lieu of that, widen chair aisles an additional 14 inches. Within a few hours after passage of the amendment, Alderman William R. O'Toole, its sponsor, stated that he would ask Mayor Thompson to defer signing the ordinance until public hearings on the subject had been held. O'Toole stated that increased safety in case of fire or panic would result from the amendment were it enacted. Exhibitors, on the other hand, contend that it would merely provide additional hazards for injuries to patrons. Though slightly alarmed over the possibility of having to make expenditures to conform to the measure, they refuse to take it too seriously.

Chris Paschen, building commissioner, expressed disfavor with the amendment and stated he would refuse to enforce it. Jack Miller of the Chicago Exhib. Assoc. refused to regard the legislation seriously.

"It will be dead before it is ever enacted," Miller commented.

Ont. Tom Thumbs Closed Pending Law Appeal

Toronto—Pending final decision in the matter, Tom Thumb golf courses of the Province are closed on Sundays. The government is appealing decision of the county court in dismissing a complaint brought against a miniature course for Sunday operation.

Rob "J. D."

Jewelry valued at $14,000 was stolen this week from the suite of J. D. Williams, formerly general manager of First National and now a figure in British film circles, in a New York hotel where he is stopping with Mrs. Williams. The valuables included a bracelet, containing 22 diamonds, a diamond ring, a diamond and onyx bar pin and a wrist watch. The thieves visited the suite while Mr. and Mrs. Williams were absent from the hotel. The police were notified.

J. D. Williams

Fox West Coast Chief Sees No Reason to Fear New Entertainment

Hollywood—Miniature golf courses are a by-product of the amusement business "and not a very successful one at that," according to Harold B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theatres, who has been experimenting with operation of demi-tasse courses.

"Our study has taught us just this—miniature golf is dependent upon novelty and weather. The first courses, ordinary in construction and with few hazards, flat and uninteresting, are already being deserted by the public and practically abandoned by their owners.

"The new and beautiful courses; the ones costing many thousands, are being patronized by the youngsters in the daytime and by their elders at night, dependent upon the weather. A mild night and the courses are crowded; a cool night and they are but lightly patronized.

"Personally I believe that miniature golf will have more than a short life. I believe that the smart course owners will take care of drainage and protection of their patrons when winter comes in California, but as far as it being a serious menace to the success of motion picture theatres—that is bosh and those who make statements contrary to actual facts are merely talking without investigating the situation.

Called Show Business Aid

"Miniature golf is a good thing. Anything that keeps a mind active and clean is good because a physical and mental condition of this sort merely builds better business for the talking picture theatres.

"Fox West Coast Theatres operate more than 500 theatres between Canada and Mexico, the Pacific Ocean and the Mississippi River, and I am sure that we can prove by the statistics that we have on hand—that there are 1,000 people comfortably seated in a talking picture theatre to every one that patronizes miniature golf.

"Miniature golf is not a hazard to show business. It is a by-product and not a very good one at that. We are interested in it. We will continue to be just as long as the public finds interest in it and when the time comes that we find it is growing, instead of decreasing, as it is, then we will enter it seriously. Right now, the motion picture industry has nothing to fear from miniature golf."

Golf in the Lobby

J. H. Phillips, managing director of the Eagle theatre located at 1852 3rd Ave., New York, has installed what he says is the smallest 18 hole golf course on record on the mezzanine floor of the house.

Dog Film Makers Renew

Hollywood—Jules White and Zion Myers, producers of the trained dog M-G-M comedies, have signed new long-term contracts.

New Hoovenaire Reproducer Is Given Try-Out

Laboratory tests of the new Hoovenaire sound reproducing system were completed this week by a large theatre circuit and a talking equipment manufacturer. The Hoovenaire, it is claimed by the inventors, can be installed for one-third the cost of sound equipment now in use and offers the exhibitor freedom from all acoustical worries.

Various exacting tests were conducted by sound experts before submitting their reports. One test, conducted in a narrow room of small proportions, with bare whitewashed walls and closed windows, showed no distortion or vibration under highly amplified operation, it is claimed. Another test, conducted outdoors, employed four Hoovenaire units. At a point seven miles distant the words of the speaker were clearly audible and understandable, it was reported. Other tests are said to demonstrate that no acoustical treatment whatever is needed in sound reproduction with this equipment.

Air Valve Feature

The Hoovenaire unit is the invention of William C. Eaves and the Hetzel brothers of Los Angeles. It consists essentially of the usual amplifying system feeding a magnetic or dynamic speaker unit in the orthodox manner. However, placed close to the vibrating reed of the speaker unit is an air valve connected with a small air compressor. From this small air valve extends the exponential horn from which the sound issues.

As the amplified signal from either disc or film causes the reed of the magnet unit to vibrate, the movement of the latter acts on the sensitive air valve to open and close it in exact accordance with the frequency of the sound being produced at any instant. Each time the valve is thrust open a minute jet of air under 20-pound pressure escapes and the sequence of these jets forms a musical note which, when fed into the exponential horn, is amplified resonance until the volume is great enough for the room in which the outfit is to be used.

So efficient is the system, it is claimed, that a simple Loftis-White amplifier working from a standard pick-up and into a 126-inch exponential horn will serve the average theatre as well as four or five of the units now in use. Instead of 50 watts of output, the Hoovenaire, it is claimed, requires but eight watts to attain corresponding results in volume.

Possesses Wide Range

Laboratory tests conducted on the air valve purport to show that it responds to frequencies in a fairly straight line from 30 to 14,000 cycles. However, this wide range is not usable unless the magnetic or dynamic unit which operates the valve is sensitive at these same limits. For this reason a new type of dynamic speaker is now being developed for the express purpose of covering the same range as the valve.

Tests are further said to have demonstrated that the unit would deliver 100 dynes at 11.3 volts, whereas the best prior record on dynamics was 20 dynes at 24 volts. The unit showed no signs of wear after a 31-hour continuous test, Hoovenaire sponsors assert.

The equipment is compact and can be placed in a space 18 in. by 30 in. and four feet high. The Hooven Sound System of Hamilton, Ohio, the manufacturer, is now preparing to license the equipment for marketing through several sound equipment companies.

Gets New Contract

William Haines was one of several M-G-M players and directors to sign new long term contracts. Buster Keaton and William Bakewell have new agreements with the company, as has Director George Fitzmaurice.

Foreign-Language Theatre on Coast Fox Innovation

Hollywood — Foreign-language talkers will be the policy of the California, to be opened late this month by Fox West Coast Theatres. It will be the first house in the country to adopt such a policy, Harold B. Franklin, president of the circuit, believes.

He says the plan is more than an experiment and that extensive advertising will be used on all pictures shown. The California will be managed by Fred Miller, partner in the theatre.

Gainsborough and Caddo Fail to Stop "Patrol"

Hollywood—The same story background in three different pictures does not indicate one plagiarizes the other, U. S. District Court Cosgrave has ruled in denying Gainsborough Pictures, Ltd., and Caddo Prod. an injunction to restrain showing of "The Dawn Patrol." Gainsborough, on behalf of "Journey's End," and Caddo, on behalf of "Hell's Angels," sought to check public showings of the First National picture.

Talkers Bring Prosperity to San Francisco

San Francisco—The films do more than talk in San Francisco.

They spend money here—$1,000,000 a year in maintenance of plants; a $2,000,000 payroll for San Francisco men and women, and $2,000,000 more for improvements and construction work.

These are some of the things to be considered in connection with the Greater Talkie Season, which officially started here Aug. 15, theatre representatives declared this week.

They said the Greater Talkie Season is not to be considered merely in terms of business, however.

"It's a message of cheer, entertainment and optimism as well," they declared. "It brings assurance to San Francisco workers that they will be employed during the next 12 months."

Executives of Fox West Coast, Paramount-Publix and RKO said their seven downtown theatres act as magnets in bringing people to the downtown area.

N. S. S. Trailers Plug Greater Movie Season

Greater Movie Season being observed in a number of territories is being plugged in two special trailers issued by National Screen Service. One has art titles, while the other has type with art background.

Butner Campaigns for Cut on All Shipments

Atlanta—Reduction in express rates on all film shipments, rather than upon discs alone, is sought by J. H. Butner, Educational manager. He has asked the Hays association to petition the Interstate Commerce Commission for a cut in rates.

From S. M. P. E. Journal

An article by Wesley C. Miller on M-G-M's "squeeze track" method of controlling volume control, published in The Showman Section in Motion Picture News for August 2, appeared originally in the Journal of the Society of M. P. Engineers. Credit was inadvertently omitted.

Essanay Plant Burns

Hollywood—Memories of Charlie Chaplin and properties belonging to Fanchon & Marco passed out of the picture when the old Essanay plant was destroyed by fire. Loss about $75,000.

New Paper Starting

Hollywood—William (Billy) Wilkerson is to be editor and publisher of "The Hollywood Reporter," new trade daily which is to make its appearance here in September.

Livingston Joins Visuagraphic

Goodhue Livingston, Jr., has been appointed to the sales staff by Edward Stevenson, president of Visuagraphic.

"Hell's Angels" Starts Flood of New York Coin

Ushered in with a smash campaign which had all New York waiting for the twin premiere, "Hell's Angels" goaled 'em in its opening week in New York at both the Criterion and Gaiety. The picture received the most extensive billing ever accorded a film and a big newspaper campaign, and the value of it was demonstrated by the overflow crowds.

The Criterion on Monday afternoon turned away an estimated 10,000 persons, indicating that the picture has settled down for a long run at that house. The Gaiety, too, was turning them away, the two-way break sending the first three days' receipts to $18,697, for both houses. Wayne Pierson deserves plenty of credit for the way he handled the extensive newspaper and outdoor billing campaign.

Generally, the street showed healthy signs of life, freaky chilled weather bolstering business at all but a few houses where poor attractions took it on the chin.

Estimated takings:

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)

ASTOR—(1,120), 50c-75c-$1.00-$1.50-$2, 7 days, 8th week. Other attractions: Comedy, "College Hounds"; newsreel. Gross: $20,287, holding up strong.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

CAPITOL—(4,700), 35c-50c-75c-$1.50, 7 days, 2nd week. Other attractions: Overture, Hearst Metrotone news, presentation ("Invitation to the Dance"). Gross: $68,296, tapered off only $9,000 under first week's take.

"HELL'S ANGELS" (Caddo-U. A.)

(Playing Simultaneously at Critcrion and Gaiety)
CRITERION—(850), $1-$2-$2.50, 3 days. Other attractions: None. Gross: $9,755, for 1st 3 days.

EMBASSY NEWSREEL

EMBASSY—(598), 25c, 7 days. Straight newsreel show, running continuously. Gross: $6,625.

"HELL'S ANGELS" (Caddo-U. A.)

(Playing simultaneously at Gaiety and Criterion)
GAIETY—(808), $1-$1.50-$2-$2.50, 3 days. Other attractions: None. Gross: $8,942, for 1st 3 days.

"RAIN OR SHINE" (Columbia)

GLOBE—(1,050), 35c-50c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: Cartoon, "The Fiddler"; newsreel. Gross: $21,076, plenty over par, playing to s.r.o. Picture to be switched to the Cameo for a week, beginning Saturday.

"MOBY DICK" (Warners)

HOLLYWOOD—(1,600), 50c-75c-$1-$1.50, 3 days. Other attractions: "Looney Tunes," "Many Happy Returns." Gross: $14,015, for 3 days; not sensational only average. Barrymore's new one reopened this darkened house.

"QUEEN HIGH" (Para.)

PARAMOUNT—(3,700), 40c-50c-65c-85c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaudeville, "Ole Virginy" overture, "Spanish Melodies." Gross: $62,000. One of the week's "off" performances.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)

RIALTO—(1,904), 65c-85c, 7 days, 3rd week. Other attractions: Comedy, "Neighboring Neighbors"; Lee Morse; Paramount news, cartoon, "Barnacle Bill." Gross: $33,000, standing them up at this house.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Para.)

RIVOLI—(2,103), 35c-65c-85c, 7 days, 3rd week. Other attractions: Comedy, "Accidents Will Happen"; "New Rhythm," by orchestra, Paramount news. Gross: $24,000, only fair; succeeded by "Eyes of the World."

"COMMON CLAY" (Fox)

ROXY—(6,200), 50c-75c-$1.00, 7 days, 2nd week. Other attractions: Newsreel, overture, vaudeville. Gross: $120,233, figure sensational for the season; rated a third week.

"BRIDE OF THE REGIMENT" (F. N.)

STRAND—(3,000), 35c-50c-60c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Shorts, "Matinee Idol," "Play Boy," "Movie Horoscope for August." Gross: $23,268, a spurt over previous week, but still playing under par.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)

WINTER GARDEN—(1,493), 35c-50c-65c-$1, 7 days, 5th week. Other attractions: Joe Frisco in the "Song Plugger." Gross: $30,554, word-of-mouth plugs sending this one over the top with a bang.

"OLD ENGLISH" (Warners)

WARNERS—(1,490), $1-$2, opened Thursday night to an auspicious start; looks pretty good.

Back to Silents

Massilon, O.—Fred Ricker has reverted to a silent policy at his Lyric upon the request of his foreign patrons.

Joan Goes Big In Balto; Clicks Heavy at $27,500

Baltimore—An ideal week for good business in theatres with weather clear and temperate every day except Thursday when there was a good rain after about 49 days of drough.

Business was outstanding at all Loew houses. Stanley did the highest gross, estimated at $27,500, giving it a rating of 157% on "Our Blushing Brides" with Joan Crawford. She is a favorite in Baltimore, probably ranking here, at the box office, a little better than Norman Shearer. In this one the box office can't go wrong. It has sex for the men and a style show for the women.

Following this for a high gross was the Century with "Way Out West" and Waring's Pennsylvanians with both Haines and the musicians well liked here. The estimated takings were $26,000 or 124%. Audiences raved over the Pennsylvanians. This made their 27th week in Baltimore over a period of years.

The big surprise was given by "Let Us Be Gay," starring Norma Shearer, which was shown day and date at the Valencia and Parkway theatres with a gross of $4,800 or a rating of 137% at the former and a gross of $5,100 at the latter, rating 118%.

The flop of the week was "Sweet Kitty Belairs," at the Metropolitan which only did about $2,100 or 35%. This was caused more because audiences here do not care for romantic, costume musicals. This was beautifully staged, acted and directed, but it just didn't register.

Estimated takings:

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S CENTURY—(3,221), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, Waring's Pennsylvanians, "Honolulu Wiles," (cartoon). Gross: $26,000. Rating: 124%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S STANLEY—(3,654), 25c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, "Let 'Em Buck," (Pathe Sportlight); "Fiddling Around," (Columbia cartoon). Gross: $27,500. Rating: 157%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)

(Shown simultaneously with the Parkyay uptown after one week at Loew's Stanley downtown)
LOEW'S VALENCIA—(1,500), 25c-35c, 6 days. Other attractions: "Arctic Antics" (cartoon); "The Rounders" (comedy). Gross: $4,800. Rating: 137%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)

(Shown simultaneously with the Valencia downtown after one week at the Stanley downtown)
LOEW'S PARKWAY—(1,092), 15c-35c, 6 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, Romeo Robin" (cartoon); "Pups Is Pups" (Our Gang M-G-M Comedy). Gross: $5,100. Rating: 118%.

"SWEET KITTY BELLAIRS" (Warner Bros.)

WARNERS' METROPOLITAN—(1,500), 15c-50c, 6 days, starting Saturday. Other attractions: Harry Conley in "Slick As Ever"; Lee Morse in songs (Vitaphone Varieties); Universal news. Gross: $2,100. Rating: 35%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

(Second week of run after having been shown four weeks at Auditorium at top admission of $1.50)
KEITH'S—(3,016), 25c-50c, 6 days, starting Friday. Other attractions: "Good Time Hector" (Radio comedy); Pathe news. Gross: $5,560. Rating: 69½%.

"WILD COMPANY" (Fox)

NEW—(1,600), 25c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news; "Carnival Review" (Pathe comedy); Columbia cartoon. Gross: $6,000. Rating: 60%.

L.A. Theatres Hit Biggest Gate In Nine Weeks

Los Angeles—To better pictures is attributed the lone reason for a general revival in box-office interest at first runs here and in Hollywood, with figures for the group showing the best improvement for the past nine weeks.

"Moby Dick," "Top Speed," "Dawn Patrol" and "Romance" ran ahead of the march, with the Barrymore opus reaching 180% on a $28,800 gross.

Estimated takings:

Los Angeles

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)

FOX CARTHAY CIRCLE—(1,650), 2nd week, 7 days, twice daily, 75c to $1.50. Other attractions: Abe Lyman and band, comedy, Movietone news. Gross: $17,200. Rating: 134%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

FOX CRITERION—(1,652), 3rd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Movietone news, comedy. Gross: $15,100. Rating: 134%.

"COMMON CLAY" (Fox)

LOEW'S STATE—(2,418), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, Metrotone and Movietone news, Fanchon and Marco "Gobs of Joy" Idea. Gross: $28,500. Rating: 103%.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Para.)

PARAMOUNT—(3,596), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, Paramount news, Oliver Wallace organ concert. Gross: $25,100. Rating: 100%.

"MOBY DICK" (Warners)

WARNER BROS. DOWNTOWN—(2,400), 2nd week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Vitaphone varieties, news. Gross: $28,100. Rating: 180%.

"GRUMPY" (Para.)

UNITED ARTISTS—(2,100), 1st week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, news, Gaylord Carter organ concert. Gross: $12,100. Rating: 112%.

"NIGHT WORK" (Pathe)

RKO—(2,700), 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: RKO vaudeville, comedy, Pathe news. Gross: $16,200. Rating: 66%.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)

ORPHEUM—(2,750), 1st week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Comedy, Pathe news. Gross: $24,500. Rating: 155%.

Hollywood

"HELL'S ANGELS" (Caddo)

GRAUMAN'S CHINESE—(2,023), 12th week, 7 days, twice daily, 75c to $1.50. Other attractions: Sid Grauman's prologue, news. Gross: $22,500. Rating: 138%.

"MAN FROM WYOMING" (Para.)

GRAUMAN'S EGYPTIAN—(1,800), 7 days, 30c to 50c. Other attractions: Comedy, news. Gross: $4,800. Rating: 70%.

"TOP SPEED" (F. N.)

WARNERS HOLLYWOOD—(3,000), 1st week, 7 days, 35c to 65c. Other attractions: Vitaphone Varieties, news. Gross: $25,400. Rating: 167%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

PANTAGES HOLLYWOOD—(3,000), 7 days, 40c to 65c. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco's "Modes" Idea, comedy, news. Gross: $20,500. Rating: 125%.

$10,000 Weekly For New York's Newsreel House

Business at the Embassy, New York newsreel theatre, averaged $10,000 weekly in its first nine months of operation, M-G-M states. The theatre opened its newsreel policy Nov. 1, 1929, and in nine months grossed $380,000. Average daily attendance during the period was 5,715, although the theatre seats only 578. The best week brought admissions of 49,000.

London—Following the same policy as the Embassy, New York, the London Newsreel theatre has been opened as the second house playing an exclusive newsreel policy. There are reports that similar theatres will be opened in Paris and Berlin.

The Sacred Throne

Los Angeles—They are still looking for the guy out here who pulled the yarn about the second-hand dealer who bought the sacred ceremonial throne from the cult of the Royal Arm of the Great Eleven. Realizing that the deal was phoney, he became panicky, until he was advised to rent it to movie banquets given in honor of magnates returning from little trips with new crops of nephews.

150% for "Big House" in 4th Frisco Week

San Francisco—Business was okay all week due to the weather and several fraternal conventions. Mornings and evenings were foggy and cool, while afternoons were sunny. Among the national conventions here was the Eagles, of which over 20,000 attended.

Some very good business was done by several houses not only because of weather and conventions, but also because of the high calibre of pictures.

Loew's-Warfield showed "Big House" for a 4th week with a gross of $25,000, or 150%. Big business was done at the Fox with "Holiday." Here the gross was $37,000 and rating 145%.

California had "Manslaughter" with a gross of $16,200, rating 110%; "Journey's End" at the St. Francis reported $10,000 with 100%. Moran and Mack registered by drawing $12,500 gross and 105% rating at the Paramount. The Davies showed "All Quiet on the Western Front" for a second showing on request and hit $8,000, or 102%.

Estimated takings:

"RAIN OR SHINE" (Columbia)
ORPHEUM—(2,270), 25c-35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, "Peep in the Deep," comedy; organ recital; Jack Sprigg and his RKOlians, RKO vaudeville. Gross: $8,500. Rating: 85%.

"NIGHT WORK" (Pathe)
GOLDEN GATE—(2,485), 30c-40c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Music, RKO vaude. Gross: $17,000. Rating: 100%.

"MORAN AND MACK" (Paramount)
PARAMOUNT—(2,698), 35c-50c-65c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Harry Gourfain's revue, "Varieties of 1930"; Fred Sanborn, comic; Paramount news; Eddie Magill, "crooning king of the megaphone." Gross: $12,500. Rating: 105%.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Paramount)
CALIFORNIA—(2,200), 35c-50c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: California orchestra; Paramount news, Lulu McConnell in "Neighborly Neighbors." Gross: $16,200. Rating: 110%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)
DAVIES—(1,150), 35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: News, "Bully Beef," comedy. Gross: $8,000. Rating: 102%.

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)
FOX—(5,000), 50c.-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Orchestra, Fox news, Fanchon & Marco in "Victor Herbert's Idea," Laurel and Hardy M-G-M comedy. Gross: $37,000. Rating: 145%.

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)
LOEW'S WARFIELD—(2,672), 50c-65c-90c, 4th week. Other attractions: Fox and Hearst news; Vagabond Director in "Travel-Talk"; "Silly Symphony," cartoon; fashions. Gross: $25,000. Rating: 150%.

"JOURNEY'S END" (Paramount)
ST. FRANCIS—(1,375), 35c-50c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Larie De Prics' band; Paramount news; "Cockeyed News," comedy novelty. Gross: $10,000. Rating: 100%.

"SLIGHTLY DAMAGED" (Fox)
EMBASSY—(1,365), 50c-65c-90c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaude., "Railroad Follies," one-act farce comedy; "Sti'l Alarm"; Laborious Hauptman and his "Melody Artists." Gross: $8,500. Rating: 95%.

"SON OF THE GODS" (First National)
CASINO—(2,500), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Sennett comedy, "Aesop's Fables"; Vagabond, "Adventure Scenic"; Fox Movietone. Gross: $9,000. Rating: 90%.

Mpls. Moans When McCormack Falls To 60% on $6,200

Minneapolis—The Minnesota theatre romped away with the heavy take this week when "Romance" brought in $27,000 to give the house a rating of 80%. The Orpheum had one of its best weeks for a long time. This house garnered a take of $20,500 on "Hell's Island," this being an 80% rating for the house.

Century found that "Song o' My Heart" was a dreary dirge. The box office moaned at the end of the week. The figures showed a take of $6,200, or a rating of 60%. State showing, "Anybody's War," rang the bell at the 90% mark when they showed earnings of $18,000 for the week. The Lyric boosting "The Czar of Broadway," took in $2,700, a 90% rating. The Aster collected a 100% rating and $2,275 on "Sunny Skies."

Estimated takings:

"HELL'S ISLAND" (Columbia)
ORPHEUM—(2,900), 35c-50c-75c, 7 days, 3 shows daily. Other attractions: Blossom Seeley heading 4-act variety bill. Gross: $20,500. Rating: 80%.

"SONG O' MY HEART" (Fox)
CENTURY—(1,640), 50c-75c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: None. Gross: $6,200. Rating: 60%.

"ANYBODY'S WAR" (Paramount)
STATE—(2,300), 25c-35c-60c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Other attractions: Short subjects, newsreel. Gross: $18,000. Rating: 90%.

"CZAR OF BROADWAY" (Universal)
LYRIC—(1,238), 15c-25c-40c, 7 days, 6 shows daily. Gross: $2,700. Rating: 90%.

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)
MINNESOTA—(4,025), 35c-45c-75c, 7 days, 7 shows daily. Other attractions: Publix stage show "Dude Ranch," newsreel, fashion reel. Gross: $27,000. Rating: 80%.

"SUNNY SKIES" (Tiffany)
ASTER—(812), 15c-35c-30c, 7 days, 7 shows daily. Gross: $2,275. Rating: 100%.

Crawford Clips High Providence Spot with 120%

Providence—Passing of heat wave here gave picture houses a great break. Sensation of the week was Joan Crawford in "Our Blushing Brides" which grossed more than $25,000, or 120%.

Other good spots in town were "Holiday" at RKO Albee, which did about $11,300 and "For the Defense," at Paramount, which piled up close to $13,000. Weather, fair and cool.

Estimated takings:

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)
LOEW'S STATE—(3,500), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attracticns: "Fire Fighters," "Finlandia" "Audio Review," "Franz Listz Music Treat." Gross: $25,500. Rating: 120%.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Para.)
PARAMOUNT—(2,300), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, "Resolutions," "Kandy Kabaret," Joe Alexander organlogue. Gross: $13,000. Rating: 110%.

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)
RKO ALBEE—(2,500), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Hot Bridge," Audio Review, Pathe news. Gross: $11,300. Rating: 100%.

"BRIGHT LIGHTS" (F.N.)
MAJESTIC—(2,200), 15c-50c 7 days. Other attractions: "Cactus Kid," cartoon; "Taxi Talks," "Bitter Friends," Paramount news. Gross: $10,500. Rating: 95%.

"BEAU BANDIT" (Radio)
RKO VICTORY—(1,600), 15c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Head Hunters," "Snow Time," "Some Baby," Pathe news. Gross: $6,500. Rating: 90%.

A Good Job

Credit Russell Holman with a real job in preparing "The Blue Book of Shorts" to give exhibitors detailed and handy information concerning Paramount's short product. The book is in four colors and lists the company's program of 104 talking acts, 26 comedies, 18 screen songs, 18 talkartoons, 12 pictorials and the 104 scheduled issues of Paramount Sound News.

Reopening at Des Moines Hits 1st Runs Plenty

Des Moines—S.R.O. business at the Des Moines theatre, which had its opening this week, gave "Manslaughter" a 150% rating.

The Paramount next door which has been profiting by the fact that the DesMoines was out of competition during rebuilding naturally felt the results of the opening.

The Orpheum recorded business as good and not affected by the opening of the Des Moines. Two camps in session here helped business and the pleasant weather worked no handicap. "Cheer Up and Smile" recorded 100% for the Orpheum which has formerly recorded a higher average daily business than the Des Moines. "Shooting Straight" was rated at 110%. Dix goes big here and would be welcomed in better features. The comedies took well at the Strand.

Estimated takings:

"MAN TROUBLE" (Fox)
PARAMOUNT—(1,700), 4 days, 25c, 35c, 60c. Other attractions: Paramount news, stage band, vaud. Gross: $4,500. Rating: 100%.

"COMMON CLAY" (Fox)
PARAMOUNT—(1,700), 3 days, 25c, 35c, 60c. Other attractions: "U." news, Al Morey and stage band in original show ("Laughing Gas"). Gross: $4,500. Rating: 100%.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Para.)
DES MOINES—(1,600), 7 days, 25c-35c-50c. Other attractions: Paramount news. Gross: $8,000. Rating: 150%.

"CHEER UP AND SMILE" (Fox)
ORPHEUM—(2,000), 4 days, 25c-50c. Other attractions: Pathe news, RKO vaud., RKO comedy ("Also Mabel"), Pathe revue. Gross: $4,652. Rating: 100%.

"SHOOTING STRAIGHT" (RKO)
ORPHEUM—(2,000), 3 days, 35c-50. Other attractions: Pathe news, RKO comedy ("Barnum was Wrong"). Gross: $4,700. Rating: 110%.

"THE SILENT ENEMY" (Para.)
STRAND—(1,100), 4 days, 20c-30c. Other attractions: Paramount news, Paramount act ("Jazz Preferred"), Paramount act ("Prisoner's Song"). Gross: $1,700. Rating: 90%.

"FURIES" (F.N.)
STRAND—(1,100), 3 days, 20c-30c. Other attractions: "U." comedy ("Not So Quiet"); M-G-M colortone "Pirates"; Pathe news. Gross: $1,600. Rating: 90%.

Two Middle West Publix Districts Are Expanded

Omaha—Territorial expansion of the two districts in the division office of Paramount Publix headquartering here have been announced by Evert R. Cummings, division manager.

Charles Pincus, district manager, will take over Sioux City, Missouri Valley, Ia., and several other points in the northwestern part of the state. Lea Richmond, the other district manager, has added to his territory North Platte, Hastings, Kearney, Grand Island, Fairbury and Beatrice, all in Nebraska.

"Cock o' Walk" Replaced in Chi By "Hell's Isle"

Chicago—A week of cool, pleasant weather revived Loop box-offices and had them waiting on the street in front of most theatres daily.

RKO Palace, playing Paramount's "Grumpy," which was snubbed by local Publix bookers, went to $24,600 (105%), its best figure since inauguration of the vaude-film policy at the house. The draw belongs entirely to the picture, which was so well thought of that RKO upset precedent to give it a second Loop week at its other Loop vaude-film spot, the State-Lake.

Helen Kane, in person, sent receipts soaring at the Oriental, which did $43,800 (105%). The picture, which was not favored by critics, was "Way of All Men" (F. N.) The Chicago was high with "Manslaughter" (Paramount), getting $49,-300 (105%). Critics picked this one unanimously. "Holiday" (Pathe) showed strength at the United Artists, taking $27,-500 (125%), and opened its second week well. "Common Clay" (Fox), played to "adults only" at the Roosevelt.

"Little Accident" (Univ.) opened strong with $10,000 (190%) for its first three days at the Woods. RKO is giving this one some splendid advertising assistance in the dailies. "Dawn Patrol" (F. N.) finished three weeks at McVickers with $23,800 (85%) for the last seven days. The Castle jerked "Cock o' the Walk" (Sono Art-World Wide) when it managed only $1,800 (65%) from Friday to Monday. "Hell's Island" (Columbia), which replaced it, got $2,000 in three days of mid-week for a rating of 160%.

Estimated takings:

"COCK O' THE WALK" (Sono Art-World Wide)
CASTLE—(300), 60c. 4 days. Other attractions: Univ. newsreel. Gross: $1,800. Rating: 65%. Replaced by "Hell's Island" (Col.). First 3 days. Gross: $2,000. Rating: (based on midweek play dates) 100%.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Paramount)
CHICAGO—(3,940), 35c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Stage show, orchestra, comedy, newsreel, novelty short. Gross: $49,300. Rating: 105%.

"WHAT MEN WANT" (Univ.)
GARRICK—(1,165), 50c-75c, 1st week. Other attractions: Newsreel, novelty short. (Playing "adults only.") Gross: $6,300. Rating: 90%.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)
McVICKERS—(2,284), 35c-85c, 3d and final week. Other attractions: Comedy, newsreel, "Animal Crackers" (Para.) replaced. Gross: $23,800. Rating: 85%.

"WILD COMPANY" (Fox)
(2nd time in Loop)
MONROE—(962), 25c-40c. 7 days. Other attractions: 30 minutes of newsreel, comedy. Gross: $4,500. Rating: 75%.

"WAY OF ALL MEN" (F. N.)
ORIENTAL—(3,900), 35c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Stage show, headed by Helen Kane, organ, comedy, newsreel, novelty short. Gross: $43,800. Rating: 105%. ("Boop-a-doop" girl credited with draw.)

"SONG OF THE FLAME" (W. B.)
ORPHEUM—(762), 35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: 3 Vitaphone acts, newsreel. Gross: $5,600. Rating: 73%.

"GRUMPY" (Paramount)
PALACE—(2,509), 35c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: 5 acts RKO vaude, comedy, newsreel. Gross: $24,600. Rating: 102%.

"COMMON CLAY" (Fox)
ROOSEVELT—(1,591), 35c-85c, 3d week. Other attractions: Cartoon, musical short, newsreel. Playing "adults only." Gross: $21,000. Rating: 102%.

"QUEEN HIGH" (Paramount)
STATE-LAKE—(2,776), 35c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: 5 acts RKO vaude, comedy, newsreel. Gross: $23,500. Rating: 90%.

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)
UNITED ARTISTS—(1,700), 35c-85c, 1st week. Other attractions: Comedy, newsreel. Gross: $27,500 Rating: 125%. "Hell's Angels" (U. A.) set to follow

"RAIN OR SHINE" (Col.)
WOODS—(1,166), 35c-75c, last 7 of 12-day run. Other attractions: Cartoon, newsreel, novelty short. Gross: $14,700. Rating: 122%. "Little Accident" (Univ.) replaced in midweek. Gross: (first 3 days) $10,000. Rating: 190%. (Playing "adults only.")

My, What Long Legs!

"My father was even taller than Gary. I can see him now—he used to stand beside his horse, with one foot on the ground, and the other thrown over the saddle. And Gary does the same thing," he chuckled wickedly. "That's what gets the women."—From Motion Picture Magazine.

You mean that's what gets the horses. —New Yorker.

"Common Clay" Wows "Philly" Takes $34,000

Philadelphia — Local houses evaded the warm weather curse by hanging up some of the most remarkable figures of the generally quiet season. The highlight was the high gross scored by "Common Clay" at the Fox. Picture grabbed off $34,000, highest figure since "Hot for Paris" and enough to warrant its being held for a second week. In addition to good notices the picture received, gross was unmistakably aided by extensive radio campaign put on by local Fox organization under direction of Mrs. Ella Waters, Philadelphia clubwoman.

The Fox business helped to bolster the Stanton next door with overflow, giving "Big House" $12,000 or a 120% rating for its fourth week. Fifth week now is running with a sixth practically assured. "Raffles" cleaned up at the Boyd for $22,000, or 120% for its first full week. With Will Osborne and his band as stage headliners, Mastbaum grossed $40,000, or average business. "Bright Lights" was the picture.

Estimated takings:

"BRIGHT LIGHTS" (F. N.)
MASTBAUM—(4,800), 35c-50c-75c, 6 days. Other attractions: Will Osborne and band to head stage show, "Sky High." Other entertainers included Maude Hilton, Connie Almy, Paul and Ferrell. Charlie Kaley remains as m.c. and Creatore is held over for second week as guest conductor of the orchestra; newsreel. Gross: $40,000. Rating: 100%.

"COMMON CLAY" (Fox)
FOX—(3,000), 40c-50c-75c, 6 days. Other attractions: Fanchon and Marco's idea "Trees" with Jack McBride, Flora Clark, Kathleen Goodwin and others; Movietone news. Gross: $34,000. Rating: 140%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)
STANLEY—(3,700), 35c-50c-75c, 3 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Vitaphone Variety. Gross: $12,000. Rating: 150%. "Holiday" played first three days of the week. Gross: $6,000. Rating: 66%.

"MAN FROM WYOMING" (Para.)
EARLE—(2,000), 25c-75c, 6 days. Other attractions: Jay Mill's stage revue, "Silver Revue," with George Dewey Washington, Wilton and Weber, Chotz Bemis, Roma Brothers, Littlefield Girls; Universal news. "Potters" comedy. Gross: $19,000. Rating: 105%.

"RAFFLES" (U. A.)
BOYD—(2,400), 35c-50c-75c, 6 days. Other attractions: M-G-M news, Fitzpatrick Travelogue. Gross: $22,000. Rating: 120%.

"BIG HOUSE" (M-G-M)
STANTON—(1,700), 25c 65c, 6 days. Other attractions: Newsreel, Vitaphone Variety, Charlie Kerr's radio orchestra. Fourth week. Gross: $12,000. Rating: 120%.

"RECAPTURED LOVE" (Warners)
KARLTON—(1,000). 40c-50c. Other attractions: Newsreel, Charley Chase comedy. Gross: $4,000 Rating: 80%.

Powell, Haines Head Seattle's Big Money Bills

Seattle—Two of the screen's most popular male players divided first-run honors here this week at opposition chain houses. William Powell in "For the Defense" at the Paramount and William Haines in "Way Out West" at the Fox Fifth Ave., came within a couple of hundred dollars of each other in gross receipts, both being well over the 100% figure.

Hot weather kept many patrons at the beaches and in parks, but the presence of the Pacific fleet in local waters meant added revenue from the sailors on shore leave. "Bride of the Regiment" at the Metropolitan went the way of all filmusicals of late and hit a distinct low.

Estimated takings:

"HELL'S ANGELS" (U. A.) 3rd and final week
FOX—(2,450), 25c-35c-50c-75c-$1, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, Owen Sweeten and Fox band, James Hall in person. Gross: $11,750. Rating: 110%.

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)
FOX FIFTH AVE.—(2,750), 25c-35c-50c-60c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, Fanchon-Marco stage unit, Fashion news. Gross: $15,135. Rating: 112%.

"BRIDE OF THE REGIMENT" (F. N.)
METROPOLITAN—(1,100), 25c-35c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount cartoon, Educational comedy, Paramount news. Gross: $3,500. Rating: 60%.

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Paramount)
PARAMOUNT—(3,150), 25c-35c-50c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Clausen and band, Jess Felleman (sailor) in concert. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 125%.

Pop Features at Ottawa Pushes All Receipts Skyward

Ottawa—Popular features and unseasonably cool weather combined to give Ottawa theatres plenty business during the week with "Holiday" at the Regent and "Let's Go Native" at Keith's notching 100% for their respective runs. "Holiday" was top insofar as receipts were concerned with $6,-100 for the six days. "Let's Go Native" drew $4,900 for the three days at Keith's. No feature fell below 80% for the week and managers were happy.

Estimated takings:

"HOLIDAY" (Pathe)
REGENT—(1,225), 25c-75c, 6 days. Other attractions: Movietone news, "Accidents Will Happen," (comedy); orchestra. Gross: $6,100. Rating: 100%.

"LET'S GO NATIVE" (Para.)
KEITH'S—(2,596), 15c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, "Two Fried Eggs," (comedy); "Vanity," (sketch). Gross: $4,900. Rating: 100%.

"BORN RECKLESS" (Fox)
IMPERIAL—(1,200), 15c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Hearst Metrotone news, "Barber Shop Chord," "Beauties." Gross: $2,700. Rating: 80%.

"SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES" (F. N.)
AVALON—(990), 25c35c, 3 days. Other attractions: Movietone news, "Radio Kisses," (comedy); Krazy Kat cartoon. Gross: $1,200. Rating: 90%.

"HOT CURVES" (Tiffany)
CENTRE—(1,200), 15c-50c, 6 days. Other attractions: Voice of Hollywood, Carlena Diamond, harpist; technicolor "Parisian Nights." Gross: $3,200. Rating: 85%.

"THE SEA BAT" (M-G-M)
KEITH'S—(2,596), 15c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Universal news, "Fit to be Tied," (comedy); "Music Shop." Gross: $4,400. Rating: 95%.

"ROYAL ROMANCE" (Columbia)
AVALON—(990), 25c-35c, 3 days. Other attractions: Movietone news, "Real McCoy," (comedy); "Farewell Blues"; Phil Spitalny's band. Gross: $1,100. Rating: 85%.

125% Clicked by 'Sins of Children' In Kansas City

Kansas City—Opening this week under new management and with a return of vaudeville in the Fanchon and Marco units, the Pantages hit top with a 125% rating and a gross of $14,500. The picture was M-G-M's "Sins of the Children."

A rating of 115% was knocked off at the Uptown on Fox's "Not Damaged," which grossed $6,900. "All Quiet on the Western Front," playing its second week at popular prices, ran up 115% at the Royal with a gross of $5,200. First National's "Sweethearts and Wives" at the Mainstreet was reported as 110%, with a gross of $16,500. Average business was reported at the Midland, where Metro's "Way out West" brought in $13,000. At the Newman the business was also average on the week with Paramount's "Sap from Syracuse," which drew $9,500.

Estimated takings:

"SINS OF THE CHILDREN" (M-G-M)

PANTAGES—(2,166), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news, Pathe short, "Vagabond"; Fanchon and Marco "Rose Garden" idea. Gross: $14,500. Rating: 125%.

"NOT DAMAGED" (Fox)

UPTOWN—(2,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe comedy, "Mind Your Own Business"; Oswald cartoon; Universal news. Gross: $6,900. Rating: 115%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

ROYAL—(900), 25c-50c, 7 days. (Second week of picture in Kansas City.) Other attractions: Paramount news. Gross: $5,200. Rating: 115%.

"SWEETHEARTS AND WIVES" (F.N.)

MAINSTREET—(3,067), 35c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Pathe news and five acts vaude headlining Lulu McConnell. Gross: $16,500. Rating: 110%.

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

MIDLAND—(4,000), 25c-40c, 7 days. Other attractions: M-G-M short, Boy Friends in "Doctor's Orders"; Columbia screen snapshots; Columbia Silly Symphony, "Frolicking Fish." Gross: $13,000. Rating: 100%.

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Para.)

NEWMAN—(2,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Johnny Perkins in "Lady, You Slay Me"; Mack Sennett's "Hello, Television"; fantasy, "A Flower Boat"; Paramount news. Gross: $9,500. Rating: 100%.

Bancroft's New Lead

Hollywood—Jessie Royce Landis, stage actress, has been signed by Paramount for the lead opposite George Bancroft in his next talker. Rowland V. Lee will direct this picture which is being made from an original story by William Slavens McNutt and Grover Jones.

Retakes on "Remote Control"

Hollywood—M-G-M has decided to shoot several new sequences and make numerous retakes on "Remote Control," William Haines' latest talker. Nick Grinde will direct the new scenes.

Wise Guy

The village blacksmith of Platt City, Neb., has closed his shop and is opening a motion picture palace.

Which prompts Jake Falstaff to pull this line: "For a man who doesn't want to waste his long experience with Nebraska mules, the show business is practically the only out."

Shootin' the Works

Sid Skolsky relates the Fred C. Cole yarn about the small time movie producer who sold his company in one of those many mergers and came into the big money for the first time in his life.

This producer decided that now he and his wife would live the way they had been dreaming about for years. He immediately purchased a town car, a few diamonds for the wife and started for Southampton to spend the summer. He stopped at the most expensive hotel there and rented a suite of rooms. He was making certain to let every one know that he had money.

The second day there his wife went in swimming and had to be carried out by the lifeguards. They had just managed to save her and were working over her furiously when the producer reached the scene.

"How is she?" he asked excitedly.

"Not so good," replied one of the guards. "I'm afraid we'll have to give her artificial respiration."

"No—no—" sputtered the producer. "No, you don't! You give her the real thing, I can afford it!"

All Hit Par in Cleveland; Top To "Romance"

Cleveland — Big pictures drew heavy business here. With "Romance," "Manslaughter," "Queen High" and "Man from Wyoming" showing for the first time, and Benny Rubin appearing in person at the Palace, all downtown houses were well satisfied with results. A break in the hot weather also helped considerably.

Estimated takings:

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

STILLMAN—(1,900), 7 days, 40c-75c. Other attractions: "Pups in Pups" (M-G-M); "Fiddlin' Around," (Columbia); Fox Movietone news. Gross: $22,500. Rating: 150%.

"MANSLAUGHTER" (Paramount)

ALLEN—(3,300), 7 days, 30c-60c. Other attractions: "College Hounds," (M-G-M); "Bombay, Gateway to India," (Standard Film); Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $17,000. Rating: 120%.

"QUEEN HIGH" (Paramount)

STATE—(3,400), 7 days, 30c-60c. Other attractions: "Murder Case of Laurel and Hardy," (M-G-M); "Frogs Vases," (Felix cartoon, Fischer Film); Paramount news. Gross: $18,500. Rating: 108%.

"MAN FROM WYOMING" (Paramount)

RKO PALACE—(3,600), 7 days, 35c-75c. Other attractions: "Ham Berger and His Horse Radish," (Columbia); "Never Strike Your Mother," (Columbia); "Swell People," (Pathe); Pathe news. On the stage, Benny Rubin. Gross: $22,000. Rating: 110%.

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)

RKO HIPPODROME—(4,500), 7 days, 35c-75c, 2nd week. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news. Gross: $15,000. Rating: 110%.

"SHADOW OF THE LAW" (Para.)

KEITH'S EAST 105TH—(2,200), 7 days, 25c-50c. Other attractions: Pathe news, Sportlight, (Pathe); "Big Hearted" (Pathe). Gross: $14,000. Rating: 116%.

Paramount Signs Two

Hollywood—Oliver H. P. Garrett, author, and Max Marcin, dramatist and director, have signed new term contracts with Paramount as writers. Garrett has been identified with the writing of the latest William Powell productions, while Marcin has written and produced numerous Broadway hits.

Garbo Warms the Criterion Till at Oklahoma City

Oklahoma City—Garbo fans forgot the hot weather and turned out en masse last week, bringing good money $7,000, on "Romance," or 115%, to the Criterion. "Dawn Patrol" which was scheduled for two weeks at the Midwest flopped and was withdrawn and Will Rogers in "So This Is London," substituted. The Fox picture held up well, to the tune of $7,000 and all patrons were pleased. "Anybody's War" was the Capitol draw with the stage as a very good filler. The final count, due to the excellent playing of Moran and Mack, hit $6,500, rating 115%. "Road to Paradise" clicked at $5,000 and 110% at the Liberty, "Wedding Rings" at the Empress was below par at 85%. "The Sap," with RKO vaudeville, earned $2,800 and 90% at the Orpheum for 4 days.

Estimated takings:

"ROMANCE" (M-G-M)

CRITERION—(2,000), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Paramount news, Belvedere male quartete, Allman Timberg in "The Love Boat," preview "Romance Out West." Gross: $7,000. Rating: 115%.

"SO THIS IS LONDON" (Fox)

MIDWEST—(1,500), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Sinking in a Bath Tub," "Jazz Rehearsal." Gross: $7,000. Rating: 115%.

"ANYBODY'S WAR" (Para.)

CAPITOL—(1,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Metrotone news, Jimmie Barry in "Meek Mr. Meek," "Dizzy Dishes," Paramount screen song. Gross: $6,500. Rating: 115%.

"ROAD TO PARADISE" (F.N.)

LIBERTY—(1,800), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox news. Ann Pennington in "Hello Baby." Gross: $5,000. Rating: 110%.

"WEDDING RINGS" (F.N.)

EMPRESS—(1,200), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Universal news, comedy, "Play Boy." Gross: $4,000. Rating: 90%.

"THE SAP" (W.B.)

ORPHEUM—(1,500), 25c-50c, 4 days. Other attractions: Kinograms, RKO vaudeville. Gross: $2,800. Rating: 90%.

"PARADISE ISLAND" (Tiffany)

ORPHEUM—(1,500), 25c-50c, 3 days. Other attractions: Kinograms news, Fanchon & Marco's Manila Bound "Idea." Gross: $2,600. Rating: 95%.

Adopts New Policy

Terre Haute, Ind.—Vaudeville and sound pictures were inaugurated recently at the Liberty. The theatre will remain open a few days and then will close for minor changes incidental to the inauguration of the new policy. The vaudeville policy will consist of three acts together with a feature talking picture. The programs will be changed Sundays and Wednesdays and an attempt will be made to put the program over without any change in admission prices.

McWade's New Assignments

Hollywood—Robert McWade's most recent assignments include a part in "Luxury" for Fox and a role in "Cimarron" at R-K-O. He is working at Fox at the present time.

Big Shot

Hamilton, O.—It now looks as if John Schumacker, house manager of the Rialto, is to be the "big shot" figuratively and literally. Schumacker was nominated for sheriff by an overwhelming majority at recent primaries, and hopes to wear to coveted five-pointed star on his bosom after the regular election.

The Breaks

Hollywood—While on location at the Hollywood fire station filming scenes using nets, ladders, hose and other equipment, the Continental Talking Plays filming "The Fourth Alarm," was forced to suspend shooting when a real fourth alarm came in and the Hollywood firemen were called into downtown Los Angeles to help fight a huge warehouse blaze. The company figured they were going to lose a half day's shooting until a cameraman someone had sent to the real fire returned with shots that were far better than the company had planned getting.

As yet no settlement with the fire insurance company for use of "the hall" has been made.

F-P Reopening At Toronto Aids Powell Hit Top

Toronto—The feature of the week in Toronto was the reopening of the Uptown theatre, key house of Famous Players chain in the Dominion. The Uptown, with a stage presentation and William Powell in "For the Defense," crashed through with $17,500 for the week's takings, which meant 115%. A new cooling system helped.

"Song O' My Heart," held over at the Tivoli for a second week, dropped to 85% rating but it was fairly good at $11,000 for a house with 1,600 seats. The Imperial, largest in town, scored heavily with "Sap from Syracuse," receipts being $15,200 or 90%, which was a good start for Tom Daly as new manager. Weather was cool and mostly fair.

Estimated takings:

"FOR THE DEFENSE" (Para.)
UPTOWN—(3,200), 35c-80c, 6 days. Other attractions: Stage presentation, "Lines and Spaces"; orchestra, Andy Clyde comedy, "Hello Television"; Mickey Mouse, "Fiddling Around"; Movietone news. Gross: $17,500. Rating: 115%.

"SONG O' MY HEART" (Fox) 2nd week
TIVOLI—(1,600), 30c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: "Fit to be Tied," (comedy); Mickey Mouse, "The Fire Fighter"; Movietone news. Gross: $11,000. Rating: 85%.

"SAP FROM SYRACUSE" (Para.)
IMPERIAL—(3,600), 30c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Lloyd Hamilton in "Prize Puppies"; five vaudevil e acts, Pathe "Old-Time" news, news special showing visit of R-100. Gross: $15,200. Rating: 90%.

"HE KNEW WOMEN" (RKO)
HIPPODROME—(2,600), 30c-60c, 6 days. Other attractions: Five RKO vaudeville acts, cartoon comedy, Universal news, Grantland Rice Sportlight. Gross: $13,500. Rating: 85%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M)
LOEW'S—(2,200), 35c-65c, 6 days. Other attractions: Five vaudeville acts, comedy, news. Gross: $12,000. Rating: 85%.

Yarbrough Goes to Cincy

Fort Wayne, Ind.—Edmond D. Yarbrough, manager of the Palace here, a division of R-K-O, has been transferred to Cincinnati. He has been here since the first of the year. The three R-K-O theatres will continue under the direction of Len S. Brown, general manager, who came here recently from Madison, Wis., where he was manager of the Capitol Theatre. Yarbrough will work under the supervision of J. L. McCurdy, division manager of R-K-O.

Big Time in Old Town Sends B. O. Figures Skyward

Portland—"Greater Talkie Season's" promises were more than carried out, and brought out thousands to see and hear the lavish outdoor carnival celebration and excellent screen fare. Merchants' windows vied with the four blocks of street decorations and enhanced by the veritable sea of neon and other lighting were a magnet for huge crowds.

Another really worth while screen offering at Fox Broadway, "Common Clay," with Constance Bennett, plus an unusually snappy Fanchon & Marco's Cadet Idea, and Don Wilkins and band boys in novelty musical numbers, was a well-rounded show which grossed $15,400, rating 151%.

Estimated takings:

"COMMON CLAY" (M-G-M)
FOX BROADWAY—(1,912), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fanchon & Marco's "Cadets" idea, including Milee Sisters, Rognan & Trigger and Sunkist Ensemb'e; Don Wilkins and Kenin's band; Fox Movietone news. Gross: $15,400. Rating: 151%. (Personal appearance of Leo the Lion.)

"JOURNEY'S END" (Tiffany)
HAMRICK'S "MUSIC BOX"—(1,835), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Fox Movietone news, Vitaphone acts. Gross: $14,400. Rating: 140%.

"ANYBODY'S WAR" (Paramount)
PORTLAND PARAMOUNT—(3,068), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Mme. Rubenstein beauty parlor in lobby. On stage: "Varieties of 1930," Phil Lampkin and band, Fred Sanbon, Elsie Rythm Girls, exploitation. Gross: $13,300. Rating: 135%.

"LET US BE GAY" (M-G-M) 2nd Week
FOX UNITED ARTIST—(945), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Metro Acts, Hollywood Varieties, Fox news, personal appearance Leo-Lion. Gross: $12,000. Rating: 120%.

"GRUMPY" (Paramount)
RIALTO—(1,498), 35c-50c, 7 days, midnight show. Other attractions: Paramount news, comedy, "Resolutions," Fitzpatrick Travel Talk. Gross: $9,600. Rating: 105%.

"Quiet" Re-Play Breaks State's Record, Omaha

Omaha—Moved to the State for its second week, "All Quiet on the Western Front" set a pace for others to follow when it broke the house record at 200%. The take amounted to $8,700, with the scale boosted from 40 to 60 cents.

As usual here, Ronald Colman didn't fail to do business. His "Raffles" at the Paramount hit 110% for $8,800. "Dawn Patrol" at the Orpheum, aided by Baby Rose Marie and Lander Brothers on the stage, got $15,225, or 105%.

Estimated takings:

"ALL QUIET ON THE WESTERN FRONT" (U.)
STATE—(1,200), 35c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Universal news, comedy and novelty. Gross: $8,700. Rating: 200%.

"RAFFLES" (Para.)
PARAMOUNT—(2,900), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Universal news, organ, shorts. Gross: $8,800. Rating: 110%.

"DAWN PATROL" (F.N.)
ORPHEUM—(3,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Baby Rose Marie, topping four act RKO bill, Pathe news, shorts. Gross: $15,225. Rating: 105%.

"A YOUNG MAN FROM WYOMING" (Para.)
WORLD—(2,500), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Bert Gordon on the stage with two Publix acts, house ballet, Billy Meyers and band, Paramount news, shorts. Gross: $9,500. Rating: 100%.

Windstorm a la Hollywood

Our ever-productive spy service in Hollywood reports that an author out there was reading to his producers the dialogue he had written for a picture. He came to a point where one of the characters was supposed to say "Chester, you are a buffoon." Here one of the executives held up his hand. "We got to change that," he said. "Nobody would know what a buffoon was; maybe sailors would, but not the average man." This confounded the author, but he gathered himself and asked "Why sailors?" "They're always running into them, ain't they?" explained the producer. "Whirlwinds, cyclones, buffoons..."

New Yorker.

Montreal 'Frogs' Get Behind All French Program

Montreal—One week of all-French pictures at the Capitol was plenty—but it was okay as a novelty and experiment combined. A French feature, "Un Trou de le Mur," sponsored by Paramount, and French shorts brought $12,000 to the box office, mostly from French-speaking residents, and this represented 85%.

"Song O' My Heart" was not considered good enough for a hold-over at the Palace, although it did register $14,500 (100%) including a midnight preview at 75c. The local surprise of the week was the decision to continue "One Embarrassing Night" at the Princess for a week after it had been ballyhooed as the best British film comedy of the year. It clicked at $9,300 at that, meaning 95%. "Around the Corner" was the strong point at the Imperial for $7,800 or 90%. Weather was cool and fair.

Estimated takings:

"UN TROU DE LE MUR" (French-Para.)
CAPITOL—(2,670), 40c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Amies de Pension," (comedy); "Clowneries," (comedy); "Clinque Musicale," (French novelty); orchestra directed by Cherniavsky. Gross: $12,000. Rating: 85%.

"SONG O' MY HEART" (Fox)
PALACE—(2,600), 25c-99c, 7 days. Other attractions: Movietone news, comedy, cartoon reel. Gross: $14,500 (extra midnight show). Rating: 100%.

"ONE EMBARRASSING NIGHT" (M-G-M)
PRINCESS—(2,272), 25c-75c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Chinatown Fantasy," (mus.cal reel); cartoon comedy, Metrotone news, Universal news. Gross: $9,300. Rating: 95%. (Held over.)

"PRINCE OF DIAMONDS" (Columbia)
LOEW'S—(3,000), 40c-99c, 7 days. Other attractions: Five vaudeville acts, Pathe news, cartoon comedy, Edmund Sanborn Symphonists. Gross: $12,500. Rating: 85%.

"AROUND THE CORNER" (Columbia)
IMPERIAL—(1,650), 40c-85c, 7 days. Other attractions: Six RKO vaudeville acts, Paramount news. Gross: $7,800. Rating: 90%.

"MEDICINE MAN" (Tiffany)
STRAND—(750), 25c-44c, 7 days. Other attractions: "Second Floor Mystery," (Warners) double feature; Lloyd Hamilton comedy. Gross: $4,800. Rating: 80%.

Powell's Next "New Morals"

Hollywood—"New Morals," by Frederick Lonsdale, will serve as William Powell's next starring vehicle, Paramount officials have announced. Ludwig Berger will direct the talker upon completion of the French production, "La Petit Cafe," which stars Maurice Chevalier. Powell is expected back from his European trip within the next few weeks.

Battle of Red Tape Is Waged In Vancouver

Vancouver—While three Vancouver theatres have been "officially" closed by Joseph Walter, provincial censor, acting on the advice of the fire marshal that they were operating with men not properly licensed, these houses are still doing business.

Through the situation, which assumes proportions of a deadlock, runs a length of red tape which is rapidly tying itself into a firm official knot.

Fire Marshal Thomas, who issued the order, stated responsibility for further action rested with the chief of police. The chief had been notified in writing. It was more or less a test case, he said.

Hector Quagliotti-Romano, owner of the Colonial, which with the Royal and Columbia came under the closing order, closed his show in the forenoon, following receipt of the order. He reopened on legal advice and intends to continue operating, he said.

Refused to Sign Contract

John Dawson, president of the Independent Theatres Owners' Association, declared the suspension directed against the three theatres arose out of the action of the American Federation of Labor in ordering a walkout of projectionists from independent theatres when the owners refused demands that they sign a year's contract.

"About four months ago, a committee of our association sent to Victoria and gained the permission of the provincial government to use second-class projectionists as assistants to first-class operators in houses of 17½ amperage, and third-class men with second-class operators in houses under this amperage," Dawson explained.

"However, Thomas rescinded the permission and we have been operating according to his dictate until the emergency of the walkout forced the independent houses to fall back on the privilege granted earlier by the government, when the owners were unable to get in touch with Thomas.

Resent U. S. Interference

"We did not feel that we could sign the contracts demanded by the union as we have been paying the men their own scale of wages and most of them have been employed for the past 15 years without contracts. We think the suspension order does not show a fair spirit to the smaller theatre owners and we have wired the lieutenant-governor to intercede. We do not want to cut wages, but we want regulations to allow us to operate our own theatres without the American Federation of Labor dictating our policy from across the line," Dawson declared.

"I have no desire to cut wages of my operators, but I absolutely refuse to tie up with a year's contract when the trend of the picture business at the present time does not warrant such procedure. I have been paying $260 per week for four first-class operators when only two first-class men and two helpers are needed."

Here's the Makings

One of the country's best—and most respected—press agents described to a NEWS reporter the ideal press agent as one who, "regardless of salary, first becomes a loyal and faithful member of the newspaper fraternity before he strives to successfully serve his employer." If he doesn't measure up to a "faithful and loyal" standard in newspaper row, then his word on a yarn isn't worth the "powder to blow it across the street," said this p. a.

Double Run of Marx Film Takes Top Boston Kale

Boston—The Four Marx brothers in "Animal Crackers" pushed the Publix Uptown and Olympia theatres well above par with ratings of 115% and 120% for the week and a total gross from the two houses of $31,500.

The sudden change from hot to unseasonably cold weather had no great effect on box office receipts, town enjoying its second big week in succession at all theatres. Another week here with similar grosses will turn August from the customary category into one of the best months of the entire year.

"Little Accident" which threatened box office marks during its first week at Keith Memorial, was held over for a second week and did a business of $24,000 for 105%. This is only the second film which has been held for an extra week since this theatre opened two years ago.

"Dawn Patrol" which netted the day-and-date Olympia and Uptown theatre the previous week on the same sum as is credited to "Animal Crackers" this week, was shifted to the Scollay Square where it rated 100% for a $14,000 gross. Paramount's "Grumpy" hit 110% for $33,500.

Estimated takings:

"GRUMPY" (Para.)

METROPOLITAN—(4,350), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Publix revue, "Garden of Girls"; comedy, Paramount news, lounge dancing. Gross: $33,500. Rating: 110%.

"FALL GUY" (RKO)

KEITH-ALBEE—(2,500), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaudeville, RKOlians, Sportlight, Pathe news. Gross: $21,000. Rating: 115%.

"LITTLE ACCIDENT" (Univ.)

KEITH MEMORIAL—(2,800), 30c-65c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, Sportlight, Pathe news. Gross: $24,000. Rating: 105%. (Second week.)

"WAY OUT WEST" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S STATE—(3,700), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Our Gang comedy, Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $22,000. Rating: 110%.

"OUR BLUSHING BRIDES" (M-G-M)

LOEW'S ORPHEUM—(3,100), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaudeville, comedy, Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $21,000. Rating: 105%.

"DAWN PATROL" (F. N.)

SCOLLAY SQUARE—(1,800), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Vaudeville, comedy, Hearst Metrotone news. Gross: $14,000. Rating: 100%.

"ANIMAL CRACKERS" (Para.)

(Playing day and date with Uptown)

OLYMPIA—(2,500), 25c-50c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, cartoon, Paramount news. Gross: $18,000. Rating: 120%.

"ANIMAL CRACKERS" (Para.)

(Playing day and date with Olympia)

UPTOWN—(2,000), 25c-60c, 7 days. Other attractions: Comedy, cartoon, Paramount news. Gross: $13,500. Rating: 115%

Draws Audience From 100 Mile Radius in West

Hollywood—Theatre managers whose heavy competition is generally only a few blocks away should envy some of the exhibitors in Arizona.

Out there 100 miles is just a nice evening's ride.

At Winslow, J. H. Pike operates the Rialto, a neat little Publix house.

His nearest competition to the west is Flagstaff, 60 miles away. The nearest on the east is Gallup, N. M., 140 miles away. There is no competition to the north, as the Utah line lies 200 miles distant with no towns between, and Phoenix on the south is across the mountains, which prohibit much travel.

Pike states that it is a daily occurrence to see a family from some trading post or village 100 miles away draw up at the theatre in time for the first show.

Speedy Patrons

"They merely eat their dinner an hour earlier, leap into the family flivver and scoot across the desert at 60 per. The kids sleep on the way home and every one has a great time," Pike stated.

Roy Drachman at Tucson has much the same sort of clientele. He has several regular customers to whom he mails weekly programs in Nogales, 60 miles away, Bisbee, 104 miles distant, and other mining centers equidistant. Drachman and Pike both stated that a portion of the audience was usually made up of cowpunchers who in their high-heeled boots and 12-gallon hats were the counterparts of those they saw on the screen.

They seemed to enjoy most the riding and thrills provided by the actors who mimic their own lives. The average life of a cowhand is pretty dull and the lads get a kick out of seeing their Hollywood "cousins" thwart the villains and rescue the fair damsels.

Hop for the Hopis

Drachman related that one of the biggest kicks he has had was when he showed "Way Out West" a few weeks ago. In one sequence two Hopi Indians are shown conversing rapidly. The Hopis in the audience rocked with laughter at what their tribesmen said. More Hopis came for the next showing and by the final run of the picture every Hopi in the vicinity had viewed the scene and laughed throughout the remainder of the film.

None of them would disclose to Drachman what it was that the screen Indians had said to each other, but from the reaction the manager figured it must be some crack about the silly white people and their picture making.

Former Showman a Suicide

St. Louis—Frank Calhoun, 73, former owner of the Robin, committed suicide here. Despondency due to business reverses was the cause attributed.

Distributor Draft of Proposed Contract

HERE is the final text of distributors' proposed standard licensing agreement, completed by them following the Atlantic City meetings of the "5-5-5" conference, held early in July, at which proposed changes in the agreement were drafted by distributors, the M. P. T. O. A. and Allied States Association. There still are a number of controversial points to be settled, it is understood.

There are two forms to the agreement, a "long" and "short." The former, appearing below, is immediately followed by the "short" agreement:

Agreement of license under copyright of the motion pictures distributed by the distributor for exhibition at the theatre of the exhibitor respectively named and specified in a Short Form License Agreement (hereinafter referred to as the Short Form) containing the Schedule hereinafter referred to, and in which Short Form by reference hereto there shall be deemed incorporated and made a part thereof all of the provisions of this Standard License Agreement as if therein fully set forth. This agreement of License and said Short Form shall be for all purposes deemed one complete and single instrument.

WARRANTY AS TO FORM

The distributor warrants that this license agreement contains all of the provisions of the twenty-six (26) numbered articles of the "Standard License Agreement" recommended by the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc.; the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America and the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors, an authenticated copy of which has been filed with each of said organizations. That any and all additional provisions are not inconsistent with or in contradiction of the provisions of said numbered articles and are printed or written in the Schedule of the Short Form under the caption "Added Articles"; and that any such added provision shall be deemed to have been so added after the date of the recommendation of this form of Standard License Agreement, to conform with the distributor's own business policy.

LICENSE AND TIME AND PLACE OF EXHIBITION

First: Subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter stated, and those specified in the Short Form in which by reference hereto all the provisions hereof shall be deemed incorporated therein, the distributor hereby grants to the exhibitor and the exhibitor accepts a limited license under the respective copyrights of the motion pictures designated and described in the Schedule of the said Short Form all the provisions of print shall be deemed to include the records, discs and any other device which by this reference thereto are made a part hereof as if herein fully set forth; and if in such Short Form it is provided that this license is for sound motion pictures, under any copyright of any matter included in any sound recorded therefor, to exhibit publicity said motion pictures and to reproduce for public performances such recorded sound in synchronism therewith, but only at the said theatre for the number of successive days and for the sums in the said Schedule specified and for no other use or purpose. Each such license so to reproduce such recorded sound is granted upon the exhibitor's express warranty and upon condition (a) that the sound reproducing equipment in the said theatre will operate reliably and efficiently to reproduce such recorded sound with adequate volume and high quality whether recorded upon a print or upon records, discs or other similar devices; and (b) if copyrighted musical compositions are included in such recorded sound, the exhibitor now has or will have at the date or dates of the exhibition of each of such motion pictures and the reproduction of such recorded sound, an effective license from the copyright proprietor or from any licensee of the copyright proprietor to peform publicly the said copyrighted musical compositions. The distributor reserves the right to record the sound for reproduction in synchronism with the exhibition of said motion pictures or any of them on the print thereof or on records or discs as the distributor may from time to time determine, provided that if the sound reproducing equipment in said theatre will reproduce sound recorded only on prints or only on discs, as represented and specified by the exhibitor in the Short Form, then upon written notice to the exhibitor of the recording of such sound only by means other than that specified in the Short Form, the exhibitor shall have the right to cancel this license agreement as to all motion pictures affected by such other method of recording upon written notice to such effect given to the distributor not later than fourteen (14) days after the receipt by the exhibior of he said notice of the distributor and upon the giving of such notice by the exhibitor the license as to each such picture shall terminate and revert to the distrihutor. If, however, the sound reproducing equipment in said theatre is thereafter during the term hereof changed by the exhibitor and as then changed reproduces sound recorded by such other method of recording, the exhibitor's notice of cancellation shall be deemed revoked and the license of the said motion pictures affected thereby reinstated upon written notice to such effect by the distributor, provided that said motion pictures shall not have been in the meantime licensed to another exhibitor for the same run in the same locality as that granted to the exhibitor and specified in the Short Form.

If more than one theatre is designated no motion picture is licensed hereunder for exhibition at more than one of such theatres unless otherwise specifically agreed upon in the Short Form.

Provided this license is for sound motion pictures and the recorded sound is not recorded upon a print, all references hereinafter made to a upon which sound is recorded for reproduction in synchronism with the exhibition of a print.

PAYMENT UPON PERCENTAGE BASIS

SECOND: (a) If the license fee or any part thereof, of any of said motion pictures shall be computed upon the exhibitor's receipts, or any part thereof, the exhibitor shall deliver to the distributor at the end of each day's exhibition a correct itemized statement of the gross receipts of said theatre for admission thereto upon the exhibition date or dates of each motion picture for which payment is so required to be made, signed by the exhibitor or the exhibitor's manager and the exhibitor's cashier or treasurer, which statement shall include such additional facts and figures, if required in the Schedule, for the determination of the license fee. Should the distributor so require, such itemized statement shall be made upon forms furnished by the distributor. Upon the exhibition date or dates of each motion picture an authorized representative of the distrihutor is hereby given the right to verify the sale of all tickets of admission to said theatre, and the receipts therefrom; and for such purpose shall have access to the theatre, including the box office, and also the right to examine all entries relating to such gross receipts and such facts and figures in all the exhihitor's books and records, and if hereunder it is provided that the exhibitor make certain expenditures and/or deductions, to examine all entries relating to such expenditures and/or deductions. The distributor, or its authorized representative, also shall have access for a period of four (4) months after the receipt by the distributor of each such statement, to all entries in all of the exhibitor's books and records relating to such gross receipts, expenditures and/or deductions and such facts and figures for the purpose of verifying such statement. The distributor agrees, unless such representative is an employee of the distributor or employed as a checker, not to employ as a representative for such purpose any person a resident of or employed in the place where the said theatre is located, other than a person engaged in business as an accountant. The distributor agrees that any information obtained pursuant to the provisions of this clause will be treated as confidential, excepting in any arbitration proceeding or litigation in respect to this license.

LIQUIDATED DAMAGES FOR BREACH IF LICENSED UPON PERCENTAGE BASIS

(h) If the license fee or any part thereof, of any of said motion pictures shall be computed either in whole or in part, upon a percentage of the admission receipts of said theatre or any part thereof or upon a percentage of such receipts and a fixed sum and if the exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit any such motion picture as herein provided, the exhibitor shall pay to the distributor as liquidated damages for each day that the exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such motion picture, a sum equal to such percentage of the average daily gross receipts of such theatre during the period of thirty (30) operating days immediately prior to the date or dates when said motion picture should have been so exhibited, hereunder or, as the case may be, equal to such percentage of said average daily gross receipts plus such fixed sum provided, however, that if the exhibitor shall exhibit such motion picture for less than the full number of days provided for in the Short Form, for each day less than the said full number of days, the sum equal to sixty-five per cent (65%) of the gross receipts of said theatre during the last day of the exhibition thereat of such motion picture. A sworn statement of the said daily gross receipts shall be delivered by the exhibitor to the distributor upon demand therefor.

TERM

THIRD: The term of this agreement shall begin with the date fixed or determined as hereinafter provided for the exhibition at the said theatre of the first motion picture deliverable heerunder and shall continue for a period of one year thereafter unless otherwise in the Short Form provided; or unless any of the motion pictures shall not be available for exhibition hereunder during said period of one year by reason of the provisions of Article Eighth hereof, then the said one year term shall be deemed to be extended to the date of the expiration of the period of protection, if any, granted in respect to the last of said motion pictures deliverable hereunder and if no period of protection shall have been granted then to the last date of exhibition hereunder of such last motion picture.

DELIVERY AND EXHIBITION OF PRINTS

FOURTH: (a) The distributor agrees during the term of the license and within a reasonable time after each of said motion pictures is generally released for public exhibition and become available for exhibition by the exhibitor hereunder to deliver to the exhibitor a print in physical condition for exhibition, and if the license is for sound motion pictures, which will clearly reproduce the recorded sound in synchronism therewith, and the exhibitor agrees to exhibit such print of each of said motion pictures upon the date or dates during said term as herein provided. Such date or dates so fixed or determined shall be for all purposes the exhibition date or dates of each such motion picture as though definitely specified in the Short Form before execution thereof by the exhibitor.

GENERAL AND PRE-RELEASE

(b) The public exhibition of any of said motion pictures for three (3) consecutive days at prices customarily and usually charged for admission to the theatre where so exhibited in the territory wherein is located the exchange out of which the exhibitor is served, excepting any "road show," "tryout," "preview," or "pre-release" exhibitions thereof, shall be deemed the general release for puhlic exhibition of such motion picture but only in such territory. A "pre-release" exhibition shall be deemed any exhibition because of seasonal conditions making desirable exhibitions in advance of general release as herein defined.

EXHIBITION IN ORDER OF GENERAL RELEASE

(c) The exhibitor agrees to exhibit each of the motion pictures licensed hereunder in the order of its general release by the distributor in the exchange territory in which the said theatre is located. The exhibitor shall have the right to select any of the motion pictures for exhibition out of the order of its general release, subject to prior runs and/or protections granted other exhibitors, on the date or dates determined as provided in Article Seventh hereof or otherwise agreed upon, but only upon the following conditions (a) that the exhibitor is not in default hereunder and shall have fully complied with all the provisions, if any, set forth in the Short Form for the exhibition of one or more of said motion pictures at specified intervals; and (b) that the distributor and the exhibitor shall then agree upon the date or dates upon which all of the motion pictures generally released prior to the general release of such motion pictures and available for exhibition hereunder shall be exhibited by the exhibitor, which date or dates shall be within thirty days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release; or in the alternative the exhibitor shall then pay to the distributor the license fee for each of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder, and as to any thereof which shall not be exhibited by the exhibitor within thirty days from the first exhibition date of the motion picture to be exhibited out of the order of its general release, the grant of the run and protection period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the exhibitor. Upon the failure or refusal of the exhibitor to exhibit any of such motion pictures then generally released and available for exhibition hereunder within said thirty days period or to pay the license fee thereof, the right of the exhibitor to thereafter select for exhibition any motion picture out of the order of its general release shall be forfeited. The provisions of this paragraph (c) shall not be deemed to limit or qualify the provisions of Article Seventh hereof excepting as in this paragraph (c) specifically provided.

DELIVERY BY DISTRIBUTOR

FIFTH: The Distributor shall make deliveries hereunder to the Exhibitor, or the Exhibitor's authorized agent, by delivery at the Distributor's exchange, or to a common carrier, or to the United States Postal Authorities. If deliveries are made to a carrier they shall be made in accordance with the carrier's delivery schedule in time to reach the place where the said theatre is located in sufficient time for inspection and projection before the usual time for the opening of the said theatre.

120 Day Limit Listed on Available Films

ACCEPTANCE

SIXTH: Unless notice of acceptance of this application by the distributor is sent to the exhibitor by mail or telegraph within the number of days after the date thereof hereinafter specified (immediately following the name of the city wherein is situated the exchange of the distributor from which th exhibitor is served, or if such city is not hereinafter named then within the number of days specified immediately following the city hereinafter named nearest thereto) said application shall be deemed withdrawn and the distributor shall forthwith return any sums paid on account thereof by the exhibitor. Albany, 10; Atlanta, 20; Boston, 10; Buffalo, 10; Charleston, 15; Charlotte, 15; Chicago, 15; Cincinnati, 20; Cleveland, 15; Dallas, 30; Denver, 20; Des Moines, 15; Detroit, 15; Indianapolis, 15; Jacksonville, 15; Kansas City, 15; Los Angeles, 25 Little Rock, 15; Louisville, 15; Memphis, 20; Milwaukee, 15; Northern New Jersey, 7; Minneapolis, 20; Butte, 30; New Haven, 10; New Orleans, 15; New York City, 7; Oklahoma City, 20; Omaha, 20; Peoria, 15; Philadelphia, 10; Pittsburgh, 14; Portland, Ore., 30; St. Louis, 15; Salt Lake City, 30; San Francisco, 25; Seattle, 30; Washington, D. C., 14.

SELECTION OR DESIGNATION OF PLAYDATES

SEVENTH: The exhibition date or dates of each motion picture unless definitely specified or otherwise provided for in the Short Form or otherwise agreed upon shall be determined as follows:

NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY

1. Subject to prior runs and/or protection granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors and within a reasonable time after a print or prints of any of said motion pictures are received at the exchange of the distributor out of which the exhibitor is served and any such motion picture then being available for exhibition by the exhibitor hereunder the distributor, provided the exhibitor is not in default hereunder, shall mail to the exhibitor a notice in writing of the date when such motion picture will be available for exhibition by the exhibitor, such date being hereinafter referred to as the "available date." Such notice shall be mailed to the exhibitor at least fifteen days before the "available date" therein specified.

SELECTION BY EXHIBITOR

2. The exhibitor shall within fourteen days after the mailing of such notice select the exhibition date or dates, within the period commencing with the available date and ending thirty days thereafter, by giving to the distributor written notice of the date or dates so selected. If the exhibition date or dates so selected by the exhibitor are not open for the exhibitor because such date or dates have been previously assigned to another or other exhibitors then the exhibition date or dates shall be determined as provided in the following paragraphs (a) and (b).

(a). If other dates within said thirty day period are open the exhibitor shall immediately select from such other open dates another date or other dates, failing to do so then the distributor shall have the right to designate such date or dates within the period beginning not earlier than two weeks and ending not later than six weeks from the date first selected by the exhibitor and written notice thereof shall be given or mailed the exhibitor fourteen (14) days before the date so designated by the distributor.

(b). If no other date or dates within the said thirty day period are open then the exhibitor shall designate the date or dates which shall be within the period beginning not earlier than two weeks and ending not later than six weeks from the last day of the said thirty day period and written notice thereof shall be immediately given or mailed to the distributor by the exhibitor. If the exhibitor fails to so designate such date or dates then the distributor shall have the right to make such designation within the same period and written notice thereof shall be mailed to the exhibitor fourteen days before the date so designated by the distributor.

FAILURE TO EXHIBIT

3. If the exhibition date or dates of any motion picture are not selected by the exhibitor as hereinbefore provided or otherwise agreed upon or the exhibitor fails or refuses to exhibit such motion picture on the date or dates designated by the distributor if designated as provided in paragraphs "a" and "b" hereof then the sum or sums payable hereunder for the license to exhibit such motion picture forthwith shall become due and payable and the grant, if any, of the run and/or protection period in respect to such motion picture shall be deemed revoked with the right to the exhibitor if such payment has been made to exhibit such motion picture hereunder upon written request mailed or delivered to the distributor within sixty days after the available date therefor upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or protection period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors; failing to make such request within said period of time the license of such motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the distributor. Nothing contained in this paragraph 3 shall deprive the exhibitor of the right to offer, upon the hearing or trial of any controversy arising hereunder, competent evidence in mitigation of damages.

FIRST RUN EXHIBITIONS

EIGHTH: (a) If in the Short Form the exhibitor is granted a first run of the said motion pictures, the exhibitor shall exhibit each of the feature motion pictures excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Article within the period beginning with the date scheduled and announced by the distributor for the general release of each feature motion picture in the territory wherein is located the exchange of the distributor out of which the exhibitor is served and ending one hundred and twenty (120) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Article Seventh hereof to the contrary. If the first exhibition date of any of the said motion pictures shall occur on a date later than ninety (90) days after its scheduled and announced general release date, then the period of protection of such motion picture shall be reduced so as to expire one hundrd and twenty (120) days after said scheduled date of its general release. Upon the failure of the exhibitor to exhibit any feature motion picture within said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days, the grant of the said first run and the protection period in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith becom due and payahle to the distributor, with the right to the exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Article provided.

SECOND RUN EXHIBITIONS

(b) If in the Short Form the exhibitor is granted a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the first run thereof immediately prior to such second run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Article within the said period of one hundred and twenty (120) days specified in Paragraph (a) of this Article, the exhibitor shall exhibit each such feature motion picture within the period beginning with the date of the expiration of the said one hundred and twenty (120) days period and ending fourteen (14) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Article Seventh hereof to the contrary. Upon the failure of the exhibitor to exhibit any such feature motion picture within said fourteen (14) days period the grant of such second run and the protection period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the exhibitor and the license fee as to such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the distributor with the right to the exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Article provided.

SUBSEQUENT RUNS EXHIBITIONS

(c) If in the Short Form the exhibitor is granted a run subsequent to a second run of the said motion pictures and any other exhibitor having been granted the second run thereof immediately prior to such subsequcnt run fails to exhibit any of the feature motion pictures, excepting those described in Paragraph (d) of this Article within the said period of fourteen (14) days specified in Paragraph (b) of this Article the exhibitor shall exhibit each feature motion picture within the period heginning with the date of the expiration of the said fourteen day period and ending seven (7) days thereafter, notwithstanding any provision of Article Seventh hereof to the contrary. Upon the failure of the exhibitor to exhibit any such feature motion picture within said seven (7) day period, the grant of such subsequent run and the protection period if any in respect thereof shall be deemed waived by the exhibitor and the license fee as tc such feature motion picture shall thereupon forthwith become due and payable to the distributor with the right to the exhibitor to exhibit such feature motion picture as hereinafter in Paragraph (e) of this Article provided.

EXTENDED RUNS

(d) Any of the motion pictures which shall have been exhibited at any theatre in the said territory for more than one show week prior to the run in the Short Form granted the exhibitor shall be excepted from the provisions of this Article and of Paragraph (h) of Article Fourth.

EXHIBITION AFTER REVOCATION OF RUN AND PROTECTION

(e) Upon the revocation of the grant of the run and/or the protection period of any feature motion picture as provided in Paragraphs (a), (b) or (c) of this Article, the exhibitor upon payment of the sum or sums payable hereunder as provided in this Article for the license to exhibit such feature motion picture, shall have the right to exhibit the same hereunder upon a date or dates not in conflict with any run and/or protection period granted or hereafter granted to other exhibitors, upon written request mailed or delivered to the distributor within sixty (60) days after the last date upon which such feature motion picture should have been exhibited by the exhibitor as provided in this Article. Failing to make such request within said period of sixty (60) days the license to exhibit such feature motion picture granted hereunder shall terminate and revert to the distributor.

ASSIGNMENT UPON SALE OF THEATRE

NINTH: This license shall not be assigned by either party without the written consent of the other, provided, that if the exhibitor sells the said theatre or transfers any interest therein and is not in default hereunder, the exhibitor may assign this license to the purchaser of the theatre or of such interest without the written consent of the disiributor but any such assignment shall not be valid or of any effect hereunder unless a written acceptance thereof by the assignee assuming the obligations of the exhibitor shall be delivered to the distributor. Any such assignment shall not release the exhibitor from any liability hereunder unless such release from liability is consented to by the distributor in writing.

VERBAL PROMISES; CHANGES IN WRITING

TENTH: This license agreement is complete and all promises, representations, understandings and agreements in reference thereto have been expressed herein.

No change or modification hereof or changes in or modification of the Short Form shall be binding upon the distributor unless in writing signed by an officer of or any person duly authorized by the distributor at its main office in New York City, excepting in an emergency and only then a change or modification may be consented to in writing but only by the representative of the distributor managing the distributor's exchange out of which the exhibitor is served provided such change or modification does not change or modify the run, and/or protection period, or decrease any license fee specified in the Short Form.

RETURN OF PRINTS BY EXHIBITOR

ELEVENTH: The exhibitor shall promptly after the last exhibition on the last date of the license period of each motion picture return the print thereof, with the reels and containers furnished therewith, to the distributor's exchange or deliver the same to a carrier designated or used by the distributor for delivery to such exchange or as otherwise directed by written instructions of the distributor for delivery to another exhibitor in each case adequately valued or insured and the exhibitor shall pay all transportation charges but not exceeding a sum equal to the cost of transporting a print from the distrihutor's exchange to the exhibitor and returning it to the distributor's exchange and if insured all insurance charges therefor.

LOSS OF OR DAMAGE TO PRINTS

TWELFTH: The exhibitor shall immediately notify the distributor's exchange by telegram of the loss, theft, destruction of or damage to any print and the exhibitor shall pay to the distributor a sum equal to the cost of replacement at the distributor's exchange for each linear foot thereof and if this license is for sound motion pictures for each record and for each record case, lost, stolen, destroyed or damaged in any way in the interval between the delivery to and the return thereof by the exhibitor. The exhibitor shall not be liable for the damage to or destruction of any print provided such damage or destruction occurred while in transit from the exhibitor and provided that such print was adequately valued or insured by the exhibitor. Provided the exhibitor is not in default hereunder the distributor shall at the option of the exhibitor repay or credit to the exhibitor any sum so paid for a lost or sto'en print, excepting "news reels," upon the return thereof to the distributor within sixty days after the date when the same should have been returned hereunder. All claims by the exhibitor on account of the condition or the late or non-arrival of a print, or by the distributor because of damage thereto by the exhibitor shall be barred hereunder unless any such claim if made by the exhihitor, shall be mdae by a telegram setting forth fully the condition complained of sent by the exhibitor to the distributor prior to the second public exhibition thereof, or if delivery of a print has heen dclayed, within one hour of its arrival; if any such claim is made by the distributor unless a notice in writing by the distributor is sent to the exhibitor within forty-eight (48) hours, Sundays excepted, of the receipt by the distributor of a damaged print or of a notice by another exhibitor that a print was rceeived by such other exhibitor in a damaged condition.

DESCRIPTION

THIRTEENTH: The distributor shall have and hereby rcserves the right in

Cancellation for "Little Fellows" Granted

the sole discretion of the distributor to change the title of any of the motion pictures specified in the Schedule, to make changes in, alterations and adaptations of any story, book or play and to substitute for any thereof any other story, book or play excepting for those based upon a well known named book or play.

The distributor also shall have the right to change the director, the cast or any member thereof of any of said motion pictures but the exhibitor shall not be required to accept for any feature motion picture described in the Short Form as that of a named star or star combination or as the production of a named director or as that of a well known named book or play any feature motion picture of any other star or the production of any other director or of any other book or play as the case may be.

REISSUES

FOURTEENTH: The distributor warrants that none of the licensed feature motion pictures are reissues of old negatives, old negatives retitled, or foreign produced by a foreign producer, excepting those specifically set forth as such in the Short Form.

ADVERTISING

FIFTEENTH: The distributor warrants that the said motion pictures will not contain any advertising matter for which compensation is received by the distributor.

CUTTING OR ALTERATION OF PRINTS

SIXTEENTH: The exhibitor shall exhibit each print in its entirety and shall not copy, duplicate, subrent or part with possession of any print. The exhibitor shall not cut or alter any print, excepting to make necessary repairs thereto, or when required by any duly constituted public official or authority or with the written or telegraphic consent of the distributor. The exhibitor however may cut the print of a news reel. The exhibitor shall return each print in the same condition as received, reasonable wear only excepted.

ADVERTISING ACCESSORIES

SEVENTEENTH: The exhibitor shall not lease or sell any advertising accessories purchased from the distributor by the exhibitor for use in connection with the exhibition of any of said motion pictures.

PROTECTION AND RUN

EIGHTEENTH: The run and protection period, if any, granted the exhibitor shall be specified in the Short Form; and if a protection period granted shall affect alike two or more theatres a waiver of such protection period by the exhibitor as to any one of such theatres shall be deemed to be a waiver of such protection period as to all such theatres. The distributor shall not grant a license to exhibit any of said motion pictures for exhibition on a date prior to the "run" or prior to the expiration of the "protection period" if any in the Short Form specified at any theatre named in the Short Form or within the territorial limits therein specified. Such period of protection as to each of said motion pictures shall be computed from the last date of the exhibition thereof licensed hereunder. If protection is granted against a named theatre or theatres indicating that it is the intention of the distributor to grant such protection against all theatres in the immediate vicinity of the exhibitor's theatre then unless otherwise provided in the Short Form, such protection shall include any theatre in such vicinity thereafter erected or opened.

ADVERTISING PRIOR TO FIRST RUN

NINETEENTH: If the exhibitor is granted a second or subsequent "run" of the said motion pictures the exhibitor shall not advertise any thereof by any means of advertising prior to or during the exhibition of any one of said motion pictures by any other exhibitor having the right to the first or a prior run thereof and charging admission prices higher than the prices charged for admission to the exhibitor's theatre, excepting advertising inside the theatre not intended for removal therefrom by the public, unless the first date of exhibition hereunder of any such motion picture shall be within fifteen days from the last exhibition date of such first or prior run exhibition, in which case the exhibitor shall have the right to advertise the exhibition of such motion picture but shall not in any advertising thereof announce or state that the prices charged for admission are or will be less than the admission prices charged by the exhibitor having the first or prior run of such motion picture. Nothing in this Article contained shall be deemed to prohibit the exhibitor from advertising generally all of said motion pictures as a group but such general advertising shall not refer to any one of said motion pictures during its exhibition by any other exhibitor having the first or immediately prior run thereof, excepting as herein provided. For a breach of the provisions of this paragraph the distrihutor shall have in addition to all other rights the right to exclude and except from this license any motion picture advertised in violation of the provisions hereof hy written notice to such effect mailed to the exhibitor and upon the mailing of such notice the license of such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the distributor.

TAXES

TWENTIETH: The exhibitor shall pay to the distributor upon demand, any tax, feee or other like charge now and/or hereafter imposed or based upon the delivery and/or the exhibition of prints of motion pictures and/or upon the sums payable under this license by the exhibitor to the distributor. If under any statute or ordinance any such tax, fee or other like charge is or shall be payable or paid by the distributor and the exact amount payable hereunder by the exhibitor is not therein definitely fixed or cannot be exactly determined, then the exhibitor shall pay such part of any such tax, fee or other like charge paid or payable by the distributor as shall be fixed in the manner determined by the then President of the American Arbitration Association.

ADMISSION CHARGE

TWENTY-FIRST: The exhibitor during the whole of the license period of each of the motion pictures shall charge each adult for admission to said theatre not less than the sum of ten cents unless a greater minimum admission charge is herein elsewhere specified. If during any such period less than said sum of ten cents or such greater minimum charge is charged for admission to said theatre, the distributor, in addition to all other rights, shall have the right at the option of the distributor to immediately terminate the license of the motion picture then being exhibited by written notice to such effect and upon the giving of such notice the license of such motion picture shall forthwith terminate and revert to the distributor.

PREVENTION OF PERFORMANCE

TWENTY-SECOND: If the exhibitor shall be prevented from exhibiting or the distributor from delivering any of the said motion pictures for causes beyond their direct control then this license in respect to each such motion picture shall terminate and revert to the distributor without liability on the part of either party provided reasonable written notice of such termination and the cause thereof is given.

PICTURES NOT GENERALLY RELEASED

TWENTY-THIRD: If any one or more of said motion pictures excepting the motion pictures which may be "roadshown," shall not be generally released by the distributor for distribution in the United States during the period specified in the Short Form each such motion picture shall be excluded from this license unless the exhibitor shall give written notice to the distributor not later than thirty days after the end of said period that the exhibitor elects to exhibit hereunder all such motion pictures. If written notice of such election be given as aforesaid, the distributor shall deliver and the exhibitor shall exhibit each such motion picture when available for exhibition hereunder excepting that any thereof not so "generally released" within two years after the end of said period shall be also excepted and excluded from this license. The distributor shall have the right to exhibit or license the exhibition of any motion picture so excepted and excluded when and where desired by the distributor and all claims of the exhibitor in respect thereof are hereby expressly waived by the exhibitor.

OPTION TO EXCLUDE IF GROUP LICENSED

TWENTY-FOURTH: Provided the exhibitor is not in default hereunder and shall have fully complied with all of the provisions, if any, set forth in the Short Form for the exhibition of one or more of the feature motion pictures licensed hereunder at specified intervals and not less than twenty feature motion pictures have been licensed hereunder at one time, the exhibitor shall have the right to exclude from this license not to exceed five (5%) per cent of the total number of the feature motion pictures so licensed but only upon the following conditions: (a) that the license fee of each feature motion picture licensed hereunder including the score charge, if any, averages less than $251.00 or if the license fee of each feature motion picture is to be computed upon a percentage of the receipts or any part thereof of the exhibitor's theatre, that the license fee of each of such feature motion pictures exhibited at said theatre during the term hereof shall have averaged less than the sum of $251.00; (b) that the exhibitor shall give to the distributor written notice of the exhibitor's election to exclude any of said feature motion pictures not later than fourteen days before the date or dates fixed for its exhibition hereunder and at the same time shall pay to the distributor the license fee therefor specified in the schedule, unless such license fee is to be computed upon a percentage of the receipts of the exhibitor's theatre in which case no license fee or score charge, if any, need be paid to the distributor as a condition for excluding such feature motion picture; excepting as hereinafter in this paragraph provided; and (c) that if the license fee computed upon a percentage of the receipts or any part thereof the exhibitor's theatre including the score charge of each of the feature motion pictures licensed and exhibited hereunder averages a sum in excess of $250.00 then the exhibitor shall within thirty days after the expiration of the term hereof exhibit hereunder as herein provided each of the feature motion pictures, the license fees of which are to be computed upon a percentage of the said receipts but excluded from this license by the exhibitor pursuant to the provisions of this article; and the exhibitor shall pay to the distributor the license fee therefor.

In computing the said five (5%) per cent of the total number of feature motion pictures licensed hereunder fractions of less than one-half shall be disregarded.

Upon the failure or refusal of the exhibitor to fully and completely comply with each and every condition hereinabove in this article specified and upon which the exhibitor is granted the right to exclude any of the feature motion pictures licensed hereunder, such right to exclude any feature motion picture and thereafter to exclude from this license additional feature motion pictures, shall thereupon forthwith terminate and shall not again be granted hereunder during the term hereof.

Provided that before the expiration of the term of this license agreement the exhibitor shall have exhibited as in this license provided all of the feature motion pictures specified in the Schedule and generally released for public exhibition as defined in Paragraph (b) of Article Fourth hereof excepting those, if any, excluded as provided in this Article and shall have paid to the distributor at the times herein specified, the license fee of each thereof, the distributor within thirty days after the expiration of the term of this license agreement shall pay to the exhibitor a sum equal to the aggregate of the license fees of the feature motion pictures excluded by the exhibitor from this license as provided in this Article paid by the exhibitor to the distributor.

Upon the exclusion of each of the feature motion pictures permitted by the provisions of this Article the run and protection period, if any, granted the exhibitor in respect thereto shall be deemed waived by the exhibitor and the license thereof shall thereupon terminate and revert to the distributor.

RACIAL OR RELIGIOUS SUBJECT MATTER

TWENTY-FIFTH: If the exhibitor shall claim that the exhibition of any motion picture licensed hereunder at the said theatre will be offensive to the public in the place where such theatre is located, because of racial or religious subject matter, and if the exhibitor shall give written notice to the distributor of such claim within a reasonable time prior to the date fixed for the exhibition thereof hereunder, such claim shall be immediately submitted to the Board of Arhitration herein specified. If such Board of Arbitration shall specifically determine that the exhibition of such motion picture at said theatre will be offensive to the said public because of racial or religious subject matter, then such motion picture shall be excepted from the license and the license thereof revert to the distributor. The distributor may exhibit or license the exhibition of any motion picture so excepted when and where desired by the distributor free from all claims of the exhibitor.

If the distributor shall be of the opinion that any motion picture licensed hereunder will be offensive to the puhlic in the place where the exhibitor's theatre is located, because of racial or religious subject matter, the distributor shall have the right to except and exclude such motion picture from this license, upon condition that such motion picture shall not thereafter be licensed for exhibition in such place unless such racial or religious subject matter is eliminated therefrom during the term hereof in which case such motion picture shall again be deemed licensed hereunder.

ROAD SHOWS

TWENTY-SIXTH: The distributor shall have the right to exhibit and/or causé to be exhibited as a "roadshow," at any time prior to the exhibition thereof hereunder, such of the motion pictures licensed hereunder as the distributor may from time to time select and determine, provided, however, that such roadshow exhibitions shall be at theatres at which admission prices for evening performances, during such exhibitions thereof, of not less than one dollar shall be charged for the majority of the orchestra seats, and further provided that, except in the cities of New York and Los Angeles, not more than two of such motion pictures shall be so roadshown.

If any such roadshow exhibition shall be in the city of New York, N. Y., and if the exhibitor's theatre be situated in a territory then served by the distributor's exchange or exchanges located in said City, the distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license any such motion picture (not exceeding in the aggregate two of such motion pictures) so roadshown in said City upon sending written notice to such effect to the exhibitor not later than eight weeks after the commencement of such roadshow exhibition in such City, provided the distributor shall be like notice except and exclude such motion picture from all other license agreements containing this Artiele and licensing the exhibition of such motion pictures in such territory. Such exception and exclusion shall not be affected in case the distributor shall inadvertently omit to send such notice to any of such other exhibitors.

If any such roadshow exhibition shall be in the city of Los Angeles, Cal., and if the exhibitor's theatre be situated in the territory then served by the distributor's exchange or exchanges located in said City, the distributor shall have the right to except and exclude from this license any such motion picture (not exceeding in the aggregate two of such motion pictures) so roadshown in said City, upon the same terms and conditions above provided for the exception and exclusion of motion pictures roadshown in the city of New York.

If and when any such roadshow exhibition (except any roadshow exhibition in New York and/or Los Angeles) shall be in the territory served by the distributor's exchange or exchanges serving the exhibitor's theatre, such motion picture so roadshown in such territory shall forthwith be excepted and excluded from this license. The distributor shall send written notice to that effect, to the exhibitor within fourteen (14) days after such roadshow exhibition commences.

The distributor may so exercise such right to except and exclude any such motion picture from time to time, in the respective territories, as above defined, in the United States. Any motion picture so roadshown in any place in the United States, and not excepted and excluded from this license as aforesaid, shall not be deemed available for exhibition hereunder until after the completion of such roadshowing of such motion picture in the United States, and such motion picture shall be exhibited hereunder as and when available.

For each motion picture that the distributor shall except and exclude, as aforesaid, the exhibitor is hereby granted the option to except and exclude from this license one of the other motion pictures licensed hereunder, but only if the exhibitor shall give to the distributor written notice to such effect not later than fourteen days before the date fixed for the exhibition hereunder of such other motion picture. The distributor may exhibit and/or license the exhibition of any and all motion pictures excepted and exluded from this license by the distributor and/or the exhibitor, as aforesaid, when and where desired by the distributor, free from all claims of the exhibitor in respect thereof and the license of each thereof shall forthwith upon exclusion as hereinbefore provided terminate and revert to the distributor.

Recommendations

The distrihutor and exhibitor organizations before named respectfully recommend to all distributors and exhibitors of motion pictures in the United States the use of the foregoing Standard License Agreement and recommend:

That a copy of every application signed by the exhibitor, be left with the exhibitor at the time of signing and in the event of acceptance as therein provided a duplicate copy signed by the distributor be forwarded to the exhibitor within a reasonable time thereafter.

That in a Short Form License Agreement there be specified (a) whether the license is for the exhibition of sound or silent motion pictures or both; (b) the license fee of each motion picture; (c) the number of days for which each is licensed; (d) the run and protection period, if any, agreed upon; (e) any provision in respect of the exhibition date or dates of the several motion pictures; (f) an identifying description of each motion picture, excepting in long term and/or franchise and/or service license agreements providing for more than one year's "releases," the motion pictures be generally identified as motion pictures released by the distributor or by any like general description, and in such long term and/or franchise and/or service license agreements the provisions of the Standard License Agreement be incorporated therein, excepting further that any "short subject" motion picture be identified or described by a brand or other similar description; and (g) all additional provisions permitted by the numbered articles of the Standard License Agreement as well as all additional clauses.

That "news reels" or "short subjects" be licensed without requiring the licensing of feature motion pictures or vice versa, excepting that the distributor may include in any long term, franchise and/or service license agreement feature motion pictures and/or "short subject" motion pictures and/or "news reels."

That the following clause he added to the Short Form License Agreement only in respect, of photoplays produced by a producer not controlled by the distributor, but only if the distributor's contract with such producer provides that such pictures shall be sold separately and apart from other pictures distributed by the distrihutor, and that it be of no effect unless specifically agreed to in writing by the exhibitor:

> "The distributor's right to approve or reject this application or any other application signed by the exhibitor at the same time, or any other time, is not dependent upon the approval or rejection by the distributor of such other application or this application."

Dated July 1, 1930.

Standard Short Form License Agreement

Agreement of license under copyright made in one or more counter-parts between ... .a corporation (hereinafter referred to as the distributor, party of the first part) and the exhibitor (hereinafter named and referred to as the exhibitor operating the theatre hereinafter designated at the end hereof, party of the second part.)

WITNESSETH:

The parties hereto agree:

FIRST: Subject to the terms and conditions hereinafter stated and those specified in the Standard License Agreement negotiated and agreed to on July 1, 1930, by Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, and the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors and which by this reference thereto shall be deemed incorporated in and made a part hereof as if herein fully set forth in one complete and single instrument, the distributor hereby grants to the exhibitor and the exhibitor accepts a limited license under the respective copyrights of the motion pictures designated and described in the Schedule hereof.

PAYMENT

SECOND: The exhibitor agrees to pay to the distributor for such license as to each such motion picture the fixed sums specified in the Schedule hereof at least four (4) days in advance of the date of delivery of a print thereof at the distributor's exchange or of the date of shipment thereof to the exhibitor by another exhibitor, unless after the acceptance of this application by the distributor such payment is otherwise agreed to by the distributor in writing signed by an office of or any person duly authorized by the distributor at its main office in New York City. If the license fee or any part thereof of any of the said motion pictures shall be computed upon the exhibitor's receipts or any part thereof, the exhibitor agrees to pay such license fee to the distributor upon demand therefor at the end of each day's exhibition of each of such feature motion pictures and in the absence of such demand to pay to the distributor such license fee immediately after the last exhibition upon the last date of such exhibition thereof; or if the license period of any of such motion pictures is longer than one week then as to each such motion picture, to pay the license fee thereof to the distributor immediately after the last exhibition of each of such motion pictures at the end of each week.

RUN: ..... PROTECTION: .....
.....

THIRD: (strike out (a) or (b) as the case may be.)

(a) This license is not for sound pictures.

(b) This license is for sound pictures and the exhibitor represents that the sound reproducing equipment in said theatre will reproduce prints sound recorded on and (unless equipment will reproduce sound on discs prints and on discs strike out the words "and discs" or the words "prints and" as the case may be).

REPRESENTATIONS AS TO FIRST RUNS

FOURTH: All agreements or representations that the feature motion pictures specified in the Schedule will be exhibited and/or licensed for exhibition prior to their exhibition hereunder at one or more theatres shall be set forth in writing in the Schedule.

FIFTH: The releasing period for general distribution in the United States of the motion pictures specified herein begins.....
.....and ends.....

ACCEPTANCE OF APPLICATION

SIXTH: This instrument shall be deemed an application for a license under copyright only and shall not become binding until accepted in writing without alteration or change by an office of or any person duly authorized by the distributor and notice of acceptance sent to the exhihitor as provided in the Standard License Agreement. The deposit by the distrihutor of any check or other consideration given by the exhibitor at the time of application as payment on account of any sums payable hereunder or the delivery of a print of any of the motion pictures or the sale of any advertising accessories shall not be deemed an acceptance hereof by the distributor.

ONE APPLICATION

SEVENTH: This application and any application for other motion pictures of the distributor executed by the exhibitor at the same time shall he deemed, but only for the purpose of Article Sixth of the Standard License Agreement, one application unless an agreement to the contrary contained herein is specifically signed by the exhibitor.

ARBITRATION

If the exhibitor or the distributor shall not elect to arbitrate as provided in Article Eighth opposite hereto, said article shall be stricken from this License Agreement and here initialled before execution by the Exhibitor or by the Distributor before acceptance, as the case may be.

.....(Initial Here)

EIGHTH: The exhibitor and the distributor respectively, freely and voluntarily agree that as a condition precedent to the commencement of any action or proceedings in any court by either of them to determine, enforce or protect the legal rights of either hereunder, each shall submit all claims and controversies arising hereunder for determination by arbitration (hereby expressly waiving the oath of the arbitrators) pursuant to Rules of Arbitration, copies of which have been deposited with the American Arbitration Association, 521 Fifth Avenue, New York City, bearing date, July 1, 1930, and identified by hte signatures of the respective duly authorized officers of the Motion Picture Theatre Owners of America, the Allied States Association of Motion Picture Exhibitors and the Motion Picture Producers and Distributors of America, Inc., and by this reference made a part hereof as if herein fully set forth, a copy of which shall be furnished to the exhihitor and the distributor upon request therefor.

The hearing of any such controversy shall be had before the Arbitration Board in the city wherein is situated the exchange of the distrihutor from which the exhibitor is served, or if there be no such Arbitration Board in such city, then before the Arbitration Board in the city nearest thereto, unless the parties agree in writing that such hearing be had in some other place. If either party fails or refuses to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy, the other party may apply to a United States District Court, or to any other court, including a court of a state in which such hearing would otherwise not he had, for an order to proceed to arbitrate in which case such hearing shall be had in such place as the court to which such application is made may lawfully direct; and if an order is made by any such court directing that such hearing be had in a place where there is no such Arhitration Board, the arbitrators appointed in accordance with the said Rules of Arbitration shall convene at the place ordered by such court. Upon the failure or refusal of such arbitrators to convene at the time and place directed by order of such court, and to hear and determine such claim or controversy, other arbitrators shall be appointed by such eourt in the manner provided by law.

The parties hereto further agree to abide by and forthwith comply with any decision or award of the arbitrators and consent that any such decision or award shall be enforceable in or by any Court of competent jurisdiction pursuant to the law of such jurisdiction now or hereafter in force.

If the exhibitor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the award of the arbitrators in respect thereto, the distrihutor may at its option suspend the deliveries of the motion pictures provided for in this and in each other existing license agreement hetween the parties hereto and/or terminate this and such other license agreement; and upon such termination the aggregate of the license fees of all motion pictures specified in this and any other such license agreement then not exhibited forthwith shall become due and payahle by the exhibitor.

If the distributor shall fail or refuse to submit to arbitration any such claim or controversy or to abide by and comply with the decision of the award of an Arbitration Board in respect thereto within the number of days, specified in Article Sixth of the Standard License Agreement of which this Short Form License Agreement is a part following the name of the city in which such Arhitration Board is located, the exhihitor may at the option of the exhibitor terminate this and any other existing license agreement hetween the parties hereto by mailing a notice to such effect to the distributor within seven (7) days after such failure or refusal.

Any such termination by either party shall be without prejudice to any other right or remedy which the party so terminating may have by reason of any hreach by the other party of this or any other existing agreement hetween the parties.

Each of the parties hereto, without notice to the other, may apply to any Court having jurisdiction to make this agreement to arbitrate a rule or order of such Court.

SCHEDULE
END OF SCHEDULE

In witness whereof..... the exhibitor, operating the.....
Theatre, located at.....
in the .....has
(City and State) on.....executed this (Date)
application, which upon written acceptance thereof by the distrihutor shall be deemed to be the license of the said exhibitor for the exhibition of the motion pictures specified in the Schedule, but only at the said Theatre in accordance with the terms and conditions hereof and all the provisions of the Standard License Agreement referred to and described in Article First of this Short Form the receipt of a copy of which the exhibitor hereby acknowledges, which by this reference thereto are deemed incorporated herein and made a part hereof as if herein fully set forth.

.....
(Exhibitor)

Accepted.....
Date.....
.....
(Distributor)

By.....

JEANETTE MacDONALD, JOE E. BROWN and ZASU PITTS place United Artists' new musical-romance, "THE LOTTERY BRIDE," with Technicolor sequences, among the current hits. Adapted from the play "Bride 66."

THE LOTTERY BRIDE
• • • • ONE OF UNITED ARTISTS' TECHNICOLOR SERIES

Again United Artists score with Technicolor. And again the fascinating Jeanette MacDonald brings her sparkling personality to the top . . . creates of her role a vital presence in the true image . . . natural color! Technicolor!

"The Lottery Bride" will wed millions more to the vast fan-following of Technicolor pictures. Joe E. Brown and Zasu Pitts take the laughs for a brand new glee-ride. While setting and theme hit the high spots of another B. O. natural, "The Lottery Bride" brings in the money.

Watch for it. Schedule it. It's another big special with elaborate Technicolor sequences.

Chicago (Ill.) Times . . . the show is in technicolor, and very good technicolor, too."

Tacoma (Wash.) News (Alice Simpson). "Filmed entirely in Technicolor, The Vagabond King is one of the most lavishly staged productions to reach the screen."

Boston (Mass.) Boston American (Nicholas Young). "The Vagabond King . . with Technicolor's match-less natural tints."

Seattle (Wash.) Post-Intelligencer. "Gold Diggers of Broadway . . . Technicolor adds to the quality of this production and throws over the entire picture."

Providence (R. I.) News-Tribune. "Puttin' on the Ritz . . . some of the numbers are in Technicolor, the 'Alice in Wonderland' scene, particularly, being tremendously effective in the way in which the camera catches it."

New York (N. Y.) Graphic. "Puttin' on the Ritz . . . the Technicolor display, 'Alice in Wonderland,' is a

TECHNICOLOR IS A BOX-OFFICE NAME - ADVERTISE IT!

. . and Box-Office Performance Backs up the Critics' Verdict

Atlanta (Ga.) Georgian (Robert G. Nixon). "Under a Texas Moon . . . it is Warner Bros. first all-talking, singing outdoor picture in Technicolor. When we say Technicolor we mean color. Out in Texas, if you must know, they waggle some dazzling scenery."

Butte (Mont.) Standard. "On with the Show . . . a lavish spectacle for the eye. The colors by this new Technicolor process take on an enlarged variety extended to shades hitherto not obtained . . . brilliant without being garish."

•

Denver (Colo.) Post. "Gold Diggers of Broadway . . . the entire production is in natural color by the Technicolor process, blended in the most exquisite taste."

Detroit (Mich.) News. "Sang of the West . . . the Technicolor effects are superbly handled. One shot of the San Francisco waterfront in the early days stands out in particular as one of the most Rembrandtesque shats the screen has ever presented."

•

Houston (Texas) Chronicle. "Under a Texas Maon is a convincing argument for Technicolor. Costume drama of the colorful border country gains in realism as it is released from the black-and-white medium."

•

Indianapolis (Ind.) News. "Under a Texas Maan . . . the Technicolor process, by which the whole picture was photographed, gives the eye a magnificent treat, for western scenery is, after all, what westerners insist it is."

Long Beach (Calif.) Press-Telegram (Verne Wickham). "Paramaunt an Parade... you can expect even mare gorgeous scenic effects via Technicolor than you have ever seen."

Los Angeles (Calif.) Examiner. "Hold Everything . . . color photography adds the final touch of realism to the talking screen."

•

Newark (N. J.) Ledger (Jerome Kurtz). "Paramaunt an Parade... those marvelous Technicolor episodes . . . 'Dream Girl' and 'The Rainbow Revels' are two outstanding scenes enriched with smart colorings."

New York (N. Y.) Sun (John S. Cohen, Jr.). "Bride af the Regiment . . . another highly lighted, stunningly costumed Technicolor aperetta."

TECHNICOLOR

Technicolor, BERNICE CLAIRE, ALEXANDER GRAY and NOAH BEERY is a combination which makes "The Sang of the Flame" a real event.

"Song of the West," a Warner Bros. Technicolor triumph — in which JOHN BOLES, VIVIENNE SEGAL and JOE E. BROWN take leading roles.

Toledo (Ohio) Times. "The Vagaband King . . . a reeling riot of color, gorgeaus tints through process af Technicolor."

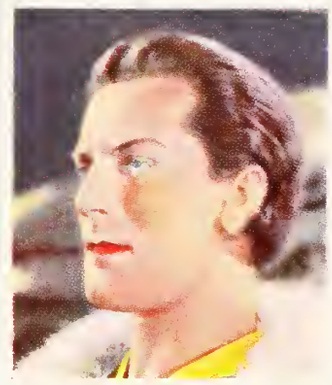
New Bedford (Mass.) Mercury. "Gold Diggers of Broadway . . . gorgeous and amazing in the beauty and fidelity to nature, of its natural color. The many colors and tints were thrown upon the screen with absolutely realistic effect."

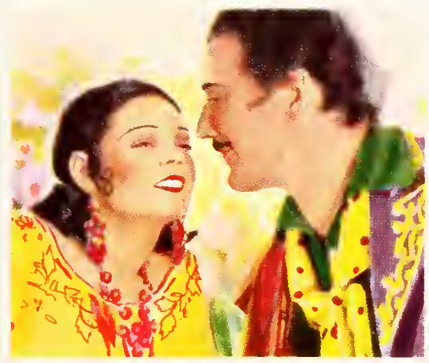
New York (N. Y.) News (Irene Thirer). "Sally . . . with Technicolor in its loveliest hues."



•

New Orleans (La.) Tribune. "The Vagaband King . . . one of the most beautiful as well as one of the most spectacular of photoplays. Its beauty and graphic coloring are outstanding even in this day of film miracles."

Portland (Ore.) News. "Glarifying the American Girl . . . the overwhelming wealth of color."



•

New Orleans (La.) Times-Picayune. "On With the Show . . . is no more to be compared with the previous color film than the gaudy cover of a cheap magazine is to be compared with the fine coloring plates in the National Geographic Magazine."

DENNIS KING, in Paramount's all-Technicolor hit, "The Vagabond King." PAUL WHITEMAN scores heavily in the sensationol "King of Jazz."

"Under a Texas Moon," Warner Bros. outdoor all-Technicolor production. Packs them in.

WINNIE LIGHTNER in Warner Bros. Technicolor "Hold Everything."

HITS are BIG HITS

New York (N. Y) American (Regina Crewe). "The Rogue Sang . . . the Technicolor in which the picture has been filmed throughout is more nearly perfect from start to finish than any which occurs to memory."

New York (N. Y.) Herald Tribune (Marguerite Tazelaar). "King of Jazz . . . an eye-filling spectacle done in Technicolor . . . pastel shades . . . as lovely as reality and as June."

•

New York (N. Y.) American (Regina Crewe). "The Vagaband King . . . photographed entirely in Technicolor, its eye-filling wonders never cease. Its prismatic brilliance is a lyric in color. Each setting is an achievement."

"The Rogue Song," M-G-M. This sensational all-Technicolor musical drama has intensified the demond for color. LAWRENCE TIBBETT—CATHERINE DALE OWEN.

New Orleans (La.) Item "The Vagabond King . . . entirely in

. . . Everything . . . is and is a treat to the bond King . . . so its gorgeous techni- he meagerness of mere

New York, (N. Y.) Variety. "Glorifying the American Girl . . . Its Technicolor scenes are not only lavish but beautiful, giving the picture the real Ziegfeld touch."

(Mass.) Traveler (Helen Eager). "The Rogue is done entirely in excellent Technicolor. The untings are impressive in their grandeur, ex- uisite in their soft beauty."

SOME OF THE TECHNICOLOR PRODUCTIONS

BRIDE OF THE REGIMENT, with Vivienne Segal (First National); BRIGHT LIGHTS, with Dorothy Mackaill (First National); DIXIANA, with Bebe Daniels (Radio Pictures), FIFTY MILLION FRENCHMEN, all-star cast (Warner Bros.); FOLLOW THRU, with Charles "Buddy" Rogers and Nancy Carroll (Paramount); GOOD NEWS, all-star cast (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer), Technicolor Sequences; GOLDEN DAWN, with Walter Woolf and Vivienne Segal (Warner Bros.); HELL'S ANGELS, with Ben Lyon, James Hall, Jane Winton and Thelma Todd (Caddo), Technicolor Sequences; HOLD EVERYTHING, with Winnie Lightner, Georges Carpentier and Joe E. Brown (Warner Bros.); KING OF JAZZ, starring Paul Whiteman (Universal); LEATHERNECKING, with Eddie Foy, Jr., Irene Dunne and Benny Rubin (Radio), Technicolor Sequences; LOTTERY BRIDE, with Jeanette MacDonald (United Artists), Technicolor Sequences; MAMBA, with Eleanor Boardman, Jean Hersholt and Ralph Forbes (Tiffany); PARAMOUNT ON PARADE, all-star cast (Paramount), Technicolor Sequences; SHOW GIRL IN HOLLYWOOD, with Alice White (First National), Technicolor Sequences; SONG OF THE WEST, with John Boles and Vivienne Segal (Warner Bros.); SONG OF THE FLAME, with Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray (First National); SWEET KITTY BELLAIRS, with Claudia Dell and Perry Askam (Warner Bros.); THE CUCKOOS, with Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey and Dorothy Lee (Radio); THE FLORODORA GIRL, starring Marion Davies (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer), Technicolor Sequences; THE MARCH OF TIME, all-star cast (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer), Technicolor Sequences; THE ROGUE SONG, with Lawrence Tibbett and Catherine Dale Owen (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer); THE SINGER OF SEVILLE, starring Ramon Novarro (Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer), Technicolor Sequences; THE TOAST OF THE LEGION, with Bernice Claire, Walter Pidgeon and Edward Everett Horton (First National); THE VAGABOND KING, starring Dennis King, with Jeanette MacDonald (Paramount); UNDER A TEXAS MOON, with Frank Fay, Noah Beery, Myrna Loy and Armida (Warner Bros.); VIENNESE NIGHTS, all-star cast (Warner Bros.); WOMAN HUNGRY, with Sydney Blackmer and Lila Lee (First National); WHOOPEE, starring Eddie Cantor (Samuel Goldwyn).

Beautiful DOROTHY MACKAILL, more charming than ever in Technicolor, scores one of her greatest triumphs in "BRIGHT LIGHTS," her latest First National and Vitaphone production.

mount on Ro . . . some of the big smash . . . neorly knock your eyes out"

"Hold . . . of some n . . .

New York (N. Y.) World (J. The Technicolor sequences board the bottleship ore

Portland (Me.) Express. "The Vagabond King . . . so bewilderingly beautiful, with its gorgeous technicolor treatments . . . that the meagerness of mere words cannot do justice"

Salt Lake (Utah) Tribune. "Sally, made ent natural color by the Technicolor process . . . and colorful to a degree which is said to be equalled in the history of the screen."

Hartford (Conn.) Times. "Sally . . . but in the present Technicolor production she is even more lovely"

New York (N. Y.) American (Regino Crewe) "Under Texas Moon . . . entirely in Technicolor which is TECHNICOLOR IS A BOX-OFFICE NAME - ADVERTISE IT!

Boston (Mass.) Herald "Puttin on the . . . of the show is the Technicolor sequence Louisville (Ky.) Courier Journal. "The Rogue . . . Technicolor enhances the the film considera

York (N. Y.) . . .

ngeles (C Crack al scenes ford (Conn.) Time . . . en more

• Stop Us If We're Wrong •

JEAN HARLOW made a fine impression on newspaper and trade scribes at a reception, which also was attended by Ben Lyon. They are principals in "Hell's Angels," current at the Gaiety and Criterion. Another visitor in New York is Billie Dove.

* * *

Paramount claims records broken with "Anybody's Woman," which is being held over at the Paramount in New York.

* * *

What is regarded as an unusual overnight rise to stardom is that of Irene Dunne, Radio Pictures' contract player, who has been awarded the role of Sabra in "Cimarron," in support of Richard Dix.

* * *

Old timers will get a great kick out of the fact that Fox is to make a talker of "East Lynne." Ann Harding, the sophisticated heroine of "Holiday," is to have the lead with Conrad Nagel and Clive Brook in the cast.

* * *

One of the first results of the Warner-German tie-up will be production of "The Beggar's Opera" by Tobis in Germany.

* * *

As Dave (Manhattan Playhouses) Lustig says: "Don't let the make-up fool you, they're actors, not stockholders."

* * *

Tony Ryan and Booker Clark of the Oklahoma City Fox exchange are the latest additions to the Hall of Merit.

* * *

Eddie Quillan, Pathe's young comedian, declares that he won't mind if the girl he marries insists on having the last word, just so long as she doesn't go on repeating it.

* * *

Flo Ziegfeld and family with Will Rogers were at Bedford, Ore., where they spent some time fishing before Ziegfeld returned to New York and Rogers returned to Hollywood to start in "Lightnin'," production of which was held up until after the fishing trip.

* * *

Henry Clark, assistant booker at the Fox exchange, Washington, has resigned to enter the managerial school of Paramount Publix. He has been succeeded by R. W. Sparrow, who has been with the Loew theatres in Richmond and Norfolk and one time was checker at the Fox exchange.

* * *

Enthused over the settlement of the operator situation at Detroit, H. M. Richey, business manager of the Michigan exhibitor unit, arrived in New York on Wednesday.

* * *

Gerald K. (Gerry) Rudolph gets a great kick out of the record his chief, Syd Abel, general sales manager, is making with the RCA Photophone equipment. Syd's record is a phenomenal one in the reproducing equipment field.

Lotteries Banned

Ottawa—Country stores, gift nights and other lotteries have been placed under the ban of the Conservative government. Immediately after its victory, the new government ordered lotteries taboo. Neighborhood houses particularly are affected.

To Discuss Problems

St. Louis—Zoning schedules, proposed new contract, Tom Thumb competition and film rentals are expected to be chief topics of discussion when exhibitors of eastern Missouri and southern Illinois hold their convention here Sept. 15 and 16.

Fred Wehrenberg

Fred A. Wehrenberg is expected to be re-elected at the sessions. He has been president for a number of years and is active in the affairs of the M. P. T. O. A. The committee named to handle arrangement for the event comprises Louis K. Ansell, Harry Weiss, Oscar C. Lehr, treasurer, and Louis C. Hehl, secretary.

MOE LEVY and his go-getting gang of Minneapolis Fox boys surely are hitting the ball in their efforts to cop off Harley L. Clarke Week honors in this year's battle for business. Denver, under leadership of Jim Morrison, veteran drive winner, also is making a heavy assault on the leader position, which St. John has assumed. "Jimmy" Grainger is to name the winners early in October.

* * *

Incidentally, the San Francisco exchange is showing its heels to the rest of the gang in the accessory sales contest.

* * *

Barney (Paramount) Hutchison postcards from the Catskills that he is taking the lead in a vacation handicap.

* * *

Another who is getting the breaks is Gordon White, Educational's advertising and publicity ace, who is spending his holiday in Ohio.

* * *

Bert Wheeler has come out flatly for Henry Ford as a presidential candidate—says he must have the makings of another Lincoln. D. W. Griffith thought the same when he picked him for "Abe."

* * *

The prediction made last year by both D. W. Griffith and Douglas Fairbanks that young William Bakewell was potential starring timber has come true. Announcement from the executives of M-G-M reveals that Bakewell has signed to a five-year contract.

* * *

Frank Tuttle has been assigned to direct Clara Bow in "Her Wedding Night."

* * *

Meyer Fischer, president of the Fischer Film Exchange, Cleveland, and Mrs. Fischer are celebrating their 29th wedding anniversary by motoring through the East.

* * *

All the Skirbolls—W. N. Skirboll, distributor of "Ingagi," and H. R., manager of the Cleveland Educational branch, are vacationing in Wawasee, Ind.

* * *

Frederick Lonsdale, who wrote Ronald Colman's next starring vehicle, is in New York in connection with forthcoming production of several of his plays.

THE Motion Picture Club got a kick this week when in walked Moe Mark, familiar figure in the establishment, who has been confined to his home for many weeks, recovering from a stroke.

* * *

Maybe Sam Zierler isn't sold on the Tiffany franchise idea! He's tickled over the arrangement which will result in release of the James Cruze product through Tiffany.

* * *

One of the week's visitors was Arthur O. Bachechi, president of the Bachechi Amusement Co., which operates the Ki-Mo theatre at Albuquerque, N. M. Here on product deals.

* * *

Dave Bader, just in from Europe, is en route to the coast to become assistant to Carl Laemmle, pere. Bader has finished his research for the Laemmle biography which John Drinkwater is to write. Publication probably by the end of the year.

* * *

Sam Burger, who exchange-manages M-G-M in the New York territory, knocked off three pounds of surplus flesh at handball the other night, walked into the dining room at the Motion Picture Club and put two of them on again.

* * *

Dick Barthelmess and the missus are planning a European trip after completion of his next picture, which goes into production about Sept. 15.

* * *

William Boyd, "The Volga Boatman," becomes a modern skipper with purchase of a 60-foot cabin cruiser he now is sporting on the Coast.

* * *

Incidentally, there is going to have to be some kind of designation between Pathe Bill Boyd, and William Boyd, the former stage players. As both are capable performers they may be expected to attain new prominence in talkers.

* * *

Sophie Tucker is being entertained in lavish fashion in London. Last Sunday she was guest of honor at the home of the Duke of Manchester. She now is rehearsing "Follow a Star," soon to open in London.

* * *

Upon completion of "Best People" at the Paramount New York studio, Ilka Chase will have to choose between a screen and stage offer.

* * *

His role in "Social Errors" is the 341st for Guy Oliver. He joins a Paramount cast headed by Leon Errol, Richard Arlen and Mary Brian.

* * *

Fox's new romantic team, Charles Farrell and Maureen O'Sullivan, will be introduced in "The Princess and the Plumber," soon to go into production under direction of Hamilton MacFadden.

* * *

William Powell has returned from his European vacation and starts work soon at Hollywood on his next for Paramount.

Egotist

Hollywood — Director Niblo's son, Fred, Jr., is a member of M-G-M's writing staff, and his office is situated in the midst of the foreign scribblers employed at the studio. A sign on young Fred's door reads: "English spoken here."

Racine Theatres Playing in Red, Living in Hope

